PATTERSON SOCIETY ELECTION

Officers Chosen For First Term Next Year.

The Patterson Literary Society held its business meeting of this collegiate year, on Saturday night. The officers were elected for the first term beginning in September and ending in December. N. G. Rochester was chosen president; John Wilson, vice president and C. E. Blevins, treasurer.

This closes one of the most successful years in the history of the society and with the capable energetic officers chosen for the next year, the work should attain an even higher standard than ever before.—State College News.

May 30th, At Chapel Hill.

Decoration day will be observed at Chapel Hill this year by the annual election of officers as usual, and by an all day reunion with dinner on the ground. All those interested are expected to be on hand or send representatives and bring their families, also bring dinner and tools prepared to clean off graves. After the graves and yard are cleaned off by the men, the ladies will decorate the graves and serve dinner, after which speaking, singing and other pleasant exercises will be held. Wm. ADAMS, Pres. Chapel Hill Cemetery Association.

In Honor of Paducah Girl—

H. D. McChesney's Daughter.

Frankfort correspondent of the Lexington Herald says: "Miss Ruth McChesney, who is attending State University at Lexington, spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. McChesney and Saturday evening Mrs. McChesney entertained with a vaudeville party in her honor. After the performance the guests were served a luncheon at the McChesney home, and they were: Misses Hazel O'Rear, Mary Swigert Hendrick, Natalie Martin, Elizabeth Breathitt, Marie Lockett, Elizabeth Redman, of Henderson; Messrs. Jack Martin, William French, James Taylor, Charles Clayton and John Cannon.

Church Dedication.

Salem, Ky., May 17, 1911.

Record-Press,

Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—Please announce in next week's paper, that the Cedar Grove church, four miles west of Salem, will be dedicated Sunday June 11, 1911. Everybody invited to be present.

Yours truly,
S. M. BAILEY.

Heir to millions will continue her teaching

Atlanta, Ga., May 12.—Heir to $6,000,000, and with $30,000 now in her possession, Miss Lillian Swygert continues to follow her chosen vocation of a school teacher in the mill district of this city. Miss Swygert came to Atlanta 6 years ago to take a position as teacher. Soon after her arrival she fell heir to $16,000 upon the death of her father, $14,000 upon the death of her half sister, and several thousands additional left by another relative. Last November she was left $6,000,000 in the will of an uncle in Germany.

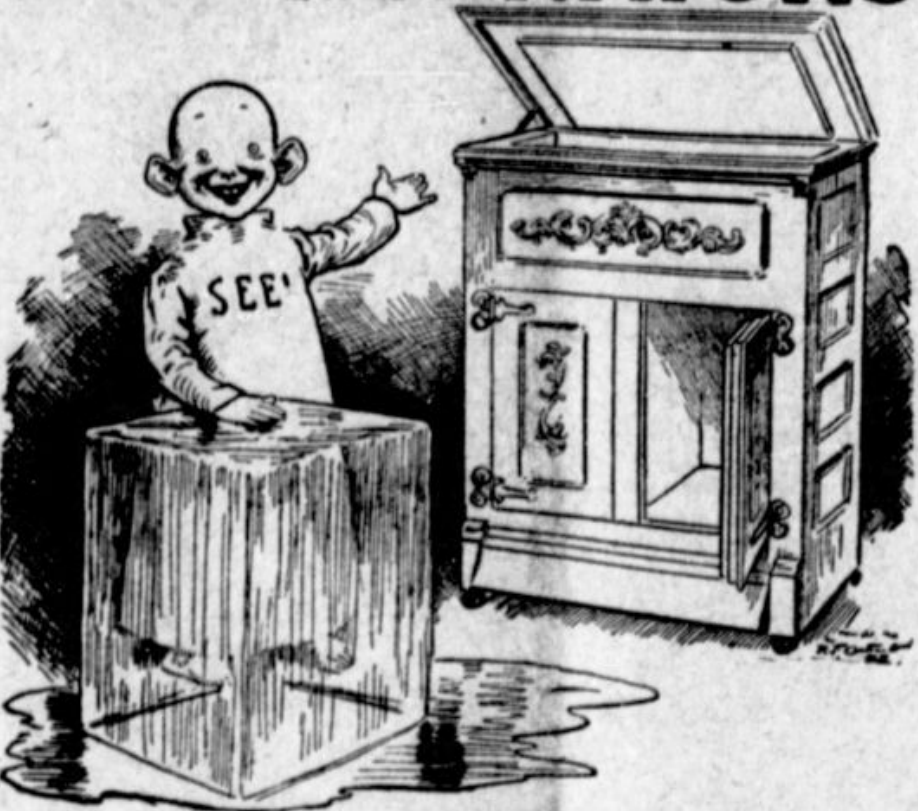

Locks Jailer Up And Skips

Cadiz, Ky., May 24.—While Jailer Roscoe Marlow was feeding his prisoners he went into the cell of Edgar Winn, white, who was serving a sentence for whipping his wife, and while he was inside Winn jumped out the door and locked the Jailer in and escaped down the steps. The alarm was at once given and officers started in pursuit of Winn, but he has not been apprehended.

Annual Decoration Day Exercises Will Be Held at the New Cemetery, Sunday June 4th 1911.

The annual decoration day exercises, conducted by Rosewood camp No 22, W. O. W. will be held on Sunday June 4th, at the New Cemetery, Marion, Ky.

All members of this camp, and also members of neighboring camps are expected to be present and assist in honoring the memory of our deceased sovereigns.

The program for the days exercise will be announced at an early date.

The monument erected to the memory of Thomas Clifton will be unveiled with the appropriate ceremonies on this day.

Great Mineral Water

W. N. Cullen's Well

5 1-2 Miles East of Marion

Below we publish the chemists analysis, which shows it to be one of the greatest mineral water ever known.

Laboratory No 2915 Lexington Ky
Well water sent by W. N. Cullen, Repton Crittenden Co., Ky., November 3rd 1908.

	ana.	gr. per gal.	gr. per liter
Ferous sulphate	12.4	.213
Aluminum "	1.2	.020
calcium "	232.2	3.983
magnesia "	206.4	3.540
Potassium "	5.6	.097
Sodium Chloride	16.5	.283
Total solid mat.	477.8	8.186

The sample contained considerable ferruginous sediment, it is a calicci magnesian water, containing a good deal of Iron, and should have the value as a mineral water on account of its laxative and Chalybeate properties.

analysis by McHargue
(Signed) Alfhred M. Peter.

Chemist.

