A FEARFUL ACCIDENT AT CRIDER STATION

A FIFTEEN YEAR OLD BOY CUT IN TWO PIECES

Byrd Deboe, Son of Will Deboe, Meets Death While Trying to Board a Moving Train

Wednesday morning of this week there occurred at the town of Crider, in Caldwell county, between Princeton and Marion on the I. C. R. R. a most horrible accident.

A fifteen year old lad by the name of Byrd Deboe and a son of Will Deboe made an attempt to board the north bound local freight. In making this attempt he fell between the cars and was cut into two separate pieces dying almost instantly.

The details of this accident are horrible beyond expression.

The conductor of the freight was Mr. Speers and in describing it he said:

"The station agent at Crider had warned this particular boy time and again to stay away from the trains but all to no purpose. He attempted to board the train when it was moving too fast and missing his footing fell between the cars and was cut in two. After the train had passed on I picked the boys heart up from between the tracks and laid it on the body. It was a most horrible sight."

It is beyond the power of the living to do anything for the dead and funeral services are said above the biers of the dead merely for the benefit of the living. The CRITTENDEN RECORD takes this accident for a text. "Boys stay away from the railroad." When the railroad needs you it will send for you.

Marion fathers and mothers do your boys play around cars and trains near the depot? Oh! no my children never do. You all think that and that is where you are fooled. Ask Mr. Vener the agent or any of the men who have business at the depot each day and find out whether or not your children risk their lives each day by jumping on and off trains at this Marion depot. Some of you will get your eyes opened unless you close them on purpose. One of these days not far distant Marion will be shocked beyond measure and some father and mother will bury their boy on top of the hill toward the setting sun.

ANOTHER SALE MADE

New Marion Lodge of Odd Fellows Buy the Porter Building

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Marion was organized into a lodge on Nov. 16, 1906, and the number of the lodge was 138.

At the organization of the lodge there were only nine members, and in order to get a charter six members were substituted from Morganfield Lodge. There are now about 33 members and the lodge is enjoying a steady growth. They have been meeting Friday night of each week in the Masonic Temple. Mr. G. Ellis Grissom is the Noble Grand, Leslie Bibb, Vice Grand, and E. V. Carlton, Secretary.

By a vote last Friday night they decided to buy the W. H. Porter building which used to be the old Walker & Olive furniture stand.

The inside stairway will be removed and placed to open in the rear as does that of the K. P. Hall. The upper room will be used for lodge purposes and the lower floor rented out.

The room upstairs will be of the same dimensions as the K. P. Hall.

We understand this property was bought at a bargain.

TORREY AND ALEXANDER

Are Holding a Revival in Nashville Tenn.

The great evangelists, Torrey and Alexander, are holding a series of meetings in Ryman's auditorium at Nashville. The meeting will continue until Nov. 11th. The singing is conducted by Mr. Alexander assisted by a choir of 800 voices. These evangelists have an international fame.

J. T. Lear Of Tolu Dead.

In the midst of life death has again visited our town. Our neighbor and friend, Mr. J. T. Lear died Monday morning about one o'clock and was buried to-day at the Love grave yard. Almost the entire neighborhood attended the burial and funeral to pay their last tribute of respect to all that was mortal of J. T. Lear.

Mr. Lear was born in 1838 and consequently he was nearly 69 years old and in this death the family loses a good husband a kind and affectionate father and the community a good citizen, an honorable clever christian gentleman.

The family has the sympathy of the entire community in this the saddest hour of their lives. Our friend will no more hear the bell that calls the faithful to worship. Peace be to his memory.

A FRIEND.

Sent to Asylum

Uncle Thomas Mayes was tried Wednesday for lunacy. His mind has been failing for some time, but lately he had become unmanageable and was sent to the asylum at Hopkinsville, Thursday.

He was 91 years old Oct. 18th, 1906. He is an elder in the Presbyterian church. He is a brother of Tyrell Mayes and the father of Mrs. Gillie Dollar, of this place. He stayed at the home of his daughter the night before he was taken away.

He is a highly respected man. His infirmity is caused by his advanced age.

BILL WILBORN TALKS

Some on His Way Home From Louisville

Bill Wilborn passed through Marion on his way home from a meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge, which was held in Louisville, and as is his habit or custom he made a few remarks in the passing. A RECORD rounder was hid behind a tree and to this circumstance the readers of this paper are enabled to read a short hand record of Bill's sayings. Mr. Wilborn always talks when he feels so disposed. Sometimes he talks very much to the point. Running his hand down in his right hand trousers pocket a matter of two or three feet Mr. Wilborn said:

"Joe, Give me a chew of tobacco." Judge Rochester repeated Mr. Wilborn's performance with the addition of a hasty search of the left pocket as well as the right and with a long face declared he did not have a "smidgen." John Asher ditto. With that Bill hauled out a plug and said he was looking for something better.

"Yes, I am on my way back home from the Masonic Grand Lodge, which just convened in Louisville. I want to say to you right now that it was the best Grand Lodge I ever attended. Masonry is on the up grade. There is a better moral tone, a higher estimate of the affairs of life in masonry today than has ever been known before. One of the Lodges in the upper part of the state was suspended at the Grand Lodge before for drunkenness, the details of which are very disgusting, and that very lodge was back this year on their knees for reinstatement. I tell you I would not have been in one pair of their breeches for a dozen pair of their socks. My! what a skinning! Their hides hung on the line high and dry. And by the way, after a very spirited debate during the closing hours the Lodge in which a dozen or more took part the convention by a rising vote of 418 to 32 adopted a resolution barring all persons engaged in the liquor traffic from membership in the Kentucky Lodges. The action stands only for one year. You may think that is not so, but, young man, it is just that way," and with a firm set of the jaws Mr. Wilborn took an amber shot at a grasshopper situated about fifteen feet distant.

JAMES B. M'CREARY IN MARION WEDNESDAY

WAS MET AT THE TRAIN BY MANY ENTHUSIASTIC FOLLOWERS

Spoke at the Opera House in the Afternoon--Introduced By J. G. Rochester

Senator James B. McCreary, candidate for re-election, spoke at the Opera House, Wednesday afternoon. He was introduced by J. G. Rochester.

He was met at the train by many enthusiastic followers, and was driven to the hotel in the omnibus draped with bunting and flags. The Lola brand furnishing music for the occasion.

The following are a few of the thoughts he presented.

This country of ours is the greatest on earth and is the home of liberty loving people and Kentucky is one the greatest commonwealths in the country, but is now one of those "boss ridden machine governed" states.

