CONGRESSMAN JAMES

BRILLIANT VICTORY

FORCES SENATORIAL RACE INTO THE STATE-WIDE PRIMARY.

IMPLIED THREAT TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 4.—Hammering into subjection the representatives of the strongest political machine ever known in Kentucky's political history, Congressman Ollie James and his supporters this afternoon compelled the state executive committee to include the United States senatorial contest in the call for a state primary. The date fixed for the primary election is May 27.

Congressman James made a personal appeal for the primary form of contest for the federal senatorship before the members of the committee, and this, backed by an implied threat to enter the gubernatorial race and defeat McCreary, the boss of the machine, forced the committee to see his side of the question. The committee agreed at a meeting December 22 to hold a primary for state offices, but to have the senatorial race out of it. Mr. James swung the committee from its avowed intention to leave the senatorial selection up to a legislative caucus is regarded as a victory for the Bryan wing of the Kentucky democracy.

The action of the committee, it is foretold by well-posted politicians here tonight, means that James will have a walk-over. The other candidates are said to be Senator Paynter, who desires to succeed himself; D. G. Park, of Paducah, and former Governor Beckham.

Following James' appeal to the members of the committee, two ballots on the senatorial primary proposition were taken, with ties resulting both times. Chairman Henry Prewitt might have cast the deciding vote, but each time he declined to do so, and it was not until the third ballot that victory swung to James. J. Norton Fitch, of Nicholasville, member from the Eighth district, was the first to swerve from the original proposition to decide on the senatorial nominee at a caucus of the legislature. McCreary, thoroughly frightened at James' threat to get into the gubernatorial race unless his demand was granted, brought his personal influence to bear on Norton.

Following Norton's change, other committeemen swung into line for James and the vote finally resulted as follows: For James—A. G. Rhea, state-at-large, of Russellville; Henry R. Lawrence, First district, of Cadiz; Dr. Joe C. Gibson, of Dixon, Second district; Harry Lazarus, Bowling Green, Third district; S. T. Snauld, Lebanon, Fourth district; W. B. McDonough, Louisville, Fifth district; Calvin Thompson, Covington, Sixth district; Norton Fitch, Eighth district; J. R. Tuggle, Barbourville, Eleventh district.

Against James—M. J. Meagher, Frankfort, Seventh district; Allie Young, Morehead, Ninth district, and F. A. Lyon, Beattyville, Tenth district.

It was arranged that the various candidates for state offices will bear the expense of the primary, the cost to be prorated according to the importance of the offices.

The candidates for governor will pay $4,000, the maximum, while the candidate for lieutenant governor will pay $500 as a minimum. It is estimated that the approximate cost of holding the primary will be $16,000.

Congressman Johnson's withdrawal probably had considerable effect on the action of the committee today. It came as a tremendous surprise to the politicians assembled here and not an inkling of it had gotten out before his formal statement was made public. By his withdrawal he made it easier for Mr. James to batter the committee into taking favorable action on the senatorial race, and McCreary appeared genuinely frightened at the prospect that Mr. James would carry out his threats.

Directly after taking favorable action, the McCreary forces attempted to give the surrender the appearance of a victory for McCreary, and his name was freely coupled with that of Mr. James as "the victors." It also was attempted to give the McCreary defeat the atmosphere of an "insurgent victory," with McCreary in the title roll.

JAMES' POSITION.

"I came from Washington for the purpose of using my best endeavors to get the Democratic State Executive Committee to include the senatorial race in the primary which was called to nominate candidates for State offices," said Mr. James last night. "Democrats of the State are greatly aroused over the failure of the committee to include the senatorial race in the primary. They do not believe it is either fair or Democratic to deny them the opportunity to select their candidate for Senator in the same primary which the committee has called to select candidates for State offices. This was done the last time, and the Democrats of various States have almost uniformly nominated their candidates for Senator in a primary.

The Democratic party has advocated the election of Senators by the people for twenty years in our platforms, in the Democratic press of the country, by the campaign orators of the party on the stump, by memorials made by Democratic Legislatures to Congress, by the action of the Democrats in Congress in both the House of Representatives and Senate, so earnestly and so eloquently that we have converted the Republican party to this reform with but few exceptions. We must not desert it now. The foulest charge that can be laid against any party is that of insincerity and betrayal of its platform promises. The golden rule of the Democratic party has been to keep faith with the people.

"While, of course, I am greatly interested in having an opportunity to submit my claims to the Democrats of the State, confident in the belief a majority of them are for me, pre-eminently above this rises loyalty upon the part of the Democratic party to the people in keeping sacred platform promises. I have received thousands of letters from Democrats of the State, including county chairmen and editors of Democratic newspapers and I feel secure in the statement that 95 per cent. of the Democratic papers want the senatorial race included in the call for a primary to nominate candidates for State offices.

"If the committee refuses to include the senatorial race in the primary it will do so in open and bold defiance of the almost, unanimous wish of the Democracy of the State. The members of the committee are the servants, not the masters, of the Democratic party; they are the trustees of Democratic faith; they are not casting their votes, but the votes of the thousands of Democrats of the State who have intrusted them with their confidence."

Joseph Hawthorne Hill

Dies In New York

New York Feb. 3.—Hawthorne Hill for ten years associate editor of the India Rubber World, died suddenly at his home in this city. Mr. Hill was born in Marion, Crittenden county, Kentucky, April 13, 1857, and was employed successively on the Courier Journal Louisville, Ky., and several New York newspapers. A widow and three children survive him.

The above notice will be of interest to many of our readers. Mr. Hill has not been here since 1891, but is well known and kindly remembered by many of our people. He is a brother of James Alex Hill, of Chapel Hill Robert C. Hill, of Seattle, Wash. and of Will Hill, of Kansas. His wife was a daughter of Dr. Sawyer, of Frankfort, Ky. She survives him with twin boys 18 years of age and daughter 12 years of age. Mr. Hill died of pneumonia and was ill only a few days.

He had resided in N. Y. 20 years and had lived also in Maysville, Ky., and Louisville, Ky. He was a son of John A. Hill whose wife was Margaret Elder and is related to the families of those names in this county.

Yates Bros., sold a fine piano the past week to Misses Ann Eliza and Elizabeth Johnson.

BUREAU OF MINES WILL BLOW UP A COAL MINE.

The Bureau of Mines is preparing to touch off an explosion in a real coal mine to demonstrate the explosibility of coal dust. Some say that the government experiments at Pittsburgh have only a theoretical value because they are conducted in a steel tank and not in a mine. The government is trying to hammer into the heads of the doubters that it is coal dust, not gas, that causes the most terrible mine disasters. They have bought a mine and will blow it up to prove it.

The experimental explosions will have all the characteristics of the real disaster, without the usual loss of life, for there will be no one in the government mine when the dust explodes. When the poisonous gases have been driven out the experts will enter and study the effects of the explosion. Scientists have long known that the dust of coal, wood and grain is explosive; it is only within three years that they have discovered that coal dust is an explosive as powerful as dynamite.

GREATEST OF ALL GOOD ROADS.

