PRINCETON PRESBYTERY A GRAND SUCCESS.

Princeton Presbytery of the Presbyterian church U. S. met at Dixon, Ky., Oct. 6. By request of the retiring Moderator the opening sermon was preached by Rev. J. Fraser Cooks, who was afterward elected Moderator of the Presbytery. Ten ordained preachers were present and one candidate. Most of the churches were represented. The interest in the Presbytery was excellent from first to last. Rev. H. E. Chappell was dismissed to Jefferson Presbytery. The ladies had a fine missionary service during the Presbytery. They held three business and educational sessions separate from the Presbytery and their public meeting in connection with the Presbytery Wednesday evening. At this public meeting there were addresses on Missions by Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Van Horn and a sermon by Rev. R. H. Anthony. A fine audience was present and all seemed to enjoy the services. Mr. and Mrs. Van Horn, Missionaries from Japan, attended the Presbytery and added much to its interest. It was a missionary Presbytery from beginning to end and included various phrases of mission work. A conference of offerings for the Boards were held and showed a healthy growth along this line of work. The members of the Presbytery were royally entertained by the good people of Dixon. Sturgis was selected as the place for the next meeting of Presbytery.

JAMES F. PRICE, Stated Clerk.

SON OF REV. VIRGIL ELGIN DIES AT HARTFORD LAST THURSDAY.

Julian Elgin, son of Rev. Virgil Elgin, of the Methodist church, died at Hartford, Thursday morning of consumption. The young man developed the disease about a year ago, but the actual wasting away did not make itself apparent until last February, since which time he has grown rapidly worse. Recently his condition was regarded as better, and his father went to Owensboro to attend conference. Yesterday morning he suffered a hemorrhage and died in a few minutes.

The body was brought here for burial, arrival at 5:40 yesterday afternoon. It was carried to the residence of George W. Elgin where it rested until this morning at 10:30 when funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. O. Smithson, of Hartford, and interment took place in Riverside cemetery.

The young man was twenty-four years of age, and was the second child of his parents. He was a most exemplary young man and a Christian in word and deed. He was related to the various members of the Elgin family in this city and county. —Hopkinsville New Era, Oct. 9th, 1908.

BUSINESS MAN OF DAWSON ASSASSINATED BY FARMER.

Dawson Springs, Ky., Oct. 4.—After he had left town to escape trouble, John Holeman, a prominent liveryman of this city, came back Saturday afternoon only to be fatally shot by Floyd Snyder, a farmer. The shooting took place on the sidewalk in front of Holeman's home. Great excitement prevails here over the assassination and violence is feared if Snyder is caught. He escaped on horseback directly after the shooting and got across the border into Caldwell county.

Snyder came to town on Saturday morning and made threats that he would kill Holeman on sight over an old grudge. Knowing Snyder's dangerous character when drunk, Holeman left here at once and went to Madisonville. He returned home in the afternoon and started to his home in company with another man. As he neared his home, Holeman saw Snyder approaching. He spoke to him and Snyder passed on by. Suddenly wheeling in his tracks, Snyder whipped out a pistol and shot Holeman through the back. As Holeman turned at the crack of the pistol, Snyder fired again and shot Holeman in the side. Snyder ran away as fast as his legs could carry him. Physicians say either wound is mortal and that Holeman cannot live. The sheriff and deputies are in pursuit of Snyder but do not expect to take him without a battle.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO SEND TROOPS TO HICKMAN FOR PROTECTION.

Hickman, Ky., Oct. 10.—C. L. Walker, manager of the Mengel Box Factory here, has received a notice which threatens the destruction of the factory, unless the wages of the employees are raised.

Hickman is a state of high excitement, and more trouble is feared from the night riders who set fire to the negro home and killed four negroes. Another raid is expected.

Judge Nallor and Sheriff Seat telegraphed to Gov. Willson, asking that troops be sent to Hickman. The telegrams stated that night riders had visited Hickman and that the Mengel Box factory had been threatened.

Governor Willson replied that he would send the troops as soon as possible. He has ordered Major Bassett, at Hopkinsville, Ky., to dispatch the Columbus Ky., company to the scene of the trouble.

AN ANIMAL FREAK--HALF MULE AND HALF HORSE.

Lee Adair has returned from Carlisle county where he has secured the lease of a mule raised by Robert Holt, of that county, that resembles half mule and half horse. The animal is the only one of the kind ever seen or heard of and will attract many people to see it when it is placed on exhibition here Saturday, ten cents being charged to see it. The front part of the body is a mule in every way while the other part is that of a horse. It is certainly a freak of nature. —Mayfield Messenger.

BOY KICKED BY MULE LAST SATURDAY, DIES FOLLOWING WEDNESDAY.

Uniontown, Ky., Oct. 7.—The five-year-old son of Trav Girtlen, who was kicked by a mule last Saturday, died Wednesday from the effects of the kick. The funeral will take place Thursday and burial will be at the Catholic cemetery. —Morrisfield Sun.

HON. E. T. FRANKS OF OWENSBORO

Speaks to Large and Enthusiastic Crowd at the Opera House in Interest of Republican National Ticket.

CONDEMNS NIGHT RIDING AND APPEALS FOR LAW AND ORDER.

Last Saturday as per announcement Edwards Franks, of Owensboro, formerly of Marion, spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience at the opera house, which was packed to overflowing, in compliment to one of Crittenden County's most gifted orators.

Mr. Franks spoke for the Republican National Ticket, but also defended the State Administration and lauded Gov. Willson and the State Guards for the fight which has been made to put down night riding. Mr. Franks was particularly vigorous in denouncing night riders.

