Half-bear, half-dog, a remarkable prodigy of nature, has been found in Nebraska by I. Pinter. It is the only known example of the crossing of the dog and bear families, hitherto considered by zoologists so distinct and sep-

more evident. The ears are long and drooping, like those of a spaiel; the tail is also that of a spaniel. The eyes are large and have the mild, doglike expression. A bear has short upstanding ears and a FUNERAL SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY stub tail never more than a couple of

A few evenings ago a train made up of two ordinary passenger coaches and a baggage car puffed into the Union station from the yard, prepared to go out over one of the branch roads. The hands of the station clock pointed to within a few minutes of the scheduled time of departure and the shivering passengers who had been standing on the station platform laden with bundles quickly filled the coaches.

Men and women alike sought seats in both of the coaches, when a brakeman entered the car, and, after answering a score of questions in the affirmative that the head coach was the smoking car, a fat woman loaded down with bundles approached him and

STAR ROUTES

DISAPPEARING BEFORE RURAL FREE DELIVERY SERVICES

Mail at Doorstep Much More Satisfactory to Farmers

The Star Route mail lines are fast disappearing in most of the states. Wherever it is possible to penetrate the same territory, that is, whenever the patrons of the postoffice show that they are interested, a rural free delivery route is established. The Star route mail lines are those on which mail are carried by carriers either in vehicles or on horseback. In mountain districts the mails are most always carried on horseback. Star routes always touch a railroad somewhere Before the country was crossed with many railroads they often terminated at a steamboat landing.

After the railroads began to penetrate in all directions frequently mail lines on boats were discontinued and all points on the river reached by a Star Route in some manner or other. Now the aim of the Government is to accommodate the patrons of the postoffice in the Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe in- be illustrated by the coming of the spring country with the mail at their doors instead of forcing them to go to some cross roads, where a fourth-class postoffice is kept often in a very bad shape. In many instances when the rural free delivery routes are established it means that several fourth-class postoffices are For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough to be abolished. The main fight against the free rural delivery has been waged by the fourth-class postmasters, whose pay usually amounted to not more than $25 or $50 a year. The rural Congressman especially where he is a Republican, always loses patronage whenever a fourth-class postoffice is abolished.

FIGURED IN SCANDAL.

The greatest scandal that ever broke loose in the Postoffice Department was about twenty-five or thirty years ago when the steals and grafts on the Star Route mail contracts were unearthed. Many prominent men were connected with the affair, among whom were W. W. Dudley, of Indiana fame. The Government for years has been anxious to get rid of the Star Route mail lines as fast as possible. They have been unsatisfactory from the fact that the men who actually carry the mail deal not with the Government, but with agents to a literary meeting at her house. "I of contractors who headquarters are in am not properly dresped for such a Washington Star Route contracts party," he pleaded. "Pho, pho," she were let in Washington in great bunches for a period of four years. The first men to grasp the magnitude of the Star Route contract and make a business of it were the late Judge Boyd, former Congressman Vincent Boreing, and M. W. Catchings, of London, Ky. They made fortunes securing Star Route contracts and then subletting

FREE DELIVERY HURTS PATRONAGE.

Many of the States are ahead of Ken-

For instance, Tennessee is much better THE END OF THE WORLD traversed by free delivery rural routes than Kentucky. While Kentucky has many free delivery routes in the central and western parts, yet in the mountain district the free delivery system is not much. It is different in Tennessee. October 1914 is the Date Set for Cougressman Brownlow, who lives at Greenville, Tenn., has seen that the eastern or mountain district of Tennessee has been as well or better supplied with free rural delivery as any other section of the State. William H. Lippinscott, a post-office inspector under the Second Assistant Pastmaster General, whose headquarters are in Louisville, has nothing to do but look after the Star Route business as connected with the free rural delivery. The truth of the business is his job is to look out wherever It is possible to discontinue a Star route and turn the service over to a free rural mail carrier. Mr. Lippinscott's territory now is Kentucky and Tennessee. He returned last night from Graves and McCracken counties, and as a result of his visit two or more Star Routes may be slated for discontinuance

"There is no question," said Mr. Lippinscott, but that the free rural delivery is more satisfactory to the farmers than the Star Route system. In the rural free delivery the mail is propped at the house and the farmer gets his mail daily without having to lose time going two or probably five miles to the nearest postoffice. Often under the Star Route system he would probably make several trips to the postoffice before he received important mail that he was looking. Now he can remain at home and know that it will be brought to his door.

