PRESIDENT TAFT ON COUN TRY LIFE.

He Pictures The Country Home Without The Telepone Far Behind the Times.

North Carolina that next the state of Mississippi, it has a population more devoted to the soil and its cultivation than any other state in the United States. You do not have large cities, and I do not think that a defect at all in your civilization. The fact is that the tendency toward concentration of population in the cities is a tendency that ought to be restrained.

"Country life ought to be made more comfortable and attractive,

The pursuit of agriculture, the profession of farming to day, may well attract the mental and manual activity of men of the highest education, of the highest culture, and of the highest ambition."

It was in these words that President Taft, in the course of his famous "swing around the circle", addressed the people at Wilmington, North Carolina. With the facility of all public men for touching upon something locally of vital interest, he picked out a subject that is very Order of Sale of the Crittenden pear the hearts of the great rural population. He was following the November term thereof, 1909, in the lead of his strenuous predecessor above cause, I shall proceed to offer in office, who focussed public at- for sale at the Court house door in tention upon the farm problem less Marion to the highest bilder at then a year ago, when appointed a PUBLIC AUCTION, on Monday, commission to investigate and report the 10th day of January, 1910, at upon conditions of country life.

in again awakening the farm life months the following described problem, has "hit the nail on the head."

How to keep the boy on the farmprivate life.

bred in the country has always been

Such a movement if it became too general would result in two great evils--overcrowding in city slums on the farms.

What's to be done? If young people are discontented at home, and think more opportunities are to be had in the cities; if they find farm work a drudgery and the social life of the country irksome and monotonous, is there not some remedy? To remove the cause of discontent would seem to be the best solution. It may b recorded here that so successful have been efforts to make life on the farm more profitable and attractive that danger of any serious exodus to the cities is a thing of the past.

The farms to-day have many ad vantages that a generation ago were not known. Most of them are reached by the rural mail, the good roads movement has spread wonderfully, newspapers and farm journals have extended their educative influence, and the rural relephone has orgaizel the great boly of farmers and brought them to a better knowl. edge of each other.

This one agency -- the telephonehas done more, perhaps, than any thing else to promote the business and home welfare of all the farmers. Through all the great mediums of publicity the truths concerning its power for good have been told to the country population. The Western Electric Company, the largest manufacturer of telephones in the world, distributed instructive literature on the farm telephone supject through. less. out the rural districts. Farmers were shown how easily rural line. leading from the elm, Mrs. Crayne's F. Price's lot, thence N 881, W 101 phone pay; there are times when its presence confers a benefit that could never be gauged in terms of dollars and cents. For instance, when a physician or a veterinary is wanted "I congratulate the people of in a hurry, the telephone is the only reliable and a quicker-than lightning messenger. The telephone really increases the efficiency of the farms.

President Taft is merely emphasizing the stand of Mr. Roosevelt,

"If there is one lesson taught by history, it is that the permanent greatness of any state must depend It Will Pay You to Attend This more upon its country population than upon anything else. No growth of cities, no growth of wealth can make up for a loss in either the number or character of the farming population.

STEWED PEACHES THAT'S WHAT WE EAT

As to How Peaches Are Put Up For the Public

The pure food agitation which has been principally over the question of benzoate of soda has now taken new turn and renewed interest will doubtless be aroused over this ques-

It is said that in most of the canneries of the country peaches are stewed in red-hot caustic sods to ea away the skins and thereby save the cost of knife-peeling, the difference in cost amounting to a cent and half or two cents per can.

In the process of this lye stewing this remedy my endorsement." almost all flavor of the peach disappears and doubtless a little caustic soda is left on each piece of fruit as a memento of its trip through the Caustic soda strong enough to eat away the skin of an unripe peach must be anything but soothing to the inner man or child. The full significance of this is best understood in connection with the fact that caustic soda is used in making many kinds of soap; in fact, it is the dirt eating part of soap.

It is said that the great majority of the capperies use the lye process in place of the knife-peeling method.

