MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY NOV. 12, 1908.

NUMBER 24

CRITTENDEN COUNTY CO'RT

Regular Term October Twelfth, Nineteen Hundred And Eight.

JUDGE W. A. BLACKBURN PRESIDING.

WHEREAS M. S. Wilson and others filed with the Clerk of this Court and in open Court on the 14th day of September, 1908, a petition signed by more than ten of the legal colored voters of Marion Common School District No. "D" for colored children in Crittenden county which petition was endorsed by a majority of the Trustees of said District and by the Superintendent of Common Schools for said County and said petitioners being tax payers in said Common School District, praying the Judge of the Crittenden County Court to have an order made on his order book, ordering the sheriff, whose duty it is to hold Election, to open a poll or cause it to be done, at the next regular state, town or city election to be held therein or on any other day fixed by the Judge of said Court in the order, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal colored voters in said School District upon the proposition, as to whether a graded Common School shall be established and maintained by the levy and collection for that purpose of a tax of Fifty Cents on each One Hundred Dollars worth of property in said District owned by colored persons and by Corporations and a poll tax of $1.50 on each colored inhabitant therein over 21 years of age, for the purpose of maintaining a Graded Common School for colored children in said District, and for the erection and repairing of suitable buildings therefor. Said District to be bounded as follows: Viz: Beginning at what is known as the Chris Woodall farm, thence to Wildfield Hughes farm, thence to Henry Swaneys, thence to a farm known as the Bill Paris farm, thence to John Fritts' place, thence to James Sullenger's place, thence to the beginning.

It is therefore ordered by the Court, that the sheriff, of Crittenden county, do open or cause to be opened, a poll in Marion Common School District No. "D" on the 8th day of December, 1908, from 6 o'clock a. m., to 4 o'clock p. m., at the School House for colored children in said District, to take the sense of the legal colored voters of said District upon the proposition whether or not they will vote an annual tax of 50 cents on each One Hundred Dollars of property belonging to colored citizens and Corporations, and a poll tax of $1.50 on each colored male inhabitant over 21 years of age residing in said District for the purpose of maintaining a Graded Common School in said District, and for the erection and repairing of suitable buildings therefor as provided in Article 10, Section 100, and following of the Common School Law.

A Copy Attest;

C. E. A. ELDON, Clerk C. C. C.

Notice is hereby given, that in obedience to the above order of the County Court of Crittenden county, I will hold an election at the time and place indicated, from 6 o'clock a. m., to 4 o'clock p. m., for the purposes set out in said order. Those who may vote are all colored males over twenty-one years of age, who have been residents of the proposed Graded Common School District for sixty days, and in the county six months and in the state one year, preceeding the day of said election, dated the 9th day of November, 1908.

Signed,

J. F. FLANARY,

24-3t Sheriff of Crittenden county.

ATTENTION ! TOBACCO GROWERS.

The meeting on Saturday, November 14th is to be your meeting, with all other farmers your invited guests.

Let us make every effort to make it a decided success. The Society of Equity intends to stand behind you, and wants to meet with all other farmers, of whatever organization they may be, on that day, and bid them, God speed, in their work.

Had you ever thought that two-thirds of the producers of this county are not enrolled on the membership books of any regular farmer's organization? Such is the case however. We must organize and get closer together and stick!

Let every member of the A. S. of E. consider himself a committee of one, to not only come out himself, but see that his neighbor comes, also.

We expect some of the best speakers in the state. Let us give them a royal welcome. M. F. P.

THE ELECTION IS NOW OVER.

The election is over and like good citizens and patriotic Americans we must accept the nation's verdict and settle down to business again, with the knowledge that farmers cannot vote prosperity into their pockets; but they must labor just the same, and by organization and co-operation demand equity for the fruits of their toil.

We notice that from the wreck of Democracy on November, a grateful people secured besides our own Ollie, three other champions of the tobacco growers in Kentucky Bob Thomas, Owsley Stanly and Campbell Cantrill. The latter two being especially assailed by the tobacco trust. These four men will make it hot for Senator Aldrich this winter in Washington if he persists in opposing the six cent reduction on tobacco.

BRETHREN!—Don't forget that profitable prices, and stability of prices can only be had by organization. So let us go to work and double our membership this winter. Let each one win one other to our cause, and the work will be done. M. F. P.

BUMPER WHEAT CROP IN DAVIESS

Farmers Are Sowing The Seed in The Dust, Which, It Is Said, Means A Big Return.

If the old adage, "Sow your wheat in the dust if you want a good crop," proves true, there is going to be a bumper crop of the great cereal in Daviess county next year. The farmers are now very busy sowing wheat, and the ground is so dry that it is dusty, and the grain is being sown in the dry dirt. It is claimed that the old adage quoted was never known to fail. The acreage to be sown in Daviess county this year will not exceed that of last year.—Owensboro Inquirer.

NOTE—Time of meeting has been changed from Friday to Saturday.

97 YEARS OLD AND NEVER MISSED AN ELECTION.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 7.—For the seventy-sixth time in his life "Jack Wood" one of the foremost citizens, of Trigg county, voted the democratic ticket last Tuesday. The ballot was cast at the voting precinct at Roaring Spring and to reach the polling place Mr. Wood was forced to ride three miles over some of the roughest and hilliest roads in the county. This he did though and kept his record of "never having missed an election or scratched a ticket" clear.

Mr. Wood recently passed his ninety-seventh birthday. He began voting just after his twenty-first birthday. Despite his advanced age he is still hale and hearty and talked to his friends that were gathered at the voting place when he voted last Tuesday. He expects to see several more elections roll around and says he will continue to cast his ballot each time if he can possibly get to the polls.

YOUNG CHILD KILLED WITH A SHOT GUN

While Playing With A Gun at His Home Near Goering, almost Killed Instantly.

Grover, the little seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hale, who reside near Goering, was almost instantly killed at their home on last Friday from a gun-shot wound. The father and two or three of his little children were in a room together. The mother was in an adjoining room. A loaded shot gun lay upon the bed in the room with the father. The position of the gun was up and down the length of the bed. A smaller child was on the bed with the gun, while the unfortunate boy was on the floor at the foot of the bed. He reached for the gun while his father was not looking, and pulled it toward him. The supposition is that the hammer caught in the bed clothing. The gun was discharged and the entire load passed through the foot-board of the bed and into the stomach of the boy. The wood from the bed was carried into the wound and the little fellow was knocked to the floor. He staggered in an effort to rise, but fell again and expired in five minutes.—The Hawesville Clairon.

COUNTY UNION A. S. OF E.

Met in Call Session at Marion, October Twenty-Fourth Nineteen Hundred and Eight.

DELEGATES FROM ALL LOCAL UNIONS.

The Crittenden County Union A. S. of E. was called to order by President A. F. Wolf in call session.

The Union Locals in the county sent delegates as follows:—

Marion Local No. 4327, P. C. Stephens, J. W. Johnson and J. P. Pierce. Olive Branch Local—M. K. Given, J. B. Allen and T. B. Kemp. Shady Grove Local—H. P. Sigler. Odessa—Mr. Vincen. Frances—M. F. Pogue, W. O. Wickler and G. A. Franklin.

Dempsey—Charlie Dempsey and C. B. Eddings. Post Oak Seminary and Repton had no delegates.

The committee appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws for Crittenden County Union, A. S. of E., were allowed until the next regular county meeting to make a report.

A. F. Wolfe, our Crittenden County Delegate to the National A. S. of E. Call Meeting, held in Milwaukee, Wis., the first week in October 1908, made a statement as to the financial condition of the National Organization of the A. S. of E., which statement showed the National Organization to be in debt and out of funds to pay the present indebtedness or to meet future obligations.