His speech was well received by his hearers, most of whom were his friends from boyhood. He was introduced by R. L. Moore.

UNION TOBACCO SOCIETY IN LOUISVILLE

Louisville is to be made headquarters of the Union Tobacco Society, a $75,000,000 combination of all the tobacco raising societies in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri. All plans for the final organization were to have been completed yesterday at a meeting held at the Louisville Hotel, but some of the societies were not represented, so the last steps were not taken. Clarence Lebus, president of the Burley Growers' Society, presided over the meeting and a constitution and by-laws were drawn up to be submitted to a meeting called for October 20, when the officers will be elected. It is more than likely that Mr. Lebus will be elected president of the big organization. Mr. Lebus has been president of the Burley Growers' Society since its organization and has piloted it successfully for the growers. That society is perhaps the richest in point of production in the entire list of tobacco raising societies.

Offices will be secured in Louisville for the big company and the operators of the subsidiary organizations will be governed from this point.

The meeting yesterday lasted practically all day and was behind closed doors. All those present were very reticent, declaring that nothing could be given out until after the meeting on October 20th. —C. J.

PADUCAH A GRADING POINT.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 8.—Paducah fared well in the election of officers and arrangement of handling association tobacco this year, being made an official grading point and Ed R. Miller landing the place of chairman of the board of graders. The other grading points are at Guthrie and Princeton. Heretofore all the tobacco has been graded at Guthrie.

One important change made by the board of directors was the abolishment of the general organizers and Joel Fort and John Matten, who have held those positions, lose out.

MARRIED IN EVANSVILLE WEDNESDAY.

High Sheriff J. F. Flanary and Miss Olive McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McConnell were married yesterday at the St. George Hotel in Evansville. They left Marion on the seven o'clock train. Walter McConnell, brother of the bride and Miss Hattie Shuttlesworth were the attendants. Several friends also accompanied them. Among them being R. F. Haynes, A. H. Travis, R. E. Flanary and several others whose name we did not learn.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanary have the best wishes of a host of friends here and in the county where they were both born and reared. They each have an extensive list of relatives among the best people in this county. The Record-Press wishes them long life and much happiness.

MRS. MARY RASCOE DIED LAST MONDAY MORNING.

Mrs. Mary Rascoe, aged sixty-six years, the wife of Prof. J. W. Rascoe, and mother of Mrs. M. E. Carloss, died at the home of Mrs. Carloss in this city Monday morning.

She was a native of Trigg county but came here to be under her daughter's care about six months ago and has been confined to her room and bed most all the time since, and has been the constant recipient of the most loving care and attention of her daughter, whose devotion to her mother has been marked by thoughtfulness and kindness at all times.

The funeral was preached at the residence Tuesday morning by Elder J. W. Flynn and the interment was in the new cemetery.

NEGRO SHOTS WHITE BOY--- RUSHED FROM DIXON TO HENDERSON.

Dixon, Ky., Oct. 12.—John Coleman, a negro, was brought here today by Deputy Sheriff Jack Wallace, charged with the shooting of Clarence Dillback a white boy about 14 years old. The negro is about 25 years old and married. The full particulars of the shooting could not be learned. The shooting occurred yesterday while the boys were outnutting, and as far as could be learned without any provocation.

It is thought there is no hope for the recovery of the boy, and fearing mob violence, the authorities immediately placed the negro in charge of Cosby Campbell and another deputy sheriff, and he was taken to Henderson. Immediately after the negro was pursued and the chase was kept up until he was captured. The negro was very badly scared when he reached here, and begged to be taken to some place of safety.

State of _____ President _____

Sec-Treas. _____

To the Members of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America

Beebe, Arkansas, Sept. 9th, 1908.
Brethren—The National Union in regular annual meeting at Fort Worth, Texas, September first to the third, 1908, adopted the changes in the Constitution that are being submitted to you for rectification.

The changing of the word Farmer in the declarations of purposes to Farming is merely to correct a grammatical error.

The change in Section two, Article (is for the purpose of eliminating that portion of the section which requires the National Secretary-Treasurer to refund to the State Unions all money received from them prior to their organization, in excess of the actual cost of organization. Under the provisions of this clause as it now stands the National Union can derive no revenue from Territory in process of organization but must depend upon organized States for its support. Should we attempt to comply literally with the provisions of this clause the National Treasury would soon become bankrupt.

The change in Dues as recommended in Amendment No. 3 is an absolute necessity. Thus far your officials have so managed the affairs of the National Union as to cancel all indebtedness and pay the running expenses of the Union out of the mere pittance received as National dues, but the time has come when, if we expect our great organization to take its proper place in the business, more funds must be added to our treasury. No commercial organization of any prominence has ever undertaken to wage a war against the hand of oppression upon so weak a financial basis as has the Farmers' Union. True, no organization of modern times has achieved or could have achieved so much, considering the amount of money at our disposal, as have we, but when we realize what might have been the result had we been strong enough to put into execution the plans conceived our achievements pale into insignificance. The great results that have attended all act labor unions are due to the fact that they have had behind them sufficient funds to warrant them in attacking any condition. Brethren, the raise of 12 cents per member per annum while it means so little to the individual will, when added to our treasury, place us in a position to defy the powers that be and force our fight to a successful issue.

Sections 6 and 7, pages 7 and 8, referred to in Amendment No. 4, were created for a specific purpose, and as they have fulfilled their mission and are now obsolete to carry them longer in the Constitution is unnecessary.

