WAS PLEADING WITH FIAN- CEE TO ELOPE WHEN FA- TALLY SHOT

Young Texas Man Gained Entrance at Night to Girl's Room—Discovered by Sweetheart's Father.

Houston, Tex., May 31.—From Miss Hazel Moody's statement it developed today that Lloyd Jackson, the prominent young man fatally shot by the young girl's father early yesterday, was not at the Moody home by appointment with her. Jackson asserted in his dying declaration that he was keeping a tryst to elope with and wed Miss Moody. Today the young woman declared she and Jackson were not engaged to be married, but said he had long paid court to her and had repeatedly urged marriage. She says she could never make up her mind that she really loved him.

On the lawn of the Moody home, Jackson removed his hat and shoes, climbed to veranda and crept to a window of Miss Moody's room. Tapping on the pane attracted her attention, she says, and only quick recognition of her persistent suitor prevented her screaming from fright. She raised the window and Jackson sat on the sill pleading with her to elope with him, when her father appeared. First reports were that Moody shot at what he believed to be a prowler, but Miss Moody today declared that her father and Jackson had an altercation, the culmination of which was that Moody opened fire and the young man fell backward out of the window to the ground.

Moody's examining trial on the charge of murder will take place Monday.

MARION GIRL

Wins Honors in Florida. Miss Haynes' Song Recital.

The song recital given by Miss Anna Haynes last Monday evening in the University Auditorium proved to be a very enjoyable and artistic event. Miss Haynes has a voice of much beauty and promise and she sings with much intelligence. Her program contained selections of much worth, musically, and they were all sung with good interpretative power.

"At Nightfall," "Love's Epitome" and "The Bell" were especially well liked by the audience, which, by the way, was made up of DeLand's music lovers, and who came out in force to hear this young Kentucky lady sing. Mrs. J. W. Phillips played all the accompaniments, which means they were perfect. Mr. Phillips also contributed two songs and took part in a duet, receiving encores.

The talented young lady was at her best in voice and stage presence, her costume, manner, and rendition of the difficult numbers, harmonizing perfectly. She is a beautiful girl with rarely beautiful voice, and when a sheaf of American Beauty roses were presented, the audience broke forth with renewed applause.

Miss Haynes is a daughter of Mr. Robert F. Haynes, of Marion, Kentucky, the home of U. S. Senator-elect Ollie James, with whom she now divides honors, she being Marion's most magnificent musician, and he Marion's biggest and best known citizen.

"She was bred in old Kentucky," "When I thy singing next shall hear, I'll wish I might turn all to ear, To drink in notes and numbers, such As blessed souls can't bear too much; And by thy music stricken mute, Die and be turned into a lute."

—DeLand Register.

A NOTABLE HARVEST

MARION BOYS CONTINUE TO WIN LAURELS AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Marion, Ky.

My good Friend:—

There have been many times when I thought I should write the good people of Marion and surrounding country a letter and tell them through the columns of the Press how much and how often I thought of them; but somehow life has been so strenuous that such desire has been swallowed up in the foolish rush to get to the next thing. If we could only understand that the soul is more than the body and to recount dear memories is a better business than to cover them over with the rush and bustle of continuous struggle there would be a great deal more of joy, of silent satisfaction than now exists.

Every little while I come back to Marion and see the old places and the old friends to live over again the very, very happiest years of my life for while the almost seven years I have spent in this state have brought me many fine things and more especially a remarkable opportunity to serve, yet I shall always count my eleven years of service in old Marion as replete with happiness as any term of years ever held. Longfellow tells about misfortunes not coming singly. It is equally true that fortune and joy are seldom found coming singly. This last week was the harvest time for my first year in the wonderful field of service for the training of teachers in Oklahoma's largest and oldest State Normal School. In summing up the bountiful yield of the year there was a new and handsome building to our credit costing thousands of dollars; the development of a new Course of Study; the beginning and finishing of such undertakings as would class this school in its material and spiritual equipment in the foremost ranks with the best state institutions of America—all this climaxed with a graduating class of sixty eight in two courses of study would certainly make happiness enough, but this record was not as radiant with joy as a letter which came to me from one of your children and mine, who signs himself N. G. Rochester, but whom we all know as Gray.