Our delegate, Mr. Wolfe, pledged fifty ($50) dollars for Crittenden county's share to place the National Organization in working shape and to again start the official organ, The Equity Farm Journal.

An estimate was made as to the membership in the county, and it was decided that twenty (20c) cents per member in the county would pay, or vary near so, the fifty dollars pledged. Motion carried, that each Local in Crittenden county ask each of their members to pay an additional fee of twenty cents per member, so as to start the official organ again.

J. P. Pierce, R. F. Wheeler and J. W. Johnson were appointed a reporter committee to meet the next regular meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union, of Crittenden county, to confer with them as to a local price setting or suggesting.

Motion that we as a County Union A. S. of E., make arrangements for an Equity Rally, to be held in the town of Marion, Kentucky, November 14th, 1908, carried.

The committee appointed to make arrangements are as follows:—S. M. Jenkins, R. F. Wheeler, M. F. Pogue, B. L. Wilborn, and J. P. Pierce.

Motion to adjourn to meet again the second Saturday in January 1908, carried.

A. F. WOLF, President.

W. E. SMITH, Secretary.

MAY ASK MARSHALL TO RETURN TAYLOR

Attempt to Have Wilson Bring Back The Fugitives of Justice of Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 7.—Arthur

Goebel conferred here to-day with Commonwealth's Attorney Robt. B. Franklin with reference to requesting Governor Wilson for a requisition upon Governor Marshall, of Indiana, when he takes his seat, for the return of W. S. Taylor and Charles Finley to Kentucky for trial upon the indictment pending against them in the Franklin circuit court charging them with complicity in the murder of Governor William Goebel.

Taylor was the republican contestee for governor and Finley secretary of state when the murder of Goebel occurred in the state house square. Three republican governors of Indiana have since refused to deliver the men to the Kentucky authorities for trial on the grounds that they would not secure fair trials.

Church Ordination.

The church at Piney Creek met September 9, 1908, for the purpose of ordaining Brother J. B. McNeely to the work of the gospel ministry; also to ordain Brothers L. E. Jennings, Deller Wordall and Albert Elkins deacons.

The Presbytery was composed of Elders W. R. Gibbs, J. S. Henry, E. B. Blackburn and J. W. Vaughn. Elder W. R. Gibbs was elected moderator and C. C. Woodall clerk.

Brother McNeely, at the request of the presbytery, preached the ordination sermon. Text, Acts 2: 47, "The Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

The candidates were questioned by the moderator on the articles of faith and the laying on of hands by the presbytery.

Ordination prayer by Elder J. W. Vaughn. Elder J. S. Henry delivered the charge to the candidates, and Elder E. B. Blackburn delivered the charge to the church.

On motion of Elder J. S. Henry, the Western Recorder and the Record Press were requested to publish the proceedings of this Presbytery. Motion to adjourn. Prayer by J. B. McNeely.

W. R. GIBBS, Mod.

C. C. WOODALL, Clerk.

HAVE THEIR NINTH ELECTION BABY

Mr. and Mrs. Sperry Happy Though the Republicans Win.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 7. Despite the fact that the republicans had a great victory in New Jersey and Washington, E. L. Sperry, a prominent local democrat, is just as pleased to-day has if Bryan had been elected.

His pleasure is due to the arrival of his usual election baby. Mr. Sperry has now nine children, seven boys and two girls, all born on election day. He has been defeated twice as common council nominee from his home ward by small majorities, but hopes that his family will increase to such an extent as to insure his election some time.

Sale Notice.

On Saturday, Nov. 28, 1908, I will offer for sale on the George Drewy farm, between Baker school house and Rosebud church, one mare, horse, one, pair young mules, one cow and calf, one wagon and harness, one buggy and harness, one riding cultivator, 75 bushels of corn, six shoats, plows, etc.

A Tribute to Father.
Nobody knows of the money it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the debt it makes,
Nobody knows but father.

Nobody's told that the boys need shoes
And girls' hats with a feather;
Nobody else old clothes must choose,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody hears that the coal and wood
And flour's out together;
Nobody else must make them good,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody's hand in the pocket goes
So often, wondering whether There's any end to the want of those Dependent—only father.

Nobody thinks where the money will Come,
To pay the bills that gather;
Nobody feels so blue and glum;
Nobody—but father.

Nobody tries so hard to lay
Up something for bad weather,
And runs behind, do what we may,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody comes from the world's cruel
Storm,
To meet dear ones who gather
Around with loving welcome warm,
Nobody does—but father.

Nobody knows of the home life pure,
Watched over by a mother,
Where rest and bliss are all secure,
Nobody can—but father.

Don't Dump on the Market.
Some say they won't hold their cotton any more. If enough say that and act we will see cotton sell for five or six cents, the old price received before farmers began to do business like other business people. This is the year to hold. The reason that cotton has run down now is because they think the farmers are going to dump again this year, but just as soon as they see that you intend to hold for a just price, cotton will go up. If we farmers had the nerve that the bankers had last fall, bulk our cotton and issue script, say $30 to $50 per bale for twelve months bearing interest, you would soon see where the price would go. Now, we can do that, but will we? You know the bankers met and put whatever kind of paper they had up with a committee as collateral and then issued a certain per cent of scrip on that collateral and you know there is no security as good as cotton insured in a warehouse.

The Burnett (Tex.) Bulletin editor says that people want to pay high for what they get, which is one way of keeping money in circulation. He says: "The average man on given occasions acts curiously. Let cattle go out of sight and almost every man will not only decline to sell, but will bend his energies to buy more. Let sheep reach the top notch and every man who can run sheep not only keeps what he has, but buys more. Let horses sell for twice what they are worth and every man in the community becomes a horse dealer. Let hogs go up and everybody wants hogs. Cotton at 12c looks too good to go, while at 8c the market is glutted with the staple. Several years ago when land could be bought for a song nobody wanted it, but today with the price almost prohibitive the country is land mad."

Farmers' Organization.
It seems to be universal of all the people who take an interest in cotton to credit the influences exerted in favor of the producer, for the comparatively good price the lint has brought during the entire season. This is true with spinners, merchants, students and farmers. In fact, I hear almost daily remarks tending that way, some going so far as to say had it not been for these influences cotton would have gone to six cents. The producer has made himself felt and should be accordingly proud of it; should resolve to stand by these influences, be guided by the same leaders and support such papers as have proven loyal to the cause of the great army of cotton growers. Of the 1908 crop let all resolve the crop will be marketed slowly and that every support possible will be given those who are fighting for higher prices. —Searcy (Ark.) News.

If you can arrange it so as to have three or four of them hatching at the same time you can double up the broods with one or two hens and put the others to laying again sooner and the chicks will be easier cared for.

National Cotton Committee Issues Address.

