DEATH ANGEL

Dean Passed Away on Monday, Dec. 13th, 1907.

George Douglas Dean, daughter of and Georgia McFee Dean, died April 8th, 1893. Died Friday, December 13th, 1907. Aged 8 months and 5 days.

On the morning just as the day dawned in with a tempest, when it was blowing a gale from the north and the rain was driving against the wind and when all the world seemed to be in a state of confusion, the spirit of Florence entered the bright portals of heaven and returned to God who for weeks the struggle with the destroyer had been waged. Her parents had kept a sad vigil and had given up hope until the last. Her sister Annie, now the only one left, was summoned home from Lexington where she is a student at the Dayre Institute and with loving ministrations to her every wish, she nursed her grand-mother, though sick and feeble, was ever thoughtful of her child who had been her constant companion for many months. Miss Schadder from Louisville had been in attendance several weeks and the family physician had done everything medical science could suggest and had worked untiringly but all to avail. The child who was gentle and kind and who gave her heart so trustingly to Christ just a few short months before she was taken. Jesus claimed his own.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Benjamin Andres at the residence Saturday afternoon and the interment was at the new cemetery in the Dean family lot.

The "Willing Workers" of which she was a much prized member sent a beautiful floral offering, also the Presbyterian Sunday School and her schoolmates, those in the same room, also sent flowers. Many others were from relatives in Indiana and other points.

All the arrangements for the burial were in charge of Funeral Director R. F. Dorr. The remains were placed in an elaborate white casket which was sealed in a steel vault before being lowered into the grave.

Pretty Piece of Street Grading.

On Salem street the hill near H. A. Haynes' residence has been nicely graded and metalled with limestone and Mr. Haynes has had his lot terraced, making it one of the most attractive in the city. In days gone by that piece of road from the bridge to the top of the hill was most impassable during the entire winter, but from now on it bids fair to be one of the best sections of road in the county. The work was done under the supervision of City Marshall and Street Inspector A. S. Cannon, who is hard to excel in such work.

Buy Home For Mother and Sister.

G. R. Puckett, of San Francisco, Cal., has made a record here which any boy can feel proud of. He bought a home for his aged mother, Mrs. Cynthia Puckett, and for his sister, Mrs. Trece Cisco.

Bob, as we all called him, has succeeded in San Francisco and although the earthquake there caused a great loss and damage to his business he has recuperated rapidly and is now amassing a fortune which any boy deserves who is a help and a pleasure to his aged parents.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Puckett and the Cisco family moved to their home, the Douglas place just South of the city limits. The house has been painted and papered, and the lot is large containing about five acres. There is a quantity of fruit there also when the seasons hit, being apples, pears, cherries and plums, besides grapes and other small fruits. There is also a good cistern and a small stable for cow, chicken house, etc.

We congratulate Mrs. Puckett and her daughter, Mrs. Cisco, of course, but first of all we congratulate Bob. After all, it is those who do something for others who are happiest and as a rule are blest with success. Our hat is off to you, Bob.

M. W. of A. Elected officers.

Marion Camp No. 11576, M. W. of A., met in regular session Tuesday night, Dec. 17. Quite an interesting meeting was had, and after the regular routine of business was disposed of the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year:—

Ed Metz, Past Consul Com.
U. G. Hughes, Consul Com.
John Cochran, Adv. Lieut.
Chas. Haynes, Banker.
W. E. Minner, Clerk.
J. W. Flynn, Escort.
Cleveland Stone, Chief Forester.
A. M. Henry, Watchman.
R. H. Elder, Sentry.

Card of Thanks.

In the great affliction which has befallen us in the sickness of five members of our family at one time and in the bereavement we have suffered in the death of our baby girl, the pet of our household, the one bright gleam from the rift in the clouds is the loving kindness and thoughtful care bestowed on us by our neighbors and friends. We will always treasure up the memory of those attentions and our prayers to our Father in Heaven is that each one may have as little of the sorrow and much of the joy as in His goodness is guaranteed to His best creatures.

"A Dangerous Friend."

