New Teacher Added in Marion School.

Miss Lilly Cook was chosen by the school board last Monday night at a special meeting, to take charge of the 6th grade. The 5th and 6th grade had heretofore been under the charge of Miss Florence Harris but the crowded condition and unusually large number of pupils in that room made it necessary that she have help. The board decided to give her the 5th grade and elected Miss Lilly Cook to take charge of the 6th. The school is progressing splendidly and a spirit of harmony prevails throughout, with the exception of two teachers, and they bid fair to be quite successful, the entire faculty is composed of the true and the tried who inaugurated and are maintaining the high standard of proficiency and thoroughness for which the school has become famous.

Mrs. Micinda Minner Dead.

Mrs. Micinda Minner relict of the late Rev. Wesley Minner died Wednesday Sept. 19th, at her home in the Crittenden Springs vicinity, in the 73rd year of her age, having been born Oct. 7th, 1833. Mrs. Minner was a sister of T. E. Griffith and of Mrs. Jacob Springs, of Hampton, and of Mrs. James Champion, of Salem. Nine children survive her, they being John Terry and Mrs. Geo. Ann Carey, of Webb City, Mo., both being the children by her first husband John Thomas Terry and Messrs. Harry, Luther, Sidney and Charlie Minner who live in this county Mrs. R. H. Yates, of Sheridan, and Will C. and Mrs. Nellie Barnes, of Blodgett, Mo.

Mrs. Minner was a member of the Methodist church at Hurricane. The burial took place Thursday at the Love grave yard, Elder W. R. Gibbs officiating.

BIG BARBECUE AT GUTHRIE, KY

The Dark Tobacco Planters Association Held its Second Meeting Saturday

HON O M JAMES ONE OF THE SPEAKERS

The Dark Tobacco Planters' Association, which held its meeting at Guthrie, Ky., last Saturday, is a great success. There are 36,000 members and most of them were in attendance at this, its second meeting. A grand barbecue was given and a table 1500 feet long were filled with edibles to supply the crowd.

Besides Congressman James the following speakers were present: Senator Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, Congressman A. O. Stanley former Congressman John S. Rhea, Lawrence Finn, C. H. Fort, and Joel B. Fort. They spoke from five different stands at the grounds. Ten brass bands furnished music of a lively character. "Dixie" and "My Old Kentucky Home," being the most frequently played airs.

In behalf of Mrs. Felix G. Ewing wife of the general manager, Congressman Stanley presented the association with a handsome banner. The back ground was of white and Mrs. Ewing had embroidered upon it a big tobacco plant in green silk.

Kentucky and Texas United.

J. A. Harmon, a wealthy ranch owner and live stock dealer, of Graham, Texas, and Miss Belle Robertson, daughter of W. H. Robertson, of the Crittenden Springs vicinity, were married at the home of the bride Wednesday evening of last week, Rev. J. S. Henry, of this city, officiating. The marriage is the culmination of a romance, and the courtship was conducted by letter. The couple had not met until the evening of the marriage. The groom arrived in Marion the day before from his home in the "Lone Star" state, and after arranging all the preliminaries went to the home of the bride's parents, where they were for the first time introduced. As both were pleased there was no reason for delay in the wedding and the ceremony was soon performed. The happy couple left at noon Friday for Dawson Springs. After a short sojourn there they left for their home in the far west, followed by the best wishes of the bride's many friends.

"TOBACCO KING" TO INSPECT HIS KINGDOM

Thomas Gallaher, of Belfast, Ireland Now On His Way to This Country.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 18.—Mr. Thomas Gallaher, Belfast, Ireland the largest independent purchaser of American tobacco in the world, is on the ocean en route to this country to view the crop and overlook his great interests in this section of Kentucky. The American headquarters of the Gallaher firm are located in this city and his houses at Owensboro, Providence and other places are directed and controlled from Henderson.

Mr. Gallaher's trips are usually confined to a few days, but this visit will probably be prolonged somewhat. He will have to give some attention to the strip question, one in which he is deeply interested. It will require much time for him to inspect his great interests in Henderson and other places. He is expected to arrive within the next ten days.

Be sure to register next Tuesday October the 2nd.

DISCUSSION ON THE TEACHER'S INSTITUTE

Interesting Facts and Instructive Hints on This Important Work

BY REV. JAMES F. PRICE

A profitable discussion on each subject on the program ought to embrace:

1. Its importance.
2. Its purpose, or why.
3. Its time, or when.
4. Its method, or how.

No truth is more apparent in education than this: If a teacher does not clearly understand (not remember) why he is doing any work in hand, his work will be lifeless; his method will be borrowed, not originated.

THE PURPOSE OF EACH STUDY.