"We heartily agree with him that 'Bossism' is not confined altogether to the Republican party, for we do not have to leave our own state to find an example.

In referring to the ways and means that were used to rid Maryland, Missouri Ohio and other states of Bossism, we feel and believe that he unjustly called the late Senator Hanna, a boss in Ohio politics. The more the people of that state and the country at large knew of Hanna, the more he was admired. We feel that Senator McCreary should let the dead rest in peace, and go after some of the live ones of his party if he wants to put bossism out of the way.

He said that the state had been ruled by a "machine" for the past few years and this same machine had created 31 new offices, ordered a primary election for the nomination of senator 2 years and eight months before he takes his seat, so, that it will take place while he (Beckham) is still in office, and 'it' had appropriated $1,250,000 for a new capital building when the contract was made for $880,000.

He is alight on the temperance question and said he was more than willing to have his character compared with that of the Governor. He said that Beckham had accepted money for campaign purposes, from one of the biggest beer and whisky men in the state and also, that he failed to vote in the local option election in his own county.

On account of most all the senators being men of over sixty, he seemed to think, should Beckham be elected, he would be lonely, "as lonely as can be," because of his unmatured years and inexperience.

AN OLD LANDMARK

Hon. F. M. Clement Tells of Early Days in Marion and Crittenden

A few days ago there rode into Marion Hon. F. M. Clement, one of our old and substantial citizens.

Mr. Clement was 78 years old Sep. 21, 1906, and has lived all his life in Crittenden county. Sitting in front of Olive & Walker's hardware store he greeted the RECORD rounder with a warm hand shake, and pointing across the street to the northeast corner of the court house square said:

"Right south of that pump about five or ten feet stood a hickory tree many years ago. In fact there were two hickory trees and that was the deer stand for the whole country. The deer run from that part of the county where my farm is toward the river and passed those two trees. I expect there has been a thousand deer killed between here and that corner. A man placed a pole from one of those hickories to the other and then set lumber against the pole edgewise. The lumber built the first house in Marion. I used to ride behind my mother to church in the old brick church down in the grave yard south of town. At such times I have seen as many as fifty deer tails in the air between home and church."

Mr. Clement, why don't you sell your farm and move to town where you can have more conveniences?

"Well now let me tell you, young fellow, 'it is hard to learn an old dog new tricks.' I have every convenience I want out on my farm and I would be like a fish out of water here in town among you fellows. And speaking of fish, I have a fish pond on my place stocked with fine fish. I go fishing whenever I want to.

"I see this county has done one smart thing and I want to congratulate the county officers or whoever is responsible. You have repaired the old court house and saved the county a debt saddled on them of $40,000 or $50,000. This court house is good enough."

In October

Bright autumn days, the dying year's last gift,

Like ripe fruit garnered up by careful hands,

Oh stay! nor, like impatient swallows, lift

Your wings to bear you to soft southern lands.

These fallen leaves I tread with scarce a pang,

Remembering all their kindly summer shade

(How here the music of the thrushes rang)

Though leaves may wither, memories will not fade.

These rocks, so cold and bare to other eyes,

Are written o'er and o'er; and as I read,

Old scenes, old friends, on either hand arise,

And bid me on my onward course God-speed.

For onward still through autumn days I toil,

Though storms may break on home-lands white with snow;

Though wintry Death should lay me in the soil,

My soul, a migrant bird, would heavenward go.

Things of Unusual Size

We have four fine sweet potatoes presented to us by Mr. J. P. Gass. Mr. Gass states that he has raised on one acre of ground, 45 bushels of Irish potatoes, 40 bushel of sweet potatoes only having 1,300 hills, two bis. shuckled pop corn, 200 or 300 water melons and now has the part of the acre that was planted in Irish potatoes in turnips and expects about 50 bushel when dug. How's that for farming? Will you go to Washington to garden or stay where stuff will grow? Most of our farmers plant to much and work it too little. Plant less and work it more and your taxes won't be so much.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, of the Piney woods, comes across with this. She raises cymlins. They are of the egg variety and it appears that about the only use they are in this world is to fool laying hens. They are used for nest eggs.

Mrs. Wilson had two vines of these vegetable door knobs. The hogs ate up about half of them and then she gathered twelve gallons. It seems to us that likely the hogs would have a sort of gastralgic abdominal uneasiness.

This week Colonel Obadiah Hunt brought to this office two large sweet potatoes. One is red and the other white. When they were first harvested they weighed six and seven pounds respectively. If anyone can down Obadiah come on with your sweet potatoes. Those two wont last more than a week longer.

Mrs. Jane Walker is just back from the wilds of woolly Colorado. As things of "unusual size" seem to be growing quite freely in Crittenden she brought with her in a special crate a large apple that weighs one pound and three ounces. It measured sixteen inches around. She also brought some fine ripe peaches.

Mrs. Jane says, "Colorado has the best of us in the fruit line, but when it comes to people we have 'hem beaten bad."

The Hon. Zed Bennet read some of the above over the rounder's shoulder and called on for something of "unusual size" said all he could offer was "his appetite." He said it was of "unusual size."

Geo. Cruce bought to the RECORD office a long red beet that weighs ten pounds strong. It is as large as some peaches pumpkins and ought to last a small sized family quite a while. If this thing keeps up we editors of the "pumpkin" variety will have a winter supply of vegetables.

THE BROWNS VISIT MARION

STREET SINGING AND PREACHING FOR LAST SEVERAL DAYS

They are Composed of Two Families and Have Been Coming to Marion for Several Years

The Browns are here. Crittenden county and Marion people will remember the Browns. They have been coming to Marion every year for some time and generally hold services in the court house yard. Sometimes they stand on the side of the pavements and from there they sing, pray, exhort, testify and preach.

They are composed of two families. The oldest and largest man is Mr. Granville Overton Brown and he is the minister. His family with him is composed of Ida Brown, Gracie Brown, Mary Brown, Webber Brown and Wilbur Brown. The smaller man is Mr. H. L. Brown and his family with him is Annie Brown, Clifton Brown, Josie Brown and Lelia Brown.

These people are from Ohio county, Kentucky. Their former home is on the Green river seven miles above Livemore and twelve miles from Hartford. If we understood correctly the father of these two men still lives in Ohio county and it is to him they are indebted for a church house in which to worship. He bought the church building outright and it is dedicated to anyone who desires to hold services in it.

