ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF MRS. TYNER.

from Orphans Home They were Raising Administered strychnine.

Tyler, at the home of Mr. Mrs. Tyner, on Friday night at 9 o'clock, Berth Evans, a 14 or 15 years old gave Mrs. strychnine instead of quinine (and as her subsequent condition shows) with murderous intent. As Mrs. Tyner was sick (who had been an inmate of the Orphans Home) been giving her the medicine in some cause conceived the of poisoning her benefactor as her confession shows. The removed quinine from the scales and replaced strychnine, giving the patient a dose which at once threw her in convulsions, from which timely aid from three skilled physicians saved her life.

On realizing the fearfulnees of the crime from some cause caused to the deed the physicians called to Mrs. Tyner's brother, C. T. Clark and is now in Lexington county.

The above was given us by C. T. Clark, the brother, who is here Monday on his way to Jackson where he is holding a meeting.

Prof. King favors a Corn Show.

I have been wondering if the boys of this county would be interested in a corn-growing contest for this year. Such contests have been held in other states and in one or two counties in Kentucky during the past year with splendid results. Cash prizes are given for the best yield of corn from an acre of ground. The contest to be limited to boys under 21 years of age. A corn show might also be held in October with prizes given for the best ten ears of yellow, of white, and of speckled corn, and a grand prize for the best ten ears of any color.

At the same time, if desired, prizes might be given for other products, such as: best stalks of blacoco, best half bushel of potatoes, best pumpkins, best display of apples, etc. Such an exhibit would be of great interest and value.

Farming, like any other time-honored occupation, tends to move along certain well worn paths. The most successful farmers of the country are those who are learning to avoid some of the beaten paths and by practicing rotation and diversifying of crops, careful selection of seed, saving of manure, and better methods of cultivation have increased the yield of the various farm crops three fold or more.

Farmer friends, if you are interested in the suggestions as briefly and incompletely outlined above, drop me a card at once and tell your neighbor to do the same and let us see what we can do to get the whole county interested in this matter.

ENTERTAINMENT

On Friday afternoon, March 18th Mr. J. P. Sigler will be in Marion for the purpose of arranging for his high-class entertainment at the Majestic Theater. This is an entertainment which every body can enjoy, and we are sure that every one who attends will be greatly pleased and perfectly satisfied. Mr. Sigler comes from our neighbor city, Morganfield and comes highly recommended by the citizens of that place.

The entertainment consists of a series of moving picture shows, and will remain in the city for an indefinite period giving creditable entertainments every night. The first entertainment will be given on Saturday night, March 19th

OUR COMPANY "K"

Inspection this (Thursday) evening, at eight o'clock. Every member must report at the armory by noon, unless excused from doing so.

Part of the members of the company have reported for the physical examination, but not all. Those who have not done so will be notified next week to whom to report for examination, Dr. Travis having left.

If you want to enlist, let the undersigned know, either in person or writing. Until a new examining surgeon is appointed for the company, no more enlistments can be made, but if any party wishes to enlist let me know.

Prospects are good for getting a rifle range for the use of the Company put in at a very near date. This will be of great benefit to the company, and the training in the use of the rifle that can be obtained from a range here will be useful to every individual who belongs to the Company and takes advantage of it. Definite announcement in regard to this will be made a little later.

CHASTAIN, W. HAYNES,
1st Lieut. Commanding.

EASTER EGG HUNT.

The Ladies Aid Societies of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. and the Southern Presbyterian Church have united in setting Saturday afternoon, March, 26th at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker, on Depot street at 2-30 o'clock, for an Easter Egg Hunt.

NOTICE VOTERS

At Tolu school we have 90 pupils. The state money for 1909 and 1910 terms was $381.60 for six months or $63.60 per month. Two teachers are needed to say the least and this would be $31.80 for each teacher.

Now, we have an adv. tax of 15 cents on the $100. and 50 cents poll tax. Tolu has paid this term adv. tax 15 cents per hundred, amounting to $400.00, no less than 100 poll would be $50.00, a total of $450.00. Tolu received this week her prorate of this tax which was $6.15. Tolu is a rich district and if we vote for a graded school then the taxes collected will remain at Tolu. This $450, with $380.00 state money makes a grand total of $831.60. Marion draws the state money and so would Tolu.

Now it is plain to be seen that 20 cents adv. tax and 50 cents poll tax will give us a good school where the poor boys and girls may secure an education sufficient to teach or ready for College.

