Marion-Salem Turn-

Pike Meeting

An enthusiastic meeting of the citizens and subscribers of the Marion-Salem Turnpike was held at the Court House May 15th at 1.30 P. M. Mr. J. W. Blue was chairman and Mr. J. C. Elder was secretary of the meeting. A committee of three were elected, Mr. J. W. Blue, Jr. Mr. Sam Gugenheim and Mr. Henry Moore, to select eight men as a permanent committee known as the turn-pike executive committee.

The committee selected the following men—Mining interest Geo. P. Roberts and C. S. Nunn. Business men—T. H. Cochran and J. W. Wilson. Farmers—M. O. Eskew, and Henry Moore. Teamsters—T. C. Guess and Geo. H. Foster.

J. W. Blue was elected as an ex-officio member of the committee. The executive committee will meet this week to select a place to install the rock crusher. From now until the first of August rock will be crushed and at that time it is expected to have sufficient rock to grade the road.

Mr. J. W. Blue stated at the meeting that an officer of the J. I. Case Machine Co. was over to see him and offered to give a demonstration of one half mile with his road building machinery as he wanted to attend a meeting of the magistrates to lay the matter before them but Mr. Blue did not think it would be of any use. As this machine can be used to draw wagons or plows, tear up old road to be regraded, pack new roads as it weighs tons, we believe that its purchase would be to the county's benefit as it could be apportioned to the different parts of the County during the year and more roads could be graded with less expense.

Wonderful Freak of Nature

Last Saturday morning a terrific hail storm passed east of town and left a trail of hail one foot deep across a strip of the county a mile and a half wide, from the north to the south end of it. We had reports from several sections and all concur in that the hail was over a foot deep in places and it lay until next day near noon before disappearing in the warm sun.

Depots Robbed

Eddyville, Ky., May 11.—The depots of the Illinois Central railroad at this place, Kuttawa and Gilbertsville were burglarized last night by unknown parties. Only a small amount of money was secured in each instance.

Bid On Panama Bonds.

Washington, May 16.—It was indicated that Secretary MacVeagh will call for popular bids on an issue of $50,000,000 of Panama bonds within the next few days. The securities will be dated June 1, and if the treasury is unable to deliver them by that time they will carry accrued interest. The interest rate fixed by law will be 3 per cent. As they will not be available to national banks for the basis of circulation, the treasury expects the entire offer will be subscribed by investors.

The Place of Athletics In Lives of Our People.

Dr. R. T. M'KENZIE.

Preserve
Race
by Exercise.

By Dr. R. TAIT M'KENZIE, Director of Physical Training at the University of Pennsylvania.

UNLESS WE WISH TO FACE THE INEVITABLE DEGENERATION OF THE RACE WE MUST PROVIDE FOR SPECIALLY DESIGNED AND SCIENTIFICALLY APPLIED EXERCISE TO COUNTERACT THE HABITS OF LIFE OF OUR PEOPLE.

The national significance which physical training has assumed in recent years is due to the change in the MANNER OF LIVING during the last century.

Within the last century the growth of cities has changed the habits of life to such an extent that scarcely 40 per cent of the population remains in the country whereas a hundred years ago only 2 per cent were city dwellers. The segregation of such large numbers of folk has TAKEN AWAY THE HEALTHFUL PHYSICAL OCCUPATIONS OF MEN and women.

The lack of housework for the modern wife and the sedentary occupations of the men are mistakes of our time.

Physical training will help to rectify this state of affairs. Even when man has passed the school-boy and soldier stage and has passed through middle life there are still many things he might do to keep up his vitality.

By Dr. JOHN M. TYLER, Professor of Biology at Amherst College.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS ARE ONE OF THE MOST RIDICULOUS AND LUDICROUS INGREDIENTS OF MODERN EDUCATION.

Why twenty-two football players should engage in mortal combat, with two thousand other men on the side lines YELLING THEMSELVES HOARSE at the performance, is a question I have never been able to solve.

Athletics for the boy in high school SHOULD NOT BE TOO SEVERE. The heart at the time the boy is in high school is yet weak, and the tissues are not tough.

Every commander dreads to take with him into the field of battle boys of eighteen to twenty years.—THEY DIE OFF LIKE FLIES.

INTENTIONS.

Ever judge of men by their professions, for, though the bright moment of promising is but a moment and cannot be prolonged, yet if sincere in its utterance, it is a true indication of the man's worth. I judge people by what they might be, not are nor will be.—Robert Browning.

Dragging A Road

Across Iowa

"Jasper County came across. Poweshiek and Iowa followed. Johnson, where Iowa City with the State university is located, was slow. Appeals to the faculty, supervisors, and others were in vain. Finally a letter fell into the hands of Robert Carson. He replied: 'Write my brother, Frank C. Carson.'

