Delivers Himself Up At Penitentiary Office

Nashville, Dec. 13.—Tennessee's State penitentiary holds within its confines today Mark Arrowsmith, former cashier of the Commercial Bank & Trust Company, Pulaski, Giles county. Convicted of forgery and receiving deposits in a bank known to be insolvent, though not admitting his guilt, the banker, unaccompanied by officers, conferred with his lawyers in Chattanooga, came to this city Sunday night, spending the night at a local hotel, appearing before the Supreme Court this morning requesting that tribunal to affirm his case and, without being arrested, carried his transcript to the prison to begin a sentence of five years.

"I'm 53 years old," said he, "but this is the bitterest experience yet. I've come here willingly and accepted this punishment for the sake of my family. That's the exact truth, for I believe the court would have reversed my case had it gone on."

Arrowsmith was cashier of the Commercial Bank & Trust Company, of Pulaski, for years. The institution managed to gather together a lot of bad paper. It was charged that Arrowsmith had allowed officers of concerns he was interested in to borrow money and give their notes, these concerns failing. To tide the bank over he signed the names of the firm members to notes and got the money. His lawyers say that every cent of the money was put in the bank to save it, and that not one penny of it went to him. The bank failed, indictments and conviction followed, Arrowsmith being sentenced to prison for five years. At the same time twenty other indictments against Arrowsmith were nollied by the Attorney General.

"I have a wife and five of the finest children of any man in Tennessee," continued the banker. "My misfortune is theirs, as I have nothing for them to live on. All my property was taken when I got into this trouble."

"I had some ugly intentions for several weeks up to a few days ago. I carry $8,000 in life insurance and I planned to commit suicide so they could get that money to live on. I argued that I could never be worth that much to them any other way. With me in prison they have no income. With me dead they would have $8,000. That would run them until my 15-year-old boy reached an age at which he might hope to support his mother and sisters. I carried morphine in my pocket three weeks with the idea of using it to end my misery and theirs. Suddenly the sun shone through the clouds. There came a message from two of my brothers-in-law. It was that they would care for my family until I was once again free. So wife and I talked it over and we decided that the best thing I could do was to come on to prison. I gave her the morphine and told her the story of what had been running through my mind. She threw it in the fire."

"That relieved the situation some, but it did not remove the heart pangs. I'm here in prison. I've tried to live a good citizen in my town all my life. I've been a steward in the Methodist church for years. I've been superintendent of my Sunday School for twenty-five years. I was honest and sincere, and it goes hard to be disbelieved and discredited by friends and neighbors of life-long standing. But I guess I'll have to bear it."

COLDS VANISH

A Quick Sensible Method That Doesn't Upset The Stomach.

Have you heard of the overnight cold cure that is putting colds in the head and chest out of business between sunset and daybreak.

Here it is. Cut it out and save it if you don't need it now. If you have a cold, cough, throat soreness or acute catarrh, be sure and try it to-night just before going to bed. Pour a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-mei) into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe for several minutes the vapor that arises, then go to sleep and awake with a clear head free from mucus.

HYOMEI is guaranteed for catarrh, colds, coughs, croup, asthma, sore throat and bronchitis, or money back. Bottle of Hyomei 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor's and druggists everywhere. N30 D14

Character Building.

Self-control is the greatest of all qualities, the one most eminently fitted to make a man successful. It is thanks to that great virtue that a man does not listen to a first impulse; that before embarking in any enterprise he carefully weighs all the consequences; that before taking any important decision he holds a committee meeting with himself and hears all the pros and cons of the question before putting it to the vote. It is thanks to self-control that a man never loses his temper, but lets others do it to his own advantage; that he faces all the peril-

What He Was Practicing.

When a leading citizen of a New Hampshire town returned thither after a prolonged sojourn abroad, he made a tour of the place to find out how all his old friends were "getting along."

At one establishment he found a youth, the son of an old friend of his, whose father was still paying his office rent.

"Practicing law now, Jim?" asked the returned one genially. "No, sir," replied the youth frankly. "I appear to be, but I am really practicing economy."

Oldest Case Settled.

