FARMERS' RALLY

Proves a Great Success--Is Attended by a Large and Enthusiastic Crowd

MANY SPEAKERS PRESENT

Resolutions of Great Interest adopted--Want Another Meeting In Near Future.

The meeting of Tobacco Growers and farmers of Crittenden county decided upon by the last County Meeting of the Society of Equity was held here last Saturday. It was a decided success from start to finish, and reflects credit upon the Equity Committee on Arrangements, and their co-operators of the Union and Stemming District People.

The gathering was doubtless the largest and most representative one that has ever assembled in Marion at a farmer's meeting. The opera house was more than comfortably filled, many having to stand. The attention given the speakers was perfect and the applause was the earnest approval of the doctrine that must sooner or later bring them into their own.

The meeting was called to order at 10:45 a. m. and after a brief, but excellent welcome address by Mayor John W. Blue, the first speaker of the day, Rev. John Grady, of the F. E. and C. U. of A. was introduced. His address, although short, was full of good points on the handling of tobacco, and the preparation of the same for the market. He pleaded for harmony among the organizations and co-operation all along the line.

He was followed by the Rev. Robert Johnson in his usual happy style, which always entertains and enlightens his audience. Not on a single utterance of his, could the wisher for discord among us, or the enemy of Equity or Union hang a single hope. Brother Bob has been feeding upon something that has caused two principles to grow inseparable in the marrow of his bones--Equity and Union now and forever. A harmonizer who can harmonize in both word and deed is to be esteemed indeed.

The principal speaker of the day, M. F. Sharp, Vice President of the National Union American Society of Equity, began to speak at 1:15 p. m., and held the undivided attention of the splendid audience for nearly two hours. He is a forceful, logical speaker clinching his arguments with sledge hammer blows. He made it plain that the future of the farming class lay in organization, and presentation of a solid phalanx to the attacking columns of advise and greed.

Mr. Sharp's address will be of much benefit to the farmers, and his cause. It will inspire those already within ranks, with greater confidence the halting farmer to see his duty to his family and fellow farmer, and the case hardened to reflect, at least, on his part in the great fight for industrial independence.

Manager, Wm. Elliott, of the Stemming Association was the last speaker of the day. His remarks were that of a business man on a business proposition, viz: The report of his stewardship as the associations agent, and the handling and delivery of tobacco.

He reported the crops of 1905, 1906 and 1907 sold and settled for at satisfactory prices.

He reported some sales of the 1908 crop, and his hopes for immediate sales of all, are optimistic indeed.

He expects sales to net 8cts per lb., and that the expenses for conducting of this years' business will not exceed 1 1/2 per cent. as against 2 per cent. last year. He urged careful grading into three classes leaf, lugs and trash. The same in hands, the size one can span with the fingers of one hand, and deliver in light striping order. One point to be kept in view, is that on the grading of the individual crop will to a great measure depend the price of the same, for instance the mixing of inferior leaf with good leaf will cause it all to grade low.

He urged that farmers send samples as soon as possible and send it to Mr. Rankin at Marion. While the future sale of your crop will not be judged by the sample you send, it is absolutely necessary to have samples to show prospective buyers the general character of the county's crop.

In preparing samples, strip it off the stalk, and tie it up in three separate classes, the same as for grading for market.

A committee composed of one member from each tobacco organization present, reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted.

Be it resolved that in this present meeting of the farming people, represented as they are by these different associations, have done much to unite and strengthen, ferment and perpetuate the well-fare of the farming people and we heartily recommend that such another meeting may be held at a not far distant date, whereby the farmers may again meet and mingle together and further their interest.

Be it resolved that we tender to Hon. J. W. Blue, our thanks and appreciation for his welcome address.

Be it further resolved that we extend our thanks and appreciation to all speaker who addressed the people and seemed interested in the welfare and promotion of the farmers interest. And we heartily recommend that the tobacco organizations co-operate together looking to a plan whereby our interest may be in perfect accord.

Respectively submitted,
C. R. PARON,
A. F. WOLF,
CHAS. W. FOX,
MPP Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliott, of Henderson, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baird Saturday.

"As partners in the heritage power and hope of our whole country, we have great blessings and honors to be thankful for as those upon whom God hath showered great bounty of climate, soil, wealth, beneath the ground, of noble deeds and great names, of great sacrifices and great gifts, we ought to return fervent thanks and we ought to give covenant to the Lord to cherish and obey His laws, to keep with each other the covenants of our own laws and customs, to build up this Commonwealth and the business of all its people; to make every family in this Commonwealth rich in the spirit of the Old Kentucky Home, generous, free, and unafraid; to welcome useful workers to our State and to win and keep and hold the faithful love, confidence and service of all who are with us now.

"Now, therefore, I, Augustus E. that we may deserve a continuance of blessings in the future.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to be affixed.

WATTERSON'S

Youngest Son Falls From Window of Sky-scraper and Is Killed.

ONLY THIRTY YEARS OF AGE

Career of Promising Young Kentuckian Cut Short By a Terrible Accident.

New York, Nov. 13.--Harvey W. Watterson, a lawyer and youngest son of Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, plunged to his death from the nineteenth floor of his office building at 37 Wall street late yesterday afternoon. His body shot downward for 110 feet and landed on the roof of a ten-story building adjoining. Almost every bone was broken and his head crushed, and death was practically instantaneous.

While there were no eye-witnesses to the tragedy, evidently it was entirely accidental. Mr. Watterson's hat and overcoat were on his closed desk. Presumably he had attempted to lower the window and either stumbling over the radiator which was in front of the low sill, or losing his footing in some manner unknown pitched forward and down to death on the roof below.

Mr. Watterson was thirty years old and married. He was junior member of the law firm Wing, Russell & Watterson.

FATHER GRIEF-STRICKEN.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.--The news of the tragic death of Harvey W. Watterson, first communicated by the Associated Press to the friends of Col. Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, created a profound impression in Louisville, and there was immediately formed a little conspiracy, having for its purpose the breaking of the news to the veteran editor as gently as possible. Telephone communication with his country home, fourteen miles from the city, was immediately stopped, and the friends deputed to Mrs. Benjamin Ridgely, widow of the consul general to Mexico, the difficult task. Mrs. Ridgely, suddenly bereaved a few weeks ago of her husband, who had been Mr. Watterson's protege and intimate friend, has accomplished her mission, and the editor is sitting at his home benumbed by grief, while hundreds of telegrams from men of national prominence already are pouring in, offering condolence and sympathy.

The bond between Mr. Watterson and his son was an unusually strong one, their common interest in politics and national affairs being very keen, and the father's satisfaction at the rapidly widening career of the son was very great.

