BEST SPEECH EVER DELIVERED

Frankfort. Says Hon. M. F. Pogue, of Ollie James' Speech.

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky's newly elected senator, Ollie M. James, made the following speech before the joint session of the legislature, accepting the senatorship and paying high tribute to the Democracy of Kentucky:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Senators and Representatives of Kentucky: No words can properly express my gratitude to you and to the people of Kentucky, whose representatives you are. No tongue has been given to the heart to speak; it knows no language. The profound appreciation which overwhelms me at this hour cannot be told. I know of no way to express my feeling to you, and through you to the great and patriotic Democracy of Kentucky who have commissioned you to enter their mandate—to express their will—only I promise you that I will stand with the people and for the people. My cause shall be my cause; my hopes shall be my desires. I shall vote in their interest; I shall fight for their welfare; I shall reflect their wishes; I shall be conscious always that I am a servant and they are my master, so that when I shall have read this work and returned to them I can read their approval with grateful eyes and hear it in honest heart beats. I shall have no chart but their will; I crave no approval by that of my fellow-citizens; I shall be as quick to attack upon their honor as my own; I shall expend money with the same economy and honesty as if I had to toil myself; I shall be guided by the Golden Rule of Democracy, "rights to all, special privilege to none"; I shall vote for an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators by the people of the state at the ballot box. This great reform, so long advocated by our party, has at last met the almost universal approval of men of all parties.

Stands by People.

I do not tear the people; I am willing to trust them. From their ranks have come in the past, as they must come in the future, the soldiers who have offered up their lives to create and preserve this great republic, and, as they created it, we must rely upon them to defend, preserve and perpetuate it. We may confidently rest in their hands the power to elect those who shall make the laws under which they are willing to labor and to live.

The spirit of confidence in the people's choice, even in England, from which we inherited the selection of our senators by the members of legislature instead of the people, has stripped from the House of Lords practically all power over bills taxing the people and lodged it wholly in the hands of those they directly elect. The spirit of the rule of the people is spreading over the earth. In far-off Russia the first ray of liberty shone from the Duma; in England it blazes in full glow by the will of the Commons; in distant China, one of the oldest empires of the earth, the spirit of the rule of the people has practically succeeded in erecting a republic upon the ruins of the empire. When the members of the United States Senate are elected directly by the people, as we now elect our members of the House of Representatives, we shall realize that which was the dream and the hope of the fathers who gave this great republic to us, and that is that it should be a government which trusted the people and which blessed the people.

Favors Income Tax.

I shall vote for an income tax upon the fortunes of the rich. I believe this to be the most just of any tax ever laid upon man. Those who enjoy the blessings of prosperity to such great abundance ought to be patriotic enough to be willing to help contribute their

MISS VIRGINIA NUNN Frankfort Engagement Announced.

The following from the Frankfort News-Journal will be of interest here where Miss Nunn was born and where all her brothers and sisters now live and every one who knows her is her friend. "The announcement of the engagement of Miss Virginia Nunn to Mr. George M. Eady was made by Miss Rachel Settle at a beautiful Tea, which she gave Friday in her home on the South Side. The friends of both the popular hostess and Miss Nunn were asked to tea, and they were not apprised of the fact that it was to be an "Announcement" until the tea was served. Then each guest was given a flower, and on it hung a heart containing the name of Miss Nunn, and tied in the handle of the tea cup a heart containing the name of Mr. Eady. It was a unique and beautiful way to announce the approaching nuptials.

The home of Miss Settle was aglow with large quantities of red carnations and narcissus, and was most beautiful with a bevy of pretty girls in their handsomest winter frocks and the delight over the coming marriage of one of the loveliest of their girl friends made the afternoon an unusually delightful one. Miss Mary Swigert Hendrick presided with ease and grace over the tea table. The wedding of Miss Nunn will take place in the early spring.

BRYAN GIVES BIBLE TO SENATOR-ELECT JAMES.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 12.—William J. Bryan has no more ardent admirer than the newly elected Senator from Kentucky, Ollie M. James. Mr. James told yesterday of a gift that had been made to him by Mr. Bryan.

"On the day of the opening of Congress last fall he was in Washington and telephoned to me, asking me to take supper with him. I went to his room in the hotel and found him shaving. He talked with me as he shaved and finally said:

"By the way, I have a present here for you, that I have brought from Nebraska.

"He rummaged around in a large traveling bag, and down at the bottom found what he was looking for. He fished it out and handed it to me. It was a Bible. He then said that he had read many books, but had found none so great or so interesting as that. He added that the books he had read had been mainly on political economy, which taught how to help the people in this life only. But, Mr. Bryan added, the Bible teaches not only that, but points the way to eternal life as well."

Returns To First Love.

T. C. Stone, of Clay, has accepted a position with the Dixon Journal and will move his family to Dixon this week—Cleveland is an original Journal printer, and his returning is only natural. We are all proud to "return to our first love," sooner or later. We welcome Mr. Stone and family in our midst. —Dixon Journal.

A Terrific Explosion.

In J. I. Clement's Kitchen.

Tuesday morning at eight o'clock, residents and passers by, on South Main street were shocked by an explosion which slightly resembled an earthquake.

It was soon learned that the report which sounded so ominous and which at first was so mysterious, was an explosion in the water box of the kitchen range where breakfast was being prepared at the residence of Jeff Clement, caused by the freezing of the water pipes. Fortunately Mr. Clement and all the family were unhurt and the cook was out just at the time also, otherwise there might have been some fatality. The range was completely demolished, windowpanes broken, curtains burned, plastering cracked and much havoc played. The escape of Mr. Clement we consider almost a miracle as he was only a few feet away and working with the frozen pipes trying to thaw them when the explosion came, but he did not receive a scratch.

Lost His Teeth,

Could Not Make Talk.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 12.—Because Gov. Vesey, of South Dakota, lost his false teeth, delegates to the progressive republican convention were forced to wait over an hour to hear him speak. The teeth finally were found in the laundry of the hotel where the governor was stopping, they having been wrapped up in some bed linen.

