VIRGIL Y. MOORE DELIVERS ADDRESS AT COMMENCEMENT.

Lexington, Ky., June 3.—Dr. William B. Smith, of Tulane University, New Orleans, delivered the address to the graduating class at the forty-first annual commencement exercises of Kentucky State University, which were held here to-day. The exercises were held in a large tent erected on the college campus.

The stage was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns and draped with American flags and was occupied by members of the faculty, members of the board of trustees and other prominent citizens of the Commonwealth. Gov. A. E. Wilson was unable to be present to deliver the diplomas, and they were presented by President Jas. K. Patterson, assisted by Prof. Jas. G. White. An immense crowd packed the auditorium to its utmost capacity. Preceding the regular exercises the degree of LL. D. was conferred upon the following: William Benjamin Smith, New Orleans, La.; David William Moffett, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Joshua O. Garrett, Hanover, Ind.; Cassius Marcellus Clay, Paris, Ky.; Judge Warner L. Settle, Frankfort; Judge Edward Clay O'Rear, Frankfort.

In addition to the address of Dr. Smith, which was the central feature of the occasion, the program was as follows:
Essay, "Man, the Heir of All the Ages," Sarah Rachel Kanfman, Arts and Science, Lexington.
Oration, "The Era of Technical Education," Hiter H. Lowry, Jr., Mechanical Engineering, Nicholasville.
Music.
Oration, "The Pleasures of Farm Life," George Thomas Scott, Agricultural, Madisonville.
Oration, "Civil Engineering and the Civil Engineer," Robert Schuyler Haff, Civil Engineering, Frankfort.
Music.
Oration, "Effects of Mining on the World," Harry Edward Taylor, Mining Engineering, Crawford, Tenn.

Oration, "The Law and the Kentuckian," Virgil Yandell Moore, of Marion, class representative.

The honor graduates were Robert Schuyler Haff in Civil Engineering; George Frances Browning and Hiter H. Lowry, Jr., in Mechanical Engineering, having received an average grade of 14 out of a possible 15.
Virgil Y. Moore, the class representative, in his oration, "The Law and the Kentuckian," referred to current events in the State, and in a sensational way which attracted much attention. After telling the members of his class that he did not regard them as the choice sons and daughters of the nation, he launched into the discussion of the recent lawless occurrences. He said:

"Scarce have the echoes of the pistol shot died away in the rugged mountains of the East, than the smoke of the burning barns darkens the heavens in the once haughty Pennyrile of the West and ere the lash of the mob has ceased to sting the bleeding back of some harmless citizen in the country, the morning papers are being sold with scare headlines as to graft and corruption so common in the rotten municipal governments of our cities."

The reason Mr. Moore assigned for this disregard of law is that from the Judge on the bench to the culprit, from the minister to the social outcast, there is a disrespect for the law, closing with an appeal to his classmates to respect the law.

The address of Dr. Smith to the graduating class was one of the most scholarly and thoughtful ever delivered in Kentucky and the eminent educator was heartily applauded.

A Fine Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Maxwell, of Ardmore, Okla., are being congratulated on the arrival of Miss Mary Belle Maxwell the second at their home, Primrose Hill, Thursday, June 3rd, and cards announcing the happy event were received in this city this week. They read as follows:

There's a flutter of wings through the air so still,

And baby has come to Primrose Hill, She's wrinkled and pink as the heart of a rose

From the tip of her head to her wee little toes.

Her name is Miss Maxwell, and she just came to-day.

But she's unpacked her suit case and says she will stay.
To her friends we send greeting and ask their good will

For the baby who comes, out on Primrose Hill.

Texans Selling This Year's Crop at $1.35 And Up.

Ft. Worth, Tex., June 6.—Reports received here from Denton, in the wheat growing belt of north Texas, show that the first of this season's wheat in the United States is being contracted for at $1.35 and upward. In some instances farmers are securing contracts that they will receive any advance that may occur in the market at any time the wheat is threshed. Millers are eagerly buying the crop at the prevailing quotations.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE MEETS

Hon. M. F. Pogue Recommended to the Legislative District Committee For the Nomination for the Office of Representative.

Miss Clara Nunn Receives Nomination for Super- intendent of County Schools.

OTHER NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE LATER.

The Democratic County Committee met Monday in Marion. The attendance was larger than in years.

The discussion pertained to county and legislative politics alone. All action taken was unanimous; and no friction developed on any of the various matters brought before the committee.

HON. MARION F. POGUE.

Hon. M. F. Pogue, of Frances, was recommended to the Legislative District Committee for nomination for representative, and Miss Clara Nunn, of the Bella Mines section, was nominated for County School Superintendent. A resolution was adopted declining to What is Democratic?

The Democrats who voted against free lumber have Voted to repudiate the national platform of the Democratic party;

Voted to encourage the destruction of our forests;

Voted to raise the price of one of the chief necessities of life;

Voted to tax a material that enters into a multitude of industries, and thus to place an unnecessary burden on these industries;

Voted to tax the people of the whole country for the benefit of a comparatively few owners of timber lands; and Voted to tax a majority of their own constituents for the benefit of a minority of those constituents.

To cast such a vote a Democrat must have arguments that have not yet been given to the public and must be prepared to present these arguments to his constituents.

The Commoner will give space (up to two thousand words) to any Democratic senator or member of congress who desires to present an argument in favor of a duty on lumber, provided he will in his article answer the following questions:

First, is a platform binding?

Second, is it wise to encourage the devastation of our forest?

Third, will the country as a whole be benefited by a tariff on lumber, and if so, how?

Fourth, how many of his constituents produce lumber as compared with the number of his constituents who use lumber?

Fifth, will he give the names of the men who have by letter or in person urged him to vote for the tariff on lumber?

The Commoner also invites brief letters from constituents who either approve of or condemn the votes cast by their Democratic senators or congressmen. The Commoner believes that the Democratic senators and members of congress who voted against free lumber have greatly embarrassed the Democratic party, greatly strengthened the Republican party, and grievously wronged their constituents.—Bryan Commoner.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

One of the prettiest weddings which has ever taken place in Tolu occurred Wednesday evening, June 2nd, 1909, at 8:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church when Miss Frances Stewart Shepherd and Mr. Ed Holbert Flannery were united in marriage by the Rev. C. R. Montgomery, of Elizabethtown, Ill., the ring ceremony being used.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with masses of potted plants, white roses and lilies. An arch was formed in the background with festoons of green and in the center was a mound of plants surmounted by a bunch of lilies. The front of the altar was banked with green and white. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. L. E. Guess as the bride party advanced down the aisle. The two groomsmen, Mr. Charles Lear and M. Peyt Shepherd, came first walking together until the altar was reached, then one going on either side. The bride's attendants Mrs. J. L. Clifton, of Marion, and Miss Maude Lawrence, of Evansville, Ind., followed and immediately after them came the bride and groom.