There has been plenty of money spent already at Tolu to give us a good school. The fifteen and fifty cents now spent in sending children to Evansville, Nashville, Lexington and Marion would be kept at home. My hat off to the man who will send his child off in search of an education, but what's to become of the poor man's boys and girls?

Vote for your childrens interest and carry Tolu for a good school.

Prizes for School Improvement.

The final chapter in the School Improvement contest inaugurated last fall was reached last Saturday when J. W. Blue mailed checks for the full amount of the prizes to the winners.

The contest was a success in every respect as more than twenty country districts entered the competition and a nice sum of money was raised by the schools for the purpose of library books and cases, painting houses etc. Local school improvement Leagues were organized in some of the schools and all report a great increase in interest among the patrons and this last was the purpose the originators of the contest had in mind.

The first prize, $15, was awarded to Belles Mines school, John Gifford being teacher and F. L. Black, president of the League. This school raised $33.30 by box-suppliers and subscription. The second prize, $10, was won by Glendale school, Miss Emma Terry teacher. The amount raised in this district was $10.00. The Weston district won the third prize of $5.00, Miss Tres Koon was the teacher.

The following firms and individuals contributed the prizes fund: T. H. Cochran, J. H. Orme, Yandell and Gugenheim, Haynes & Taylor, F. W. Nunn, Mrs. Ada Cavender, Taylor & Cannon, J. A. Moore, Walter McConnell, Dr. I. H. Clement, N. E. Calmes, Dr. T. A. Frazer, C. E. Weldon, J. P. King, J. W. Blue and C. S. Nunn.

It is to be hoped that the good work thus started will be continued next fall and each succeeding year, until every district in the county has a well chosen library, a comfortable school room with suitable decorations on the interior and nicely painted exterior, and the school grounds cleared of briars and stumps with a neat fence around the grounds to keep stock away from the door.

Wm. Hogg is Now Wm. Howard.

By action of the County Court Monday, Wm. Hogg of Glendale, had his name changed to Wm. Howard. Mr. Hogg assigned no reason for asking for the change other than that he did not like to be called "hog." As soon as he was allowed to take his new name he visited our office subscribing for the Record-Press to go to a Howard instead of a "hog."

REST MADE EASY

There Will Be Less Sleeplessness
When Marion People Learn This.

Can't rest at night with a bad back,
A lame, a weak or an aching one.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad backs.

They cure every form of kidney ills. From common backache to diabetes. They are endorsed by Marion people. W. I. Tubor, Marion, Ky., says:

"I suffered for ten years from kidney trouble. There were severe pains in the small of my back, I was unable to sleep well and arose in the morning, feeling lame and sore. I was always tired, languid and nervous, headaches were common and I also suffer from dizzy spells. My kidneys were disordered and the secretions from these organs passed too frequently. It was finally my good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. I used them and in three weeks was greatly relieved. Thus encouraged, I continued taking this remedy and the contents of one box effected a complete cure. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,

THE CULPRIT?

By SALLY MENDUM.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

All Petersburg was ringing with the murder of Tim Meagher, an old man who lived alone in his cottage on the outskirts of the town. Miller, the head of a detective firm in the city, twenty miles distant, was called for by the town authorities. He went up, looked the matter over, came to an agreement with the mayor and promised to put some one on the case immediately. He was taking his supper in a private room in a restaurant when the door opened and a man of rather seedy appearance entered.

"Mr. Miller, I believe," said the newcomer. "I am. What can I do for you?" "I was in the detective business once, and I'm trying to get into it again. I'd like to take hold of this Meagher case."

"I'm going to send a man up to attend to it."

The seedy individual pulled a letter from his pocket and handed it to the detective to read. It was a certificate from a detective firm that Joel Zimmerman had worked for it and done good service.

Miller's bargain with the mayor had been largely contingent upon tracking and capturing the murderer, a not very profitable way to do business. It occurred to him that if he could get this person cheap he would let him work for a while—at least long enough to make some development. Besides, the man told him that he suspected a certain person and would look for a clue in that direction. He felt so confident in the matter that he offered to work without pay unless he made a valuable discovery, but stipulated that he should have the field to himself. No other detective should be put on the case. On these terms Mr. Miller engaged him and went back to the city to attend to other matters that promised more certain results.

Joe Avery, a nephew of the murdered man, lived in Petersburg, a much respected young man, with a very nice wife and two very pretty children. One day while walking on the street he picked up a ten dollar bill. He was in hard luck at the time and very much delighted at his find. The bill was partly spent for meat at a butcher shop. The same afternoon Avery was arrested for the murder of his uncle on information furnished by Zimmerman. The detective produced a list of bills, giving their numbers, that he said he had found in an unused chimney in the murdered man's house. The list was supposed to refer to $7,000 that the old man kept there. The theory was that the money had been taken by the murderer, who had unwittingly left the list.