The great discovery of the value of the water was made a few years ago only The water is used by no less eminent a practitioner than Dr. J. V. Hayden of Salem, who pronounces it, efficacious in many troubles of the liver and stomach. The fact that several noted mineral waters are in Marion, one at Joel Picken's place " " James Gilbert " and that the greatest of all Sulphur Springs is "Crittenden" only 5 miles west makes it not only possible but entirely in the range of probabilities that with the coming of turnpikes, Marion will become the central depot for these fountains of health.

Farmer Badly Hurt

Blowing Up Stumps.

Evansville, Ind., May 23.—(Special.) While blowing up stumps on a farm near DeKoven, Ky., today with dynamite, Thomas Swingle was seriously hurt and physicians say he may die.

Decoration Day Exercise

Tuesday, May 30th is decoration Day at the new cemetery, and also the day for the election of new officers. The Marion cemetery Association is very anxious to have every lot owner at the Cemetery on that morning, at 9 o'clock. We want you to see the work we have been doing and what remains yet to be done to make the place look as it should.

We have bought more land during the past year, and this has brought our fund very low, and kept us from doing work on the walks and drives that needs to be done. We have done the best we could with what funds we had. We must have your help this year. We want every one to come prepared to pay in their assessment for care of lots, at this meeting. By doing this it means much time saving to the officers of the association. These officers are all business people, and have but little time to devote to this work other than taking time from their business. Show your appreciation of them and their efforts, by paying on this day. They do not receive one penny for their work or time.

The prices for care of lots will remain the same, as our expenses will be heavy this coming year. It is $3.00 per year for single occupied lot; $1.50 for unoccupied lot; $5.00 for two lots adjoining, both occupied. This is a very little, when you think of what it means. This helps to care for the drives, walks, etc., as well as your own lot. To beautify the place as it should be it must be uniformly kept.

Some lot owners have never contributed to this work, many others have already responded liberally and regularly, and the Association wishes to express their appreciation of this. Many of these live in the county and other towns, yet when reminded of the work for the coming year, they are always ready with their part.

On next decoration day, we ask that all the Sunday Schools take part in the exercises, and that all meet at the court house yard, and go in a body. Our ministers will be the speakers on this occasion, and Mr. J. W. Blue will represent the association.

Pot Of Gold Is Dug Up By Farmer Near Lafayette - $370 in Old Stump

A stone jar containing $370 in gold was dug up recently by J. W. Richards, a farmer near Lafayette. Mr. Richards was digging up an old stump that remained after a tree had been blown down in a windstorm, and the jar was discovered among the roots. The farm was owned several years ago by a negro named Demys but has belonged to Mr. Richards for some time.

Bloomington, Ind., May 16.—A one pound baby boy, one of the smallest babies on record, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benson of this city. It will live. The mite of a boy was so small at birth that it could rest with ease in an ordinary soup dish. The father is 17 years of age and the mother is 15.

Notice To Road Overseers.

A short time ago I called attention of the road overseers to the necessity of putting their roads in good condition early in the spring, so they would be well packed down by next winter. I am glad to hear that a great many of the more progressive overseers have been working their roads and are putting them in condition, but some have, so far, failed to work their roads. There is considerable complaint about some roads that have not yet been worked, and I want to warn the overseers that they must proceed to put their roads in good condition. If this is not done, I shall issue warrants for the delinquent overseers upon complaint.

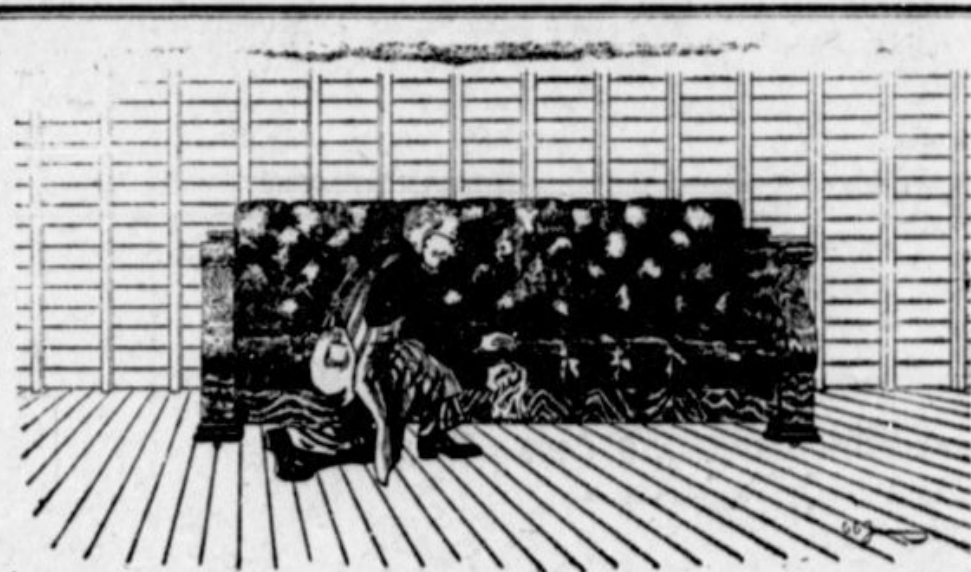

I do not wish to fine any one if it can be avoided, but we must have better roads. A word to the wise should be sufficient. J. W. BLUE, County Judge.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Pretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor's and Jas. H. Orme's drug store, Marion, Ky.

THE OLD CABINET MAKER SAYS:

THAT the one piece of furniture which combines the highest degree of utility and beauty is the Davenport. When emergency calls, it may opened to serve as a bed and it makes a luxurious one, too. Closed, it becomes a handsome piece of furniture—an ornament in any room. In our store we have Davenports of many kinds, at many prices. You will have no trouble in finding what you want at the price you wish to pay; and if you have had experience with the cheaply constructed Davenport, or the old fashioned kind, you will be surprised at the simple mechanism of the new ones, and the ease with which they are operated. You can find any number of pieces of furniture at our store, in which there is so much value for the money, that the economy of buying with us is truly apparent.

THE CLOD HOPPER AND THE BALD-HEADED MAN

A STIRRING TALE OF LOVE AND BUSINESS.

Written for the Record-Press by ROBERT C. HAYNES
Author of "This Funny World," "Dark Days and Bright," Etc.

IX.

MORE ADVICE FROM THE BALD-HEADED MAN.

Another week pass'd, and one day Pounder Green—He had just left his room and his writing machine—Walking down Middle Street, was just going across To his home, when he met the big bald-headed boss

"How's your health today Green?" asked the Bald-Headed Man; "Let me speak a few words to you, sir, if you can; Now of course what I tell you will be without price, I just want to drop in, sir, a word of advice.