Cordelia McWhirter's

Husbands Case.

Sixteen-Hour Law Will Go To Supreme Court.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 12.—To test the Federal statute making it unlawful to work a railroad employee more than sixteen hours without rest, the Iron Mountain railroad, against which a verdict for $3,000 damages was given to Cordelia McWhirter, administratrix, for the death of her husband, in the Hickman Circuit Court, at Clinton, will carry the case to the United States Supreme Court. In sustaining the lower court the Kentucky Court of Appeals upheld the Federal statute. McWhirter, a flagman, was worked more than sixteen hours, it is alleged, and while running ahead of his train at Wolfe Lake, Ill., fell on the track, the train cutting his body in twain.

Editorial note—Mrs. McWhirter is the daughter of John Conyer of the Levis section and was formerly a belle of that section. She is a sister of Mrs. Roy Sisco of this city.

42 Elks In A Pile.

Spokane, Jan. 14.—About 999 men out of 1000 in this country never see a live sure-enough elk outside of a zoo. Yet thousands of elk are being wantonly killed in Montana this winter.

The Government has been carefully preserving the few wild elk left by herding them in the Yellowstone national park. But the park stretches for miles and miles, and when the snows come the elk leave the park and hunt better pasture on the lower levels. Montana has no especial game laws about elk, and the pothunters lay across the lines and shoot the bands as they come out of the park.

A photograph, taken recently at the depot platform at Gardiner, Mont., shows how the slaughter goes. There are forty-two elk carcasses in this picture. The same day there were twenty-two carcasses on the platform at Livingston and from three to a dozen at the way stations.

The Government has thousands of soldiers loafing at Western barracks, but only a feeble squadron or two are detailed to protect the park reserve.

DEALT FAIRLY BY OPPONENTS

Speaker of House Plays No Favorites.

COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS

In Organizing the House For the Business of the Session, Speaker Terrell Displayed a Degree of Impartiality That Has Given Even Those Who Opposed Him Most Opportunity For Praise.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 9.—"To the victor belong the spoils" is a saying in politics that usually is lived up to, but in the appointment of the standing committees of the house this session, Claude Terrell, the speaker, did not follow the precept. With the speaker-ship in his control and the power to name the committees resting with him and his friends, Mr. Terrell showed the right spirit and gave good appointments to the followers of his opponent, Harry Schoberth, of Woodford county. Mr. Terrell went even further than that and gave good places to the few Republicans in the house who are on the other side of the political fence from Mr. Terrell. The appointments were not announced until Tuesday, although it had been expected that they would go to the house on Monday.

The Rules committee, that all-powerful body, which is in charge of the business of the house during the last days of the session, was announced on Tuesday and this committee went over the list of the other committees, making few changes. The Rules committee is the most sought-for place in the house, next to the speaker-ship. In the house in the last few days of the session there is always a rush on the part of members to get their bills up for passage. The legislators usually follow along for six or eight weeks and then crowd into the last few days the actual work of the session. To give some semblance of order and to get the work out, it has been the custom to permit of no measure being reported from the committee, from the calendar or orders of the day, unless called up by the Rules committee. This will be the program again this year.

Tuesday was bill day in the house, and more than two hundred measures, providing for everything under the sun were offered by the members. The senate has no bill day, every day being bill day, but no bills were offered during the first week of the present session. The sessions were mostly devoted to the routine of organization and adjournment was taken on Wednesday until Tuesday, each house waiting for the appointment of the committees. But the house members had their chance on Tuesday, and they took prompt advantage of it to pour into the hopper bills for many things. Every plank in the Democratic platform will be carried out if the bills introduced all pass, for a bill was offered carrying into effect every plank in that platform. As there was little difference between the Republican and Democratic planks the minority, the Republicans, will offer much the same bills as the Democrats.

Both parties are pledged to prison reform, and the leaders of the Republican minority have said that they will back up the Democrats in the proposal to take the prisons out of politics. Just how they are to be taken out of politics is what is causing the talk. The present prison commissioners say that they are not opposed to taking the prisons out of politics, but they do not think it would be carrying out the Democratic platform to transfer the patronage of the prisons from the men who now control it to the opposing faction in the Democratic party. They say that they are willing to do what they can to carry out the Democratic platform, but they differ with the other side as to the methods that are to be employed.

One side wants the prisons placed under the control of the governor, giving the governor power to appoint prison commissioners, instead of having them elected by the legislature as at present. Eli Brown, chairman of the prison commission, says this would be turning the patronage, which is taken away from his board, over to the other side. The commissioners say that they would be willing to have the people elect the commissioners as the railroad commissioners are elected, by districts. It is regarded as probable that the friends of the prison commissioners will try to get through a bill making the office of prison commissioner elective by direct vote of the people. The state would be divided into three districts, probably so arranged that no Republican could be elected and an election had every four years to choose each commissioner.

In the fight over the speakership, it was charged that Mr. Schoberth, of Woodford county, was the candidate of the prison commission, and that he was representing them. It was also charged that the "lobbyists" were behind Mr. Schoberth. This was denied with vigor by Mr. Schoberth and his friends who asserted that he and his friends were pledged to carry out the plank in the Democratic platform. Mr. Schoberth went down in defeat with spunk, and showed that he can be a good loser by the smiling way he took defeat. The soreness resulting from the race has about vanished and everything is now peaceful.

Of course, there was more or less wild talk following the speakership race and it was said that the grand jury would make an investigation, but it is believed that the matter will be dropped as there seems to be nothing authentic in any of the rumors that were circulated about the capital on the day after the Democratic caucus.

That they will get through their bill granting school suffrage to women in this state is the confident belief of the leaders of the State Federation of Women's Clubs of Kentucky. The board held a meeting here Thursday, and while here they said they were so confident of getting the bill passed that they had ceased to talk about it. Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, who is president of the State Federation, says she has been told by the leaders of both sides in the present legislature, that the school suffrage bill will certainly become a law.