It was decided by the family that Mr. Watterson would not be able to undertake a journey to New York and Mrs. Harvey Watterson was therefore wired to, asking her to bring body to Louisville, which probably will be done on Friday or Saturday. The funeral will probably be held on Sunday, but this has not been definitely decided on.

Harvey W. Watterson was thirty years old. He leaves no children. His wife before her marriage was Miss Alice Burrows, of New York.

THE SUPREME DANGER.

As the forms of this issue of the Co-Operator close (Tuesday) the great battle of the political policy of the station is being waged at the ballot box, and when these lines are sent to the public the result will be known. Several issues have been presented, considered of more or less importance, according to one's views of the essential objects of civil government. But, however much good men may differ about the tariff or bank deposit insurance or government by injunction, the disclosures of the campaign leave no room for difference of opinion as to the danger which confronts this country from what is called predatory wealth. Numerous letters read by Mr. Hearst, which passed between John D. Archbold, the active head of Standard Oil, and senators, governors, judges, congressmen and influential newspapers showed unmistakably the plan of the criminal corporations to corrupt and control the law-making bodies, the courts, the press, and through the press, the church and the schools, even a majority of the people themselves.

In an editorial a few weeks ago we discussed the $50,000 loan of Standard Oil for the purchase of a "friendly" paper in Ohio. In the last bunch of letters presented by Mr. Hearst was one to the Manufacturers' Record containing a check for $5,000, specified "for one year's subscription." Another one carried $5,000 to the Southern Farm Magazine, but did not specify for what. Other letters showed large gifts to college professors. Another letter from Congressman Sibbey, who is said to have been the friend who advised a Texas senator that a man of his age should lay aside for his family in old age, advised Mr. Archbold that "an efficient literary bureau is needed, not for a day or a crisis, but for a permanent and healthy control of the Associated Press and kindred agencies."

Here, then, is the explanation of these lavish gifts to the press and to the educators of our children. Having fastened the tentacles of their greed deep into the body of the wealth producer, the next step is to make him content to allow them to live by his toil. Having secured unjust and unfair advantages from congress and the legislatures, they would hold them by the made-to-order court decisions from the pen of their chosen servants and then have these decisions endorsed and praised by their subsidized press. A few years more, and unless checked, there will be no press except the subsidized, because the newspaper which shall dare to raise the flag of rebellion against the system will be denied the mails as an inciter of treason.

Thus far only the daily press and the weeklies published in connection therewith and a few other influential weeklies are known to have fallen under Standard Oil and other trust influences, but the circle is being extended and the educational process is gradually and systematically going on. He who does not observe this influence is dull indeed. Go among those in the cities and towns of our Southland who read the daily papers and note how many there be who either apologize for or defend the criminal corporations, and ask yourself whence came the change from conditions in this respect a dozen years back. Take the anathemas which have been hurled (and justly so) against the night riders who have threatened destruction to a few if they did not cease picking or ginning cotton and contrast them with the ominous silence of the press as it sees the money lords crush out life and large day by day by their merciless methods and see if your question is not answered.

The next move will be upon the weekly press, which reaches the farmers. In fact the advance has already begun. How many papers have been placed under obligations to say the "interests" know, but it is safe to say that the one noted above is not the only one. The work of education will go forward and the effort to keep the farmers divided will continue. As long as the wealth producers can be kept from uniting their minds and the method of chaining them, the system can keep them without hindrance. United the masses are invincible, but divided they are an easy prey.

This is a serious picture, but it is not of a hopeless, nor do we present it to incite hatred nor open badgering. It is a picture drawn on the pages of our nation's history of those who live, not by honest toil, but by robbing others of what they deserve. Not robbing them with a gun or club, but in subtlety, with the sanction of the law. We present it, not to arouse prejudice against necessary and legitimate corporate enterprises, but to warn people of the influences which are undermining the very foundations of this government. No politician or party should be trusted who draws support from these sources nor should any newspaper be taken in the home which defends them. And the school or church which accepts their money should be frowned upon as the receiver of stolen goods. But the people who want free government perpetuated must not stop at this; they must learn to place home and family and country higher than partisanship.—National Co-Operator.

THE DIFFERENCE.

We notice in this and previous issues of the Co-Operator resolutions and letters from local and members of the Farmers' Union opposing an increase in the annual dues and in the salaries of officers. The Co-Operator—no, its publishers—have no pecuniary interest whatever in either of these propositions. Personally to the paper nor its publishers does it make the least difference whatever whether the dues are 20 cents a quarter or $2 a quarter. We are deeply interested, however, in the success of the Farmers' Union, and at the risk of having our motives questioned, we are going to state a few plain truths for the consideration of the membership.

In the first place we want to lay down the proposition that the farmer or pays, directly or indirectly, all salaries. This all our readers will readily agree to. If this be true, is it not fair to presume that the more competent leadership the farmer provides for himself the less tribute he will have to pay to those who live off his toil?

Perhaps an illustration or two may make our meaning better understood. Within a stone's throw of the state offices of the Farmers' Union of Texas is a cotton buyer's office—one of the thousands who speculate on the farmer's toil. This office has art treasures on the floors, beautiful pictures on the walls, fine roll-top desks, electric fans and all other modern conveniences. There are reference books, clerks and stenographers and facilities for learning anything the speculator wants to know about cotton, and the expenses of this one office of a single cotton firm are far more than the expenses of the whole state administration of the Farmers' Union. Who pays these expenses? Is it not reasonable to presume that if the farmer surrounded his agents, his union officials, with more help and better facilities for protecting his interests, he would pay less to those who speculate upon his product? Again, the state president of Texas has just consummated a deal with the railroads which will involve the expenditure of about $600,000 for spur tracks to local warehouses. It would have cost at least $150,000 to have employed legal counsel to have obtained this, but a few dollars in car fare and hotel bills was all it did cost. The eighteen railroad managers at the conference put up at the finest hotel in Dallas, and while they dined at $2.50 or $5.00 per plate, our president and secretary took 25-cent dinners. Who paid for all of them? This is not all. The cheapest stenographer employed by a single one of the railroad managers receives as much salary as the president of the state union. Don't you think that less economy in dealing with our agents would make less expensive a less delay in settling our rights from those with whom they have to deal?

Instances like these could be enumerated by the score, but these suffice to show the contrast. We pay the high salaries and office expenses of the cotton speculator and cotton gambler without much complaint because we pay them indirectly. We do not remember that every time we sell a bale of cotton several dollars of what we should receive go into the hands of another, but our quarterly dues to pay our own people to help us get this unjust tribute we are now paying to the speculator—well, we pay these directly and they do not come so regularly. Brethren, is it not time for us to realize that every dollar we are paying out for the union is bringing us back ten in increased prices for our products?

