Death of Mrs. T. M. Thomasson.

Mrs. Mattie Custard Thomasson, wife of Marion Thomasson died at her home near Phillipsburg, Kansas, Sunday. The information was conveyed to her father, J. W. Custard, Sunday afternoon in a telegram which reached here at four o'clock.

Mrs. Thomasson is survived by her husband and one child.

She has been a sufferer for a year past from Tuberculosis and her family and friends had given up hope some months ago of her ultimate recovery. Accompanied by her husband and child she spent some time here in the spring, hoping the change would benefit her, but as she did not improve they decided to return to Kansas which they did only a few short weeks ago, she was about 28 years of age.

Her sister Mrs. Crider lives on East Depot Street.

Blackburn-Boone.

Sunday, Rev. W. T. Oakley performed the solemn rites of matrimony for W. O. Boone, son of James Boone and grandson of A. Woodall, and Miss Lola M. Blackburn, daughter of Thos. W. Blackburn, one of the handsomest girls of that section.

The young couple drove into the city and proceeded to Rev. Oakley's residence and were married sitting in the buggy at his front gate. They were accompanied by two friends and after the ceremony they returned to the home of the groom's father where a bridal supper was served. The happy couple have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Protracted Meeting Closed.

The annual meeting at Chapel Hill has just closed. Rev. J. F. Price did most of the preaching. In the absence of Bro. Price, the pastor preached a few excellent sermons. The Rev. A. J. Thompson, of Kuttawa, has been pastor of this church for over a quarter of a century. He has impressed himself upon this community as doubtless no other person has ever done. The community bears the imprint of his moral and religious ideals. During a meeting he is well nigh ubiquitous, here there and yonder, looking after the various details of the meeting, and in the homes of his people.

The singing was conducted by J. C. Minner, and Miss Ada Canada was faithfully at the organ.

The attendance was good and the services seemed to be enjoyed by all. The day services were a feast to the soul. There was no misconduct during the meeting, but all behaved nicely. For this we express our high appreciation.

There were three professions of faith and five joined the church.

Letter From Mississippi.

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 25, 1908
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Marion, Kentucky,

Dear Marshall:—It seems to be custom for those who have grown to maturity in Crittenden county, and who have moved to other states to write back to their friends and tell them of "a land where milk and honey flows." Perhaps in a few months a large per cent of them may be seen walking the "golden streets" of Marion saying "Crittenden county is good enough for me." Occasionally we find a person who leaves and makes his permanent home in some other state.

Now it is not my purpose to induce any good citizen to leave old Crittenden for a worse place, but to those who are not satisfied there and are seeking homes in other places I desire to call your attention to a certain locality in Mississippi where you can find land as good as the best land in Illinois, Ohio and Kansas; as good water as you can find in eastern Tennessee; and as good people as you can find in Kentucky. That is a strong statement but a trip here will convince one of the truth of it.

I notice an occasional letter in the Record-Press from some former Crittenden people who have settled in the southern part of Mississippi. Now every man is free to select his own location, but after making a careful study of the soils of the state I feel that I am prepared to give some information that may be of value to prospective homeseekers and investors.

The "Black Prairie" land of north-eastern Mississippi is at present attracting as much attention as any farming land in the South, and is perhaps superior to any for certain crops.

A northern man came to this region about four years ago and sowed some alfalfa seed as an experiment. It proved to be a great success. It was an epoch-making event in the history of the farming industry of the state. Thousands of acres are now being sown to alfalfa. The land produces from three to seven tons per acre, and price of hay ranges $15 to $20 per ton. This means that a hustling man with a little surplus money can become independently rich in a few years, provided of course he does not buy any gold bricks or deal in futures during a presidential campaign.

In addition to alfalfa, the soil, without fertilizer, will produce from 30 to 75 bushels of corn per acre, 1 to 1½ bales of cotton per acre, Johnson grass, Japan clover, Bermuda, Vetch, Red clover and other crops.

On account of the fertility of the soil in producing grasses, corn and hay, and the abundance of good water, it's a fine region for raising cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules. You raise mules in Kentucky and ship them to Mississippi and get big prices for them. Why not come here and raise them cheaper than you can in Kentucky and sell them for the same price you get for them plus the amount of freight and a middleman's profit, which amounts to a good living. This is a new country and the people are just beginning to realize their possibilities and are beginning to take advantage of them. Now is a good time to "get in on the ground floor."

This is not as hot a climate as many may suppose, nor is it a low swampy fever district.