When the women have secured school suffrage, they will come back to the legislature and ask for full suffrage. Mrs. Smith is a suffragist full-fledged, although the State Federation has not gone that far and she says it is only a question of a short time until the women will have the ballot, with an educational qualification, in Kentucky. The women thus far have contented themselves with asking for limited suffrage.

Two years ago when the women appeared before a senate committee asking for school suffrage, Senator Hogg told them that if they would come back to Frankfort in 1912, each with a baby, time being granted to all to marry, if they were unmarried, he would vote for the bill. This challenge is to be answered, and it is stated that the women will come to Frankfort bringing their babies with them to help plead for school suffrage. The women have turned their challenge into a weapon, and will use the children as exhibits, claiming the right to have something to say about who shall educate them in the public schools. Of course most of the unmarried women who were here last session have not married since, but they will borrow children and members of the Federation who have children, (the president, by the way has two) will storm the senate committee.

Only the preliminary work of the present session has been done and but little has been accomplished toward legislation. Those who are leading the fight for certain bills say that the work will be done early and not jammed into the closing days. Gov. McCreary is taking active part in the business of the present session. He has already let the legislators know that he does not propose to sit back and look on, but will be in the thick of the fighting, trying to carry through the recommendations that he made in his message. The message was a lengthy one and covered many subjects, so many in fact that few of the members have succeeded in grasping all that the governor touched upon in his recommendations. When the governor let it be known that he wanted Mr. Terrell elected speaker of the house and made a determined fight to land him in the chair, the members knew that the governor was not simply a lay figure, but a lively individual, despite his years. The governor has told the legislature what he wants it to do, and he proposes to see to it that they do as they are told, if he can.

In his message, Gov. Willson omitted all reference to the need of a new governor's mansion. The governor knows about the mansion, for he lived there thirty-six years ago. He said the other day that when he lived in the mansion in 1876 it had to be propped up with boards in the cellar to keep it from falling down, so the condition of the mansion at the present time may be imagined. When Mrs. Willson, wife of the former governor, was in the mansion she did wonders with it, and her taste enabled her to make it appear attractive. The defects were covered up, and the casual visitor would not have noticed that the old building was in need of repair. Kentucky's first governor lived in that old mansion. He did not live there as the first governor, the mansion not having been built until after he went out, but Isaac Shelby was elected governor twice, and during his second term as governor, four years after he went out of office the first time, he lived in the present mansion.

The new mansion is the pet of Lieut. Gov. Ed McDermott. He says Gov. McCreary feels a hesitancy about asking for a new mansion in which he is to live, so Gov. McDermott is doing all the talking about a new mansion. He has referred to this in several addresses which he has made recently, notably the address he delivered in taking his seat as presiding officer of the senate. He says Kentucky, which is practically out of debt, with a two million dollar building for a capitol, should have a mansion for the governor, that would be in keeping with the reputation of the state.

Peter Lee Atherton, probably the one millionaire who has ever been in the Kentucky legislature, certainly the only one in recent years, is keeping house, by his lonesome, in one of the finest homes in Frankfort, which he rented furnished for the session. Mr. Atherton came to the legislature to look after good roads and school improvement which are his hobbies, but he wanted home life as well. He said he could not stand a hotel for three months, so he scouted about and found the kind of a house he wanted. He brought up from Louisville a good cook and some servants, and now is living like he lives at home.

The summit of the peak was a jagged spiral, and it is the theory of geologists that water from melting snows, together with the added weight of the heavy snows, caused disintegration of the rock upon which the crest rested.

The General may possibly have ridden the horse when Mrs. Lyon was not with him and as he probably rode 50 horses in four years, his widow may be mistaken in her conclusions.

Hangman's Rope Break.

Windsor, Vt., Jan. 5.—Elroy Kent paid the penalty for murder at the State Prison here this afternoon, when he was hanged for clubbing Miss Delia B. Congdon to death at her home in East Wallingford on July 24, 1908.

As the drop fell, the rope broke and Kemp fell flat on the floor. The rope was then hung around the balustrade over the gallows and Kent remained suspended there until 1:45 p. m., when he was pronounced dead. A doctor who examined Kent said that the condemned murderer's neck was broken by the rope on the fall.

SUTHERLAND'S EAGLE EYE SALVE Good for Nothing but the Eyes

WOULD TO HAVE DIED.

Didn't Speak For

Twenty-Five Years

Maysville, Ky., Jan. 10.—The death of Louis Roel here disclosed a family secret, which was that absolute silence had been maintained between husband and wife for the past twenty-five years. This was broken last Sunday, when his wife asked her husband to have a cup of coffee and he replied that he would. In a few moments he was attacked with heart trouble, dying a short time afterward.

He willed all his vast properties to his wife, and he asked that his body be cremated and the ashes cast to the winds, from the Cincinnati suspension bridge. The body will be sent to a crematory tomorrow.

When Tea Was Dear.

Those who grumble at the price of tea should turn for consolation to the records of its price in early times. At its first introduction into England, about the middle of the seventeenth century, tea fetched anything between 60 and 110 a pound, and though a fall in price quickly took place the East India company still had to pay over 44 for the two pounds of tea which it presented the king. However, even this is doubtful if the tea merchants got very fat, seeing that the importation of some 4,000 pounds in 1678 was enough to glut the market for some years.—London Chronicle.

English Injustice.

An Australian tourist traveling in the west of Ireland asked an old woman how far it was to the nearest town. She sadly looked at him, then sighed and said:

"It was five nice miles two years ago, but some English brute came over with chains and made it seven, and our hearts are broke walking it over since. Bad luck to them!"

And she disappeared into the house, leaving him there.—Illustrated Bits.

Cramp in the Leg.

To those who suffer from cramp in the leg at night the following hint may be useful: When the cramp comes on take a good strong string—a long garter will do—wind it round the leg over the place that is affected and take an end in each hand and give it a sharp pull, one that will hurt a little. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured it will not come on again that night.