"It appears to me, Green, that a good man like you—Good on a machine, and you're up in years, too—Would be better equipped for the battles of life, If he had a good, all-around, business-like wife.

"I've been thinking," continued the Bald-Headed Man—"And no one can down me in forming a plan—That no girl would suit you so well, Pounder Green, As that bright, little fairy-faced elf, Imogene.

"A treasure more precious than gold she would be; No helpmate more willing or loving than she, A girl who can pound on a writing machine Would make a good wife, too, for any man, Green!

"And I'll further say this, Green—for such is my plan—Just between you and me," said the Bald-Headed Man, "If you'll lose no more time, and will wed Imogene, I'll give you a splendid new writing machine."

"Well, I'll duly consider your words," answered Green; "I have always thought well of the fair Imogene, And will give, sir, due weight to your words and your plan, For you are, after all, a kind Bald-Headed Man.

Then out, off and on went the hard-pounding Green, Who was soon again punching his writing machine; And tho' on he kept punching, his thoughts would oft go To a nice little home down on Middleton Row.

"I'm in luck! ha! ha! ha!" laughed the Bald-Headed Man, "I have struck now—ha! ha!—on a sure going plan To get square with that clod-hopping, hod-toting Turk!" That oily tongued Green can most sure do the work!"

Constipation brings every ailment in its train and is the primary cause of much distress. Keep your bowels regular, and you will escape many of the ailments to which women are subject. Constipation is a very simple thing, but like many simple things, it may lead to serious consequences. Nature often needs a little assistance and when Chamberlain's Tablets are given at the first indication, much distress and suffering may be avoided. Sold by all dealers.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hayse Jacobs May 1st, 94 pound girl.

Virgil Taylor spent the past week at the home of his aunt, Arnalla Hill, of Zillah.

Mary A. Jacobs is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ed Taylor, this week at Toppenish.

Rena Shinnall was the guest of Marie Hill last week.

School closed Friday at Zillah.

Quite a crowd of young folks enjoyed an excursion to Yakima Sunday.

Hayse Jacobs is building a new seven room bungalow house on the five acre he recently bought two miles south of Toppenish.

Mrs. Rosa Jacobs is improving after a serious illness.

Aunt Mollie Jacobs and her daughters, Mesdames Hill and Taylor, were the guests of her son, Hayes, and family Saturday.

Tom Hill and wife visited her sister Myrtle Taylor, Saturday and Sunday.

Crops are fine; weather pleasant; and everybody busy in their orchards and on their ranches.

North Coast has four motor cars and three passenger trains daily both east and west and they all make a stop at Zillah.

Ewell Hill had a fine cow killed by a train on the 25th.

Measles and whooping cough are raging here at present.

Richard McCalin has moved to Zillah from north Yakima.

Zillah cemetery is one of the prettiest in the west. It is cared for by R. H. Hill, who is employed by the cemetery association, at a good price.

Zillah's new addition is now on for sale at good price.

The new depot at Zillah is completed and work beginning on the new round house for the O. W. & N. railroad; a large hotel is going up on Yakima ave. Mr. and Mrs. Laura Green moved into their new house Friday on Capital hill.

B. G. Young and family, William Mann and family and H. C. Ham and wife spent Sunday at the home of Hayse Jacobs and J. Q. Tucker.

Success for the dear old Record-Press and its many readers.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Marion People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills make sick kidneys well. Here is a Marion testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Mary Alexander, Marion, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for three or four years. Sharp twinges seized me in my back when I stooped or lifted and I was unable to rest well on account of a constant backache. I tired easily, often felt nervous and languid, and was annoyed by headaches and dizzy spells. I was also troubled by a blurring of my sight, and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's drug store and am glad to say that they gave me great relief. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for a quarter of a century. It is pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste—you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., writes that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Penn., started with it in that way and now writes that it is their one family necessity next to food itself. If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy. Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

PRINCETON LEADER ITEMS.

B. F. McMican, formerly in business here, now publisher of the Portland (Tenn.) Herald, was a caller at the Leader office today.

Dr. J. N. Todd, Fredonia's popular physician, passed thro the city Saturday enroute to Louisville. Doc says he is going to buy an automobile. He has enough friends to keep him busy motoring all summer long.

What is probably the largest tract of white oak timber in this section, at Baker's station, near Fredonia, and owned by Miss Mattie Baker and her brothers, Ross and Edward, has been sold to the Hoosier Veneering Co., and tomorrow M. C. O'Hara will put his force of men to work cutting and shipping the same. They expect to get out over 100,000 feet of this valuable lumber.

Sick headache results from a disordered condition of the stomach, and can be cured by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

Morganfield's Dog Ordinance.

The City Council of the city of Morganfield, Ky., do ordain:

1. That all persons owning or having in their possession or control bull dogs, bull terriers, or any other vicious and dangerous dog and permitting the same to run at large upon the streets or alleys or off the premises of the owner shall muzzle the same with good and effective muzzles.

2. Any persons violating the above ordinance shall be fined not less than $5.00 nor more than $10.00 for each offence. Each day shall constitute and be deemed a separate offence.

3. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to kill any and all of the dogs required to be muzzled by this ordinance, which he shall find without muzzle on the streets or alleys or off the premises of the owner of the said dog or dogs, whether said dog or dogs shall be licensed or not. He shall be allowed $1.00 for each and every dog so killed.

This ordinance to be in full force and effect five days after publication.

Passed and approved May 12, 1911.

President Barrett of The Farmers' Union Gives Vivid Aphorisms.

Organization is the greatest necessity to the farming population of this country.

It costs effort and a little self-sacrifice to practice organization in every day life, but it is the only method that will ever lead to substantial success.

There is not a wrong permitted in this country today that the farmers could not correct if they were united and had the energy and patience necessary to push good men and good measures to the front.

The war will not be won until every reform, inside and outside the ranks, in which the American farmer is interested has been realized.

The man who is looking for the hardest task and the noblest in our day and time, will find it lies in work to elevate the farmer.

After all, helping our fellow men is the greatest thing in life, its real meaning.

We are authorized to announce Thomas S. Rhea, of Logan county as a candidate for treasurer, of the state of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic primary, to be held July 1 1911.

Motoring in Crittenden is getting more popular each day, and all that stands in the way of universal use of automobiles is the desperate roads and not the cost as many would think, for compared with horseflesh and the expense of keeping same, automobiles are not high and are certainly a most delightful mode of transportation. With the advent of turnpikes and better roads generally, the use of automobiles will grow into popular favor and use, all over Crittenden County.