The report of our chief executive clearly shows it to be a physical impossibility for any man to zealously execute the duties of his office and maintain the dignity of his position upon the salary provided by our present Constitution. Under the provisions of Section 14 of Article II, as it now reads, he must absent himself from home continuously in order that a sufficient sum may be realized to support his family, and even when drawing the full per diem as allowed so much must of necessity be drawn from his private funds to supplement the allowance for expenses fixed by the Constitution that the position cannot be filled except at a financial loss to the incumbent. Hence the Union asks that the Constitution be so amended as to place him upon a strict salary basis.

Proposed Amendment No. 6 is self-explanatory.

Fraternally yours,

R. H. McCULLOCH
Secretary-Treasurer.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., veteran of the civil war, who lost a leg at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done its worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at J. H. Orme's and Haynes & Taylor's drug stores.

Does Ma Wish She Was Pa?

"I wish I had a lot o' cash,"
Sez pa, one winter's night;
'T'd go down south an' stay a while Where days are warm an' bright."
He set an' watched the fire die
(Seemed lost in thoughtful daze),
Till ma brought in some fresh pine knots
An' made a cheerful blaze.

"I wish I had a million shares
O' stock in Standard Oil."
Sez ja: "I wouldn't do a thing."
Ma made the kettle boil.
An' mixed hot biscuits, fried some ham
An' eggs (smelt good, you bet!)
Fetched cheese an' doughnuts, made the tea.
Then pa—set down an' et!

"I wish I was a millionaire."
Sez pa: "I'd have a snap."
Next, from the lounge, we heard a snore:
Pa—at his 'evenin' nap,
Ma did the dishes, shook the cloth,
Brushed up, put things away,
An' fed the cat, then started up
Her plans for bakin' day.

She washed an' put some beans to soak,
An' set some bread to rise;
Unstrung dried apples, soaked 'em too,
All ready for her pie;
She brought more wood, put out the cat,
Then darned four pairs o' socks;
Pa awoke, an' sez, "It's time for bed;
Ma, have you wound both clocks?"

Producing Corporation.

The farmers, as a class, form the greatest producing corporation in the country.

What other corporation, one-horse or Standard Oil, would calmly submit to such conditions?

Is it any wonder, then, that wealth is accumulated in a few hands; that we find trouble developing our waste places; that the farmer as a class is the poorest of our population, when he should be the richest?

Is it with a firm realization of these conditions, and a determination to remove them, that the Farmers' Union was founded? It appealed with vigor and persistence to the masses of the country's wealth-producer, dealing with facts I have roughly outlined to you.

The result has been that today, scarcely five years from our organization, we have a membership approaching 3,000,000 of the people upon whose efforts the prosperity of this country depends.

The farmer is the one man who brings his product into the market and asks meekly, "What will you give me?" And then takes what is given him! Up to a few years ago there was not even the semblance of a trade about it. The buyer simply dictated what he was willing to give and the producer humbly accepted.

The cotton farmer no longer goes meekly to market and takes what is given him. He says: "My cotton is worth so much to me and to you. I demand this or that price for it. It is my property, and I have a right to put a price on it."—From President Barrett's Address.

The Most Interesting Discussion.

The most interesting and animated discussion of the recent National Farmers' Union Convention was that which followed the report of the committee on minimum price of cotton. All were agreed as to the principles involved and the price which ought to prevail, but as to the best policy to pursue to bring about the desired result there were differences of opinion. The question was discussed, however, in a fraternal spirit and no bitterness was left as the result of the contest. It seems to be not a question yet of getting what cotton is worth, but of securing the best price possible until the farmers become well enough educated to know what it costs to produce the staple. Hence, it is hoped that the action of the convention will be accepted and loyally adhered to and that no one will crowd the market, even should the price be reached.

There must be loyalty on the part of the membership if the Farmers' Union is ever to succeed as it has the opportunity to do. Personal independence and democracy are all right in politics, but the business organization or institution which succeeds has a head which can originate policies and direct their execution.

It is understood that the minimum price of cotton is to be kept a secret in the Union. Now, let every local enforce the order, or expel the offending member.

Money is not the only reward for labor. Try doing your neighbor a good turn and note the improvement in your heart action.

Do not forget that you were once a boy not so very long ago—and perhaps the most pestiferous of the whole neighborhood tribe.

Help Boy to Be a Man.

Human activity is useful, useless or harmful. Indeed, if it is useless, it is harmful, for it is a waste of time, and time is the stuff life is made of, and to waste human life is harmful. So human activity is useful or harmful. Activity is useful if it promotes well-being. To raise corn is useful, to make wool into cloth is useful, to convert wheat into flour is useful, to dig a ditch or a cellar, or to lay a cellar wall is useful. To assist in the distribution of corn, woolen goods, flour, lime, cement, eggs, butter or cheese is useful.

It is useful to please people—to please them through the art of music or painting or sculpture or architecture.

It is useful to add to the comfort in the country. It is useful to do that which will increase the yield of corn and oats and wheat and clover, which will conserve soil fertility and check the ravages of insects.

Whatever promotes human happiness, human convenience, human health, human comfort, human progress in right living and right thinking, or whatever diminishes the mistakes, the sins, the sorrow, the suffering, the inconvenience—any of the ills of life—is useful.

But the real utility of an art must be determined by its effect not upon the individual himself, but upon the race. The useful art must reflect favorably the human race.

Any activity whereby one gains what another loses is not useful activity. Call it whatever name you please—gambling, stealing, speculation, promoting—if the probable result of the transaction is that one shall get what another loses without giving an equivalent for it, the activity is not a useful one; it is harmful.