Governor and State Senator Discuss Question of Woman's Vote.

By SIMEON E. BALDWIN, Governor of Connecticut.

I BELIEVE women eventually will obtain the vote, but I do not believe they will ever take AS MUCH INTEREST IN USING IT AS DO MEN.

Although the brains of a man and a woman may be equally fine and their education be similar, the RAW MATERIAL UPON WHICH YOU WORK IS DIFFERENT.

My idea would be to enfranchise women by degrees. Let them learn to use some civic power before giving them full power. I have now recommended that the women property owners of Connecticut be permitted to vote upon their proper taxation.

If this much were to be given them we would be BETTER ABLE TO JUDGE HOW ANXIOUS WOMEN ARE FOR THE FULL FRANCHISE. In many parts of the country women are permitted to vote on school boards and purely local political questions, and it must be admitted they do not exercise their rights to any great extent.

OF COURSE IT SEEMS A CERTAINLY THAT EQUAL SUFFRAGE WILL EVENTUALLY COME, BUT I DO NOT BELIEVE WE SHALL EVER SEE THE DAY IN WHICH MEN AND WOMEN ARE EQUALLY INTERESTED IN POLITICS.

By "BIG TIM" SULLIVAN, State Senator From New York City.

If man is the mighty affair he thinks he is, why should he be AFRAID of political competition by the women? If he's not such a mighty affair, then it's time he stepped down and GAVE THE LADIES A CHANCE to show what they can do in politics.

If you look at the young people going to work nowadays you'll see QUITE AS MANY GIRLS AS MEN.

If women compete with men in business, why shouldn't they COMPETE WITH THEM IN POLITICS?

Mr. Croker told me some time ago that he had too much respect for women to want to see them mixed up in politics.

I'VE GOT TOO MUCH RESPECT FOR POLITICS TO THINK IT WOULD DEFILE ANY WOMAN. POLITICS IS ENNOBLING. IT HAS AN EDUCATIONAL VALUE.

The WOMEN OUGHT TO VOTE if they think it's going to make things any better for them.

Woman suffrage has been a success in the states in which it has been tried. Give a woman half a chance and you'll find she can REASON JUST AS WELL AND GENERALLY IS A GOOD DEAL FAIRER AND SQUARER THAN A MAN.

Exploration of the Vast Field of the "Subconscious."

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE, Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Historic Ghosts and Ghost Hunters," Etc.

THE great object of psychological research is to put on a scientific basis the traditional belief of mankind in the SURVIVAL OF HUMAN PERSONALITY AFTER BODILY DEATH, or, in other words, it aims to obtain PROOF POSITIVE OF THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL.

A good many people, including such distinguished scientists as Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir William Crookes, believe that such proof is to be found in the alleged communications from the dead given in the trance utterances of certain spiritistic "mediums."

CRITICS CONTENT THAT, HOWEVER FREE FROM FRAUD THESE COMMUNICATIONS MAY BE, THEY ARE READILY EXPLAINABLE AS EMANATING NOT FROM THE MINDS OF THE DEAD, BUT FROM LIVING MINDS, BY THE POWER OF TELEPATHY OR THOUGHT TRANSFERENCE. THAT IS TO SAY, IT IS CONTENDED THAT AT THE MOST THE TRANCE MESSAGES REPRESENT NOTHING MORE THAN KNOWLEDGE ALREADY POSSESSED BY THE MEDIUM'S "SITTERS," WHOSE MINDS ARE READ BY THE MEDIUM.

But this does not mean that the physical researchers have been wasting their time. Their investigations as conducted during the last twenty-five years have resulted in THROWING MUCH UNEXPECTED LIGHT ON THE NATURE AND WORKINGS OF THE HUMAN MIND. The exploration of the vast field of the "subconscious," of which we hear so much nowadays, was initiated by them. To them we owe much of our knowledge of the character of "mental healing," and by their labors our understanding of the whole subject of psychology has been greatly enlarged.

A Mean Question.

It Takes Time.

Silage For Horses.

Silage cannot be recommended for general feeding to horses of any kind. Some have reported gratifying results with it, but others have killed their horses even with the first feed of it. It is generally suspected that in these unfortunate cases the silage was not of first class quality, but as there is no assurance that silage will not occasionally contain some moldy spots every feeder should be cautious in dealing it out to horses. Horses are far more easily injured than cattle by moldy feed.

Clerks Tied Back-to-Back

While Hotel is Robbed

New York, Jan. 15.—Four men walked into the Central Hotel early today poked revolvers in the faces of Henry Douglas, night clerk, and his assistant, looted the safe of $75.00, tied Douglas and his fellow-clerk back to back with stout ropes, and then fled. One of the holdup men ran off with a quantity of solid silver. This is the second holdup within a week inside the "dead line."

Pen For Life.

The remainder of the life of Charles Gish, alias Charles Clay, alias Dick West, will be spent behind penitentiary bars unless he is pardoned or paroled. He was convicted yesterday in the Ballard circuit court at Wickliffe on the charge of robbing the store of P. L. Sale & company at La Center. Despite the fact that he confessed of robbing the store twice, and various other robberies in Western Kentucky, Gish made a vigorous defense. By affidavits he sought to establish an alibi that he was in Wheatecroft.

Gish was arrested last summer by Detective T. J. Moore on the charge of robbing the store at La Center and stealing a horse to escape. He was captured by means of a suit case containing the stolen goods which he sent by express to Henderson, where he lived. Gish sent the goods to "Dick West," and when he appeared at the express office to get the package, was arrested. With the evidence overwhelmingly against him, Gish confessed not only to the thefts at La Center, but to the robberies of the railroad stations at Kuttawa and Eddyville.

It will be the third time that Gish has been sentenced to the penitentiary and will have to spend the remainder of his life there.—Paducah Sun.

Must Tell Grand Jury

How He Got His Gas.