This letter I enclose, or the copy I enclose, because I shall not let the original go out of my possession for I count it one of the most precious possessions I hold or shall ever hold, for it tells in a plain, manly way of a gratitude coming up to me for which I worked and prayed for more than eleven years. This letter tells a tale that is as honorable in achievement for the young life of Marion as was ever found in the history of any locality. I observe that the Lexington Transcript took occasion to say that so far as they could find there was no such record made by any town or community in Kentucky or the South as the record by the aspiring young life of Marion as put forth in Kentucky State University in the last fourteen years. This honors Marions equally as much as her sons are honored. There are just a few responsibilities falling

A DAY WITH NATURE

STUDENTS OF THE WEST KEN-TUCKY NORMAL PICNIC ON BARREN RIVER.

Bowling Green, Ky.
June 1st, 1912.

Editor Crittenden Record Press,
Please allow me space in your most worthy paper to give a brief sketch of a day with nature.

On Friday last, May 31, the students of the Western Kentucky State Normal with the faculty, went on their annual excursion down Barren river. It was a bright Spring morning and the first to give us warning was the steamers Evansville and Chaperone. At 9 a. m. all were on board, and as we moved down the river the air seemed full of joy and laughter from the student body, which numbered approximately 500.

Barren river whose head of navigation is at Bowling Green is probably the most beautiful stream in the state; with its picturesque banks covered with a rich foliage that hangs so thickly we could only catch a glimpse of the sweet song birds that flit through the green boughs in the checkered sunshine; and with the many scenes that were presented by the dark foliage of the trees that covered the shadowy foothills that lay in their stretch of undulations and rising to a grayish white against the blue sky we think all would agree in saying that the little stream has the most fascinating scenery of any that drain the towering hills and prolific valleys of what was once known as "the dark and bloody ground."

Passing through the Government locks, we landed at what is known as Sally's Rock, for lunch, after which the jolly crowd ceased from their merry-making and when the echoes died in the far away we stole into the heart of nature and as we entered the great wood 'seemed to bring a calm over the still and pulseless world.' The bubbling brook the stillness in its flush and fleet among the pebbles on its winding way to the distant sea. The soft balmy air passed gently through the leaves bringing the notes of the singing birds to fall upon our ears with doubled and redoubled intensity. The notes would rise in triumph and acclamation then a pause and the sweet voice poured forth its gushes of melody. As thus we stood in the bosom of nature our hearts seemed to beat with the music of the universe.

At 2 p. m. we went on board and proceeded down the river to Woodbury, and after remaining there for a short time, we started on our journey home. After steaming up the river quite a distance we again landed and supper was served.

Now the day was closing and the two steamers gave the homeward call. As we glided up the river watching the last rays of light as they lingered awhile before going to wake the beauty of another land, the writer must confess that he cannot describe with pen this magnificent scene. The majesty and eternal beauty of its wide spread confusion; the feeling of loneliness and joy mingled with awe that grows upon the observer as he stands enraptured in such a scene is enough to make us believe the

NOTICE WOODMEN.

The members of Rosewood Camp, No. 22, W. O. W. will assemble at the hall in Marion Sunday at 8 o'clock a. m., to start to Mt. Zion. This is two hours earlier than was announced last week. The change is made in order that the Woodmen may arrive there in time for church services. Sunday being regular meeting day at Mt. Zion.

New Invention.

Edward G. Cosbey of Vandersburg, whose postoffice address is Slaughtersville, has invented a Saw Set, and has procured a patent on the same. This saw set can be worked by hand or foot power. It is said to "cap" anything on the market in the way of saw sets, as it gives every tooth in the saw the same amount of set. This cannot be accomplished with the common hammer sets. Mr. Cosbey's Set is especially adapted to crosscut saws, but can be used to set hand saws also, with two extra attachments. It is said that a ten-year-old boy can set a saw with this set as well as a grown person.