Is there any good reason why the cotton producer should sell his product today for three cents per pound less than he did three months ago? We do not think there is. We are further removed from the panic now than we were then. Business conditions have improved in all lines. The demand for cotton goods has increased wonderfully in that time. While cotton is too cheap to sell the unusual has happened in the price of grain and meat. Corn has maintained its high level up to harvest time, and is now selling for $1.00 per bushel. Wheat is worth $1.00 and flour has advanced fifteen cents per barrel this week. Meat is selling at mid-summer prices. So it is with everything except cotton. There is no legitimate cause for this lethargy and consequent loss of many millions to the South. South Carolina and Georgia will produce much less cotton than last year. Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas are short, and Oklahoma crops are late and very much less than one year ago. Texas alone shows a small increase, but her gains cannot make up the loss in other States. The visible supply was considerably less September 1st, 1908, than it was September 1st, 1907. The invisible supply and mill stocks are smaller than for years. The amount of old cotton still in the hands of the farmers has been much exaggerated. There is not enough in their hands to figure materially in the world's supply. The stocks of goods are depleted all along the line from the local merchant to the factory floors. A small visible supply, a reduced invisible supply, a crop no larger if as large as last year, the retail merchant's shelves bare, the jobbers' shelves bare, the mill stocks depleted combined make a good showing for higher prices. To make the situation more acute, we have an increased demand for all kinds of cotton goods. In our opinion this is the opportunity of the South to assert herself and bring general prosperity to her citizens. This is a time when concert of action will count for much. Cotton today should be selling for 12-15 cents if natural conditions had anything to do with its price. It is now selling for less because growers are pessimistic about the price and sell too freely. The slow marketing of the crop will certainly advance the price. Fair values will benefit every interest in the South as much as it will the cotton producers themselves. We feel that every patriotic citizen should and will co-operate with us in our effort to market this crop as the world needs it, instead of following that most senseless policy of giving the world a twelve months' supply in three months. The farmers who are not members of our organization, the supply merchants, the cotton commission merchants, the country and city banks, and the professional men should co-operate with us, but they cannot do so effectively without organization. We therefore appeal to all these interests to co-operate with our holding agencies or from organizations of their own, appoint committees to confer with like committees from other bodies and let that general conference be known as a cotton congress. This would unify every interest in the South in one harmonious co-operative plan for general prosperity of our common country. Each farmer, each business man, each professional man, each commission cotton house, and each bank could invest in a few bales of cotton at the present low price and put such cotton into a dead cotton account, thus taking it off the market indefinitely. Such action would result in advancing the price of the remainder of the crop until it will sell for more than the whole crop.

With the price advanced, this dead supply of cotton could be sold for a profit on the investment. Such results can be secured by co-operation, and we urge upon every southern man who loves his home and his country, to get busy. We believe that not a bale of this crop should sell for less than 12-15 cents.

The Farmers' Union National Cotton Committee, G. R. Hightower, Sec., Memphis, Tenn.

The next annual meeting of the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers will be held in Washington, D. C., Nov. 15-17.

One of the ugliest acts of journalistic ill manners was the act of the newspapers in prying in and claiming to have found out the minimum price for cotton set by the Farmers' Union, and publishing that price to the world in unseemly haste after telling the world that the farmers were trying to keep it a secret. We guess the farmers will stand for it, though. They have a reputation for licking the hand that smites them.—Abilene Farmers' Journal.

It is all right to have an aim in life provided we don't aim too long when out shooting.

Have strictly Farmers' Union picnics. Let all net proceeds of stands, etc., go to the Union treasury to help pay speakers and other necessary expenses. By so doing the outsiders will help keep the Union going and they should help some. If the members of the Union are benefited by the organization, everybody who, except the grater is likewise benefited. He is and doing "the fields are ripe with harvest."—Union Advocate, (Okla.)

'Tis a Dinky Little World.
A cashier in a downtown bank,
With a knack for manipulation,
Began to manipulate the funds,
Hence his chase through all creation.

They caught him going up the Nile
On a most palatial steamer,
And they brought him back to old U. S.
On a serious misadventure.
His pride was slight, (he was his pilot,
He'd not much left but sail,
And he thought, thought, thought,
As they brought him back.

'Tis a dinky little world, after all!

A man with a wife and family of kids,
Found his entry into another
He left them all and went with her
To this place and the other;
They settled down in Mexico.
In a set of white adobe
And he fondly thought that in old
U. S.

He had left his domestic load;
A tourist, idly rambling about,
Espied them in their kral,
And he thought, thought, thought,
As they brought him back,
'Tis a dinky little world, after all.

There's several parties in the swim
That'll catch it on the hip;
There's going to be some tumbles
From the Presidential ship.
The Dem's and Rep's and Soc's and

Have greatest expectations,
And soon there'll be a looking up
Of various reputations;
The losing ones in old U. S.
When recovered from their fall,

As their minds come back,
'Tis a dinky little world, after all.

The Price of Cotton.

Even though weather conditions continue favorable to the cotton crop during the balance of the season, and even though a bumper yield is assured, there is no certainty that actual cotton will be available in any considerable quantities at 8c or less within the next four months. Planters did not secure as much for last year's crop as they hoped, yet the majority are well satisfied with their profits, in other words they regard the season's campaign for higher prices as having been successful; anything above 10c for cotton spells success in the eyes for most growers. The Farmers' Union with its membership of more than one million has been steadily increasing its warehouses for storing the crop, and has improved and expanded its plan for financing the season's yield in a proportionate manner. Whatever may have been the actual measure of success of last year's holding movement, it is generally admitted that it was eminently successful in preventing the flooding of the market with cotton at low prices early in the season. Because of greater experience and capacity it may be expected to prove much more successful during the next four to six months than it was during the same period last season. The manufacturer or spinner who contracts to deliver yarn or goods during the next six months at prices on a basis of 8c cotton is accepting a mighty big risk. Buyers of yarns and goods who are not now eager to purchase on such a basis will do well to make a careful study of the future of the market from the standpoint mentioned.—Textile Manufacturers' Journal.

The above will prove interesting reading, coming as it does from a well-known trade journal published in the interest of manufacturers of cotton and woolen fabrics. The editor of the Journal, it will be seen, is not expecting cotton to reach a very low level unless farmers become demoralized and throw their cotton on the market as soon as gathered and ginned. Now that farmers are learning the lesson that it is best to market their cotton slowly and as needed by the manufacturer, there is little likelihood that cotton will ever again reach the 5c and 6c mark. The manufacturer would rather buy his cotton from the producer—buying as he needs it the year round—than from the speculator. If farmers will hold part of their cotton and sell it as needed it stands to reason that one year with another a better price can be secured than if marketed as soon as gathered.—Texas Stockman and Farmer.

When you take the hen and chicks from the nest grease the hen lightly under the wings and along the breast with a little fresh lard (no salt). This will assist in getting rid of any mites or lice on the little ones. Use no grease about the nests before they are hatched.

The Kitchen Cabinet

THE MAN AND THE MENU.

WALKED into the restaurant.
This grow-up farmer's
He'd come to see the sights, you bet,
And a good time enjoy.
The waiter beckoned him to come,
Pulled out for him a chair,
Then handed him a menu card,
With supercilious air.
He pondered on the bill of fare,
Disgusted—"What's the use
Of 'Tenderloins en caserole'
And 'Chicken a la Russa'?"

"Say, waiter, is this casseroles
'A pound of a peck'?"
And chicken livers en brochette?
How do the darned things taste?"

"Don't bring me any 'a la' stunts;
Of mustard or 'Dread' eggs.
Let's see," he scratched his head awhile
"Gosh! bring me ham and eggs!"

Currents and the Simple Life.
The latest to come forward in favor of the "Simple Life" is the famous German physician Dr. Ott, who attends many of the fashionables who throng the famous Spa of Marienbad. He denounces in strong terms excessive eating and drinking in his homily on foods called "Simplicity with Moderation."

Commenting on it, Sir Francis Laiking in attendance on King Edward VII, adds his influence on the side of temperance in eating, and winds up with an exhortation to people to eat more of "the wholesome and sustaining current." Currant-bread, currant jam, currant cake, or just the plain berries sweetened and taken after dinner are recommended as extremely beneficial.