That the why of school studies is not understood as it should be by teachers generally can be demonstrated to any observer in two ways. First, let him ask himself to tell himself without halting why reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, etc., compose the curriculum. He will have to confess that his self examination has proved that his knowledge is not what it should be. Second, let him take the opinion in writing or otherwise of several teachers upon the relative importance of arithmetic and geography. The result may exhibit a chaos that we ought all to be ashamed of.

THE TIME.

As the purpose of a study becomes apparent under the light of investigation, the time that ought to be given to it and the time (in the school life of a child) when he should begin it, becomes clear to the investigator. When grammar or physiology or history ought to be introduced, are serious practical questions that have to be decided every year by immature decision of chance or take them up in institute and decide them according to the laws of immutable truth?

THE RELATIONS OF STUDIES.

Crowded for time, as every country school teacher is, it becomes a necessity for him to learn how to make his work in one subject help that of another. If there is any one who needs to know how to make the writing and language lessons help the spelling and reading lessons, how to make the geography and history assist each other, how to make all studies throw light on the arithmetic, and how to make reaping give life to the whole work, that one is the teacher of seventy five children of all ages. The bringing out of these relations between studies in institute discussions will demonstrate the usefulness of many fetiches lingering in our schools, and result in employing more children's time in real, improving work, and less of it in memoriter tasks and vocal concert exercises.

THE METHOD, OR SHOW.

Out of the purpose understood, and out of the where and when comprehended in outline, the teacher having a work to do, begins to contrive his method of work. When Institute discussions set the teacher to thinking, "How can I do that in my school?" then are they bearing the right fruit. When the best efforts of the conductor bring out no questions but only the comment, "That was a very fine talk," then very little if any of good has come to the hearers.

The true reasons why so called modern methods after being presented consecutively for twenty five years in Institute, have failed to go into school to any great extent is simply because they were not presented with the clear light of the Why that inspired them shining upon them, and into the understanding of the teacher and pupil, arousing his sluggish conscience and causing him to feel the impulse, I must.

A Letter from Rev. P. L. H. Walker to Hon. J. W. Blue, Sr.,
Both Long Since Passed from Earth

LOCAL OPTION QUESTION WAS UP THEN AS IT IS NOW

The third epistle from Paul to John: I see, friend John, that friend Bob has limited me to one column, so that I cannot take a wild goose chase after you.

You say, friend John, that was a little surprise that I would indulge in such language as "positive falsehood," "lie," etc. I will say, friend John, that I am a man for the Scriptures, and I find these words all through them to certain characters. Here are some: "Whose deceit is falsehood," (Psalms, 119:118). "And some whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood," (Psalms, 59:13). "Men of high degree are a lie," (Psalms, 62:9). "And some that utter from the heart words of falsehood," (Isaiah, 59:13). "And some that compasseth me about with lies," (Hosea, 11:12). "And some who are forgers of lies," (Job, 13:4). "And some who make lies their refuge," (Isaiah, 18:15). Dear John, all these characters I have seen and felt the force of their influence for the last forty years. But, friend John, you say it would be hard to convince you that a minister of the gospel would use any such language. Do you not suppose that the people to whom David, Isaiah, Hosea and Job spoke the above words had the same thoughts about them that you have about me? But you say that you have tried to excuse me on the ground of my being old and childish; but, friend John, there is no consolation after all—that is, children and fools tell the truth. So, on the other hand, I have not only tried to excuse you but have done it, for saying I made a broad sweep on temperance people and that I will accept the doctrine that Christ was a wine-bibber to suit my convenience. This you know friend John, is false. But I have forgiven you, knowing that you are young, and the probability is very good that you will never be otherwise.

I advised you to preach Christ with the holy spirit. If that gave possession of the people's hearts, you would have a temperance society of God's own making to bring forth all the fruits of the spirit. There are the regenerated and spiritual children of God, who need no affiliation nor yoking with unbelievers to keep them from getting drunk. This temperance you nor any one else ever heard me say a word against. These are all the temperance people in the world. Temperance people are those who are temperance at heart. They are the church of the living God. Your linsey-woolsey, milk and cider, half word and half professions (and I have no doubt but some good people) are all in one conglomerated mass called a temperance society. This society should have no affiliation with the church of God, nor state, and if they can do anything with the people by moral suasion, let them do it, but nothing more. Let them have no power to remove temptation, nor bring anything in temptation, but all things as a blessing, as God designed them to be. The doctrine that what a man eats or drinks will defile him, is found nowhere in the lids of the Bible; but is found among the Scribes and Pharisees, Pagans and Mahomedans. Notwithstanding, I believe there are many good Christians caught by the snares of this wonderful invention of men.