"A letter went to Frank Carson. Then things began to move. The map came. 'What shall I do next?' he asked. 'Go to the township officers,' we answered. 'Appeal to them to make road-dragging contracts with the farmers under the state law, which allows fifty cents a mile for every mile traveled in dragging the road. Where grading is needed, urge them to grade it up. Where drainage is needed, make them drain. If the township hasn't got enough money, appeal to the county funds. If all these resources fail, take up a collection from business men, farmers, automobilists, and hire the work done yourself. Just get the work done. That's all there is to it.'

"Well, Carson did it. He went the limit. He even did some of the work with his own hands and money. The point is—he did it. Men like Carson were found in eleven of the twelve counties, but one. W. R. Weir, in Scott; C. M. Beem, in Iowa; B. F. Ricker, in Poweshiek; J. W. Foster, in Guthrie; Edwin Delahoyde, in Audubon; F. W. Porterfield, in Cass; and C. R. Hannan, in Pottawattamie. Every man did his duty. He got the road put in shape—graded, drained, and covered with dragging contracts. Muscatine people were slow to take hold. Carson and Weir said: 'Let us put the road through the north part of the county and we'll put it in shape.' They did. Soon Weir found it necessary to drop out. Dick E. Lane took his place, and the work went on.

"As the organization grew, the job became easier. Everybody worked in unison. As near as possible the same phases of the project were being worked out in every one of the twelve counties at the same time. Finally, when things were progressing well, the first scouting car over the 1910 Golden-tour route landed in Wichita, Kansas. Little had been thought of the Glidden tour. Then the idea dawned—get this tour over the River-to-River Dragged Road.

"The telegraph wires were hot within five minutes, instructing every county chairman: 'Write S. M. Butler, 437 Fifth Avenue, New York, telling him about the River-to-River Road. Invite him to route the Glidden tour over it.' From Des Moines I sent Butler a long wire telling of the three-hundred-and-eighty-mile road building from Council Bluffs to Davenport, via Des Moines; asked him to route the tour over it, and promising the tourists the greatest demonstration they have ever received.

"A message was sent to Frank X. Zirbes, driver of the scouting car, asking him to use this road across Iowa. This telegram was delivered to the writer by a motor-car twenty-five miles out of Lincoln, Nebraska, on the prairie, at 10:30 p. m. 'Many thanks for the invitation. We will be pleased to use the River-to-River Dragged Road,' came the reply.

"From one end of the line to the other pilot stations were organized in a single day. Every man knew his territory and waited the word. Zirbes drove the scouting car off the Omaha-Council Bluffs bridge and Charles R. Hannan, in a big red touring car, was waiting. Out through the bluffs, Underwood, Minden, Neola to Avoca they went; where Dr. Porterfield, of Cass, picked them up. On rushed the scouting car.

Crate Of Rats
Chicago, May 10.-A crate of twenty live rats will be shipped to the Rockford (Ill.) telephone exchange to-day.

"We are laying several miles conduit," Frank Ebeby, manager of the telephone company, explained. "The cable could be fished through by using a thick wire, but we understand that it is a quicker to use rats.

"A light cord is fastened around a rat's neck. It is released at the mouth of the conduit, and instinctively it runs to the other end, where our men capture it." With the string we pull through a heavier cord, and finally the cable."

Jokes That Make You Laugh

I once knew a man whose wife was continually nagging him. She nagged and nagged until finally the poor man died. Then she was sorry, very sorry. So she erected a handsome tombstone on his grave, on which was carved the following inscription: "Rest in peace until I join you."

"Do you read much?"
"Yes, I am very fond of reading."

"Have you read any of Shakespeare?"

"Oh, I have read all of his works - that is, unless he has written something lately."

WORDS LIVE.

Boys flying kites haul in their white winged birds. You can do that way when you're flying words. "Careful with fire," is good advice we know; "Careful with words" is ten times doubly so. Thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead. But God himself can't kill them when they're said.

Free Dyspepsia Sample

Sufferers from indigestion are waking up to the fact that peppermint lozenges, charcoal and "dyspepsia cures" are only makeshifts in the cure of so troublesome a complaint as chronic indigestion. What is required is something that will not only relieve but which will tone and train the digestive apparatus to again do its work normally, and this those simple remedies cannot do.