There are a hundred things, our state and national officials should know to enable them to handle our business to the best advantage to every one thing they do know, but they haven't the means or facilities to acquire the knowledge. There is not a cotton factor in any city in the South who does not spend more money in handling his small fraction of the cotton than any state union in the South pays for its entire administration. If it is important and necessary for those who do it not for the farmer who grows the cotton?

We trust that our motive in giving attention to these thoughts will not be misunderstood. They have been in our mind for some time. As we have observed the need for more facilities and more help and more funds, and the disposition of our people to deny them, our heart has been made sore. And yet, if we had spoken sooner there might have been some who would have thought we were merely working for individual union officials. Now that the amendments have been voted on and no such charge can be made, we submit these suggestions for the sober consideration of the membership, when other amendments to the constitution shall be offered.

COW BUTTS POST; TAIL SEVEN INCHES LONGER

REMARKABLE YARN FROM MICHIGAN TOWN WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT BE TRUE.

Galesburg, Mich.—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Saunders, who reside just over the line in Charleston township, was playing about the doorway the other day and, spying the gate of the barnyard open, wandered through it into forbidden territory.

As the child is only four years of age his judgment has not matured, and when he saw one of the young cows lying down, his childish impulse led him to climb upon her neck. Then the animal "came to," and with a frightened bellow dashed for the gate and through it.

Some providential instinct would seem to have inspired the boy, as he

at once seized the animal's horns, one with each chubby hand, and clung for dear life, while the cow dashed madly down the road to the home of a neighbor, from whom she had been purchased. Here the barn door was open and through it she ran, striking her head against an upright beam with such terrific force that she was instantly killed, dropping dead in her tracks.

Fortunately for the little passenger, he suddenly stopped released his hold upon the horns and he was thrown forward, to land unhurt upon the partially killed haymow.

Some idea of the force of the impact of the cow's head against the post may be gathered from the fact that upon examination her backbone was found so completely displaced as to lengthen the tail nearly seven inches.

DOG SAVES MATE IN WELL.

Carries Food for Nearly a Month Is Imprisoned Canine.

Seattle, Wash.—Thomas Jones, who owns a big ranch on the Juan de Fuca coast, told a story today of a month and for several days searched the woods about his place endeavoring to find the animal without success. Last week he killed a sheep and found a bone in another collar. Instead of knowing it, the dog barked it up and started for the woods. He was followed, and after a long search he found it.

The dog, named King for a while and owned by the father of an abandoned child, had been the bone over the side of the well. Jones got a ladder, climbed down, and found his dog that had been in the well. There was only about two inches of water in the well, but the animal would have starved to death had it not been for the other.

The last dog was in good condition and as it had been missing 24 days the other animal must have kept it supplied with food for nearly a month.

Mules Baffle Thieves.

York, Pa.—A dinner bell rang last night at Mrs. C. H. Mizel, noted as a very clever burglar alarm who thieves attempted to steal a pair of valuable mules from the barn on her husband's farm at Arbor, this county.

A mistake the thieves made was their failure to gag the long-eared animals. Mrs. Mizel was alone with her children when she heard the mules braying loudly, and suspected at once that something was wrong.

Gripping the rope attached to the dinner bell on the peak of the roof, she yelled it until her husband and neighbors came running in.

They found the mules standing in the road where they had been deserted by the thieves, who were frightened off by the alarm.

Eggs in Ramen.

This is an easy dish to serve for lunch, or for the woman who has no servant. It saves service as the eggs are already set before each place.

In the ramen put a tablespoonful cream (each), and on this drop carefully one egg; season with salt, pepper, paprika and a dash of natmeg.

WORLDLY ALLIANCES

By REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D.,
Pastor of the Chicago Ave. (Moody's) Church, Chicago.

The sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair, and they took them wives of all which they chose.—Gen. 6:2.

Cain's method of treating Abel represents one phase of the world's treatment of the church. It was open opposition, radical, cruel, decisive. He simply killed him and thought thus to end him and his cause. The tactics of the world, however, have changed; the descendants of Cain no longer oppose and persecute the church. "The daughters of men" accept proposals of marriage from the "sons of God," and, as a result, the deluge.

The pagan world tried to kill the church for nearly 2000 years. Its efforts only multiplied her members and power. The blood of the martyrs has ever been the seed of the church. When, however, Constantine offered to join with honor and political power to the church she accepted the offer, and what the second Adam refused the second Eve gladly received, and the result was a fallen church. We see in this Satan's usual tactics. He likes to appear as an angel of light. He would help us. He offers to help Eve to knowledge and power. He would help Christ in supplying him with food and in giving him earthly glory.

In proportion as the church has resisted the wiles of this charmer she has been strong, and in proportion as she has accepted and formed alliances with the world she has been weak. Israel alone with God could never be conquered, but when she formed alliances with Egypt and the Canaanites her enemies found little difficulty in making quick work of her. Hezekiah was not overcome by the bold threats of the messengers of Sennacherib. Their insolent words drove him to God, who sent his angel to strike dead his enemies, but when the messengers of Merodach-Baladan came with words of friendliness and flattery he opened to them his treasures, and letting them into the secret of his strength, was thus the occasion of Israel's downfall.

A prominent preacher said some time ago that Puritanism was forever dead in New York city. He might have added that in many of the churches Christianity was as dead as Puritanism, and I wonder what relation the death of Puritanism has had to the death of Christianity. We have no fancy for the style of hat and coat which the Puritans wore, but in the Puritan character there was sturdy stuff. There was an inviolable integrity, jelly-fish morality or Indianism her convictions. They were such men as you would like for your daughter to marry, as you would trust in wisdom, as make a country great. And these men of heroic conviction were not blue and melancholy ascetics. Their pleasure was not of the vanity, theater type. It was not made up of froth, but flowed from beneath the throne, deep as the river of God.

The sons of God went courting the daughters of men, and that is often the case to-day. Some churches court the world more than the world courts them. Such a church hopes to get something out of the world by becoming worldly.

The union of the church with the world is the vanity means a loss of power. A Hindu said in a missionary in India: "We are beginning to get our Christianity out. You are not as good as your look. If you were the world would soon be converted." Worldly men despise the Christianity that saves their souls and, therefore, despise them themselves.

Protecting African Natives.

Germany has a colony with an area of more than 300,000 square miles in southwest Africa, where the missionaries of the Rhineland and Flindlin societies are at work. On September 16, 1907, the governor of the colony issued an important decree concerning the import and sale of spirituous liquors. The measure provided that saloon keepers and other dealers in liquor must secure a special license, which costs between $30 and $250. It is forbidden to give or sell spirituous liquors to any native, though house servants are permitted to receive small quantities from their masters, though not in place of wages. If servants become intoxicated through liquor given by an employer, the latter must pay a fine or go to jail. If the offense is repeated, the punishment becomes severe. Convictions by licensed persons are punished still more severely.