Holiness is power. It utilizes ability, fertilizes the soul and energizes the whole man. It is the fire and water in the engine, bringing out their fullest capacity the strength of all the parts of the machinery, so that the greatest amount of spiritual power may be expended in rolling back a revolted world to God. Holiness is God's power with man, and man's power with God. Thus they become co-workers. Every man who dwelleth in God, and God in him, in an accommodated sense is God's man, which makes him a positive power against all evil and for all good—to pluck careless souls from the incoming flood and storm of wrath, lifting them up into the sweet serenity and protection of the Rock of Ages. Without holiness, we are weaker than a bruised reed; with it, we are like an impregnable and well garrisoned fort, which will stand unharmed the hottest siege, at the same time raining like a hail storm red hot balls from the magazine of the Gospel on an armed world against Christ.—Rev. W. H. Wilson.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

"Some Suggestions"

He who can't forget his personal grievances when his own welfare and that of his community are at stake is breathing, eating and sleeping in the year 1911, but he is not really living in the twentieth century.

The person who lets a little grouch keep him from doing what is conceded to be the best for himself and his neighbors is like one whose view of the sun can be cut off by the wings of a passing gnat.

The man with an eye on the main chance, the man who does not waver or hobble after, he once sees an important duty, is the one who wins.

The stemming district Tobacco Association is making a fight for its life. Ten thousand farmers belonged to the association last year, and it is said a larger membership is already assured this year.

In order to survive, the organization must get close to fourteen thousand members this year, and it must include nearly all the acreage.

A few persons are refusing to join the association because they object to having certain individuals as members of the official staff or as graders.

Probably they have reasons for objecting to the election or hiring of certain individuals.

Their grievances keep them out whether their grievances are real or imaginary.

The management of the Stemming District Association is very much like the government of a city or a county.

The association is a democratic organization—that is, it is self-governing.

And the person who takes the broader view of that sort of situation will not play the quitter because he cannot have his own way.

Suppose every person dissatisfied with the government should give up his citizenship and leave because the mayor or the council does not suit him.

Suppose every owner of bank stocks sold his holdings every time a person he did not like became a director of one of his institutions.

If every fellow refused to play because the rules of the game did not suit him exactly the whole country would go to the bow-wows.

It is easy for a child to refuse to play ball with his associates because a boy with whom he has had a tiff on the day before is found in the line-up.

The latter act you would characterize as childish. What do you think about the former?

The question is whether the tobacco growers shall continue their fighting for fair prices.

There is only one way to fight.

And that way is not by organization of a half dozen little pools—not by organizing two pools.

The tobacco growers have seen the Stemming District Association prove its efficacy.

In spite of individual complaints that the management of the association's affairs has not been conducted as economically as it should have been, no person has ever come out in the open and tried to prove the charge.

The fact is that this co-operative marketing organization has handled the crops of the last few years at a cost of two percent to the growers.

Go to New York or Chicago and consult the head of an up-to-the-minute business house, giving him all the particulars, and you'll be told that the Stemming District Tobacco Association is a model in point of economical management.

Let us forget our little grievances and join in the biggest fight ever conducted in this section for a fair price for any product of the farm.

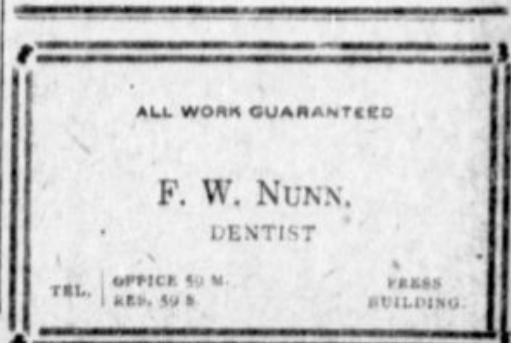

Let us also keep our mouths closed in regard to the faults of individuals connected with the organization unless we have better evidence than gossip circulated by persons who do not know what they are talking about.

Let us keep our eyes on the main chance.

—Henderson Gleaner.

We have them here, but only a few, thank heaven

The business man who refuses to advertise in, subscribe and pay for his home daily or weekly paper is about the tail end of all that's stinky, whittled down to a cedar or pencil point. Just let something occur in which he needs the aid of the little local paper, and that old purse-cramped alligator will break down the door trying to get to the editor's office.—Ex.

An Early Jaunt.

Friday morning, John Eskew, with his chauffeur, Mr. Estes, took J. B. Kevil, S. M. and Robert Jenkins to the John Nunn Farm on the Morganfield Road, for breakfast. Leaving here at 4:42, the run was made in one hour and seven minutes, and the indicator showed the exact distance as eleven miles. The machine behaved splendidly on the entire route and climbed Baker Hill with ease, Mrs. D. H. King, assisted by Mrs. Ramzy King, served a splendid breakfast of which all partook bountifully. The trip was pleasant notwithstanding the bad roads.

Better Lights and more of 'em

No town can have too much street illumination at any rate Uniontown hasn't too much at the present time. Sufficient street lighting is a preserver of morals and does effective police duty. The city officials should see that the city receives "better lights and more of 'em" at all seasons of the year. We need it for mutual welfare.

—Uniontown Telegram.

Marion has 33 arc lights and before the month of June is passed will have 8 more lights, these latter of the 100 candle power tungsten variety.

Aviation Meet In Evansville.

June 9th And 10th.

A great Aviation Meet will be held in Evansville Friday and Saturday June 9th and 10th. At that time two of the most famous of the Curtis School of Aviators will come to give demonstrations of what the up-to-the minute birdmen have done to ward the complete conquest of the air, and to entertain thousands of spectators with exhibitions of fancy flying and attempts at altitude records.

Interest will undoubtedly center in the altitude flights, which will be made by the Aviators and should the air currents be favorable it is expected that some very high flights will be made and possibly record smashing events take place. The Curtis School of Aviators have established themselves thoroughly in the world of Aviation as men of fearless ability and they have been recognized as especially able to accomplish altitude flights.

A feature of exceptional interest will be bomb dropping contests between the aviators. Competition among the aviators for scores in this contest, will, of course, be keen, and the public will be given a great treat.

In addition to the bomb dropping events, five other sensational features will be introduced on the program, anyone of which will be worth far more than the fifty cents which will be charged for admission to the grounds.

The Curtis Machine today holds the record for quick flights from the ground, this record having been established by Glenn Curtis at the recent Aviation tournament on the Pacific Coast.

All transportation lines are making reduced rates to Evansville for the big meet June 9th and 10th.