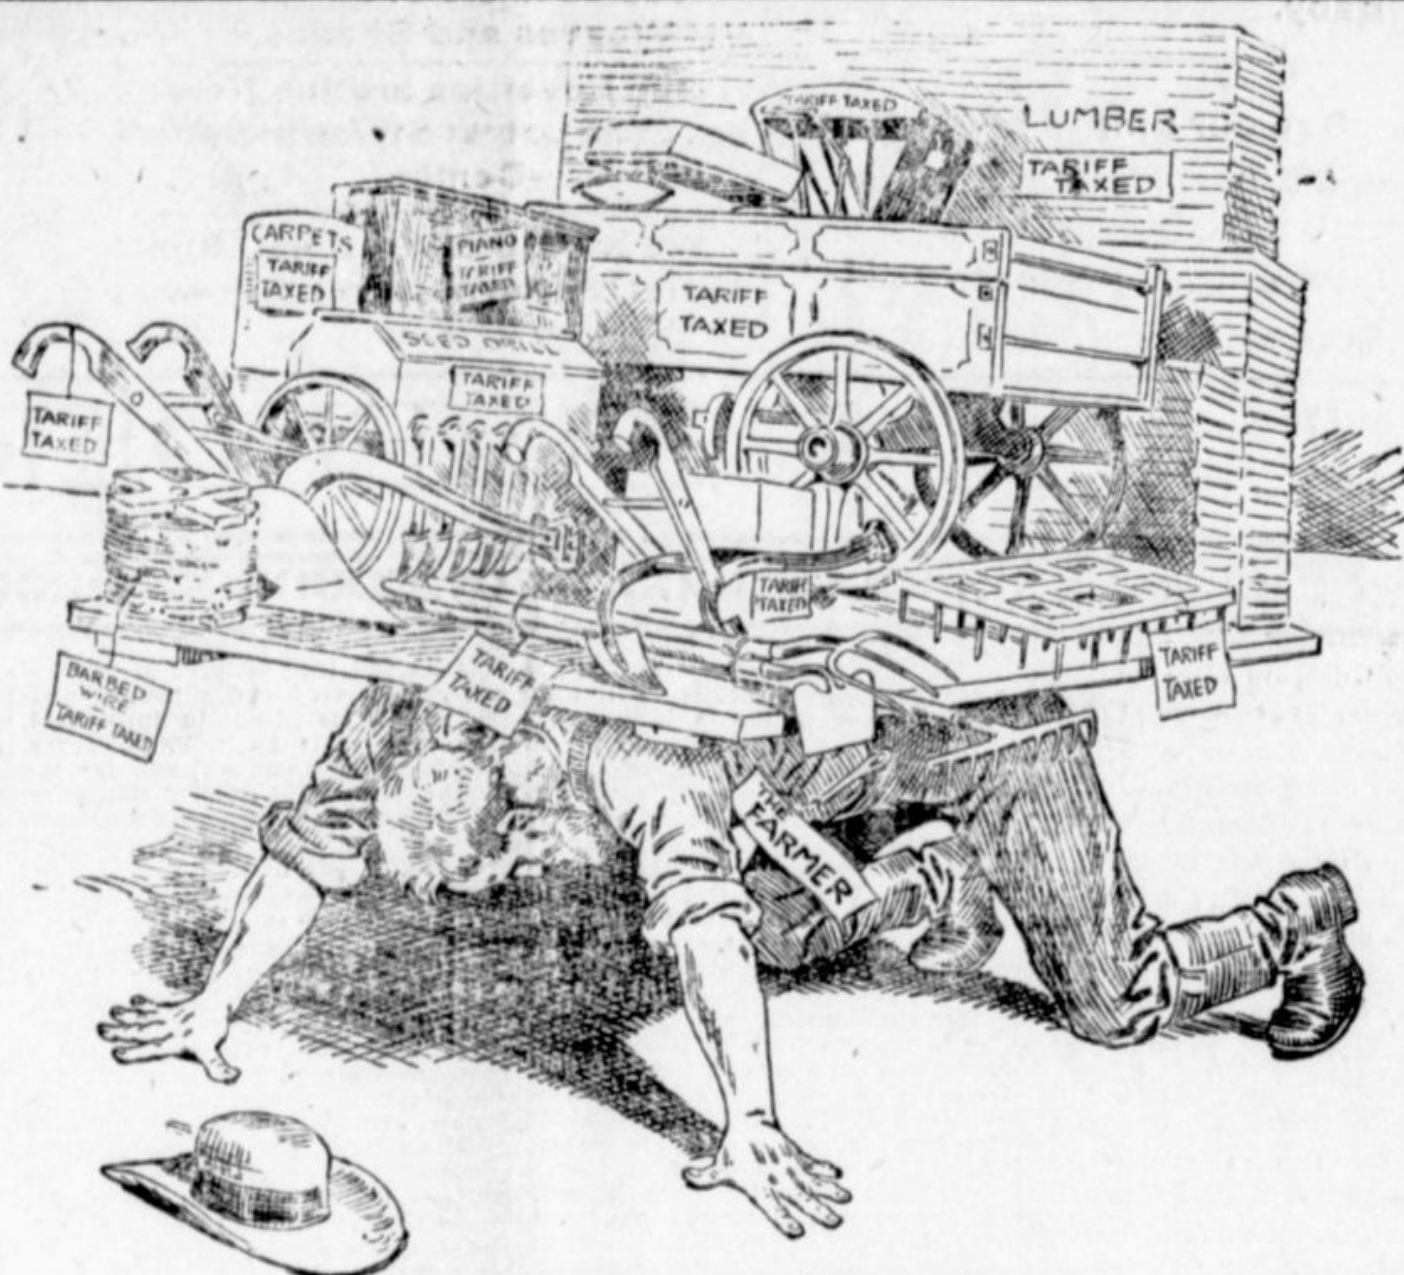

Land in the prairie region is selling for $20 to $50 per acre depending on the amount of improvements and the distance from town. Before alfalfa was introduced land was selling for $10 to $25 per acre.

I am not in the real estate business, but I am anxious to see this section settled up by good people, and I am also anxious too, at least to have you know of this region if you are going to leave Kentucky.

The prairie region is principally in Prentiss, Alcorn, Lee, Monroe, Clay, Lowndes and Noxubee counties. The largest towns are Corinth, Booneville, Tupelo, Okolona, West Point, Macon, Columbus, Aberdeen.

It is traversed from north to south by the Mobile and Ohio R. R. giving an outlet to St. Louis on the north and Mobile on the south. The Illinois Central touches the region on the north connecting Birmingham and St. Louis and Chicago. A branch line of the I. C., also runs through the center of the region connecting Aberdeen and West Point with the main line at Durant. The Southern R. R. and the Frisco lines cross the district from East to West, giving our outlet to Birmingham and Chattanooga on the east, and Greenville, Memphis and Kansas City on the west.

Yours very truly,
A. F. CRIDER.

HOW LONG! OH, HOW LONG!

PUSH AN ENTERPRISE.

Morganfield is a neighbor town about the size of Marion. They started a steam laundry a little over two years ago and after running a year it was plainly visible that the town was too small to support it.

They claim to have the best equipped laundry in the state.

Not being willing to loose the large outlay invested in this plant, it was decided to look for business on the outside. That they have been successful, may be presumed by gazing upon a wagon painted in loud colors and in large flashy letters on each side "MORGANFIELD LAUNDRY" that may be seen on our streets almost daily.

Birthday Dinner.

On Thursday, Sept. 24th, L. C. Gass and family, C. M. Dellard and family, W. E. Turley and family, Albert Crayne and family, Lewis Gass and Mrs. Annie Agee, all met at the home of their father and grandfather, Isaac Gass, to celebrate his fifty-eighth birthday.

When he returned to the house from the field where he had been cutting and hanging tobacco, the table was loaded down with all the good to eat that was necessary to satisfy hunger. All enjoyed the dinner very much. The evening was spent with pleasant conversations, music and songs were sung and played by the children. About 3 o'clock we enjoyed eating ice cream and cake, and after while we all gathered together and sang some beautiful songs, among them were "Rock of Ages," "Work and Pray."

The children and grand-children were all present except Harvey Gass and family, of Ridgeway, Ill., but they were present in mind, for they did not forget to send him a present. There were many useful gifts given which he enjoyed very much. There were nine children and ten grand-children present. When we began to think about it, we saw something remarkable, there has never been a death in any of their families so far for which we should be more than thankful. The oldest grand-child, Isaac Dillard, who was fourteen years old that day, selected the closing song, "God be with you till we meet again" which was sung, after which we all began to leave wishing our father and grand-father many more such pleasant and happy birthdays.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

New Livery Firm.

Hicklin & Foster sold part of their livery outfit to Ordway & Guess who resumed charge last week. They did not buy all of Hicklin & Foster horses.

The new firm is composed of Thos. Y. Ordway, of Fredonia, and Joseph A. Guess, recently of Carriers Mills, Ill., to which place he removed from Marion. Both are well known to the traveling public and are experienced liverymen.

The retiring firm are uncertain as to what new business enterprise, if any, they will enter, but will trade in live stock and run a feed stable, but will not engage in the livery business.

Notice to Farmers.

I have received a car load of Good Grade Virginia Carolina Fertilizer. See me if you want any.

Claude Champion's House Burned.

Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock considerable excitement was created here by the cry of fire. It did not take long for the citizens to learn that it was one of Levi Cook's cottages on south Main street occupied by Claude Champion, but the extreme dry weather and the start the flames had gotten before being discovered, made it impossible to stop it, and the house was soon enveloped in flames, and burned to the ground in fifteen minutes. No one knows how the fire started, as the kitchen wall was afire to the ceiling when discovered by John Cochran, who was passing by. None of the family was at home, Mr. Champion was in Murray, Ky., with the state guards of which he was a member, and Mrs. Champion was up in town at some of the stores.

The house was insured but Mr. Cook informs us he will not re-build at this time.

Day And Night Same Length.

Sept. 23rd, was the day of the Autumnal Equinox, when Old Sol, wearied with his long journey of six months in the northern part of the world, crossed back over the equator and passed into the southern half of the globe. To thousands, his six months' visit has been a blessing and a pleasure, while to hundreds, whose lives have been snuffed out as heat victims, his visit was fatal. The Autumnal Equinox is that occasion occurring on September 23rd, when the sun crosses the equator, thus making night and day of equal length, and marks the beginning of shorter days in the northern half of the globe. From now on till December the days will grow shorter, when again Old Sol will turn and come toward the equator, crossing it on March 21st.

J. G. Crider Dead.

J. G. Crider was born, Aug. 23rd, 1841, was married to Miss Liza J. Lowery, Dec. 20th, 1860. To this union was born nine children, all living but one. Professed faith in Christ at an early age of eleven years at Piney Fork, was made a ruling elder in the same church in 1887, he has been a member of Piney Fork church about fifty-six years. Every one of his children are members of the same church.

He passed peacefully away at his home, Sept. 25th, 1908, at 10 o'clock a. m. He loved his church, and was true to the end.

Uncle Henry Stembrieger Enjoying Himself in Sunny Tennessee.

McMinnville, Warren Co, Tenn., Sept. 15th, 1908.

Dear Editor of the RECORD-PRESS, I will write a few lines for the PRESS. I started from Marion the fifth Sunday in August, for Warren county, Tenn., I was met at Smithville by John Van Hooer, my brother-in-law, Sept. 1st, finding him and family all well, staid with him two nights then getting me a horse and saddle, I went to visit my niece, I found them all well and stayed two nights with her, and there I found a great field of relatives that I would have to go to see, so I started out, just staying one night at place in which I have seen many faces of my kindred and old friends in which it would take me two months to get around to see them all.

The old country don't look like it did when I left it thirty-seven years ago. I have visited nearly all of my old homes and two of the old churches, one of the churches was organized in 1816, I saw the first bench that was put in that church, they were split open and the bark taken off of the round side and the face side lude and auger holes bored in each end and legs put in them. The people out here have been pulling fodder the past three weeks. There has been two good rains out here since I came to this state.

It will be some time in October before I can get home I will stop off in Wilson county a few days to see some of my relation.

Yours Respectfully,
H. R. STENBRIDGE.

One-Fare Rate Secured For the Newport Convention.

For the first time in several years we have secured a one-fare to our State Convention at Newport, October 8-11. With the magnificent program this ought to insure by far the largest Convention ever held in the the state. The selling dates are October 7, 8, 9 and 10; good returning to leave Newport no. later than midnight October 12. This will give all the delegates a day of sight seeing in Cincinnati, if they prefer to remain over the 12th. No stop-over privileges are allowed.

Each county is entitled to three sets of delegates:—First, ten a large selected by the County Association, or appointed by the County President or Secretary. Second—Delegates appointed by the Sunday Schools, each school in the State is entitled to one delegate for every hundred or major fraction thereof enrolled. Third—Pastors and Superintendents are ex-officio delegates. Every delegate must have credentials signed by one of the county officers. This entitles them to free entertainment on the Harvard plan, that is for breakfast and lodging. Meals will be served near the church for 25 cents. To insure entertainment the names of every delegates should be sent to the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Rev. H. A. Hanshue, Newport, not later than October 1st.