There is something more to the cure of indigestion than sweetening the breath, and yet a remedy that only contains digestive ingredients will not cure permanently, as the basis of indigestion is poor bowel circulation, and that requires a scientific laxative. We know of no remedy that combines these requirements better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has been sold for a quarter of a century. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a laxative tonic, a scientific blending of natural ingredients for the cure of constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sour stomach, sick headache and similar complaints. Its ingredients will so strengthen and tone the stomach and bowel muscles that they will again do their work naturally, and when that has been accomplished your trouble is over. Fannie Ewert, Staunton, Va., was a long-time sufferer, as was O. F. Blackburn, Mo., and they both found their cure with this remedy. They became convinced that pills and tablets, salts, "dyspepsia cures," etc., were at best only temporary reliefs. They first accepted Dr. Caldwell's offer of a free sample bottle, which he willingly sends to anyone who forwards name and address. Later having convinced themselves through the free sample, they bought Syrup Pepsin at the drugist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Four Sisters Widowed

By Railroad Wrecks.

Huntington, W. Va., May 5.-Four sisters, all of whom were married to railroad engineers, will meet at the funeral of C. T. Pilcher, of this city, an engineer, who was killed in wreck of the F. V. Flyer on the C. and O. road near Thurman. Mr. Pilcher was one of the four railroad engineers who married four sisters, the Misses Garner, of Albermarle county, Virginia. Today they are widows, all four of their husbands having died as victims of railroad accidents with his hands on the throttle; to each the end came instantly; each died in the wreck of his engine while running at a high rate of speed; each was a passenger engineer, pulling a fast express; the fireman of each was killed with them, although no passengers were hurt.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Marion People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills make sick kidneys well. Here is a Marion testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Mary Alexander, Marion, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for three or four years. Sharp twinges seized me in my back when I stooped or lifted and I was unable to rest well on account of a constant backache. I tired easily, often felt nervous and languid, and was annoyed by headaches and dizzy spells. I was also troubled by a blurring of my sight, and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's drug store and am glad to say that they gave me great relief. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. M18-25

Dragging A Road

met by pilots, asked regarding pace, and brought into Des Moines, where the night was spent. An early start was made on Sunday morning, and when night fell the car was at Iowa City, the crew the guests of those two live wires, Frank and Robert Carson. At midnight, Sunday, Zirbes drove his car across the Davenport-Rock Island bridge, and the tired crew turned in.

"Five months from the day I broached the idea of the River-to-River Dragged Road to Colonel Young, on May 10, 1910, Dai Lewis, in the official pathfinding car for the 1910 Glidden tour, was dashing across the Iowa prairies, up hill and down dale, from Council Bluffs to Davenport, three hundred and eighty miles, upon a road as smooth as a board. For two whole days, with the unerring certainty of a perfect machine, the River-to-River Road Association sped this pathfinder through the heart of Iowa over a road which three months before had been the terror alike of the transcontinental motorist and of the farmer living on it. For the first time on its trip the Lewis car covered its allotted day's run. I wish that Zirbes could have driven over it when Lewis did—the improvement would have amazed him."

The idea spread quickly.

"If Iowa can have a road east and west across the state, can't we have one from Des Moines down to Burlington, in the southeast corner of the state, through Oskaloosa and Ottumwa?" asked Dr. Jay Roberts, of Oskaloosa, and Postmaster Nimocks, of Ottumwa. They went to work, and they are still at it. Eighty miles of the road is in shape now, and the rest will be. Moyer, of Des Moines, thought this southeast branch should be extended to Okoboji and Spirit Lake in the northwestern part of the state. He hiked out in his touring car and visited every town along the road to such good purpose that the road from Burlington to Okoboji, a distance of four hundred miles, bade fair to be dragged early in the present month.

Towns along the northwestern right-of-way grew jealous and wanted a river-to-river road from Clinton to Council Bluffs. Boosters got busy. On May 18th motorists started from Clinton and Council Bluffs, four hundred miles apart, working toward each other. Night stops were made at Marshalltown and Dennison, and on the following day, after picking up delegations from every town, two hundred cars met at Bone. A big convention was held. Eichinger was there to tell how the job had been done from Council Bluffs to Davenport. The convention resulted in a fine organization to build a second river-to-river road. This will be in excellent shape by August.

Not to be outdone, Dubuque and Sioux City are flirting with each other to build another dragged road across the state, connecting these two river cities. The good-roads movement is in full swing in Iowa, with Eichinger pushing it as only he can. Unless all signs fail, Iowa is going to have legislation which will prevent, in future, the waste of her road tax, which is approximately five million dollars a year. The state has about fifty-seven thousand miles of highways, most of which is in terrible condition for the greater portion of the year. A large per cent. of this mileage is fairly well graded and drained.

We are authorized to announce Thomas S. Rhea, of Logan county, as a candidate for treasurer, of the state of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic primary, to be held July 1 1911.

Our sentiments are well expressed in the following clipped from the Benton paper.

"Bad roads cheapen land; they make schools a failure; they discourage the raising of good stock; they encourage the use of rickety old vehicles; they keep down local pride, county pride and individual pride. They encourage all that should not be done and help keep down all that should be done. Bad roads lead to poverty in this life, and in the next world everybody knows where the bad roads lead. Gentlemen of the Fiscal court, we want better highways."