A Tasty Left Over.
Whatever it is—lamb, veal, beef—anything in the way of meat—chicken, if one, add the same quantity of boiled rice, season well, add minced onion, and a teaspoon of curry powder. Make into croquettes and fry in deep fat. If the curry flavor is not liked, omit it, a bit of chopped green pepper may be added instead.

Home-Made Soda Water.
Into a glass half full of cold water put the juice of a lemon and a table-spoon of sugar. Add as much baking soda as will stay on the end of a tea-spoon; stir briskly and drink it while effervescent. It is a healthful glass for the children.

Chas. Carter, Arthur.

The Automobile Here to Stay.
One of my newspaper friends out West has always been very much against automobiles. He roared them in his paper until it appeared that it would not be safe for an automobile to enter the state. He urged the farmers to get on their swiftest horses, arm themselves with their longest range guns and go after them. Just lately Henry, the dear old boy, has changed his tactics. He now preaches the automobile will be on every farm, and I quite agree with him.—M. M. Johnson, Nebraska.

It is to the credit of American farmers that more attention is now given to farm crops than at any previous time in our history, and with the result that farmers are making more money than ever before.

Some men just love to tell their troubles to somebody. But these fellows usually fail to tell them to their wives, and that is where they make a big mistake.

DYNAMITE TO BE USED IN BLOWING UP FARMERS' ORGANIZATIONS.

Governor Willson is Said to Have Urged This Step in His Speech at Madisonville.

The Madisonville Journal, in an account of the speech of Governor Augustus E. Willson at that place, quotes him as saying some things that our farmers, and especially those who belong to the Society of Equity, ought to know. The Journal says:

"He devoted a portion of his time to complimenting the Roosevelt administration, and stating what a good time we would all have when Taft was elected, but the great bulk of his remarks was directed against various organizations of farmers, which he classed as lawless organizations composed of night riders. The Governor believed in law and order, though he did not attempt to explain his lawlessness in making Kentucky a military government. Instead of a civil government. He was in favor of the organization of the farmers when they were lawful organizations, but when they were lawless, as these organizations now are, he was in favor of putting dynamite under them and blowing them up."

"Without mentioning any particular organization, he said that these present farmer organizations were created and assembled by lawless people for the purpose of serping plant beds, burning and otherwise destroying property and for murder, and that this lawlessness had never been shut down on by the farmer organizations. The farmers get into these organizations to rob banks and commit murder. He said the farmers should resent of their wrongs and get on the side of the right. When they get into these associations now they get into a trap. He had placed his soldiers around in different parts of Kentucky, because he had a right to do it, but he was not only glad to do it, but he was proud of those soldiers. Not one of them had ever violated a law nor disgraced the uniform he wore."

"The Governor said that the publican party stood for law and order and the Democratic party did not. That the night riders were Democrats and they were all for A. O. Stanley in this district. He was in a whole other because the night riders were for him for Congress, and he advised all men to vote against the man who is the candidate of the night riders." (Bowling Green Messenger.)

I attended the forty-third annual convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Association at Newport Oct. 8, 9, 10, 11, 1908. It was the best in every respect. Some things learned at the convention. It is impossible for non-Christian organizations to run alone. Every law-breaker is together—the gambler, saloon keepers, etc., are in union, so if we make a strong fight we must stand together. Complete Sunday school is one that looks after every member and looks after them in every phase of life, from the cradle to the grave. Parents must not depend altogether on the Sunday school to bring their children to Christ, but the Sunday school is a great factor. The secretary should keep a personal record of the boys and see that they are all in the house, in the church. If not send a record of it to their parents. New Kentucky homes must erect family altars with old-time religion. We are thinking too much of dollars, too little of God. When we pray we speak to God. When we preach we preach to the people. When we read the Bible God speaks to us. How often does God speak to you?

All great work must be done at white heat. Spirit of this world is to hurry—no time for "good"—not the spirit of religion. Christian growth—on I growing, are you stronger than you were years ago? Am I growing stronger? Life is real life is earnest. I want to work thoroughly—must use every moment redeeming the time. Are you thinking less of yourself and more of others? Are you growing in earnestness, diligence, knowledge, skill, faithfulness, usefulness, meekness, patience, forgiveness and charity?

Myself—think of thyself. Are you casting out habits? Your body, the holy temple, you are a constant battery. Take care of your ambition, gift study, meditation, worship and service.

Giving is part of the service. We should teach our children to worship in giving. We are very far behind in giving. What will we do? Will we stay in the banner list? We need co-operation, pastors, superintendents, teachers and Sunday school workers. Will you help us?

I think we have plenty of workers in the country to keep our work up if we all will lend a helping hand. What will you do? I will be glad to have the names and addresses of all who will give some time or money to the work. I will be glad to hear from any place in the county where you need help—will do all I can for you.

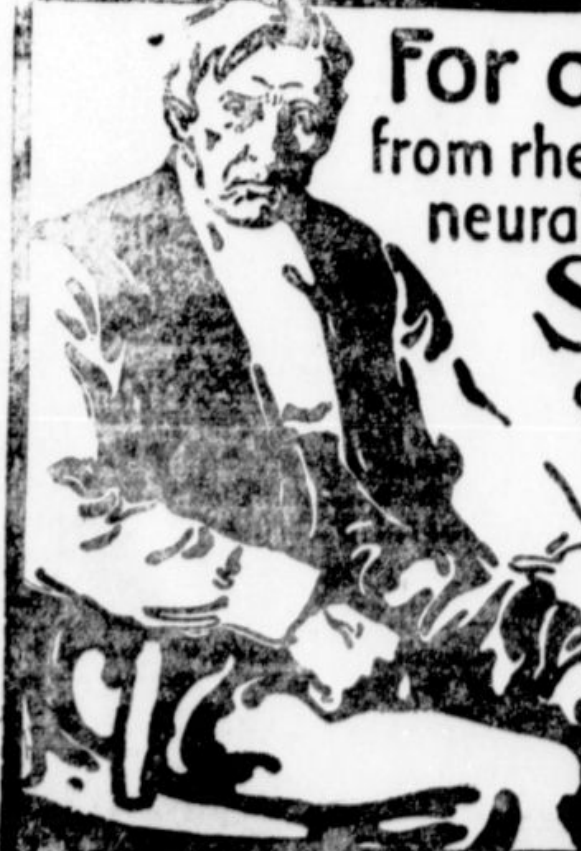

Thanking those who have helped us in any way in the work, yours for service.

County President

A LETTER FROM NORTH DAKOTA

A Crittenden County Boy Tells Something of Soldier Life.

St. Lincoln, N. D., Nov. 2, '08.
Editor Crittenden Press:—Not hearing anything from my home town, Sheridan, I will write you a few lines and hope you will see fit to publish this in the dear old Record-Press. I would like to hear from all the good people of Crittenden county through the Record-Press, as I can not hear from all of them by letter.

I still like soldier life and think it is grand to be a soldier of Uncle Sam now, since he has increased our pay and improved our rations and,
best of all, we don't have to "chike"
but three days out of each month,
and they come all at the same time together.

Practice marches, as they are properly called, begin the first of April and end the first of October, that is, in the department here in Dakota, on account of this being a cold climate; though we had a very mild winter last year, and it seems like we are going to have another one this time. I hope so, any way, for they say the winter weather here is something furious.

I hope to hear by this time that old Kentucky is at peace together with the night riders. It is a shame that such a highly honored state to be enemies with each other.

Wishing your paper much success and all its readers, I will close for his time.

Irving H. Wheatcroft Buys
A Large Breeding Farm.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 9.—J. B.
Haggin, the New York millionaire, one of the greatest land owners Kentucky has ever known, has decided to sell part of his great farm, Elmendorf. This decision was made by Mr. Haggin after election of Hughes became assured.