Frankfort, Germany, Dec. 12.—What is said to be the oldest case in the courts, has just been settled here 400 years after it was instituted. The action grew out of the dispute between the Lebuser-Kietzer fishers and the Frankfort fishermen as to who had the right to fish in the Oder river. The trouble began away back in 1500 and the Lebuser fisherman showed where Duke Joachim I, had first decided in their favor in that year. A second decision was awarded them in 1697 and now in 1911 the Imperial High court has again decided against the Frankfort fishermen. It is believed that this will close the case for another century.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

They have very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Reckall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes; 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents and 80 tablets, 50 cents. ## IN MEMORY

Little Benjamin Edward Lee Stinnett, son of Franklin and Della Stinnett, was born March 2, 1910, Died Nov. 26, 1911.

Age 1 yr. 8 months, 26 days, Bennie as he was called was a bright little fellow and the idol of his parents heart. Bennie was given like a beautiful rose to gladden the home of Father and mother. It is so hard to part with such a beautiful bud. After it has opened its beauty and sweetness before us but God who gave the sweet spirited child has a far more happy and beautiful home than the wealth of this world can give; for heaven satisfies the longing of the soul.

Dear parents your time is lone ly we know, but darling Bennie stands on the heavenly shore with beckoning hands waiting for Father and mother to come home. He is still your child happily awaiting your coming. May God guide and comfort you and may you live closer to him each day of your lives so you can meet your darling on that heavenly shore to part no more.

A precious one from us is gone a voice we loved is still, a place is vacant in our homes that never can be filled.—A friend, C.E.R.

Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 13.—Every negro should be ready, because he knew not the day or the hour, and you may go from this church today to heaven or to hell, were the words of Rev. Fifty men and women were injured in the fall. Three women will die from internal injuries. They are Ella Johnson, Evelyn Ford and Ruby Tidwell.

The superstitious negroes who were in the church declare that there will be many accidents during the month, because the funeral was that of a negro who died on Friday.

OPOSSUM RIDGE

O'possum Ridge is on a boom once more.

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place.

The farmers are hurrying to get their corn gathered so they will be ready to take Xmas.

Uncle Joe Kirk is getting spry since the last cool spell.

Miss Kittie Crisp was down in our midst last week visiting relatives and friends.

We noticed in the Record-Press a week or two ago, the nice speal the Weston writer gave O'possum Ridge. We want to thank her, for the nice tidings. The 'possums are getting quite spunky here of late, but they have a right to, we will agree that 'possums are quite sulky, but after all they will be bound to take their part. We will give Skunk-hollow one more visit, and when we come, we're coming in the wagon and drive the little red mules also, so that we can take the Weston writer a sack of persimmons. The wagon and mules beats the old black blind horse and buggy all to pieces. We old 'possums had a fine time on our journey and also a good nice dinner. We served our dinner at Mrs. O. T. Hughes'. The dinner was good, and tasted like it was prepared for 'possums, at least all we old possums got our dinner and it was good to.

Home and Contentment.

In the true sense of the word can only come with proper furnishings. So the furnishing of a home means a lot and you should use care as to your selection and from whom you buy, for good furniture is something you need only buy once or twice in a life time.

The lasting kind of furniture is the only kind that we allow to enter our store. So not only is there satisfaction in buying your home furnishings from us, but there is safety as well. We sell good furniture for just about the same money a lot of people pay for furniture of inferior quality, because they do not know the furniture business.

JOHN W. BEBOUT LOSES HIS SUIT

The Supreme Court Finds For Old Kentucky Manufacturing Company

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 12.—The appellate court today affirmed on the original appeal and reversed on the cross appeal in the case of John W. Bebout against the Old Kentucky Manufacturing Company from the McCracken circuit court.

The suit is one of the most interesting ever filed in the McCracken circuit court, and the appeal is a victory for the defendants on both appeals. Mr. Bebout formerly was manager of the Old Kentucky Manufacturing company, and it is alleged that he was short about $8,000 in his books. The directors of the company say they took his property and he gave them notes in payment of the shortage and the officers of the company agreed not to push the charges. Later Bebout filed suit, alleging that he was forced to sign the deed of his home and to execute the notes through fear. The value of the notes is $5,250. In the McCracken circuit court the property of Bebout was given to the company, and this is affirmed in the original appeal. In the lower court the notes were cancelled, but the appellate court in reversing the cross appeal says that the notes shall not be cancelled.

Hints To The Average Husband.

BY EDWARD TUCKERMAN MASON.