The bride was beautiful in a princess gown of white chiffon with trimmings of mehlum lace and insertion. Her veil of tulle was fastened with grecian bands and rosettes of white satin ribbon and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. Mrs. Clifton was gown in a princess of white Paris muslin and Miss Lawrence wore silk crepe, both carrying pale pink carnations and smilax.

Mr. and Mrs. Flannery left Saturday night for Wolf Creek, Ky., their future home. The bride's going away gown was a rep coat suit with hat of tuscany braid.

Miss Shepherd is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kit Shepherd, of Tolu, and is a beautiful and popular young lady. Mr. Flannery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Flannery, of Wolf Creek, Ky., and is a pilot on the towboat, Pittsburg. He is a well known young man and numbers his friends by his acquaintances.

A large and elegant collection of gifts were received by the popular young couple.

Tobacco Beds Scraped.

The Eddyville Herald says: Unknown parties scraped the tobacco beds of Frank Thomas, a cropper on the farm of Mrs. Sallie P. Cattlett, last Sunday night. Frank intended setting fifteen acres and when he went to his beds Monday morning to draw plants and set his crop, found them destroyed. He will set no crop. There is no clew to the identity of the persons who did the damage. It may not be generally known that the soldiers camped on the premises of Mrs. Cattlett contrary to her wishes, but there is an impression that this may be the reason why the plants were destroyed on these premises.

NOTICE.

That I or one of my deputies will on the 28th day of June, 1909, at the court house door in Marion Crittenden County, Kentucky, that being the first day of the June term of the Crittenden Circuit Court, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock of said day offer for sale to the highest and best bidder, on a credit of six months, purchaser being required to give bond with approved personal security, a lien being retained in same upon the property sold, the following described real estate levied upon or as the property of William J. Stone or so much thereof as will be necessary to bring $368.25, with interest and cost of sale.

First tract being lot number two, conveyed to him William J. Stone by commissioners appointed to divide the real estate of Daniel Stone, deceased, among his heirs, containing 45 acres and bounded as follows:—beginning at a stake corner to number 1, running with a line of same N. 75 1-4, E. 130 poles to a black gum corner to lot Number 1, on the road; thence with said road S. 20, E 18 poles; thence S. 28 poles; thence S 30, W 11 poles to a stake; thence N 51-2, W 48 poles to the beginning. Containing 45 acres and known as lot Number 2 in the division of Doc Stone's land among his heirs.

Also the undivided interest or so much as may be necessary, of one ninth of the said William J. Stone in a tract of land, which, in the division of the estate of Daniel Stone deceased was laid out to Fanny Stone his widow, mother of William J. Stone defendant herein; and and been the same tract of land, home- stead and dower conveyed to her by the Commissioners in said division and later by her to John Franklin.

For a more perfect description of said tract of land references is made to the Commissioners deeds of conveyance of same to said parties in the division of said land, of record in the Clerk's Office of the Crittenden County Court.

Given under my hand and as Sheriff of said county on this the 22nd day of May 1909.

Junction Youth Highly Honored.

A young man from Grand Junction captures the highest honors of the Denver University Law School, one of the greatest law schools of the country. Last night, at Trinity church, at the commencement exercises of the various departments of the university, R. Hickman Walker, of Grand Junction, was presented by Chancellor Henry A. Buchel with the faculty prize of law school.

The faculty prize is awarded to the member of each graduating class who makes the highest average grade each year of the three years' course, and Mr. Walker making the highest average for each of the three years, was the first honors of the class and the faculty prize. The faculty prize consists of $50 in gold and the degree of Cum Laude, Bachelor of Law. Mr. Walker is one of the youngest graduates turned out in the 17 years history of the Denver University Law School. There are 25 members in the class of 1909.

The young man was for two years stenographer for the late Justice Chas. F. Caswell of the state supreme court. He is a son of R. C. Walker, of this city.

On going to Denver three years ago to enter the law school he announced that he proposed to pay his own expenses, and, by stenographic work out of school hours, he paid all of his expenses during the years of his work at college.—Grand Junction Sentinel.

A RAINBOW IN THE SKY.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian comments thusly on the defeat of Judge Cook for the nomination of circuit judge in the district composed of the counties of Christian, Trigg, Lyon and Calloway:

The defeat of Judge Thomas Cook is one of the most hopeful signs that the night rider troubles are at an end.

Soon after the raid of Dec. 7, 1907, Judge Cook expressed himself as on the side of the law and his influence was given to that side in the prosecutions that were begun. It is said he went before a committee of the Law and Order League and made promises that he afterward unfortunately failed to keep.

Judge Hanbery is the first Christian county man who has been nominated for circuit judge by the Democrats in forty odd years. With the exception of two years Judge Breathitt filled the position, no Christian county has held it since before Judge Hanbery was born 40 years ago.

The nominee is a self-made young man, who has fought his way to the head of the local bar. He is a member of the Baptist church and is an honest, upright man and his friends have faith in him and believe he will do his duty as judge. It is not believed that he will have a Republican opponent. His name on the county ticket will give fresh hope to the Democrats and a winning fight for county office is already being planned.

The Kentuckian is well pleased with the result for several reasons.

Kodol

For Dyspepsia and Indigestion

If you Suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Belching, Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, etc., a little Kodol will Relieve you almost Instantly

Kodol supplies the same digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach. Being a liquid, it starts digestion at once.

Kodol not only digests your food, but helps you enjoy every mouthful you eat.

You need a sufficient amount of good, wholesome food to maintain strength and health. But, this food must be digested thoroughly, otherwise the pains of indigestion and dyspepsia are the result.

When your stomach cannot do its work properly, take something to help your stomach. Kodol is the only thing that will give the stomach complete rest.

Why? Because Kodol does the same work as a strong stomach, and does it in a natural way.

So, don't neglect your stomach. Don't become a chronic dyspeptic. Keep your stomach healthy and strong by taking a little Kodol. You don't have to take Kodol all the time. You only take it when you need it.

Kodol is perfectly harmless.

MURDERS MAN NEARPLANT BED

And Surrenders to the Constable Sherroff and is Placed in Jail.

NOT THOUGHT TO BE ARMED.

SPRINGFIELD, Tenn., May 26 Jas Unger shot and killed Lewis Holloway at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon about half way between Cedar Hill and Adams, in this county.

Unger surrendered to Mathew Sherroff constable at Adams, and was brought to Springfield and lodged in jail. Unger is a middle aged man and Holloway is about 21. Holloway worked for Unger on his farm last year and it is said there existed bad feeling between them about the crops. Unger's plant bed was scraped Saturday night and it is said that when he saw Holloway passing near the bed he fired on him killing him instantly. It is not stated whether Holloway was armed or not.