You say, friend John, that I distort and twist the Bible to gratify my depraved and whisky craving appetite. If you want to know how much I crave, please ask Mr. Hilliard, Mr. McIntyre, Mr. Sink Hodge and Mr. Sam Haynes at Weston. I have no doubt they will tell the truth, for all I get is for my family medical purposes, and I get it myself, not send some darkey or child for it in order to hide for me.

You ask me to tell what a man's inalienable rights are. In the first place, it is to observe the ninth commandment (which is not to bear false witness against thy neighbor). This you ought to have observed, and not written the above, for I have never said in all of my writing half as bad, and what you have told me yourself. A man's inalienable and delegated rights are so many that I cannot put them in one column. You have given us a new Bible wine (this is wine that will not make a man drunk). Please tell me where such wine in the Bible named. I have before me Worcester, Walker and Webster; all say wine is the fermented juice of the grape, and without fermentation there is no wine, only juice; and when it is fermented and red you are not to look on it, to lust after it to get drunk, no more than you are to look on a woman to lust after her to commit fornication. So it is the intention of looking and not the looking which makes the crime. If it was not so, friend John, you would be in an awful fix every time you go to meeting, for when you see all those pretty ladies before you, you would have to shut your eyes to keep from sinning.

You talk of Melchizedek. Every Bible reader knows that the first thing we read of him was his bringing of bread and wine to Abraham. (Gen. XIV: 18.) "And he was priest of the most high God," and is the priest of the most high God blessed his friend Abraham with bread and wine, should we not do the same for a blessing to our brethren, who are children of Abraham by faith.

You say you are not willing to have an oral discussion, because you believe that I intend to act the clown (that is a rustic, a low-bred man); also to act silly. You know, friend John, it is the mark of wisdom to bear the impertinence to show your wisdom which might be a great advantage to you in the future, especially when all the disgrace would fall on me.

As my column is about filled, I will stand still for awhile.

Go on friend John, while I wait.

And do the best you can.

You are not able to alienate

The inalienable rights of man.

Saturday, Sept. 29, The penitent thief, Lk. 23:40-43.

HELPS TO STUDY.

The terrible preparations were made for the crucifixion,—the crosses, the hammer, the nails, the food for the soldiers who were to watch at the cross. There is some doubt as to the location of the place where Christ was crucified. An ancient tradition places it where the church of the Holy Sepulchre now stands; others place it at the Grotto of Jeremiah, outside the city wall. It was (1) apparently a well-known spot; (2) outside the gate (Heb. 13:12); (3) near the city (Jno. 19:20); (4) on a thoroughfare leading into the country (Lk. 23:26); (5) contained a "garden" (Jno. 19:41). They offered Him a draught containing a narcotic, but when He tasted He refused to drink. He deliberately chose to have all His powers alert at this last hour, "so that nothing should dull His consciousness of suffering nor the clearness of His communion with God." He would drink to the very dregs the cup of suffering which God had given Him. It was an act of sublime heroism and courage. He was placed between the two malefactors to stigmatize Him as the worst of the three. Unconsciously, His persecutors fulfilled prophecy (Isa. 53:9), and set up an object for the world.

Death by the cross was the most terrible, the most dreaded, and the most shameful punishment of antiquity. The victim was stripped naked of all his clothes. He was laid down upon the implement of torture and the nails driven through His hands and feet. Did Christ suffer? Who can doubt it? Infliction of the wounds in both hands and feet would speedily set in. Intolerable thirst would arise. The blood, checked in its natural circulation, would flow to the head and cause the most agonizing tortures in the brain. To all this physical torture we must in this case add the result of these upon a soul sensitive and capable of suffering beyond all human comparison; the effect of ingratitude, of loneliness, of taunts from those who represented His own chosen people; and, above all, his state of soul as He consciously bore the sins of men. Death by crucifixion seems to include all that pain and death can have of the horrible and gasty—dizziness, cramp, thirst, starvation, sleeplessness, publicity of shame, continuance of torment, horror of anticipation, mortification of untended wounds, the scoffs and sneers of the world,—such was the death to which Christ was doomed.

His prayer for His enemies, the first sentence from the cross, was doubtless uttered just after they dropped the cross in its socket. They watched Him—the soldiers, the indifferent multitude, and a few friends (Jno. 19:25, 26). The inscription was in three languages; the language of religion, the Hebrew; the language of science and art, the Greek; the language of conquest and power, the Roman. Pilate wrote more than he thought, it was both a history and a prophecy.

The parting of the garments was in fulfillment of prophecy (Ps. 22:18). The four pieces to be divided would be cap or turban, the Sandals, the girdle and the tallith or cape with its fringes. They cast lots for the inner tunic which was seamless.

The people going in and out of the city, on the thoroughfare near the place of crucifixion, mocked Him as they passed by. They used both voice and gesture to express their mockery. There was quite a contrast between Jesus' present condition and the title over Him. The contrast excited the mirth of the crowd.