(Charles M. Harvey in Leslie's.)
The greatest undertaking in road building which the West has yet seen is that which is constructing a new Santa Fe trail. For most of the distance it follows the line of the old trail, which was traversed at various dates between 1822, when it was opened as a wagon route, and 1880, when it was abolished by the locomotive, by Becknell, St. Vrain, the Chouteaus, the Bents, Glenn, Fowler, Gregg, the Sublettes, Marmaduke (afterward a Governor of Missouri, Jedediah S. Smith, Jim Baker, Kit Carson and other well-known characters. In its days of greatest activity the Santa Fe trail had its eastern terminus at Independence, Mo., near Kansas City, before the latter town, however, was founded, and extended to New Mexico's capital, about half of its 800 miles being in the present State of Kansas. Throughout a considerable part of its length the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway extends to-day.

Sentiment stepped in to re-enforce utility in building the new Santa Fe trail. It is a well-graded, drained and bridged roadway, leading from Kansas City, Mo., westward through the State of Kansas into Colorado, in which state it turns southward, passing many historic points on the way and ending at the plaza at Santa Fe. There are gaps in the trail, however, which are not yet entirely filled.

RETRACTIONS FOR STANDARD OIL.

New York, Feb. 8.—Counsel for the Standard Oil Company, which recently began damage suits for $250,000 against Hampton's Magazine, as publishers, and for $100,000 against Cleveland Moffett, the writer of an alleged defamatory statement concerning the Standard Oil Company, to-day received written retractions from both the publishers and the writer.

The article in question referred to the manufacture and sale of impure candles and said the Standard Oil Company manufactured and sold impure materials which went into these candles and that when the various dealers were arrested and fined the Standard Oil Company paid the fines.

"Upon investigation," writes Cleveland Moffett, in a letter given out to-day, "I have ascertained that your company was in no way connected with the transactions referred to and I hasten to retract in the fullest manner all charges made against your company, and to express my sincere regret that I should have fallen into this serious error."

Another letter, from Benjamin B. Hampton, president of the Broadway Magazine Company, incorporated, publisher of Hampton's, was also given out. It expresses regret that the apparently erroneous statements had been made, and agree to publish a full retraction in the next number of the magazine.

5,000 FAMILIES MADE HOMELESS BY DISASTER.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The eruption of Taal volcano and the accompanying disturbances in the Philippines killed 700 people in the town of Tailsay, according to the report of the Governor of Batangas province, which was cabled to the war department to-day by Gov. Gen. Forbes, of the Philippine Islands. The earthquake shocks continue, the Governor General added.

Among the estimates of casualties transmitted to the war department to-day was a report from Delegate Apacible, representing Batangas in the Philippine Assembly, who placed the total dead at 300. The delegate's report added that 5,000 families had been made homeless by the disaster.

The Philippine authorities are face to face with the absolute necessity of adopting relief measures in order to avoid suffering, as the falling of mud and lava destroyed the crops within a considerable radius of the volcano. The Red Cross Society in the islands is taking steps toward that end.

I. C. Advancements

likely To Follow.

Railway passenger officials are looking forward with considerable interest to a series of promotions that may be announced at any time in the Illinois Central offices. For some time F. W. Harlow, division passenger agent, has been tipped to become assistant general passenger agent in a series of promotions that will follow the resignation of A. H. Hanson, passenger traffic manager.

In case of Mr. Harlow's promotion, it is said W. J. McBride, district passenger agent, will become division passenger agent; W. B. Pearce, now city ticket agent, will succeed Mr. McBride as district passenger agent, and J. Frank Ryan, assistant city ticket agent, will become city ticket agent. A passenger man by the name of Cook, of Evansville, it is said, may succeed Mr. Ryan.

The parties involved all declare that they have received no information from Chicago as to coming promotions, following Mr. Hanson's resignation. Mr. Harlow's position as senior division passenger agent, puts him in line for advancement to assistant general passenger agent with offices at Memphis, if the civil service rules are observed. The only thing that might preclude such a series of appointments is a decision on the part of the new president to find places for some new men. The Illinois Central boys are all hustlers after business and their promotion would be pleasing to many friends.

The above is all right as long as don't move Venner. We can't spare Venner at all.

Tortured For 15 Years

by a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." "Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. Its surely a grand remedy for stomach trouble." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at Jas. H. Orme's and Haynes & Taylor's, Marion, Ky.

Letter From Kansas.

Phillipsburg, Kan., Jan. 30, 1911
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed find money order to the amount of one dollar for which you will please send me the Record-Press another year.

We are having fine weather. We haven't had any rain or snow this winter. I haven't lost any time from work this winter. We are building a large elevator.

This is a much nicer country to live in, than Kentucky. I can see them muddy wagons as they come in loaded with tobacco. They haul fifty bushels of wheat at a load here, single team, one farmer delivered 3400 bushels last week at 84 cents per bushel. They load about two cars a day, and about the same of hay. All of the Kentuckians here seem to be happy and doing well.

Yours Truly,
J. A. Dollar.

Wife Not Tip Top Advice.

"My wife wanted me to take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. Frankel, of Stroud, Okla., "I said 'put Bucklen's Arnica Salve on it.' She did so, and it cured the boil in a short time." Quickest healer of burns, scalds, cuts, corns, bruises, sprains, swellings. Best Pile cure on earth. Try it. Only 25c at Jas. H. Orme's and Haynes & Taylor's.

TAFT CHOPS SENTENCE OF SOCIALIST WARREN

Kansas Editor Won't Have To Go To Jail.

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Taft today commuted the sentence of Fred D. Warren, the Socialist editor, who was recently sentenced to six months' imprisonment and $1,500 fine by striking out the imprisonment and reducing the fine to $100, to be collected by civil process only. Warren was sentenced under the postal statutes for mailing matter on the covering of which was printed in large red letters the following:

"One thousand dollars' reward will be paid to any person who kidnaps ex-Governor Taylor and returns him to Kentucky authorities."

President Taft, in deciding the case, says that while the violation of law is clear, the sentence seems excessive.

Representative Campbell, of Kansas, in whose district Warren lives, personally presented a petition to President Taft a few days ago asking clemency for the Socialist editor. Other petitions in Warren's behalf have been presented to both the Department of Justice and President Taft.

OBITUARY

On Thursday morning, Jan. 12 1911, just as the sun was rising the spotless soul of Mrs. Elizabeth Suggs took its flight from earth to its beautiful home in heaven.

Mrs. Suggs was born Dec. 27th, 1824, aged eight-six years and sixteen days. She has gone to join her husband and children who have gone on before.

She leaves five children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. The children are: Mr. Willie Suggs with whom she lived, Mrs. H. L. Williams, Levias, Mrs. King of Mexico, Mrs. James Floyd of Sikeston, Missouri, and Mrs. Bass, near Salem.

Mrs. Suggs had been a sufferer for many years, although she bore the pain without a murmur. We feel that our loss is great but her gain is still greater.

She professed faith in Christ when in her youth and remained a faithful Christian till God called her home to reap her reward. Dear children, weep not, for you shall all go home to meet mother where there will be no more parting, no more good-byes. May the Lord be with all mourning ones is our prayer.