Attempts have been made for sometime to get the Department of Agriculture to make ruling on this question which would compel the Bud Kirk, of Salem, has moved to canners who use this method to say so on the labels of their goods. Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Sullenger, of looks now as if the question will be passed up to Congress for a specific law covering this phase of the pure food agitation.

The use of caustic soda is impossible with ripe fruit because it discolors a ripe peach so that it will not pass muster with the users of highgrade canned fruits. In consequence this process is possible only with unripe fruit, and green fruit is pur posely gathered for canning.

Owing to the absence of any marks on the cans to indicate the use of caustic soda, the only way the customer can tell if he has purchased a lye process can of fruit is by taste.

Open a can of peaches, wash away the syrup from a piece of the fruit.

Then taste it. If it is void of flavor, woody and pulpy, and has a soapy appearance, it is undoubtedly the lye-peeled variety.

Age is an accident of human frail and not a part of the divine plan the perfection of all things.

Whatever is to endure is young,

The New Year festivaf has in it an element of the nature love that is instinct in our race. Aside from starry skies or mantling night clouds, the chill of midnight airs, and the voiceless shades that wrap hill and valley, we have no truer picture of the going and coming of the year. Instinctively, too, we feel that nature is sumering a pang of loneliness and dying on the one hand and a joy of birth on the other. At no season of the year do nature and revelation come so near together. It is then that nature and faith make mutual pleas. The God of revela tion is still the God of nature. Time is the egg which hides the winged soul of eternity.

Silence inevitably attaches to death, as also to birth. The priestess vigler at the death and birth of the year is Silence, a silence which if attended is fruitful of the highes and best emotion and purpose. GEORGE J. GOULD Remarkable Railroad Career. GEORGE J. GOULD, the head of the Gould system of railways, controls 17, at the equator. This is but the beginning, seemingly, of the realization of his ambition, for his alliance with Rockefeller gives him a backing that makes the railway magnates fear the outcome of his plans. His intention to make a transcontinental system from Ogden, Utah, to Baltimore, Md., if in full operation would, without a doubt, be the means of restoring to Baltimore her former prestige as a great port of the nation.

Mr. Gould, now in his fiftieth year, handles big enterprises with an ease, a certainty and a grasp of essentials that reveal him as a thoroughly satisfactory follower in the footsteps of his father, from whom he received the beginning of

His early education was with private tutors and without going to college he entered the world of finance under the watchful chaperonage of his father. At an age when most rich men's sons are busy inventing new ways of being happy and taking post-graduate courses in spending money. George was studying rail-ways, finance, the machinery of a director's room and the manipulation of large schemes and movements as seen from the general's tent, where the full plan of campaign was outlined. Before he was thirty he was a director in many large corporations and one of the powers behind the throne in Missouri Pacific, Manhattan Elevated, Western Union and a number of other companies where his voice and his vote were factors in determining the control of millions, Heredity, environment and a feeling of responsibility combined with his own hard sense and a singular concentration and energy of purpose helped him to hold and increase the fortune left him by his father.

Mr. Gould is a tireless worker, intensely interested in his business life; but in his hours of rest and recreation at his home in Lakewood, N. J. he puts his tomato can. It was only Almighty God a desert by sin. A life as fair as the whole heart into his polo or his romps with his five children, as if business were only a word in his dictionary, not a factor in his life. His palace in the pines at Lakewood is an architectural dream; realized seemingly by a magic spell in a clearing in the forest. The house is of gray brick in the Renaissance style with treasures of furnishing. The stables, polo grounds, theatre, casino, racing track, swiming pools, sunken garden and marvellous fountain, all designed and carried into execution by the ablest artists, on regal lines of magnificence, make "Georgian Court" one of the finest country houses in America.

We read in Psalms of the death of Jesus. If he rose iro 2:7: "The Lord hath said unto me the dead his blood atones for all m thou art my Son; this day have I sins, but if he rore not we are yet in brought thee forth." And we learn our sins. in Acts 13:33 that these words predict the resurrection of Jesus. The words of Hosea: "In the third day he will rise up and we shall rise in his known only to those who walk her sight," point forward to the resurrection of Jesus and of all his people with him. In Psalm 16:9, 10 Peter tells us in his Pentecostal sermon David refers to Christ: "My flesh also shall rest in hope, for thou will not leave my soul in hades, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption." Thus, as Peter tells us, the spirit of Christ did signify in prophecy "when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ and the glory that should follow."