There is every likelihood that the two malefactors crucified with Jesus belonged to the band of Barabbas. For good or for evil they knew something about the Christ; the taunt uttered by one expresses this, no less than the prayer of the other. All were now mocking; the soldiers, the rulers, the mob, and the evil-minded thief put in his jeer. In the midst of this, the penitent thief turned his eyes to Christ for salvation. The Saviour heard and answered his prayer and gave him immediate assurance of salvation.

THE TEACHER—METHODS OF TEACHING.

Attention.—There are two kinds of attention— involuntary and voluntary. Involuntary attention is when our minds are attracted to a thing without any effort on our part, and sometimes even against our will. If you are listening to an interesting lecture and someone comes in and walks across the room with loud creaking shoes, your attention at once is diverted to the new comer. Involuntary attention is the only kind that a little child is capable of; hence the importance of attracting them by interest and curiosity. Thus we see that primary pupils need the best teachers. It is a very serious mistake to think that anybody can teach little children. Voluntary attention is the mental effort to concentrate our powers of mind upon any subject or thing.

Blood hounds.

The West Ky. Coal Co. has imported two trained bloodhounds both of which have figured in several notorious captures. Bell having run down the negro accused of an assault at Shelbyville, and Bud the other dog is quite as famous as a man catcher. The two bloodhounds cost nearly $500.—Sturgis News Dem.

WAS A VERY SICK BOY

But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"When my boy was two years old he had a very severe attack of bowel complaint, but by the use of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy we brought him out all right, says Maggie Hickon, of Midland, Mich. This remedy can be depended upon in the most severe cases. Even cholera infantum is cured by it. Follow the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular (unabridged) thoroughly revised in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation.

It is the opinion of the court that this allegation is well founded, and that the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached, The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly revised in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old."

THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1906

We are authorized to announce W. F. COWPER, of Smithland, as a candidate to represent the counties of Crittenden and Livingston in the next General Assembly, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THEY had a heavy fall of snow in Montana this year in advance of the Autumnal equinox. The sun crossed the equator last Friday and as usual bad weather has followed.

Cuba is holding the world's attention just at this time. Secretaries Taft and Bacon visited the Island with avowed intention of bringing about peace and order out of rebellion and chaos. Their mission is a most delicate one but they are known to be equal to it.

The good record made by any employee is his or her best and only certificate for continuous employment. Therefore the one whose conscience tells him or her that the full duty has been done, honest service rendered and no shirking done need have no fear of losing his or her place. Such are always sought and wanted on every hand.

By the Kindness of Mrs. B. Walker we are able to copy this week an interesting item from a copy of the CRITTENDEN PRESS dated July 20th, 1881. The paper is over 25 years old and was mailed to her father, the late Rueben French. On second page under the caption of "Looking Backward" will be found a letter from Rev. P. L. H. Walker to Hon. J. W. Blue, Sr. Other items from this old paper will appear next week.

We regret that on account of breakage of machinery our colored pictorial magazine section will not appear again until October 4th or 11th—Crittenden Press.

The RECORD regrets very much the breakage in the "Press" machinery and hopes it can be repaired soon. If we have anything in our little shop that is needed call on us. Our large colored supplement press is not in use all the time, and if you need a lithographing stone just step to the door and whistle.—CRITTENDEN RECORD.

Thanks; we may have to call on you some time.

Fredonia and Kelsey together make a No. 1 town. Each has a splendid citizenship and a fine patronage. A visit there recently convinced the writer that there is the foundation there for several good enterprises.

A car-line from the depot to the limits, could be built almost by the citizens with their own employees and timber. An electric light plant could be built and made to pay dividends. Already the town has a creamery as good as there is any where, and it has inexhaustible supplies of lime stone for making good streets and crossings. In fact this town has taken on new life. And the public need not be surprised at any improvements that may materialize in the near future.

Woods & Orme have the largest stock and lowest prices on tablets, school books and everything in the way of school supplies. Don't forget the place—Woods & Orme.

Capt. Geo. O. Hart the hardware merchant, of Paducah died at 9.45 Wednesday Sept. 19th. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Carrie Maxwell, of Ardmore, Ind. territory, who formerly lived here.

Presley Grayot Kemp, the two year old son, of R. H. Kemp, took a dive off a foot plank into his fathers pond one day last week, and but for the timely arrival of his father would have drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gugenheim visited relatives near Providence Monday afternoon. Mr. Gugenheim returned Tuesday, but Mrs. Gugenheim intends to spend a few days longer.

Norman Henry, who was working for the Electric light Co. in Charleston, Mo., returned home a few days ago, on account of being severely hurt by a fall from a pole which struck him across one of his legs. He narrowly escaped being killed.