Everybody in the town was surprised at Avery's arrest, and no one at first believed him guilty. It was not supposed that his uncle had any money, and if he had the murderer was the only one who could have known of it.

There was a strong case of circumstantial evidence against Avery, but it was weakened by Zimmerman himself, who under cross examination contradicted himself as to how, where and when he had found the list. Experts disagreed whether it was or was not in the handwriting of Meagher. By throwing doubt upon this evidence the prisoner's attorney saved his client from a verdict of guilty. The jury disagreed, but in order to avoid the expense of another trial brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Avery had no doubt that he had been made the victim of a plot and as soon as he gained his liberty set about a bit of detective work to discover the author. The first fact he noticed was that with his acquittal the case was dropped. The authorities believed that the murderer had been discovered, but that his acquittal was a case of "not proved" rather than "not guilty." The detective who dropped the case against him had worked the matter and was now working for the Miller detective agency that had employed him. Indeed, every one seemed satisfied to let the matter rest except the man who had narrowly escaped the gallows and was in consequence living under the ban of being a murderer. These were the reasons that induced Avery to take up the case on his own account.

Avery made up his mind that his uncle had been a hoarder. Indeed, he remembered certain incidents to indicate that such was the case. Some one had discovered that the old man had money in his possession and had robbed and murdered him to get possession of it. If his uncle had saved money possibly he might have had something to do with some bank. He sent out a circular letter to all the banks in the state asking if Timothy Meagher had any deposits there. Seven savings banks replied that bank books to the aggregate amount of $200,000 had been issued to one Timothy J. Meagher. Avery did not suppose that his uncle had a middle name, but searched the family records and found that he had. It was John.

Avery was astounded. He was also delighted—delighted for two reasons. First, he was his uncle's legal heir and would be rich second, his uncle had undoubtedly had some money in his house and had been robbed as well as murdered. Could he find this robber he would be exonerated and rich.

He first took steps to secure his uncle's fortune, then offered $25,000 reward for the murderer.

The reward brought a letter from the murderer's accomplice stating that he would give up his principal if not prosecuted himself. His terms were accepted, and he sent in the name. It was Joel Zimmerman.

Eight months later Zimmerman was executed.

COFFEE MENACES THIS BOY'S BRAIN

Indianapolis School Authorities
Take a Hand.

TO SAVE LAD FROM INSANITY

While the Mother of the Boy Declared His Condition Was Simply the Out-breaking of "the Old Nick" in Him,
the City School Doctors Knew Better and Took Pitiable Coffee Drunkard in Tow, With the Result That He May Be Saved to a Useful Manhood—The Boy Had Become a Veritable Slave to Coffee Habit.

Indianapolis, Feb. 26.—In one of the public schools a nine-year-old "coffee drunkard" has been discovered, and the attaches of the city board of health and the state board have joined hands in a systematic and scientific fight to redeem the victim, with considerable success thus far, according to Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board who is giving the case close personal attention. According to notes made on the case, the boy was allowed by his mother to drink from eight to ten cups of strong clear coffee every day for months without her giving any thought to ill effects it might have on him. When he entered school at the beginning of the present school year it was found he was nervous and irritable in the extreme; that he was morose, and because of the development of a tendency to fight with the smallest provocation, he was shunned by his playmates.

Finally a physician was called and found the boy on the verge of insanity from sheer lack of nerve force. An examination of his home conditions was made, when it was found that he was a confirmed "coffee drunkard." The mother, to whom the physician appealed, scoffed at the statement that coffee was the cause of her boy's condition and at first absolutely refused to take the advice of the physician in charge of the case and provide proper treatment for him.

"You needn't tell me it is the coffee," she said, "it's the 'old Nick' in him. I've been drinking coffee for thirty years, and it never hurt me."

However, the wishes of the mother were disregarded, and the public health authorities instituted a system of surveillance over the boy, and gradually cut down his allowance of coffee. In a short time considerable improvement was shown.

COURT THREATENED

Letter Written in Italian Was Sanguinarily Embellished.

New York, Feb. 25.—Judge Ray of the United States district court, who presided at the trial of Ignazio Lupio and his gang of Sicilian counterfeiters and sent them to prison for terms ranging from thirty to fifteen years received while the trial was on the purported to be a Black Hand letter written in Italian and saying, in rough translation: "If the prisoners are not liberated you will die like a dog. We have killed better men than you or Smith or Flynn."