A friend.

For Our Girl Readers.

Girls, did you ever stop to think that boys have more self respect than your sex? There is not a young man of any respectability that would be seen with a girl that was intoxicated. You might search the streets with a fine tooth comb and not find a young man who would lock arms and go promenading with a girl who is puffing a cigar or squirting tobacco juice around on the sidewalk. Some girls have no hesitancy in accepting the company of such characters and too many of them are anxious for companionship, heart and hand of everything that wears pants. Society will never be refined until the girls demand of the boys the same purity of character that the boys demand of the girls. Over the heads of the young ladies hang the possibilities of the greatest moral reform that ever swept over the country.

WRITTEN STOMACH

Rid It of Gas, Sourness And Fermentation In Five Minutes, With Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets

HAYNES & TAYLOR SELL THEM AND GUARANTEE THEM.

You eat food to keep yourself alive. When you put food into a healthy stomach it is the duty of that stomach to extract from the food all of its nutritious matter.

This nutritious matter is passed along to the blood, and in turn is carried to and supplies life to every part of the body.

If your stomach is upset it does not extract enough nourishment to supply the wants of the body, and naturally disease develops wherever the body is weakest.

Stomach trouble or indigestion causes dizziness, biliousness, nervousness, weak eyes, sick headaches, sleepiness, nightmare, waterbrash, belching of sour food, foul breath, despondency, constipation and every loss of energy and memory.

For any stomach trouble, no matter how bad, Haynes & Taylor sell and guarantee Mi-o-na stomach tablets to give quick relief and permanent cure, or money back.

A large box costs but 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor's and druggists everywhere. They are small and easily swallowed, and used regularly they will surely cure indigestion. F9-16

HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Marion Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Marion people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Marion reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterance of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

William Redd, farmer, Marion, Ky., says: "I was subject to sharp twinges through my loins when I stooped or lifted and was also troubled by a pain in my back. At night I had an acute backache and when I arose in the morning, I was very lame. I tired easily, felt dull and languid and at times was nervous. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and I was obliged to arise from three to four times during the night. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Haynes & Taylor's drug store and after using them about three days, I received such great relief that I continued taking them until I was cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

TRUST.

by O. G. W.

I'm standing by the dark and silent sea.

A vacant shell a stretch of shifting sand,

Are all I now with dimmed eyes can see;

Behind me lies the green and living land.

I faintly hear the voice of my kind,—

A murmur low, of joy perhaps, or pain;

All these are scattered in the path behind,

Nor gladly would I turn to them again.

Not far beyond the billow rises fast,

Which soon shall sweep me from the narrow verge;

I joy to know I've reached the goal at last,

And fond regret may chant for me the dirge.

No freighted ships sail on this voiceless sea,

No light reflected from the unknown deep;

All gone before and all who follow me

It's hidden secret faithfully shall keep.

Life's burdens, all, too heavy now to bear,

The waves of rest are rising round my feet;

To unknown depths shall drop each heavy care,

And fate's reward, or bitter falls, or sweet.

I do not know, no soul returns to tell

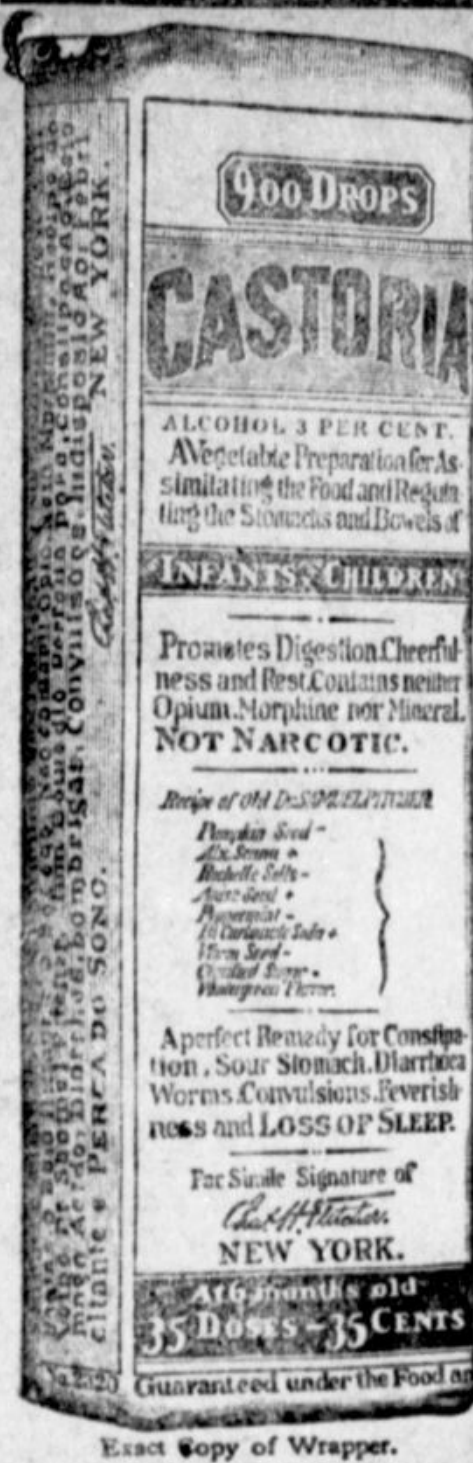

What fate shall follow off this narrow strand;

But heaven's joy, or grief and pain of hell,

All, all, are in the hollow of God's hand.

Blind Lawyer Weds

Childhood Sweetheart.

New York, Jan. 30.—Love, which is blind, probably had a fellow feeling when it swooped into the office of United States District Attorney Wise, Raymond G. Brown, Wise's assistant, surprised his colleagues by announcing that he was married. None of the district attorney's force had any idea that Brown contemplated such a step.

Brown became blind when 8 years old. He was sent to the best schools, however, and later entered Harvard Law school. His parents provided a companion who read the text books to him. When he was graduated, Walbridge Taft, a nephew of the president, interested Attorney General Wickersham in his case and Brown entered the office of District Attorney Wise.

At the time he was stricken blind Brown had a six-year-old sweetheart, Julia Duxbury, an orphan who lived with her aunt Miss Mary Duxbury, at Denver. Though he lost sight of everything else, he never lost sight of her.

When his companion took the lad to school and carried his books the blind boy always insisted on calling at the home of little Miss Duxbury, but her books he insisted on carrying himself. They kept up their friendship when Brown grew up. When he entered the law school the sweetheart of his youth cheered him by her faith in his ultimate success.

Early Friday afternoon he left his office. That night he gave a bachelor dinner and when it was over started immediately for Denver.

On Saturday evening the ceremony was performed in the home of bride's aunt, Miss Duxbury.

NATIONAL PARK AT MAMMOTH CAVE.

News-Democrat Special Service.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Representative Robert Y. Thomas has introduced a bill to make a national park of Mammoth Cave and the territory surrounding it. His bill starts out with the following premise:

"Whereas, Mammoth Cave in Kentucky is one of the greatest natural wonder of the world and should be properly kept and preserved by the government of the United States, for the benefit of this and future generations."