Manager Grant was very fortunate in securing for Thursday evening at the opera house, "A Dangerous Friend." A good sized audience greeted the company at the rise of the curtain. The cast were all stars in their parts, the most minor part had a competent person and there were no sticks in the entire cast. The show was clean in every respect and was one if not the best show ever given at Grant's opera house. Mr. Grant was very fortunate to secure a number of such shows for this season. This one was a fine one and the people of Greenfield should not let an opportunity like this pass again.—Greenfield, Ind. Tribune.

PUBLIC MEETING

Held at Methodist Church Wednesday of Last Week.

According to previous announcement, a public meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the subject of Preventive Medicine, especially the prevention of tuberculosis.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. T. Daughtrey, president of the local Board of Health, and he stated the object of the meeting in a few chosen words and impressed upon his hearers the importance of the laity in joining hands with the medical profession in their efforts to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. Dr. Daughtrey stated that the medical profession was united on this vital subject and that with the aid of the laity many valuable lives could be saved. Dr. Frazer followed with a short address which will be found elsewhere in these columns.

C. S. Nunn delivered an address on tuberculosis, which showed remarkable knowledge of the disease for a layman. The Honorable J. W. Blue followed with a telling speech which was delivered in his own inimitable way. Rev. Ben Andres and Rev. Adams made splendid talks on the subject. Drs. C. G. Moreland, of Fords Ferry, J. R. Perry, of Tribune, and Vernon Fox, of Crayne, were present and endorsed the plans for the prevention of tuberculosis.

There was a splendid audience at this meeting and all were enthusiastic over the prospects of something being done to stamp out this dreadful disease.

The following paper was read by Dr. T. Atchison Frazer before the meeting:—

The object of this meeting is to create a healthy sentiment in favor of "Preventive Medicine," and to educate the people along the lines of public and personal sanitation, and we want to appeal to you personally to do your duty along this line, and we especially want to arouse your interest in the prevention of tuberculosis.

Few are the families among us who have not felt the pangs of this monster, and few are the homes in this beloved land of ours that have not had heartaches as a result of the "great white plague," and unless we put forth a united effort to stamp out this disease, it will continue to gather its unknown thousands and deposit them in the silent city of the dead. It gathers force as it continues its mad march, and picks up, so to speak, its victims on the highways and by the wayside; it takes up its abode in our public buildings, schools and churches. It is always ready to attack the young in the very prime of life, while no period of life is exempt from its ravages, yet it most frequently lays its deadly talons on the victim during the most productive period of life, when the citizen is most valuable to the community.

Preventive medicine is the watchword of the wide-awake physician, and should be of the laity. We use means to prevent the destruction of our crops; we prepare barns to store our crop and to shelter our live stock from the inclemency of the weather; we protect our homes from fires, with insurance; we spend thousands of dollars for medicine and medical attention when our loved ones are ill, yet as a rule, we do not put forth an intelligent effort to prevent the diseases that are preventable. It is a disgrace to our boasted civilization that a disease such as tuberculosis, should lead the death list year after year in every community in Kentucky; and every man and woman among us must share their portion of the responsibility for such a state of affairs. We may shun our duty, but we cannot shun this responsibility. There is among us too much of the spirit not to care what happens, just so it happens to the other fellow. We, as physicians, are doubly responsible, from the fact that we know wherein lies the cause of this lamentable condition, and we should "hang our heads in shame" when we think of the public duties we shirk. We should have the backbone to stand erect, face the world, and do our duty regardless of criticisms. Well do I know the sting of unjust criticism which often amounts to humiliation, but I am proud that I can face the world and say that these criticisms have made me turn neither right nor left, but I have ever endeavored to go straight forward and do my duty.

This work of Preventive Medicine is not a source of income to the physicians, but rather tends to cut off a large amount of his means of support. Then, if we can afford to do a work that actually invites the "wolf to our door," and puts money in your pockets, why not you come over and help us. This is a personal matter. It is to protect your home; it is to protect my wife and children; it is to save our neighbors from an untimely grave.

Just here I wish to make the bold assertion that tuberculosis is preventable, and within twenty-five years should be as rare in Kentucky as a white frost in the Isle of Pines. I further assert that it is curable, but I do not mean to say that all cases are curable, but hope should spring eternal in every consumptive's breast. A new day should dawn for him which means life, health and happiness. The loving wife should be saved to bless the kind husband; the gallant husband should be spared to scatter roses in the pathway of the affectionate wife; the precious daughter should live to cheer the hearts of the faithful parents; the noble son should be saved to cast sunbeams across the family threshold.