Every county within one hundred miles ought to send its full delegation, as this is to be the very best convention we ever held and it comes at a time in the history of the Sunday School work in the State, when it can accomplish most. Every Sunday School is urged to send at least one delegate and if they can not find any one who is willing to pay his own way, it would be a good investment for the school to pay the way of the pastor, superintendent or some earnest teacher.

For program and detail information call on your County President or Secretary, or write to the State Secretary, E. A. Fox, 712 Louisville Trust Building, Louisville, Kentucky.

Judge Graves, Your Honor.

Hon. Eugene Graves presided over the Paducah police court Saturday in the place of Judge D. A. Cross who is away on a vacation. Judge Graves was as good on the job as if he had been a veteran.—Paducah New-Democrat.

Notice To A. S. of E. Locals.

The Crittenden county Union of American Society of Equity, will meet in Marion, Oct. 10th, 1908, at 1 o'clock p. m. All locals in the county should send a full delegation.

F. E. AND C. U. OF A PAGE-C.O. Pogue Ed.

Young men, remember that each day brings a greater demand for men of character and energy. This country needs men with strong character, and love enough for down trodden humanity, that they can resist the glitter of the trust gold that is buying the freedom of American farmers. Get your education, but be sure that you lay it on a foundation of principles, which are truth, honesty and virtue.—C. O. P.

ARTICLE A.

Let the President, Secretary and Treasurer of every local in the county make a close inquiry as to the amount of money they can raise in their local for the Union bank. Remember the shares are fixed at $100 each, but two, three or four can go in together and take one share, which will give all a chance to take a little stock in the bank. Also let every farmer count on depositing as much as he can and make this a saving bank in place of a spending bank, that is, see how much he can save instead of seeing how much he can get out of it, which will be better for both the farmer and the bank.

So do this at your next meeting and make a report to the County President which will be turned over to the proper committee.—C. O. P.

ARTICLE B.

Let two, three or four locals get together and build them a warehouse to hold corn, wheat or any other crops that they want to pool for the union price; by this we mean the farmer that has to sell his crop to pay for labor, supplies furnished in making the crop or rent for land and so on, but let all land owners that can, and most of them can, make their own crib a warehouse, for the man that holds his crops the longest is the one that gets the most out of it any how, also remember the price is already fixed on corn, which is a living price for both buyer and seller, and we don't think there will be but little or any difference between them this year. Fraternally Yours.

Ed Cook.

POLITICS.

Let everybody vote as they please and be sure and stick to the union. There are some people who think that the union is a political scheme, but it is gratifying to us, to know that none of these who make this accusation belong to the the union, and, further, if they will come over and join they will be convinced of this error without argument.

Politics, the kind we have been having, is a bad article within itself, so, I don't believe any union man would want to desecrate the union with "politics."

We people, of all parties, have got a great deal to get forgiveness for, on the "old score" so let's don't censure each other this time for the way we vote.

I don't make mention of the above for any political difference heard of this year, for I have heard of none, and I believe the union is responsible for the better conditions that exist between neighbors of different political belief.

I only hope to see the time when we can throw down the past and unite under one device and proclaim our politics as the same, for our interests are identically the same, and 'till we all get to voting the same somebody is going to be voting wrong. But I can't say and no other man can say indeed and in truth that either candidate deserves the individual vote of the people. So you can't make any bigger mistake than you have been making to just vote as you please, and see the result.

So stand shoulder to shoulder in the union and let the political fury go by unheeded.—C. O. P.

NOTICE TO LOCAL PRESIDENTS OF THE F. E. AND C. U.

We, your Committee on Banking, request every "Local President" to make a close canvas of your locals and secure all the pledges for bank stock you can, and please let all pledges accompany your credentials at the next county union, which will meet in Marion on the second Thursday and Friday in October.

We, your committee, have to make our report at that time and it will greatly assist us, and we will certainly appreciate such kindness. Respectfully,

Your Committee on Banking,
J. E. DEAN, Chairman,
ED. FLANERY,
ROBT. L. MOORE,
ED. COOK.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 14, 1908.

To the Brethren and Membership of the Farmers' Union of Kentucky. Dear Brethren: I have just returned from the National Union, held at Fort Worth, Texas. That was indeed a great meeting. Steps were initiated at that meeting whereby, if adopted by our people, we will move on the captains of finance as never before. The most loyal and determined men of the highest order of intelligence ever assembled met in that great body.

Men from Florida to Oregon and from North Carolina to California stood united for a determined and desperate effort to free our people. Let me in advance ask every member of the Kentucky Union to stand firm to your leaders, for I assure you they are as determined and loyal men as ever went to battle either by civil or despotic means. To be free we must, but to be loyal is first.

I placed in work our new constitution and charters before leaving for the National Union. They are now ready and will begin issuing charters at once to all needing them. If you fail to get what you want write me and explain everything, and same will be attended to. You can get a copy of the new constitution by sending in clubs of 12 for five cents each. Send at once and let all of us get posted and post those who are not members.

I know you will excuse this delay in issuing the mail on time, which is due to my absence to National Union. Respectfully,

R. L. BARNETT.

According to reports the Farmers of Kentucky are getting straight to business. State headquarters are being looked for with Paducah and Louisville as active candidates for same. The Paducah Sun says:

On the second Tuesday in September, directors will meet here again, when final arrangements for a great central salesroom will be made. Secretary Barnett said today that the union expects to handle $3,000,000 pounds of tobacco this season. Tobacco was the principal subject discussed in yesterday's meeting and definite plans were perfected whereby each county will handle its own crop. In detail the plan of handling of the Farmers' Union differs materially from that of Planters' Protective Association.

First there will be no general manager of the Farmers' Union. The state board of directors will have supervision over the various county organizations. They have eliminated every office possible, it was stated, to save expenses to the members. Each county is expected to organize a stock company which will buy or lease a warehouse. At this warehouse will be priced and stored, and samples will be sent to Paducah or Louisville, as the one or other place may be chosen for state headquarters.

These stock companies will be similar to the one organized this month in Livingston county. Only union members may own stock. The stockholders will elect directors, and these directors will be subject to supervision by the state board of directors. Some competent tobacco man will be elected state salesman, and only tobacco in first-class condition will be accepted by the warehouses. The state directors decided yesterday to accept tobacco from farmers outside of the Farmers' Union if they desire to sell their crops through its system.

If possible, the Farmers' Union will try to sell direct to the manufacturers. They want to eliminate the brokers entirely and while they are dealing direct with the manufacturer, they expect ultimately to do so. It was this idea that made some of the directors think Louisville would be best for state headquarters.

President Robert Johnson and Chairman John Grady, of the board of directors, will visit each organized county this month and get them organized into stock companies to handle the tobacco crop. As yet only plans for handling the tobacco of the members have been laid, but all products of the farm will be handled along the same lines sooner or later. R. E. Foster, of Livingston county is the state business agent who will vetoes his time to stock. In Livingston county the union members profess to be much delighted with the plan of selling their stock through him and not to itinerant buyers.

Secretary Barnett thinks each county union will organize a stock yards in the near future. He also favors a central stock yard where they can get inducements to locate. The tobacco warehouse for McCracken county probably will be located at Kevil with a branch in this city. The site for a stock yard should be donated by the city or some other substantial help offered. Paducah stands a leading chance of securing the industry.

A MORAL AS WELL AS A BUSINESS PROBLEM.

Editor Co-Operator:

Equality and justice to all, special privileges to none in the accumulation of the necessary substance to make the enjoyment of life possible must be and has been the underlying cause to all human advancement. To gamble in the life-giving substance of a people that has been produced by honest toil and at the sacrifice of health, education and childhood's healthful development, rendering the natural laws inoperative, is the crime of a day.

If your ideal is a day after death you are a curse to humanity, yourself and your family.

If you want wealth to relieve you and your children from the world's necessary labor, you are a strike at heart and a curse to the nation. If you think you can elevate yourself by standing on the neck of your fellow man you are a fool before a high heaven. Those who are willing to consume and waste the world's wealth without rendering a full and complete equivalent have no thought of idea of the fundamental justice in the nature of things.

It is a notorious fact that a large per cent. of the nation's wealth is in the hands of a few legalized robbers, that have no more thought or care of how they obtain this wealth than the pig cares where his swill comes from.

So my brother in moral upbuilding, if you and I don't lay bare to public gaze this gangrene cancerous growth on our social fabric that is rapidly developing into an incurable blood poison this black plague will soon land us in the chaotic realm of shame and decay.

J. J. DEAYER.

Human nature is about the same the world over. Northern people may write plausibly of the disgrace and criminality of mob violence, but when a black brute enters their own home and strikes down the helpless wife, mother and sister, the courts delays and the failures of justice are remembered and summary punishment is meted out in Springfield, Ohio, the same as in Paris, Texas. No, not the same either, for the northern mob did not get the fiend, but took their vengeance out upon innocent ones who merely sympathized with their own.