She is better than you are, and therefore your attitude toward her ought to be that of admiration and of reverence. Do not neglect to give her the praise which is due her. Many women go hungry all their lives, in proud silence, for lack of that hearty praise which they must know that they deserve. It is an ill day for a man when he fails to recognize, or when he forgets, what he owes to women. Without their presence and their influence the graces of civilization would speedily disappear, and would soon be followed by all that we have learned to regard as the common decencies of life.

So far as possible, forbear criticism. Few things are more hostile to family peace.

Criticism is almost always irritating and is generally useless. When you cannot approve you can learn to keep quiet. Serious vices sometimes cause less trouble to a household than is wrought by the habitual faultfinding of a cantankerous man.

Do what you are asked to do. Do it at once, without debating, even if the thing in question may seem unreasonable to you. She may be wrong about it, but the chances are that her mind has worked more quickly than your own, and that your later thought will approve and confirm her decision.

We are all, of course, prone to think the worst of our neighbors and the best of ourselves; but if we try to reverse this natural process, if we seriously consider how very unpleasant we can be at our worst, ought we not to wonder that beings so delicate and so highly organized should put up with all our eccentricities, and persist in living with us and ministering to us? A woman whose gentle, sub-acid cynicism was highly attractive, once said to me, "I've found out why men always have to drink whenever they come together; it strengthens them to bear each other's company!"

Except in desperate emergencies, or unless you are asked for advice, the less you concern your self about household affairs the better. The house is her realm, and her prerogative therein ought to be unquestioned. How would you relish it if she were to undertake some day to show you how to conduct your business?

Avoid argument. If it chances to be one of your favorite forms of amusement, indulge in it outside rather than at home. There is much truth in the witty French maxim. "Opinions are like nails; the harder you hit them, the further you drive them in." You may say that you argue from principle, from a sense of duty. Well—perhaps. But a careful honest analysis of the matter will be likely to convince you that, in a large majority of cases, you argue simply for the fun of arguing, and from that natural but unamiable love of victory which is nearly universal.

It was a favorite saying of a wise woman that, "A man's wife ought to be the best fellow in the world to him." That sort of companionship, of true comradery, might be far more common than it is, if men were as fair and as considerate with their wives as they are with all sorts of people who have no special claim upon them.

Try to remember anniversaries even if you have to make a note of them on your business pad. It helps over the rough places to get little attentions that you used to give her before she was really yours. Remember it is the little things in life that count most with women, for their lives are made up of trifles, after all.

And don't forget to tell her you love her. Of course she knows you do, but every wife wants to hear those three words from the lips of her husband. And saying "I love you" is not such an awful task—if you really mean it.

Experiences of Marion Citizens Are Daily Proven to be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Marion is true. Read it and compare evidence from Marion people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens, of Marion, will endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Emma Weldon, Salem St., Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney trouble annoyed me for five years and greatly affected my health. My back was lame and pained me most of the time. I had headaches and often could hardly see. None of the remedies I tried gave me any benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. The effect of this remedy was marvelous, as in two months I was free from kidney trouble. My only regret is that I did not hear of Doan's Kidney Pills sooner, as it would have saved me much expense and misery."

TOUGH LUCK.

Befalls A Former Paducah Out West.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 9.—James Brookshire, of Paducah, Ky., is the saddest man in the United States today. He admits it to the Tacoma police. Brookshire came to the northwest four years ago from his home in Paducah, where a sweetheart promised to wait until he could provide a home for her. During the four years Brookshire saved constantly, and he had a bank roll of $6,000 when he reached Tacoma from Olympia last week. He was either touched for it or lost it, and since then the police have aided industriously in trying to turn up the money because Brookshire had wired he would be in Paducah to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his parents and had received assurance from his sweetheart that they would be married before the feast.

Brookshire tonight has no bank roll, no Thanksgiving dinner and no bride.

Whitesburg, Ky., Dec. 13.—There is considerable talk that a strong effort will be made for the formation of a new county in the Elkhorn coal field, above here. ## ROMANCE OF THE REAPER

The Lecture and the Real Facts Facing the Farmers and Business Interests of Kentucky.

Through the courtesy of the International Harvester Co., of America, Esquire Bros., our local implement dealers, were able to present the lecture-entertainment, "The Romance of the Reaper," at the Majestic Opera House last Thursday evening.