These two Brown families have been traveling five years and have been in seven different states. They travel by train, or livery team, or boat and when located in a city during the winter time are self supporting. Last winter they stayed near Hartford, Ky., and run a training school. Winter before last they stayed in Kansas City, Mo.

When the Browns were here before there were two girls with them that are not with them now. It seems that cupid played an important part and they both married. One lives in Paducah and one in Beech Grove, Ky.

These people all belonged to the Southern Methodist church and were all raised in that church. Mr. R. L. Brown owned a farm, but he sold the property and put the money in a good religious training school.

They leave here this week and go to Tolu. From there they go to Paducah where they will spend the winter.

The young man who sings tenor admitted to the RECORD rounder that of all the states they traveled they liked Kentucky best. Said he,

"I don't say it because I am a Kentuckian, but it is a fact there is more genuine hospitality in Kentucky than anywhere else. We have been to places where the people would not even give us a glass of water when we asked politely for it."

These Browns are certainly people who are dead in earnest. When a man will sell his property and give the proceeds away and then start to preaching and trust the Lord for everything it stands to reason he is dead in earnest. Also there are the dependent families to think of. They must be in earnest and they must be honest, but whether their course is expedient or not we are not prepared to say.

A NEW ADDITION

A Crittenden County Boy Returns From Illinois to Buy Property

Mr. Oliver Hurley came to town the other day to buy some Crittenden county soil. He has been with the Stinsons in Carmi, Ill., for some time. One day last week he rolled into a buggy at Foster & Wallingford's stable and then rolled down to see Job Dean's fine farm.

The deal has not been consummated as yet, but an announcement of the purchase may be looked for at any time.

And Still They Trade

Mr. Carl Henderson has promised to move out of his home by the first of November and give possession to Mr. P. T. Sigler. Mr. Sigler bought the property last week.

Trading seems to be the order of the day.

Simple Simon

"Simple Simon" may fail to pay his taxes by next Wednesday night, Oct. 31st. Nobody else will. If you do not want to be a "Simple Simon" you had better make the acquaintance of James Fidler Flanary and buy a slip of paper from him. He will sell it to you cheaper now than he will the last of next week. The sheriff of Crittenden county has about $30,000 to collect this year. He has collected a little over $17,000, and at the rate the collections have been coming in he estimates that there will be not over $5000 or $6000 by the first of next month on which the penalty will be attached. Mr. Flanary has gone way beyond his duty in that he has spent considerable money and gone to a great deal of trouble to inform the people of the importance of paying their taxes promptly this year.

TOBACCO NEWS..

Charley Clement has sold his crop of tobacco for 7 cents around.

Henry Walker sold his crop of tobacco at 5 cents around.

Buck Stovall sold his tobacco crop for 7 cents around.

Will and Tilford Bigham sold at 7 cents around

We understand that Will and Frank Adams sold at 7 and 4½ cents.

Spill Hill sold his crop of tobacco for 7 cents around.

J. Correy Minner sold his tobacco October 23rd for 7 cents all excepting three hundred pounds which goes at 5 cents.

Wes Sons sold his crop of tobacco last week for 6½ around.

Mr. James Sons reports that several crops sold for 6 to 6½. He heard of one that sold for 7. All this happened on Donaldson.

A tobacco buyer was through Piney Creek county last week and said he would give 7 for Sherman Paris' crop.

Observe the pictures to the left of Mr. Sidney T. Dupuy and Mr. Berl F. Walker. Which is which we leave you to guess. These gentlemen want it understood that they are in the tobacco business for Mr. Arthur B. Jarvis. Mr. Jarvis owns one of the best stemmeries in Western Kentucky situated here in Marion. It is large and has all the modern appliances for storing and caring for the tobacco. Mr. S. T. Dupuy has been managing his business here in Marion for a number of years and has made a host of friends. Mr. Berl Walker is well known to all and is a splendid good man and a fine judge of tobacco.

HELLO! CENTRAL; WHAT WONDERS

Have Been Wrought Since the First Call Was Made in 1875

"Hello, Central!" was first heard in 1875. Today the exchanges are numbered by the thousands, the telephones by the millions. Various industries, unknown thirty years ago, but now sources of employment to many thousands of workers, depend entirely upon the telephone for support. Numerous factories, making lead sheathing, dynamos, motors, generators, batteries, office equipments, cables and many other appliances, would have to close down and thus throw their operatives into idleness and misery if the telephone should cease to ring. The Bell Company employs over 87,000 persons and, it may be added, pay them well. Many of these employees have families to maintain; others support their parents or aid younger brothers and sisters. It is safe to say that 100,000 people look to the telephone for their daily bread. These figures may be supplemented by the number of telephones in use (5,698,000, by the number of miles of wire (6,043,000) in the Bell lines, and by the number of conversations (4,479,500,000) electrically conveyed in 1905. The network of wires connects more than 33,000 cities, towns, villages, and hamlets.

Such tremendous growth as these statistics show would imply not only a steadily increasing appreciation of the telephone, but it would also suggest improved instruments, more skillful operators, and better service. There would be no flattery in such suggestion. Electrical science has undergone radical reformation since 1876. Telephony has raised the utilization of electricity to the height of a profession. Of course, such advances have not been without cost. Fortunes were spent in experiment and investigation before a dollar came back. Communication by the first telephone was limited to a few thousand feet. Now, conversation can be carried on by persons 1,600 miles apart. Tomorrow long-distance lines will span the continent; and the day after oceanic telephony will be a commonplace of mercantile routine. But science and money had to collaborate for years before they could work the miracle of enabling Boston and Omaha to talk together.—Scribner's Magazine.

THE MAN WHO IS AHEAD

Proper Tribute Paid to Worthy Member of Community

In almost every newspaper you pick up you are pretty sure to find a lot of gush about the man behind the counter and the man behind the gun; the man behind the buzz-saw and the man behind the sun; the man behind the times and the man behind his rents; the man behind the plowshare and the man behind the fence; the man behind the whistle and the man behind the cars; the man behind the kodak and the man behind the bars; the man behind his whisks and the man behind his fists; and everything is entered on the list.

But they've skipped another fellow of whom nothing has been said—the fellow who is even, or a little way ahead; who pays for what he gets, whose bills are always signed. He's a blamed sight more important than the man who is behind. All the editors and merchants, and the whole commercial clan, are indebted for existence to this honest fellowman. He keeps us all in business, and his town is never dead; and so we take off our hats to the man who is ahead.—Judge.