The set will be sold at a reasonable figure, it is said. Mr. Cosbey will shortly endeavor to place his invention with some manufacturer, either by an outright sale, or on a royalty basis. We wish for him success.—Dixon Journal.

moon rose to find no scene more beautiful in any land or zone, for no bluer skies bend their sapphire arches above the far-famed and sea-girt bay of Naples, no balmy breezes sigh over the land of the Nile or the Gardens of Gaul, than the soft zephyrs that linger in loving tones amid our Kentucky hills and our sweet scented scenery. While viewing this scene as it bathed in the moonlight and drinking in the bewildering draught of its beauty, all voices joined in singing many songs the favorite being "Old Kentucky Home." Before we hardly realized it we landed at Bowling Green.

A day spent with nature that was a treat to all.

—W. Lewis Matthews.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

Modern Flour and Grist

Mill on I. C. Railroad

(By J. B. McNeely.)

The new mill being erected by A. J. Baker and J. H. Mays is situated just east of the I. C. R. R. within the city limits. It will be unequalled in the line of milling business. The following is about a description of this plant.

The foundation is of solid material, brick and concrete. The basement is seven feet in height—built of brick.

The ground floor will be constructed of concrete, covered with a two inch stuff. Then this is to be overlaid with tongued and glued flooring. The main building 32x34 feet. This will be two stories high above the basement.

The basement is to be used for storing grain. Second floor for the machinery used in preparing the grain—such as chaffing and cleaning. This room will be ten feet between the floors. The third tier of rooms will be eight feet in height. This department will be used for elevators, bolters, here is where the last process of making wheat into flour is gone through with.

Then there is an annex extending around three sides—width 12 feet, basement 7 feet, 10 feet in height above the floor of the basement. All this annex is to be used for wheat bins.

Then there is an office annex, the whole length 56 ft., in width 44 feet. Floor space of the building about 6000 square feet.

A platform extending the entire length will be erected on the front facing Kevil street—here the grain will be unloaded, trucked and rolled right on to the second floor. Here the grain will be tested and weighed and emptied into the bins.

From the basement it will be frame-work all completed with galvanized siding and covered with rubber-oil roofing.

Personel:—M. A. Wing, the well known miller is on the ground helping and superintending the work. He will be in charge when completed. G. F. Jennings, Charlie Burgett and R. T. Gore, all citizens of Marion are doing the carpenter's work with perhaps others. Jack Baker and Dick Mays are right on the ground using shovel and spade. J. H. Travis will be engineer in charge.

The entire structure will cost $6,000 and will be a great milling enterprise—beautiful in structure artistic in workmanship and modern in all of its departments.

ADMINISTRATION FORCES WIN OUT

Governor James B. McCreary Chosen Temporary Chairman Over James.

JAMES ON DELEGATION

From The State at Large, to Baltimore Convention, Mayo Defeats Woodson.

Louisville, Ky., May 29.—The democratic state convention early this morning instructed the delegates to the national convention to vote for Champ Clark as long as his name is before the national convention.

The following delegates from the state-at-large were chosen: Gov. J. B. McCreary, Ollie James, J. C. W. Beckham, Judge Allie W. Young, John C. C. Mayo, Justice Goebel, Congressman Owsley Stanley and Ben Johnson.

The result was a victory and a defeat for Ollie James. He secured a solid delegation for Champ Clark, but was himself defeated for temporary chairman by Gov. McCreary. Urey Woodson, for eight years secretary of the national committee, went down to defeat with James, being defeated for national committeeman on the floor of the convention by John C. C. Mayo, by the vote of 698 to 492.

The administration forces made a clean sweep, electing Rufus Vansant chairman of the state convention; W. B. White members of the central committee from the state-at-large, and A. G. Rhea, member of the executive committee from the state-at-large. The convention was late getting started tonight. It was nearly midnight when the committees were ready to report. It was 1:30 o'clock when it adjourned.

The contest started from the sound of State Chairman Prewitt's gavel. After the nomination of Gov. McCreary for temporary chairman, Ollie James, amid cheers, mounted the platform, and in a stirring speech placed his own name before the convention. The result was not definite until nearly every county was polled when James arose and moved to make McCreary's election by acclamation.