THE VALUE OF BRAIN

One good strategist is worth several armies. That is why Napoleon could accomplish more than all his Marshals together. It was he who said: "You can never out number a brain."

That is why the single Robert E. Lee, south of Mason and Dixon's line, was more formidable than all the Union Generals together. Had Lee served with the North rather than the South, said Lincoln, the war would have ended two years sooner.

Thus, too, the greatest living military writer, Lecompte, has declared that Von Moltke, on the side of the French, in 1870, would have turned the scale in favor of France. [Uncle Sam's Magazine.]

A Thrilling Rescue.

How Bert R. Leau, of Cheney, Wash., was saved from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. "A hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled an expert doctor here. Then I paid $10 to $15 a visit to a lung specialist in Spokane, who did not help me. Then I went to California, but without benefit. At last I used Dr. King's New Discover, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." KILLED

Hunter Meets Tragic Death Below Hickman.

Hickman, Ky., June 6.—News was received here of the tragic death of Will DeLeon at Three States, ten miles below Hickman. Will DeLeon and Peter Wheeler were out turkey hunting, but neither knew of the presence of the other.

DeLeon had a turkey caller, and was imitating the turkey call and Wheeler, ceasing the call and supposing it was a wild turkey, was answering. DeLeon hearing what he believed to be the turkey getting nearer, hid himself behind a tree and waited to get a chance to shoot. As Wheeler came closer, still giving the turkey call, DeLeon moved a little to look out, setting a clump of bushes in motion, and Wheeler, thinking the turkey was in the bushes, fired. The whole load entered DeLeon's face, severing the tongue. DeLeon lived three minutes. He was a young man of 23 years and had been married only a few months.

ROOSEVELT AT JU JA RANCH.

Kermit, Lost From Expedition, Spends Night in Woods Alone.

ROOSEVELT A GREAT HUNTER

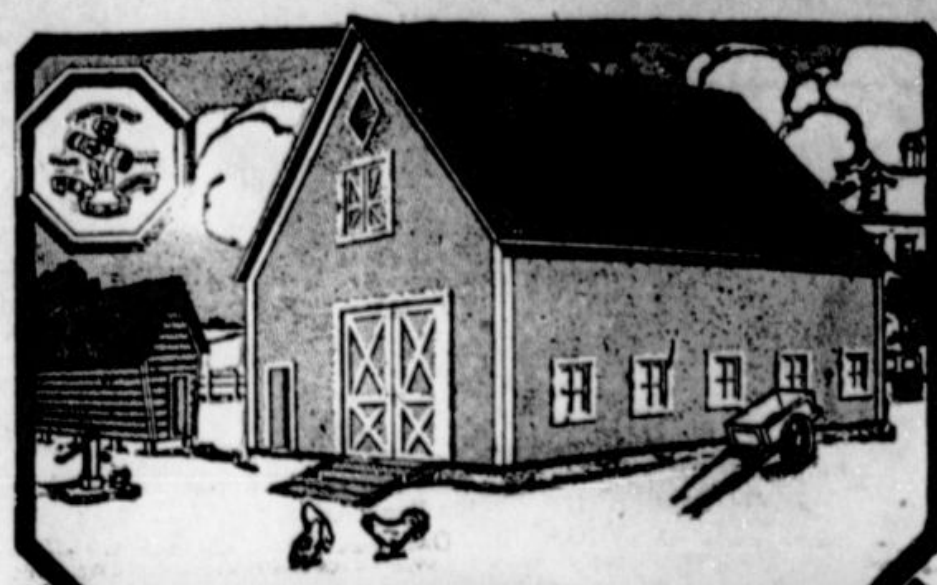

NAIROBI, British East Africa, June 8.—Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by his son Kermit, arrived at the Ju Ja ranch of George McMillan today.

They came from their camp at Machakos. They will remain at Ju Ja from four to ten days according to the luck they have in hunting Impalis, buffalo, warthog and water buck. At the conclusion of their visit with Mr McMillan Mr. Roosevelt and his son will come to Nairobi. The porters of the expedition will go south from the Ju Ja ranch to avoid the smallpox here. Mr. Roosevelt and Kermit will spend a few days in Nairobi and then leave to rejoin the expedition.

It was learned here early today that Kermit lost his way from his father's camp near Machakos last Friday and spent an entire day alone on horseback riding through a region unknown to him. On Saturday he turned up at Kiu, a station on the railway, inquiring there the way to the camp. He was given the desired directions.

The region in which Kermit Roosevelt is reported to have been lost lies between the Athi river and the Uganda railway. Kiu, where he finally found himself, is about fifty miles below Nairobi and thirty or forty miles southeast of Machakos. There is an old cart road from Machakos to Kiu, but otherwise the country and the region thereabout is very sparsely inhabited by natives of the Wakaunda tribe, a peaceful people engaged chiefly in agriculture.

BAND PLAYS

Speaker Jokes; Women in Crush at Atheist's Martial Funeral.

Ada, O., June 3.—Two thousand people struggled Sunday afternoon to gain admission to the funeral of Wm. Henry Morrow, 77, atheist, which was held in the national guard armory at Ada.

A band, composed mostly of Ohio Northern university cadets, played a patriotic melody of air in a funeral parade through the streets. Everything was carried out just as Morrow had arranged two years before his death.

The armory held only 1500 people. Men who could not gain admission rushed against women and children in frantic effort to pass through the doorway and two women fainted.

Obituary cards, with red white and blue borders, containing Morrow's undelivered and small American flags were distributed as the crowd rushed past the bier to obtain seats.

Rev. O. B. Pershing, First Presbyterian church, pleaded with the members of his congregation, in a Sunday morning sermon, not to attend the funeral.

"Christians should not go to hear scoffers," he said.

A. W. Clutter, a business man, opened the service without ceremony. He reviewed the dead man's life. Morrow had been a Baptist minister, but turned against Christianity. He had been health officer and head of the Ada Building & Loan association for 20 years. He was a G. A. R. man and had lost an arm in the battle of Chancellorsville. ATHEISM IS LAUDED.

Dr. J. M. Wilson, of Cincinnati, spent two hours in lauding atheism. Dr. Wilson joked as he talked and brought some laughter from the audience.

"That right, laugh," he said, "We are not here to mourn."

"Morrow was a square man," Dr. Wilson said. "If he had any faults I know of I'd name them. We are not here to consider Morrow as an angel, doomed for paradise, with a celestial prize package in his possession. He believed, as I do, that death ends all."

PLAY YANKEE DOOLE.

"Yankee Doodle" was the selection Morrow had wanted played when the speaking was concluded. The band master carried out his directions.

Morrow's widow and his four grown children were the last to leave the hall.

The band played "Marching Through Georgia," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" and the "Star Spangled Banner" as the members of the Morrow family were escorted home.