Love, amid the other graces in this world, is like a cathedral tower, which begins on the earth, and at first is surrounded by the other parts of the structure. But at length, rising above buttressed walls, and arch, and parapet, and pinnacle, it shoots spirally many a foot right into the air--so high that the huge cross on its summit glows like a spark in the morning light, and shines like a star in the evening sky, when the rest of the pile is enveloped in darkness. So love, here, is surrounded by the other graces, and divides the honors with them; but they will have felt the wrap of night and of darkness, where it will shine luminous against the sky of eternity.--Henry Ward Beecher.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

To Non-Poolers.

In all consciousness of rectitude of motive and kindliness of intention, and in the fullest confidence of my power to instruct, I venture to night in the utmost seriousness to, in pleasant terms, address those of my farmer friends who have hitherto refused to co-operate in the sale of tobacco.

Self-confidence, and not self-conceit, prompts me to boldly claim that in this article I can and will inform and instruct. For, apart from my knowledge, acquired during years of special study, I am in possession of newly-acquired information gleaned from an unexpected quarter corroborating the claims, contentions and arguments made and reiterated from time to time in this column for over six years.

To go back a few days--last Tuesday I published from "Tobacco," a London trade journal headed "The Leaf Market."

That article was written by an Englishman, published in an English Journal for the benefit and edification of Englishmen. Wherefore it is safe to assume the article referred to is in the nature of a confidential communication from one business partner to another, and therefore characterized by the sincerest veracity.

And the significant importance of the article to the tobacco growers of Kentucky arises from the fact that, in a commercial sense, these English partners are the implacable enemies of the farmers of Kentucky.

These same English partners, by shrewd and unscrupulous trade maneuvers, have in the past fifty years, to go no further back, and more particularly during the past ten years with the aid of the merciful tobacco trust have, I say, robbed and then plundered Kentucky tobacco growers of millions and millions and millions of dollars.

The present generation of Kentuckians, tobaccogrowers and all, are dwarfed and stunted, mentally, morally and physically, because of the merciless exactions of generations of English buccanniers and pirates preying on tobacco commerce.

With this brief foreword, I earnestly invite the attention of non-poolers to the article in question, which I reproduce for the especial benefit of non-pooling farmers.

Let the reader note what the writer says about the "powerful association in the States."
"English manufactures," the writer says in effect, "need not hope to buy American tobacco cheaper so long as the associations hold together." Thereby pointing out that tobacco will go lower if the association lay down.

Here is the article:

THE LEAF MARKET.

There has been an exceedingly quiet time experienced on our markets since last spring. All the business that was negotiated was in most modest quantities.

As the present is the most critical time, one can not blame users for operating with all the caution possible, they were always timorous and always looking ahead in the home of downward movement. Of course when any thing did occur to lower the range of values ruling, present purchases would look dear, and there would be much sorrow.

But I am convinced that there is absolutely no foundation upon which it is possible to base a hope for the reduction. Every thing on the other side indicates that prices at least maintained, even if an improvement has not been recorded. We are hoping that the signatures to the petition to the chancellor may be successful in convincing him that the additional impost for which he is responsible has had a most damaging effect upon the trade of the independent manufacturers. Such a heavy tax must have proved a serious matter a few years ago when a leaf was at ordinary prices but to increase it to such an extent with leaf at the abnormally high price it is, must have been done in absolute ignorance of existing conditions.

Surely if it were proved to the chancellor that the powerful associations in the states formed for the purpose of controlling the supply of leaf, and only selling at any price they cared to ask, he would realize what very unfavorable conditions the independent manufacturers were working under, and as he is powerless to do anything towards easing the situation on the other side, he could adjust the duty here, which could be made to answer just as usual.--London Tobacco. --Banks in Gleaner.

Such an Excitement.

Washington, May 16.--Governor Willson, of Kentucky, is coming to Washington next week to play golf with President Taft. The president challenged the governor some time ago and today he received the acceptance from Kentucky. The match probably will be played on the Chevy Chase links May 20th.

Joseph Wendling's

Sentence Affirmed.

Frankfort, Ky., May 17.--The court of appeals today handed down an opinion affirming the sentence of life imprisonment given Joseph Wendling for the murder of eight-year-old Alma Kellner in Louisville.

Washington, D. C. May 17.--During a speech on the "farmers free list bill" Representative Focht of Pennsylvania, disclosed an item of news which should be of great interest to every American Manufacturer who is desirous of securing foreign trade.

According to Mr. Focht's information the State Department has endorsed a project for placing on file in Every American Consulate in the five continents of the world a complete card index catalogue of American made goods. Any manufacturer can have his catalogue briefed and translated into the language of the country in which the consulate is located. The plan is, practically, to place a directory of American products where it will always be available to the foreign buyer, and to make that directory complete and always up to date and easily accessible to any one interested.