The lecture tells the story of the progress of agriculture from the earliest times down to the present day, and it traces the development of farm implements and machines from the reaping hook to the scythe and cradle, through to the first reaper, the automatic binder, gasoline tractor, manure spreader, and other modern machines.

The lecture was illustrated with colored views and motion pictures. These not only showed the different farm machines in operation, but the audience was taken on a trip to the International Harvester Company's system of plants, where the machines are made.

The farmers and others in attendance followed the lecture with interest. It contained much information. When we consider the millions of farms in the United States, to say nothing of the rest of the world, and the crops raised on these farms, we realize that the making of farm machines is a large and important industry.

In spite of the fact that the cost of raw materials and wages have greatly advanced since the organization of the International Harvester Company, the price of farm machines is but little more now than then. It was pointed out that the modern binder, composed of more than 1,200 separately formed parts, and made of the best steel, malleable iron and seasoned wood, is today the cheapest thing a farmer buys. Taking pound for pound, a binder costs him less than his plow or cast iron stove. The price of binder twine has steadily fallen, until today it retails for only a little more than half of what it did ten years ago. During the evening the prices of farm machines at home and abroad were discussed. It was shown, by an investigation made by the United States Government, that a six-foot binder which a Kentucky farmer can buy for about $125.00, costs the English farmer $135.00, the French farmer $173.00, the Swedish farmer $160.00, the Russian farmer $180.00, the Siberian farmer $187.00 and the farmer of Germany $203.00.

Just now, on account of the over zealousness and agitation of certain petty lawyers, Kentucky farmers are threatened with the worst sort of hardship in the purchase of their farm machines and repair parts for the same.

Sad to relate, in this State there is a law by which any prosecuting attorney can bring suit against any corporation doing business in Kentucky; the Commonwealth pays the cost of prosecution, and should a jury assess a fine, and the fine ever be collected, the taxpayers of the county in which suit is brought are not benefited, but the attorneys and court offices put 88 per cent of the fine into their own pockets.

Recently one of these suits was brought in Bullitt county. Here is what the Shepherdsville News said about it: "In the Circuit Court last Saturday afternoon the jury trying the case of the Commonwealth vs the International Harvester Co., of America, returned a verdict for the full amount allowed by law, $5,000. Of this amount, if the verdict stands, the Commonwealth's Attorney will get $2,500; County Attorney, $1,250; Circuit Clerk, $500.00; Trustee of the jury fund, $150.00; and the State, $600, less $120 paid twelve jurors for five days and $25 paid the Jailor and Sheriff; leaving the State $455 out of $5000.00. Bullitt county gets nothing, and ultimately the farmer will pay the whole thing."

But ultimately the farmers will pay more than they imagine. No company can afford to pay to the lawyers a $5,000 license for the privilege of doing business in a county, and sooner or later they will drive large companies from the State. To take modern farm machines out of Kentucky would set the State back a hundred years, and greatly reduce the earning capacity of our 260,000 farmers.

Those who saw "The Romance of the Reaper," more fully realize than ever before the great progress made by agriculture and the entire business world since the development of modern farm machines. To cripple the work of the company that has made all this possible will be to cripple the farms and the entire business welfare of the State.

They are from the estate of the Knight of Kerry on the Island of Valencia, and are from the fuchsia tree which is long past a century in age and measures two and one-half feet around; from the oleander tree which 200 years ago, was transplanted from an island in the Ionian Sea, and from an acacia, tree, which towers over oaks and sycamores and is a mass of pink, feathery blooms in mid-July. All the cuttings have been rooted and are likely to thrive in their new home.—Exchange.

Horses Dieing.

Over 100 horses have died in Western Kentucky in the last few weeks as a result of an epidemic of blind staggers. A large percentage of these horses were yowned in Paducah. Sunday a total of eight horses died as a result of the disease. The disease is caused by feeding dry rotten corn, and in a high percentage of cases is fatal. The rot can not be discovered in the ear of corn without a close examination. It is caused by the heavy rains on the corn while it was in the field ready to be harvested. The first symptom that the horse is ill with the blind staggers is the fact that the horse wants to turn to the left. The driver usually regards the horse as merely contrary and does not realize that the animal is ill until it is too late to cure him.—Paducah Sun.

GONE TO HEAVEN

Sailda Jane Flanary Has Just Entered a Great Reward.