Had you ever thought of it? People will take the utmost pains to insure the best feed, shelter, habits and training for their blooded horses, pigs or chickens; they will labor in season and out to produce specimens as near perfect as possible—which is right; and yet these same people will allow their children to grow up like rank weeds (or like common work stock) without discipline, without food (for the mind), without moral refinement, uncouth and ignorant. What do all our efforts amount to in the end if their ultimate and constant purpose is not to develop a race of Men and Women of the full stature of well-rounded, manhood and womanhood? The main consideration should never be lost sight of.

(delayed from last week.)
My Dear Rufus,

Your remarkable epistle came to me promptly through the medium of the Press. Don't think for a moment that my delay in acknowledging receipt of same was premeditated; it was not. To be frank with you, I had considerable trouble in absorbing a sufficiency of it to answer. I had to call in help to decipher its mysterious paragraphs. I have been told that crazy people could understand each other's jargon; my failure, and referring it to a friend who makes periodic trips to Hopkinsville, availed me nothing, as he only shook his head and said it was undoubtedly the vision of some adventurous fellow who was over-toddled and imagined himself a second John the Revelator. We called on the Oracle at Delphi with no success; it only said in guttural tones "Duffy, take him off." The wonderful Grim and Thominian stanzas were applied and they indignantly replied, "You are trying the second rock, get a hard stone. We could not square it by the 47th problem of Euclid. The great genius who writes night rider news to the big dailies was called on and he said, 'Rufus, off we don't know him; we deal with live people.' Not a spark of intelligence did we get until we saw a wireless connection with the dignified Sphinx who item out in the back yard of the mummies who inhabit the Great Pyramid. With the great Cheops was told that the letter must be read, he frowned down on the Sphinx and warned that old clam-mouthed, over-tipped wonder that something 'must be done' or he would be punished by being enrolled as a member of the Law-and-Order League. The threat was sufficient for the first time since the food old Sphinx opened up and with a great deal of dignified profundity scanned the letter which a mummy poked under his nose for inspection, and said in a voice that out-stentored old Stentor himself, these words: 'Rufus Robinson, Nemo Zero, Nihil, purrledum, sit. This was no light to our beloved mind, but it was the open sesame to a partial solution of the riddle that had so far dumfounded the world. When the magic words, Rufus Robinson, fell upon the ears of the mummy, it instantly rejuvenated him till he would not have been taken for more than a 1,000 years old, although he hunted crocodiles and shot 'reps' along the Nile more than a 1,000 years ago. He cast a radiant smile upon old Cheops and the Sphinx and said, 'My masters, I will read.' And he did read. It developed that this mummy was a member of the Order of Reformed Gamblers, and had spent one season as an attraction in the museum of Mr. Robinson here in Kentucky before the advent of law and order.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor. There is nothing else to live on or by. When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood. This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take fore the advent of law and order. By these associations and a wonderful affinity with Rufus, which no living mortal has ever been able to attain, he had partially mastered the Robinson dialect and a few moss-backed ideas. From his translation we gleaned this: Rufus is a member of the Farmers' Union, "whole sole and part of the upper;" also, that he was being pestered by a certain scribbler, who slurred the soldier boys and was leader of a band of nocturnal equestrians who "rid by night." Furthermore, that he was "stirring up the populace against our Government." So much the mummy saith. In reply, I am not eligible to membership in the Farmers' Union, but am a subscriber to its principles and a defender of its righteous acts. We are bound to say, Rufus, that you are not of the same species of "genus homo" as the mummies who call themselves Farmers' Union. You are, no doubt, very much affected with a germ now known as trust octopi scab, which has spoiled many a patriot in America. In fact, a union man is dated to me that your "whole sole" was "boarded," and "the part of upper" was nothing but a cheap patent leather cap the remainder being TRUST leather, this covering for one foot and a worn-out military booting on the other leg; thus attired Rip Van Winkle strides forth to dream and dare.

I fear that another deadly bacteria has fastened upon you. Genes canine military. This microbe was transmitted by Wilhelm of the Faithful to Theodore the First of free America; thence from him to Augustus the First of night-ridden Kentucky; thence to Rufus of Law and Order Crittenden. My dear Rufus, that is the deadly germ that is to-day pressing upon the vitals of Europe, enslaving millions—millions. Our own land has already begun to feel the heel of the military sat-rap Shackles are being forced for the limbs of those who will not meekly bow to the military despot. I bow to you, the prodigy of the age, a living, breathing, Farmers' Union man, all alone, like Atlas of old holding aloft the burdens of others at the bridge, Leonidas at Thermopylae, Washington at Princeton, Pickett at Gettysburg, the Light Brigade at Balaklava all pale into insignificance when compared with your heroic defense of "our rulers." As a reward you should be made a colonel on Gus's staff, with active service as recruiting officer for Crittenden county. If no duty but to beat the tom-tom for Judge Wells.

As to stirring up the populace against "our rulers." If you had not been napping, you would have known they had been already swarming for the last nine months, like two million hornets. The purpose of our din is to settle them and wake you up.

Do we really slur the soldier? Ah! you are one who would convey the wrong impression. The individual soldier is but an infinitesimal particle of that great Juggernaut car that is being driven ruthlessly to-day over prostrate Kentuckians. The officers of the Kentucky State Guard, almost without exception, are men of unimpeachable character; the ranks contain hundreds of the best young manhood of the State. In both rank and file I have many personal friends, and to the soldier, who is soldier-like, we have admiration. But the soldier who is sworn to uphold the law, and brazenly turns out to be an oppressor of the weak, and a law-breaker himself, deserves the condemnation of all.

Even if there was a semblance of necessity for the service, a militia man in this county or in many portions of the State, when he is quartered, he is charged with many improprieties, that tend to make obnoxious the whole organization. These charges read: Intimidation and violence upon the civilians; confiscation of private property without process of law; raiding lodge rooms, compelling members to submit to indignities, and the carrying away of articles from the lodge; filling themselves with blind tiger "booze" and indiscriminate firing upon the public highways, and in the streets of cities; reckless riding through the water supplies of cities; firing upon peaceable citizens while leisurely driving on the highways; breaking open railroad cars and taking whisky therefrom; setting aside the civil law in defiance of the constitution. It is these things, Rufus, that have set the Anglo-Saxon blood to boiling, and made the Kaki, worn although worthily by many, all look alike, and to thousands of Kentuckians as detestable as was the red coat of King George's troops to the colonists in 1776.

If we must have soldiers that we may enjoy law and order in Crittenden, let us by all means keep the ones we have.

We know them and they know us; To war's alarms they are almost free.

Take them all in all, they could be "wuss." With or without big guns they'll "d." M. F. P.

STUFFED PEARS.
Baked stuffed pears is another dish that invariably meets with a favorable reception. For this purpose only the larger pears should be selected. Peel and core them, and stuff the centers with a paste composed of dates, figs and chopped nuts. Bake them until they are tender, keeping enough water in the pan to make it impossible for them to burn. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

A RUDDY PHILOLOGIST.
Bobbie, aged five, saw a cow grazing in his mother's flower garden, and shouted, "Boggy cow!" The cow didn't seem to be much perturbed and calmly ate its Three-year-old Mary, dancing with excitement, exclaimed: "Tell him to 'scow' Wobbie, tell him to 'scow'!"—The September Delineator.

WHAT WILLIE SAW.
When Willie saw a peacock for the first time he said to his mother: "Oh, mamma, you should have seen it! Electric lights all over the ferns and a turkey underneath!"—The September Delineator.

Eagle Attacks Child.

New York, Sept. 24.—While Blanche Cribier, three years old, the daughter of Fred Cribier, a summer resident of Helmetta, N. Y., was at play near her home a large eagle swooped down and attempted to carry the child away in its talons.

Cribier was nearby, and the screams of his daughter attracted his attention. He fought off the bird, and as it attempted to fly away, his brother, who had come up with a shotgun, fired and wounded the eagle. Its capture was then an easy matter. The child was found to be uninjured except for a few scratches. The eagle, though peppered with shot, will live, and the Cribiers intend to keep it in a cage.

HAIRING MACHINES.

Catarrh Sufferers Are Nothing But Hairing, Spitting and Blowing Machines. Says an Authority.

Is it possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform are being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, that thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh, when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a pleasant, medicated and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes, and crusts in the nose in a few days.

"I suffered from catarrh for two years; tried numerous remedies which failed; used one and one-half bottles of Hyomei and am entirely cured."—C. N. Lindsay, 407 East First Ave., Mitchell, S. D.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost only 50 cents each. . . . . sells it and guarantees it to do exactly as advertised.

Hyomei also cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Infants' Croup.

afternoon. The Record-Press congratulates John, wishing them a prosperous voyage through life.