Decision is one of the most important factors to success. We never accomplish anything worth while until we have made up our minds to try. There is no middle ground in the work of life; we must get on one side or the other. I never heard of a proposition that I could not take one side of it, and I pity the man who sits on the fence and waits to see which is the popular position to take. The thing we want in this work is leaders, sure enough leaders who will look away from self and selfish interests and try to do something for humanity.

There is a movement over the entire civilized world to check tuberculosis in its ravages on helpless humanity. Men of intellect and means are devoting their lives to the study of this disease. There are Walsh and Flick, of Philadelphia, Biggs and Jacobi, of New Orleans, Fulton, of Washington, Billings, of Chicago, Welch, of Baltimore, and others too numerous to mention, whose untiring work along this line makes them heroes whose valor has never been surpassed in time of war or peace, on land or sea, yet their names are not known outside of the medical profession.

The International Congress on Tuberculosis will meet in New York City, September, 1908, where the best talent from all parts of the world will discuss the subject of tuberculosis, the best means of preventing and curing this disease.

We are aware of the fact, that the average lay mind has the curtain of ignorance drawn before their vision on this, as well as most other medical subjects; that their store-house of knowledge on subjects pertaining to medicine is accumulated mostly from the advertisements of worthless nostrums. That many prominent lawyers, judges, congressmen and ministers of the Gospel lend their endorsements and photographs to advertise Duffy's Malt Whiskey, Peruna, Sarsaparilla Compounds, and others too numerous to mention. While these are lamentable facts, yet the people are not to blame, the responsibility rests on the medical profession, and we are just beginning to wake up to the facts. The doctor has heretofore taken a back seat in public affairs; he has been considered a kind of charitable institution whose duty it is to attend the sick and steer clear of all public matters. The day has dawned when we as physicians must take our own responsibility as citizens, and put forth a greater effort to mold public opinion along lines medical and endeavor to enlist the aid of all right thinking people in the study of Preventive Medicine.

Al Dean's Nubbins.

Al Dean never does anything except in the latest style. His farm and its products have become famous for their excellency. He is now putting on the market a new brand of "nubbin corn," samples of which are on display in the Press office window. He calls it "cow nubbins." The ears are large and full and twelve inches long.

Released From Prison.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 16.—J. M. McKnight, who was sentenced January 16, 1902, to serve a term of six years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for misusing the funds of the German National Bank, of this city, is now believed to be in Louisville, he having been released from the penitentiary last Monday. McKnight's term of six years would have ended January 16 next, but he was released earlier as a result of good behavior.

Barn Burned at Tiline.

Smithland, Ky., Dec. 13.—Spite work is considered responsible for an incendiary fire, which destroyed the stock barn of P. A. Smith at Tiline, near the Crittenden and Lyon county lines, last night. The barn, which contained mows full of hay and 900 bushels of corn, burned about 8:39 o'clock. The loss was covered by $1,000 insurance.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

Mr. Editor:—I am just home from a thanksgiving meeting at Weston. It was an all day meeting. People from Sturgis, Bells Mines and Hill's Chapel were present to help in the meeting and to enjoy the good dinner the people had prepared. The service opened up with some string songs by the Weston choir. Rev. W. T. Oakley read 33rd. psalm, his text was the 12th verse of this Psalm. He preached like an old time methodist. The truth is he was born into this world a Methodist and is living with the old daughter of a methodist and of course he can preach with his father-in-law to say amen for him, and a fine dinner before him.

Uncle King Hughes and wife were there with their fine fat turkey. Uncle Martin Ghahagan and wife were there with lots of good things to eat, and a host of others with well filled baskets. A long table was set and loaded down with good things to eat, too numerous to mention. Everybody was invited to take out and help themselves.

My! My! how Charley, the hotel man, of Sturgis, did eat and he was not the only man that ate to his full. There was a free will offering made to the church to be used as they thought best.

An hour and a half was spent in social conversation, after which we met for a religious service conducted by the writer, who read Psalm 37, 1-9 and invoked the blessing of God on the congregation. Following this a praise service was held and many took part, thanking God for the many blessings of the year now closing also for the privileges of this day.

It was a feast indeed to the soul as the people talked to one another, and to see the big tears as they flowed down their face was wonderful indeed. We all felt it was good to be there and the good people said come again.