This speculative spirit—the desire to get something for nothing—something for less than it is worth, or to sell something for more than it is worth—this spirit is the root of more evil than strong drink. It is more common than strong drink.

Buy a horse that is worth $100 and pay $10 for him (why not?) So feed him and groom him and train him that he is worth $200; then sell him for $200 (why not?) Or, buy horses in Illinois at $200 and sell them in New York at $300 each, the difference being sufficient to pay for transportation and skill and risk in handling. Such transactions are not only legitimate, but useful. Moreover, education is necessary as a preparation for dealing in horses, but it may not be exactly the kind of education needed for preaching or teaching.

Help the boy to discover what things are useful and help him to discover himself—to find to what line of useful activity he is best adapted and then encourage him to fit himself in the best possible manner for the activity of his choice.

It is the recognition of the necessity of educating the young people in such manner as will give them the desire and power to do useful things that is the cause of many of the recent and proposed changes in our courses of study.

It is this that is putting domestic science into so many of our schools. It is this that has almost forced commercial work into so many of our high schools. It is this that has popularized manual training and it is the recognition of this same necessity that is now forcing agriculture upon the attention of educators.

Having defined the meaning of useful activity, I am safe in taking ground that all education should relate itself to the doing of useful things.

Be not half men, be whole men. Make some little corner of the world richer, wiser, better, happier or less miserable because you live and learn and expend wisely.

Activity in earning makes half a man; wisdom in expenditure makes the other half.—Frank Hall.

The Farmer's Daughter.

The farmer's daughter should be the pride of the household, says the Farm Star. She is the future mother of the men who are to continue the great work of building up and maintaining the dignity and prestige of the greatest calling in the greatest country in the world.

With this thought in view, the daughter of the household should be shielded from the roughest of life's experiences, she should have all the pleasures and comforts that the financial condition of the family will permit, and should get as good an education as the boys. She should have her own pin money, earned from poultry or other farm sources, and should be taught to be independent and high thinking and above all, womanly and modest. The health and happiness of the daughter should be the first care of the parents, with the health and contentment of the boys only a less care because they are more robust and self-reliant.

The hen that cackles loudest doesn't always lay the biggest egg.

Before going to town or calling on a neighbor shine your shoes, brush your teeth and clean your finger nails, and surround the four corners of your mouth with a broad smile. Everybody will be glad to see you and hear you as well.

Be thrifty and never put off anything you see the time for. Do it now. Save all your boxes; you will be surprised to find to what use you can put them instead of kindling.—Mrs. A. Joseph.

A Country Idyll.

"Have you dug your grass?" asked the city chap.
Of the staring farmer man;
For he thought he would not crush the swain
Beneath his social ban.
"How was the crop when you dug your grass?"
Did the weevils hurt your peas?
And did the canker worms destroy Your young cucumber trees?"

"I love, good sir, the country air;
From the town I fain would flee,
And lose myself in rural dreams
'Neath the potato tree.
I would pluck the turnip from its vine,
Thro' the parsnip meadow push,
And rest beneath the grateful shade Of the onion's bending bush.

"Oh! I fain would be a simple swain
And drive my yoke of cows,
And rest at noon beneath the shade Of the rutabaga boughs.
I'd hunt the woods where the co-conuts grow
The whole of the livelong day,
Or start at morn with the rustic hoe To dig the hills for hay.

"And if at noonday I grow faint
With my labor's strain and rush,
I would mix the milkweed's luscious milk,
With the mushroom's luscious mush.
I would pluck the pineapple from the pine—
But why has your color fled?"
But the good man fell with a sickening thud.
That farmer man was dead.

A Contemptible Character.

The most contemptible character which the Farmers' Union meets today is the farmer who faults the member of the Union for not selling his cotton at 12 cents, as Mr. Wisc-acre, did. Ungrateful and ignorant wretch! If members of the Farmers' Union had dumped their cotton on the market when these robbers of their brothers were doing it, the prices of cotton would have reached eight cents months ago and would be selling today at five and six cents. Instead of being honored for their self-sacrifice by their non-union neighbors, as they should be, their self-sacrifice has been coined into money by taking advantage of the good market made by the holding movement. It is like a drowning man, who has been rescued by a friend, feeling that friend because he did not have sense enough to remain on land and take care of his health. It is like a man whose property and loved ones have been saved by the sacrifice of another ridiculing the friend for not having judgment to take care of himself. Even the cotton buyers and speculators admit that the holding movement saved cotton from dropping to the lowest prices ever recorded. This is the universal verdict of the business world. Imagine, then, the contempt in which the business man and cotton buyer must secretly hold the farmer who is so ungrateful and so selfish as to reap the benefits of another's efforts and then upbraid him for his unselfish work!—National Co-Operator.

The National Meeting.

The national convention of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America, held in Fort Worth recently, showed the organization to be in excellent condition and capable of doing effective work in the interest of the farmers during the coming marketing season.

With the spread of the Union to grain, tobacco and fruit growing states, the work has naturally divided itself into different departments and the committees representing them have outlined plans for handling these various product which will, no doubt, prove advantageous.

The system for marketing cotton seems to have been advanced materially and with the co-operation of the membership the way is being opened for direct sales to the mills, which has been the desire of many members for sometime past.

Partisan politics had no place in the convention and yet it was evident that the farmers now realize that much injury has been done them by the national and state law making bodies and that those injuries must be remedied. This, however, is recommended by direct appeals to the congress and legislatures and not through the endorsement of any political party.

All in all, the national meeting has added strength to the Farmers' Union movement.