Smith is Abel I. Smith, the assistant United States district attorney, who prosecuted. Flynn is Captain W. J. Flynn of the local federal service, who arrested the Sicilians.

The text of the letter was reinforced with sketches in ink of a hand pierced with a dagger and drops of blood falling from the wound. Two revolvers were drawn pointed at the bleeding heart and a black hand was drawn conspicuously. The letter was posted in this city. Judge Ray turned it over to the postoffice inspector.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Senate Much Impressed With General Gordon's Farewell Address.

Washington, Feb. 25.—One of the most interesting and unusual events of recent occurrence in the senate was the farewell address of Senator James Gordon of Mississippi, who has been serving by the appointment of the governor since the death of Senator McLaurin, and whose successor has recently been elected by the Mississippi legislature. The address was out of the ordinary.

It dealt with war reminiscences of personal experiences and was enlivened by occasional dashes of humor and at times, when it appealed for a cessation of sectional feelings, was pathetic. Senators crowded around their Mississippi colleague and many of them applauded his remarks. Senator Depew made response, expressing the regret of the senate at the retirement of General Gordon.

Indictments Against Milk Trust.
New York, Feb. 26.—A joint indictment against eight of the seventeen directors of the Condensed Milk Exchange have been handed to Justice Goff by the grand jury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Under the Donnelly anti-monopoly act the accused directors are charged with combining in restraint of trade. Unless the calculations of the district attorney are upset, these indictments are to be followed by more.

Demand For Wireless Equipment.
Washington, Feb. 25.—One result of the loss of the naval tug Nina with all on board was the introduction of a bill in the house requiring all government vessels which go out of sight of land to be equipped with wireless apparatus.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nerve. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,
Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MORRIS & TRAVIS

Staple and fancy groceries, Garden and field seeds and meat market.

Mr. Morris, the Senior member of the firm, having served the people in the grocery business for so long leads us to believe we are better acquainted with the wants of the people than if we were just starting.

We are located on Salem street next door to Carnahan Bros. and in our new place of business and having profited by past experience men to keep everything necessary to supply the big trade we feel sure our friends and former customers will give us.

We have a newly furnished room, clean and bright and we are filling it full of goods just as fresh, clean and bright. We want your trade, but at the same time want to merit it. Feeling to know we can do this, are now asking that you give us a call and we will serve you with the best goods at the lowest cash prices. We want to impress the public with the fact that our stock is all fresh, clean and good. Watch this space each week for what we have to say. Thanking you for all the past favors and courtesies and hoping to find you among our many customers. We are yours with New Goods.

HIS ROMANCE.

By SANBORN DARRAH.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

Jack Conover was a city boy and the son of a plumber. Jack read a great many novels based on life in the wild west and became imbued with a desire to mingle in the exciting scenes of that region. He was twenty-three years old when his father died and left him $20,000. Jack at once set about obtaining a realization of his boyhood dream. Going to Arizona, he purchased a ranch and became a sheep raiser.

The ranchman continued to read romantic tales and longed for a chance either to kill a few dozen Indians or rob a stagecoach. But the Indians were no longer there to be killed, and the stagecoach had given place to other methods of transportation. Not meeting with adventures and waiting for sheep to multiply being an unexciting occupation, Jack grew lonely. He wished for some young woman to keep him company as his wife.

One day, while riding over his broad acres inspecting his herds, looking up suddenly he saw a speck in the far distance. That it was moving toward him was evident from the fact that it was growing larger. Then he could see a thin film of dust about it. Next it revealed itself as a galloping horse. A man with a burden in his arms bestride the horse, and before long the burden could be distinguished as a woman. The two were coming lickety-split, rising and falling with the contour of the undulating country, and it was not long before, arising from low ground, they appeared on the crest of a rise not half a mile away.

Jack saw the opportunity of his life. Here was a clear case of abduction. Though the girl was yet too far for him to see her face, he knew she was beautiful and he was just the man for a rescue. Riding directly before the pair, he whipped out his revolver and called a halt. The man drew rein, shouting:

"Get out o' the way!"

"Throw up your arms!"

The man threw up his arms.

"Dismount."

The man slid off to the rear, leaving the woman in his place. Jack glanced at her. She was a young girl and fairly good looking. In his eyes, gazing through the roseate hues of romance, she seemed a pearl. The man on reaching the ground fell in the dirt. Jack, seizing the bridle rein of the horse he had stopped, put spurs to his own horse, gave the other the lash of a quirt, and the two animals, with their burdens, dashed away.