Relation of Crime and Drink.

A commission appointed by the governor of New Jersey is now at work investigating criminality and delinquency, and the relation of alcoholic liquors thereto. Such an investigation can but serve to bear out the overwhelming evidence already existing as to the surprisingly great responsibility of drink in swelling the criminal records of any municipality.

FIGHTS DEVILFISH IN VESSEL'S HOLD

DIVER ATTACKED BY GIANT SEA MONSTER UNDER THIRTY FEET OF WATER.

HACKS FOE WITH AX AND KNIFE

Finally Drives Blade Into Head of Octopus and Is Pulled to Surface Fainting and Nearly Crushed to Death.

San Francisco.—The story of a life and death struggle that recalls Victor Hugo's "Toilers of the Sea" has just been brought to this city. Wrapped in the tentacles of a giant devilfish, Martin Lund, a diver employed by the Coast Wrecking Company, fought four hours against strangulation in the hold of the wrecked steamer Pomona, which lies in 30 feet of water in Fort Ross cove off the Marin county coast. Lund arrived here after an experience which comes to few men, and he will take a prolonged vacation before again donning a diver's dress.

The devilfish had evidently entered the vessel's hold during the night, and Lund was at work some time before he became aware of its presence. A giant tentacle, four inches in diameter, first gripped one leg. Before Lund could realize what had happened another had encircled his thigh.

The diver began to chop frantically at the rubberlike bonds and at the same time signaled to the barge above that he wished to ascend. Unable to free himself in time, two more tentacles acquired out of the darkness and one twisted about his neck. The efforts of the men on the surface to comply with his signal threatened to pull his helmet off and he was forced to signal them to desist.

With only his left arm free Lund hacked at the tentacles until they were partly crippled, but he was being drawn toward the deadly beast when he saw the outline of the devilfish's body. Plunging suddenly toward it, he drove the knife with all his force into the head repeating the word until he had stabbed it into seven times.

In its death throes the octopus tightened its tentacles until the diver was almost crushed in its embrace. Lund finally cut himself free and was brought to the surface in a fainting condition.

Another diver brought some of the severed tentacles to the surface, and it is hoped to raise the body and bring it to this city for exhibition.

CORER TO DEATH BY BULL.

Young Man Killed in Giving Friends a Chance to Escape.

Philadelphia.—Working to save two of his friends whom he had taken into a pen in back over a city wall, Edward A. Hall, a farmer's son, of Creskill, was attacked by the vicious animal and, after engaging its attention so as to allow his friends to escape, was finally caught as he was attempting to seize the wall and perched to death. The fatality occurred on Fisher's farm, of which Hall's father is manager.

James Robinson and William Brooks, two friends of the unfortunate young man, visited him, and while showing them the live stock he took them to the pen in which the bull was quartered. The bull, although a half-bred, had never made any hostile demonstration against Hall, and when he entered the pen he led his two friends fearlessly to where the animal was standing.

The presence of the visitors enraged the bull and, lowering his head, he made a dash for them. Hall told his friends to escape, which he did, while he led the bull a chase to the other end of the enclosure. Hall intended to vanish the high wall, but when he failed in this he drove one of his horns through his neck. When he fell to the ground the bull gored the body in a frightful manner.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

By J. Osburn.

Manager W. A. Elliott brought back from England with him last Saturday week all the remainder money due members for the 1906 crop. It will be recalled to minds of members that full settlements have been made by the Association for all the 1906 tobacco save only that tobacco handled at Sebroe, Peel, Dixon and Tilden in the county of Webster, and the Barret factory and Hust factory in the county of Henderson.

And just here, by the way I deem it proper to say that a confusion dwells in the minds of some of the members regarding the Elliott factory. I have had members ask me, "When will the final dividend be paid on the Elliott factory for 1906 tobacco?" And I have answered, "Full settlement has already been made for the Elliott factory—nothing is due members on the Elliott factory. The only tobacco of the 1906 crop on which a balance is due is the tobacco delivered to the Barret factory and the Hust factory."

As set forth above, Mr. Elliott made settlements in England for all the 1906 crop, and in a short time, say within the next two weeks, the accounts will be cast up and checks written payable to each member entitled to same, and prompt distribution will follow. I presume the distribution will take place not later than the 20 of the present month. So soon as the bookkeepers can see their way clear to a finish due notice will be given through Tidings column.

"Has any of the 1908 crop been sold?" members very naturally ask me daily. Prior to this afternoon I could only answer, "I don't know." To-night I can answer, "Yes, some of the 1908 has been sold, but I do not know how much, nor the sale price."

You see, it is this way—other sales are pending and imminent. Wherefore it is, by Manager Elliott and the executive committee, deemed unwise just at this juncture to publish to the world the details of what has been recently done regarding the 1908 crop. It looks to this writer as if the prospect is very bright for prompt sales of the 1908 crop at good prices.

I deem it pertinent to reiterate just here Manager Elliott's request for samples. He, of course, is fully aware of the difficulty of obtaining samples during the present dry spell. But he trusts, so soon as a season comes, members will respond to the call for samples. And this addressed to members in all of the five counties.

BIG SALE

Of the Season—One Million Pounds of Hopkins County Sold to Liverpool Co.

AT VERY HANDSOME FIGURES

General Manager Elliot, of Henderson, Pulls off the Deal Last Friday.

HANSON COUNTRY TOBACCO

The first big sale of the 1908 tobacco crop in Hopkins county was made last week, when General Manager Elliott, of the Stemming District Association, sold to a Liverpool company one million pounds of the weed, raised this year in the Hanson country. The deal had been on for some time and was closed last Friday afternoon. The price received for tobacco was good, and members of organization are well pleased.

The prices paid for the tobacco follow: $11, $11 and $6; $10, $10 and $5; $9, $9 and $5; $8, $8 and $5; $7, $7 and $4.

The tobacco sold will be put up in the factories at Hanson and prepared for shipment.

The officers of this popular association feel confident that they will have no trouble in disposing of the entire crop this year at good prices. The tobacco is of a splendid quality, much in demand and will find a ready market.

Mr. Elliott is to be congratulated on his deal.

GRADED

TOBACCO SEED MAY BE SE-CURED VERY EASILY.

Send Sample to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington and Have It Sorted.

Now is the time for the tobacco grower to get up his tobacco seed and send them to the experiment station at Lexington to be graded. Put a two-cent stamp on the package and address it to the Kentucky Experimental Station, Lexington, Ky. Be sure to have on the package the name and address of the sender, so they will know whom to return it to when graded.