Don't Borrow Trouble

It is a bad habit to borrow anything but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At Haynes & Taylor drug store. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

An Improved Postal Card

Our postal card is in need of improvement. The writing on it in plain view, to be read at leisure by any postal employe from the time it leaves the sender until it arrives at its destination. It is safe to assume that this has been the cause of no little trouble and embarrassment.

During my first stay in Brazil I found that the postal card there in use was supplied with a flap or covering of dark paper which, when gummed down, completely hid the writing. This flap was attached to the back of the card, the edge gummed and perforated, the insertion of a finger tip being all that was required to open it. It served the purpose of a letter at half the expense. I fail to see why our government did not adopt this style of postal card long ago, the additional expense being so slight as to leave a handsome profit.—Exchange.

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At Haynes & Taylor druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CATARRH SEASON.

Disease Most Prevalent in the Fall Months. Simple Way to Cure.

At the first warning of catarrh, one should begin using Hyomei. There is no stomach dosing with this treatment: The medication of its healing oils and balsams is taken in with the air you breathe so that it reaches the most remote cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing the catarrh germs wherever present, and soothing all irritations in the mucous membrane.

You run no risk in paying Haynes & Taylor $1 for a Hyomei outfit, as they give personal guarantee that if the remedy does not afford relief, your money will be refunded at once. Extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, cost but 50 cents, making it the most economical treatment for catarrh as well as the only one that is sold on guarantee.

Republican Campaign Text-Book

A departure has been made in the Republican Campaign Text-Book just issued, in that its contents are wholly devoted to live issues, and these are treated in the briefest possible way, yet comprehensively enough to include all necessary facts and figures.

First, there is a general statement of the issues of 1906, followed by a brief review of Republican legislation in general and the work of the Fifty-ninth Congress in particular. The Railroad Rate Law, Pure Food Law, Free Alcohol Law, Employers' Liability Law and the Meat Inspection portion of the Agricultural Appropriation Law are given in full, as is Chairman Tawney's clear explanation of the appropriations.

The Labor question is next fully presented, followed by Representative Watson's exposition of Anti-Trust proceedings. About one hundred pages are given to the Tariff, Agriculture, and Manufactures, and the tables showing the various phases of industrial activity. Among other subjects treated under the tariff are:

Protection and Free Trade,
Customs Revenue,
Foreign Commerce,
Home Market and Internal Trade,
Wages and Prices,
Export Discounts,
Reciprocity,
Free Hides,
Revision, etc., etc.

Some half hundred tables give official and authoritative figures down to the latest possible date. The work of the president and administration is then briefly presented, the condition and status of the Philippines, the Panama Canal, the Navy, Postal Service, Irrigation, etc., etc.

The President's letter to Representative Watson concludes the work, which has a copious index of over a dozen pages.

Scattered throughout the book are quotations from President Roosevelt and other Republican leaders. Among these is the extract from Senator Hanna's speech where he used the "star d pat" expression, it being the only instance in the Text-Book where the words "stand pat" are used. A page is given to Mr. Bryan and his views, with the comments of the New York World. A so-called "Prosperity Postscript" is added, giving treasury conditions, trade reports, etc., down to August 1.

For the first time in a political campaign, the Text-Book will have a general circulation, as together with other literature, it will be sent on receipt of one dollar by John C. Eversman, Assistant Treasurer, 1133 Broadway, New York.

...THE TEACHERS INSTITUTE...

MONDAY MORNING.

The institute was opened at 9:30 o'clock by the County Superintendent, Mr. Paris, who after the opening exercises asked for nominations for President. Mr. C. R. Newcomb and Mr. J. E. Travis were nominated and motions being seconded, vote was taken which resulted in the election of Mr. Newcomb. Next in order was the election of secretary and only one nomination being made, Miss Ethel Hard was declared elected. A vice president and assistant secretary were next elected, Mr. J. E. Travis and Miss Iva Hicklin being elected to those offices.

Mr. Paris and Rev. J. F. Price, Instructor, each made their opening address. Both gentlemen pointed out the necessity of the institute being in all respects a model school and in order to do that every teacher must do his or her part. Rev. Price made a rapid review of the work which was intended the institute to accomplish.

After a short recess and song, Mrs. Fannie Walker gave a splendid talk on "Primary Work." She had presented a small part of her first grade and primer classes and by an illustrative lesson brought out all the essential principals of good primary work. Class interest was kept by letting class do the work. Every one of the special senses were used by children. Special stress was laid on repetition as an aid in learning new words, which were all taught as far as possible by the "Object Lesson." Different methods or plans were used in same lesson and the phonetic value of words was brought out. The speaker said that a common mistake was an attempt on the part of the teacher to do too much, and that in her opinion two new words in one lesson or three words in two lessons was, if mastered, enough to expect of first year pupils. She impressed the assembled teachers with the value of frequent drills and reviews, showing the absolute necessity.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

After the calling of the roll, by the secretary and a song by the institute, Miss Emma Terry discussed spelling and how to teach it. Spelling as generally taught, she said, was of no great value and that before it can become so, it must be made interesting and practical, more than the mere calling of letters. Miss Boston pointed out that for smaller children observation is the better than arbitrary rules of spelling although she considered it better to begin teaching the simplest rules in the third or fourth grade.

The instructor gave a talk "Word Study" in which he showed the importance of the school room dictionary. He said that even third grade pupils should be required to possess and use a dictionary. "Educating a child," he said, "consists chiefly in teaching him to investigate or how to use books."

A recess of 15 minutes was followed by the singing of "Nearer my God to Thee" by the institute. The next talk was that of Miss Mamie Henry on "Reading." Good scholarship, she pointed out, depended in all studies, upon the ability of student to read. Much stress should be placed on the correct teaching of this subject, aim to have the child read an article as thoughts not words, and to have him understand what he reads. Miss Henry said that a teacher should keep in mind the fact that much of a child's success as a reader depended on the start made.

In speaking of the preparation of the reading lesson, Miss Hicklin said that the teacher must also prepare for the lesson as well as seeing that the child did, good preparation consisting of, digestion of thought contained, mastery of word and study of author. Mr. Pilaut believed the ends to be accomplished by reading as taught in our schools, to be proper expression, broadening of vocabulary, love for good literature and prevention of taste for bad, a knowledge of authors and vocal culture. The sources of failure according to Miss Lena Terry were, failure on pupils part; to understand article read, rapid reading and bad word study. Mr. Kee pointed out that in reading the "thought" is the thing sought; therefore let "punctuation" "pauses" and "stops" alone and create interest and interpretation, then study becomes a delight and is easier to both teach and learn.