William C. Johnson, 2405 Dumesnil street, was held to the grand jury by Judge Boldrick on a $200 bond to-day on a charge of stealing gas. For two years it was alleged by L. L. Cadwalader, of the Louisville Gas Company, he had been using gas which was detoured around the meter. He admitted having used the gas, but stated that it was from a leak. It was alleged by gas company representatives, who claimed to have watched the house, that he had made various attachments for the purpose of using the gas without its passing through the meter. Grand larceny was the charge lodged against him.

part to sustain the government which so generously prospers them.

The first income tax of which we have any knowledge is that of the tithe. It came from God. That which was just enough for the Master ought to be satisfactory among governments of men. No Republic can claim to be entirely just which sends the tax gatherer to the crumbs of Lazarus and allows to escape the riches of Dives. For more than 100 years the Supreme Court of our country held an income tax constitutional. When it was finally held to be unconstitutional, it was upon a petition for rehearing, and then only by a vote of five to four. I rejoice in the fact that an amendment submitted by Congress to the states has been ratified by more than thirty, and that the day is not distant when a sufficient number will have joined those who have already spoken to put beyond the fine-spun theories of learned justices the constitutionality of this law. The Democratic party led this fight; our platform was the first to advocate it. We challenged a mighty army of millionaires, with mountains of gold, in the interest of the masses of the people. Though we lost the offices in the battle, we won the principle.

For Tariff Reduction.

I shall vote to reform and reduce the tariff, so that not one dollar shall be levied or collected except for the purposes of revenue only. It was never hinted at, nor in any way suggested, nor even dreamed of by those who made the Constitution of our country and formed this great Republic, that the taxing power could be used for any purpose save that of obtaining sufficient revenue to support the government administered in economy, efficiency and honesty. I do not believe our states could have been cemented into a union if it had been written in the organic law that the taxing power could be framed out to individuals, corporations or monopolies to enrich themselves at the expense of the people. The taxing power should not be used either for protection or plunder, but only for revenue to run the people's government, which is for the benefit of all. The taxes of a free government should be collected by the officers of the government, and not let out to others to collect for the benefit of one class of people at the expense of all the rest. I believe that the taxes even for revenue should be first laid upon the luxuries of life. If this does not produce enough revenue to administer the government, next the taxes should be laid upon the comforts of life. If the taxes upon luxuries and comforts do not produce sufficient revenue, then last upon the necessities of life.

Long since has been exploded the contention of the great leaders of the advocates of a protective tariff that competition of rival sellers inside the protected boundary would keep prices reasonable; for competition has been swallowed up by monopoly, which stands with arrogant and brutal defiance clutching the throat of the American consumer. This hold must be loosened. Competition must be restored; the cost of living must be reduced; the criminal law must be enforced against them; the protective tariff—the chief supporter and protector of these criminals—must be overthrown; trust-controlled articles must be placed upon the free list.

No Stock in Tariff Board.

I am opposed to awaiting the report of a tariff board. The power of taxing the people was lodged by the fathers of the republic, through a written Constitution, in the hands of the Congress of the United States; those whom they directly elect, who are responsible to them; those whom they can call to account; and I am therefore unwilling that this great power should be delegated to a tariff board appointed by the President and responsible only to him, one which he can dismiss at his pleasure, whose salary he can fix as he desires. The high tariff taxes which now oppress our people were levied without the aid of a tariff board report. There was no cry raised then that the tariff must be reformed scientifically. No urgent appeals for delay were then heard for a tariff board report. The demand of the tariff-stuffed barons to take the tariff out of politics, through the medium of a tariff board, when the taxes are already higher than ever before, and I believe that it is the duty of the representatives of the people to at once reform the tariff in the interest of the consuming public.

I shall vote to restore to my country competition in the fields of honest endeavor everywhere—a competition which has practically been annihilated by the trusts and monopolies, which have been made possible and, in a great, fostered and encouraged by the aid of the Government behind the walls of a high protective tariff.

I shall vote to drive from our country those powerful and oppressive agencies which seek to make mankind but a machine to turn out gold for their overflowing coffers. I believe we should restore competition among our people, proving the truth again of the ancient maxim that it is the life of trade; for we all know that the trusts and monopolies have conclusively shown that they are the death of competition and the destruction of individualism.

Enforce Criminal Law.

I believe in the enforcement of the criminal law which is now upon our statute books against those who violate the anti-trust law and teach them that they are not above the law, but must be obedient to it. I would not proceed against them in equity and ask the court to say to them, when they are found guilty as violators of the law, that they ought not to do so any more, or that their army of pillage should be divided into various marauding hands, but I would proceed against them as the criminals they are, with the strong arm of the Federal law, invoking its strictest penalty against them, and demanding that justice should be administered alike to the strong and the weak, to the rich and the poor.

I shall hold steadfastly to the Democratic doctrine of the rights of the states, believing that every right not specially given to the Union was reserved to the states. I would not have monopoly to hide behind the glorious doctrine of the rights of the states, nor would I, upon the other hand, have it to thrive by wholesale violation of the rights of the states. I would have both powers exerted for the destruction of monopoly—the states within their borders, the Federal government within its sphere. I would ask the government to aid the states within its constitutional and limited powers and the states to exercise the powers inherent and reserved to them.

Party Faces Victory.

The Democratic party stands this hour facing a great national victory. The people of the United States have turned to us as never before, willing to crown us with their confidences, willing to bestow upon us the mighty affairs of this great nation. It is because we have kept the faith with them. Those whom they trusted before us betrayed them. Parties, like men, to have the respect of the people, must keep their word. This the Democratic party in the nation has done, and done to the letter. Great reforms for which we have struggled in the past, for which we have gone down to defeat after defeat, stand acclaimed practically by all parties as the panacea for our republic. The party which so long thrived by taxing the masses for the few have fallen out among themselves as to the amount of loot that shall be taken.