Aunt Jane, as we were accustomed to calling her, was born Sept. 9th, 1829, died Nov. 23rd, 1911, age about eighty-two years. By reason of strength, she had gone beyond the four score years, yet, the sickness that ended her life was of only a short duration. While we are sad to know that such a noble life is ended, but we rejoice that she had long since been ripe and ready for her Lord at his bidding.

She was the wife of Esq. Jim Flanary, who, many years ago left her to be company for his sons and daughters, in the absence of a loving, tender father. We shall not undertake to give in detail the many noble qualities of Aunt Jane, our letter would be more than space would allow. It has been our pleasure to know her in her home, her church, the sick room, and to enjoy her hospitality as a host. She loved to talk of her heavenly prospects and her life was one Benediction to all who enjoyed a Christian experience, but God took her and we dare not complain. What thou doest we know not now but we shall hereafter. Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth ye sayeth the spirit they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

Will the circle be broken? We laid her away beside her son, Richard, in the Love cemetery in the presence of many of her friends, who stood around her grave and realized that a good woman had fallen in Israel. It was the writer's pleasure by request of the family, to offer the last words as a tribute of respect by way of a funeral service. Peace to her ashes.

A Friend.

TOBACCO SITUATION IN HOPKINS COUNTY.

You will remember, as stated in these columns at the time, that last summer, when the vote was taken, as to whether the pool should stand, a large part of Hopkins county voted to dump. The rest of the district voted unanimously to stay with the Association. So in that county, as in this a large part of the tobacco is out of the Association.

It seems from later developments that the growers, of that county, as in this, had gotten the idea, from some source, that they would be paid a good price for this years short crop.

From articles appearing in the Hustler it seems that the buyers were slow in starting out, and when they did only offered $8.00 "round" for good crops and $7. for common tobacco.

On Saturday Dec. 2nd independent growers of that county met in mass convention, in the court house at Madisonville to (using the phrase adopted by the Hustler) try to find out where they were at. The Hustler states that the court house was crowded with growers and a temporary organization effected. Talks were made by prominent growers who expressed themselves as believing that by organization they could get $10.00 round for this crop. Some favored going into the Stemming District Association. Others a county pool. Mr. Bradley Wilson who has had considerable experience in Association matters, opposed a county pool on the ground that no county pool would be large enough to influence the market.

The meeting adjourned, after calling meetings at all the school houses in the county, on the following Wednesday night to appoint delegates to a county meeting at Madisonville Saturday the 9th, to perfect an organization.

Developments since Saturdays meeting may be inferred from the following articles from the Hustler, and Gleaner.

PROGRESS.

Now that all the buyers have inspected the samples it stands to reason we'll hear something drop in the next six or seven days. It is now in order that a meeting be arranged whereat prices will be discussed by buyers and Manager Elliott and the district board. Here it is the 7th day of December.

Manager Elliot and the district board will make some disposition of the 1911 crop on the 15th day of present month. And the buyers seem quite as anxious to have a decision regarding the disposition of the 1911 crop.

Perhaps a sale—more probably a prizing. Or sell or prize, members, as never before in the history of this Association, are standing as a stone-wall, right behind Manager Elliott and the district board.

Banks in Henderson Gleaner. HOPKINS GROWERS. Will Meet To Decide On Plan Of Organization.

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 4. A meeting of all tobacco growers in Hopkins county will be held Wednesday night at the rural schoolhouse to elect delegates to attend a meeting in Madisonville Saturday. At this meeting they will decide upon a plan of organization for fighting the buyers. The crop in Hopkins county is short and unusually excellent and the farmers are holding out for 10c a pound for an average crop. The buyers are offering no more than last year, which the farmers regard as unjust, since the crop falls far short of previous years. Few deals have been closed. Buyers took the field Monday morning to buy all the tobacco possible before an organization is formed.

Henderson Gleaner. TOBACCO BUYERS ON JUMP IN HOPKINS.

Farmers in county offering from $8.75 To 9.00 For The Crop.

The Madisonville Hustler, in their last night's edition, had the following to say regarding the activity of tobacco buyers in Hopkins county:

From the best information obtainable the Hustler is led to believe that the meeting of the tobacco growers held in the school houses all over the county Wednesday night were well attended. Delegates were elected to attend the meeting to be held at the court house Saturday morning to determine on a plan of organization. It is understood that meetings were held in nearly all the school houses.