May God through the influences of the Holy Spirit follow up the good impression made.

W. J. HILL.

Yokohama Letter.

Yokohama, Japan, Aug. 7.—I reached shore yesterday afternoon and was glad that I had not taken chances on one of the small boats before the captain said it was safe. One passenger, a very stout lady with equally stout determination, disregarded the advice of the captain and insisted on going ashore aboard one of the steam launches. The boat rocked so terribly that it was with greatest difficulty that she was got aboard, and then she could not get into the cabin, but was compelled to lie down on the top, clinging to the rail, and washed continually by the spray. She finally reached shore completely drenched with salt water, and when I saw her this morning she was bewailing the ruin of her tailor made gown which she wore during the trip. She evidently thought more of the gown than of the danger she ran of losing her life, to say nothing of the ludicrous figure she cut sprawling on the top of the boat.

Japan has six ports in which foreigners are permitted to reside and enter into business. Yokohama is the chief one, the others being Hakodate, Nagasaki, Niigata, Osaka and Kobe. The small number of places where Americans can live struck me as rather odd when I remembered the great to-do Japan made over the fact that San Francisco authorities wanted Japanese pupils to go to school to themselves. In Japan an American cannot own property, his children cannot go to school, he cannot enter into business alone, being compelled to take a Japanese partner. If this partner desires to make away with the business and everything connected with it the American has no recourse at law. He is told that if he does not like Japanese ways he need not come to Japan. It is just as well that these facts be known to Americans, for there is a general idea that the Japanese were greatly mistreated in San Francisco.

Japan is called the France of the Orient because the people are so polite. This politeness is only skin deep. They do a vast amount of bowing and saluting, and say a lot of words expressing esteem, but it is like the Mexican who tells you that his house is yours, but will not even let you take a piece of fruit from the trees in the yard.

I have been at the hotel twenty-four hours and find that among the people there is a strong anti-foreign feeling. I thought at first that this feeling was especially pronounced against Americans, but find that the displeasure is shown against any nationality. The reason for this attitude is that the Japanese have conceived the idea that they are the greatest power in the world and that all nations are afraid of them. There is no question in the minds of the people of the ability of Japan to whip the United States on land or sea, and I was told in all seriousness by a Japanese merchant that several Japanese had walked across the United States examining the forts in the interior. The distance, according to his idea, was about that of the width of California. The government, however, is not deluded with any idea of its power. I will say that much for the upper classes. They have studied the conditions of foreign countries in a most thorough manner and I am sure those close to the throne are better acquainted with the actual conditions in America than most Americans themselves.

Japan is not going to seek a war with the United States and her government is of such nature that it will never be forced into a war by the clamor of the populace. The emperor (do not call him "Mikado" for they have had no Mikados in Japan for fifty years) is a deep student of affairs, and he has for advisors men who have been educated in the best colleges and universities of the world. They know just how small Japan is, and just how large the United States is and how enormous are her resources.

There are a number of newspapers in Japan which emulate those we call "yellow" in the United States, and these people are doing everything in their power to stir up the lower classes to a feeling of resentment against the United States in order that the emperor and his advisors may be forced to declare war. Several serious anti-foreign riots have been fomented by these newspapers, and a number of people have been killed during the disturbances, but the government has quelled the riots and is holding the reins with a firm hand. The censorship of the press is something wonderful, and little of the true condition is permitted to go out to the newspapers. The only way to be sure that your letters are not tampered with is to give them to the purser of some American or British steamer.

Of Interest to Mothers.

There is one subject which always interests the mother of young children and that is how to treat their coughs and colds, or to ward off a threatened attack of croup. For this purpose we recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always proves beneficial. In case of croup it should be given as soon as the croupy cough appears, so as to prevent the attack. Keep it at hand ready for instant use. Many mothers do so, and it saves them much uneasiness. For sale by J. H. Orme.

Will Remain in Office for the Present.

A dispatch from Frankfort to yesterday's Courier-Journal says: Within a short time after Augustus E. Willson became Governor Adjutant General Henry R. Lawrence tendered his resignation to him.

"Do you think that I have an Adjutant General in my clothes?" asked the new Governor, with his characteristic smile.