The value of a tobacco seed is determined by its weight. As separated by the apparatus used for this purpose the station has found that the difference in the yield of heavy seed and light seed taken from the same lot was 300 pounds per acre. In this particular experiment the tobacco sold for 13 cents, resulting in a gain of $40 per acre in favor of the select seed. On our type of tobacco the difference would be approximately $25 per acre. No tobacco grower can afford not to have his tobacco seed graded when such gains may be had.

The arrangement for grading the seed is very simple. It consists of two large glass tubes several feet in length. They are stood up side by side and are connected at the top with a rubber tube. The seed to be graded are placed in the bottom of one of the tubes, and compressed air from the station's plant is turned into the bottom of this tube. This compressed air is regulated in such a way that it blows just hard enough to blow the chaff and the light seed out at the top of the tube and over into the other, leaving the select seed at the bottom of the first tube. The machine is simplicity itself.

but its value to the tobacco grower can hardly be estimated. It makes it as easy for him to grow plants of pedigreed tobacco as it is to grow pedigreed seed corn.—Henderson Gleaner.

The editor of these columns has seen this grader at work and knows that the weak seed are all blown away.

TOBACCO

SALES ARE BETTER IN THE DARK PATCH.

The Planters' Protective Association Cleaning Up Odds and Ends of the Last Year's Crop.

Last week's business on the local tobacco market was the best that has been noted for some time. The sales were very satisfactory and the demand seemed to be much stronger and more general, nearly all the buyers being represented on the sale floors at some time during the week and nearly all of them making some purchases, says the Hopkinsville New Era.

The Planters' Protective Association sold 160 hogheads, this going a long way toward wiping out the balance yet on hand from last year's crop. Sales were good all through the week, but increased toward the latter part of the time, this being regarded as very encouraging for further sales.

On account of the stock being practically exhausted, the Society of Equity had a very quiet week. They are making their preparations for the handling of the 1908 crop, none of which has begun to move yet.

The same conditions exist with the Planters' Protective Association regarding the 1908 crop of tobacco. It is still hanging in the farmers' barns, except in a few instances where the farmer has decided to prize it himself, and will not begin to move until the pricing contracts and warehouse contracts are let for the coming season. The county executive committee will meet to-day and these contracts will probably be awarded at this meeting.

Judging from the failure of several markets to make any report for the week ending October 23, and the decrease in the number of hogheads sold for that period, the business of the Planters' Protective Association all over the dark district was rather dull. The report of sales of hogheads for this week and this year follows.

SALE

Of Two and a Half Million Pounds Tobacco Announced,

AMERICAN TOBACCO
COMPANY THE PURCHASER.

Submitted to Local Unions
for Ratification—Great day for Society.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

There was a meeting of the Warren County Union of tobacco growers held at the Court house yesterday, at which the question of acceptance of next year was discussed, but no definite action was taken. The sale of 2,500,000 pounds of tobacco to Mr. Hendrick, representing the American Tobacco Company, was reported to the union and referred to the local unions for ratification.

The board of control issued the following card:

To the tobacco growers of Warren County:

We hereby announce that we have sold the American Tobacco Company 2,500,000 pounds of Warren County tobacco at the following prices:

	Leaf	Lugs	Trash
No 1	$9.00	$2.00	$3.00
No 2	8.00	8.00	3.00
No 3	9.00	7.00	3.00
No 4	6.00	6.00	3.00

STATEMENT FROM BURLEY SOCIETY.

Inasmuch as the country has been flooded with false and misleading statements in regard to the Burley Tobacco Society, its purposes, its management and its prospects, we believe it an opportune time to correct these statements and inform our members. In the first place why this great interest in the welfare of the grower, on the part of the newspapers, warehousemen, speculators and trust buyers, an interest which is new-born and had no existence when the prices were low, when the farmer was down-trodden and the trust held undisputed sway in the tobacco trade. This interest, and these misstatements and criticisms come from a few honest people who believe the organization responsible for lawlessness, and who have not looked deep enough into the situation to find out that this lawlessness is caused by previous lawlessness on the part of the trust, and is the blind effort of a few unreasoning men who seek to remedy one wrong with another, and who strike back because they themselves are hurt. With this exception, these false statements come from a real source, from men who for a consideration, or from private interest, seek to overthrow this organization of farmers.

A great outcry has been made about extravagant salaries; it is sufficient answer to state that though over four million dollars has been distributed to the growers not one cent of salary has been paid to any member of the District Board, the Executive Committee, or the President himself. And when salaries are voted and paid they will be so reasonable that no fair-minded grower will grudge one cent of them to the men who have done the work, planned the business and stood the attacks and criticism of those who wished the failure of the movement.

Of the ten per cent reserve, eight per cent is deposited in the various counties where it will do the growers the most good and at no distant day the greater part by far will be distributed to the individual growers.
It has been stated that too much has been charged for handling tobacco—in only a few instances has more been charged for this service than is the usual charge for the same.
And in these instances there were other benefits to the grower which more than counter-balance this extra charge, and in no case has there been any profit to the Burley Tobacco Society or its managers from such charges. In most cases brought forward to prove this, it has been clearly shown that the grower entered voluntarily into a private contract to pay these fees when he was free to have made other and better contracts or have done the work himself.

From some sources it has been claimed that the tobacco has lost too much in weight—mistakes are liable to occur in any business but it is a queer fact that such losses are reported more frequently on tobacco stored and sampled in the old established warehouses of the cities than on tobacco stored in the Equity warehouses in the counties; this dis-proves the charge or insinuation of mismanagement or graft on the part of the Society.

The trust has used every means to disrupt our Society. It has paid the independent grower more money for the 1906 and 1907 crops than they ever dreamed of getting; it has tempted our own members to violate their contract by offering unheard of prices; it is offering still higher prices for the 1908 crop. It has substituted inferior tobaccos and sought to starve us out. It has refused to buy any considerable amount of our tobacco at our prices, and has made no bona fide effort to buy at any price, but in the face of all this we present a solid front.
The Burley Tobacco Society still exists and is doing business at Winchester and our prospects are brighter than ever. We have orders for 1907 tobacco, which, if filled, will consume nearly all of that crop. The crop of 1908 was cut out beyond our most sanguine expectations and the great drought has still further diminished the available supply.

Let every farmer and every county hurry in their samples so that the 1907 crop can be priced and both crops sold.

Above all, let every farmer discourage intemperate talk and more intemperate acts. Law and order are worth more than all tobacco crops. Lawlessness and the fear of lawlessness have done us incalculable injury. The Society has never countenanced any violation of the law. We believe in the majority ruling, but we insist it must rule by lawful means and not by force. We insist that those who have entered into contracts shall be made to abide by their contracts, but only by process of law.