The question of the regulation of the railroads, of which the Democratic party was the pioneer; the election of United States senators, for which we first fought; the income tax, for which we so long struggled; the publicity of campaign funds; the lowering of tariff taxes; the uprooting of monopoly, for which our party has so long battled—all of these things, which attest the wisdom and patriotism of our party, find but few opponents daring enough to openly oppose them. Now, some call them the teaching of insurgency, some proclaim them the theories of the progressives, but when they were first advocated by a great pioneer in the Western wilderness they were called the vagaries of a dreamer. But our reward is fast approaching; the sunshine of success bursts over a thousand hills, from every quarter of the republic fortune waves to the Democracy, and the ballot holders impatiently await the opportunity to give to this party, born with the Constitution—its first, and which, I believe, will be its last defender—the party of equal rights and just taxation—a victory at the polls the like of which has not been registered in the history of our government.

Greatest of Honors.

When I shall go to take my stand as your representative in the most august deliberative body in the world, the greatest honor that Kentuckians can bestow, the loftiest station to which the people of my native state could commission me, I shall be conscious of the fact that I am the representative of all the people, of every party and every creed, and with absolute impartiality and fairness I shall represent them. I am a partisan, not in the sense that I hate the Republicans, but because I love them, for they are Americans, and I want to give them the best government in the world.

Almost twenty-five years ago my young heart was made glad by being selected as a page in the Kentucky legislature.

Today a Kentucky legislature bestows upon me, in accordance with the public will, the greatest honor that can come to a Kentuckian. I little dreamed when I saw that great Scotch-American, James B. Beck, elected to the United States Senate, that but a quarter of a century separated me from his crown, my shoulders from his spotless toga, but I am happy in the thought that my fortunes then as now were linked with a party where the door of opportunity swung wide to all. It is a great honor to represent any state of this Union in the United States senate, but to represent Kentucky is an honor greater than all the rest—Kentucky, which has given to our countrymen who have walked upon the mountain range of statecraft, and whose names and service to their people shine in that bright galaxy which we call immortal. God spoke when He said, "Let there be light." He smiled when he made Kentucky.

The old Kentucky home! There is a charm and glory about the words that follow you over the world, and lure you back again.

Always Stand for People.

I shall stand always for our people, for the protection of every one of our citizens who claim allegiance and protection under the ample folds of our glorious flag, whether it shall be the humble Jew with his peddler's pack upon his back, in far away Russia, or the proudest American on any foreign soil.

Our people stand united now. We sing no more in the South, "John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave." They sing no more in the North, "We will hang Jeff Davis on a sour apple tree," but both are forgotten in the sweet strains of a reunited country, of "The Star Spangled Banner, oh, long may it wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

And I pray that this union may live on and on, and continue to be the happy home of a free and united people, and that Kentucky shall continue to be the brightest star in the sky of the republic; and it shall be my fondest hope and desire to raise my voice and cast my vote upon the side, and in the interest of the people of Kentucky who have done so much for me, as God shall give me the light to see it.

High Honor for Ollie M. James

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Ollie M. James, Kentucky's new senator and silver tongued orator, probably will receive one of the most handsome recognitions that have come to him during his life, by being selected to serve as temporary chairman of the next Democratic national convention and deliver the keynote speech.

In connection with the arrival of members of the national committee, the sentiment as to the keynote orator is decidedly in favor of Mr. James. At the Denver convention of 1908 he carried oratorical honors and, although he spoke at night when the delegates were weary, he brought applause that nearly tore off the roof. The selection of Mr. James will be highly pleasing to W. J. Bryan, whose influence is still potential in Democratic circles.

July 2 probably will be selected as the date for the opening of the convention and the nomination of a candidate for president will likely take place on July 4.

Last fall his father went to Shelby, Miss. after him and removed him to Tolu where they arrived Nov. 12 just two months before his demise. He was born in 1877 and was 35 years of age. He is survived by 3 brothers, Cleve of Berea, Ky, Elmer and Byron of Houston, Texas and two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Glenn of Houston, Texas and Mrs. W. H. Porter of Berea, Ky. He was to have been married it said this spring.

Alf Hardin who lived 3 miles from Marion near the Crittenden Springs road died Friday night January 12th of a congestive chill presumably. He was sick only 5 minutes. It may have been acute indigestion. He was up and well and ate a hearty dinner after which he busied himself getting in the night supply of firewood. He was engaged at this when he complained to his wife of his back and stomach hurting him. He laid down before the fire to warm himself and was dead in 5 minutes. His wife who was a daughter of Grant Crow, was the widow Lemon and they lived on the Dr. Swope farm near Crittenden Springs Road about 3 miles northwest of Marion.

Kind Sir:—I see it is time to renew again for the "weekly letter" the (Record-Press) from our dear "old Kentucky home." Therefore enclosed find check for one dollar, and continue the paper to my address.

Well, during the last ten days our sunny valley has been in the throes of winter clad in her dress of white, nine or ten inch snow with the mercury 4 to 12, below at times, and sleighing fine and the "ranchers" have on a broad grin for it means a bumper crop for 1912.

Times are a little dull, as is usually the case about this period of the "political weather."

Give our regards to any inquiring friends and wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year.

Yours truly,
Harvey P. Jacobs.

STRAYED.

Float Ten Miles on Ice Cake.

Sandusky, O., Jan. 15.—Six men and a horse had an involuntary ten-mile ride on a cake of ice, and narrowly escaped death. The men were cutting ice in the lake, of Port Clinton, when an immense cake upon which they were working broke away from shore and was blown out into the lake. Half a mile out the horse decided to make a try for shore and jumped into the lake. The animal reached shore in safety. The men on the ice made signals of distress which were finally seen on shore. A boat put out and had a ten mile pull out into the lake before the men were rescued. They were almost frozen to death when rescued.

Ties Widow With Corset Strings.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Mrs. May Perlett, a young widow, was compelled to disrobe, to submit to indignities and finally was robbed by a man who, she told the police, entered her house as a gas inspector. She said he had followed her from the gas company's building down town out to her home and tried to flirt with her on the way. When he appeared at her door she hesitated, she said, but let him in.