Protracted meeting begins at Union next Sunday night. Elder T. C. Carter, of Marion, is engaged to assist in the meeting.

Willie Suggs has moved to the Leander White place to make a crop next year.

Pearl, the five-year-old child of Leslie and Rosa Davidson, died of that dread disease, diphtheria last Friday. They had recently moved to Panhandle, of Livingston county. The disease was not recognized until a few hours before its death, and it is feared it may spread in that neighborhood. The bereaved parents have the sincere sympathy of their many friends here. The child was buried at Union Saturday, but only a few friends were allowed to attend.

Mrs. Pauline Davidson, of Tolu, visited friends and relatives in this section last week.

COMBINED NOTICE AND ORDER OF SALE

In the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky.

In the matter of Davis & Davis, Robert L. Davis and Philip M. Davis, bankrupts.

To the Creditors of said Bankrupts: You are hereby notified, that Henry K. Woods, of Marion, Kentucky, trustee of the estate of said bankrupts, has filed petition herein, representing that it will be for the benefit of said estate, that the property belonging to said estate, situated in Marion, Kentucky, valued at $1700.00, be sold at public auction, and that there will be at a meeting of the creditors of the bankrupts, at my office in Paducah, Kentucky, at 8 o'clock in the forenoon, on the 2nd day of October, 1908, to consider the proposed sale of said property. And if objection to said sale is not made or, if objected to, it is now ordered, that said trustee make sale at auction and public outcry of the said property, consisting of a stock of goods furnishing goods and being chiefly ready-made clothing, hats, caps, shirts, neckties, hosiery and the usual line of goods pertaining to goods furnishing business, together with show-cases, furniture, counters and some fixtures.

The trustee is directed to sell said property as a whole for cash to the highest bidder, at the late place of business of said Davis & Davis, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, on the 5th day of October 1908, subject to the order of the referee. And the trustee will immediately after said sale, make report thereof to the referee, showing the name of the purchaser and the price for which same was sold. Witness my hand this the 22nd day of September 1908. EMMIT W. BAGBY, Referee in Bankruptcy. Trustee Notice of Sale of Bankrupt Property. To the Creditors of the Bankrupt and others: This is to notify you, that pursuant to the foregoing order of sale, I shall, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, on the 5th day of October 1908, sell the property of the above entitled bankrupts, at their late place of business, on Bank Street, in Marion, Kentucky, on the terms and conditions, and in the manner provided in said order of sale. Witness my hand this the 22nd day of September, 1908. H. K. Woods, Trustee. TOOK EDITOR AT HIS WORD FOR ONCE. He Advertised "When a Darling Baby Comes to Bless Your Home Send It In." AND ONE MORNING HE FOUND TWO THERE. St. Francisville, Ill., Sept. 17.—Professor William Spencer, who started the weekly St. Francisville Times some weeks ago, is making a howling success of his editorship. In coaching the St. Francisvillians into the habit of sending in items for publication he has been running a standing invitation for accounts of social affairs and personal items. The invitation reads like this: "You will be of great aid in making the Times a newsy paper, by handing in accounts of social affairs and parties; when you get married or entertain visitors, let us know about it, and when a darling baby comes to bless your home, send it in." The appeal for news brought results almost at once. While the professor-editor went around to his sanctum in the "cool of the morning" one day last week he found a pair of rosy-cheeked babies tucked in a basket which rested on the doorstep of the newspaper office. Editor Spencer is certainly to be congratulated for his ability to get news in the "concrete."

any more until her body was fished up to-night. She is from Cincinnati and was a talented musician and artist, having spent two years in a Chicago school. The town is mourning her sad ending.

Saw The Balloon Eight Miles.

The Dalton correspondent of the Madisonville Hustler, says:

The Providence fair is in progress this week and a number of Daltonites are attending. On Tuesday the balloon ascension was plainly seen in Dalton. This seems quite a treat to us—to have a fair so close that we can see part of the performance from our homes. Heretofore, no fair being closer than Madisonville, it has seemed like leaving the state to get to see a fair.

15 Day of September Open Our Store on a Cash Basis!

In adopting a cash system we feel that it will be beneficial not only to the seller, but to the buyer also. No firm that sell goods on long time CAN OR WILL SELL GOODS AS CHEAP as those who sell for cash.

We propose to convince you of this fact if you will come to see us and investigate for yourself. We will make every day a bargain day, but will have a SPECIAL BARGAIN DAY every week. On this bargain day we will sell you goods at prices that will astonish you.

Remember, that You Can Get From Us Anything in the Hardware Line.

In addition to the Special Bargain Day in each week, we will on the first day of January, 1909, give away one of our

Celebrated Tennessee Farm Wagons.

Every person who buys goods from us will receive a ticket for every dollar spent, and every ticket will be a chance to get this celebrated wagon, free. So remember, that the more tickets you have the more chances you have to get this celebrated wagon.

We will include in this drawing all those who owe us and pay their accounts on or before that day. So if you are indebted to us call and pay your account and receive a ticket for every dollar paid.

This is no fake advertisement. We mean what we say. Don't forget the name or the place.

INSTITUTE.
The Crittenden County Teachers' Institute assembled in the auditorium of the Marion graded school building, Aug. 31, 1908.

The Institute was called to order by the superintendent of schools, Mr. John E. Parle.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. B. McNeely, after which the Institute was organized by the election of the following officers:

President—Mr. M. F. Pogue, Vice-President—Mr. E. E. Phillips.

Secretary—Miss Florence Harris, Assistant Secretary—Miss Willie Clement.

The Secretary proceeded to enroll the teachers, seventy-three (73) being found present.

The address by the instructor (published previously) impressing upon the teacher the importance and responsibility of his position, was thoroughly appreciated.

Monday Afternoon, 1:30—Institute was called to order by President M. F. Pogue.

The Schools of the Common-wealth, purpose, maintenance, etc., discussed by Prof. John P. King. He likes the new school law; thinks we had no system before.

The common school is the basis of an education, therefore should be independent of college in course of study formation.

Thinks the state has done enough for the common schools, and for that reason the schools are not appreciated by the people as they should be.

He advocates local taxation to supplement the school fund.

Course of Study. Is it suitable? Why? Mr. M. F. Pogue, in a concise manner made manifest the wise and unwise features of the course, while as a whole it has been adopted, yet parts of the same have been rejected.

Discussion of the teachers on textbooks. The pupils.

(1) His out-of-school life, environment, etc., should be known to the teacher. Why? Mr. T. F. Newcom in the discussion of the topic, said it is necessary to know the environment in order to be able to be of the greatest service to the pupil.

(2) How seat and classify? Mr. Omer Johnson advocates the placing of different grades in separate rooms—that at the close of each year's work the teacher's register should be filled out in full and left for his successor.

Discussion by instructor and teachers—"Pupils should be classified on their ability to do."

How to Cure Indigestion

Well Known Family Physician Gives Good Advice

"When a person cannot eat ordinary food without discomfort afterward, when he has heartburn, sick headache, gas on the stomach, water brash, belches up sour food, and this condition has continued for a week or more, it certainly is time to do something and do it quickly."

That's what a popular physician recently said to the writer. "First thing you know you'll have dyspepsia if you don't," said he.

The quickest and best way to regain your normal condition is to step into the drug store and buy a 50c bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It gives natural, daily movements to the bowels, and that is usually where more than half the trouble lies. Then it aids digestion, sweetens the stomach, acts on the liver and is a general system tonic.

Postmaster Ridgill, of Bruceville, Tex., had such a severe attack of dyspepsia that his stomach, liver and bowels seemed almost paralyzed, but a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin relieved him, and today he is well as ever. Maude Hall, Alpena, Mich., says that one bottle cured her of a very severe case of indigestion.

A. L. Espley, Chief of Police, New Philadelphia, Ohio, says: "I find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the best remedy for indigestion I ever used. I would not be without it." Rev. A. J. Fletcher, Rutherford, Tenn., is now 80, and yet it cures him of stomach trouble of 60 years' standing. Mrs. Mattie Crouch, Tippecanoe, Tenn., cured her five months' old baby of indigestion with it, so you see that while it is so effective it will cure cases of long standing of dyspepsia and constipation in old people, it is perfectly safe for babies, and it is pleasant to take, and does not pain or sicken.

All druggists sell it at 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Pepsin Syrup Co., 27 Chestnut St., Monticello, Ill., are glad to send a free sample to any one who has not used it and will give it a fair trial.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

(3) His physical condition should be ascertained. Why do pupils attend school? Do they know? Discussed by Mr. Albert McDowell.

Institute adjourned at 4 o'clock Tuesday Morning, Sept. 1, 1908.

Song—Oswald Christian Soldiers. Devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. B. Adams, pastor of the M. E. church.

Roll call answered with favorite quotations. The Teacher—

(1) Qualifications: Education, habits, tact, spirit, etc.