Question by instructor, "When should the new words presented be taught?" Discussion brought out the fact that when lesson is assigned and again after lesson is recited is best time. Continued discussion on reading brought out many important points. On assigning reading lesson, direct pupils to study story, read it aloud at home, study author and his work to make a list of new words and master them. Only classics should be read. Time is worse than wasted on bad selections. Keep pupil on lesson until mastered. The work on reading closed with an example of concert reading by the institute led by instructor. The value of such work being readily seen by those present.

Rev. Price then gave ten rules for good teaching as follows:

- 1st—Never try to teach which you do not quite understand.
- 2nd—Never tell a child what you can get a child to tell you.
- 3rd—Never give information without asking for it again.
- 4th—Study your language, use words that a child can understand.
- 5th—Never begin a lesson without a clear idea of what you intend to accomplish.
- 6th—Never give a needless command, or one that you do not mean to be obeyed.
- 7th—Keep every member of the class busy at something.
- 8th—Begin with known and proceed to unknown.
- 9th—True teaching is arousing the pupil to think for itself.
- 10th—Learning is thinking over in ones mind a thing until we know it and can tell it.

Adjournment.

TUESDAY MORNING.

After the opening services which were conducted by Rev. Love, the secretary called the roll. Rev. Price, the first speaker of the day, talked of "The physical nature of the child." The physical nature of the child, he said, of play should be made by all teachers. Children will use their muscles, see that their use bring profit. Drawing and writing are special studies for such work. Train muscles of throat and make correct articulation a habit. Pay attention to the standing sitting and walking of pupils.

Miss Carolyn Harris next read her paper on "Oral lessons with Objects." She advised the use of such work as would bring into play all of the senses—the natural methods. In class room study can be made of spiders, ants and flies from collections made by pupils and kept under glass, letting children write and tell what they observe.

Miss Florence Harris discussed "Language lessons." The subject she said must be familiar to child. Study first the sentence as a whole, then in its parts. Use much copying and reproduction. Miss Wilson believed such work invaluable in the cultivation of the memory and attention.

Question by instructor, "What are the objects in teaching language?" Discussion by teachers bringing out the following points: To broaden and enlarge the vocabulary. Weed out bad language. Training to observe, think and express. Natural expression of thought. Prof. Kee defined language as an art and grammar as a science.

Question by instructor, "What studies can be connected with language?" Institute answer, history, geography and nature work. Language is the foundation of grammar and composition. We need more written language work. The instruction gave a talk on "Sense Perception in which he showed the value of work which trained the child to observe.

Adjourned for recess.

After singing "The Star Spangled Banner", the institute listened to a discussion of Grammar by Miss Margaret Moore. Miss Moore had presented a number of children who had never before studied grammar and gave them a lesson before the institute. Using the sentence as her foundation unit, she took one thing at a time being careful to do thorough work. She said that there was no better mental discipline than grammar rightly studied.

In inflection, Miss Ada Hill said it is best to get pupil to understand all changes and their meaning. Mr. J. B. McNeely said that the teacher sought to save time by staying close to text book and pupil suffered by an abuse of parsing. Mr. Irbie Terry showed the valuable uses of diagrams and work in analysis. Mr. J. P. Samuel and Mr. Sisco discussed "Ends to be sought," after which Rev. Price asked questions and discussed more thoroughly the subject, with the institute. He said that teachers should use better methods of securing interest in grammar classes, and prevent it from being a dry uninteresting study to the child.

Adjournment by the president.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Institute called to order at 1:30. After opening exercises and roll call, Prof. V. G. Kee gave a lengthy talk on "Composition." He said we absorbed composition from that which we read and that no one could be a good author without being a good man. In writing don't think of rules. Language study, he said was a fundamental principle of composition, but a study of technical grammar was necessary. Pupils gather help from books and conversation and are more exact in written work than oral composition. Notice descriptive words, figures of speech, paragraph unity, point in view, conception and central thought in grouping.

Miss Lizzie Morse discussed the importance of teaching how to write a letter suited to any occasion. Miss Elva Hill and Miss Eliza Morse gave short talks on methods of criticism. The Institute discussed composition with Instructor who placed stress on the cultivation of a sense of right and wrong in written and oral work.

Miss Ethel Hard thought a "Miscellaneous Hour" absolutely necessary in creating and keeping the interest of pupils, teacher and parent. Set apart a time for the study of special things, plant, life, place, insects, people, books inventions or any interesting work cannot, for lack of time be brought in to the regular lesson. Such an hour, Miss Hard believes, could be made much more interesting and instructive than the regular work. The instructor added a plea for the study of art in the schools, saying that no better use could be made of such an hour than the study of a good picture.

Adjournment for recess.

CAN ANY ONE TELL?

School Teachers Called on To Explain—What Is "Tramp Low"?

The following clipping is from a Chicago paper and the CRITTENDEN RECORD would be glad if some one would explain what a "tramp low" is. "One of the tricks of the 'tramp low' that stole in upon Chicago yesterday, was a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. It struck the house of A. Landrapt, 10516 Avenue M as the family was at supper near the open window. The flash that came while the sun was shining set fire to the shingles of the house but did no further damage."

Mrs. J. T. LEAR AND FAMILY:

BITS OF BYPLAY.

If you kind reader should ever be fortunate enough to find yourself in the city of Owensboro, Ky., do not fail to go up to see Uncle Sam's custom house.

This place called Owensboro you will readily see is the handsomest small city in the State of Kentucky. Everything is up-to-date. The yards, the houses, the churches and in fact everything will impress you with their neatness, cleanliness and the civic pride of those who live there.

As before stated be sure and go and see your uncle Samuels custom house.
There is nothing unusual about the building. The post-office in the lower story is not up to Marion and you need not tarry there. We especially invite you to the upper floor and after you get there and find yourself in the midst of clerks, typewriters, stenographers, typewriter operators, janitors and others, announce that you want to see the collector, the boss, the main spring that keeps the machinery running.

Luther Farmer will try to bluff you and demand to know your business but pay no attention to him. In less time than it takes to tell it you will be in the private office of Hon. E. T. Franks and you will almost simultaneously have a welcome, a handshake, a chair and an inquiry after your health and the health of your family. This is Ed Franks, of the old clay hills of Crittenden. Look at him well. For thereby hangs a tale the telling of which follows.

Long years ago, the number we will not say, Ed Franks was a little boy, his father lived about three or four miles from here on a farm.