He had requested Gen. Lawrence to remain in the office of Adjutant General for the present until he had time to select a new man for the place. Gen. Lawrence said he had private business that would require his attention soon, but that he would stay in the office until this business became pressing. He said he would give Gov. Willson several days notice before he left the office. With this understanding he will continue in office indefinitely.—Cadiz Record.

Croup Quickly Cured.

A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy bring surprising results when a child shows symptoms of croup. There is no cause for alarm when this medicine is in the house, as it rarely takes more than three or four doses to bring about a complete cure. Sim Flinders has been laid up with a curious malady, which at first could not be explained. When he went to bed at nights he heard a ticking sensation in his head, and could not sleep. Today a Tickville doctor was called and after removing a watch from under the pillow Columbus was at once greatly relieved and is now on the high road to recovery.

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

Lamenting the Death of a Husband.

My head and stay is tak'n away,
And I am left alone;
My husband dear, who was so near,
Is tak'n away and gone.

It breaks my heart—'tis hard to part
With one who was so kind;
Where shall I go to tell my woe,
Or ease my troubled mind.

In wisdom's ways we spent our days,
Much comfort we did find;
But he is gone, his race is run,
And I am left behind.

Naught can I find to ease my mind
In things which are below,
For earthly toys but vex my joys,
And aggravate my woe.

But I'll repair to Jesus where
I'll ease my troubled breast;
To Christ above, who is my love,
And my eternal rest.

And Oh, that he would send for me,
And call my spirit home,
To worlds of rest, among the blest,
Where troubles never come.

THEATRE TALK NO. 3

"A Dangerous Friend" a powerful melodrama and one that has caught the public fancy, will be produced by a superb acting company at the Opera House in this city soon.

Although only in its second season, the play has been witnessed by larger audiences than any other melodrama written in previous years. It appeals to every class of theatre-goers, from the boy in the gallery to the member of the family; to sweethearts and lovers, and the father who loves his home. Yet, even with all its power of entertaining, the management has not been satisfied to stop at that; they have furnished every little detail to make a perfect performance. One commences to feel its punchline and warmth from the beginning, and the interest never flags from the first to the fifth and final act. You are carried from one scene to another with keen excitement, and a great hope and desire that right shall succeed and wrong shall reap its just reward. There is but one way to appreciate this truly great play—come and see it.

WANT YOU THREE AND THAT LAST

It will be found an ideal type of thrilling and sensational melodramatic art. It is original in conception, plot and development, and is a high-grade melodrama, containing those elements that always insure success—realism, love, passion, comedy, heroism and self-sacrificing devotion. The author has constructed his five act play on original lines, avoiding the old worn-out love story and in this and other respects it is a radical departure from the well beaten path of melodramatic productions. He has given to the stage a play that appeals to many ways to the hearts and minds of all theatregoers who delight in sensations and scenes of startling realism.

DON'T WAIT

Take Advantage of a Kentucky Citizen's Experience Before It's Too Late.

When the back begins to ache, Don't wait until backache becomes chronic; Till serious kidney troubles develop; Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Mrs. L. B. Taylor, of 810 East Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky., says: "Several years ago I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys. I suffered a great deal from pains across my back and loins and was also much annoyed by the too frequent action of the kidney secretions, especially at night. I steadily grew worse, began to be annoyed by dizziness and a feeling of languor and depression. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and felt relief from the first. I continued the treatment and was soon cured. I gave a statement to this effect in 1900 and am glad to confirm same at this time for the cure has proven to be a permanent one."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by Haynes & Taylor and Jas. H. Orme.

Outlawry.

The shooting up of Hopkinsville was the act of white men, organized, masked and equipped for destruction of property and violence to individuals. It took place in an old and respectable community in one of the proudest commonwealths of the union, and its only provocation was the exercise of individual right in joining a planters' association. It was absolutely lawless and utterly subversive of peaceful and civilized conditions, and is a blazing disgrace to the community and the state in which it occurred. This climax in the lawless doings of the Night Riders, it is to be hoped, will mark the end of the weak and temporizing policy which has prevailed. The state militia has been ordered to Hopkinsville, and it is not likely that the town will be the scene of other outrages.

Meanwhile, it does not seem likely that out of 500 it will be found impossible to apprehend any. With the proper effort, arrests can follow and the perpetrators of this piece of outlawry be made examples for the lawlessly inclined community.