(2) As is the teacher so will be the school.

Miss Ethel Hard said, "Since the teacher makes the school his better to place the standard too high than otherwise."

The topics were dealt with in her enthusiastic manner.

(3) His duty to the State, his district, his patrons, his pupils.

Mr. P. M. Ward said, "The teacher must be consistent, must be observant of all good to the patron. The exercises of the day be performed not merely from a sense of duty, but from a love of these duties."

(4) How organize and grade a country school?

Miss Emma Terry being absent, Mrs. Kitty Perry and Prof. J. W. Roscoe made interesting talks. Prof. Chapman, instructor, gave a thorough explanation of the organization of a country school.

Music—The Glory Song.

(5) How elicit the efficient services of the trustees and the hearty cooperation of the patrons?

Miss Anna Roberts creates the interest of the pupils, thus elicits the cooperation of parents.

What is a good school? A poor school? Definitely answered by Mr. J. B. McNeely.

Prof. Geo. W. Chapman, talking on Child Study, appealed to the teacher to seek the friendship of each pupil as the only way to bring forth the best work of the pupil.

"The teacher should imbibe the spirit of the Great Teacher, which gives patience, gentleness, tenderness, kindness, and loveliness, thus he will be able to influence the young and tender lives in his charge, institute adjourned."

Tuesday Afternoon, 1:30—"Abide With Me" Roll call.

School Management—

tion, preparation of lesson, etc.—Mr. Fred Stone.

(d) Shall boys and girls sit together? Play together?—Mr. C. E. Thomas.

Reading—Assign a lesson in the Second Reader.

Miss Verda Guill would have the pupils tell the story of the lesson first, or if they have never read the lesson, tell something of the picture, then assign the lesson, using his or her own judgment as to the length of the lesson.

Conduct a lesson in the Second Reader.

Mr. W. K. Powell has the pupils read the lesson and criticize one another. After the reading is finished he either has them give the story of the lesson or questions them concerning it.

Criticisms on the assignment and the "hearing" of the preceding lesson.

Institute adjourned.

Wednesday Morning, Sept. 2, 1908.

Music—America.

Devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Geo. W. Chapman, instructor.

Roll call.

School Management, concluded. (Some details of school management.)

(e) What should the teacher have to do with playing? Mr. O. D. Spence would make playing a recreation of as much interest to the teacher as study.

(f) That water-bucket, books, etc. Discussed by Miss Della Stenbridge.

School courtesies. Miss Nellie Sutherland says courtesy is kindness and kindness is the greatest of investments.

(h) What has the spirit of the age to do with school government? Miss Elva Roberts said the spirit of independence is so imbued in the American child that coercion is today impossible.

Further discussed by Messrs. J. E. Pilant and Chas. Hust.

Development of Character—

Prof. Chapman wished to impress upon the minds of the teachers that they were character builders. A realization of the fact that day by day as the mind of the teacher comes in contact with the mind of the pupil, out of the life or character of the teacher is built the life or character of the pupil.

Recess.

Music—Count Your Blessings.

Reading—

(1) How would you begin to teach primary class to read?

(2) Why do so many teachers fail in this subject? Mrs. Fannie Walker would make pupils at ease; children lose fear through interest. She gave an excellent demonstration by actual class work. Would not introduce more than two or three words per day. Would have them written and draw the objects they represent. Thinks the cause of failure is by too much haste and not enough repetition.

Adjourned until 1:30 Wednesday Afternoon.

Music—The Glory Song.

Roll call.

Helpful. Devotional exercises conducted by Miss Ethel Hard.

(1) What two things should school reading do for pupils?—Miss Verda Guill.

(2) Are the reading lessons in McGuffey's Readers satisfactory, if not, why, and how would you remedy the defect?—Miss Pearl James.

(3) How would you start a dull or backward pupil in reading?—Miss Fannie Walker.

(4) When a lesson is read, is it finished?—Miss Ida Duval.

(5) Should a child ever be given for a reading lesson, material which he cannot understand? If so, why?—Mr. Chas. Hust.

(6) When do you do about the new and difficult words in the reading lesson? How do you secure correct enunciation and pronunciation?—Miss Mary Lou Wilborn.

Recess.

Music—Duet by Mrs. Walker and Miss Sutherland.

Advanced Reading—

(1) Continue recitation in McGuffey's Fifth Reader—Miss Mattie Perry.

Class—Misses Ida Duval, Margaret Moore, Anna Lou Finley, Ethel Hard and Mr. O. D. Spence.

The lesson—"The Heritage"

Questions on the life of the author and the object of the poem. The reading of the lesson. The difficult words were spelled and defined. The class related the lessons learned from the poem.

Question by Mr. Hust, "Should a child pronounce a word before he tries to spell it in the class?"

Question by Mr. Moore, representative of the American Book Company, "Can a teacher who is a poor reader, be successful in teaching reading?" After a discussion of these questions the class was assigned a lesson and excused.

ers is that they have very little cooperation from the parents of their pupils. If there is trouble in the school room involving the son or daughter, the temptation on the part of the parent seems all too generally to be to blame the teacher. Frequently remarks are made in the child's presence that are not only harmful to the child but that tend to promote insubordination. As a rule, teachers are very carefully chosen and very closely watched. All system in which they are employed and many have studied in our great universities, where they have probably taken special courses, not only to fit them as instructors but as disciplinarians as well.

It ought not to be necessary to plead the teachers' cause before intelligent parents. The child who comes home late from school with a story about the injustice of his teacher is, in nine cases out of ten, an every man and woman know who has ever attended school, merely availing himself of that first law of nature—self-protection. If he confessed that the cause of the trouble had been his shooting of a spitball, the child would quite naturally expect home reinforcement of the disciplinary methods that had first been applied in the school room. Boys and girls do not relish the rod, and unless they have been very carefully trained, they are likely to stretch the truth a little on occasions to avoid it. But it is not indisciplinable that the teachers ask the cooperation of parents. There should be absolute harmony between the two in every respect. Parents should be personally acquainted with the young women who have charge of their boys and girls for the better part of the year. They should visit them frequently, understand in what particular the child is failing to meet school standards and then do everything in their power to assist, by supplementary home training, in overcoming this difficulty.

It is well-nigh impossible to train a boy or a girl in the way he should go merely through school-room instruction, unaided by home influence. That our schools have made such marvelous progress in the face of such reprehensible parental indifference is one of the most convincing proofs of their institutional value and one of their greatest promises for the future. No step, since the establishment of the little red school house, has been weighted with more of good for the child than the organization by the parents of school patrons' associations. May there be many more such organizations this year and may the work of these already established be broadened until every father and every mother of every boy and girl attending school shall be as well informed as they are regarding the work and progress of their children as they are regarding the work they are themselves doing in their homes, shops, factories, on the farm and at home—Woman's National Daily.

HUSBAND AND WIFE HAVE EGG BATTLE.

When Fight Ceases the Tired Combatants Look Like an Italian Sunset.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Judge Winfrey found it necessary to impose a fine of $50 and a jail sentence of sixty days on Fred Gebhardt, a cooper of No. 1209 Virginia street, who had been arraigned before him a bottle of whiskey, a case of eggs, Fred Gebhardt and his good wife had badly mixed. Patrolman Hughes found the mixture in Gebhardt's grocery. He says it looked and smelled like an enormous rum omelette.

The first ingredients in the egg omelette were the whiskey and Gebhardt. The mixing was superintended by Gebhardt himself. At this stage of the game the idea of the omelette had not occurred to Gebhardt. It was later, when heated by whiskey and by taunts from his good wife and the beautiful scheme with the shanghai berries occurred to him. When the conception came to him, he hastened like a true artist to put it into concrete form.

Mrs. Gebhardt was standing behind the counter of the grocery store. She noticed that her husband's movements were slow and inaccurate. She told him he was "soused."

It was then that the poetical idea of a human omelette entered Gebhardt's brain. He turned to a case of eggs and began hurling them at Mrs. Gebhardt.

Mrs. Gebhardt retaliated with hen fruit from another case, and in less than a minute counters, glass cases, walls, windows and floor were covered with frothy whites and streaky yellows. Mr. and Mrs. Gebhardt were unrecognizable under their coatings of poultry product. Some of the eggs were not fresh.

and the smell accompanying them was akin to a packing house odor. The fight ended with a 12-inch shell in the shape of a watermelon. Mrs. Gebhardt ran from the store. The battle sends Gebhardt to jail for sixty days. For his board the people of Evansville pay $24.

THE WHISTLING BOY.