"Kentucky is evidently deficient in the free rural service in the eastern or mountainous district, but many routes in the western and central section have been established. It may be that some sections of the eastern part of the state will never secure free rural routes, but some sections could stand more. I find in my travels through Tennessee and Kentucky that the patrons of the free rural service are very much pleased with the manner in which it is conducted. I think the time is coming when there will be few Star Routes in sections where it is at all practicable for the establishment of the free rural routes. Comparatively few free routes are discontinued after they have been established, which goes to show that they are liked by the patrons."

Inspector Lippinscott is a native of Piedmont, W. Va., and has only been making Louisville his headquarters since last September. He has proved quite popular with both the postoffice officials of the State and the patrons of the department.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against remedies. Dr. Shoop it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similiar lines for many years. Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisions. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Haynes & Taylor.

Origin of "Bluestockings."

Burke, apropos of "Evelina," paid Fanny Burney this high compliment: "We have had an age for statesmen, an age for heroes, an age for poets, an age for artists, but this"-with a gallant bow to Fanny-"is the age for women." The name "bluestockings," given to these distinguished women, arose, according to Fanny Burney in her "Memoirs of Her Father," from an apology made by Mr. Stillingfleet in declining an invitation of Mrs. Vesey's Webster County Citizens Buy Indian cried, taking him and his dress all in at a glance, "don't mind dress! Come in your blue stockings." This he did. and "those words ever after were fixed in playful stigma upon Mrs. Vesey's associations." - T. P.'s London feekly.

IS NEAR AT HAND

End to Come

The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Alleghany, Penn., through Mr. A. Edmund Williamson, announce the above date to be the beginning of the millennium.

Mr. Williamson, who is secretary to Charles T. Russell, head of the society, did not, however. announce that there would be a general conflagration of the earth and an incineration of all the wicked on that date, but rather a "great change," in the words of H. G. Wells, marked by the second-an invisibleadvent of Jesus Christ, after which the era of complete holiness and peace will steadily develop.

The speaker voiced the opinions of Mr. Russell, which are based upon a careful study, spiritually, philological and arithmetical, of Holy Writ, partiularly the utterances of the prophets.

"We have have fixed this date from the scriptural prophecy to the effect that 'seven times shall pass over' before the second advent," said Mr. Williamson. "Now, the 'times of the Gentiles,' to which reference is made, began when Israel was first cast off from divine favor, as shown by its being taken into captivity by Babylon. That date was 606 B. C.

"A 'time' in chronological prophecy is a lunar year, either symbolical or literal. If the latter, its length is 360 days; if the former 360 years. 'Seven times,' on the latter basis, would be 2520 years, which would bring us to A. D. 1914, or to the beginning of 1915, according to the Jewish system of reck-

The culmination of the present era will, according to Mr. Williamson, be all-pervading anarchy. Then will come the second advent of Christ, not, however, in physical and visible form. At the same time, certain "kings" will rise from the grave as perfect, Godlike-men, and probably will be the reincarnation of the old prophets-though since, they also will be invisible, they can hardly be said to be truly reincar-

These "kings" will select the best of living men as "princes" who will teach the rest of the world how to live, and whose teachings and administration will be universally accepted.