TO CREMATE REMAINS

Morrow's remains will be brought to Cleveland Tuesday for cremation.

The ashes will be buried in Woodland cemetery, Ada.

Morrow chose his coffin two years ago and erected a tombstone with inscription expressing disbelief in a hereafter.

One motto read:

"Give humanity truth, not myth; knowledge, not dogmas"

A verse from Mark Twain reads: "Look at Adam, what have we done for Adam? What has Adam done for us? Everything. He gave us life; he gave us death; he gave us heaven he gave us hell"

Mild Laxative for Baby Free

The child of today is the parent of the future, and whether it grows up healthy and strong, or puny and weak, depends upon the intelligence of its parents, for most children are born into the world healthy, but thousands become future weaklings between birth and the age of ten, when the parents are still in greatest control.

The prime cause of trouble is in the stomach. A baby that is digesting its food seldom cries and always looks cheerful; the little child whose stomach is good romps and plays and never whines; the growing child learns well at school and is eager for fun if its head is clear and its stomach light, and that means if it has no constipation.

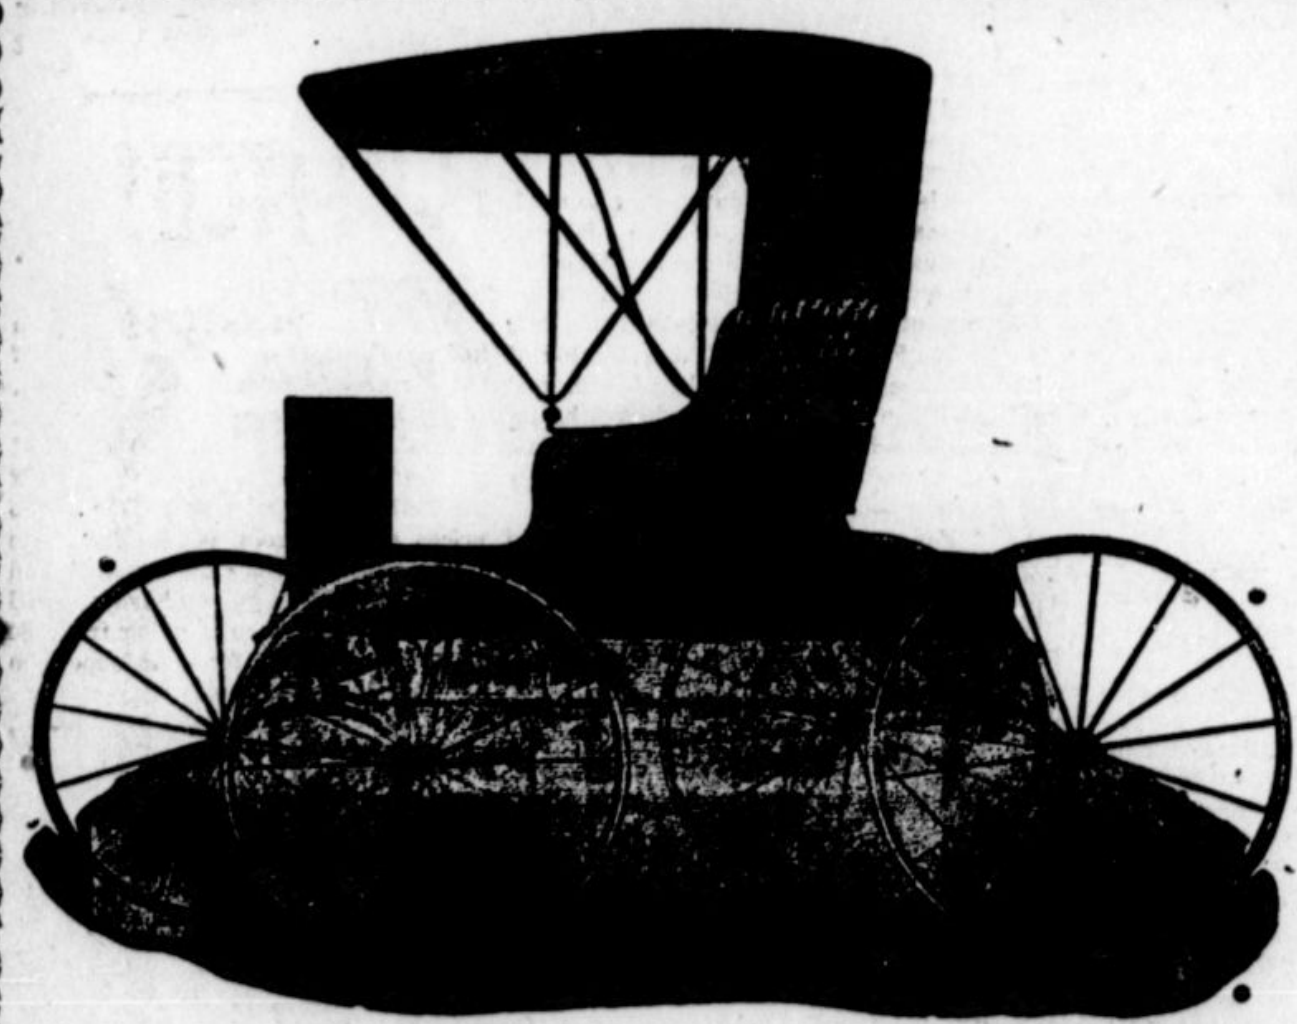

The best and safest way to cure any irregularity of the stomach and bowels in children is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a liquid laxative wonderful in its effect as Mrs. John W. Dunham, Apple Creek, O., Mrs. H. L. Cullum, Plainville, Ind., and numerous others can testify who give it to their children with extraordinary results.

A bottle only costs 50 cents or $1 according to the size you want, and even one 50-cent bottle will do a wonderful amount of good in a family. It can be given to any member of the family in constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, dyspepsia, heartburn, sick headache and similar digestive troubles. It never gripes or strangles like pills, tablets, salts and powders, which should not be given to children, women or old folks.

If you have a child or other member of the family who needs, but has never used this grand laxative tonic, send your name and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent to your home. In this way you can find out what it will do without personal expense.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 200 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Let each local make special effort for stock for the purpose of buying the tobacco factory at Marion and the amount of subscriptions be sent to me at Marion by mail or delegates.

Let every true union man in the county attend this meeting that can.

Yours Truly,

crop of tobacco. Please get all pooled you can by that day and report by delegates, also secure as much subscription to the tobacco warehouse as possible and report.

I am fraternally yours,
G. P. GRIFFITH, Sec'y and Treas. of Crittenden county.