The convention adjourned about four o'clock until eight, but it was four hours later before it got down to business, as the committees were not ready to report. When the resolutions were read a minority report was submitted in the shape of an amendment, resolving that the convention reelect Urey Woodson a member of the national committee. An amendment was offered substituting the name of John C. C. Mayo in the resolution, and then both Woodson's and Mayo's names were placed before the convention to be declared national committeeman. The state administration held its forces intact and Mayo was declared elected to the national committee.

After that there was no opposition and the program was carried through complete.

Vice President

Sherman in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., June 3.—Vice President Sherman is believed to have arrived in Chicago this morning. Whether his visit has anything to do with the reported collapse of the Lorimer defense was a matter of conjecture, as the vice president was reported to have left the train at Enfieldwood, some distance from the heart of the city, and to have given no hint of his destination. At the home of Senator Lorimer it was positively stated that Vice President Sherman was not there.

IMPROVEMENT IN CITY MILK

Restoration of Sale to Bottles in Chicago Has Been Means of Lowering Infant Mortality.

Restricting the sale of milk to bottles, in the city of Chicago, has been the means of improving the quality and lowering the infant mortality.

The new city ordinance which went into effect in Chicago the first of this year requires all cows to be tested or the milk pasteurized, and the result of this measure is expected to be most beneficial to the consumer. In cooperation with the weeding out of insanitary milk rooms in the city—a campaign inaugurated by the authorities—marked improvements are looked for in the quality of milk sold to the consumers.

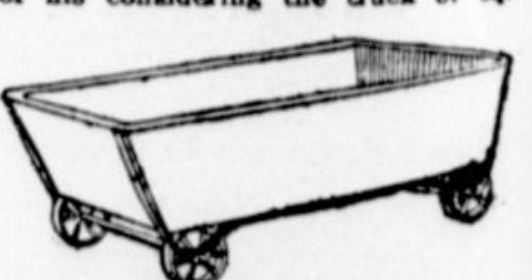

"Milk bottled in the country" is a slogan which has been extensively employed by dealers. It has increased the sale of milk delivered in this manner and earned for Chicago the distinction of having the supply bottled in the country instead of in the city as is the case generally.

The inspection of retail milk rooms in Washington, D. C., requires more time, and labor than in other cities of like size because the number of small dealers is large. Owing to the limited volume of business handled, many of these milk rooms are intermingled with domestic and business life, which, compared with other cities, might be considered a prominent fault. General conditions, however, show a steady improvement, and the efforts of the health department are meeting with success.

GRAND MASTERS MELISH
ELATED OVER CONCLAVE
ARRANGEMENTS.

Entertained Banquet in Denver and Congratulates Triennial Committee on Brilliant Plans
For Entertainment

OF VISITORS IN 1913.

Denver, Colo., May — Elated over the magnificent plans adopted by the Knights Templar of Denver and Colorado for the reception and entertainment of visiting fraters at the conclave in August, 1913, Grand Master William Melish congratulated the Triennial committee while in the city recently on his way to Los Angeles to attend the annual meeting of the Imperial Council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The subordinate committees in charge of detail work made reports to Chairman George W. Vallery of the Triennial committee, who in turn submitted the reports to Grand Master Melish. Details of these plans for the entertainment of the visitors will be given to the various commanderies throughout the county from time to time as they are perfected.

Grand Master Melish said that enthusiasm throughout the East was being manifested over the coming grand encampment, but that when he returned home and spread the news of Denver's preparation, he felt sure the desire on the part of fraters to visit Denver next year would augmented and that when the time comes to enroll the different state contingents the numbers would be large from every state in the Union.

A banquet was given in honor of the Grand Master at Masonic Temple in commemoration of his official visitation to Denver Commandery No. 25. R. E. Sir Frank P. Tanner, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Colorado, his staff and many prominent Sir Knights of Denver and Colorado were in attendance. In his address at the banquet Mr. Melish took occasion to compliment the Triennial committee for the thorough and brilliant in which it is arranging for the conclave. He spoke of the world famed hospitality of the people of Denver in general, and expressed the conviction that the encampment that will be held in Denver in 1913 will never be forgotten by every Sir Knight who visits the city on that occasion.