Mr. Williamson held that the Jews would be the first people to align themselves with the "great change," since they had most preparation for it.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm.- A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says; "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. ## If You Want Cash

For Your Real Estate or Business I CAN GET IT

No Matter What Your Property is Worth, or in what Town, City, State or Territory it is Located

If I did not have the ability and facilities to sell your own property, I certainly could not afford to pay for this advertisement. This "ad" (like all my other "ads") is practically sure to place on my list a number of new properties, and I am just as sure to sell these properties and make enough money in commissions to pay for the cost of these "ads," and make a good profit besides. That is why I have so large a real estate business today.

Why not put your property among the number that will be sold is a result of these "ads?" I will not only be able to sell it-some time-but will be able to sell it quickly. I am a specialist in quick sales. I have the most complete and up-to-date equipement. I have branch offices throughout the country and a field force of men to find buyers.

I do not handle all lines usually carried by the ordinary real estate agents. I MUST SELL real estate-and lots of it-or go out of business. I can assure you that I am not going out of business. On the contrary, I expect to find, at the close of the year, that I have sold twice as many properties as I did the past year, but it will first be necessary for me to "list" more properties. I want to list YOURS and SELL it. It dosen't matter whether you have a farm, a home without any land, or a business; it dosen't matter what it is worth, or where it is located. If you will fill out the blank letter of inquiry below and mail it to me today, I will tell you how and why I can quickly convert the property into cash, and will give you my complete plan.

If you want to buy any kind of a Farm, House or Businesss, in any part of the country, tell me your requirments. I will guarantee to fill them promptly and satisfactorily.

Chinese Hotels.

The hotels are usually grouped within a square or two of one another. Each one seeks to attract guests by high sounding titles. For example, in Canton are hotels which flaunt the signs of the Fortunate Star, the Golden Profits (an unusually frank confession for a landlord to make), the Rank Conferring and the Happiness. The food is not so bad, but the traveler who goes to one of these houses to sleep will wish that he had gone to another. The bedrooms are small, thin walled boxes in which you may hear breathing of your next neighbor or be kept awake half the night by the conversation of people at the other end of the hall or, worse still, be almost stifled by the smoke from an opium pipe which is being indulged in by the man across the passageway.

Color Blindness.

The term color blindness implies an condition, but it also includes all the known as red blindness, green blindness and violet blindness. The line between these various kinds of color blindness and a perfect perception of colors is not sharply drawn, so that a large number of persons have what is called a feeble color sense, which falls short of actual color blindness. There is no doubt that color blindness in its various forms is much more common than is generally supposed, and it is more common among the imperfectly than the well educated classes.

Barbers Ages Ago.

The first barbers of whom there is any record plied their trade in Greece the fifth century B. C. In Rome the first barbers operated in the third century B. C. In olden times in England the barber and the physician were identical. Thus a king's barber was also his chief medical adviser. In the time of Henry VIII. of England laws were made concerning barbers, of which the following is an extract: "No person occupying a shaving or barbery in London shall use any surgery, letting of blood or other matter, except the drawing of teeth."

tents Performed by Chinese and East Indian Magicians.

"During a trip through the far east was much impressed with the wonterful feats performed by some of the Chinese and Indian jugglers and sleight of hand artists," said a Chicago man the other day, "In American theaters we see some skillful work along these lines, but the performer is usually at a considerable distance from the spectators and could employ many aids that the orlentals do not use.

"I have seen Chinese and Indian magicians come on board a ship and in the center of a circle of passengers perform tricks that are little short of marvelous. For instance, one of the Chinese would ask a spectator to place a coin in the latter's hand. The Chinaman would close the fingers one after another over the piece of money and then, by passing his hands over the closed fist of his "subject," would in some mysterious manner extract the coin. I have had this trick worked on me a number of times, and I am no nearer to knowing how it to done than I was the first time.

"Then I have seen an Indian magiclan come out on deck, place a small seed on the planks, pour a little water over it, cover with a small cloth for a moment and then remove the cloth to disclose a living plant a foot or more high. These fellows do not wear long, baggy sleeves in which a plane might s'most be concealed, but have bare erms. ### DRESSED SEALSKIN.

The Way This Beautiful Fur In Brought to Perfection.