This bill appropriates $1,000,000 to carry out its purposes, or so much of that amount as may be needed. It provides for the purchase of 1,610 acres of ground. The secretary of war is to have permanent charge of the park. Under him are to be three commissioners from civil life, to be selected by the secretary of war.

KENTUCKIAN OBDURATE.

Leaves State to Avoid Indiana Compulsory Education Law.

Rather than comply with the Indiana compulsory education law, Andrew Hampton, who moved a year ago from Paradise, Ky., to Floyd county, four miles north of New Albany, has returned with his family to his former Kentucky home.

Hampton is the father of a family of nine children, of whom six are of school age, and his experience with the education law in Indiana was unpleasant. After he had persistently refused to send his children to school he was prosecuted and was fined $10. On account of failure to pay the fine he was sent to jail, where he remained two or three days, when the fine was paid and he was released. Further prosecutions were threatened and yesterday Joseph H. Kraft, probation officer in New Albany, was notified that the family had taken their departure from the State.

FARMER BURNED TOBACCO IN RELIGIOUS ENTHUSIASM.

Indiana Man Throws in Lodge Pins For Good Measure.

Brookville, Ind., Feb. 8.—(Special)

—Great religious fervor has marked a revival meeting at Buena Vista. Exhortations have been followed by trances and delirious shouting. One farmer, Howard Jackson, raised a crop of fine tobacco last season, but after conversion he decided the use of tobacco was inconsistent in religion. He employed help, built a pyre and dramatically burned the crop. When the flames were hottest he threw his lodge pins, one by one, into the fire and renounced the orders. One citizen remembered stealing some chickens in boyhood for a feast and made public restitution.

SUPPOSED DEAD WOMAN RISES FROM HER COFFIN.

Remarkable Story Comes From Monroe County of Strange Scene at Funeral.

Glasgow, Ky., Feb. 8.—After the funeral sermon had been preached over the body of Mrs. Jane Pitcock, an aged woman of Gamaliel, Monroe county, last Saturday, the undertaker removed the lid of the coffin to allow the friends to take a farewell look at the dead woman.

The crowd were horrified to see the supposed corpse raise both hands above her head and sit upright in the coffin. The room was crowded with friends, all of whom were frightened so badly they made a rush for the exit and in a few seconds the house was empty.

Physicians were called and she was removed from the coffin to her bed, where she was given medical attention. However, the evening after the strange occurrence she passed away. The body will not be interred until relatives know beyond a doubt that she is dead.

Such was the experience of Grace Holland, a pretty Cincinnati girl during the last eight days.

Carrie Nation Sinking Rapidly.

Mrs. Nation suffered a nervous collapse here a fortnight ago and recently was taken to a private sanitarium near Leavenworth, Kan.

LET NOT THE NATIONAL RESOLUTION FALTER.

Speech by EDWARD D. STONE

The fate of a nation depends in the last resort on individual character. Everything in human government, like everything in individual conduct, depends in the end upon the sense of duty. Whatever safeguards may be established, however complicated or well adjusted the mechanism, you come to a place somewhere where safety depends upon somebody having the will to do right when it is in his power and may seem to his interest to do wrong. It is our fate to meet with disappointment. It is the fate of mortals. When the people were considering the adoption of the Constitution of the United States one of the wisest statesmen of the day said that the real and only security for a republic is when the rulers have the same interest as the people. If they have not, constitutional restraints will break down somewhere except for the sense of duty of the rulers. All elections depend upon this principle. The recent election in different states in the Union should teach men must stand together. "United we stand; divided we fall." In the midst of our high responsibilities may we not allow the national resolution to falter for a moment.

If the Republican party cannot stand together we are surely overwhelmed. But the Republican party can stand together. And multitudes of other political views, seeing the burden which we bear, will not hesitate to leave their parties and come to the support of a broad national policy. Above all, their is a wisdom in the affairs of men that is higher than any poor wisdom of ours.

You may multiply election officers and returning boards; you may provide for an appeal to courts of first resorts or last resort, but in the end you must somewhere come to a point where the sense of public duty is stronger than party spirit, or your election is but a sort of fighting; or, if not that, a sort of cheating. The same thing is true of the individual voter or of the legislator who is to elect the senator, or the governor who is to appoint the judge or the executive officer, or the judge who is to interpret the constitution or the statute and decide the cause, or the juror who is to find the fact.

So in the last resort the destiny of the republic, like the destiny of the individual depends upon individual will. Will the individual choose what is right and not what is wrong?

The choice of the people in 1860 called that grand soldier and statesman, William McKinley, to the executive chair. Whose skill in managing government affairs give to the American people a national ideal from which it is not possible to fall away, and to which every human life becomes a sacrament of help and mercy, and every true national life stands willing to pour itself out in the services of mankind.

The greatest nations of the world are the nations that bear the heavy burdens of the world--upon whose backs are laid the heavy responsibilities and the appointed duties of these passing centuries. Every man knows with what motive the American people brake the peace of the world, and the time is coming when every man shall know with what motive we have taken upon these burdens which are not our own. I do not believe that the American Republic will be allowed to fail in the midst of its duties, honestly and manfully trying to perform them.

It is not hard to see the danger that beset the American people. It is not hard to paint out the cases that are upon us; it is not hard to fill the future with the creations of doubt and uncertainty and fear; but none of these things can move us if, in the midst of all dangers and all burdens, and all doubts and fears, we recognize the hand of God stretched forth from the stars, touching the American Republic upon the shoulders and giving it a high commission to stand in the arena of the world's great affairs, living no longer to itself alone, but in willing submission to the divine appointment, ready at last to become the faithful servant--even of the loneliest and most helpless of His children.

On the masterpieces of prose fiction you remember that on the day of Waterloo, the supreme equity, which in the nineteenth century, Wellington threw the wing of Napoleon's downfall. That the time has come to make an end of his affairs. That is the gleam of a lofty imagination. But there is in the hearts of the American people the steady light of a faith more sublime even than that. A faith in the greatness of our country; a faith in the future of humanity; a faith in the divine guidance which has watched over the national life from its infancy unto this hour.

We have heard it said that the days of the Republic are numbered. Such a speech belongs to the blackness of the darkness of a past generation. The old union army made it possible for people and their children to live in an atmosphere no dread. Whatever may be in store for us; whatever political party may rise or fall, this government shall live to scatter the riches of human liberty to races yet uncivilized and to nations yet unborn.

I believe in the United States of America. We back the old Republic of our fathers against the world. Nor since Abraham Lincoln fell in the midst of duties for more than ours, has there been since upon the helm of our affairs a steadier, wiser, kinder, braver hand than those of William McKinley. Who now lies speechless in the tomb, but whose principal in government is being fulfilled by our present chief executor; who in two years longer will, by the choice of the people, succeed himself to the highest seats in the foremost nation under the smiles of heaven.

EDWARD D. STONE,
Law School, Lebanon, Tenn.