Irving H. Wheatcroft, of Canada, who bought nearly a hundred thoroughbreds at the McGrathian sale, has been looking for a farm on which to place the horses, and it is reported that he and Haggin have closed a deal whereby the Canadian will become master of the Briar Hill Farm which, although not a part, lies near Elmendorf.

mothers of Alabama against the liquor traffic, the following card was effectively used:

From a bushel of corn the distiller gets four gallons of whiskey.
Which retails at $16.80
The farmer gets 45
The U. S. government gets 4.40
The railroad company gets80
The manufacturer gets 4.00
The drayman gets15
The retailer gets 7.00
The consumer gets Drunk
The wife gets Hungry
The children get Rags
The politician gets Office
The man who votes license gets.
What?

BIRD SEASON

Will Open in Kentucky on Sunday
November Fifteenth.

One of the busiest and happiest men in the world at this time of the year is easy to find—the hunter.
Although going about his usual routine of business he is planning and scheming and arranging for the time, place and supplies for a hunt.
The game that is now interesting is the quail, which will be ripe on and after November fifteenth in Kentucky.

What Are You Going to Plant
In The Electric Light Lake.

Persons passing the lake near the Electric Light Plant last week, were amazed to see teams plowing up the bed of the lake, or a good part of it, and begun to ask questions like the above. The fact is that the lake has dried up, and is being deepened and enlarged. The drought this season has proven beyond doubt, that Marion needs more water and the light plant especially is one enterprise which requires lots of water hence the decision to take advantage of the dry spell to work on it.

Teams and scrapers were put in after the plot was plowed, and the dirt dumped over the dam. The work was begun Thursday of last week, and was interrupted by the rain Monday night, but will be completed
this week.

THE ORGANIZER.

Equity organizers can always prove themselves to be in good standing. For this purpose and to detect imposters the following catechism should be used:
As he approaches your station, you should meet him under the step, du-guard and sign that you are up to snuff yourself and put him through as follows:
As a stranger, from whence came you?

From the town of St. Johns, Mich.
What came you here to do?

To rake in a few members for Equity and run up a hotel bill.

Then you are an organizer, I presume?

I am so taken and accepted by the State Union.

How may I know you to be an organizer?

By my check and certain black and blue spots behind. Try me.

How will you be tried?

By the "Squire".

Because the "Squire" is a magistrate and an emblem of stupidity.

Where were you first led to be an organizer?

In my mind.

Where next?

In the office of the office of the State Union, at Madison.

How were you married?

By being divorced of my last cent,
my check rubbed down with a bribe,
a bunton plaster over each eye the office towel in my hand for a staff, in which condition I was conducted to the door of the office.

You being blind and most probably drunk, how did you know it to be a door?

By first stepping into the coal hod and afterwards bumping my head against the door knob.

How gained you admission?

By the benefit of my check.
Had you the required check?

I had it not, my guide had it for me.

In due form, and I hate to think of it.

What was that due form?

I was seated on the teeth of a cross-cut saw, No. 10 tacks between each toe, my left hand holding a copy of the Wisconsin Equity News, my right resting on a Canadian thistle, in which condition I took upon myself the solemn obligation of an organizer.

Repeat that obligation.

I, (giving his name,) do hereby and hereon, most solemnly, outrageously and everlastingly swear that I will always conceal and never reveal the fix I am now in to any person in the world except he has already been put through the same mill himself.

I further swear, by Jimminy Crickets that I will take three dollars from every man I meet for a membership in the American Society of Equity falling which I will steal his mother-in-law, three sheep and a sack of potatoes unless he gets first chance and does me first.

What was then asked you?

What I most desired.

Your answer?

To get up off of that saw.

What did you then behold?

A copy of Dun's reports showing the great prosperity of the farmers to be as good or a little better than Morgan, Carnegie or Rockefeller.

Upon the report noted a pair of scissors, in one pan of which was a schedule of the farm assets of the United States and in the other a small brass jackass. They both balanced.

What did this emblem signify?

That nobody but a jackass would believe it.

Did this teach you a lesson?

You bet.

Shake, brother, will you be off or from?

Both for three dollars and I will throw in two good papers for a while.

TAYLOR & CANNAN

F. W. Nunn, dentist, Press Building

George T. Belt, of the Sheridan neighborhood, was in the city Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Olive arrived last week to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Olive.

Mrs. Margaret E. Campbell, of Shady Grove, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Hubbard.

Rev. Martin Miller was called to Crayne Monday to preach the funeral sermon at the burial of Mrs. A. C. Deboe daughter of Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Glenn, of Ed-dyville are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. W. T. McConnell, this week.

Mrs. W. T. James and little daughter, Thelma, of Paducah, are the guests of friends and relatives in the city.

Mrs. Fannie Koon, of New Bethel was here Monday on business and was a guest of Rev. Martin Miller and wife at dinner.

LOST.—On the streets of Marion, a chateleine brooch of Roman gold. Will pay for its return.

Mrs. A. J. Driskill.

J. C. Lowery and wife were in the city Monday, the guests of J. W. Goodloe and wife.

Mrs. Eliza Deboe and daughter, Era, of North Main street, went to Crayne Monday to attend the funeral service of her niece, Mrs. Traylor.

A. A. Deboe and wife, of Iron Hill, attended the funeral service of their relative, Mrs. Traylor, at Crayne Monday.

Judge Thomas Evans, of Smith-land, passed through the city Monday enroute home from St. Vincent, where his daughter, Miss Elaine, is at school.

Mrs. Terry, who lives on College street, this city, is recovering from the effects of severe injuries sustained by falling on the paved sidewalk several weeks ago while going home from church.

Mrs. Marshall Jenkins entertained the musical club Saturday afternoon, it being the initial meeting of the season. The program contained solos by Miss Ellis Gray and Miss Sallie Woods. Duets and vocal solos by Mesdames Walker, Orme and Noggle. Mrs. Jenkins was chosen president and Miss Ellis Gray secretary and treasurer. Refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, with chocolate sauce, nut cake and stuffed dates. The club will meet next with Miss Harris, at Dr. F. W. Nunn's residence.

F. W. Nunn, dentist, Press Building

J. C. Wallace and family left yesterday for Popular Bluff, Mo., where they will reside. He and his family have many friends here who regret their departure.

J. L. Stewart has moved to his studio on Salem street, over Gilbert's grocery store. He will give, until Dec. 10, one 11x14 Enlarged Picture of each subject ordering a dozen of our cabinet-size photographs at $5.00 a doz., the regular price of the photographs alone.

Rev. Martin Miller preached a strong sermon Sunday morning to a large congregation at the Baptist church. The new pastor was given the closest attention throughout his discourse, which was evidence that his message was received in the spirit in which it was given.

Mrs. Ollie James entertained the "Tea club" Friday. Those present were Mesdames Nat Rochester, Wilbur Haynes, John Blue, Sam Gugenheim, Marshall Jenkins, Charles Moore, John Wilson, George Roberts, Ollie Tucker and Miss Kittie Gray. Refreshments consisting of Orange ice, cake and coffee were served. Mrs. James was assisted by her sister in entertaining her guests and a most delightful afternoon was spent.

Dr. G. W. Stone and H. V. Stone went to Illinois Sunday to visit friends. Thomas W. McConnell and Robert G. Fowler accompanied them as far as the river. Just what they did at the river we do not know, but one rumor has it that they fished, and another one has it that they dug ginseng. Any way, they took their dinner along with them and put in the day at—something.