If you have had any contagious disease in the house follow the directions of your physician implicitly in the matter of fumigating the room after the patient has been removed. The Planters' Protective Association, otherwise known as the "Dark Tobacco" Association has for the last four years stood shoulder to shoulder with the Society of Equity and its various tobacco associations, battle for the people and against the tobacco trust. In the last three years, it alone, has had entrusted to its care and management 133,000 hogsheads of tobacco, more than 200 million pounds. On their sales, it has saved the tobacco raisers five cents on the pound, making the grand total of ten million dollars! This immense sum went into the pocket of the man who sweated between the rows; it otherwise would have gone into the coffers of the great trust. But the decree has gone forth that this great Association must be destroyed; likewise all others must follow in this great premeditated wholesale slaughter of farmers organizations, if this succeeds. It may be that the Dark Tobacco Association has been mismanaged in some respects; but what is there but what mismanagement is charged.

In county, state and nation, both great political parties charge mismanagement in governmental affairs. Must we abandon our form of government because there has been something done not to our liking? No, we cannot afford it. The Dark Tobacco Association may not agree with the Society of Equity on the details of handling the tobacco entrusted to its care, but on the one fundamental principal of one buyer and one seller, and the grower to have a voice in price setting we are in perfect accord. It is a lamentable fact that a great deal, if not all the night riding in Western Kentucky, has either occurred in the territory covered by the Dark Tobacco District, or thought to have been committed by people living within the boundaries. But must we condemn the whole Association for atrocities committed by a very small percentage of its membership? Must we condemn the church and ask it to abandon its organization simply because some people use it as a cloak to conceal them while they commit deeds too heinous to mention. These things occur in church and society every day; but must we surrender our civilization because of it? No, we must remedy the evils, and then keep the beam light always in view. Below we give an article from the Madisonville Journal which we feel will interest our readers, as it gives both sides of the question, and we leave the reader to judge whether or not the tobacco growers of that section can afford to give up that organization or not until they get another to take its place, at least.

ENEMIES OF THE DARK TOBACCO ASSOCIATION

Make Statement That Facts Clearly Disapprove.

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 26.—Evidence was introduced in the Gardner-Hunt trial to show that the Planters' Association is a $200 corporation with an annual income to the stockholders of between $100,000 and $200,000. This was the substance of the testimony of C. P. Warfield, of this city, who has been in the tobacco business for a long number of years and is thoroughly familiar with the situation.

"Mr. Warfield stated that there were forty-two stockholders who possessed the $200 capital, and that the income went to them. Under the charter the corporation derives 1 per cent from the gross receipts of sales of tobacco and also gets the types and trash.

"The association claims to have handled 34,000 hogsheads of the 1905, 39,000 hogsheads for the 1906 crop and 60,000 hogsheads of the 1907 crop. Mr. Warfield made his estimate on the 1906 crop, estimating that the 11 per cent. would amount to about $50,000 or more, the receipts from the "types" to about $14,000, and from the trash about $40,000 making a grand total of about $115,000 income from the 1906 crop and something over 50 per cent more than this for the 1907 crop when it is finally disposed of. All of this evidence, including the character of the association and other matters pertaining to its organization, etc., was introduced in the absence of the jury, the court holding that it was irrelevant and incompetent and the defense introducing it only in order to complete the record.

The above is but a repetition of an oft exploded fake, originated by the designing and circulated to the ignorant. It is well known to the members of the Association and to all others who are sufficiently interested in it to inform themselves that there cannot be any such thing as "annual income to stockholders." They know that the merely nominal capitalization of $200 was only for the purpose of legalizing the incorporation. That this stock is held, not by a self-perpetuating class of "insiders," but by officers who are elected by the directors, and by the directors who in turn are elected by the members—the growers. This stock is non-dividend paying, that it is non-transferable, except to their successors in office. They know also that the work of organizing, of handling and marketing 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 pounds of tobacco is an enormous task and involves a great expense. They know that any fees charged are for the purpose of defraying this expense, and that any profits or benefits obtained by such expenditure go to the pockets of the members—the growers themselves (in the form of increased prices for their crop) and cannot be diverted elsewhere.

In case there should be any one who are disposed to give any credence to the above so-called testimony of the Clarksville gentleman, we give space to the stock certificate accompanying each share of stock issued under the charter of 1906, under which the Association is operating.

Whereas, the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, was not organized for profit to its stockholders, but solely for the purpose of aiding the tobacco planters of said states to sell their tobacco through said Association in order to more effectually fight a depression of prices to the tobacco trust.

Therefore the stockholders of said Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, do hereby agree with it, and with each other, to conduct the business of said Association solely to accomplish the above object. It is further agreed that the planters, who have pledged their tobacco to this Association, shall on the first Saturday in September, annually, to their several voting places or precincts, and elect one of their number chairman; and said district chairman shall, on the second Saturday in September, annually, assemble at the court house in their several counties and elect their County Chairman, and the said County Chairman shall be reported to the stockholders of this Association, who shall elect said County Chairman Directors of this Association, or that the affairs of this Association shall at all times be under the control of those who pledge their tobacco to this Association. It is further agreed, that the president, general manager, secretary and treasurer

For months I was afflicted with a breaking out on my face, red, angry looking blotches would appear upon the upper part of my face causing me the greatest humiliation. Virgil C. Cox, a Salem boy, won the honors in a rope ladder contest at Mercer's Park, Hopkinsville, Saturday. Young Cox did many remarkable stunts while on the ladder. He is as active as a cat and as a ladder climber he has no equal."

Richest Men of The World.