The open sepulcher, in the fourth place, is itself a prophecy. It predicts the resurrection of all the dead. "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."-1 Cor. 15:20. Unable to Row in Great Gale, Edgar L. Brown Is Driven Across Lake Ontario-None the Worse for Experience.

Rochester, N. Y .- Edgar L. Brown, who was blown across Lake Ontario in a recent big storm in a flat-bottom punt, walked down the gangway of the car ferryboat Ontario at Charlotte at five o'clock a few days later and was cheered by half the population of the village. The famous boat was on the ferry, and was immediately claimed by Michael Burns, a farmer, who owns it. A neighbor offered to give nels. "I alternately rowed and bailed all day Monday. At night I stopped rowing and bailed all night. About ten o'clock Tuesday morning I looked up from bailing and saw the blue haze of the Canadian shore. It was blowing a gale then. The wind was southeast when I started, but afterward blew from the south. I got near the land about noon.

"The boat was swamped several ounce of strength to get her in and pull her up on the land. I collapsed, but managed to hang onto the painter.

"When I got so I could walk I made my way to a farmhouse, where I got food and dry clothing. I had eaten aothing since supper Sunday evening." Brown rested a little while and then walked to Cobourg. He was too week to finish the seven miles to his wife' house in Port Huron on foot and were by train. Mrs. Brown had heard noth ing about his being blown out to sea but his first thought was that she would have heard it, and he wanted to relieve her mind. A letter announcing his supposed drowning reached hor brother the night of Brown's arrival is Port Hope. He was a hero in Por-Hope, and the Canadian papers of the section were full of the story of the 62-mile voyage across the lake.

'I'll get him and the boat a good engagement at a show house in Rock ester," former Village Clerk John Form proposed to Brown's employer, P. Rigney, when the hero was being congratulated in Charlotte.

"There's a plow out on the far that just fits Edgar," Mr. Rigney said decisively. "Come on home, Edgar." Brown laughed and started for the farm. He is a self-possessed but mod est chap, 37 years old.

Skin Rashes

should be treated at once with Littell's Liquid Sulphur. Every skin rash or redness that appears on your tace, hands, arms, legs, back or body carries with it the danger of Eczema. Eczema starts just that wayfirst just a slight rednessof the skin—this spreads gradually. Then pustules or blisters from which agummy, stickyfluid oozes. This dries and scales off or forms bad looking sores and scabs-Eczema, "Unless you've had it you can't conceive of the horrible itching, burning, maddening pain. It makes no difference whether you're just at the beginning or far along in your suffer-ing, Littell's Liquid Sulphur will stop itchng instantly and absolutely relieve the dis-ease. Penetrates the pores of the skin and kills the germs. This is true of all skin diseases - Rashes, Pimples, Sores, Hives, Prickly Heat-from the slightest to the severest.  "THE CASH STORE."

Having enjoyed a splendid trade, all through the past year, and while I feel to have merited the same, yet it is far from me to enter upon the New Year without thanking my many customers and friends for having made my business a success. Having inaugurated a cash system, which I have strictly adhered to, applying to buying as well as selling, gave me a decided advantage over the man who buys on time, which advantage I cheer of fully gave my customers. By this method I am better prepared to take care of my many customers and they are better able to buy.

Living, learning, and prospering by CASH SYSTEM and having, decidedly a better idea than ever, of the wants of the people I announce to my customers on this, the advent of the New Year, that I am better prepared than ever to sell you what you want and save you money.

Again thanking you for the exceeding liberial patronage extended me in the past, and wishing one and all, a happy and prosperous journey through the New Year and hoping to merit and hold inviolate the confidence you have placed in me, promising to accord to you a hearty welcome when you visit my store, I am,