"What are you?"

"Don't be afraid," he interrupted.

"I'll get you away from him."

With that he cast a glance to the rear. The man had risen and was beckoning to a dozen horsemen who appeared far back where the single horse had appeared a few minutes before. It was plain to Jack that where at first he had one man to deal with he now had a dozen. Urging on his own horse with his spurs and the girl's with the quirt, the two went galloping over the country like mad. The girl made no further attempt to communicate with him. She did not look exactly pleased at being rescued. At first she looked angry. Then she burst out into a hysterical laugh. Jack kept looking back and was urged to fresh efforts by seeing the men behind gaining on him. Coming up to the man who had been abducting the girl, they pulled up, he said something to them and pointed to the fugitives, and they started on.

The chase was long and exciting. The girl held the reins of her own horse and guided him in the path she wished to take. Coming to a turn that led up to Jack's ranch house, Jack endeavored to turn their course in that direction. But the girl pulled her horse's head in a path of her own choosing, giving Jack at the same time a beseeching look to permit her to go as she wished, whereupon she yielded. After all, perhaps it would be as well in the end. There was no force at the ranch house to prevent the girl being taken by her pursuers.

By this time the girl's horse began to lag. Jack laid on the quirt and urged him forward as best he could. Looking behind, he saw that the pursuers were close on his heels. He was about to give way to despair when, riding between two clumps of trees that flanked the road, he heard the crack of rifles and saw puffs of smoke emerge from between the trees. Casting a glance behind him, he saw his pursuers one by one falling from their saddles and biting the dust.

Astonished at the rising up of this friendly force, Jack pulled rein and stopped at the door of a small house. A man, followed by a woman and several girls, came running out, and the girl he had saved fell into the arms of the woman. The man, seeing Jack, looked surprised, but started at once to administer restoratives to the girl. The woman laid her tenderly on the ground and was reviving her when a voice from up in a tree called:

"That'll do. The show's done."

Jack was thunderstruck.

"Who's your friend, Ellen," asked the woman, "and where's Mart?"

Ellen burst into a laugh.

"Come, explain."

"We were coming on all right when suddenly this man stopped us on the road and made Mart dismount. Then this man seized my bridle and hurried me on. The only way to prevent his snuffing the job was to let him take Mart's place."

"My friends," said Jack, "will you kindly explain what you mean by the job?"

"We've been running for a moving picture show," said the girl, again giving way to boisterous laughter.

POOR DEARIE.

By EDGAR FALES MOORE.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

"But, Edward?"

"What?"

"How are we going to live? You have been brought up to believe that you were to be your aunt's heir, and now you tell me that she has left the estate so tied up that you can't touch it and that her other relatives are likely to beat you out of it."

"That's so, and they will beat me out of it if they learn how matters stand."

"I can't enlighten you without telling the whole story."

"Well, tell it."

"It's too ridiculous."

"Ridiculous! Can anything that separates us be ridiculous? I will not bring trouble on you and on myself by marrying you, who, having been brought up on expectations, have made no preparation for earning a living."

"Perhaps not, but you'll laugh all the same when I tell you to whom my aunt left her property."

"To whom did she leave it?"

"I am next of kin and at the death of the present incumbent will succeed to the estate."

"I didn't ask that. I asked whom your aunt made her heir."

"I am thinking of killing him."

"Oh, Edward!"

"It's the only sure way open to me. If the other branches of the family hear of how the matter stands they'll break the will."

"But in that case you will get your share."

"That would be a few thousand only. There are several hundred relatives. I want the whole property."

"Can't you compromise with this person whom your aunt made her heir?"

"No. He isn't capable of making an agreement. He does nothing but strut about."

"Come, come. Tell me the legal points. I have more head for such things than you suppose."

"Well, my aunt left the property to this person, and, considering who he is, the bequest is ridiculous. That will be the plea of the relatives if they try to break the will. But I, being the heir of this legatee at his death, will take possession of the property. The other heirs will still have good cause for a suit, but I will have the sinews of war. Understand?"

"Yes, perfectly. But this person to whom the property has been?"

"When you see him you will see a coxcomb."

"What was your aunt's attraction for him?"

"He was her husband."

"Her husband?"

"So she considered him."

"But I supposed your uncle died long ago."

"So he did."

"Well, then, how is it that this?"

"Bigamist!"

"Bigamist?"

"That's what he is. He has a couple of dozen wives."