The shooting up of Hopkinsville is in our mind much more serious and outrageous than the Brownville affair, for it grew, not out of an enforced condition and a lower race, but in a typical Southern community among soil brothers and neighbors, and still further, because it was made possible by the attitude and spirit of that community in regard to previous offences. "Night-riding" has no place, no excuse, in Southern life today, and the motives that underlie these raids of outlawry are as different from those which actuated the original Klu Klux as night from day. The "Black Patch" is black indeed with the shadow cast upon its rich and beautiful land by these cowardly recreants, and if it will not get rid of its own disgrace, the state must take hold. It is Kentucky now. Were it Tennessee we would say the same.—Nashville Tennessean.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farm, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed dear death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." "Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles," by Haynes & Taylor and Jas. H. Orme.

Mrs. Mary Coffield.

Mrs. Mary Coffield, one of McAlester's oldest residents, passed away at her home Wednesday at noon. Mrs. Coffield had returned home but a few days before from a visit with her children in Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Coffield was the personification of kindness. She always had a smile and a kind word for everyone and was never happier than when doing good for others. Her pure soul has passed to the Master to receive the reward awaiting for the great good done on earth.

Surviving Mrs. Coffield besides the husband are the following children: Mrs. E. Smith, Miss Lou Coffield and Miss Lillie Coffield, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. R. S. Towle, of Harrisburg, Ill.; Mrs. Shannon Smith and Messrs Norman and Everett Coffield of this city.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon if the children from abroad arrive.—McAlester (Okla.) Daily News.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babes. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by James H. Orme.

Livestock In Bakery; Children In Ice Chest.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—An Italian bakery, where a sheep, a horse and three dogs, led a happy life, and an Italian meat market where two children sleep in the ice-box, were among the novelties discovered yesterday in a tour of inspection by Dr. J. R. Kelso of the city department of health. He gave orders for the removal of the animals from the bakery and he told the mother of the children that an ice-box was an unwholesome place for them. This was in the quarter in the Milton avenue and Gault court, a little north of Chicago avenue, where it is hard to make the people understand why the inspectors bother them.—Ex.

BLACKFORD.

One of the saddest misfortunes that ever happened in our town was the sudden death of Mr. Babe Litchfield, last Tuesday. He was in real good health, it seemed, and no one had heard him complain of any pain, up till a few moments before his death. He entered the barber shop of Mr. J. M. Greer and while Mr. Greer was shaving him, he said he was sick, he arose from his chair, walked to the door and when he arrived at the door he exclaimed, if you don't do something for me I will die. These are the only words he spoke, he fell lifeless in the arms of Mr. Greer, only living a few seconds. Physicians pronounced it heart trouble. Uncle Babe as he was known to all was a friend to ever one and always had a kind and loving word for everybody, and no one can fill his place as a townsman. He was a kind and loving father to his children. He leaves a host of friends and relatives and five children to mourn his death. His three sons, Albert, Will and Jimmie live here. His daughters are Mrs. Nelly Birch, of Missouri, and Mrs. Minnie Messamore, of Harrisburg, Ill. His wife died several years ago. The interment took place in the town cemetery.

INVITE A TEST.

Haynes & Taylor Ask Cataract Sufferers to Try Hyomei on Their Guarantee.

Haynes & Taylor invite all who suffer from any form of cataract troubles to get a Hyomei outfit from them with their absolute guarantee that if it does not give perfect satisfaction, the money will be refunded upon request.

There is no other treatment for cataract that in any way resembles Hyomei, none that gives such quick curative results and lasting satisfaction, no medicine that can be sold on such a guarantee, refund the money unless it cures.

Cataract is a germ disease and can be cured only by breathing Hyomei, so that the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs are reached by its antiseptic healing powers. In this way all cataract germs are killed, the irritated mucous membrane is healed and cataract is driven from the system.

This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed through a little pocket inhaler that goes with every dollar outfit.

The unusual way in which Haynes & Taylor sell Hyomei attests their confidence in the remedy.

Some Observations

BY W. G. MONTGOMERY.

The soul that does not act is dead.

Life is the stuff that tries men's souls, that weighs us in the balance, that determines our fate.