Mr. Franks sr. wanted to buy a horse and wanted a gentle one. It soon became noised abroad. One evening a man rode a fine horse to the gate and called Mr. Franks to come and see the bargain. The father strode to the gate and the children swarmed to the fence.
Some were large enough to climb to the top, but young Edward peeped
through a crack.

The horse seller was saying, "now
Mr. Franks this is the horse you need and have been looking for. My wife drives this horse. My little children ride him. My mother is not afraid to go to church behind him and my grand mother places all confidence in him.

There is only one danger with this horse near a train of cars. You must get him off the track or he will let the train run over him. And do you know Mr. Franks last week while my wife was out driving him she met a traction engine in the road. He paid no attention to it at all. Last month I drove him to Marion to see the show and the brass band, the elephants, the camels and everything else all looked alike to him. I never saw him scared in my life."

At this juncture the horseman paused to observe the effect and possibly to get a fresh breath and a new start.
Nothing was said and silence reigned supreme. The horseman felt that he had covered the territory pretty thoroughly.

All at once little moist nosed Edward broke in with—"Mister is he gintel?"

Sometimes the biter is bitten. One of the toughest hands at a practical joke is grandpa John Parr, of some where near Flat Rock, Caldwell county, and formerly, of Marion. Uncle John is something near 105 years old and has lost all his teeth. Many years ago he made life miserable for many and among the number were Forest Oliver and Jeff Clement. They all bought stock together in those days—Oliver, Clement and Parr. Uncle John wanted to go to Louisville with the balance of the boys one time and Forest Oliver fixed it so he could take the passage. Mr.
Parr thought the way was clear out it was not clear for Oliver and Clement had fixed up a little by play and the conductor was a party thereto. At Central City the conductor announced 30 minutes for dinner and all passengers went to table. Grandpa John had just stirred five teaspoonsful of sugar
in his coffee when the conductor darted to the door and shouted "all aboard."

Mr. Parr sailed out on the wings of the wind and Oliver and Clement followed to see the race. As they got out of the door they saw the freight train going up the road at a lively clip. Mr.
Parr was in the middle of the track about 50 feet in the rear. His hat was off and with it he was fanning the road.
His coat tails stood out straight behind.
The conductor stood on the rear platform of the caboose and yelled "run Parker run!" "run Parker run!" The race lasted about one quarter of a mile.
At this point the train stopped and slowly backed on to the siding while grandpa John "Parker" climbed aboard. The conductor held a straight face while the old man glared at him and hung his tongue out for breath. Back down at the depot Oliver, Clement & Co. were acting like crazy men, riding over and pounding each other in the back. To this good hour Forest Oliver calls him Mr.
"Parker".

A young man came to town the other day and bought an overcoat from Bill Cannan. The coat was wrapped up and laid to one side. At some period of his pergration during the balance of the day he must have inhaled somewhat freely of snake medicine. Along in the afternoon he tried hard to convince Bob Cook that he had a new overcoat in that store and could point to the exact spot where it lay. When he rounded into Taylor & Cannan's he announced that he had been in thirty dry goods stores in the search for his coat and in the exuberance of his conversation he declared that he had checks on all the banks around here.

Mr. Cannan suggested that thirty dry good stores would be a good many for Marion and that checks on banks are quite a convenience if you have any money in the bank.

It is not generally known but there once lived in Crittenden county a man who did not wash his feet for fifteen years.

He has gone from here and we are not advised whether he ever changed the rule or not. He claimed it was unhealthy to bathe the feet and also unnatural. He pointed with pride to his good health and attributed the same to the unwashed condition of his pedal extremities.

Miss Laura Miles came to Marion the other day and announced that she and her mother and Mrs. P. E. Cook were going to Los Angeles, California.

Miss Miles used to be known as Miss Pigeon and lived here in Marion. She would be employed and if she was ever idle it was because she could not get work. She was a compositor on the Crittenden Press for quite a while.
Now she has a splendid position of trust in Paducah and is well liked by her employers. On account of the health of Madeline the little daughter of Mrs.
P. E. Cook they will remove to California.

You know him. He is a good deacon with a cheery smile. He is as regular in all his church duties as the clock and as prompt as ye old time Marion grocer.
Most of the older Marion people remember the prompt grocery keeper. He sold a man a bill of goods and then succeeded in mailing an itemized account which the man got out of the office on his way home.

Our good deacon sometimes gets a little restless and if the sermon is a little longer than usual sometimes there breaks upon the air a sharp clear snap of a watch and the good pastor thereupon says,—"Now brethren in conclusion."

As we grow older and get more sedate. The things that once satisfied in youth no longer attract attention.
Changes come. In dreesman and sometimes in names. The young lady

AMONG OUR CHURCHES

(Suggested by S. S. Lessos.)

It seems very certain that the world is to grow better and richer in the future, not by the magnificent achievements of the highly gifted few, but by the faithfulness of the one talented many.—Philip Brooks.

Rev. J. H. Butler filled the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

In the morning he read a part of the fifth chapter of Mark as a lesson.

His text was Mark 5: 18-19.—"And when he was come unto the ship, he that had been possessed with the devil prayed that he might be with Him.

19—How be it Jesus suffered him not but saith unto him, go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things
the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee." In the evening his text was Acts 8:35. "Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus."

He preached two splendid sermons to large congregations.

The text of the sermon at the Presbyterian church last Sunday was 1st John 1:3. "Truly our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ."
Fellowship with God through Jesus Christ is a real fellowship. Fellowship with God is maintained through the individual communing with God by the means of prayer and the reading of God's word. Fellowship with god is held in a righteous life. The unrighteous man cannot come to God. This individual fellowship is prolonged by the union of believers in the one great body called the church. A man cannot be a true worshiper of God and not unite himself with the great company of believers in Christ. For our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

At night Rev. Andres preached on the text "What is your life." Many men cannot give a good reason why they are living. The life we have comes from God, who is the creator of life. If men would acknowledge that they have come from God they would have to live for God. Many men cannot see beyond human origin of life.
This is why they do not understand the divine nature of life. Human life is as James said, "It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away." There is nothing certain about life and man must live as though each day was the last. The life that comes from God goes back to God and must give an account to God.
What is your life? Is it one that God will receive to himself or not?

PROFITABLE RANCH

Figures Won't Lie, But Liars Will Figure

We have had in this county of ours chicken raisers, strawberry growers and people with a pencil and a pad of paper. The Chicago Record Herald breaks forth in a vision of easy money after this manner.