"Edward, I'm not going to stand this any longer. You are attempting to make a fool of me."

"I assure you that everything I have said of him is true, and, worse, he has never been married to one of the wives with whom he lives."

"The best?"

"He is not a beast at all."

"Then for goodness' sake what kind of a person is he?"

"Listen to me. My aunt in her younger days was a great student. She studied everything—science, religion, philosophy. She passed from one system to another until she became a strong believer in the transmigration of souls. She was much attached to her husband, who humored her in her different faiths. There is no proof whatever but that she was sound in mind in her latter days, though she firmly believed that at her husband's death his soul passed into a little chick that broke through its shell the exact minute my uncle died. She at once took the greatest care of this chick, ordered a special house to be built for him and always called him 'Dearie,' the pet name she had had for my uncle. He grew up to be a fine rooster, and my aunt never relaxed the attention she had shown him from his birth."

"Well, when the old lady died and I came to look over her will, what did I find but that she had left her whole fortune to her husband in the body of this chick."

"Ha, ha, ha!"

"Didn't I tell you you'd laugh?"

"It's too ridiculous."

"That's what I said too."

"Well"—after a pause—"what are you going to do?"

"Kill 'Dearie.'"

"And then?"

"Make application for the estate as his heir."

"Why not as next of kin?"

"There are too many next of kin. I would rather inherit $300,000 from a rooster than a few hundred from a human being."

"Well, then, why don't you kill him?"

"He is protected. The woman to whom my aunt paid a large salary to take care of him never lets him out of her sight. Force of habit from knowing when my aunt lived that if 'Dearie' suffered she would lose a fat job leads her to still watch. But I'm going to try to get at him tonight with a hatchet."

"Goodness gracious!"

"Oh, Edward, where have you been? There is blood on your shirt bosom!"

"There was blood in my eye last night."

"What have you done?"

"Dearie is no more. He is with his only legitimate wife."

PLAN OF KNOTTS IS NIPPED IN BUD

Governor Harmon Flatly Refuses to Be Made Goat.

POLITICAL ETHICS REGARDED

When Northern Indiana Democratic Mayors Sought to Affront Governor Marshall by Bringing Governor Harmon into Indiana Territory They Counted Without Their Host—The Ohio Executive. Mindful of the Ethics of the Situation, Declined to Bring His Boom Over into His Rival's Preserves.

Hammond, Ind., March 4.—A setback has been given the combine of northern Indiana Democratic mayors who wished to affront Governor Marshall by inviting Governor Harmon of Ohio to attend a banquet in Indiana. Governor Harmon will not permit himself to be boomed for president in Hoosierdom merely to gratify the spite of Governor Marshall's enemies. In a letter received here he says he does not intend to come here, because his visit might be misconstrued.

Some time ago Mayor Knotts of Gary, who is one of the mainstays in the Democratic mayors' combine, let it be known through his organ, the Gary Evening Post, that Governor Harmon of Ohio was to be a guest of honor at a meeting of northern Indiana Democratic mayors. It was further planned to bring the Ohio chief executive to Gary and give him the key to the city, and the populace was to hail him as the Democratic nominee for the presidency. The scheme was well planned, and had a Becker-Knotts-Darrow flavor. But Governor Harmon happens to be an old-style Democrat, and old-style Democrats are still adherents to the code of political ethics. Therefore Governor Harmon's refusal to be made the goat for the sake of the northern Indiana Democratic mayors' combine, who wished to give Marshall a left-handed slap.

Speaking about his own presidential boom, Governor Harmon said: "I know nothing of it, other than a few of my friends are boosting my name for the nomination. I am too busy attending to the affairs of the legislature to give it very much serious thought at this time."

PRISONERS WERE GONE

Dallas Mob Foiled in Its Desire For Further Human Blood.

Dallas, Tex., March 4.—Dallas is quiet today. There is no danger of further work of the mob, for the reason that there is no desirable or available material on which it cares to work. The four other criminals that it was sought to lynch were hurried out of the Dallas county jail, placed in automobiles with squads of armed guards and rushed to Fort Worth or Weatherford before the mob that lynched Allen Brooks could make the half-mile journey on foot from the Elk's Arch to the Dallas county jail.

More than 3,000 men broke open the county jail, defying the fifty armed white men assembled to defend it. When no prisoner wanted by the mob could be found, the mob dispersed.

Rigid Investigation Promised.