Seldon Ainsworth is confined at home with fever. We hear he is threatened with appendicitis. We hope he will soon be up. Seldon is a very busy man, we don't see he can take time to be sick.

Judge W. F. Cowper, of Smithland, candidate for the legislature was in the city Monday meeting the people. He made a favorable impression on all new acquaintances. Judge Cowper for many years has been well known to most of our people.

John Hughes, a Fredonia boy who formerly attended Marion Graded School and is well known here has a fine position now at Collins, Miss., and is much pleased with his new home in the south.

Ed Rice the managing head of the firm of W. C. Rice & Sons, tobacco-nist at Kelsey, Ky., is having his beautiful home equipped with water works system, the tank is placed on top of their stermery it will serve a double purpose, of fireprotection and also supply his residence and lawn with water.

T. A. Bagg and wife, of Fredonia, returned from the State Fair at Lexington, Ky., Friday at noon. Mr. Bagg who is one of the best stock dealers in this section of Ky. was much pleased with stock exhibits of the Blue Grass Metropolis and was a bidder for some of the fine stock which was sold there, he did not get what he bid on but he made the other fellows know he was there and that he was not easily bluffed.

FOR SALE—Hotel Dycusburg brick building, stone foundation, metal roof, 14 rooms, veranda & ect. The only hotel in the town, controls commercial travel. Located on main street near steamboat landing, also two story store house. Address Mrs. Rhodes, Dycusburg, Ky., Hotel Dycusburg.

Dr. J. N. Todd, the well known physician and surgeon, of the Fredonia valley, has been urged to enter the race for Representative from Caldwell Co., in the next general assembly, but feels that his practice and business interests are such he can not well leave them. At present there is no other mentioned candidate excepting Josh Catlett the Editor of the Princeton Leader who on account of his experience there during past sessions when he was cloak room keeper one session and at a later session senate bell clerk.

LOST—Last Tuesday Sept. 11th, between Tolu and the old Stallions farm, a white hand bag containing my watch, handkerchief and cards with my name on them and watch fob. A reward will be paid for its return to the Press Office. ALLIE MAY YATES, Marion Ky.

W. S. Rice, the tobacco exporter and capitalist, of Fredonia, who with his bride has been on a tour of Europe, with his bride sailed on the 19th from Liver Pool for New York and is expected to reach home this week. They will go to house keeping at once at the Thos. Butler place south of Fredonia. This splendid country seat is to be completely over hauled and equipped with all modern conveniences, such as water works, steam heat and ect. And when ready for its new Mistress it will be an ideal home.

Notice.

The session of the Chapel Hill church has called a meeting of the congregation at the church on next Sunday at 11 a. m. for the purpose of deciding whether or not they wish the church transferred from the Presbytery of Louisville to the Princeton Presbytery of the former C. P. church. JAS. ALEX. HILL, clerk of session.

Charles B. Loyd

I AM ON DECK again this season with the most complete Stock it has ever been my pleasure to offer to my friends and patrons. Having bought out the Millinery Stock of Mrs. Bugg and added all the new and novel things obtainable in the markets, we are prepared to please the most fastidious and every one else. Misses Lillian Ragsdale, of Henderson, and Ida Hill, of Marion, visited the markets and selected our new hats and the pattern hats are simply beauties. If we have no pattern hat to please you either one of our trimmers is an expert and will take pleasure in trimming your hat to especially suit your particular style and it will be a pleasure to show you our exclusive styles and shapes.

A complete assortment of Ribbons, Laces, Velvets, Embroideries and Trimmings.

I carry everything usually found in a General store. Dry Goods and Notions, Dress Goods in a bewildering assortment and the latest shades and colorings. Gents and Boys Hats, Caps, Shirts, Underwear, Clothing of the most reliable makes and in all wool fabrics for man or boy. How about that Overcoat? We have it for you or the "little man" either. Don't wait until all are picked over.

My strong point is SHOES. On this line I yield the palm to nobody.
Just look here! Sole agents for "Solid Rock Shoes," "Camel Skin Shoes"
"Peters Diamond Brand," "Women's Radcliffe Unexcelled Fine shoes,"
"Mens Fraternity Dress Shoes," "Wolfe Bros. Servicable Shoes for Men Women, Misses or Children."

Dr. Finn's Testimony Interesting.

Dr. Thomas Finn, of Boonsboro, Mo., who has practiced medicine for 35 years, says he has used every prescription known to the profession for treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, and says he has never found anything so effective in both chronic and acute kidney and bladder trouble as Foley's Kidney Cure. It stops irregularities and builds up the whole system. Woods & Orme.

Situations Guaranteed.