The greater number of the thirty-two hundred millions of people that exist today simply live, move, breathe, die and pass off the stage of action; their light goes out in darkness, they perish and are remembered no longer than the insects of yesterday.

Man's happiness or misery depends upon the association of his ideas.

Life calls for a great effort, a great struggle on our part. There never was a man who had an easy time in this life that ever amounted to anything in the world.

Prayer, for most part, is so much wasted energy. True prayer is that sincere desire of the soul which stimulates men to action, thereby giving them the force of character to stand upon their own merits and battle the world for the right, to conquer or to die.

Ambition never finds its goal till it finds its grave.

Theives are born, not made; liars are made, not born.

Action is the over-flowing and exhibition of thoughts that arise in the human soul.

Death, as we construe, is not death, but only the entrance door to a different life.

There is a great conflict being waged every day on the battle ground of the heart and in the empire of the soul. A conflict not of swords and firearms, not between man and man, but a conflict in the depths of the soul between the right and the wrong that is setting men adrift on the barque of fate.

Pert Paragraphs.

Kindness feels like a slice of the north pole when it comes from some people.

The major part of mankind don't lose a great deal of money.

Some men are so puffed up with conceit that it is a wonder that they are alive to their opportunities and don't hire themselves out as animated airships.

Fear is its own accuser and often its own executioner.

One genius in a family is about all that the family exchequer will stand for.

Most anybody is willing to help us by handing out a programme for us to pay for and follow.

There are lots of people who go to church because they feel that the church would suffer excruciatingly if they did not.

No Provision For Contingencies.

The condition of the Maywood waterworks seems to be the same as in many other villages. The plant was installed, paid for in ten yearly installments by the people, and everything went lovely until the machinery began to wear out or increased capacity was needed, when it was discovered that no provision had been made for such necessary expenditures—the water had been furnished to the people at cost and nothing laid by for rehabilitation—Maywood (Ill.) Herald Recorder.

High Point's Experience.

The city of High Point, N. C., installed an electric light plant at a cost of $20,000. Ten years later the generating plant was sold. A former member of the electric light committee of the board of aldermen writes that this was done because a private company offered to sell current at less than the operating cost of the city's plant. He further states that if the city had sold its distributing system it would be far better off financially than it is.

EQUAL TO THE OCCASION

Gentle Faced Girl Was Not Entirely Helpless When It Came to an Emergency.

Near the middle of the second car on a south side "L" train sat a gentle faced, zephyr like girl of apparent extreme youth and undoubted grace and beauty, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. Appealing in her type, she was almost poignant in that respect to the man no longer on the sunny side of a fat middle age who sat by her side. Leaning from under his eyelids, he deliberately turned himself about in his seat, but she sat with eyes resolutely turned toward the opposite of the car and feigned that there was no gray haired admirer within a mile of her.

Emboldened by her attitude, which seemed to suggest that of a frightened yet fascinated dove, the fat man began to wriggle closer toward her, and coughed in an interrogative manner. The girl shrank away like a lily rudely caressed by a chill breeze. Bolder grew the stout man, and under pretense of refolding his newspaper he shoved his elbow against her side, and let it play among her ribs.

Her blue eyes opened wide. A flush as of the Marechal Niel rose crept into her cheeks, and the pale, gentle, saint like girl turned about in her seat. "You pie faced mutt," her voice rang in clarion tones through the crowded aisle of the car, "what d'you think I am, a punching bag? Get your elbow out of my ribs and beat your steamboat out of the car or I'll sic a copper on you!"

With a flush like unto the ruddy hue of the setting sun, and amid a miscellaneous chorus from those who were in the know, the gray haired admirer of gentle youth stole from the car, and the saint like child of beauty relapsed into her nunlike appearance.

MEDICAL JOURNALISM.

James Evelyn Pilcher of Carlisle, Pa., predicts great usefulness for the medical journals of the future. There will be an advance in fuller appreciation of the duties, responsibilities, and opportunities of the medical editor. Combination of the editors into a society with broad affiliations will aid this improvement. The medical journal is the text book of the physician to-day. There is a demand for the restricted special journal at the present time, and such journals will be evolved to satisfy the need. Another chief factor in the medical journalism of the future may be the product of a private publisher or a public endowment. This is the journal of original research, with its staff of men continually carrying out researches in various directions.—Medical Recorder.