The Hustler is also informed that the buyers have been pretty active this week and are offering the farmers from $8.75 to $9.00 for their tobacco. A small number of farmers have sold their tobacco at this price. Several sales at this stipulation were made in the Richland country.

Most of the farmers however, are holding out for $10. and are carrying out the spirit of the meeting held here last Saturday.

--Henderson Gleaner.

Christmas Money For

The Boy on The Farm.

Few people know the magnitude of the Fur Business in America. This is the time of the year when the boy on the farm not only gets a great deal of pleasure out of Trapping and Hunting, but quite a bit of pocket money besides.

Many people are under the impression the Fur bearing Animals of America are being exterminated, but the supply seems to be inexhaustible, and with the present Game Laws going into effect in every State, America bids fair to be one of the largest sources from which the world will draw its supply of Fur.

Louisville, Ky., is considered one of the largest Primary Fur Markets of the West and middle South. There are two firms in Louisville who are considered among the big Factors in the Raw Fur Trade of America. The firm of M. Sabel & Sons, dealers in Furs, Hides, Wool, etc., is one of oldest Houses in the trade. This House was established in 1856. This firm is perhaps the only House in America that issues a Weekly Price list, thereby keeping shippers thoroughly posted on every change in the market.

REPTON.

Farmers are becoming very anxious for a tobacco season as Christmas will be here, and some, of course, will want their jugs for Christmas. Some of the farmers have sold their crop of the weed at from ten to three dollars. How strange it seems to the writer, right on the eve of victory the farmers will let their tobacco go at such remarkably low prices when they could get fifteen dollars in round figures from the ground up. If they would pool, hold the crop and not raise the weed next year the prices that are being paid this season, for tobacco, in our judgment are no better than last year's prices notwithstanding the fact that there isn't more than 75 per cent of a crop in the State. Strange indeed that farmers will not hold for their own interest, when they know no one else will take their part. There is, however, a movement soon broadcast that would give the farmers of the county the desired relief if they would only adopt it and it would not cost them one cent.

Miss Kate Herman, of near Hopkinsville, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. Slaughter, for the past month, returned to her home Saturday. While here Miss Katye gained many friends in our vicinity, and had the pleasure of attending socials. Since Katye has gone home, she leaves behind her, to mourn her absence, many ardent friends. If the readers of the Record are in doubt the above statement, ask Albert what he thinks about it.

Miss Ursie Crider was the guest of Miss Verlie Slaughter, Tuesday night.

Mrs. B. F. Slaughter celebrated her birthday, Dec. 3rd. Many friends were present to partake of the well prepared dinner that was spread for them.

Quite a sensation was created in Marion Friday. A certain young couple drove into Marion from this vicinity, and quite a number of people thought they were there to have a marriage ceremony performed. If you want to be certain about it, we will have to ask Albert, perhaps he could give us some information on the subject.

M. V. Slaughter was the guest of Miss Ursie Crider.

OBITUARY.

Little Cora Wheeler died Nov. 30, 1911, aged 14 years, daughter of A. F. Wheeler.

Little Cora with her smiling face and winning ways, was the fairest of children. She was the idol of her parents. We can never forget her smiling face. She was given as a beautiful rose to gladden the home of her father, mother and all who came in touch with her happy heart. It is so hard to give up a beautiful bud after it has opened its beauty and sweetness before us. But God, who gave little Cora, has a far happier and more beautiful home for her than the wealth of this world can give.

Little did we think when Cora visited our home that she would be taken so soon. There will not be a wish of Cora's ungratified for Heaven satisfies the long of the soul.

The Bible teaches us that the joy and glory of the home where Cora is, is grander than any thing our eyes have seen or ear's heard.

Dear parents, we know home is lonely without her, but Cora stands on the heavenly shore with beckoning hands, waiting for father and step-mother, who were so kind to her during her illness. Cora would call for her dear father and precious step-mother though she could not speak she would clasp her little arms around them and look up and seemed to say, "meet me on the other shore." We know there is a place vacant which no 312 212 211 ill.

She leaves father, step-mother, three brothers and three sisters to mourn her death.

May God guide and comfort you, and may you live closer to Him each and every day of your lives so you can meet your darling on the other shore.

A precious one from us has gone, A voice we loved is stilled;

A place is vacant in your home, That never can be filled.