Mrs. Ruth Thomas James, wife of Congressman Ollie M. James, of this city, besides being one of the most attractive women at the National Capital, has now a new distinction, since her brother, R. Y. Thomas of Central City, was elected to congress from the Third district. Unless we are mistaken no other woman has ever had a brother and husband to sit in the halls of congress at the same time, and as Congressmen James and Congressman-elect Thomas are both young men and are fully awake to the interest of their constituents, the Record-Press ventures the prediction that they will fill the honorable positions for many years to come.

Society in Caseyville.

The most enjoyable sense of social events in the history of Caseyville, are the entertainments given by the O. N. Y. Club, which is composed of an exclusive crowd of young people among the "400" of that place. The Club meets once a week at the residence of one of its members and Mrs. Ben Huronimus gave the initial meeting of the Club last Thursday night, with Miss Roberta McKinley as guest of honor, card games and music were the chief features of the evening, after which a delightful lunch was served.

The second meeting of the Club occurred Saturday night at the home of Miss Frances Heine, and Miss Grace Sipes will entertain the members next Wednesday night at her beautiful home in Mulford town.

The meetings of the Club bids fare to become the most popular of the many social happenings in Caseyville. The members include Mesdames Huronimus, Hienes, Gillespie, Misses Maggie Gore, Frances Heines, Grace Sipes, Mayme and Reta Sifert, Bessie Zimmerman, Helen Lynn, Messrs. Sam Adams, Freeman Gibbs, Seldon Yaeger, Cecil Miller, John Heines, Leonard Lynn, Aubrey Griffin, Arnold Sprague, Ottoman Huronimus, Ellis Orr and Virgil Young.

Home made Brooms.

If you want a good home made broom drop me a card and I will deliver it for 25 cents. They are worth two of the eastern make.

Better Gun Than Rip Van Winkle's

When it comes to handling a gun, there are few better marksmen—outside, perhaps, of the "wild and woolly west"—than J. C. Elder, the popular deputy county clerk. He can use a gun as skillfully as he can a pen, and can knock the black spot out of a target with as much despatch as in issuing a marriage license.

It is evident, however, that Calvin seldom uses firearms. Eight years ago he purchased a gun, loaded it with cartridges and laid it away until such time he should need it. The other day he took it out, thinking he would find it in a condition similar to the famous Rip Van Winkle gun. Without reloading it, he leveled it on a target. The trigger was gently pressed, the hammer came down like a blacksmith's sledge, followed by Vesuvius-like report and the black spot was no more.

Calvin has not yet decided whether it was all owing to the excellence of his gun or his marksmanship.

Backbone of Drought Broken.

Monday night at 10 o'clock welcome peals of thunder and a down-pour of rain were the blessings which came to Marion and vicinity. The dust, which had been so unbearable for several weeks past, is now settled, and housewives can now take pride in trying to "keep the house clean," and the parched earth is refreshed as it has not been for months. The water supply, which had been very low in many places, is replenished and everybody is happy.

NEW SALEM.

Corn all gathered.

Born to the wife of Herman Ladd, November 3, a boy.

One half of our people are hauling water.

Every one should be careful about letting fire get out.

The wheat crop will be a total failure.

Miss Charlie Hayden, of Salem, was a caller in this section Sunday.

Will Davenport and family, of Salem, spent Sunday in this section.

The tobacco crop is ready for stripping, if we could only have rain.

Judge Stevens, of Salem, has postponed his trip to South Africa, and has accepted a position as captain of a pearl-fishing craft on Clayline Creek. Good luck to you, Charlie.

Our kowing ones predict a hard winter. We hope not.

Dycusburg.

Died, at her home near this place, Mrs. Lou Davall Sunday at 2 a. m., of typhoid fever.

Miss Georgia Boaz, of Fredonia visited relatives in town Friday.

Miss Roberta Clifton went to Kuttawa Thursday.

Little John Griffin is recovering from a severe illness.

Norvill McKinney who has been in Missouri for some time has returned home.

Sam Ball, who has been very ill is well again.

Mrs. Sallie Robinson spent several days in Fredonia last week.

Mrs. L. B. Vosier, La Center, is visiting Mrs. Jennie Vosier of this place.

John Boaz is the guest of his niece, Mrs. Owen-Boaz.

BLACFORD.

Tradewater river is lower than ever known before.

Jack Morgan has pneumonia fever. Mrs. Etta Hatley, of Blacford, spent Sunday at this place.

Wass Herrin and family spent Sunday in the country.

H. C. Perkins, of Tribune, was here last week.

Born to the wife of Thos. Henry last Tuesday, a fine boy. As he made his arrival on election day, his proud father will name him "Bill" in honor of the two distinguished candidates.

There is a fine protracted meeting now in progress at the Baptist church at this place.

The remains of the daughter of Will R. Wallace, who died at Monette, Ark., arrived here last week, and were taken to the home of her father, Will R. Wallace, near Bordley, where the funeral took place.

Mr. Justice, of Providence, has opened up a new furniture store here, also an undertaker's shop.

Henry McConnell and wife have returned from New Mexico, where they have been visiting his father, W. J. McConnell, who went there from Crittenden county several months ago.

J. M. Walker, of Iron Hill, was here Saturday.

Porter's "Tuff-Steel" razors are opened for an agent in every town. First come, first served. Printer's ink will keep them constantly before the people and nothing but the truth shall be told.

There is a deal of sickness at present.

Mrs. Brasier, wife of Brooks Brasier, postmaster at Azalea, died Wednesday.

John Cook, of near Kuttawa, died Friday.

The stock barn of B. J. Jarrett was destroyed by fire Friday night.

Forest fires are of frequent occurrence in this community.

Misses Bernice, Hattie and Lyda Peck visited Misses Lena and Novella Rushing Sunday.

Mrs. L. T. Boswell and children visited her father, H. L. Riley, of Caldwell county last week.

J. P. Vanhooser and wife, of Caldwell county, visited his sister, Mrs. F. F. Rushing last week.

We are glad to state that J. H. Reed, who has been confined to his room the past seven weeks with a broken leg, is able to stir around some.

The little son of Tom Sexton, of the Azalea community, is very ill with pneumonia.

We are glad to state that Miss Essie Kirk, who has been very ill with typhoid fever, is convalescent.

We would like to hear from the Walnut Grove correspondent.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE RED FLANNEL ROCKERS.

There lives a quaint old lady, by name, Miss Nancy Brown; And she sits all day a-rockin' in a quaint old rockin' chair, With the red cloth on the rockers so they will keep the silence there.

I wonder if she's thinking of the days of long ago, When mostly any boy around was proud to be her beau, And she and Sammy Mullins were the talk of all the town. When they went to church together—Nancy in her Sunday gown.

I once asked Sam the reason why he tried so hard to win her. He said: "You ought to taste the cake she makes for Sunday dinner." And Nancy blushed and dimpled, and her glance at Sam was killing. As she said: "A simple cake enough; it's orange-flower filling!"

Now that orange-flower water has gone sadly out of style, And orange blossoms never bloomed for Nancy! All this while, Nancy keeps her secret—why they parted, when or where: Silent-like the flannel rockers on her quaint old rockin' chair.

Recipe of Peaches. A delicious dessert is made from a can of peaches beaten until smooth. Add the yolks of four eggs, and one-half pound of sugar, beaten until light. Put these with a pint of mixed milk and cream, and the peaches, into a double boiler and stir until it thickens. Strain and whip until cold. Add two tablespoons of maraschino flavoring. This is good merely chilled, but very nice when frozen.

JOGS TO THE MEMORY.

Soft crackers should be put in the oven a few moments to renew their freshness.