DECLINE

In Common Stock of Tobacco Company—Tremendous Sale of

1,633,000 SHARES TO-DAY.

Due to Decision Handed Down
Last Saturday in Federal Circuit Court.

NET LOSSES NOT SERIOUS.

New York, Nov. 9.—Starting with a whirlwind of tremendous trading at prices which threatened sharp declines before the day was over, the stock market, with the sales of 1, 633,000 shares, today broke all records of activity since last March, but closed the day without recording serious net losses and even with gains in some important stocks.

A sensational decline in the price of common stock of the American Tobacco Company on the curb market;
as a result of the decision of the United States Circuit Court, declaring that company was a combination in violation of the Sherman law, precipitated the early demoralization in the trading on the stock exchange. Tobacco common had dropped fifteen points just before the close Saturday and opened to-day at 37½, from which point it dropped violently a total of 35 points. This, together with considerable apprehension among the traders as to the scope of court's decision as applied to other combinations, had a sympathetic effect upon standard stocks on the exchange and prices suffered several sharp declines in the opening hour.
A feeling that the recent advances in prices had been too enthusiastic and that a reaction was about due, heavy sales of American stocks in London, and a rise in call money to 3 per cent., which had not been approached since last January, contributed to a disposition on the part of the recent buyers of stock for speculation to dispose of their holdings and take profits. The attitude of this element, however, was offset by buying which came from some of the leading commission houses, some of which reported a very decided increase of public interest in the market.

Mrs. THOS. J. MORRISON,

Myron Frisbee is making a very decided improvement in the Marion Opera House, and all the patrons of that place of amusement realized it the evening "Tempest and Sunshine" was presented. The house had been thoroughly cleaned and freshened up. The lights, instead of being dull and fly-specked, were as bright and clean as possible, and made the place pleasant to the eye and the taste of the most aesthetic. While the audience was not as large as the play presented deserved, it was a choice audience of the best people who patronize the drama here, and if the good management continues it will be only a short time until the old-time popularity, and with it, prosperity is restored to the Marion Opera House. Speed the day.

A copy of The Focus, Denny B. Goode, editor, a weekly panorama of incidents and events in society, politics, religion, commerce, education, home and the liberal arts; of interest to people of Louisville and Kentucky at home and abroad, has reached our desk and we believe, after looking over it, that its mission, as indicated above, will be realized. With Denny B. Goode at the helm we predict for it a field of usefulness and a successful career.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baird entertained the executive committee of the Stemming Association to dinner Saturday—Messrs. Brown, of Madisonville; Baker, of Lismore; Rankin, of Marion and Eli Nunn, of Rodney.

$5.00 REWARD.

Bird dog strayed from Carrsville about the last of August, a liver-colored pointer. Think he has a little white on breast and possibly some white on front feet. He is two years old and answers to "Joe." I bought him from Die Hardin at Marion. A dog of his description was seen about the first week in September, between Marion and Salem, following some spar wagons toward Marion. For his safe and immediate return I will give $5.00, and for information leading to his recovery I will pay half the of the above amount and will mention no names.

Kay Kavanaugh Kevil Married in California.

Friends in the city have received messages telling of the marriage of Kay Kevil, one of Marion's most promising young men, to Miss Rosa Dias (pronounced Deas) at Bishop, Cal., last Friday, Nov. 13.

In absence of any details of the wedding we will only congratulate the bride on winning the heart and hand of a sturdy and substantial boy, who is as honest, brave and true as old Kentucky ever sent out to battle with the world. He has qualities which make it safe for us to say that he has already won, and is on the high road to fame and fortune.

Meeting at Caldwell Springs.

Thoughts Culled From The Teachers' Magazine.

Enthusiasm draws its strength from many sources, one is a physical source, and its name is "Vigor."

Whispering is not such a crime as the tired nervous teacher would make out. Children are not supposed to be as sedate as the feeble inmates of an old folks home.

Be reasonable. The reasonable teacher treats children as children.

The good teacher keeps young. A school can prosper only if the teacher is growing every day, and never growing old.

The out-of-sorts teacher is a pitiful spectacle. Now can she hope to govern others if she can not govern herself?

Happiness, like measles, is catching. Be a happy teacher.

SEVEN GREAT FAULTS OF THE TEACHER

1. Picking at pupils.
2. Repeating questions and answers.
3. Speaking too loud and too often and speaking when pupils are not giving attention.
4. Asking questions that can be answered by yes or no.
5. Failure to make each recitation a solid step upward and in advance by wondering off on subsidiary and unimportant topics.
6. Allowing pointless criticisms, questions and discussions.
7. Failure to create a moral and intellectual atmosphere.

These are not the only sins but the teacher who does not commit any of the above, should be marked "excellent."

How is Your Digestion?

Mrs. Mary Dowling, of No. 228, 8th Ave., San Francisco, Cal., recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitter is the best remedy on the market to-day." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c. at Jas. H. We have heard a great deal about the shortage of school teachers in certain parts of the country. Aside from the satisfaction that one gets from knowledge that she is engaged in humanitarian work of the highest type, there is mighty little inducement at present for women to enter upon the teaching career. More is demanded of this profession than any other and the pay is out of all proportion to the demands.

THOUGHTS ON BUSINESS

BY

WALDO PONDRAY WARREN

BREADTH OF VIEW

THE influence of business in widening a man's mind is often very noticeable. I had occasion recently for business purposes to look up the meaning of a number of symbols used in ornamentation, such as the lion's head, the serpent and other devices. The interest which these matters afforded me in studying them, and the added interest with which I afterwards viewed decorated objects bearing such emblems, gave me a thought as to the great desirability of being able to interpret what we see in the world about us, the dullness of many otherwise interesting things when we lack that interpretation, and the further fact that business requirements often drive us to seek knowledge which forms a valuable addition to our mental equipment for the remainder of our lives.

This suggested another thought as to the very wide scope of knowledge for which one may have a definite use in business at some time or other, and the consequent importance of so broadening our education that our equipment for business life will include some knowledge of all the leading phases of thought which occupy the attention of men in every walk of life and in every phase of experience. The value of general knowledge is demonstrated at a critical point in the existence of nearly every business man.

Doctors Reset Dislocated Neck.

Woodstown, N. J.—While picking apples in the orchard of Linwood Horton, about four miles from here, John D. Cole fell from the tree and was supposed to have been killed by breaking his neck.

After three hours of unconsciousness, the man revived, and two doctors, after much difficulty, put his dislocated neck back in place.