A class of 40 young ladies, midwinter graduates of a Chicago high school, appeared at the commencement exercises arrayed in costumes prepared by their own hands. The material for their gowns, purchased "in lump," cost the wearers $1.38 each. Among the class were daughters of the rich and the poor, all dressed alike, both tastefully and becomingly. Here was no room for envy or pride, nor occasion for poor families to sacrifice necessary comforts to procure a graduating costume for the daughter in order that she might compare favorably with her wealthy associates.

The advancement of modern science and invention is making fame a decidedly comparative affair. A woman climber has covered herself with glory by ascending 24,000 feet in a mountain climb, the highest point ever reached. Yet when the Wrights and their fellow inventors have made aerial transit a common affair, anybody at all can fly to the highest mountain tops and think little of it.

The British lieutenant governor of Bengal says that what India needs is a Christian grandmother. But this is not a new discovery. The only permanent civilization of a nation is that which must come through the civilizing of its women. It is not enough for modern ideas to convince the head of a country; it must also touch its heart.

March broke a number of records, among them being that of post-office receipts. Those for the New York office were $300,000 greater than for the same month a year ago. And postal payments are a pretty good index to business conditions.

The Western Christian Advocate calls the spring hats "outlandish, hideous, unseemly, obstructive, impudent, self-assertive, loud, dominant aids and abettors of the devil." Outside of that, they're all right.

Apocryphal Books:—2 Esdras, chapter 4.

First Book of Esdras.—The name Esdras is but another form of Ezra. As regards the antiquity of this book and the rank assigned to it in the early church, it may suffice to mention that Josephus quotes largely from it, and follows its authority. It is quoted also by Clemente Alexandrinus, by Cyprian, Augustine, Ambrosius and other fathers. Nothing can be clearer on the other hand than that it is rightly included among the Apocrypha. That it was never known to exist in Hebrew and formed no part of the Hebrew canon is admitted by all. A two-fold design is discernible in the compiler of the book. One was to introduce and give Scriptural sanction to the legend about Zerubbabel; the other to explain the great obscurities of the Book of Ezra, in which the author has signally failed. As regards the time and place when the compilation was made, the original portion is that which alone affords much clear. This seems to indicate that the writer was thoroughly conversant with Hebrew, even if he did not write the book in that language. He was well acquainted too, with the Books of Esther and Daniel, and other books of Scripture.

SERMONETTE.

"Canst thou by searching find out God? Canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?" Such was the question propounded by Zophar the Naamathite in his controversy with Job, and it is the question which comes some time or other to every seeking heart.

Esdras was troubled by the mysteries of God and sought to fathom the infinite. How hopeless was the task! And rest and quiet could not come to his heart until the angel of God had come and led him to realize that he could not do more than to rest content with the thought that God was, and was a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

Esdras was troubled, as was David of old, by the prosperity of the wicked. He knew that the misery of his people, the Jews, was the result of sin, but the question arose in his heart: Are not the people of the world transgressors of God's law also, and are not they the masters of the Jew? Where was the justice of it all?

But he forgot, like many others of God's children, that it is "the son whom the Father chasteneth." They who are not of the household live and work and reap and sow and pass away without special care or discipline at the hands of the Father, but not so those who have yielded their hearts and lives to God and come into the household of faith where God is Father and Jesus Christ is elder brother. Then begins a new relationship of love and care which is no more strongly manifested than in the chastening which comes. It is thus that the gold is tried out and the dross destroyed. It is thus that the life is purified and made fit to abide in the presence of the Father and to enjoy the blessings of the eternal home.

THE STORY.

ESDRAS was troubled. Scribe and priest though he was, there had crept in his heart honest questionings.

Was God a reality? Was he just? Did it pay to be called a child of his? Here was the nation of Israel and their city of Jerusalem in distress, and here was the godless Babylon holding dominion over them.

Where was God that such things could be? Are their deeds any better that inhabit Babylon, that they should therefore have dominion over Zion?

Such were the doubts and troubled thoughts which stirred the heart of Esdras as he walked alone in the quiet of the midnight hour.

"I have seen how thou sufferest them sinning and has spared wicked doers, and has destroyed thy people and hast preserved thine enemies," exclaimed Esdras.

He spoke not irreverently, but the anguish of his heart forced him to give expression as though talking to God, for he felt if God were in the heavens he must speak to him the thoughts which were in possession of his heart.

"Are they of Babylon better than they of Zion?" he went on. "Or is there any other people that are thy chosen people? For what generation is there which hath so believed thy covenants as the children of Jacob? And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labor hath no fruit. For I have gone here and there through the heathen, and I see they flow in wealth and think not upon thy commandments. Weigh thou, therefore, our wickedness now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world; and so shall thy name nowhere be found but in Israel. Or when was it that they which dwell upon the earth have not sinned in thy sight, or what people hath so kept thy commandments? Thou shalt find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen."

As the complaining voice of the oppressed and he sat in moody silence there came a slight rustling garments at his side and he shook forth for, for he knew that he was not alone.

"Who art thou, and why thy presence here?" questioned Esdras with trembling voice.

"God hath heard thy questionings and hast sent his angel. It is Uriel who speaketh and bringeth a message from God, who would say to thee:

"Thy heart hath gone too far in this world, and thinketh thou to comprehend the way of the most high?"

"Yea, my Lord, that I might understand," faltered Esdras.

"I am sent unto thee to show thee three ways and to set forth three similitudes before thee. Wherefore, if thou canst declare unto me one I will show thee also the way that thou desirest to see and I will show thee from whence the wicked heart cometh."

"Tell on, my Lord," eagerly exclaimed Esdras, for the yearning in his heart was after the truth of God.

Then said Uriel the angel: "Go thy way; weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call back again the day that is past."

"What man is able to do that, that thou shouldst ask such things of me?" exclaimed Esdras in amazement.

"If I should ask thee how many great dwellings are in the midst of the sea, or how many springs are in the beginning of the deep, or how many springs are above the firmament, or which are the outgoings of paradise, peradventure thou wouldst say unto me: 'I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell; neither did I ever climb up into heaven.' Nevertheless, now have I asked thee but only of fire and of wind and of the day where through thou hast passed, and of things from which thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou give me no answer of them."

A long and painful silence followed, in which there were peculiar stirrings in the heart of Esdras and a pricking of his conscience as he realized the wicked blindness of his own heart. Then the angel again broke the silence and said:

"Thine own things and such as are grown up with them thou canst not know; how shouldst thou then be able to comprehend the way of the Highest, and the world being now outwardly corrupted, to understand the corruption that is evident in thy sight?"

"But it were better that we were not at all than that we should live still in wickedness and to suffer and not to know wherefore," exclaimed Esdras.

"I went out into a forest," said the angel, "and the trees took counsel and said: 'Come, let us go and make war against the sea, that it may depart away before us and that we may make more woods.' The floods of the sea also in like manner took counsel and said: 'Come, let us go up and subdue the woods of the plain, that there also we may make us another country.' The thought of the woods was in vain, for the fire came and consumed it. The thought of the floods of the sea came likewise to naught, for the sand stood up and stopped them. If thou wert judge now betwixt these two," continued Uriel, "whom wouldst thou begin to justify? Or whom wouldst thou condemn?"