This is in line with the work of the Bureau of Manufactures of the department of Commerce and Labor which has for several years kept a record of all enquiries for American goods received by the Consuls of the U. S. But there has been universal complaint from those officials of the lack of catalogues and sales lists in language understood by the enquirers.

Mr. Focht declared it is as his firm belief that a plan of this character, designed to bring the state department into closer relations with the business interests of the country, will result in an immediate increase in our foreign Commerce which will eventually add untold millions to the balance of trade in favor of the United States.

ROAD AND SCHOOL

LEGISLATION IN PROSPECT

Now about good roads: Good roads are coming. Just as sure as a greater civilization is now dawning, just that sure must the old tortuous, gully washed, water soaked excuses called county roads give way to modern metal topped highways. The outlook for road building by state aid is not roseate, because so many of the counties of the central section already have turnpikes and they are going to be slow to vote a tax on the blue grass farms to build roads for us. Another thing in the way of a state wide road is that a measure can hardly be framed that will not admit of a dozen loopholes for graft and extravagance. The people have been humbugged and faked so often that they are on the lookout for a "nigger in every woodpile," and they will not stand for their members voting for the bills proposed so far.

So it seems that it up to each county to shift for itself in the matter of good roads. Therefore roadbuilding will necessarily be slow. The people will be slow to vote taxes or bonds until they see what they can get for their money. A great many Missourians pride themselves on being from Kentucky; but there are at least two million Kentuckians who are just "from Missouri" on buying anything from anybody but Sears & Roebuck until they first examined the goods.

The public spirited gentlemen who have contributed so generously to build the section of Marion and Salem road struck the keynote for good roads in old Crittenden. This will "show" all the doubting Thomases who pass that way, and mark it, it will be the initial step toward joining the remotest parts of the county with unbroken lines of MacAdams best.

If the fiscal court will raid that new treasury of ours, and dish out some of those shekels to build two rods of pike in each voting precinct of the county it will serve not only as an object lesson to us back woods denizens as to the value of good roads, but would serve the further purpose of relieving the county treasurer of the great responsibility of guarding the golden store.

What say you Mr. Magistrates? "Old man People" must be shown now and forever when it comes to taking revenue.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey

Bad roads are the heaviest taxes we pay. No tyrant who ever wore a kingly crown or wielded a scepter over any people has yet exacted a tribute so constantly, so remorselessly from rich and poor alike as has old Clay Roads. May he soon come to the end of his rope, and pass away unwept and unsung, and be buried just where he lies under a layer of limestone so deep that he will never be seen more by mortal eyes or hear the resurrection horn. And the people will do this when they are shown it can be done, and that every dollar they put up will buy a dollars worth of road, which will be an investment that will bring an income greater than Bank of English stock. The people want to hold the purse strings themselves and not pay a lot of useless supervisors or sinecures who like barnacles fasten themselves on to projects of this kind, and it is these bloodsucking parasites which weaken so many enterprises, and cause the people to vote against public interest often to avoid these evils.

In the light of past events, Mr. Editor, do you blame the people for being cautious, especially so when it took the Chinese three thousand years to learn that roast pig was really a palatable food.

We must do some educational work, some missionary work, some practical work before the people warm up to a question that carries with it the expenditure of so much money; but it will be worth all that it costs. It will make better schools by making larger and more regular attendance; it will add interest to church work for the same reason, it will help the social status by bringing the people nearer together; it will shorten the distance to market and the county seat, and enhance the value of lands 25 percent inside of 5 years by making them accessible to every where, at all seasons of the year.

Now Marshall, a man that has driven as many miles as you have over the best as well as the worst roads in Ky. ought to be able to say something that will help the cause of good roads.

Yours truly,

Marion F. Pogue.

Well my opinion is that a bonded debt of $250,000.00 at 4 percent interest could be retired in 25 years, and would supply money to turnpike every main Road in the county and would enhance Crittenden county's value $1,000,000.00 immediately, and would be the best investment the county could make, and it could be done without increasing the present tax rate if the vast sum, squandered each year on the Roads to no profit or benefit, was used to retire ten bonds of $1,000 each, each year.

Dragging A Road

Across Iowa.

All that is needed to make good roadways is dragging.

The Eichinger crusade for good roads asks that the present plan of each township road officer being a law unto himself be abolished and that a county engineer receive authority to direct the road work of every township, with a reasonable portion of the road money to be expended each year for dragging. To quote Eichinger on the average township road officer: "He throws up loose grades, piles up a nicely rounded pile of dirt in the center of the road, which is a better place to plant corn than to travel over, and calls it a road. He goes away, the rain washes his grades to pieces; travel fills it with ruts and holes, which hold the water—and the sum total of his efforts is the highway which has made Iowa notorious throughout the country."