If a lady's sealskin jacket be compared with the coarse, hard or drysaifed seniskin as imported, or, still better, with the coat of the living fur seals, one is struck with the vast difference between them.

Passing our fingers among the hairs of the cat or dog, we may notice fine short hairs at the roots of the longer, coarser general covering of the animal. This is so called under fur. But in the greater number of these animals the short hairs are so few and often so fine as to be, comparatively speaking, lost sight of among what to our eyes constitutes the coat.

The operation which the skin under goes to bring out, so to say, the fur, may be briefly described as follows:

The skin, after being washed to rid it of grease and so forth, is laid flat on the stretch, flesh side up. A flat knife is then passed across the flesh substance, thinning it to a very considerable extent. In doing this, the blade severs the roots of the long strong hairs, which penetrate the skin deeper than do the soft, delicate ones under the fur. The rough hairs are then got rid of while the fur retains its hold.

A variety of subsidiary manipulations, in which the pelt is softened and preserved, are next gone through, and then the fur undergoes a process of dyeing which produces that deep uniform tint so well known and admired.

Von Bulow's Rebuke.

It so happened that two ladies were making their way to their seats at the very moment Von Bulow fluished his introduction of the first movement of Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetic." This so irritated him that he purposely commenced the allegro at such an absurdly slow pace as to make the quavers in the bass correspond exactly to the time of the ladles' footsteps. As may be magined, they felt on thorns and hurcled on as fast as they could, while Von Bulow accelerated his tempo in sympathy with their increasing pace. - Bar zett's Musical Reminiscences.

Debt Owed to Antiquity.

Are we indebted to antiquity? Yes, mmensely. It is the labor, the experience, even the failures of ancestors, that have placed us where we are. We still repeat many of their mistaken experiments which they thought wise. It was tentative effort with them, though mistaken, and they did the best they snew. But, on the whole, the world is loing well. Its chief debt to antiquity is in the lessons it has learned through which it avoids or may avoid repetition of old errors and absurdities.-Portland regonian.

We Americans are a fun loving peopie, and we must and will have our jollity. Some one has said with certain truth; "With all our vanity, energy and unrest, we are not a dull, cheerless people. And the joke is all the more enjoyable when it is spontaneous. The greater the stress and strain of life the greater the need and demand for huhor, and no one deprecates the value of humor excepting those who have home of this good gift to their portion. "Songet" Cox, one of the wittiest men of his day, says in his book, "Why We Laugh:" "Eliminate from the literature and conduct of any one people the amusing and the amused faculty, and you produce a sterility as dull and uninteresting as the cluders and ashes of the volcanic fields of Iceiand. Those who are on the lookout for them will find many amusing blunders in the daily papers and in periodicals of all kinds. It was but the other day that the writer saw Miss Fanny Crosby referred to in a religious paper as the "author of so many blind poems." And it was a great metropolitan daily that one morning gave its readers the following information regarding the wrecking of a ship the night before: "The captain swam ashore and succeeded in saving the life of his wife. She was insured in the Northern Marine Insurance company and carried a cargo of cement."

Equally amusing as an instance of unconscious humor was the statement made by another paper regarding the capsizing of a boat at sea. It said that "but one life was lost, and that was found afterward."

He must be sadly deficient in humor who does not find himself amused by a sign like the following seen in the window of a shoemaker: "Any respectable man, woman or child can have a fit in this shop." It was an enterprising furrier who placed a card in his window stating that for the benefit of the ladies he would make "muffs, boas, etc., out of their own skins."

A prolific source of amusement to manuscript readers is the surprising way in which aspirants for literary honor and glory often "put things." We find one young woman saying of her heroine: "The countess fell back in a deadly swoon. When she revived her spirit had fled." Another young writer places her herolne in a very perilous situation and then says of her, "Her lips quivered; her cheeks grew pale; her breath came

They advised me to try Dr Miles Heart Cure and Nervine, which I did with the result that I am in better health than I ever was before, having gained 14 pounds since I com-menced taking it.