Austin, Tex., March 4.—Governor Campbell is greatly aroused over the mob violence at Dallas. He is keeping in close touch with the situation and says that other companies of the volunteer guard will be ordered out if it is deemed necessary to afford further protection to the negro prisoners who were spirited out of Dallas. He will request that a special grand jury be convened to investigate the lynching of Allen Brooks and have the leaders and other members of the mob indicted.

EATEN BY WOLVES

Horrible Fate of an Isolated Missouri Timberman.

Springfield, Mo., March 4.—James Smith, a woodman, was eaten by wolves in the timberland near Atty, after fighting a desperate battle for his life. The wolves attacked him while he was alone awaiting the return of a brother. When the latter returned he found his brother's bones in the center of a circle of five dead wolves. An empty repeating rifle showed that the victim had been overpowered before he could reload the weapon.

Congressmen Threatened.

Washington, March 5.—Several members of congress have received letters threatening them and their property with dynamite. The letter is signed "The Committee," and bears the postmark of the new Inley Park station, Chicago. The letters are alike. "The Committee" calls on the members to do something toward reducing the cost of living or take the consequences.

Put Test It to Heart.

Washington, March 4.—Patrick Peterson of Tuxedo, Pa., writes: "Please send me one of your bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have a hole in my foot and feel very sorry for it. Hoping you will forgive me, yours truly, Patrick Peterson."

Superintendent.

A GOOD REASON.

MARION PEOPLE CAN TELL YOU WHY
IT IS SO.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys,
helping them to drive out of the body
the liquid poison that causes backache, headache and distressing kidneys and urinary complaints. Marion people testify to permanent cures.

"Mrs. Mary Alexander, Marion, Ky., says: 'I was afflicted with kidney trouble for three or four years. Sharp twinges seized me in my back when I stooped or lifted and I was unable to rest well on account of the constant backache. I tired easily, often felt nervous and languid and was annoyed by backaches and dizzy spells. I was also troubled by a blurring of my eye sight and I noticed that the kidney secretions deposited sediment when allowed to stand. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store and am glad to say that they gave me great relief. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers.'
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. (Special)
Not in a generation has the Senate of the United State witnessed a scene, such as occurred on the occasion of the remarkable address of Senator James Gordon of Mississippi, in taking leave of his colleagues. There have been farewell addresses without number. There have been "swan songs" that blistered and speeches that cut like a Damascus
blade but to the eldest newspaper man there never has been so dramatic a leave-taking. The speech, homely in style, simple in construction, breathed such a warmth of friendship and affection that the "grave and reverend" Senators, cynics many of them, could not find words
laudatory enough to tell Senator Gordon what they thought about him.

He preached the gospel of love
for one another and as he warmed to his subject he looked for all the world like some patriarch,
of an olden day, his tall, spare
form, clothed in black snow-white hair making a picture rarely seen in the hall of legislation.

Senator Depew who is no
"slouch" of a talker himself took occasion to say that the speech of the "Gentleman from Mississippi" will live in the records of the Senate "as probably the most remarkable address either of a new Senator coming in or of an old one going out. Its patriotism and good fellowship, broad-mindedness, charity and humor will remain among the best recollections of those who heard it."

It is expected that the Commerce Committee of the Senate will take three weeks or a month
more for the consideration of the River and Harbors bill which recently passed the House. There are several projects which the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House failed to consider
on account of lack of information but which has been supplied by the Engineer Corps of the Army to the Senate Committee. Should these projects receive endorsement at the hands of the committee the bill will probably be considerably increased over that carried in the House bill which amounted to $41,000,000. There are those who believe that the Senate will add from three to five millions to the bill.

The Senate Committee on Commerce has endorsed the policy as set forth by the House of making the River and Harbors
bill annual appropriation measure just as other supply bills. This policy has been urged in season
and out by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress and the growth of waterway sentiment
is very largely due to its persistency in bringing before the people the pressing needs for improving the Nation's great arteries of trade and commerce.

Of the many museums and special exhibits at the Nation's Capital none have gain more in popularity than the museum of the Post Office Department.
Only a few years ago this museum consisted of a few curios
and odds and ends, assembled in a small room on the first floor of the Department built on Pennsylvania Avenue. Month
after month the collection has been enlarged until today it is one of the most interesting of all the numerous places for sightseers in Washington. This museum has grown to such an extent that the entire corridor of the third floor of the mammoth building is now necessary to display the many articles typical to the postal service and which are to be found in no other museum in the country. The number of visitors to this museum
has increased by the thousands.
A conservative estimate, after a several days tally, places the number of visitors annually at from 75,000 to 100,000.