"The principle of the dragged road is simply to smooth the top surface of the road, wipe out the ruts and holes, to prevent the water standing on the surface and softening the bed of the roadway. The best time to use the drag is soon after a rain, when the ground is soft. It may even be slushy and produce better results; for the mud, when spread out and smoothed over the surface by the drag, is dried by the wind and baked by the sun. The drag throws but a small portion of the dirt to the center at each trip. This, kept up for a few seasons, produces a nicely rounded top surface of successively dried and baked layers, which become extremely hard and almost impervious to water, unless permitted to stand and soak for a considerable time. The ordinary rainfall, that strikes the surface which has been properly smoothed, rolls away to the side of the road without doing any special damage."

Eichinger started to prove that the present road-tax levies in Iowa, without additional taxation or legislation, are sufficient to provide good roads for the state, if properly and wisely expended. As has been stated, the tax for this purpose is about $5,000,000 a year. At $3.50 per mile per year, which is a fair average for the cost of dragging, $200,000 per annum would keep every foot of the 57,000 miles of highways in the state in good condition. This sounds incredible, but stubborn facts prove it.

Macadam roads in Iowa have cost from $4,500 to $7,000 per mile; brick pavement, twenty feet wide, is estimated to average $10,000; gravel road-bed, which requires almost as much attention as an ordinary dirt road, from $700 to $1,000 per mile. The average township, as laid out in Iowa, has thirty-six miles of roadway, and has $1,000 to spend on the roads. At $3.50 per mile, $126 of this $1,000 would keep every road in each township in excellent condition if it were properly dragged.

Eichinger and his cohorts are urging that every town through which the River-to-River Dragged Road runs start a cross-road and work out a few miles on each side of the town in hope that other neighboring towns will start dragging a main traveled highway out to meet the other, thus uniting the towns. If this gradual extension can be kept up, the whole state will be covered in time with a minute network of perfect dragged roads.

Not forgetting the motorist, a series of day tours from Des Moines has been logged and mapped; one to Ames, another to Boone, a third to Colfax, and so on. Polk county motor-car owners have contributed two dollars each for sign-boards and to pay for the dragging of the road.

The more one thinks of J. W. Eichinger and his work for good roads in Iowa and what he has accomplished in five short months the more firmly the conviction is driven home that he has found the solution of the problem in dragging. If this is true in Iowa—and it is—it will not take other states long to fall in line. The only drawback appears to be the lack of "live wires." Unfortunately an Eichinger does not dwell in every community.—Harpers Weekly.

WORLD BETTER.

Although I believe that the millennium is far away, I also believe that the world was never better than it is today and that it is growing better every day. The public conscience, which is keener and more active than ever before, is responsible for the growth in civic righteousness, and good government depends on the activity and aggressiveness of the average citizen.—Joseph W. MARION, KY.

Hays Medicine Co.: We are delighted to add our testimony to the virtues of Hays Specific. Our work produces CONSTIPATION, RHEUMATISM and STOMACH TROUBLE. For years we have looked for a remedy, but in Hays Specific we have found a cure. So far it has not failed on a single man and twenty-eight have taken it. We have recommended it to many of our friends and know of no failures. We stand ready to make affidavit to this testimonial for the benefit of any who doubt it.—J. J. Wood, Chief of Fire Department, Paducah, Ky. M4-11-18-25.

TRUE CHARITY.

That is no true alms which the hand can hold. He gives only worthless gold Who gives from a sense of duty. But he who gives but a slender mite, And gives to that which is out of sight, That thread of the all sustaining beauty Which runs through all and doth all unite— The hand cannot clasp the whole of his alms. —Lowell.

HONESTY.

An honest soul is like a ship at sea That sleeps at anchor on the ocean's calm, But when it rages and the wind blows high She cuts her way with sails with majesty. —Beaumont and Fletcher.

The man who pauses on his honesty Wants little of the villain. —Martyn.

The more honesty a man has The less he affects the air of a saint.—Lavater.

All other knowledge is hurtful to him Who has not honesty and good nature. —Montaigne.

Heaven that made me honest made me more Than ever king did when he made a lord. —Rowe.

Never Out Of Work.

The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globe of health, that changes weakness into strength, languor into energy, brain-fog into power; curing constipation, headache, chills, dyspepsia and malaria. Only 25c at Haynes & Taylor's and Jas. H. Orme's, Marion, Ky.

EDUCATION NEEDED.

Slavery is but half abolished, emancipation is but half completed, while millions of freedmen with votes in their hands are left without education. Justice to them, the welfare of the states in which they live, the safety of the whole republic, the dignity of the elective franchise—all alike demand that the still remaining bonds of ignorance shall be unloosed and broken and the minds as well as the bodies of the emancipated go free.—Robert C. Winthrop.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD.