"He asked me where my jewelry was," she told the police, "and when I refused to say, he said he would kill me if I didn't remove my clothing. He bound me with corset strings, tore three rings from my fingers, struck me in the face and then left."

Her screams attracted neighbors, who rescued her. A cut over her left eye was displayed as evidence of the blow dealt her.

Runs, Naked, A Mile

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 16.—A man, naked, except for a pair of gauze trunks tied about his loins and cotton stockings on his feet, ran a mile through the business section of Aurora during the noon hour yesterday. The thermometer stood at 3 above zero. Hundreds saw the runner in action, including female employees of the Aurora cotton mills and several petticoat and waist factories.

John Danton, the runner, is a Canadian, wintering in Aurora. He made the dash to prove a contention that the weather in this country is balmy at its worst and to get a purse of $47.

"Up in Canada, where they have cold weather, they would just as soon go without clothes in the temperature ruling in Aurora now," Danton said.

Betrayed By His Number Tens.

Crawling in a hole and pulling the hole in after him was the extraordinary performance of Lee Tillman, colored, of Shelley, Tenn., yesterday to escape eagle eyed cops who were on a still hunt for him.

Tillman arrived in Evansville from sunny Tennessee Thursday and as the wintry blasts began to blow, he energetically began seeking a shelter for the night. The most inviting place he happened upon was a straw stack on Outer Canal street. He hid himself thither and burrowed his way into a warm, comfortable place in the center of the straw. Passersby saw his "number tens" protruding therefrom and called the cops. Tillman heard the alarm. It was not his regular rising time, so not wishing to be disturbed in the continuance of his slumbers he squirmed in a bit farther and filled the hole with straw so that when the bobbies arrived they gazed upon a perfectly good, sound and undisturbed straw stack.

But Tillman found his quarters too close for comfort and in a few moments tumbled out, crawfish fashion, with his eyes, ears and nose filled with chaff. Patrolmen Withers and Collier received him with open arms and sent him up to Chief Covey's hotel to spend the night.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years it has been known to a few doctors and by a few remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has now proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore require a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They cure one hundred cases for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DREYFUS PLOT IN NAVY ALLEGED

Howard Demands Reinstatement of Col. Perkins.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Howard, of Georgia, urging before the house naval affairs subcommittee the reinstatement of Col. C. M. Perkins, of the marine corps, declared that Perkins' discharge for alleged "mental incompetency" was a Dreyfus' conspiracy, hatched at the Army and Navy club in Washington.

Mr. Howard attacked both the marine corps and the navy.

"Only 32 per cent of the officers of the navy," he said, "are in actual service. The remainder sit about Washington engaged in social pursuits. Naval battles are planned and fought in the clubs, where liquor takes the place of the briny deep with a red cherry as the ship and a toothpick as the propelling force. The officers furnish the wind." The committee took the Perkins case under advisement.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is too generally considered a Sign of Advanced Age

A bald headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65 per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, hair follicles closed, and the scalp becomes glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with no distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, but our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want every one in Marion who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble—dandruff, falling hair, or baldness—try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. Put them to use it regularly—until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff and refresh the scalp, we will return every cent for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality except our word, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

Our establishment right here in Marion, and make this offer with a full understanding that our success depends upon the sort of results we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above claim unless we were positively certain we could substantiate it in every case. Remember, you can obtain all remedies in this community from our store—The Rexall Store.

GOOD NEWS

Many Marion Readers Have Heard It And Profited Thereby.

Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Marion are glad to learn that relief may be within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. Mary Alexander, Marion, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for three or four years. Sharp twinges seized me in my back when I stooped or lifted and I was unable to rest well on account of a constant backache. I tired easily, often felt nervous and languid, and was annoyed by headaches and dizzy spells. I was also troubled by a blurring of my sight, and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store and am glad to say that they gave me great relief. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. J1825

Only One Paper.

Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 10.—With the issue of Tuesday evening the semi-weekly Sentinel, published by G. H. Pike and N. B. Bonney, suspended publication. The Sentinel succeeded the Mirror about six months ago and published a daily edition, which was stopped three months ago.

This leaves Mayfield with one newspaper plant, the daily and weekly Messenger.

Burns Her Bed.

Because her three little children were sobbing with the cold Monday night, Mrs. Minnie Stainge, 661 South Seventh street broke up her bed and used it for fuel. Mrs. Stainge has been a widow for eight years, and after a brave fight against overwhelming odds she was compelled to ask for city coal this morning. Mayor's Secretary, Charles C. Foster took particular pains to supply Mrs. Stainge with fuel at once. —Post.

Feeding the Calf.

No farmer can afford to start his calf off in any other way but well. The calf should have a sufficient quantity of whole milk until its ration can be made partly skimmed or whole skimmed without danger of stunting. The calf has no use for more than three-fourths of a gallon of whole milk per day for the period of a week. At the end of a week begin the substitution of skimmed milk, increasing the quantity of skimmed milk and increasing the total quantity of milk fed until three weeks old, and at the end of this time, if pains have been taken in teaching the calf to eat, he will then be able to go on to a skimmed milk ration entirely with the addition of a feed night and morning of Indian corn or Kaffir corn, whole or ground, and with what roughage he will eat will thrive and continue thrifty. The calf is worth too much at this time to slight it in any way.

Why a Man Likes a Dog.

"Why does a man like a dog?" responded the suffragette lady, fiercely, and repeated: "Why does a man like a dog? Well, there are numerous reasons, though a dog is not a reasoning being. A dog will lick the hand that beats it; a dog will eat a crust and a bone and bless the giver; a dog thinks whatever a man does is right and proper; a dog has no rights that a man is bound to respect; a dog asks no embarrassing questions; a dog is always grateful, no matter for what; a dog does not ask the man to stay at home nights; a dog is satisfied to love the man whether the man loved the dog or not; a dog submits to any and all impositions without protest; a dog does not consider itself a man's equal; a dog lets a man have his own way; a dog doesn't want to vote; a dog is just as glad to see a man when he gets in at three o'clock in the morning, almost helpless, as if he hadn't gone out at all; a dog has no mother in law, and a dog can't talk back—can't talk back, mind you, nor won't talk back. That's why a man likes a dog."