To remove the odor of onions from knife or fingers, wash both in cold water. Hot water "sets" it.

Don't try to mix tomatoes and milk unless both are of the same temperature exactly. They are liable to curdle.

Chocolate should simmer some time to bring out the flavor.

Bacon should be floured before being fried to prevent the escape of all the fat.

Do as much work as you can sitting down.

Any dish (pudding, custard, etc.), which has been flavored with lemon juice or rind, should be kept covered until quite cold, to prevent the escape of the volatile oil during the cooling process.

Pineapple that is to be preserved should be boiled in clear water until quite tender. Putting it into the boiling syrup while raw makes it tough and leathery.

Any of the washing powders on the market are better if used in this way. Place the contents of a package in a wide-mouthed jar; pour over it a pint of boiling water. When it is cool it will be a convenient soft soap, ready for use.

To keep the egg beater, the grater, or the vegetable strainer clean, tie them in a bag, and hang up. They will keep free from dust—and this is a serious matter with these articles which are so hard to wash.

BOYS.

Having passed the most of the last few years in the school room where I had an excellent opportunity to find out a great many things about human nature, I have decided that nothing can afford a more interesting subject for study than a real natural, healthy boy. I do not mean a good nor a bad boy, but simply a boy. As the term contains, neatly folded in its tiny cup, everything of element of the mighty oak, so this boy is the undeveloped man. He thinks, and plants, and acts, not as a man, but as a boy. All the natural elements are there that make the complete man, and they await skillful development. He has not the disposition of manhood, and cannot have until he reaches that period of his being. The child is the bud, the boy is the blossom, manhood is the ripe fruit. Nothing in nature is more susceptible of culture and change than man taken in the early beginning of his eventful being. We often hear it said, such and such things are natural to him, born in him, etc. This is only true in a very limited sense. It is more likely to be the result of a gross and untrained intellect or of a false and more culpable. The notions of moral accountability do not rest upon an unalterable fate, but have their first claims upon the acts and culture of those teachers to whom the child is entrusted. Here is a vicious and unmanageable boy. Nothing can be done with him at home. His first teacher did not understand him. He is sent to another teacher, who by her love and kindness reaches the heart of the boy and turns the tide of his life. Why is this? No new elements were imparted to him. It demonstrates the simple fact that the first teacher did not know how to develop and control the boy. She did not understand him. Any other boy would have been the same with her. He is now a gentle and genial gentleman. If he had been kept under the care of the first teacher he would have been ready for the state prison at twenty-one. One child may naturally have more temper than another. If he has too much, you must restrain it, cut it back and make it conform to and make it balance with his other traits of character, and so with any other elements of disposition.

Of course no man will argue for a moment that any one trait of character may not be developed and made more prominent or restrained and made less so. The boy will show the training of the child, as will the man that of the boy, and the teacher who cannot do this and do it well should give up the work to some one who can reach the heart and life of the child. Here is one boy that is as mean, apparently, as he can well be. He is unkind and unlovely. He takes a delight in doing mean things, and now is another that is rude and impudent and a third is a jolly and playful fellow, but is always kind, respectful and fair in everything. These evince the care, culture and training these boys have had, or perhaps the neglect of all.

There is no question but that one is more susceptible of culture, more easily controlled than another, but all can be controlled and tamed with proper care and management. If they cannot, then it is wicked and tyrannical to hold them accountable for the outbursts of bad traits when they become grown men. Let the thief steal and the murderer kill. They cannot help it. It was born in them. Men do so reason, but God does not so teach.

Will you think of it, my teacher friend? Whenever you neglect the proper control of that boy whom you are called to teach, control and love, you thrust your hand into your neighbor's pockets and appropriate his last earnings; for the bill of your own wicked folly, or in this peculiar way, lay a knife to his throat or send the murderer's bullet to his heart. It is a wonderful thing to have a boy in school looking to you for instruction that is to shape his life for this world and vast eternity, and a great thing to gain that boy the benefit of care and training, but it is a horrid thing to see that boy by your careless teaching, lie will accuse you when he is on the scaffold, and you are in your grave, and God and your country will hold you accountable for your failure.

A great general is a great man, but the people often crown him with honors his soldiers won despite his orders, and he was really no greater than the man who drove a herd of mad cattle over a dozen brave school boys. But let him be great as he may be, he is not equal to that humble school teacher who counteracted the evil influences of home and made a good boy out of a bad one. This is the teacher we want in every school. Give us plenty of them and we will be at no loss for generals, judges and all else we need to make our country great and good. The boy is an advanced stage of the child. He has traits, elements have been developed to a certain extent and perhaps some much more than others. Cruelty has overgrown kindness, and idleness has almost smothered industry. He is yet a boy, and these traits are young and may be cut back, or stimulated as they may require to make a balanced man. It will not be so easily done as at an earlier day, but it can be done. Hence, wide awake, noble hearted, conscientious teachers for training such, and they are the country's blessing, the highest compliment to its humanity and wisdom. We are learning that our best and great teachers can supplant the poison. A boy corrected is a citizen saved, and a country's greatest loss is a neglected boy. He is the seed of her greatness and power, left to decay or be devoured on the way-side. The bright eye of the sun has never yet beheld a ruin equal to the lost boy. O ye who have the care of these costly gifts of God, be watchful every hour for the little power is broad and his steps are as stealthy as the thief in the night. Take care of the boys for they are the hope of our nation.

Teachers' Association for the western division of the county convened at Repton Oct. 16, 1908.

A meeting called to order by the president.

Devotional exercises conducted by O. D. Spence.

Welcome address by C. R. Newcomb. An excellent address was delivered, in which Mr. Newcomb truthfully emphasized that the clearing away of the darkness of Kentucky depends largely upon the teachers.

The religious and moral character of the community in part depends upon the teacher. Advantages of Education--by Miss Corda Wheeler.

The topic was intelligently handled. Miss Wheeler showed that man has a higher and lower being, and the result of the domination of the lower over the higher and the higher over the lower. With the advantages of education rightly exercised the higher will always gain control.

Relation of Common School to Society--By Miss Anna Roberts, W. K. Powell and J. B. McNeely.

Miss Roberts showed that the school is the principal factor in society.

Mr. Powell says aside from the church the common school, with the co-operation of the home, is the factor for building society.

The common school is the future hope of our country.

The early success of the New England States depended upon their early provision for schools.

Mr. McNeely doesn't endorse the name common school. He says they are more than common as they are the builders that need great attention in school, viz.: Punctuality, neatness, obedience and politeness. If these be rightly enforced in early life they become a habit and prepare the child to become a good citizen.

Noon.

Meeting called to order at 1 p. m. by the president.

A few minutes devoted to music, after which a recitation to the fifth reader (The Village Blacksmith), by Miss Mary Towery. The class was composed of Misses Hicklin, Sutherland, Minner, Hill and Clement and Mr. O. D. Spence.

The recitation showed the wonderful powers of Miss Towery in fully exhausting a subject before leaving it. Suggestions were offered by Messrs. Phillips, Stone, Newcomb and others.

Duty of Trustees--By P. M. Ward. Mr. Ward said in part: "There are three important factors that go to make up the school--to-wit, the parent, the teacher and the trustee. That the paramount duty of the trustee is to look after the general welfare of the school. Mr. P. D. Stone and C. R. Newcomb aided in the discussion and warmly endorsed Mr. Ward."

Relation of Teachers and Patrons--By Mr. J. B. McNeely.

He showed clearly that the success of the school depended largely upon the co-operation of teacher and patron; they should be candid with each other; exercise "heart to heart" relations concerning the good of the school.