We wish to say through the columns of the Record-Press, that the building committee for the church at this place, has asked us to announce in this paper that if any good minister of the gospel who wishes to donate anything for the erection of the church here which is so badly needed, that they will gladly accept any amount from a penny to one hundred dollars, and they can hand the amount to our committee or to our pastor, U. G. Hughes, at Marion, Ky., and it will be thankfully received and God will reward you by so doing, for He says in His word that every man shall be rewarded according to his works, and again He says the Lord loveth a cheerful giver. So let some one respond to this invitation, if not all of our good ministers, is the desire of the writer.

John Patton and son, Mason, were visiting their relatives here Friday and Saturday.

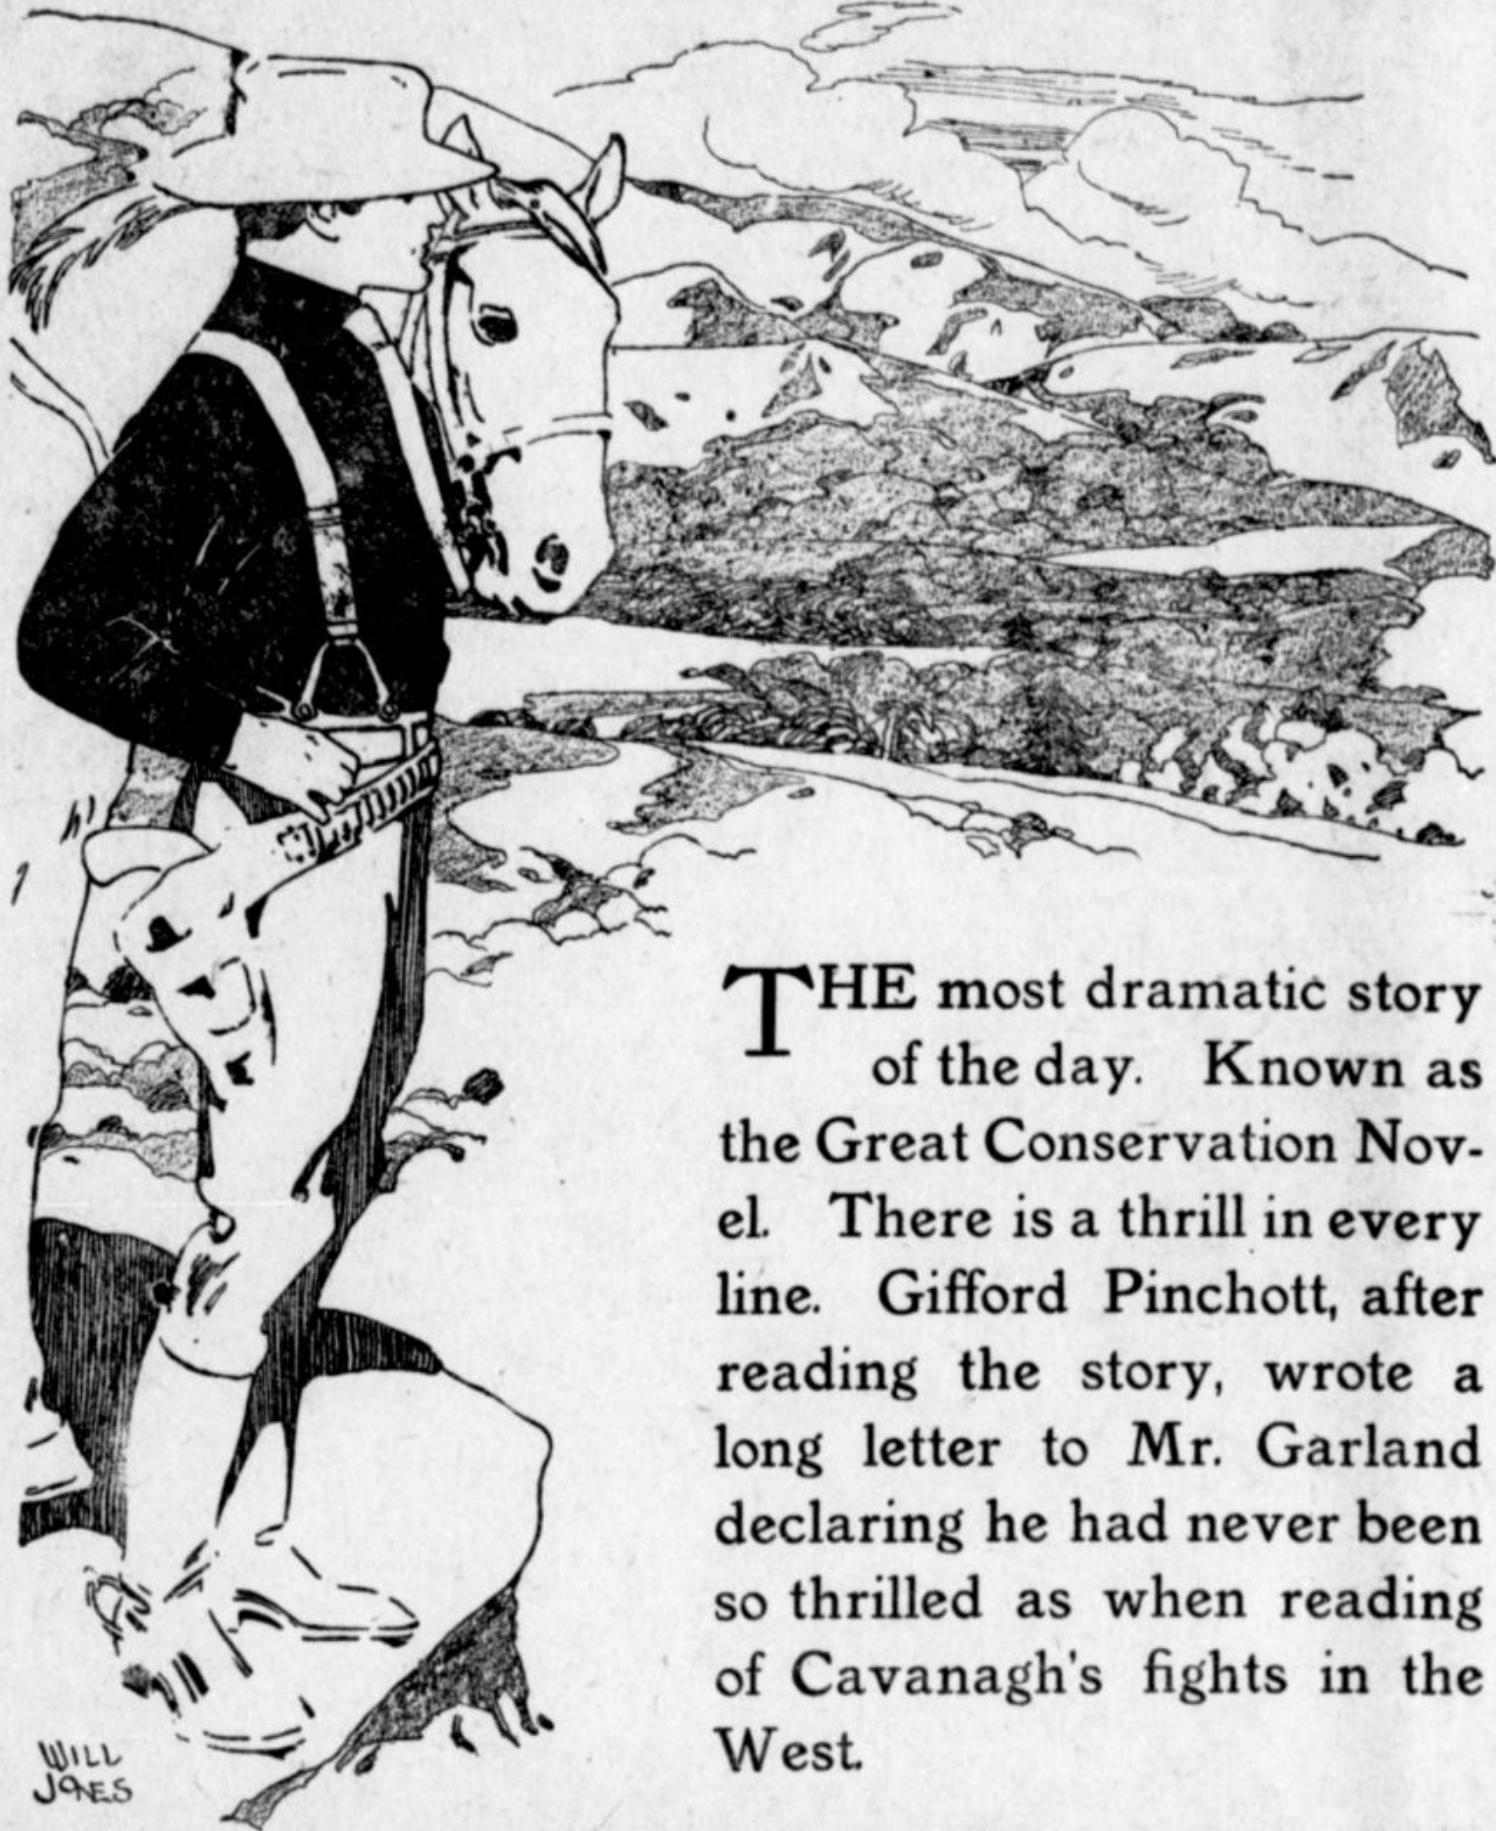

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bell Kevil, Wednesday, Feb. 1st in honor of Miss Willie Carlross, a bright attractive Marion girl, whom every one regreted to know was to leave the following Sunday and make Missouri her home. After a delightful time was spent in playing the entertaining game of "Rook," the charming hostesses, Miss Mabel Kevil and Mrs. Della Stevens served refreshments consisting of luscious ambrosia and tempting nabisco wafers.

The easy graceful manner of the hostesses put every one at their ease, thereby increasing the pleasure of the guests. We with the others of the company add our thanks and appreciation and say with the poet, "Oh, could those hours come again."

Cavanagh: Forest Ranger

BY HAMLIN GARLAND

THE most dramatic story of the day. Known as the Great Conservation Novel. There is a thrill in every line. Gifford Pinchott, after reading the story, wrote a long letter to Mr. Garland declaring he had never been so thrilled as when reading of Cavanagh's fights in the West.

We Have Never Given Our Readers a Better Story

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

SIR CONAN DOYLE

His Career in Literature.

SIR CONAN DOYLE, the biographer of Sherlock Holmes, is a tall, broad-shouldered fellow, frank, genial, modest, off-hand in act and speech, unchanged by his fame, a man who has passed through the fiery furnace of popular success without scar or singeing.

He was born in Edinburgh in 1859 of an ancestry that had won honors in art and in war. When a boy of nine at school at Stonyhurst he developed unmistakable symptoms of literary ability which grew more marked in his later study in Germany. While a student of medicine in the University of Edinburgh, over twenty-five years ago, he sent his first story to "Chambers' Journal" and was fortunate enough to find instant acceptance for it. After graduating and taking a whaling trip to the Arctic he returned to his native land to take up the serious work of earning a livelihood. He then hung out a beautiful, brass, Doctor's sign of which he was very proud and waited for the sick to come in and be led by him back into the primrose path of health and happiness. But patients were few and fees were scarce, so he had leisure which he devoted to literature.