But who betide the hand that bids the whistling boy be still. He is the sole survivor from an age of innocence into one of ill-starred knowledge; he binds the disparities of the present and the past. The same in country lane and on the city pave—cosmopolite, blithe, Bethlehemian, a little pagan Pan!—is he. Amphibian of transient idleness and endless pre-occupations is he; without rest, without haste, he shuffles back and forth between things as they are and things as they are dreamed. If, in these transmigrations, from the inner to the outer world and back, he impinges on the edges of things a little sharply, he cannot arouse our ire—for there is a whistling boy within every man who keeps his courage up as he passes through the graveyard of his hopes.—Washington Post.

Widow Lights Cook Stove—Gets Only Ashes From $225 She Had Secreted.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Josephine Gordon, a widowed washer-woman, lost the savings of a lifetime when she built a fire in her cook stove and burned up $225. The money was in the oven and when the woman remembered about hiding it there she opened the door, only to find the blackened ashes of her treasure. The ashes will be sent to the treasury department in hopes that it may be redeemed if possible.

UNDER WATER FORTY YEARS.

Uniontown, Ky., Sept. 17.—Oath buried in the water of the Ohio river over forty years ago, were found by Mr. Granville Hale, in an excellent state of preservation. They were discovered in the rotten hull of the steamer Pacific mixed up with cement. This boat burned here to the water's edge, finally sinking near the Indiana shore, and many lives were lost. The hull of the boat can be seen only in extremely low water. Mr. Hale also secured some valuable silverware.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a leg at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done my worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at J. H. Orme and Haynes & Taylor's drug stores.

RECEIVED FORTUNE OF $15,000.

Lost One of Sixty-five Girls Who Entered Into Compact.

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Margaret Castens, 94 years of age, who received $15,000 three years ago as the result of a unique compact entered into by 65 girls in a German convent school more than 70 years ago, died at the home of her daughter in this city Friday night.

Seventy-five years ago Mrs. Castens was a pupil in a convent near Stuttgart, Germany. The girls agreed just before they graduated to pay a certain number of marks a year in to a Berlin bank and the entire amount was to go to the last surviving member of the class.

Three years ago Mrs. Castens found herself the only one of the class remaining. She wrote to the bank, believing she would receive a few thousand dollars. The amount she got was in excess of $15,000.

MAY USE ELECTRICITY IN CITY OF CHICAGO.

Illinois Central to Take Up Matter to Get Rid of The Smoke Nuisance.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 16.—J. T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central railroad, announced at a meeting of the board of directors of the road, held to-day at New York, authority was granted for a full investigation of the question of electrifying the Illinois Central terminals at Chicago. In making the announcement Mr. Harahan said:

"It is the purpose of the company to go into this question fully and immediately, securing the most able experts in the country to investigate the matter. After a full and complete investigation a report will be made to the board of directors on the subject."

The Illinois Central railroad enters Chicago along the shore of lake Michigan and operates a suburban service. The smoke from 700 trains used daily in this way has been a subject of complaint for years by residents of the south side. Recently a number of meetings of south side tax payers have been held with the object of compelling, if possible the electrification of the terminals.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop governs the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these 'inside nerves' fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed especially to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by J. H. Orme.

A Happy Estate.

The farmer is a happy man who dreams the livelong day,

[Excepting when he's hauling wood or pitching hay]
He knows no care, but breathes the air that's rich and pure and free
[He stops to milk the lowly kine or chop another tree]
No serf is he, to hasten at some stern voiced duty's call,
[He toils from 4. a. m., until night shades begin to fall]
He knows no sorrow, knows no woes, no troubles and no pains
[He works outside when weather's fine and inside when it rains]
Oh, yes, I would a farmer be;
That is the easy way.

MARSHALL FIELD'S WIDOW TO WED A NOBLEMAN.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 17.—The recently published announcement, which was denied later, that Mrs. Marshall Field, second wife and widow of Marshall Field, the Chicago merchant prince, was engaged to be married to Lord Ennis-Ker, an English nobleman, attracted much interest in Eastern Kentucky, as well as all over the whole country. In Eastern Kentucky particular attention was attracted because everything savoring of connection ever so remotely with the name of Marshall Field causes interest.

Marshall Field, when he came out from New England to seek his fortune in the early forties, located at Hanging Rock, O., just across the river from Carter county, Kentucky. Frequently in those days he crossed the river to the Kentucky hills, and was well known there. Finally he removed to Iron, O., and became a clerk for Robert Scott, a wealthy iron manufacturer at that place.

Field married Miss Nannie Scott, a daughter of Robert Scott, in the forties, and soon after went to Chicago with $10,000, most of which was borrowed from his father-in-law, and went into business, where he began the accumulation of his big fortune.

Robert Scott's family consisted of Nannie, Alice, Sophie, Nora, Thomas and Henry Scott. Robert Scott had two brothers and two sisters, all dead. They were Henry, Jackson, Delilah and Eliza A. Their children are living, all in Grayson or vicinity.

Mr. Field never forgot his Kentucky connections, when he died he will providing that $100,000 be divided among the relatives of his first wife. Those who shared this bequest are Jack Scott, of Carter county, Ky.; Mrs. Maggie Caudill, Mrs. J. W. Black, of Grayson; Mrs. Mattie Parks, of Farmers, Rowan county, Ky.; A. F. Wilhoit, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Edward Wilhoit, of Douglas, Ariz.; and Euclid Wilhoit, of Trinidad, Col.

PEACH MANGOES.

Select large free stone peaches. Use them before they begin to mellow. Lay the fruit in a strong brine for a week. Dry them, cut a slice from the side of each peach and remove the stone, saving the slice to replace after the peach is stuffed. Make a stuffing of one teaspoonful each of ground nutmeg, mustard, mace, white sugar, celery seed and salad oil, a clove of garlic, chopped, a pinch of ginger, a dozen whole peppercorns, and a tablespoonful of scraped horseradish. Mix all well and stuff into the hole in the peach. Make it as full as it will hold, replace the slice cut out, sew in with strong linen thread and put the peaches into pickle. Make this by adding a cupful of brown sugar to a gallon of vinegar and a half-teaspoonful of cayenne. Bring this to a boil and pour while scalding hot, over the peaches.

WOMAN AERONAUT HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Drops 200 Feet Into Lake at Dallas, Tex., Pleasure Resort, and Nearly Drowns.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 17.—Dropping from a height of nearly 200 feet into thirty feet of water, her body buckled to the parachute which had failed to open, Miss Pearl Laven had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday in the lake at a local pleasure resort.

Miss Laven had entered into a balloon race with another aeronaut. Her balloon had not been properly inflated, and she cut loose the parachute when over the center of the lake. She was rescued after having been under water three and one-half minutes. She was revived within half an hour, but is suffering from the shock.

THROWN FROM SURREY ON TOP OF BUMBLEBEE'S NEST.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 17.—In a runaway accident west of Richmond Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Burris and two children were thrown from their surrey into the grass covered ditch at the roadside on top of a colony of bumblebees. All of the family suffered from stings, the children being almost prostrated from the effects. The horse, which had lodged against a fence, was also made a target for the bees. Several persons were stung.

The horse was very badly stung before he could be extracted from the tangled harness. A passing interurban car which was responsible for the runaway, was stopped and many persons rushed to the rescue of the Burris family, only to be beaten back by the bees.

The Burris family was taken to Centerville, where physicians attended them. The children were suffering severely from the poisonous effects of many stings and for a time serious results were feared, but yesterday they were much improved and are believed to be out of danger.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Marion.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."

Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.

They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.

Here is Marion proof that this is so:

J. E. Glass, living on Bellville St., Marion, Ky., says: "I cannot express the gratitude I feel for the beneficial results I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have kept this remedy in the house constantly for the past five years and consider it worth its weight in gold. I had been subject to backaches for a long time in fact, the affliction caused me to spend many sleepless nights. I took remedies, and medicines but did not find any relief. I was finally persuaded to use Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them at Haynes & Taylor's drug store. In less than a week the pains in my back had vanished as it by magic and I have not been troubled seriously since. Occasionally I have slight occurrences of backache when I catch a heavy cold, but on such occasions I procure Doan's Kidney Pills and they give me the required relief."

MEMORY OF MORGAN'S RAID.

Hull of Steamer Is Exposed to View, Sunk Over Forty Years Ago.

The hull of the steamer Alice Dean, which for more than forty years has lain at the bottom of the Ohio river at the mouth of Buck creek, forty miles below New Albany, and which at the present low water stage is visible, recalls an accident of the Civil war which is vividly remembered by the older residents of southern Indiana.

On July 8, when Gen. John Morgan, a gallant Kentucky officer in the confederate army, who made a dashing raid through Indiana during the Civil war, crossed the Ohio river at Brandenburg, he captured the steamers Alice Dean and the John T. McCombs, which were pressed into service to ferry the troops across the river.