Marion Graded and High School Closing

The city has been agog for a week past in anticipation of the closing exercises of school. Thursday evening the play "Home Ties" was rendered to a good audience at the opera house.

Sunday morning Dr. Powell delivered the Baccalaureate sermon at the Presbyterian church.

Monday morning certificates of promotion were awarded, and in the evening class day exercises, and Tuesday evening the graduating class appeared before the footlights, a large audience greeting them, this being the closing event of the session.

Gasoline Blow-pot

Nearly Kills Man.

Clarksville, Tenn., May 19, (Special)—Vernon B. Crowder, age 21, was using a gasoline blow pot this afternoon in making repairs on a switch-board at the telephone exchange, when the can exploded and he was dangerously burned on the arms and breast. His clothes were all burned off and only through heroic efforts of other employees was his life saved.

Letter From Toppenish, Wash.

Toppenish, Wash., May 15, 1911. Mr. S. M. Jenkins:—Dear Sir, I have been reading your dear old Record-Press and I will try and tell you how glad I am for Monday to roll around for I get the news from home, and also glad to read cousin J. B. Morse's letter—cousin call again.

Well, as so many of my friends have asked me to write them, so I will do so through the Record-Press. Everything seems to be on a boom out here, and I like out here fine also the people. Sunday is no more than any other day, out here;—work, base ball, theater, etc., all on Sunday. Washington people say all days look alike to them. I have met quite a few western friends, all seem to be quite nice and we also had a nice trip out here. We had 12 hours lay over in Chicago and 12 hours in St. Paul, Min., so we took the street cars at both places and had quite a nice view of the cities, also had a nice view of the Rocky mountains.

I will ring off by asking you all to take good care of old Kentucky for we are coming back in the future, ha, ha.

Yours Respectfully,

Alma Agee

In honor of her sister Miss Nelle Williams who has been her guest, and a very popular visitor here for several weeks and leaves for her home in Providence today, Mrs. Sam Gugenheim entertained Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4. The younger society set were all present and progressive "Rook" was the game engaged in. Refreshments of the most delicious character were served consisting of strawberries, ice cream, nuts and cake, all prepared by the hostess who is a queen of culinary art. The house which is one of the most attractive in the city was rendered more so, by a profusion of cut flowers, plants, evergreens and palms, all in consort with a magnificent shaded lawn, made the place a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The hours sped only too fast, and when the time of departure came, all were loathe to leave and assured the hostess the occasion would linger long in memory's visit.

SEVEN SPRINGS

(Delayed from last week.)

Jim Polk lost a fine mare last week. Mason Patton, of Mexico, was the guest of relatives here Wednesday.

Joe Bell and wife gave the young people a singing Tuesday night which was greatly enjoyed by those present.

Quite a number from this place attended the Ministers and Members meeting at Caldwell Springs last week.

Phil Clark, of Pinkneyville, visited L. K. McClure Friday night.

Miss Julia Patton was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Kinsolving, Saturday night and Sunday.

Most of the gardens are planted. Some are up and growing fast.

Allen Guess fell from a loaded wagon last week and sustained some injuries, but not serious.

Silas Manus and family were visiting his father-in-law, Joe Bell, last week.

Several in this section have planted corn, others are preparing to plant.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. St. John 10:1.

Rev. J. C. Kinsolving and wife passed through this section Friday enroute for home. They had been to Lyon county to visit his mother, Mrs. Garner.

The new church at this place is nearing completion.

There is considerable rise in the river now. We suppose the farmers will be late getting their bottom land in cultivation.

We heartily endorsed Rev. J. C. Kinsolving's sermon at the Ministers and Members meeting at Caldwell Springs. He believes that a person once obtains a hope in Jesus Christ, that there is no possibility of the individual ever falling from that state. The writer believes it also. Amen for such a doctrine as that.

when the astounding claims were first made for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, but forty years of wonder cures have proved them true, and everywhere it is now known as the best salve on earth for burns, boils, scalds, sores, cuts, bruises, sprains, swellings, eczema, chapped hands, fever, sores and piles. WORK.

If a man would eat he must work. A life of elegant leisure is the life of an unworthy citizen. The republic does not owe him a living. It is he who owes the republic a life of usefulness. Such is the republican idea.—Andrew Carnegie.

The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties; help us to play the man; help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; let cheerfulness abound with industry.—R. L. Stevenson.

A man must train himself for his opportunities, for a great occasion is worth to a man exactly what his antecedents have enabled him to make of it.—Matthews.

Hays Medicine Co.: We are delighted to add our testimony to the virtues of Hays Specific. Our work produces CONSTIPATION, RHEUMATISM and STOMACH TROUBLE. For years we have looked for a remedy, but in Hays Specific we have found a cure. So far it has not failed on a single man and twenty-eight have taken it. We have recommended it to many of our friends and know of no failures. We stand ready to make affidavit to this testimonial for the benefit of any who doubt it.—J. J. Wood, Chief of Fire Department, Paducah, Ky. M4-11-18-25.

POWER POLLUTES.

Power, like a desolating pestilence, Pollutes whatever it touches, and obedience. Bane of all genius, virtue, freedom, truth. Makes slaves of men and of the human frame. A mechanized automaton.—Shelley.

I believe Hays Specific to be an effective and complete cure for eczema, and a valuable remedy for other ills. I am not interested, directly or indirectly, in the medicine, but I am acquainted with the gentlemen who are putting it up and know they are strictly business men, and would not fool away their time with anything even resembling a humbug. I personally know that the remedy that they are selling has cured some ugly cases of eczema. I have taken it for indigestion, and it has given me more relief than any other prescription I have ever tried.—John K. Hendrick, Attorney, Paducah, Ky. M4-11-18-25.

Market Expressions.

The editor was busy when he was asked: "How are the markets?" The man was referred to the office devil, who looked wise and said: "Young men steady; girls lively and in demand; paps firm but declining; mamas unsettled, waiting for higher bids; coffee considerable mixed; fresh fish, active and slippery; eggs quiet, but expected to be open soon; whiskey still going down; onions, strong; yeast, rising; bread stuffs, heavy; boots and shoes, those on the market are sold and constantly going up and down; hats and caps, not so high as last year, excepting foolscap, which is stationary; tobacco, very low and has a downward tendency; silver close, but not close enough to get hold of."

Never Out Of Work.

The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, languor into energy, brain-fag into power; curing constipation, headache, chills, dyspepsia and malaria. Only 25¢ at Haynes & Taylor's and Jas. H. Orme's, Marion, Ky.

Cutting Alfalfa.