"While hordes of misguided youth were rushing to the cities Mr. Frank M. Newbert bought a little tract of 54 acres just outside Sacramento and made a home there for himself and a colony of white leghorns. The white leghorns multiplied rapidly. He has 800 of them now, and expects to keep the colony at about 1,200.

It is calculated that a hen will produce $1 per year above the cost of feeding from the sale of chickens and eggs for consumption. A large extra profit to be had when eggs are sold for hatching and fine fowls for breeding. Suppose we put the yearly net income from Mr. Newbert's leghorns at $1,500.

But the hens are not his only source of profit. He put in one and one-half acres to phenomenal berries and marketed 1,700 crates last season at 80 cents a crate. Deducting expenses of picking, crating and delivery, there was a profit of $820 on the acre and a half, and the chickens had the ground to run on most of the time.

Specifications as to each remaining parcel of land are lacking, except that we are told of an alfalfa patch that furnishes green food for the flock. But let us stop with the two sources of wealth. They give $2,320, and a living on fine broilers, fruits and vegetables. We have only to deduct the wages of a Jap at $30 a month. Take $360 from $2,320 and we have $1,960. Remember also that Mr. Newbert can take a day off whenever he feels so disposed and that if he devolved all the labor on two Japs he would have $1,600 clear cash.

So much for six acres. With twelve acres and four Japs there would be $3,200 at the end of the year. Unfortunately the price of the land is not given by our authority, but $3,200 ought to pay for twelve acres. Borrow the money, get it out of one year's crops and spend the succeeding summer in an automobile tour. Or if you want to expand and see the world in good style, buy another twelve acres and jump the income to $6,400.

Your little ranch will then consist of only twenty-four acres, and it will be the safest thing in the world if you keep right on farming on paper. But if you actually invest in twenty-four acres you may wake up like the barber's brother in the Arabian Nights who thrust out his foot in the pride of imaginary riches and smashed his entire stock of glassware.

We should add that this moral is not intended to discredit the interesting story about Mr. Newbert or any other story concerning the sudden and violent acquisition of wealth from chickens, berries, prunes or oranges. There are well authenticated accounts of rich returns to skilled chicken raisers, horticulturists and orchardists. But it may not be a miss to say that the skill is seldom learned in cities.

When the tip of a dog's nose is cold and moist, that dog is not sick. A feverish dry nose means sickness with a dog. And so with the human lips. Dry cracked and colorless lips mean feverishness, and are as well ill appearing. To have beautiful, pink, velvet-like lips apply at bedtime a coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. It will soften and heal any skin ailment. Get a free trial box at our store and be convinced. Large nickel capped glass jars, 25c at Haynes & Taylor's.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath, and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

HOSPITAL PHYSICIANS SAID:
"IT WOULD DELIGHT US TO FIND SOMETHING TO CURE THIS DEAR OLD SUFFERER."

MR. E. W. HOKK, St. Louis, Mo.
DEAR SIR: The charity patient in whom I am so much interested was seventy-five years old at the time that she began the use of "Zemo," and her weight was 140 lbs. Her health has been poor for some time past, suffering mainly from eczema, according to the diagnosis of the doctors in attendance. She has been a hard worker all her life, having made the living for her family keeping boarders. Some what over a year ago eczema began to trouble her. It gradually grew worse and worse until her entire body was affected, the legs being a mass of sores constantly oozing. The itching and burning sensation was so dreadful at times that it was impossible for her to sleep day or night. The doctors (two of our best) pronounced the case incurable, and when I asked permission to use "Zemo," promptly said, "It would delight us to find something to cure this dear old sufferer." "Zemo" was first used on the upper part of the body and soon relieved the patients of the terrible distress caused by the itching and burning. The doctors had been dressing the legs every day, but as soon as they saw the wonderful change in the skin where "Zemo" had been used, they gave consent to have it used on the legs. Gradually they began to improve and are now almost as smooth as the face. It was probably about a month before much relief was experienced in this part of the body, then skin scaled off, itching, burning and aching gradually ceased. It seems now as if a testimonial might be given, but the patient thinks that she had better use "Zemo" a few weeks longer before saying that she is cured. However, she is very grateful to all who have been instrumental in securing this wonderful remedy and thinks that it has a great future before it.

The Texas Fast Mail

During the latter part of the winter and the early part of last spring, the quadrennial weighing of the mails was in progress in the eleventh division of the railway mail service.

The railway mail service of the eleventh division is comprised of Arkansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, west of the Mississippi river.

The mail is weighed in order to ascertain the amount of mail carried by the different routes, and their compensation for the next four years is based on the weights secured in this way, and their pay is based on the ton-mile.

Heretofore the bulk of the Texas
mail originating east of the Mississippi river and coming by way of St. Louis has been carried by the Iron Mountain Railway, reaching Texas at Texarkana, Ark., Texas, and making connections with the Texas lines at that point.

For the carrying of the mail alone,
the Government pays several hundred thousands of dollars yearly, and as a consequence, all the roads running from St. Louis to Texas wished to get a "finger in the pie," but were unable to do so separately on account of the Iron Mountain having the shortest route to Texas, enabling them to reach Texas
before the other roads could do so.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway, commonly known as the "Katy," and the St. Louis and San Francisco railway, known as the "Frisco," put on a combination train service and thus were enabled to make better service than the Iron Mountain.

When the "Frisco Katy Fast Mail" was put on the Iron Mountain also put on a fast train and the race began in earnest for the carrying of the Texas mail. Each road seemed to put forth their best efforts, and the tracks were all cleared twenty minutes ahead of the racing trains. At every station hundreds of people were congregated to see the "fast mail" go past, and it usually passed at a rate of from fifty to seventy miles per hour. Everybody was talking of the "fast mail."

For the first thirty days the "Frisco Katy" train was late but once, which was caused by an engine breaking down, and the Iron Mountain train was scarcely ever on time.

Each day when the huge iron horses came towering into their destinations with their three cars and its ton after ton of mail, they were greeted by cheers from hundreds of people, who went to the depot for no other purpose than to see the "fast mail" arrive.

At the expiration of the first thirty days the contract for carrying the Denison, Dallas and Ft. Worth mails and their respective connections was awarded the "Frisco Katy Fast Mail," and the train first put on as an experiment was made permanent.

This train leaves St. Louis every morning at 2:35 a. m., and is composed of two 60 foot mail cars (in which there are from seven to nine clerks,) and one storage car usually containing from eight to fifteen tons of through Texas mail. In the first working car they work mails for Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas; while in the second car the clerks work Indian Territory and Oklahoma mails. On reaching Springfield, Mo., four "Texas" clerks get into the second car, which is the Texas car.