We do not guarantee situations to prospective students in order to get their patronage. Schools of merit do not resort to such dishonest practices.
"Free advice" "guaranteed" situations in order to secure students, because they have no other inducements to offer.
Our work is so thorough that a guarantee is superfluous. Business men are so eager to get competent help that a large percent of our students leave positions before they graduate.

Keep Your Nerve

It is nerve energy that runs the organs of your body. The storage battery is the nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord, and from this battery nerve force is sent out through the system of nerves. To keep the body healthy you must have plenty of nerve force; if you have not, the organs work imperfectly, the circulation is sluggish, digestion bad, appetite poor, kidneys inactive, and aches, pains and misery are the penalty.

You can keep the system strong with Dr. Miles' Nerve
It assists in generating nerve energy; it strengthens the nerves and makes the whole system strong and vigorous.

"I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Miles' Nerve to those suffering from nervous prostration, insomnia and melancholy. After several months suffering from above diseases
I tried this medicine and found immediate relief. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, chases away the gloom and depressing thoughts and gives the sufferer renewed strength and hope. It is a superb nerve restorer. JUDGE JACOB REIMANN, Madison, Wisconsin.

the first bottle will benefit. If it fails
he will refund your money."

A Sad Death.

A sweet spirit has gone to rest; on the evening of August 6th, 1906 at 2 o'clock the death angel passed through the home of Mrs. Vina Phelps and sweetly yet sadly, touched the icy hand upon the brow of her dear husband, and robbed the body of that dear spirit which was gently wafted back to God who gave it.

Mr. G. W. Phelps was born April 12, 1831. He professed faith in Christ in 1887, joined the M. E. church South at Niagara, in Henderson county, and lived a consistent christian, and saw all of his children brought into the fold of God. He was married to Miss Vina McFarlin, in 1856 in Logan county, Ky., where they were both raised. They have lived in Crittenden county fifteen years.

Mr. Phelps leaves a wife and twelve children to mourn their loss. Mrs. Mary Brown, near Bordy, in Union county, Miss Nannie at home with mother, near Matton, Ky., Mrs. Kate Borup, of Morganfield, Union county, Mr. G. H. Phelps, near Clay, Webster county, D. M. Phelps, of Wheatcroft, Silas R. Phelps, of Providence, Ky., Mrs. Nora O'Neal, near Mattoon, Ky., Mr. J. H. Phelps, Wheatcroft, Mr. J. T. Phelps, of Wheatcroft, Mrs. Sadie R. Harris, of Clay, Mr. Porter W. Phelps, at home.

Mr. Phelps was afflicted for about sixteen months bore his afflictions with much patience often calling on our blessed Lord for help. He talked so sweet to his friends and family that was standing by him with ready and willing hands to do all they could to cheer and comfort him and as we stood by to catch the last sweet words, he said I will tell you all now, my time is near at hand, and looking on his youngest son smiling, he said the Lord is calling me. Then two more breaths and he was gone to sleep without a moan or struggle.

Sleep on dear father and take your rest God called you home, He thought it best.

Now another star is added to the blue eternal dome.

And another soul is waited to its own eternal home.

Now another chair is empty where our patient father sat, And no father's smiles now greet us, as we halt upon the mat.

There's a mound of earth erected in the sunlight and the air, And that mound to us is sacred for his body dwelleth there.

Yet we know the soul immortal to a brighter world has flown, And that God who gave us father, had a right to claim His own.

We will wait the moment yet the hands of time seem slow, When our spirits freed from bodies, to our Father's arms may go.

Oh may God who gave us, being through that father here below, Give us hearts prepared to meet him when from earth we may go.

And though now we seem divided, some below, and some above, Then again we will be united there's no broken cords abide.

NORA O'NEAL

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla. The liver will quickly respond, and so will the bowels.

A Real Love Letter.

When I begin a letter to you, the great difficulty is to leave off again. Oh! how warm it makes one feel to know there is one person in the world to whom one is everything! A lover is the most precious, the most marvelous possession. No wonder people like having them! And I used to think that so silly. Heavens! What an absurd person I have been. Why, love is the one thing worth having. Everything else—talents, interests, art, religion, learning, the whole trappings, are so many drugs with which the starved, the loveless, try to drug their pangs, to put themselves to sleep.

How strange and dreadful love is! Till you know it, you are so sure the world is very good and pleasant up in those serene, frost-beaten regions where you stand alone, breathing the thin air of family affection, shone upon gently by the mild and misty sun of general esteem. Then comes love, and pulls you down. For isn't it a descent? Isn't it? Somewhat, though it is so great a glory, it's a coming down as well—down from the pride of absolute independence of body and soul, down from the high-mightiness of indifference, to something fierce, hot and consuming. An Illinois Letter.

East St. Louis, Ill.