Watch your alfalfa closely now. Don't wait for it to begin blooming before cutting. Examine the crowns and if new growth is starting at the bottom of the stalks, cut it. This frequently happens to the first growth in the spring and the yield of hay at the first and second cuttings may easily be reduced by waiting a little too long before cutting. Usually alfalfa should be cut when just coming into bloom. The hay is of a better quality when cut at this stage than if allowed to become more woody. The next crop starts off sooner if the stems have become hard. But sometimes the first crop should be taken off before there is any sign of blooming.—Ok'ahoma Farm Journal.

"I Am Glad"

writes Mrs. Ethel Newlin, of Liberty Center, Ind., "that I began to take Cardui, for it has cured me, and I will never forget it. I cannot praise Cardui too highly for what it did for me. Before I began to take it, I was very bad color, suffered great pain and weighed only 105 pounds. Now I have a good color, do not suffer and weigh 125 lbs."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Beware of strong, noxious, mineral drugs, that sink into your system, like lead to the bottom of a basin of water.

Cardui is purely vegetable and contains no poisonous minerals, or dangerous drugs.

It is perfectly safe and harmless, for use by old and young, and may be taken, as a tonic, for months, without any possible harmful effect. Try it.

Cow Adopts Pigs.

Having been separated from its calf after it was six weeks old, Tinnie, a Jersey cow, owned by Mrs. Harry Martin, who, with her husband, lives on what is known as the Emery Low farm, in the Taylorsville road, three miles beyond the city limits, has adopted a litter of seven pigs that lost their mother when they were four weeks old. The affection of the cow is reciprocated by the pigs. The cow guards them jealously and it is only when the pigs are taken from it by force that she is away from. They feed from the cow just as they would from their mother, and are thriving on its milk.

Mr. Martin, in telling of the strange case yesterday, said that the cow, the calf and the litter of pigs and their mother ran at large in the same field. The calf was taken from the cow sooner than is customary, he said, and Tinnie showed every indication of deep grief. A few days later the mother of the pigs was sold, and the grief was equal to that of Tinnie. Left alone in the field with the cow, the pigs sought it for company, and the cow figuratively speaking, welcomed them with open arms. It did not take the pigs long to locate the milk supply, and by sitting on their haunches they feed until they are unable to hold more.—Louisville Courier Journal, Monday May 15th, 1911.

THOUSANDS PICK BERRIES.

200,000 Quarts Per Day Gathered Near Humboldt.

Humboldt, Tenn., May 15.—Two hundred thousand quarts of strawberries per day are now being picked within a radius of 5 miles of Humboldt, and the laborious duty is being performed by from 1,500 to 2,000 hands, who receive 2 cents a quart, or $4,000 a day for the work.

Cooks and house servants of all kinds have thrown up their jobs and joined the throng of pickers, and scores have been imported from other sections. Every woods lot has its camp of pickers, who have moved in for a few days to help harvest the immense berry crop, and who will move on north when the berry shipments here are over.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE OLD SHEEP HERDER.

THE ranger was awakened in the first faint dawn by the passing of the girl's light feet as she went across the hall to her mother's room, and a moment later he heard the low murmur of her voice. Throwing off his blankets and making such scant toilet as he needed, he stepped into the hall and waited for her to return.

Soon she came toward him, a smile of confidence and pleasure on her lips. "How is she?" he asked. "Quite comfortable." "And you?" His voice was very tender. "I am a little tired," she acknowledged. "I didn't sleep very well." "You didn't sleep at all," he declared regretfully. "Oh, yes, I did," she replied brightly. These two ardent souls confronted each other in absorbed silence with keener perception, with new daring, with new intimacy, till he recalled himself with effort. "You must let me help you if there's anything I can do. Remember, I'm your big brother."

"I remember," she answered smilingly. "And I'm going out to see what my big brother is to have for breakfast."

Cavanagh found the street empty, silent and utterly commonplace. He went forth to his duties with a deepened conviction of the essential lawlessness of the state and of America in general, for this spirit of mob law was to be found in some form throughout the land. He was disgusted, but not beaten. His resolution to carry out the terms of his contract with the government remained unshaken.

He carried with him also a final disturbing glimpse of Eliza Wetherford's girl that did indeed threaten his peace of mind. There was an involuntary appeal, a wistful depth, to her glance which awakened in him an indignant pity and also blew into flame something not so creditable—something which smoldered beneath his conscious will. She had not escaped her heritage of passion, and her glances, innocent as they were, roused even in him something lawless.

His pony plodded slowly, and the afternoon was half spent before he came in sight of the long, low log cabin in which was the only home he possessed in all America. For the first time since he built it the station seemed lonely and disheartening. "Would any woman for love of me come to such a hearthstone?" he asked himself. "And if she consented to do so could I be so selfish as to exact such sacrifice? No; the forest ranger in these altitudes must be young and heart free; otherwise his life would be miserably solitary."

He was just dishing out his rude supper when the feet of a horse on the log bridge announced a visitor. With a feeling of pleasure as well as relief he rose to greet the stranger. "Any visitor is welcome this night," he said.

The horseman proved to be his former prisoner, the old man Edwards, who slipped from his saddle with the grace of a falling leaf and came slowly toward the cabin. He smiled warmly as he said: "I'm on your trail, Mr. Ranger, but I bear no malice. You were doing your duty. Can you tell me how far it is to Ambro's camp?"

There was something forlorn in the man's attitude, and Cavanagh's heart softened. "Turn your horse into the corral and come to supper," he commanded with western bluntness. "We'll talk about all that later."

Edwards accepted his hospitality without hesitation. "I'm going up to take Ambro's place," he began after a few minutes of silent eating. "Know where his camp is?" "I do," replied Ross, to whom the stranger now appeared in pathetic guise. "Any man of his age consenting to herd sheep is surely hard hit by the rough hand of the world," he reasoned, and the closer he studied his visitor the plainer he felt his ungoverned past.

"I suppose Gregg paid your fine?" he said.

"Yes."

"In any other town in the state you'd have gone down the line."

He roused himself. "See here, Mr. Ranger, you've no warrant to believe me, but I told you the truth. Young Gregg got me to ride into the range and show him the trail. I didn't intend to get mixed up with a game warden. I've had all the confinement I need."

"Well, it's a closed incident now," interposed Ross. "We won't reopen it. Make yourself at home."

The stranger, hungry as he was, ate with unexpected gentility, and as the hot coffee sent its cheerful glow through his body he asked, with living interest, a good many questions about the ranger and the forest service. "You fellows have to be all round men. The cowboys think you have a snap, but I guess you earn your money."