After the other clerks have completed their distributions the "Texas" clerks begin their labors. (My reason for saying "Texas" clerks is because they don't do a thing but work Texas and don't have time to think of anything else.)

There is usually from 16 to 20 pouches
of letter mail and from 80 to 120 sacks of papers of Texas mails to be worked by the Texas clerks in a distance of 344 miles and only eight hours in which to do the work. At the present time the clerks are unable to work all this mail before reaching the end of the run which is at Denison, Texas, and while the clerks are mostly clerks that were picked for the line and the best of all the surrounding railway postoffices. The amount of mail is so great that they often bring in from 10 to 30 sacks of papers and very often two or three pouches of letters that they have never had time to work. This is called "stuck Texas" and is given to the lines running out of Denison to be worked, and the most of it loses from 12 to 24 hours in reaching its destination.

This train leaving St. Louis at 2:35 a. m., reaches Denison at 4:15 p. m., of the same day—making a distance of 582 miles in thirteen hours and forty minutes, and in 30 minutes after the arrival of this train in Denison you can see the St. Louis daily papers being read 582 miles away and on the same day that they are published.

The name by which the postoffice department has designated this "Fast Mail of the Frisco Katy" is the "Morette and Denison Railway Postoffice." While I am not averse to fast riding I can truthfully say that this "fast mail" runs as fast as I care to move on rails, either wood or iron.

As my time is limited I will close and sometime in the future I'll give you a description of the duties of a railway mail clerk.

Very truly,
HARRY GILL,
Denison, Texas.

Boarding House Geometry

By SKEEZIX, JUNIOR

Definitions and Axioms.

All boarding-houses are the same
boarding-house.
Boarders in the same boarding-house
and on the same flat are equal to one another.

A single room is that which has no
parts and no magnitude.

The landlady of a boarding-house is a parallelogram; that is, an oblong and angular figure, which cannot be described, but which is equal to anything.

A wrangle is the disinclination of two boarders to each other, that meet together, but are not on the same flat.

All rooms being taken, a single room
is said to be a double room.

POSTULATES AND PROPOSITIONS.

A pie may be produced any number of times.

The landlady can be reduced to her lowest terms by a series of propositions.

A bee-line can be made from any boarding-house to any other boarding house.

The clothes of a boarding-house bed,
though produced ever so far both ways,
will not meet.

Any two meals at a boarding-house
are together less than two square meals.

If from the opposite ends of a boarding-house a line be drawn, passing through all the rooms in turn, then the stove-pipe which warms the boarders will lie within that line.

On the same bill and on the same side of it there should not be two charges
for the same thing.

If there be two boarders on the same flat, and the amount of side of one be equal to the amount of side of the other, each to each, and the wrangle between one boarder and the landlady be equal to the wrangle between the landlady and the other, then shall the weekly bills of the two boarders be equal, also, each to each. For if not, let one bill be the greater.
Then the other bill is less than it might have been, which is absurd.

EX-SHERIFF JOHN T. FRANKS

Gets Facetious--Writes a Pumpkin Letter to the Editors

Denver, Col., Oct. 20, 1906.
To the Editors of THE RECORD,
Marion, Kentucky.

DEAR SIR:—I have a bit of news for you and immediately upon receipt of this I want you to get out the little black day book that you "tote" in your left hand vest pocket and make "a note of it." (Apologies to Sylvan Price) "We have moved."

Yes sir, moved, and for fear we might lose an issue of the "CRITTENDEN RECORD" I hasten to serve notice on you (notwithstanding I aint paid up since the Lord knows when) that our old address was 1628 Abraham Lincoln Ave., and our new address is 468 Lafayette of Revolutionary fame. You will please to sit up and take notice and govern yourself accordingly; and you will further oblige the "whole Franks family" if you will communicate the most essential part of this message to Mr. Sidney Marshall Jenkins. If you should be too busy, indisposed or for any other reason unable to attend to this, have that "Punkin tote," J. Frank Conger, to look after my wants. Postmasters, who are country "punkin" editors, are supposed to wait on their customers.

We feel a little lonesome since moving to ourselves, but all of us are much pleased with the change. We have a nice six room house, nearly new and convenient to street car and in the country "punkin" district where we can get all the fresh air, sunshine and "punkins" that a body need to want.

My health is fairly good, but I am taking every precaution to keep my appetite subdued in order to curtail my grocery bill.

Mrs. Franks is well except she is pretty well worked down, but now she will have something of her own and will rest up.

Mrs. Loving has not been well since she returned from Kentucky

Annie is quite well and as pretty as a picture.

John T., Junior,—Oh! wait a minute, I heard something drap, and so does he frequently. He is a big fine looking boy and is as bright as that boy was when he put his money on that "Banch in thar."

I suppose Tom Cochran devotes all his spare time to that son of his and no doubt they think they have the only boy in town.

William J. Bryan is in the city and is making a speech at the union depot just about now and it is snowing to beat the band. Denver is having her first snow of the season.

Say, now that you have got so you have nothing to do much write me a letter and excuse this nonsense.

Remember me kindly to all friends.

Muchly yours,

JNO. T. FRANKS.

P. S. Don't forget we have moved to 468 Lafayette Ave.

WHY DO THE HEATHEN

Rage and the People Imagine a Vain Thing

Mr. Editor:—I could not help but notice in the RECORD of recent date an article under the title of one C. E. Grady on the subject of education or better schools. As to better schools and more efficient teachers, we heartily agree with him. We must in the first place confess our ignorance. But we are not unenvious of the occasion he refers to where he claims to have been criticised for his position in an address he delivered at Weston on a Sunday school occasion. The topic from which he spoke was, "The Relation of the Public School to the Sunday School." He emphasized very much the day school and would have his hearers believe that the day school was the more important and gave as one of his reasons that under certain conditions people were equal to that of a hog. He also stated that he had met in his time a woman and two or three children, the woman was dirty and filthy and the children were, in fact he said they were no more than hogs, and he said, "I defy any man to prove that a hog has no soul." We waited impatiently for the young man to get through, and being the chairman of the occasion we felt constrained to go after him and we were not alone. I had never expected him to refer to it in a public way as there were a number of persons heard it and many of them read the RECORD. I take this opportunity to reply.

I will say in conclusion that a Sunday school teacher should be a christian at least and should teach the highest order of man and womanhood and spurn the idea of the hog theory.