Kind Editor:— Since you was so kind as to publish my letter of Sept. 3rd. I will write another short epistle hoping it will find its way into the columns of the dear old Press. Our daughter Mima is yet confined to her bed having been down since Aug. the 12th, with a fever caused by an injury received in a fall and later terminated in typhoid. I was over in St. Louis, the 11th, and saw W. J. Bryan, our next president. He arrived in St. Louis about 7 a. m. and not less than 20,000 enthusiastic admirers heard him speak, during the day it was the noisiest crowd that I have ever been in. I saw colored people cheering him, men, women and children climbed on street cars, busses and vehicles of all kinds, and hundreds of women could be seen peering down from windows in those high buildings trying to get a glimpse of the great Democratic leader. Our city, East St. Louis, is on the Mississippi river at the east end of the great Eads bridge which spans the river to St. Louis, Mo. We have a population of more than 50,000. The city is full of churches and saloons, but the lid is on of Sundays and some of the people go to church, while others stay at home and drink the booze that they ordered Saturday night. Well this is not all but I'll quit short off or this might find the waste basket. Wishing you and all readers of your paper the best of success I am as ever your friend, S. B. WELDON.

Made Him Feel Small.

An Arkansas paper tells a story of a man who was caught out in the woods during a storm. He didn't want to get wet, and the only dry place he could find was a hollow log, into which he managed to crawl. The rain lasted a couple of hours, when the fellow decided he had better be going home. He tried to extract himself from the log, but soft wood had swollen and he couldn't budge a peg. There alone in the desolate woods, many miles from the nearest habitation, the poor man lay for hours thinking of all the meanness he had done, when all at once it dawned upon him that he had read his home paper for three years without paying a cent for it and then refused it at the postoffice, and it made him feel so small that he crawled out of the log through a knot hole.

TRUE COURAGE.

"The best hearts are ever the bravest," said Sterne.

"Courage is adversity's lamp," Vauvenargues wisely stated.

"Cowards have no luck!" These are Elizabeth Kuhlmann's brave words.

J. Brisbane Walker believes that "No man can be truly a gentleman if a coward."

"Fortune never helps the man whose courage fails." This is a bit of the wisdom of Sophocles.

Says George Horace Lorimer: "No man is a failure until he's dead or loses courage—and that's the same thing."

Sydney Smith long ago remarked that "A great deal of talent is lost to the world for the want of a little courage."

"When moral courage feels that it is in the right there is no personal daring of which it is incapable," was Leigh Hunt's conviction.

Said Rochefoucauld: "True bravery is shown by performing without witness what one might be capable of doing before all the world."

"Fear, which only is another name for ignorance, is all that ails us. Understanding alone conquers fear." This is the successful creed of Helen Williams Post.

CONFESSIONS OF DODD GASTON.

I have noticed that about the only place "silver threads among the gold" are really popular is in a song.

I feel reasonably sure of one thing: When I die nobody is going to claim that it was the result of overwork.

I do not much mind playing against a visiting man, but I do hate to be booked in competition with a baby.

Nothing would so completely reconcile me to death as the appearance, at my bedside, of some of my relatives.

I would really like to be fatter, but realize that I cannot afford it. Being fatter would mean a new dress suit.

I find that every young girl has a wild desire to wear her hair "up" and every old girl has the same desire to appear with "down."

I have noticed that the only time the banana does much business is at a season of the year when it has no competition.

I find that one of the hardest duties of the dramatic critic is to reconcile the average society play with the average stage furniture.

About all the ambition I have left is to grow rich enough to have a hack waiting for me while I lounge around inside smoking and "gassing."—Tospeka Capital.

JUST JOTTINGS.

In gaining a poor grocer the world has often lost a good poet.

Good luck is like a faultless wife. Somebody else always has it.

No man has ever been able to find out why he should be expected to make party calls.

It is pretty hard to get people to think much of a man whose wife insists that she made him what he is.

After a woman has been carried in her night clothes down a fire escape she always regards herself as a heroine.

Adam and Eve were lucky. They had no fool friends who wanted to be funny when they started away on their honeymoon.

After a woman has failed in every other way to create a sensation she can put on a heavy black veil and go to the funeral of some other woman's husband.

Divorce statistics indicate that in about three cases out of ten it would have been better to have loved and lost, and still better never to have loved at all.

WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS.

Attention to small things is the economy of virtue.—Chinese maxim.

The ways to enrich are many and most of them foul for you.—Terence.

Provided a woman be well principled she has dowry enough.—Plautus.

Where the love of the people is assured the seditious are thwarted.—Bias.

He is truly rich who desires nothing, and he is truly poor who covets all.—Solon.

It is a greater offense to steal dead men's labors than their clothes.—Synesius.

To do a kindness to a bad man is like sowing your seed in the sea.—Phocylides.