After the soldiers had been landed on the Indiana side of the river the John T. McCombs was allowed to proceed on her trip down the river on account of the personal friendship between her commander, Capt. Richard Ballard, and Gen. Morgan, but the Alice Dean was burned to water's edge. Her hull sank to the bottom of the river, where it still lies in an excellent state of preservation. It is only when the river reaches an exceptionally low stage that the hull is exposed to view.—Louisville Herald.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, as a nervous excitant, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well which give you such exquisite suffering, every month, are caused, as you know, by female trouble. Relief seldom or never comes of itself. It is necessary to cure the cause, in order to stop the pains, and this can only be done if you will take a specific, female remedy, that acts directly on the womanly organs.

These Bad Pains

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"Cardui did wonders for me," writes Mrs. H. C. Larson, of Olathe, Ia. "I had female trouble for 8 years. I had displacement, which increased my suffering, the doctor could only relieve me at times. Now, I am so much better, I hardly know when my time begins or when it ends."

BASE BALL.

(Delayed from last week.)

Last Friday, Sept. 18, at the ball park, an immense crowd witnessed a struggle in baseball game that will remain indelibly impressed upon their minds for all time to come.

It was the ball event of the season, the old and young, father and sons, mother and daughters came from afar to behold the clashing in combat of the "Fats" and "Leans" for the supremacy of the diamond in this particular locality.

Perhaps every attendant got his "eye full" of the many laughable happenings and if he failed in this it was because mirth had stirred his good soul to such a degree that his eyelids met and he was forced to miss some of the acts.

Of course, the two teams would have gone down in utter defeat and drawn straws to have determined who was the champion of the battle, had it not been for the marvelous whips of their respective pitchers. Upon them the brunt of battle rested and the manner in which they "axed" the shaking batsmen is a terrible caution to all future aspirants.

Now no one will attempt to deny that "Rube Waddell" Heath, wasn't master of the situation, when he heaved his offerings about the plate. In rare form was terrible "Rube" on this occasion and so perfect was his control of the ball that he could shut both eyes and steam the "white streak" unerringly across the plate, while in a calm and sonorous tone Harry Carnahan would announce, "Strike."

But who can put an estimate upon the "Whirling McGinnis" Price, as he stalked about in that great way of his that has endeared him to the hearts of all sports-loving humanity? "He was the noblest Roman of them all." Cost beyond measure and sure his eye he would toss the ball in that stiff posture of his and let the poor batter set the air on fire with his paddle. So marvelous was he in form that day that he was conscious of no opposition, and he would not allow even upon his silent lips and some fans, overcame with his profound silence, whispered in hushed breath, "That he reminded them of 'Dummy Taylor'."

So it was a battle in which "Greek met Greek," but history has it that the Fats contrived to pile up a larger number of scores than the Leans, 29 to 16, but of course his little incident doesn't keep one from entertaining an opinion of his own as to the relative merits of each team.

Now, of course Clark was there with the goods when it came to receiving the "hot ball" of "Rube" Heath, and all the fans are of the opinion that "Dorsey" just wallowed in honor that day, and strange to relate, but McAdams is sore because Clark caught a superior game than himself and it is a matter of record that McAdams has filed a suit for slander against many of the fans for reflecting upon his ability as a catcher.

Spectacular catches by Tucker, on "the fly" and "the pop," were perfectly at home in this neighborhood and stated after the game

"that he would attempt to collect some insurance on the three broken fingers that he had sustained in the game."

Noggle had such a cute way of standing alone on second base and signaling the high flies to come to his basket, that his teammates turned green with envy when he caught the liner.

Now, Stephens, as a "Cub," exhibited a great baseball instinct by reason of his head-work in the generalship of the "Flying Squad," but when opportunity presented itself—why, we don't claim that Mr. Stephens is perfect, but we have reasonable grounds to believe that good fortune has smiled upon him, as Iron Hill or Repton will offer him a chance to make good in 1909.

Orme is a staunch believer in self-preservation. The personal defense that he put up against the swift throws to him would have put the "bear cut" on the shelf. Now, we venture the assertion that if this superb diamond artist could only be persuaded to desist from cavoring in league form on the baseball field and enter the prize ring, he undoubtedly would win greater honors—if possible, than any to be had in toying with the "horsehide."

Levy Cook, the meritorious "south-paw screamer," was in a magnificent shape for the garden work and rendered untold assistance to his tribe by letting the ball roll peacefully to rest in the shade of his massive form, after which he would amble g-e-n-t-l-y up to the ball and toss it homeward. Prolonged cheers from the grand stand. Rankin, as the fans know, was the crack sprinter of the corporals, and for a ten-yard dash we will stack him against any of Marillion's medal winners. So with this advantage and his great luck in missing the horsehide, he easily had the race.

Did you hear the echo of Jim's laugh out in the right garden, as he dropped the ball when the bases were full and the man with the Big Stick placed a long fly in Jim's hands? Tough luck for "Weary Willie," but rumor has it that Jim will recover his "spilled rep" when the Mother Hubbards appear upon the arena of the baseball world.

In speaking of the notorious Leans, we announce with great precision that the same were ably represented at the initial sack by Messrs. King and Ledberry. Now, we frankly admit that it would be beyond our poor power to state which possessed the greater ability in covering that base. King was the superior when the high balls came along, and in ground work, he was the best in our league—but inasmuch as he was absolutely selfless in hitting by the terrific heavy hitter, Ledberry Taglio, Jr., it was thought to be beneficial to place this 20th century hitting wonder in King's position, as the Leans found difficulty in connecting with the mighty "Rube" Heath's mystifying benders.

The keystone bag was covered by Mr. Meek McConnell, of the "Beehive district," which really implies that he did the busy bee. Let us place a laurel upon his ambitious brow, for his fame as a ball player and athlete is far-reaching.

Yes, Skeet Olive held down third in an admirable manner, dividing honors with his closest competitor, namely Devil, of the New York Giants. Suffice to say that in the near future, when he shall reduce his massive stature, that a great evolution will be inaugurated in the baseball world, by reason of his excellent meanderings about the "gate to home."

We will now endeavor to tell you something about the Leans' short-story. But in the beginning we must state that words are inadequate in deed, and in truth, to explain, (that it be in a manner) the spectacular stunts pulled off by the clever artist, Wagner Moore. We fragile and weary in appearance, but lithe of limb, fleet of foot, quick, active and alert, he was indeed the brightest star that adorned the great galaxy of stars in baseball. Flies didn't fly too him, nor lines line too warm, nor grounders ground too crooked, but what they met the common fate of—unmolested—to pursue the even tenor of their way.

Now, we could expatiate at untold length upon the many brilliant and dazzling plays that were pulled off in this "All Star Game," but will say that Tom Cameron was without a peer in the right field, while Enoch Fritts was the "village cut-up" in center, but it took Joe Bourland to raise his paws in supplication to the easy flies, and by persuasive arguments convince the ball that his hands were the haven of rest in the weary land.

So who can predict the future of the two teams? No doubt but what they will be recompensed in the near centuries by the gratified fans of America in hanging medals around their necks, and in their old age, retiring with a Carnegie pension.

SCALDING WATER AND HOT PIN KILLS SNAKE.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 17.—Armed with a hot pin, Mrs. E. E. Jordan, aged 49, of Garfield avenue, killed a three-foot rattlesnake which had invaded her home.

Mrs. Jordan found the snake upstairs in her room, as it lay coiled within striking distance of her nine-months-old baby, which was cooling at the unwonted sight.

The frantic mother ran for a pot of boiling water, and also grabbed from her dressing table a big hot pin with an ornamental knob.

As she approached the rattler it coiled and twice struck at her, both times falling short. Then Mrs. Jordan dashed the boiling water at his snout and he fled, seeking refuge in the corner. The hot water had taken all the fight out of the snake and Mrs. Jordan finished him with the hot pin. Then she screamed for help and fainted.

FORMER PADUCAH BANKER WITHDRAWS HIS APPEAL.

Postmaster in Penitentiary and a Model Prisoner—To Get Out Next Year.

Murphysboro, Ill., Sept. 17.—W. B. Smith, a former Louisville and Paducah banker, who last February was sentenced to the penitentiary at Menard, Ill., for five years and fined $2,000 for attempting to defraud the Elkhart, Ill., State Bank of $50,000, has withdrawn his appeal to the higher court and will serve out his sentence in prison without making a further fight for his liberty.

Smith and Nail were convicted jointly and were taken to the prison early in March. Nail at once furnished the $5,000 bond and has been at liberty since April, but Smith has never left the prison. He is now employed as postmaster at the penitentiary and is a model prisoner. He expects to get out some time next year.

SNAKE IN BED ROOM.

Shawneetown, Ill., Oct. 1.—Upon opening a door to a room in her home where her two children were asleep, Mrs. Marsh Wisheart was horrified to see an enormous snake lying on the floor between her and the children. Screaming for assistance, Mrs. Wisheart ran around the house, crawled into the room through a window and threw the children outside. Answering her screams the hired girl came to her assistance and killed the snake with an iron bar. Mrs. Wisheart is now suffering with nervous prostration.