The County board met in regular session at the factory Saturday the 6th. We made some inquiry among the members as to pooling this year. We find that while the work has only fairly begun, good reports come from all parts of the county. Here are some of them: Committeeman Crisp turned in a long list from Bells Mines and said that he had hardly begun. Rankin of Fords Ferry had a good list stated that his part of the county would be well pooled this year. Chairman Dean canvassed his own school district and came very nearly making a clean sweep of it. Latham said that his section was pooling better than usual. One of his canvassers told us, all he had approached had signed up without hesitating.

We were told however that in some sections the people expressed a willingness to pool, but state that they are not ready to do so at present. Now this should not be the case. It causes unnecessary trouble and expense to have to be visited more once. If you believe in the Association, and believe that this county should stay in the great organization; If you are willing to cast your lot with that of the ten-thousand tobacco growers who compose this organization, who are striving to better their own condition and yours; then you should put your tobacco in it, and should not cause unnecessary trouble by putting it off.

I believe Hays' Specific to be an effectual and complete cure for eczema, and a valuable remedy for other ills. I am not interested, directly or indirectly, in the medicine, but I am acquainted with the gentlemen who are putting it up and know they are strictly business men, and would not fool away their time with anything even resembling a humbug. I personally know that the remedy that they are selling has cured some ugly cases of eczema. I have taken it for indigestion, and it has given me more relief than any other prescription I have ever tried.—John K. Hendrick, Attorney, Paducah, Ky. M4-11-18-25.

"I Am Glad"

writes Mrs. Ethel Newlin, of Liberty Center, Ind., "that I began to take Cardui, for it has cured me, and I will never forget it. "I cannot praise Cardui too highly for what it did for me. Before I began to take it, I was very bad color, suffered great pain and weighed only 105 pounds. Now I have a good color, do not suffer and weigh 125 lbs."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Beware of strong, noxious, mineral drugs, that sink into your system, like lead to the bottom of a basin of water.

Cardui is purely vegetable and contains no poisonous minerals, or dangerous drugs.

It is perfectly safe and harmless, for use by old and young, and may be taken, as a tonic, for months, without any possible harmful effect. Try it.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weakness they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

I consider the public school system the greatest factor in the solving of our problems. I believe there is no group of people in this world that stand so high in morals, that stand so high in ideals and patriotism, as the teachers. But it is not so much what you teach the child, it is not so much what you say to the child, as it is what you are to the child that is of greatest value to him. We sometimes forget what examples we are.—Dean Sumner.

CHAPTER XII.

THE LAW STEPS IN.

"HERE they come again!" called Lize as she lay out upon her bed, her hands twitching, her eyes closed, and Ross was profoundly alarmed. "You need the doctor," he urged. "Let me bring him."

"No," she said huskily, but with decision; "I'm only tired. I'll be all right soon. Send the people away. Tell 'em to go to bed."

For half an hour Cavanagh remained in the room waiting to see if the doctor's services would be required, but at the end of that time, as she had apparently fallen asleep, he rose and slipped out into the hall.

Lee followed, and they faced each other in such intimacy as the shipwrecked feel after the rescue.

When they were quite alone Lee said, "You must not go out into the streets tonight."

"There's no danger. These hoodlums would not dare to attack me."

"Nevertheless you shall not go," she declared. "Wait a moment," she commanded and re-entered her mother's room.

As he stood there at Lize Wetherford's door and his mind went back over her brave deed, which had gone far to atone for her vulgarity, his respect for her deepened. Lee Virginia opened the door and stepped out close beside him.

"Her breathing is quieter," she whispered. "I think she's going to sleep. It's been a terrible night! You must be horribly tired. I will find you some place to sleep. Please don't go till after breakfast," she smiled wanly. "I may need you."

He understood. "What did the doctor say?"

"He said mother was in a very low state of vitality and that she must be very careful, which was easy enough to say. But how can I get her to rest and to diet? You have seen how little she cares for the doctor's orders. He told her not to touch alcohol."

"She is more like a man than a woman," he answered.

She led the way into the small sitting room which lay at the front of the house and directly opposite the door of her own room. It was filled with shabby parlor furniture, and in one corner stood a worn couch. "I'm sorry, but I can offer nothing better," she said. "Every bed is taken, but I have plenty of blankets."

There was something delightfully suggestive in being thus waited upon by a young red-headed woman, and she sank gratefully so it with the awkward grace of one unaccustomed to feminine care.

They faced each other in silence, each filled with the same delicious sense of weakness, of danger, reluctant to say good night, longing for the closer touch which dawning love demanded, and yet something in the girl defended her, defeated him.