Praters of Denver are not making rash promises which they cannot fulfil. They have set before themselves the huge task of arranging the most brilliant encampment ever held in the history of Templarism. This is their purpose. And when the people of Denver set their minds to any purpose in connection with the entertainment of visitors in large or small numbers, they invariably accomplish that purpose.

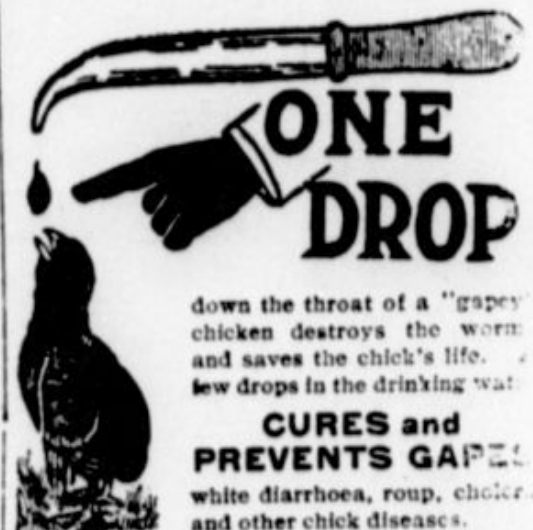

"Do not miss the grand encampment in Denver in August, 1913." That is the device sent out in broadcast from Denver to the Knights Templar of the world.

"The Road of Comfort"

Saturday morning, May 11th, at 11 o'clock, the death angel claimed Miss Linnie Lucas, aged 20, in the bloom of womanhood and she fell asleep to rest until the resurrection morn. The cause of her death was erysipelas.

Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock a large concourse of people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Ellis, her brother-in-law and sister, where she died, to attend the funeral services conducted by Rev. Lee and to follow her remains to the Moore cemetery, near Clarita, where she was buried. Prior to the services, young ladies and children placed flowers, tokens of love and devotion, upon and beneath her casket.

After the services the casket was opened and relatives and friends were allowed to take a last look upon the calm and peaceful features of the departed. She was loved by all who knew her and many are the friends who feel the loss of so noble a character. Her illness was of short duration, she having been at her post of duty on Wednesday.

On Sunday, the fifth, she visited the cemetery and viewed the last resting place of her father and mother. She did not realize that one week from that day she would again be in that sacred spot, not in the joy of life and health, but in the cold embrace of death. Her life though short was a noble life, a spotless character, a life of sunshine and smiles. She leaves six brothers and sisters to mourn her departure.

MILK STRAIN OF SHORTHORN

Found Excellent Breed Where Dairying Is Not Specialized and but Few Animals Kept.

Where dairying is not specialized but a few cows are kept to supply the household with milk and butter, and to give an abundance of good milk for family use, the milking strain of Shorthorns finds its place. This breed has, in Canada, been bred for beef so exclusively that the milking qualities have suffered; but there are great possibilities in this fine type of cattle, with their placid disposition and general good health. They are growing in favor with dairymen. The male calves can be reared for beef, and, if anything happens to the cows they can be easily made ready for the butcher.

The Shorthorn is of English origin, is above the average in size and weight, and gives a medium flow of standard quality milk. She may be white, red or roan, or a combination of any of these colors.

Don't let the butcher get good, desirable heifer calves.

A good supply of pumpkins will now be relished by the dairy cattle.

Cold fall rains will cut down the milk flow unless the cows are protected.

As a rule, cows should be bred so they will freshen once in twelve months.

Skim-milk is such a necessity on the farm that no dairy farmer can afford to be without a separator.

The milk vessel should be smooth on the inside. There should be no crevices and cracks that are difficult to clean.

Better dairy farmers as well as better dairy cows are necessary before dairying reaches the plane which it well deserves.

One way to set a good example for the young farmers in your neighborhood is to keep pure-bred dairy cattle and keep them right.

The best of feed will not make a good cow out of a poor one, but indifferent feed is sure to make a poor cow out of a good one.

It pays to begin stabling the cows when the nights first become chilly. They can shiver off a lot of milk and butter-fat in a short time.