Since the revival of the interest of postage stamp collecting
many people have been known special trips to Washington just to get a glimpse of the great collection which is on exhibit in this museum. The display here consists of a complete collection of postage stamps, postal card
and stamped envelopes issued by the United States Government and all stamp issuing countries of the world. The actual value of this stamp collection is probably more than $200,000, but if they were ever put on sale in the open market the price they would command would be many times that amount, as the premium on the majority of them has increased to an enormous figure since they were issued.

EDITORIAL.

The Fluor Spar industry of Kentucky and Illinois has a brighter outlook this year than ever before. With the $3.00 tariff on fluor spar secured from the last Congress the effect has already been felt. England can no longer bring her fluor spar
to this country in competition to ours. Some of the steel people before the tariff went into effect bought large quantities of foreign fluor spar. These same people are now beginning to be in the market for domestic fluor spar and this has greatly enhanced prices. The Kentucky Fluor Spar Co., had over ten thousand tons in reserve on their yards at Marion and Mexico. At the present time they very little left and will soon commence mining on a much larger scale than formerly to supply their trade.
Mr. C. S. Nunn their Supt. states that they received from $7.00 to $15.00 a ton here for all tonnage shipped this year.

The Nancy Hanks Mine have entirely sold out both their lump,
gravel and ground fluor spar.
Mr. W. N. Russell Manager of the company is here now looking after their interests.

The Pope Mining Company under the able superintendancy of Mr. Wm. Lowery are doing their best to beat their record for production of any year heretofore.
They are 200 feet in depth and have several levels run ready to stop. Mr. Lowery was in town to purchase some ground for storage bins.

The Comodore Mining Co., Mr.
C. E. Ratliff Supt. are putting up their jig mill as they have large quantities of lead in their ore which they wish to save.
They expect the lead to pay for mining their fluor spar. They have a large tonnage out now.

Cap. T. H. B. Haase of the Blue Grass Fluor Spar Co. states
they are getting out from 35 to 50 tons a day and it runs high in lead. With their new compressor he expects to double his out put.

The Richards Mining Co., under the management of W. Richards is sinking to the 150 foot level for water so they can get enough to wash their fluor spar.
They crosscut their vein at the 100 foot level and at this time the vein has dipped in their shaft and they are now
hoisting ore in sinking.

Mr. Ross Givens of Providence, is coming to Marion next week to reopen his Corn Mine on a larger scale than before.

The Separating plant of the Saunders Ore Separating Co., is running under the superin-
tendency of Mr. James Frazier.
This is the plant that was put up to separate zinc and fluor spar.
Mr. Murray Saunders of New York and Marion is here at the present time looking after his carbonate interests at the Miller Mine which bids fair to be larger than the "Old Jim" mine was.
He also has in charge the Old LaRue Mine and will install machinery there at once and if it continues as good as the 200 foot level as at the 100 foot level he will put up a mill. This averaged 21 per cent clear across the vein
in zinc and four feet of it aver-

"Sure Cure"

"I would like to guide suffering women to a sure cure for female troubles,"
writes Mrs. R. E. Mercer,
of Frozen Camp, W. Va.
"I have found no medicine equal to Cardui.
I had suffered for about four years. Would have headache for a week at a time, until I would be nearly crazy. I took Cardui and now I never have the headache any more."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The pains from which many women suffer every month are unnecessary.

It's not safe to trust to strong drugs, right at the time of the pains.

Better to take Cardui
for a while, before and after, to strengthen the system and cure the cause.

This is the sensible,
scientific, right way.
Try it.

aged 41 percent in zinc besides
lead and fluor spar.

Mr. John Wilson sold his mineral right on his Crittenden Springs property to Edward P.
Kaiser of Louisville for a sum
we understand in excess of $7,500.

Princeton Spar & Lead Co., a company composed of people located in Alabama have bought the "Beight Mine" and are putting up machinery preparatory to making a large output. This is located in Caldwell county and has been operated a number of years ago but only on a small scale.

DEAD STOMACH, OF WHAT USE IS IT?

Thousands? Yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America
are taking the slow death treatment daily.
They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny.

These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin
and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

Miss-on stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes; they do more. Taken regular for a few weeks they build up the run down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache
will go.

Miss-on stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and by Haynes & Taylor who guarantees them. 50 cents a box.

Booth's Pills cure constipation, 25
cents.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important,
as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste
—you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Stangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. P. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their one family necessity next to food itself.
If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.
Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you a medical advice you may desire for your child or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail.
For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 11,509 Caldwell building, Montreal, P. Q., Can.