"A man that builds trails, lays bridges, burns brush, fights fire, rides the roundup and covers seventy-five miles of trail every week on $80 per month and feeds himself and his horses isn't what I would call enjoying a soft snap."

"What do you do it for?" "God knows! I've been asking myself that question all day today."

"This playing game warden has some outs too. That was a wild crowd last night. The town is the same old hole it was when I knew it years ago. Fine girl of Lize Wetherford's. Lize has changed terribly. I didn't expect to see her here—such a speck of silk as that girl. She sure looks the queen to me."

Cavanagh did not greatly relish this line of conversation, but the pause enabled him to say: "Miss Wetherford is not much western; she got her training in the east. She's been with an aunt ever since her father's death."

"He's dead, is he?" "So far as anybody knows, he is."

"Well, he's no loss. I knew him too. He was all kinds of a fool. He got on the wrong side of the rustler line-up. Them Wetherford women think a whole lot of you. 'Pears like they'd both fight for you. Are you sweet on the girl?"

"Now, see here, old man," Ross retorted sharply. "You want to do a lot of thinking before you comment on Miss Wetherford. I won't stand for any nasty crack."

Edwards meekly answered: "I wasn't going to say anything out of the way. I was fixing for to praise her."

"All the same, I don't intend to discuss her with you," was Cavanagh's curt answer.

The herder fell back into silence while the ranger prepared his bunk for the night. The fact that he transferred some of the blankets from his own bed to that of his visitor did not escape Edwards' keen eyes, and with grateful intent he said:

"I can give you a tip, Mr. Ranger," said he, breaking out of a silence. "The triangle outfit is holding more cattle on the forest than their permits call for."

"How do you know?" "I heard one of the boys bragging about it."

"Much obliged," responded Ross. "I'll look into it."

Edwards went on: "Furthermore, they're fixing for another sheep kill over there too. All the sheepmen are armed. That's why I left the country. I don't want to run any more chances of being shot up. I've had enough of trouble. I can't afford to be hobnobbing with judges and juries. I'm just a broken down old cowpuncher herding sheep in order to keep clear of the liquor belt."

This seemed reasonable, and the ranger remarked by way of dropping the subject: "I've nothing to say further than this—obey the rules of the forest and you won't get into any further trouble with me. And as for being shot up by the cowmen, you'll not be disturbed on any national forest. There never has been a single herder shot nor a sheep destroyed on this forest."

"I'm mighty glad to hear that," replied Edwards, with sincere relief. "I've had my share of shooting up and shooting down. All I ask now is quiet and the society of sheep. I take a kind of pleasure in protecting the fool brutes. It's about all I'm good for."

He did indeed look like a man in the final year of life as he spoke. "Better turn in," Cavanagh said in kinder tone. "I'm an early riser."

The old fellow rose stiffly and, laying aside his boots and trousers, rolled into his bunk and was asleep in three minutes.

Edwards accepted his hospitality without hesitation. "I'm going up to take Ambro's place," he began after a few minutes of silent eating. "Know where his camp is?" "I do," replied Ross, to whom the stranger now appeared in pathetic guise. The old fellow rose stiffly and, laying aside his boots and trousers, rolled into his bunk and was asleep in three minutes.

off I started north—just the way a dog will point toward home. I didn't intend to come here, but some way I couldn't keep away. I shied around the outskirts of the Fork, picking up odd jobs of sheep herding just to have time to turn things over. I know what you're thinking about—you're saying to yourself, 'Well, here's a nice father-in-law!' Well, now, I don't know as I'm about your people, but the Wetherfords are as good as anybody. If I hadn't come out into this cursed country, where even women go shooting wild, I would have been in congress; but, being hot headed, I must mix it. I'm not excusing myself, you understand. I'm not a desirable addition to any man's collection of friends, but I can promise you this—no one but yourself shall ever know who I am. At the same time, you can't receive my girl without my being named in the funeral that will follow."

"You are only a distant and romantic figure to Lee—a part of the dead past," said Cavanagh. "She remembers you as a bold rider and a wondrously brave and chivalrous father."

"She must never know. You must promise never to tell her."

"I promise that," Cavanagh said, and Edwards went on:

"If I could bring something to her—prove to her I'm still a man—it might do to tell her, but I'm a branded man now and an old man, and there's no hope for me. I worked in one of the machine shops down there, and it took the life out of me. Then, too, I left a bad name here in the Fork. I know that. Those big cattlemen fooled me into taking their side of the war. I staked everything I had on them, and then they railroaded me out of the county. So, you see, I'm double crossed, no matter where I turn."

Every word he uttered made more apparent to Cavanagh that Lee Virginia would derive nothing but pain and disappointment from knowledge that her father lived. "She must be spared this added burden of shameful inheritance," he decided.

The other man seemed to understand something of the ranger's indignant pity, for he repeated: "I want you to swear not to tell Lee I'm alive, no matter what comes. She must not be saddled with my record. Let her go on thinking well of me. Give me your word." He held out an insistent palm.

Ross yielded his hand, and in spite of himself his tenderness for the broken man deepened. The sky was darkening in the west, and with a glance upward, he said, "I reckon we'd better make your camp soon or you'll be chilled to the bone."

They mounted hastily and rode away, each feeling that his relationship to the other had completely changed. Wetherford marveled over the evident culture and refinement of the ranger. "He's none too good for her, no matter who he is," he said.

stoop. His voice was firm. "I merely want to say that if you fool that girl I'll kill you!"

Ross stared at him, quite convinced that he had gone entirely mad. "That's mighty chivalrous of you, Mr. Sheep Herder," he replied cuttingly, "but I'm at a loss to understand this sudden indignation on your part."

"You needn't be. I'm her father!" Cavanagh fairly reeled before this retort. His head rang as if he had been struck with a club. He perceived the truth of the man's words instantly. He gasped. "Good God, man, are you Ed Wetherford?"

The answer was quick. "That's who I am!" Then his voice changed. "But I don't want the women to know I'm alive. I didn't intend to let anybody know it. All the same, I mean it. If you or any man tries to abuse her I'll kill him! I've loaded her up with trouble, as you say, but I'm going to do what I can to protect her now that I'm in the county again."

Ross, confused by this new complication in the life of the girl he was beginning to love, stared at his companion in dismay. Was it not enough that Virginia's mother should be a slattern and a termagant? At that he spoke. "There have you been all these years?"

"In the Texas pen," I served nine years there."

"What for?" "Shooting a man. It was a case of self defense, but his family had more money and influence than I did, so I went down the road. As soon as I got

TIME FLIES.

We pass this way but once. We cannot retrace our steps to any preceding milestone. Every time the clock strikes it is both the announcement of the hour which we are entering and the knell of the one which is gone.—Chauncey M. Depew.