The New York World has compiled a list of the richest men in the world and the value of their fortunes. The first ten in this list and their wealth are:

John D. Rockefeller	$1,000,000,000
The Rothschilds, Eng.	800,000,000
Andrew Carnegie	500,000,000
Duke of Westminster	350,000,000
W. W. Astor	250,000,000
Frederick Weyerhaeuser	200,000,000
J. Pierpont Morgan	150,000,000
The Gould family	150,000,000
William A. Clark	150,000,000
John Jacobs Astor	100,000,000

There are twenty-eight people in the world worth more than twenty-five million dollars each, and more than one hundred worth over ten million dollars each. But the great average wealth of the individuals of the world who are not millionaires, but are thrifty, live comfortably and rightly, and are quite contented with what they have, is placed between seventy-five hundred dollars and ten thousand dollars.

It was either Mr. Carnegie or Mr. Rockefeller who stated that any one, having seven ten thousand dollars, which draws a fair annual rate of interest, and having an annual income from honest work of eighteen hundred dollars, is well off, far more contented, and enjoys life better than those upon whom the burdens and responsibilities of millions fall.

It was Croesus, the wealthiest man of ancient days, who exclaimed: "I never slept well until my fortune had gone from me!"

A Mild Laxative For Baby's Bowels

Doctor Points Out Dangers of Pills and Cathartics

"Salts, purgatives, and violent cathartics are dangerous when given babies, children or delicate women," says a well known doctor. "Neither should they be given medicines containing narcotics for stomach or bowel troubles."

It would be well for mothers to heed this warning and keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for baby and herself and for any member of the family that has need of a laxative or a stomach remedy. It is safe and pleasant to take and has cured old people of chronic constipation and dyspepsia of many years' standing, and yet is harmless for a baby as many a happy mother can testify. It brings natural daily movements, sweetens the stomach, aids digestion and stimulates the torpid liver to proper action. The children like it. Late Weathers, the popular hotel man in Indianapolis, says: "The children like it, we all use it and would not be without it in the house." Mrs. Mattie Crouch, Tiptonville, Tenn., cured her 5 months old baby of indigestion with it. Mrs. Almon Willis, Jamaica, Vt., says it saved her baby's life. Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Fresno, Calif., says she can't keep house without it. It cured her little son of rheumatism and stomach trouble.

Mrs. Flora Hebrew, Bow Creek, Kan., says: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin cured my little girl of constipation. I cannot recommend your splendid remedy too highly for children."

Mrs. Mary E. Young, Burlington, Ia., writes: "I cheerfully recommend it to mothers as the best laxative for children."

Mrs. Alice Miller, Canal Dover, Ohio, has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin with splendid results as a laxative for children.

All druggists sell it at 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Pepsin Syrup Co., 301 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill., will send a free sample to any one who has never used it and will give it a fair trial.

citizenship begins earlier than our grandfathers supposed, and America's greatest problem today is how to develop her young citizens into the right kind of mature citizens.

How to begin in the school room is of vital interest to every teacher, principal, superintendent, or member of the board of education. It is of small advantage if the school has high standards of intellectual acquirements which are maintained by anything less than honest effort on the part of the pupil and teacher.

At heart pupils are generally better than they try to appear. Although we sometimes find one making believe he is better than he really is, yet on the whole young persons usually corseal their more serious thoughts and put on an exterior conforming with the general appearance of the mass they associate with.

It is highly important to get the mass to manifest some of these higher qualities as soon as possible after school begins. The teacher who is truly eloquent and truly good often builds far better than she imagines when she speaks of duty, virtue and honor. The teacher who is not eloquent must get her results in a different manner. To help her we fill our schools with noble books, decorate the walls with pictures which speak with tongues of silver, ornament the building with a wise choice of color, foliage, flowers and general design, hoping each and all may bring to bear on the children the forces which make for higher life. But we depend most on noble words, spoken or written, and on sympathetic and loving treatment of individuals. When these forces are at work we know the school is a success, regardless of its course of study or equipment in material things.

How to Move the Mass.—To get the throng of children in a school to enlist themselves consciously or avowedly for betterment, the teachings of psychologist who has studied the mass must be heeded. Men in groups will do things that the individuals would never think of doing. On impulse, or mass movement, they will sometimes act righteously beyond all expectation; and also at other times they will descend to vice and folly which every individual will afterwards deplore.

To move the mass towards righteousness the teacher or leader must first possess the belief that right conduct is natural and agreeable to children. Give them credit for believing that virtue is desirable. Exercise large faith in your young people. Give them a chance to work in a mass towards good things. Recognize leadership in the individuals who are of strong personality, let them know individually what good they can accomplish by becoming active for the right rather than remaining unspine in the throng. Quietly let those of strong and sane minds know they have a duty to perform toward the unfortunate who are tending towards folly and ruin. Instead of moving upon the mass yourself, ostensibly, be willing to let the natural leaders do some of the leading. They can do far more than any adult. The child has peculiar notions of the adult, although he may not say so, he feels in his heart that those who have been controlling him all these years do not really grasp the situation. So he instinctively tries, as a rule, to fool the teacher, to deceive father and mother, and to be rude to adult relatives who try to influence him. The wise teacher or parent finds a way to break into the inner circle of childhood.

The main thing is to get the priested matter into the hands of the right persons in the school room. We have seen a school of one hundred young men, apprentices who were obliged to attend school six months in the year by contract with their union, turned from vandalism to self-respecting manhood by use of this force. Many of them did not desire to attend school, some had feeble intellects and did not wish to learn, and some were superior high school fellows with splendid minds. Under one sort of influence they had torn down electric fixtures, smashed windows, stolen brass trimmings to plumbing and made Rome howl. But under the mild sway of a sentiment created in the mass, and which emanated from themselves when given an opportunity to let it operate, they passed their half year of instruction with great profit and without the destruction of a dollar's worth of property.—The World's Chronicle.