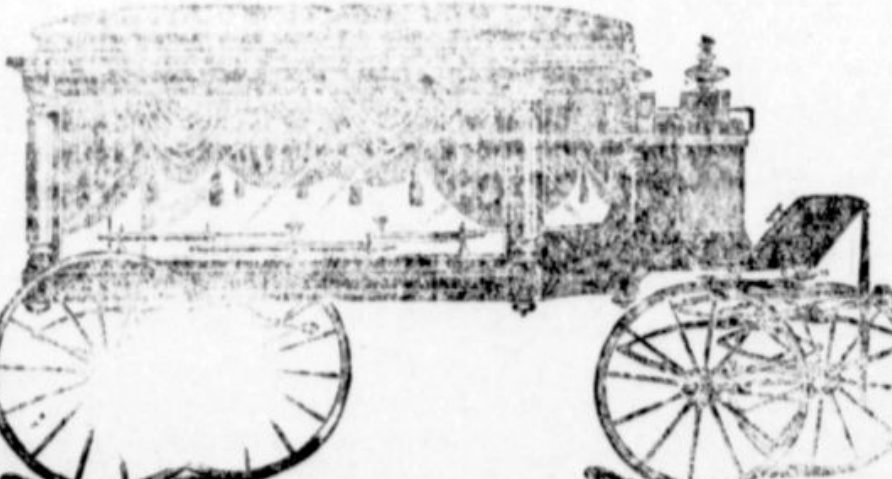

When the bones slipped back into their places a loud report was heard as though a pistol had been shot off in the room. The doctors now have hope of his recovery.

Most any farmer can take an old forty-dollar mule, shave up his tail and mane with his wife's scissors and by feeding him a little oats and soda and boosting him a little with his eloquence can make him bring $75. But brains count for nothing in selling cotton as long as speculators rule. The most intelligent and ambitious farmer must sell cotton as cheap as the most vicious and ignorant negro or Mexican.

How to Cure Liver Trouble

Keep Your Bowels Regular and Your Stomach Sweet

People sometimes imagine when they have liver trouble or are bilious that the main thing to do is to take physic. Taking pills and keeping your bowels regular are two very different matters. The use of a violent cathartic does not mean the cure of constipation or the establishment of regular movements. A physic is an emergency remedy, but never a bowel treatment. If the bowels do not move regularly there is a reason deeper seated than the mere clogging up that is removed by a dose of salts or pills.

When that drowsy, tired feeling, with the coated tongue, the dull head, the sour stomach, the sallow complexion, constipated bowels and touches of fever come on it is time to take a medicine that will act on the bowels gently and mildly, cleansing and strengthening them, stir up the liver and aid the stomach in digesting the food.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does this every time. Take a few doses and see how quickly the drowsy feeling leaves, regular bowel movements come back, with a good appetite and perfect digestion, and you soon feel like your old self. It does not gripe nor pain, it acts smoothly, mildly and is very pleasant to take. Wm. Hinckman, Mesick, Mich., says: "I was troubled with indigestion and liver trouble. I have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin with fine results. It is a perfect laxative and I now feel as strong and well as formerly." Wm. Block, Niagara, Ill., says: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy I ever used for liver complaint or constipation." Mrs. R. H. Brown, Addington, Ind. Ter., was troubled with torpid liver and constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gave her prompt relief. All druggists sell it at 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Pepsin Syrup Co., 308 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. Is glad to send a free sample to anyone who has never used it and will give it a fair trial.

WHY SUFFER?

Breathe Hyomei And Kill The Loathsome Catarrh Germs.

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch, your breath will be foul, you will hawk and spit, and you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh have got you in their power; they are continually and consistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. They are now making your life miserable; in time they will sap your entire system of its energy, its strength, its vigor and vitality.

But there is one remedy that will kill the germs and cure catarrh, and that is Hyomei, the Australian dry air treatment.

Over Sea in Airship

Airline Route Across Ocean Is Sure to Come

By A. LEE STEVENS,

Aeronaut Inventor and Builder, and Member Aero Club of America.

New York is destined to be the great air port of the world. The magnificent harbor, which has attracted the ships from all parts of the world, will serve equally well when we navigate the air. We will be crossing the Atlantic ocean in three or four years. At first it will be done by some adventurous sportsman, but as our airships are improved and we grow more confident and skilled in handling airships their practical commercial value will appear. Some day we will see great airships, after making the trip from Europe in incredibly short time, hovering over our harbor and lowering their great boatlike baskets or cabins into the water, while tugs will bring them alongside the docks to land their passengers and freight. The future of the airship, it seems to me, lies in some improved form of the dirigible balloon. The development of this form has been carried further than in the case of the aeroplane. I am rather skeptical as to the commercial value of the aeroplane, at least for a long time to come. The dirigible balloon travels further, and if not as fast with more certainty. The French and German governments have accomplished much with their war balloons. They will stay aloft hours where the aeroplane will stay up for minutes. At the present stage of their development they are the more practical machine.

The lifting powers of balloons may be increased indefinitely by building larger bags. As we learn to control them better there is no reason why they should not be used as commercial machines. There is to-day a very general terror of the balloon and aerial navigation in general, but this will disappear largely as the airships become more familiar. I have made 1,280 ascensions and taken up nearly 600 persons without serious mishap. In time aerial navigation will grow safer as in the case of any other means of locomotion.

The airship is by no means as dangerous a vehicle as most people imagine. When accidents occur it is usually due to carelessness or ignorance, just as in the case of automobiles. The time has come when the pilots or navigators of airships should be governed by explicit laws. I purpose having some such legislation presented at Albany this fall. No one should be allowed to go up who has not received a pilot's license and proved his ability as an engineer. At present a pilot's license is granted to any one who has made ten ascensions, one at night, and has been passed by two regularly licensed pilots. I would suggest that the engineer on a dirigible or aeroplane be licensed in the same way.

Province of Art in the Future

By COUNT LEO TOLSTOI.

Art of the future—that is to say, such part of art as will be chosen from among all the art diffused among mankind—will consist not in transmitting feelings accessible only to members of the rich classes, as is the case to-day, but in transmitting such feelings as embody the highest religious perception of our times. Only those productions will be considered art which transmit feelings drawing men together in brotherly union, or such universal feelings as can unite all men.

Only such art will be chosen, tolerated, approved, and diffused. But art transmitting feelings flowing from antiquated, worn-out religious teachings—church art, patriotic art, voluptuous art, transmitting feelings of superstitious fear, of pride, of vanity, of ecstatic admiration of national heroes—art exciting exclusive love of one's own people, or sensuality, will be considered bad, harmful art and will be censured and despised by public opinion. All the rest of art transmitting feelings accessible only to a section of people will be considered unimportant and will be neither blamed nor praised. And the appraisal of art in general will devolve not, as is now the case, on a separate class of rich people, but on the whole people, so that for a work to be esteemed good and to be approved of and diffused it will have to satisfy the demands not of a few people living in identical and often unnatural conditions, but it will have to satisfy the demands of all those great masses of people who are situated in the natural conditions of laborious life.