FRIENDSHIP.

True friendship's laws are by this rule expressed—Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest.—Alexander Pope.

BE SINCERE.

The shortest and surest way to live with honor in the world is to be in reality what we would appear to be, and if we observe we shall find that all human virtues increase and strengthen themselves by the practice and experience of them.—Socrates.

WASH THAT ITCH AWAY

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you know that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25-cent bottle today. We assure you of instant relief.

PRIMARY ELECTION

Democratic Primary to be Held at Various Voting Precincts July 1st, 1911.

Salem, Ky., April 8, 1911.—The Democratic Executive Committee for the Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Crittenden and Livingston, this day, in accordance with a call made by the Chairman of the said Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky, assembled in this city in executive session, being desirous of holding a Primary Election under the provisions made and provided in such cases, to nominate a candidate for the office of Representative in the Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky, do now call and direct and hereby give public notice that a Democratic Primary for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative for the Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky, will be held in said counties of Crittenden and Livingston, and the polls for this purpose will be opened in the various voting precincts of said Counties of Crittenden and Livingston at the usual voting places therein, Saturday, July 1st, 1911, between the hours of 6 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., as required by law.

All known democrats and all other persons who desire to affiliate with the democratic party at the coming November election, and who will abide by decision of said Primary, and all young men who are not of age now but will be of age and legal voters at the November election 1911 and who desire to affiliate with the democratic party, are eligible voters to participate in said Primary election.

It is desired by said Democratic Executive Committee for said Legislative District, that all expenses of holding said Primary election shall be borne and paid by the candidates for said office, being voted for, which will be the sum of $150.00 which sum shall be borne equally by each candidate, if there is more than one candidate for said office; and which sum shall be paid to the Committee in cash, by being placed in the hands of R. B. Clement, Chairman of said Committee, on or before the 10th day of June, 1911. Any person desiring to submit his name as a candidate for the office, to be voted for in the Primary hereby called, for the democratic nomination, shall not, later than 15 days next preceding the holding of said Primary, viz 14th day of June, 1911, apprise the Executive Committee of said District of the fact that he is a candidate by notifying R. B. Clement, Chairman of said Committee, at Marion, Crittenden county Kentucky, that he is a candidate for Representative of the Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky; and, upon his compliance with the conditions prescribed by this Committee governing candidates, and paying the required entrance fee as prescribed herein, shall have his name printed upon the ballots as a candidate for the office of Representative.

In the event of there being only one candidate for Representative for this District, complying with the requirements of this call, then and in that event said primary will be called off, and the Democratic Committee for the Seventh Legislative District of Kentucky, will meet at Salem, Ky., on the 17th day of June, 1911, at 11 o'clock, a. m., and will proceed to take the necessary steps to declare said candidate the nominee of the Democratic party for Representative.

Health For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

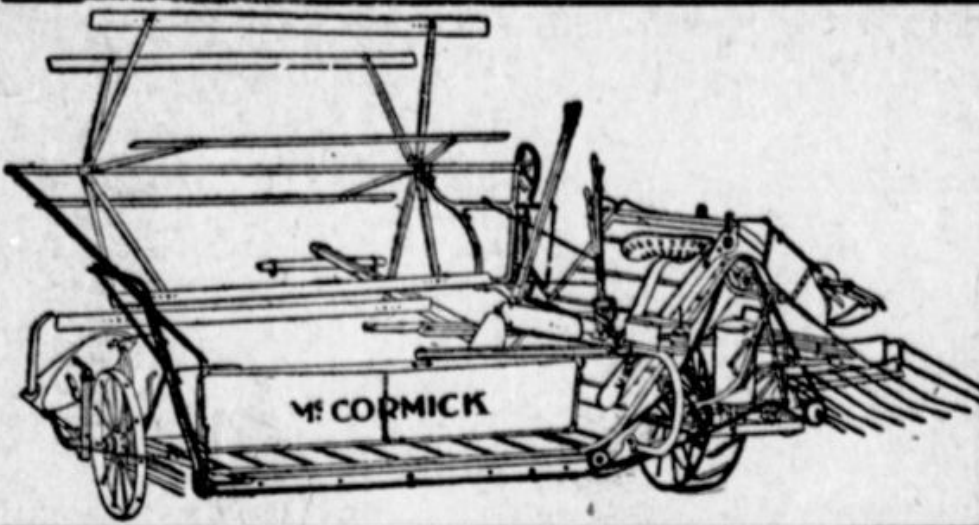

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Celoma, Wisconsin. — "For three years I was troubled with female weakness, irregularities, backache and bearing down pains. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking several bottles I found it was helping me, and I must say that I am perfectly well now and can not thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. John Westland, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 60, Celoma, Wisconsin.

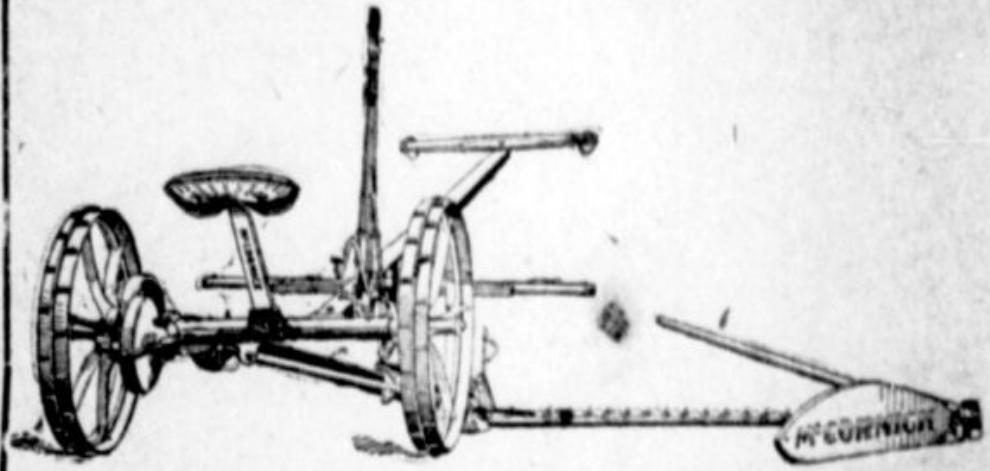

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Dear Sir:—I had thought last year I would not take the Record-Press any more, but you have made it so much better, I will take it again. My time will be out May 31st, 1911. I was looking at the check book this morning, so I will send you a check for one dollar for one more year. I have been waiting to come to town for a long time but my health is very bad.
Your old friend,