Fifty of his short stories appeared anonymously and after ten years of hard work he was as unknown as if he had never penned a line and during these years his income from his writings averaged only five dollars a week. He wrote "A Study in Scarlet" in which Sherlock Holmes—that cold, fascinating deduction-machine solved wondrous detective mysteries with but the slightest shadow of a clue. It was rejected many times before it found a haven of rest and a check for $125 from "Beeton's Christmas Annual" of 1887, and "Micah Clark", a splendid story of the Monmouth Rebellion, knocked in vain at many publishers' doors before being accepted.

Dr. Doyle's literary sky began to clear, his financial barometer rose rapidly and in 1890 he forsook his office in Swan sea and came to London determined to become an eye specialist. He studied in Paris and Vienna and opened an office in London but soon fell a victim to another successful story and medicine was shelved forever.

His books have simplicity, directness, individuality, keen insight and faithfulness to detail. His "Adventures of Gerard", the story of a brave, stalwart soldier of Napoleon's campaign, a worshiper of the Little Corporal, is a lovable type, a man of naive simplicity but of supreme vanity, who recounts his own heroics with an innocent unconsciousness that is charming and delightful, and is one of the best soldier characters in the realm of fiction.

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Virginia Wetherford, who has been to an eastern school for years, returns to Roaring Fork. Her mother, a coarse, masculine woman, is running a shabby boarding house, where whisky is sold without license.

Lee meets Ross Cavanagh, forest ranger, and Forest Supervisor Redfield. Cavanagh and Lee become interested in each other.

Lize Wetherford, Lee's mother, becomes ill. Lee starts in to improve the character of the boarding house. Cavanagh and Redfield compliment her.

Gregg, a ranchman, threatens Cavanagh. Lee is disgusted with her surroundings. Lize comes her child's whisky selling. Mrs. Redfield invites Lee to visit Elk Lodge.

Redfield tells Lee about Cavanagh's interesting career and explains the work and troubles of the forest service.

Lee is delighted with the culture shown at Elk Lodge. Cavanagh rides sixty miles to spend the evening with her.

Cavanagh's love for Lee grows. Mrs. Redfield likes Lee, but dislikes her mother and thinks Cavanagh's love affair is foolish.

The doctor orders Lize to cease work and diet herself. She rebels. Cavanagh arrests Gregg's son and a stranger named Edwards as poachers.

Roaring Fork roustabouts attempt to rescue the prisoners, but Lize and Lee arm themselves and help Cavanagh.

They drive away the roustabouts, and Cavanagh delivers his prisoners to Judge Hixley for trial.

Edwards, whose fine has been paid, joins Cavanagh at his cabin. He tells Cavanagh he is Ed Wetherford, Lee's father. Lee thinks he is dead.