We ought either to be silent or speak things better than silence.—Pythagoras.

The public has more interest in the punishment of an injury than he who suffers it.—Cato.

LOVE LORE.

It is easier to love and be wise than to be generous and have money.

Jealousy is green and does not harmonize with Love's hair and eyes.

Love laughs at locksmiths, because parents don't lock up their daughters any more.

When Poverty comes in at the door True Love engages her on the spot to do the cooking.

The pity of Love's blindness is that marriage is the only oculist that guarantees to restore the sight.

Don't complain of your lover's amateurishness. In this you have proof positive that you are the first.

Show me the sweethearts of the land, and I will confess myself that much more puzzled about the men.

Life gave a dinner, and while it may not have been a feast from an epicure's point of view, it was a great success. The guest of honor was Love.

When Love begins to sicken and decay, sometimes the tonic of indifference will effect a quicker recovery than all the careful nursing in the world.

ABOUT WOMEN.

Freshness is not to be despised in women, vegetables or flowers.

A woman of gushing proclivities is apt to consider herself irresistible.

The woman who nags her husband deservedly sits down to a lonely meal.

Wise is the woman who does not expect a man's devotion at election time.

The woman who constantly quotes her husband seldom realizes what an intolerable bore she is to others.

A woman with a musical voice may babble of coal dust and sauer kraut, and still compel you to think of lute strings.—Exchange.

The South's Imperial Staple.

Over $2,000,000,000 is invested in cotton mills in Europe and America dependent upon the South for their raw material. It is estimated that 10,000,000 people in Great Britain alone live on the cotton industry of that country. The balance of trade in favor of the United States depends upon our cotton exports, which now annually reach $400,000,000 or more than the world's gold production. Of this royal crop, imperial in magnitude and in domination of the world's financial and manufacturing interest, the South holds a world monopoly. Its ability to increase cotton production to meet the world's growing needs, and its ability to develop cotton manufacturing commensurate with its monopoly of cotton production, are limited only by its labor supply. Economic forces will of necessity bring about a great increase in population and thus prepare the way for a vast expansion in manufacturing and in production as the price and demand may justify. The South produces 80 per cent, of the cotton for the 119,000,000 spindles in the world, but has less than 10,000,000 spindles itself. Think of the limitless possibilities for expansion in this industry alone when you are studying the future of the South.

DIED ON THE WAY

Mr. Press King, a Former Citizen of the Repton Vicinity Passes Away on the Steamer Hopkins.

Press King, a former citizen of the Repton vicinity who has been living in Annapolis, Mo., for several months died Tuesday afternoon Sept. 18th at 4 o'clock on a steam boat in the Ohio river, while he was en route from Missouri, to Henshaw, Ky., in charge of his brother-in-law, Dr. W. H. Nunn. The boat had just left Paducah and was in the Tennessee river chute when he expired. He had been quite ill for five weeks with typhoid fever and had sent for Dr. Nunn, of Henshaw, in whom he had great confidence. Dr. Nunn went but found the sufferer beyond human aid and although so very low he begged to be brought back to his old Kentucky home to die.

He was living with his sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Nunn, at Annapolis, Mo. His sister, Mrs. Callie Cook, was also with him.

Mr. King was born in Dec. 1860 and was therefore in his 46th year. His remains were taken from the boat at Caseyville thence to Henshaw where a coffin was obtained Wednesday. The burial took place Thursday at Repton.

TOLU, KY. vs. LAMBTOWN, ILL.

Tolu, Ky., Sept. 22nd.—Lambtown was given the bats at the start and owing to the fact that Franks had been unable to warm up before beginning the game, six scores were made before the side was satisfied. Tolu followed with a shut out. Lambtown failed to score in the second and Tolu in their half scored two. In the third Lambtown scored one and Tolu was blanked. Lambtown failed to score any more except in the seventh when they made three. Tolu made one in the fourth and also in the fifth, and two in the sixth. When the smoke cleared away in the fatal seventh Tolu had scored five times and Lambtown had changed batteries. The features of the game were the batting of Claud Guess and Cisco and the Tolu players in general, Cisco's catch of a hot liner and the sensational running catch of a high fly by Carter. The score: Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E Tolu 0 2 0 1 1 2 5 0 x 11 13 Batteries: Tolu, Franks and Perryman; Lambtown, Burklow and McDowell, Jenkins and Douglas. 2 base hits; Perryman, Smith, Carter, Wright, Guess (4), Cisco (2), Burklow.

Stolen bases, Douglas, Hardesty, Cisco, Jenkins. Base on balls, off Franks 4. Struck out; by Franks 10, by Burklow 6, by Jenkins 1. Hit by pitched ball; Smith. Wild pitch; Franks 3. Time of Game: 1:45. Umpire: Carleton.