"Verily it is a foolish thought that they both have devised," spoke up Esdras, thoughtfully, "for the ground is given unto the wood; the sea also hath his place to bear his floods." "Ah," replied Uriel. "Thou hast given a right judgment; but why judgest thou not thyself also? For like as the ground is given to the wood and the sea to his floods, even so they that dwell upon the earth may understand nothing but that which is upon the earth, and he that dwelleth above the heavens may understand the things that are above the height of the heavens."

Over the soul of Esdras there swept a flood of contrition and of a need of greater wisdom, and he cried out in eager pleading:

"I beseech thee, O Lord, let me have understanding."

"The more thou searchest," responded Uriel, "the more thou shalt marvel; for the world hasteth fast to pass away and cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come. For this,

Your Work and Your World.

You are never worth much until some one needs you. Happiness depends on being useful, or, at least, believing that we are. The superfluous person is always in danger. He is out of place in a universe so ordered that its perfection depends on each one taking his place and doing his work. There never was a normal life of which it could not be truly said that the world had need of him.

It is better to make the vain man's error of thinking that the fate of the world hangs in suspension, dependent on your existence, than to fly to the opposite extreme and to lie inert, believing that it makes no difference whatever whether you are alive or not, whether you do your work or not. The value of any life depends much on its sense of being essential to all lives.

The W. O. W. decoration was successful in every way Sunday afternoon. A large crowd was in attendance, the sovereigns marching in a body from the camp to the cemetery where songs were sung, a talk by Dr. Frazer and all the Woodmen graves were covered with floral remembrances, after which the march was resumed to the camp, where they dispersed.

Charles Fiske, of Paducah, an expert safe opener, was here Monday and succeeded in opening the safe in the Press building which Davis & Davis used last year. While Davis was ill the memorandum of the combination was accidentally locked in the safe and afterward when the firm went into bankruptcy the safe was retained in the United States court. Judge E. W. Bagley, referee, has made every effort to have the safe opened without drilling and was as successful, as stated. There was a voluminous lot of papers, several trays of watches, chains and other jewelry and a small amount of currency and change in it. Mr. Fiske, who was busy for almost an hour, got $20 for "knowing how" to open it.

You will notice that our lot owners living away from Marion are sending their contributions in. Let our town folks be as prompt.

TO HOLD MASS CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the District Sunday school officers held the first Sunday afternoon in May at the Methodist church, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Sunday schools composing the Marion district hold a mass convention at the Crittenden Sulphur Springs, on a day hereafter to be fixed, during the month of June, to which convention the Sunday schools of said district are requested to attend in a body, each school providing conveyances for its own membership.

At a meeting of these officers held at the Presbyterian church June 6, Thursday, June 24, was selected for the day of this convention.

The Sunday school comprising the Marion district include all the Sunday schools of Marion, Chapel Hill and Crooked Creek.

The county convention will be held sometime the latter part of August.

Picnic At Walker's Pond.

Tuesday, June 8th, 1909, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Flannery, of Houston, Tex., who are visiting in the county. The following old friends and neighbors met at the Walker pond for a good old time fishing and picnic:

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Bracey, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Easley, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Green, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Wathen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cook, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Flannery, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Flannery, of Houston, Texas; Mrs. Clara Nunn; Messrs. Dodd, Walker and Lacy Cook; Misses Bert Bracey, Ruth Cook, Amy Wathen, Kittie Wathen, Allie Wathen, Ora Hale, Henry Easley, Nonie and Mebba Williams, Ebbie Wathen and Irene Bracey.

The weather was ideal and never did a jollier crowd assemble. Recalling incidents of bygone days, handshaking and telling jokes, coupled with the fishing and the old Kentucky hospitality, when the dinner was spread went to make a most delightful day (one never to be forgotten).

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind. — "Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bleed, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman." — Mrs. MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Marion People Have Found That This is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench. A little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spills of backache often follow. Or some irregularity of the urine. A certain remedy for such attacks.

A medicine that answers every call. Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.

Many Marion people rely on it. Here is Marion proof.

S. E. Walker, contractor, Marion, Ky., says: "I first began to suffer from kidney complaint after recovering from a serious illness. My back ached severely and I was unable to work for three months on this account. The pains in my loins seemed to be more severe at night and I arose in the morning feeling lame and sore. I was dull, languid and nervous and often suffered from headache and dizzy spells. There was a heavy sediment in the kidney secretions and the passages were too frequent, causing me to arise often at night. Whenever I took cold it affected my kidneys and at such times the kidney secretions became very painful in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Haynes & Taylor's drug store, gave me a complete cure and I am pleased to state that I have not had any return of the trouble since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WHAT THE WORLD OWES TO PRESBYTERIANISM

By REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D., Pastor of the Chicago Ave. (Moody's) Church, Chicago.

"The Lord God omnipotent reigneth."—Rev. 19:6.

Election by Free Grace.

In all its official utterances the Presbyterian church has been loyal to the Bible as the inerrant, infallible word of God. So far as I know, it has never uttered a word through any official channel casting a doubt upon the Bible as the authoritative word of God. On the contrary, it has made religious unbelievers very uncomfortable in its ranks.

Robert Watts in answer to the question, "What is Presbyterianism?" declares that the heart of its teaching is in the word Imputation. 1. The imputation of Adam's sin to the race. 2. The imputation of our sins to Christ. 3. The imputation of Christ's righteousness to us.

The basis of all this is atonement through the blood of Christ. Though Presbyterianism exalts the ordinances of the church into sacraments, there is no cleansing power in the water of baptism, nor is there transubstantiation or consubstantiation in the Lord's Supper. "Election by free grace" gives us the secret of the blessings which have come to the world through the emphasis which Presbyterianism has placed upon the sovereignty of God and consequent human responsibility. God is the sovereign ruler of the universe and should have no rival. As sovereign he has the right to command, it is our duty to obey. Sin is rebellion against a sovereign God who reigns in righteousness. Salvation has its source in the love and mercy of a sovereign God.

Liberty. This doctrine of God's sovereignty and man's consequent responsibility has done more than any other one thing to break the rule of tyrants and give to the world civil and religious liberty. If God is sovereign, no man has a right to lord it over his fellows. All are equal before God and all should serve him while they accord to every one else the same privilege. The men who in our history threw the tea overboard in Boston harbor believed that God reigns in righteousness and that it was not right in his sight to pay taxes without representation in parliament. Faith in the sovereignty of God inspired the sentence in the Declaration of Independence. "All men are created equal." When the people lose sight of the sovereignty of God and become willing to acknowledge the sovereignty of any man, however great, civil liberty is at an end if a tyrant is on the throne.