Relation of Teacher and Pupils--Ascribed to Mr. J. P. Samuel.

Mr. Samuel being absent, Mr. J. B. McNeely handled the topic in a masterly way. He suggested that the teacher and pupils hunt, fish or go hunting together.

and that the teacher should teach on these gala days.

Importance of Reading--By J. A. Gifford.

He said in part "that reading was the channel through which knowledge was obtained and that we should strive to get the thought of the author as well as the construction of sentences. He was heartily endorsed by Mr. Rascoe and others."

What is a Good School?--By Mr. E. E. Phillips.

He thinks a good school is one in which every factor is performing its proper function; then harmony prevails and success is almost certain. The Importance of Arithmetic--Discussed by W. K. Powell, J. C. Harden, Albert McDowell, C. R. Newcomb.

It was generally conceded by them that arithmetic should be among the first and one of the most paramount studies for it enters into every business transaction of life.

The Characteristics of a Good Teacher--By Mr. O. D. Spence.

He thinks, as teachers, we should be more practical and less theoretical; that we should act as we instruct our pupils to act.

A vote of thanks was tendered the people of Repton for the kindness extended us.

Druggists here, Say They Can Supply The Ingredients or Make Up The Mixture.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered as the most certain prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary Difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. I am the proscription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home, when asked, stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it at being harmless.

Keep Your Bowels Open

A Safe Certain Home Remedy that is Sold By All Druggists

A fact any doctor will verify is that constipated people suffer most from disease. Regular bowel action is absolutely necessary to health. People who are constipated either part or all of the time must use something to make their bowels move. This should not be a violent purgative or a cathartic that merely tears its way through the bowels emptying them of waste matter for the time but leaving them in a weakened state that prolongs the constipated condition. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an easy, pleasant, natural laxative that removes the waste matter and establishes regular, daily movements without pain or gripe. Children and delicate women should never be given strong physic for it not only weakens the bowels but the entire system. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin serves as a tonic and an aid to digestion as well as a laxative that is certain in its effect upon the most obstinate old cases and yet safe and pleasant for a baby. With the first few doses the ill effects of constipation, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, liver trouble, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, sick headache, bloated stomach, etc., quickly disappear. It is a remedy that should be in every home for every member of the family at some time has need of a safe, sure laxative.

Mrs. J. C. Cooper, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for myself and family. I keep it on hand constantly, as I find it to be a most pleasant laxative and is all you claim for it." Sarah J. Houser, Eureka Springs, Ark., says: "I would have been dead had it not been for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the best medicine I ever used for constipation, indigestion and biliousness." M. R. Zerkel, Troy, Ohio, considers it the best known laxative for children. We are glad to send a free sample to any one who has not used it and will give it a fair trial. That serious kidney troubles follows; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Marion citizen.

Coleman Byford, living in Marion, Ky., says: "I cannot express my gratitude for the beneficial results I derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. When I began their use I was confined to my bed on account of a weak and sore back and was forced to be assisted to a sitting position before I was able to arise to eat. I had to pass the secretions every little while at night and there was a burning, smarting sensation accompanying them. I lived in Owensboro at the time and the doctors attending me gave me little hope of ever getting better. Some years ago I heard my mother say that Doan's Kidney Pills had cured her, and thinking they might help me, I procured them at Haynes & Taylor's drug store. Before I had taken the contents of the first box, I improved and continued until I had taken four boxes when I was as well as at any time in my life. I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney pills too highly.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Makes Kidneys and Bladder Right

Who's to Blame?

Is Man or Woman More Responsible for Divorce?

By REV. DR. SAMUEL W. DIKE,
Cor. Secretary National League for Protection of the Family.

THE question is often asked, "Are women or men more responsible for the increase of divorce?" If we were to rely on the statistical data alone, the answer would have to be that men are the most at fault, for the reason that women are applicants for divorce in about two-thirds of the cases. But this fact proves little, for in cases of desertion, which have in the past made up nearly 40 per cent. of the cases, probably a considerable part are collusive, and the woman brings the suit simply because the divorce has been agreed upon and the man has deserted the wife to enable her to get the divorce which both desire. And in a large part of all the suits, it is technically easier for the woman to take the initiative than for the man. It seems to me that the causes that enter into divorce cases are so numerous and often intricate that it is impossible and of practically little value to attempt any positive answer to the question in the form I have put it above.

Let me rather use what space I have to note some of the varied causes or conditions in the main, aside from the law and its administration, that contribute after marriage to the increase of divorce. Of course there are the parties themselves, who are immediately responsible. The lightness with which they hold to the marriage bond, their low ideas of its sacred obligations, the carelessness with which they allow bickerings to come into their life, the lack of resolute effort to get on happily, the absence of children either wholly or in sufficient numbers to enlist the common interest of the parents, or of too many children in the case of the poorer classes, burdening the mother with care at the expense of an attractive home life and tempting the selfish father to desert the family; infelicitous relations of sex, of which the physician knows more than any other outside the family, are among the many causes that operate directly on the parties themselves. Sometimes the wife and sometimes the husband, and often both, are in fault.

Then the nearer friends and relations sometimes are in fault. This comes occasionally from direct meddling and taking sides with either the husband or wife. Sometimes it comes of a failure to use proper and wholesome means to discourage the growing tendency that is perceived toward alienation of affection. It would seem often possible for near friends to create an atmosphere about the couple suspected of looking to divorce that would encourage continuance in family life. Of course all interference is a delicate matter and simple meddling is wrong. But something can be done in many ways to create a wholesome atmosphere about the parties.

Sam. W. Dike.

The Extravagance of Woman

By LENA GUILBERT FORD.

score of worries into a woman's life, but it happens more often that worries bring a score of illnesses.

Women worry and brood over petty things that are entitled to not more than an instant's reflection, and if there is any doubt as to the truth of this, study a crowd of faces, and see how many have an habitual expression of peace. Cultivating a good expression of face is a legitimate occupation for a woman, and so subtle is the connection between mind and body, that an effort honestly put forth to improve the expression will have a salutary effect upon the character itself. The lines of expression are an infallible index of character, but lines of advancing age must not be confused with lines of character.

"Know thyself" are words that have a significance more far-reaching than is ordinarily applied to them when inscribed across milady's mirror in the dainty boudoir. A woman's mirror should be the only friend from whom she can hear the truth without wincing. Let her consult it every day, not for the purpose of being flattered, but learning what faults may be corrected.

The Drama Strongly Entrenched

By GEORGE P. GOODALE.

children of the stage" exceed 25,000 in number. A majority of these doubtless have their following. It were possible, therefore, to reach the conclusion that the American public entertains intimate fondness for the theater and its professors.

It was not a mere accidental location of the quickest, subtlest and keenest knower of the human heart that "the play's the thing." The theater is here to stay. Passing conditions operate to control its output in various directions.

In matters of taste the public is as likely to be wrong as right. An eminent authority, addressing himself to this particular issue, observes that the fine things seldom are appreciated, at first, and they never are appreciated by chaw-bacons who go to the theater in order that they may indulge in the national guffaw. An artistic truth is not dependent on a public caprice, and it survives public ignorance. Few notions are sicker or more pernicious than the notion that a public verdict settles any question of art. If all people were born wise and true the case would be changed; but seeing that they are born nothing of the kind, no thinker will waste his time with bothering about their views, one way or another, when the question is one of art.

After suffering for seven years, this woman was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read her letter.

Mrs. Sallie French, of Paucanla, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat your letter in confidence and advise you free. No woman ever regretted writing her, and because of her vast experience she has helped thousands. Address, Lynn, Mass.