"You must call me if I can be of any help," he repeated, and his voice was tremulous with feeling.

"I will do so," she answered. Still they did not part. His voice was very tender as he said: "I don't like to see you exposed to such experiences. It angers me to think that the worst of these loafers, these drunken beasts, can glare at you, can speak to you. They have no right to breathe the same air with one like you."

She did not smile at this. His voice, his eyes, were filled with the gravity of the lover whose passion is not humorous. Against his training, his judgment, he was being drawn into closer and closer union with this daughter of violence, and he added, "You may not see me in the morning."

"You must not go without seeing my mother. You must have your breakfast with us. It hurt us to think you didn't come to us for supper."

Her words meant little, but the look in her eyes, the music in her voice, made him shiver. He stammered: "I—I must return to my duties tomorrow. I should go back tonight."

"You mustn't do that. You can't do that. You are to appear before the judge."

He smiled. "That is true. I'd forgotten that."

Radiant with relief, she extended her hand. "Good night, then. You must sleep."

He took her hand and drew her toward him; then, perceiving both wonder and fear in her eyes, he conquered himself. "Good night," he repeated, dropping her hand, but his voice was husky with its passion.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

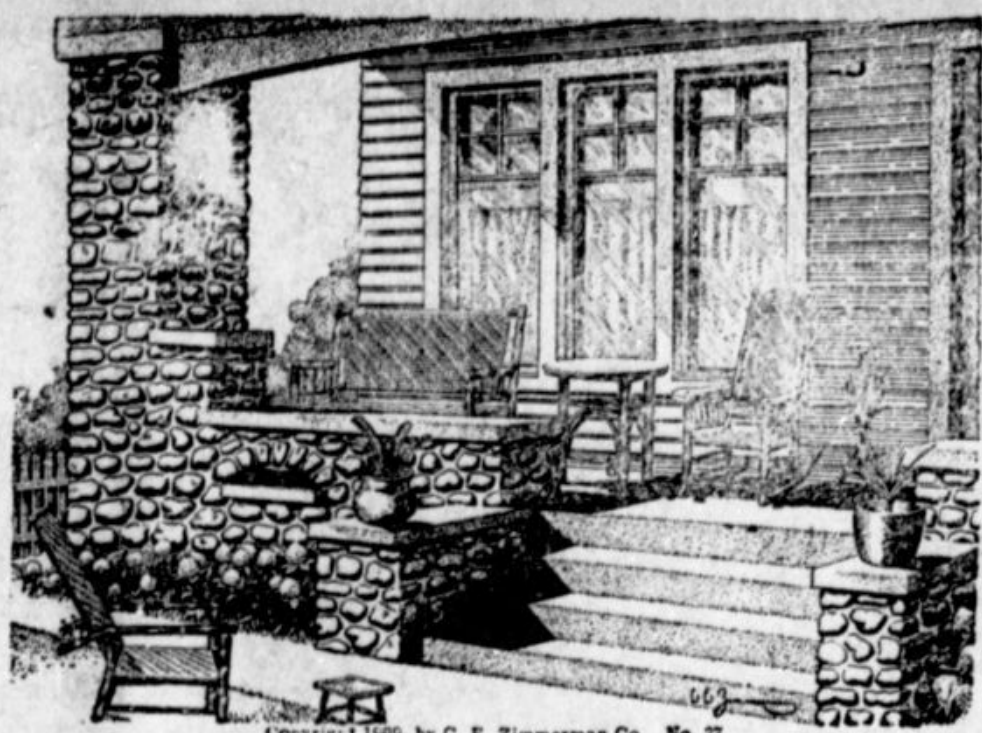

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

IDEA OF FREEDOM. There is what I call the American idea. This idea demands, as the proximate organization thereof, a democracy—that is, a government of all the people, by all the people, for all the people; of course a government of the principles of eternal justice, the unchanging law of God. For shortness' sake I will call it the idea of freedom.—Theodore Parker.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps? No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bites destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor's and Jas. H. Orme's drug store, Marion, Ky.

IF YOU HAVE A SOUL PREPARE TO SUBMIT IT TO MEDICAL ANALYSIS. IF THERE IS SOMETHING WRONG WITH YOUR DIGESTION OR YOUR NERVOUS SYSTEM DON'T TELL YOUR FAMILY PHYSICIAN WHAT YOU ATE FOR DINNER. JUST STATE WHAT YOU DREAMED LAST NIGHT.

We can dream more in a minute than we can act in a year, and we only remember the dreams which come to us in the moments immediately preceding waking. Besides, it is POSSIBLE FOR A PHYSICIAN TO SUGGEST WHAT DREAMS HIS PATIENT SHALL HAVE. I have been doing that for the last twelve years. The value of unsuggested dreams isn't worth an iota in a court of justice.