Wetherford dies. Cavanagh finds a sheep herder with smallpox. Wetherford becomes nurse. Cavanagh finds two sheep herders murdered.

Cavanagh calls the sheriff to the scene. Cattlemen are suspected of the murders. The smallpox victim dies.

Officers are hunting for Ed Wetherford, who is an escaped convict. President Taft lets Pinchot go, and Cavanagh resigns.

Fearing to spread contagion, Cavanagh and Wetherford retire to Cavanagh's cabin. Wetherford urges Cavanagh to marry Lee. Smallpox attacks Wetherford.

Gregg accuses Cavanagh of harboring a convict. Lize volunteers to nurse Wetherford. Dunn, an informer, accuses cattlemen of murdering the sheep herders.

Lize and Lee find Cavanagh nursing Wetherford. He refuses their aid, but they camp near by. Cavanagh is offered a forest supervisorship.

Dunn, the informer, kills himself. Lee insists upon remaining near Cavanagh, who withdraws his resignation.

Lize tells Lee she is not her mother. Wetherford dies. Cavanagh burns his cabin to destroy smallpox infection and proposes to Lee.

Ballard, one of Gregg's dupes, confesses to the murder of the sheep herders. Gregg is implicated. Cavanagh escapes smallpox contagion, and he and Lee are happy in their love.

WOMAN WAS AN EYE WITNESS

Red Haired Woman Saw
Henry T. Thompson When He Was Murdered.

Providence, Ky., Feb. 2.—The murder of Henry T. Thompson, who was killed on December 26, near the Rock House in the cemetery, and which has been a complete mystery to the general public, will in all probability, be cleared up within a short time. Since the morning when the lifeless body of one of the most influential citizens in this end of the State was found in a ravine with three bullet holes through the head—one in the right eye and two in the back of the head, underneath his hat, which was pulled down over the wounds, his death has been a puzzle to every one, with the exception of a few who know every circumstance of the dastardly crime.

Upon reliable authority it has been learned that three people besides the man who fired the three shots that pierced Thompson's brain, either witnessed the actual murder, or were near enough to have witnessed it, if they were not at that moment fleeing from the scene of the conflict.

That the dead man surprised these parties in the cemetery is beyond question, because just lately, since the examining trial of Thomas Thompson and Kerney Benjamin, there has been found evidences of a clandestine meeting near the spot where Thompson fell. One of the women ran at the approach of Thompson and the red haired woman hid and witnessed the tragedy.

One of the most peculiar features of the case, and one that has not as yet been explained, is the fact that a red haired woman was seen running from the direction of the cemetery, and as far as can be learned, no effort, except by an employed detective, has been made to learn her identity. This red haired woman, it is said, saw Henry T. Thompson shot down like a dog, but not until he struggled with the murderer for several minutes. The fact that he made a desperate struggle to save his life was plainly evident to those who assisted in removing the body, as the ground around where the body lay, was trampled and torn, showing that a death struggle had taken place. The strongest mute evidence that Thompson wrestled with his murderer before receiving his death wound, was the fact that his trousers were pulled up to the knees on one leg; more evidence still that this disarrangement of his clothing was done in a scuffle.

Tracks around the spot where the struggle took place were those of women and men. The women tracks, as were the men's, were not similar, showing conclusively that there was more than one woman and one man.

Because of the fact that when these tracks were made it had just begun to thaw and when the dead body was found, about noon, water had filled the tracks, making it impossible to take exact measurements.

A detective has been in Providence at work on the case. He came disguised and has played the part of a "good fellow," playing cards with the "boys" and donning a female's attire secured some startling information from several women here.

No developments are expected until the grand jury convenes on the first Monday in April, at which time the jury will take up the case and probe it to the bottom.—Henderson Journal.

COAL DEAL IN

WEST KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 8.—A deal involving the purchase of 123,000 acres of coal and timber lands located in Western Kentucky in the counties of Muhlenberg, Ohio, McLean and Hopkins counties, is on between an Eastern syndicate and the owners of the property. The amount involved is approximately seventy million dollars. Forty-two coal mines are in active operation on the property and the timber resources are almost unlimited.

Shelby J. Gish and W. D. McElheney, both of Central City, passed through Louisville last night. They have just returned from New York, where they have been negotiating with the syndicate said to be ready to take over the property. Messrs. Gish and McElheney represent the large Dupont interests in the section involved.

While neither would admit that the deal had been consummated, they indicated that their trip to the East had been very satisfactory.

Wm. Daughtrey of Heber, Arkansas, who arrived last week to visit his son, L. J. Daughtrey near Fords Ferry will leave in a few days for Sikeston, Mo., where he will visit his grandson, Dr. W. T. Daughtrey, and from there will proceed to his home. This is his first visit here for several years. Mr. Daughtrey is eighty-four years old and hale and hearty.

FEDERATION OF CHURCHES.

Humanitarian and Philanthropic Work Expects to Attract the Attention of Every Layman.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Humanitarian and philanthropic efforts of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America were outlined by Bishop E. R. Hendrik, of Kansas City, Mo., president of the council, in a speech before President Taft at the White House to-day.

Bishop Hendrik presented the greetings of the council on the occasion of the annual meeting of its executive committee. He said:

"Our fathers in the very first amendment to the constitution forbade congress to make any law respecting the establishment of religion, wisely deeming it the duty of the church to establish the state and not the duty of the state to establish the church. Thus from the beginning, in the free exercise of their religious views, the various churches have expressed their devotion to the best interests of our common country, notably to Washington and Lincoln, when our national government began and when it was in greatest peril. The memorable responses to these greetings showed how grateful they were to the highest executives in our land in the two preceding centuries. Representing more than 100,000 ministers of the gospel and some 17,000,000 communicants, or nine-tenths of the Protestants of our country, federated in a permanent organization known as 'The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America,' we bring Christian greetings to the chief ruler of the greatest nation in history standing for self-government.

"As former greetings were made by individual churches and were welcomed by our rules when the fate of the nation was yet undecided, much more we believe will be welcomed this Christian greeting to our chief magistrate by the federated churches as the sign of the compact and growing strength of our national union. The late Mr. Justice Brewer declared that such a federation of churches was also an unmistakable proof that ours is a Christian nation despite the fact that we have no established church.

"We are happy to state that the growing spirit of catholicity and the belief that the work of the churches could better be done in co-operation than in separation ripened into this notable and permanent federation, not of individual Christians but of churches, and that by the authority and the unanimous action of the highest ecclesiastical assemblies of the land.

"Believing with Webster that what makes good Christians makes good citizens, we are glad to state that in addition to the distinctively religious work which is sought to be done by all the churches as never before, such as home and foreign missions and the vital work of evangelism, the Federal Council of Churches is doing in unison humanitarian and philanthropic work calculated at once to bless and to strengthen the nation. Thus through our larger standing communities of some two hundred leading ministers and laymen, careful study is being given to the advancement of such great interests as Sunday observance, temperance, the sanctity of the home, the church and social service and literature and education.