The artist of the future will live the common life of men, earning his subsistence by some kind of labor. The fruits of that highest spiritual strength which passes through him he will try to share with the greatest possible number of people, for in such transmission to others of the feelings that have arisen in him he will find his happiness and his reward. The artist of the future will be unable to understand how an artist whose chief delight is in the wide diffusion of his works could give them only in exchange for a certain payment.

And the artists producing art also will not be as now, merely a few people selected from a small section of the nation, members of the upper classes and their hangers-on, but will consist of all those gifted members of the whole people who prove capable of and are inclined toward artistic activity.

Artistic activity then will be accessible to all men. It will become accessible to the whole people because, in the first place, in the art of the future not only will that complex technique which deforms the productions of the art of to-day and requires so great an effort and expenditure of time not be demanded, but, on the contrary, the demand will be for clearness, simplicity and brevity—conditions mastered not by mechanical exercises but by the education of taste. And secondly, artistic activity will become accessible to all men of the people because instead of the present professional schools which only some can enter, all will learn music and depictive art, singing and drawing, equally with letters in the elementary schools and in such a way that every man having received the first principles of drawing and music, and feeling a capacity for and a call to one or the other of the arts, will be able to perfect himself in it.

Another difference will be that art will not be produced by professional artists receiving payment for their work and engaged in nothing else besides their art. The art of the future will be produced by all members of the community who feel the need of such activity, but they will occupy themselves with art only when they feel such need.

A GOOD ONE ON PADUCAH.

We have been going to Paducah for forty years, but in all that time, we have never seen it as dead as it is now.

What it will look like when her public schools are suspended, God only knows. Her people refused to vote to tax themselves last week in order to continue the public schools. Think of a city with twenty-five thousand inhabitants with only six months schools. Her people should all move to the country where they would have the benefit of six and seven months and if they will come to Livingston county, the old home of most of her best people anyway, they can send them to school eight months in each year, in at least five graded school districts in the county. We extend to you an invitation to move out and join us where you can send your children to school. Come back to the old home and we will kill the fattest calf and put rings on your fingers for if you stay in Paducah and let your children grow up without an education, they will have rings put in their nose. --Livingston Banner.

His First Sermon.

On last Sunday at Baker church Rev. Ben H. Duncan appeared before a large congregation for the first time as a minister of the gospel. He used for a text Matt. 4:12: "And he saith unto them, Follow me and I will make you fishers of men."

He handled his subject well for a beginner. Brother Duncan is a son of Mr. Rice Duncan, of Rodney.

He is quite young, being only 18 years of age. May the Lord bless his work and may he live to preach the gospel many years.

DEATHS.

The distressing news of the death at Atoka, I. T., last Thursday of Robert M. Moore, eldest son of Judge and Mrs. James A. Moore, and brother of Hon. A. C. Moore, City Attorney John A. Moore, C. A. and D. B. Moore and Mrs. Levi Cook all of this city, and of R. E. Moore, of Madisonville, and Mrs. M. E. Bacon, of Hopkinsville, was received here soon afterwards in a brief telegram which was shockingly sudden as no intimation had been received by any member of the family of his being sick, nor did the message state the cause of his death, and not until Monday did the family receive definite information as to the cause of his death. Monday a letter was received from the wife of the dead man, which stated that he was killed by being caught between a tree and a log wagon, several of his ribs and his back being broken. He lived only a short time and was dead before the gentleman, with him, could get him home to his family. He was in his 46th year having been born, Dec. 5th, 1862. His death occurred Nov. 12th, 1908.

He is survived by his wife and five children.

Everyone here remembers "Bob Moore." He was born and reared to manhood in this county and has many friends and relatives in this county. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the aged parents, in the death of their first born, and to his brothers, sisters, widow and orphans.

His remains were laid to rest at Atoka Saturday.

DEATH OF HENRY LEDBETTER

Henry Ledbetter, of Elizabethtown, Ill., died at his home there last Saturday night of pneumonia, which he contracted while on a visit to Galesburg, Ill., the week before, on a business trip.

Mr. Ledbetter was well known here, where he and his family lived for several years.

His wife was Miss Mollie Walker, daughter of the late R. N. Walker and wife, Mrs. Jane Walker who lives here with her daughter, Miss Nelle Walker.

He was about fifty years of age and is survived by his wife and two sons, Robin and Walker.

The burial took place Wednesday at the Odd Fellow's cemetery, one mile north of Elizabethtown where their little daughter who died several years ago is buried.

The friends and relatives here of the bereaved widow, sympathize with her very much in her great bereavement.

J. G. McCAIN PASSES AWAY

Letters received by friends of the family, report the death of Joseph McCain at his home in Atwood, Kan., on Thursday, Nov. 5th. He was in the prime of life, Friday, Nov. 20th, would have been his 49th birthday had he lived.

He was carried away by that dread disease, typhoid fever, of which he had suffered for several weeks.

His wife who survives him with two living children, was Miss Martha Morse, daughter of J. B. Morse, now of Atwood, Kan., but a former Crittenden county citizen.

Mr. McCain was born in this county, Nov. 20th, 1859, and lived here many years before locating in the west. He and J. B. Morse, his wife's father, both lived at Curds-ville, Davies Co., Ky., several years and were engaged in the general merchandise business there, but decided to go west and grow up with the country.

Mr. Morse is now one of the largest land owners in his section and carries on farming on a large scale

RAISE PROTEST

Object to Methods of Planters' Association--Hold Mass Meeting

INTRODUCES RESOLUTIONS.

Demand Rights as White Free-Born Citizens--Want an Immediate Sale.

Kiddville, Ky., Nov. 10.--About 500 farmers of Lyon county met in Kuttawa and Lamaseo November 7, and passed a set of resolutions in connection with the Planters' Protective Association, the organization in which they have all pooled their tobacco crops. The meeting was called to protest against the manner in which the pooled tobacco in the association is being handled.

Hugh Lyon, a precinct chairman of the Lyon county branch of the association, was one of the principal figures of the mass-meeting, which was called to consider the advisability of the farmers of Lyon county signing the pooling contracts for another three years.

It is understood that members of the association in several of the adjoining counties will take up the several questions with the hope of agreeing upon a policy that will enable the growers to get their money sooner and with less expense and loss to their crops.

The growers claim that they can arrange to get an average of 9 cents in cash upon the delivery of their crops and that is what they are fighting for.

In concluding the resolutions the mass-assembly set forth in strong language the position they would take should the association fail to redress the alleged wrongs and complaints noted. They firmly resolve as "white, free-born citizens never to sign another obligation to the present Planters' Protective Association.