EASY TO MIX RECIPE

Hundreds of People in Vicinity Here Will Welcome This Advice.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, which is said to be a positive remedy for backache, kidney or bladder derangement, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic affections with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles.

and backache as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the four acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial. 20-31.

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop governs the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these 'inside nerves' fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed especially to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients can realize a gain. Sold by J. H. Orme.

To quickly check a cold, druggists are dispensing everywhere, a clever Candy Cold Cure Tablet called Preventies. Preventies are also fine for feverish children. Take Preventies at the sneeze stage to head off all colds. Box of 48 25¢. Sold by Jas. H. Orme.

Woman's Suffrage
Would Prove of Benefit to Man
By ESTHER F. BOLAND.

MOST persons accept as true the statement by Plato, "The woman's cause is man's; they rise or sink together, dwarfed or God-like, bond or free," and suffragists, therefore, deem it simply necessary to show that woman's cause would be advanced by her enfranchisement since, if this can be proved, it follows that the measure would benefit men.

Unfortunately, the cause of woman's rights, so-called, has been largely concerned with woman's wrongs, and in the effort to right these wrongs it has been impossible to avoid a seeming antagonism towards men. However, with the partial attainment of much which women strove for in the early days, such as the equalization of the property rights of husband and wife, the higher education of women, the enlargement of the sphere of their industrial activities, and so on, the movement to obtain enfranchisement has assumed a somewhat different aspect.

We now more often than otherwise hear the reform urged as a method of securing cooperation between men and women who are working for the moral elevation of society, and as a means of rendering the influence of women in public affairs more effective. It is also claimed that woman suffrage would strengthen the bond between husband and wife by adding one more common interest, and that it would increase woman's general intelligence by enlarging her outlook and imposing responsibility in important affairs of government, thus making her a more intelligent companion to her husband. Furthermore, it is held that the removal of the stigma of political disability would strengthen a mother's hold upon her sons, and that she would be better qualified to inculcate high standards of public integrity.

Suffragists believe that a dispassionate consideration of this question in its present aspects would lead to the conclusion that although designed primarily to confer upon women the power and dignity which attaches to self-government, yet woman suffrage would accomplish much more than this, and that it is a beneficent measure from which right-minded men would be great gainers.

Men Who Come to Rule

By REV. WILLIAM GARDAM.

In these days, when the world's empire of Democracy is widening on every hand, and when the very machinery of government is supposed to be in the grip of this democracy, it is really interesting to note, after all, how much of the world's policies and the movements affecting whole peoples are determined by certain central and dominant personalities.

These personalities must prove themselves in modern life, it is true; they must make good the modern man, otherwise he will make trouble for them and will certainly hasten the judgment day. This is the great difference between the day we live in and the inert and submissive civilization of past times.

The modern man who rules must prove himself to the world he rules. He cannot invoke the jure divino theory and find it workable. Men are perfectly willing to be governed in masses, perfectly willing to follow leadership, but the leadership must demonstrate its competence to lead.

There are three or four personalities in our modern world who are historic illustrations of this. The ascendancy of the German emperor is personal; he has proved himself to the German people and modernized Germany industrially and educationally. The leading man in America to-day who has made his occupancy of the White House historic is a brilliant illustration of this position. One of our leading university presidents, when asked why President Roosevelt had such a tremendous hold on the American people, replied: "I suppose it is because the folks like him."

Leadership is neither a lost art nor a superseded vocation. What the democracy of the time demands is that its leaders shall approve themselves by all those gifts and qualities and devotions that make leaders.

More U. S. Bonds Needed
By H. H. GROSS, Secretary National Good Roads League.

There is no security in the world that is in such great demand as our government bonds—the two per cents. command a premium. In the pending financial legislation it is sought to fix upon other securities as a basis of bank circulation. Against this is much well founded opposition.

The peasants of France invest their surplus in government bonds. It is one of the safeguards against revolution. Let the people have a money interest in the government and it makes them better citizens. They feel a proprietary interest in it.

It would be a great blessing to the country and make for stable financial conditions if the government would issue four or five hundred millions of long time bonds and wisely expend the proceeds for the development of the country by internal improvements. These should be in the order named. Assisting to build good roads. Reclamation of the forests. Improving inland waterways. Irrigation of semi-arid lands. This money properly expended would add ten fold the amount to the wealth of the nation.

The greatest need of this country is good roads. It outranks every other material consideration, measured by the economies that would result and the bettered social conditions that would follow.

The adding of $500,000,000 to the public debt would increase it from $11.00 per capita to $16.50 and that as national debts go is a mere bagatelle. The German debt is $49.00, France, $144; Great Britain, $88.83; Italy, $82.

The issue of $500,000,000 of two per cent. bonds would only increase the annual interest charge from 30 cents to 42 cents per capita.

What should be done to get a great campaign of actual road building started? Let every friend of good roads get after the members of his state legislature for an up-to-date state aid road law, so the state will be in a position to accept national aid and to render state aid. Write letters to your congressmen urging national aid for road building. Keep at it and the relief will come. Form a Good Roads league and keep at it.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE TILDEN CAKE.