Missions. The sovereignty of God and man's consequent responsibility has inspired and carried forward the great foreign missionary movements of the church. When the duke of Wellington was asked his opinion of foreign missions and he replied: "What are your marching orders?" he emphasized the sovereignty of God. Morrison went to China and stayed there years without a convert, not so much because China needed him as because he had heard the voice of his sovereign God saying: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." It was this voice of a sovereign God which sent Livingston to Africa, Carey to India, Judson to Burmah and Paton to the New Hebrides.

Revivals. The doctrine of God's sovereignty and man's consequent responsibility has made great preachers and produced great revivals. In this was the secret of Paul's success as a preacher. He spoke as the ambassador of a sovereign God. Finney was so powerful in his appeals to the reason and will of men because he brought to bear upon them the pressure of God's sovereignty, which demanded that they surrender their wills and use their reason for his glory. Charles H. Spurgeon, the greatest preacher of the last century, was mastered by his faith in the sovereignty of God. And D. L. Moody was like him in this, for he often said: "If God should tell me to have my own way I would ask him to have his way in my life." When a sinner is led to believe in the sovereignty of God he will be convinced of sin as rebellion against his king, and to every Christian comes great comfort in the faith that his father is supreme ruler of the universe and will somehow make all things work together for good to them that love God. Heaven means a place where Christ is sovereign over all. None dispute his way. Crown him king in your heart and life. Then you need not go to heaven to be happy. Heaven has come to you.

FERTILIZING OF CORN LAND.

Difference in Soils Makes It Impossible to Lay Down Fixed Rule.

No fixed rule can be laid down for fertilizing corn land because of the difference in the quality of the soils. I. S. Long, a Pennsylvania farmer, who has raised 193 bushels per acre, says he uses no commercial fertilizer, but a large amount of plant food is provided through other crops previously grown. Soil in his section requires lime in large quantities and corn is grown in rotation with clover every third year to supply nitrogen. Mr. Long turns under all vegetable matter possible in the fall, which is worked up into the soil the next spring.

On some Indiana lands phosphorus and tankage are used to good advantage, the mixture consisting of one part of phosphorus to two of tankage. In the south fertilizer is applied through an attachment to the planter or with a wheat drill.

On heavy muck soils muriatic potash and phosphorus are used often at a cost of from $5 to $8 per acre.

In the corn-belt states, however, the principal fertilizer is stable manure, and on the corn soils of these states perhaps no better fertilizer could be applied.

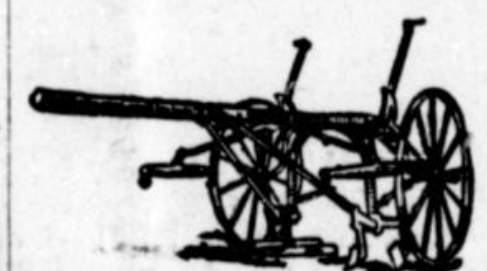

Of course the elements necessary to grow corn are nitrogen, potash and phosphorus, and some soils are often short in one of these elements, which must be supplied in some form or other. There are thousands of acres of swamp land in the corn-belt states which contain all the elements for plant growth except potash, and when this is applied good crops are obtained.

One of the cheapest and best ways of enriching the soil is to plow under leguminous plants, and many thousands of acres of land in the older corn states that have been cropped to corn for 30 to 40 years in succession and whose vitality has been exhausted is now being restored and made to produce good crops by a simple method of rotation and plowing under leguminous crops.

A USEFUL TOOL IN FARMING.

An Almost Indispensable Implement That is Used in Dry Farming.

The following out shows a cultivator, commonly used in dry farming.

A Double Cultivator.

and is one of the handiest of implements for a farm of that kind.

Lawns Useful as Well as Ornamental.

The main part of the home grounds planting should consist of a wide and long grassy lawn, stretching out from the base of the dwelling in all directions and terminating at the extreme outer boundaries near the fence, if there be any fence. The less obstructed the lawn is the more expansive and refreshing it will appear. A single shrub or a group of shrubs or a flower bed in the middle of the lawn defeats the very idea for which the plants are intended. Cutting up the unity of the lawn with other planting destroys its integral beauty and apparently expansive extent and makes it inconvenient as a pleasure ground for games and similar amusements.

The grassy lawn in summer and at other seasons should be pleasing not only to look at, but to walk over and run over by both children and grown-up people.

Grass and Flowers.

Some people complain that they can never get grass and flowers to grow. In nine cases out of ten the reason for failure is the ever present chickens and ducks about the house. No attempt at all or only an excuse of an attempt, is made to keep them out.

Trees, shrubs and vines may grow in a poultry run, but grass and flowers will not. There is no compromise. Either build a poultry tight fence or expect to have no good lawn and flowers. Poultry not only destroys the possibility of home grounds adornment, but makes the ground filthy and insanitary, and is a general nuisance forever at the kitchen door. Its legitimate place is on the open range, in the orchard and on the outer grounds.

Trees for Beauty and Shade.

Trees are planted for beauty and for shade. They give solid character and dignity to the home setting, and if rightly arranged afford a pleasing background to the home landscape picture. Their shade and seclusion are enjoyed when located not too near the dwelling.

Make the back yard as clean and inviting as the front yard. Plant it with choice flowers, shrubs and climbing vines. Let it be the very garden of Eden, where every member of the household can breathe the freshest of fumes, feast the eyes on delicate forms and colors and enjoy completely the best that the exterior home can give.

BERKSHIRES A GOOD BREED.

For Improving the Condition of the Common Swine They Are Excellent.

The Berkshire hog has been bred for a longer time, with a view to improvement, than any other known breed of swine. The breed is to-day acknowledged to be the best general purpose hog.

They are well adapted to the needs of the eastern farmer who makes pork-growing a valuable appendage to his dairy; they are adapted to the corn belt, where an easy maturing animal is desired; they are adapted to the southern farmer who makes forage play an important part in his rations of food.

There is no brand that will breed so true to the marking characteristic of the breed as the Berkshires, and they are rightly named the aristocrats of the show ring.

The improved Berkshires of the present day are a well-established breed, possessing many definite and valuable qualities, among which are the following:

Body black, with smooth plum-colored skin, soft fine hair, feet and tip of tail white, with a dash of white in the face and many times a white nose, and also some white jowl; forehead and face broad; face dishd with large clear eyes and short snout; ears of medium size, thin, soft, and carried in an upright position; neck short and broad on top, with jowl large and full; shoulders broad on top and deep through the chest; back broad; side deep and nearly straight on the bottom lines; ham, large, reaching well down on back, well-rounded and deep through, causing the legs to stand well apart; these as well as the forelegs short and strong and standing well on the toes; tail tapering, rather fine and well set up.