"Happy results have attended these efforts in checking race-track gambling, in annulling loose divorce laws, in stopping 12-hour-a-day labor and that for seven days in the week in certain industries, in bringing about kindlier relations between the church and laboring men, in safeguarding the physical and moral well-being of women and children who are breadwinners and in promoting wholesome literature and the better intellectual development of our youth.

"In all this we are unitedly seeking the highest welfare of our great nation whose chief magistrate has our daily prayers and our loyal aid. We rejoice to recognize as president one who is exceptionally acquainted with our great and varied national interests, and who fully commands our confidence so that we are content to see through his eyes a completed Panama canal and the conservation of the best possible good of the Philippines whose little brown men he delights to call brothers."

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor."

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Groaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth."

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

FARMERS SELL THEIR CORNSTALKS

Factory Begins Manufacture
Of Cellulose To Stop
Leaks In Battleships.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 2.—The first consignment of a rather unusual commodity has been received by the American Milling Company here. It is the first lot of 100,000 pounds of corn stalk pith and the company, after putting the pith through a chemical treatment, sells it to the United States Government under the name of cellulose, to be used in the construction of battleships. The pith is greatly compressed and placed inside of the armor of a vessel. Should a shot from the enemy pierce the armor, the water would instantly cause the pith to expand and thus save the ship from all danger of sinking.

The company has not made any cellulose for about four years and the farmers throughout this section and Southern Ind. are greatly pleased that they are again to be paid for a product that has been of little value heretofore.

The motion is set for submission February 20th.

Retail Merchants to Meet at Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, Tenn.—City merchants and country merchants alike are enthusiastic over the convention to be held in Nashville, Feb. 28, March 1, 2 and 3, to discuss the Parcels Post Bill. Regardless of the character of their business, Southern dealers appear to realize that the passage of this bill would mean severe injury to Southern interests and they are coming to Nashville to present a united protest to Congress. The commercial bodies of Southern cities, too, are lining up solidly behind the movement.

The program committee is not ready to announce the list of speakers, but it will contain the names of a number of the South's most prominent public men, congressmen, governors and others, and successful business men from many cities. Vital subjects other than the parcels post will be discussed.

Nashville merchants will entertain the visitors lavishly. Banquets, luncheons, theater parties and other forms of entertainment will be the order between sessions throughout the four days. Low rates to the convention will be made by all Southern railroads. Indications are that it will be one of the biggest, if not absolutely the biggest convention ever held in the south. More than 5,000 retail merchants have signed the call.

Free Remedy For Weak Bowels

There are two forms of bodily cleanliness, the external and the internal. The one is for your pride in yourself; the other for your life and health. Both are important, but of vastly more importance in the long run is the internal cleanliness.

This is one point that all should watch about their body—the cleanliness of the bowels. Keep them clean and free from obstructions. To do this you must have one or two movements of the bowels each twenty-four hours. If your system does not do this naturally in the process of eating and drinking, then you must obtain aid of some kind. After finding out that cathartics, salts and such things relieve you for a day, but bind you up worse than ever the next day, then try a simpler and more natural remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

For the skeptical the best way to begin is to send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. Use it as directed and if it convinces you that a brief continuance of its use will relieve you permanently—that it will train the stomach and bowel muscles to again work naturally at certain hours—then buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing. They began with a sample bottle, then bought a fifty cent bottle, and now, fully convinced of its merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

A brief use of this grand laxative tonic will cure constipation in its worst form, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such ailments and keep you in continuous good health at a very small cost. Such is the experience of many families like that of Mrs. Oscar Plesner, Unionville, Ind. J. F. Daniel, Seaton, Tex., and hundreds of others that could be named.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. R. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Catholics Insist that

Divorce be Abolished.

Boston, Feb. 2.—Three thousand Catholics of the archdiocese of Boston, representing more than a million of their faith on the metropolitan district, assembled in Symphony hall before the highest prelate in the state, Archbishop William H. O'Connell as the first archdiocesan Catholic congress under the auspices of the Catholic federation of the archdiocese of Boston, received the papal blessing and passed resolutions sweeping and radical in character.

The resolutions passed attested devotion to the holy see; expressed sympathy for the Catholics of France, Spain and Portugal; recorded unanimous opposition against the tendency of the state to become sole educator; declared for the abolition of the evil of divorce, the formation of national integrity; asked for closer censorship of theatres and moving pictures; cessation of the desecration of Sunday, and pledged the physical and moral amelioration of the workingman's state, and through it all, the men and women of the great assemblage showed their earnestness of purpose.

PAYS DEATH PENALTY FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

First Hanging in Kentucky. Negro Talks with Friend Says He is Prepared to Die.

Pineville, Ky., Jan.—James White, the negro who criminally assaulted a little white girl at Middlesboro, was hanged here in the jail yard at 10:38 o'clock today.

The doomed man saw a number of friends Sunday and talked with them, saying that he was prepared to die. At 10:30 o'clock Sheriff Robert Van Bever, accompanied by fifty armed men, took the prisoner from the jail and conducted him to the scaffold inclosure at the rear of the jail. The drop was sprung by Van Bever and in thirteen minutes the negro was pronounced dead.

A large crowd of country people came into town to witness the hanging. This is one of the most notable hangings which has ever taken place in this State, because of the fact that under the new law it is possible it will be the last, and that hereafter the electric chair will replace the gallows in Kentucky.

Overheated Foot Warmer Causes Death of Prominent Woman.

Lebanon, Ky., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Tate Carlile, one of the most prominent women in Central Kentucky, was burned to a crisp in bed at an early hour this morning in a fire caused by an overheated foot warmer. It was not until the fire department was summoned and a stream of water directed on the bed that the body was recovered. The home of Mrs. Carlile, in West Main street, was partly wrecked.

Warning of her fate was given Mrs. Carlile the day before her death. Yesterday afternoon, while indulging in an afternoon nap, she made use of the heating stone, and only the timely action of her sister, who awakened her, saved her from being seriously burned. She made light of the occurrence despite her sister's pleading that she discard the foot-stone.

HERE AND THERE

Oh, but its the roads that are muddy.

Tobacco stripping is the order of the day in different parts of this section. It is going to bring the farmer good money and we are glad of it, for if the honest farmer is prosperous we will all feel the good effect, even the editor of the Record-Press. So just let the tobacco money, hog money, cow money and mineral money come in, the more the better.

The smallpox scare in the Iron Hill locality, is about over. There is, and has been some real cases.

There is many places in Crittenden county, if you will take the time and labor to climb some of those rugged cliffs until you reach their topmost crest, you can scan the country from east to west, and for miles around you can see substantial farm houses dotting the country, towns and villages showing their beauty. Then, if you wish, you can see the hills and valleys of southern Illinois and other states. It is a great delight to those living in doors, to take a ramble of this kind, and see old mother-earth roll up like waves before our view. Then sit down and meditate about the great Divine hand that made them all and placed them in their places.

Rev. J. T. Davis, of Marion R. P. D. No. one, is occupying a high place in the ministerial work. He is serving three churches in Webster county, one in Crittenden county, and during the last few weeks he has received as many more calls. Perhaps there is not a minister in our county that is doing the work of Rev. Davis.