"Now my Pa's a Republican And Ma's a Democrat. And when there's nothing else to say, They argue over that." One day Ma made a dandy cake. She said: "Costs little too! Two cups sugar, one of milk, And three large eggs will do." Three cups of flour she sifted in And one scant cup of butter. "The name of this is Tilden cake," I heard Ma gently mutter. And then she put some leavening in. And flavored it to taste. But as she put it in the oven Out comes Pa in haste. "Good wife, is this a put-up job? Or merely a mistake? You know no good Republican, Can eat of Tilden cake!"

Hints for Baking Day. If hot water is used in making pie-crust it will not bend outward, allowing the filling to escape. Put the soda and cream of tartar in the flour, stir the hot water into it, and add melted butter or lard.

If possible, the woman who does her own baking should put the dough into the pans at night to save time and rush in the busy morning hours.

Baked custard will not curdle but will be smooth and firm if the dish containing it be set in a pan of hot water in the oven.

A mitten made of white flannel is a great help to avoid burning the hand when baking. To make it, lay your hand on a piece of cloth and draw around it with a pencil. Cut out, leaving half an inch for seam, and stitch it up. (Of course, the cloth must be double.)

A Dainty Pudding. A delicate dish for hot weather is a pudding made of four tablespoons of cornstarch cooked in three cups of water 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Add cup sugar, one-half cup lemon juice and rind. Cover, to prevent escape of the oil of the lemon, and, when cool, add the well-beaten whites of two eggs. Serve cold with custard made from the egg yolks.

Grass Stains on Linen. They may be removed by soaking the article in kerosene and tightly wrapping for an hour. Then wash in soap and water as hot as the hands can bear.

Enemies of the Dark Tobacco Association.

shall have the right to sit in the meeting of the Board of Directors, and have the right to participate in the proceedings thereof. All of the above conditions and provisions are hereby agreed to by all persons, who are now, or shall hereafter become, shareholders in this Association, and shall accept and hold same subject to all of the above conditions, and all of said conditions shall be fully set out in every certificate of stock.

While in Hopkinsville Monday, President Charles Fort was shown the above statement in defense of the Association, and in refutation of Mr. Warfield's testimony, which he said were correct and which he heartily approved.

The Hopkinsville Independent comments on this subject, editorially, as follows:

THE CAT CAME BACK.

An intelligent and creditable witness, as well as most exemplary and well informed citizen, testified in the Gardner Hunt trial at Clarksville that the Tobacco Association is a corporation with $200 capital, yet with profits amounting to between $100,000 and $200,000 annually. The stock is owned by forty-two stockholders, $4 76 apiece paid in. Now let the public know who these forty-two stockholders are. Give the names to the public may know who is most interested in stirring up all this night rider trouble in the Black Patch to make men join the Association and stay in it, and that the deluded poor trash of the Tobacco Association who do the criminal work get killed may see how they are being used to pull the chesnuts out of the fire for forty-two friends of theirs. Mr. Fort is the President of the Association, Mrs. N. E. Green is the Secretary, and Felix Ewing is the general manager, possibly all stockholders. Let the attorneys for the defense in the Clarksville trial go to the bottom of their exposition of the whole damnable conspiracy, and demand that the books of the Association be brought in that the public may know who profits most by the crimes committed in justice's name.

This company starts out with an imposition on the state by incorporating a $10,000,000 company on $200 capital, and brings about the destruction of a great industry, whips their neighbors, burns buildings, frightens women and children, kills men and destroys cities—Russellville, Hopkinsville, Henderson and Clarksville—in order that the profit heretofore used to sustain the thousands of inhabitants of these cities and their contingent communities may go direct to forty-two stockholders in that patriotic organization incorporated as the Tobacco Association.

The above article from the Nashville American is the vilest slander. No paper in the Black Patch, even if it is owned "body and soul" by corporations and trusts, as the American is said to be, can be so wantonly ignorant of the facts. There can be no reason for so preventing the truth except a desire to slander. Elsewhere in this issue we publish the wording of the certificate held by the forty-two stockholders, which is plain and self-explanatory. It shows that the stock is valueless as a financial investment, but is issued to perfect a legal corporation, so that the contracts of the organization will stand in law and that the corporation may sue and be sued. The thrust at President Fort and General Manager Ewing is as absurd as it is malicious. Both gentlemen are men of irreproachable character, who for years have given their time, their labor and contributed their money to help pull the farmers out of the bankruptcy into which the trust had thrown them. To slay such men, as the American has done, is libelous, but when any paper so far forgets itself as to put in the name of a lady, too, that is one in deed and in truth, as is the secretary, Mrs. N. E. Green, then chivalrous men everywhere should rise up and call a halt.

Mrs. Green has labored earnestly for the success of the Association, and by keen insight and a woman's diplomacy has done much to aid the organization. She is a woman of the greatest refinement, capable and efficient in the discharge of her duties, and the American, in trying to serve its "trusts masters" has overstepped the bounds of decent journalism in putting the name of this cultured woman in the above editorial. It is surprising to see how afraid trust papers and agents are that the farmers and "deluded poor trash" will lose five cents through the Association, when the trust which has for years kept the farmers as white slaves, stealing the necessities of life from them and their families. To refer to the poorer farmers as "poor trash" is characteristic of many trust irelings but the time will come, yes, has come, when the tobacco trust will no longer be able to make "poor trash" out of men who are the bone and sinew of the country. Although the trusts are trying to dislodge farmers from the Association by not buying Association tobacco until they are forced to do so the farmers are saying in return: "Close up the salerooms if necessary until the trust is anxious to buy, for we will perish before will surrender." Yes, trust papers may malign the officials of the Association and call the members "poor trash," but it will take more than this to disrupt the organization.