The improved Berkshire is characterized by the superior quality and proportionate quantity of its flesh, which is tender and juicy, the hams and shoulders being nicely marbled with fat and lean meat, while the sides are also noted for their excellence in those respects, making them especially desirable for curing as bacon.

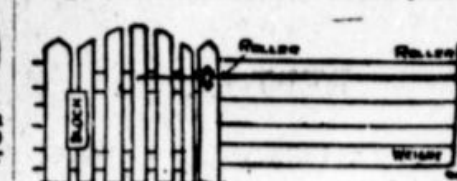

Berkshire swine are also noted for their docility and prolificacy, the sows usually bringing large litters and proving themselves gentle mothers and good milkers. The pigs come strong and healthy and are soon able to care for themselves.

For the purpose of improving the common swine of the country, no better breed can be found; having descended from such a long line of pure bred ancestors, he possesses in an unrivaled degree the power to stamp his individuality upon his progeny.

TO KEEP THE GATES CLOSED

That is One of the Most Important Things About All Good Farms.

The way I have my front gate arranged to keep it closed is shown in the illustration, says a writer in Farm and Home. A roller is put on the inside of the post to which the gate is hinged, and is made of a check planter roller. The rod on which it works is bent at each end and fastened into two auger holes. On the next post another roller is fastened with a bolt from which a rope runs from the center of the gate. I use a weight of about 12 pounds. On the inside of the post, against which the gate swings, is a block to keep it from coming too far.

Sugar Beets for Live Stock.

There is scarcely any comparison between the value of sugar beets and ordinary beets, the former being a better keeper, a heavier yield and withal, a better food for stock. Where roots are grown it is doubtful if any crop surpasses in feeding value the ordinary sugar beets, but there are certain objections to it when it comes to the matter of growing any considerable area.

Machine Sheep Shearing.

In a good many communities where sheep are raised it is no longer unusual to see them all being shorn by the hand-power shearing machine. This machine is rapidly taking the place of the old hand shear everywhere. It does a much smoother job; gets more wool, and the wool is longer in fiber. The extra wool from a small flock pays for the machine, very often the first season.

To Bui Over Tenants.

State street is soon to witness the unique spectacle of a skyscraper being constructed on top of another skyscraper without interruption of the business of a tenant. This feat of engineering is planned to increase the capacity of the Republic building.

The office building now consists of thirteen stories the top one of which has been used for storerooms. Seven new floors are to be added. The contractors are nearly ready to send the framework of the new part shooting skyward.

It is planned that nothing will occur to apprise those inside of the fact that anything is being done to the building.

Negro Preacher's Dream.

The following is credited to a negro preacher in Washington:

"Ah dreamed ah was in heaben the other night. As ah stood jest inside ob de golden gate, dar came a rap, and George Washington was announced to St. Petah. 'Let him come up and sit on my right side,' said the good Lawd, who was sittin' on de throne.

"Pretty soon there was another rap and Abraham Linkum was announced by St. Petah. 'Let him sit on my left side,' said the lawd.

"Den I heerd a tearful knockin' at de gate, and de angels all trembled.

"St. Petah opened de gate carefully and den he turned roun' and said to de Lawd: 'You-all will have to git down and give him yer seat, Lawd, its Mr. Roosevelt.'

WINS ORATORIAL MEDAL.

Clarendon, Tex., May 31, '09.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins:—Please find inclosed money order for $1.50 to renew my subscription to the Press.

Would also like to say that out of the seven contestants of which I was one, I have just won the Oratorical medal of Clarendon College '09, my subject being 'The Lure of Conquest.' Having been one of the defeated contestants of '08, and knowing the full cost, I am in a position to fully appreciate this honor, and thinking that perhaps there are a few of my friends left in Crittenden, I take this means of telling of this, my first distinction as an orator, or rather a "would-be" orator, also of sending you the necessary $1.50.

Clarendon College was founded in 1898, since which time she has steadily grown, until last year the old red brick structure had to give way to her growth, and is now replaced by a magnificent cream brick of three stories, and the institution is rapidly growing to be one of the best of the kind in the state.

Clarendon is a school town exclusively with a population of something like 4,000, composed of a good class of people, and her location affords a climate unexcelled. In her writups she is often given such epithets as 'The City Beautiful,' or 'Athens of the Panhandle,' the last of which possibly does not do justice to the ancient seat of learning.

The Commercial Club is making a great fight for the State Normal which is likely to be located here or at Amarillo, with good prospect for this place. While not the largest town in this part of the state, with one or two exceptions, I think it the most desirable residence town on account of the moral atmosphere and surroundings. The location at the foot of the plains makes it free from many of the high winds of the more elevated sections.

Am telegraphing through the summer months and shall work for the Rock Island either at Amarillo or the line east.

TWENTIETH CENTURY PROVERBS

By John S. Kendall.

A man may choose his friends. His relatives are thrust upon him.

Sometimes a man's failures accomplish more than his successes.

Half-truth is mighty and will prevail.

Money covers a multitude of sins.

People who make history seldom know it in time—to avoid the consequences.

It is a kind of wisdom to despise what you cannot have.

Man wants but little here below—and experience soon teaches him the futility of wanting even that.

Lots of people are so busy holding on to their money that they haven't time to hold on to their reputations.

The man who goes fishing for compliments has to bait for a whale in order to catch a minnow.

Observe the able man—how he tells up the steep path to success! Behold the flatterer—how he is carried thither on the shoulders of other people!

Of two evils choose the protitable one. When a man has nothing in his pockets, he is expected to pocket his insults.

It is a merry shoe-maker who laughs last.

A wise man dreads no criticism but his children's.

Snowing in Colorado

Two inches of snow fell in this city today, says a dispatch from Leadville Col. It was the latest snow fall ever recorded.

Careful Maid.

"Why do you always scream every time a man kisses you?"

"Why, if I scream before they kiss me they might not do it."—Houston Post.

Time to Beware.

When a girl wants to straighten a man's necktie it is time for him to run if he wishes to remain single and independent.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Tornado in Oklahoma.

When communication was resumed today with the stricken area of Saturday's tornado, says a despatch from Guthrie, Okla., it was learned that persons had lost their lives. The country over which the tornado swept is inhabited by negroes almost entirely and the fatalities and financial loss fell almost entirely upon them.

Liberty Crew on Bond.

Charles Elmore, William Brigo and Lee Hug, members of the steamer Liberty crew who have been in jail at Smithland, executed bond in the sum of $300 each and were released. They came to Paducah Wednesday. Capt. Harry Davis and Engineer Sada Amiel had previously given bond. All are under indictment for trouble they are alleged to have had recently with Sheriff Bush and Deputy Ben Champion. The cases come at the September term of the Livingston circuit court.—News-Democrat.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weakness they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.