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"THERE NEVER WAS A WORSE CASE."

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of women's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. MARGARET MEREDITH, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Train freezes to Rails.

Bristol, Tenn., Jan. 16.—A rare incident in the history of railroading in Virginia occurred on the Norfolk & Western rail road at Lynchburg today, when the Washington-Chattanooga fast train actually froze to the rails.

Stopping in a swag, the dripping water from the pipes caught the wheels, and the temperature being below zero, the train was locked so securely in the ice that it required the use of three engines to move it, bumping from the rear being resorted to. It was two and a half hours before the train could be moved and it arrived here seven hours late.

Farley's Home Coming

A Big Event.

New York, Jan., 14.—Wireless dispatches tonight from the steamship Berlin, which is bringing Cardinal Farley back to New York after being crowned a prince of the Roman Catholic Church, reported the vessel as making slow progress in the face of head winds and not likely to reach quarantine until early Wednesday morning. This will give the cardinal's friends and admirers ample time to perfect arrangements for what promises to be one of the most elaborate receptions ever accorded to a home-coming American.

After a two months round of honors in Rome, Cardinal Farley will walk down the gang plank of a welcoming launch to the battery sea wall at about noon on Wednesday to find the principal thoroughfare of the metropolis all aflutter with colors and lined on either curb for a distance of four miles, with hundreds of thousands of people, among them more than fifty thousand members of Catholic societies in his parish.

An automobile parade will escort the cardinal up Broadway to Twenty-Third street and from there up Fifth avenue to the cathedral, where most of the Catholic school children of the city will be awaiting his eminence. As he is escorted to the sanctuary, 6,000 child voices will be raised in Te Deum. The cardinal will pronounce his benediction.

In the evening Cardinal Farley is to be surprised with an illumination of the cathedral by 40,000 electric bulbs hung up all over the edifice.

Receptions and services in his honor will continue for ten days, concluding with a great religious ceremony on Thursday, Jan. 25. Bishops and archbishops from all over the United States are expected to attend.

Two Murderers Seek Clemency.

Boston, Jan. 16.—It was reported today that attorneys for Richeson will go before the supreme court and file a writ of error unless the minister's sentence is commuted. They will contend that owing to his mental condition he was unable to comprehend the nature of his plea of guilty and that Judge Sanderson erred in passing sentence without submitting the case to a jury.

Sterling, Ill., Jan. 16.—Attorney John Irwin for Doctor Harry Webster, confessed wife slayer, who will plead guilty tomorrow, announced today that an effort will be made to save Webster's life by proving him to be insane. There seems to be no doubt that Webster will receive the death sentence on his plea of guilty unless his insanity can be established.

WEEKLY FRANKFORT LETTER.

(By Hon. M. F. Pogue.)

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 13, 1912. Dear Marshall:

We have had but one bill today in the House on account of the committees not being formal, but one hundred and six bills were dumped into the hopper of the House mill and nearly one hundred in the Senate. They relate to almost every conceivable subject, but one thing is especially noticeable the absence of "Wildcat" legislation, which heretofore has emanated from the brain of the legislation crank who did not break into this House.

The "Third House" is not much in evidence this session the House and Senate both have forbidden the lobbyist on the floors. If you come to Frankfort now you can "look down" upon the Senators and Representatives and see them and nobody else. Heretofore you could not tell "which from 'tother," and the speaker could not count the vote accurately, when taken standing, on account of the "outriders" and lobbyist who swarmed in and out at pleasure. "But things have changed about the place and the lobbyists have all gone." The interests did not have a hand in making the committees, nor did they ever submit lists when asked to do so, and it does look like the people will rule once more in this good old State. The Senate has shown a spirit of progress and activity so far, without parallel in the memory of the oldest citizen of Frankfort, who has observed the Senate for many years. In fact, they are setting the pace for the House, as they could always have done, on account of their small membership. But it is a conceded fact, that the county unit bill will pass easily, therefore, the old bone of contention is removed.

The governor stands pat on the platform and will insist on its fulfillment. He advocates a bi-partisan Prison Board and will contend for it: Some will stand for a board of Democrats appointed by the governor others will insist on an elective Board elected by the people, and I feel that the measure when passes will be a compromise, combining two or more of these features; but one thing certain there will be a change from the present system which everybody says must go.

Kentucky has a new U. S. Senator in the person of our own "Ollie," who won so easily over the Hon. Edward Morrow, of Pulaski Co.

Ollie's speech of acceptance was the best ever delivered in Frankfort. It was a gem of oratory and the Democratic slogan opening the battle of 1912. Many were the "tear dimmed" eyes when he referred to his uphill fight from youth, how he fought his way without money and influential friends from a Page in the House, to a seat in the American House of Lords once honored by the immortal Clay, Breckenridge, Beck and Carlisle. He is easily the greatest Kentuckian alive today and if spared to a ripe age will have his name inscribed upon the rolls of the nation's Immortelles. He stands in the front rank of Americans today, but the friends of Justice and the great common people will never die in the hearts of a truly patriotic people.

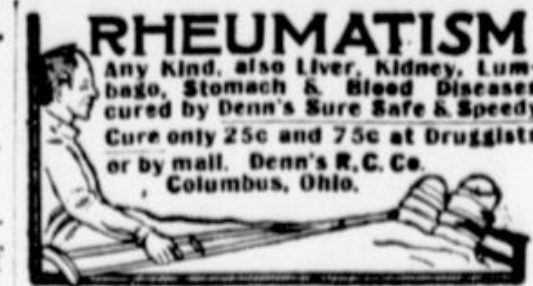

So here's three cheers for Ollie, McCreary and Woodrow Wilson.