There is no horse liniment more effective for animal flesh than BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT, nor is there any healing remedy for the human body only, that is milder or more efficacious in its action. It heals the sores or wounds of man and beast. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by James H. Orme.

OPEN SCENES AT CONVENTION

Democrats Called to Order at Noon by Chairman Henry R. Prewitt.

JAMES NOMINATES SELF

His Friends Insist He Make His Own Nominating Speech—Stanley Seconds It.

Louisville, Ky., May 29.—Long before noon the convention hall was comfortably filled, and scores of delegates were arriving on every street car.

The convention hall was decorated with flags and bunting and a brass band on hand to dispense patriotic and popular airs.

Shortly before the convention went into session it was decided that Ollie James should make his own nominating speech for temporary chairman.

The convention was called to order at 12:20 o'clock by Henry K. Prewitt, of Mt. Sterling, chairman of the democratic state central and executive committees. Secretary R. G. Phillips, of Elizabethtown, read the official call for the convention.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. Dr. E. L. Powell, of the First Christian church of Louisville. Following the prayer by Dr. Powell Chairman Prewitt made a short talk in which he assured the delegates he would be fair in all his rulings pending temporary organization. He said "rough riding" was not in his line, and that he would remain here a month before he would see wrong prevail. Chairman Prewitt ended his remarks by eulogizing Champ Clarif. Oscar Vest, of Carrollton, was appointed sergeant-at-arms. The roll call showed delegates present from each of the 120 counties of the state.

Chairman Prewitt then called for nomination for temporary chairman, and congressional districts were called for nominations. When the Seventh district was called Commissioner of Agriculture John W. Newman, of Woodford county, arose to place Gov. McCreary in nomination. He spoke of unfair attacks on Gov. McCreary and the administration; he reviewed the life and political career of Gov. McCreary, and said he had faithfully executed every public trust. The supporters of Gov. McCreary gave him an ovation after his name had been placed in nomination.

Senator-elect Ollie M. James appeared on the stage at this juncture, and he was wildly cheered. Senator-elect James nominated himself in a characteristic speech. Mr. James said he arose for the purpose of presenting the name of a democrat for temporary chairman. He said he loved the party more than personal success. He said he had been abused because he had stood with a drawn sword in front of the nation. He denied that he was fighting the administration, and said that he had fought to put it in power.

He also denied that this was a fight against the county unit. He said he wanted harmony in the party. He stated that as a species of lies and slander that had been hurled at him the Louisville Post had printed the story that the McCracken county delegation would vote against James, and let it be known that this lie printed in a paper by a politician had been strangled. He said he was fighting to prevent the democratic party from falling into the clutches of a lumber trust, a coal trust or a money trust. He concluded by placing his own name in nomination for temporary chairman.

The action of Senator-elect James in placing himself in nomination was unprecedented in the delegates went wild, and a great demonstration followed when he H. V. McChesney, of Frankfort, concluded his nominating speech, seconded the nomination of Gov. McCreary.

Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, was greeted with a noisy demonstration when he took the stage to second the nomination of Senator-elect James for temporary chairman. Congressman Stanley said it gave him pleasure and pride to speak a word for the democratic state administration. This was a direct thrust at McChesney, the burden of whose speech was that the fight against the Haly-Beckham combine was a fight to repudiate the administration of Gov. McCreary. Mr. Stanley paid a high tribute to Mr. James, who, he declared, was a matchless champion of the common people. He appealed to every democrat who wanted victory instead of defeat to vote for Ollie James.

The roll call on the vote for temporary chairman began at 2:05 o'clock. Adair county, the first called, divided its vote, giving James 3 and McCreary 4. The first trouble occurred when Ballard county was reached. The vote was cast for McCreary, and objection was raised. The delegation was polled and the vote resulted James 5, McCreary 6.

NO MORE PRIVATE CARS ON ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Continuation of Democratic Policy.

Chicago, June 4. — The Illinois
Central Railroad System, pursuing its policy of democracy, is changing its inscription "Private," which has heretofore appeared on the doors of cars used by officials of the Illinois Central in traveling over the road, to
"Office Car."

President Markham says that the word "Private" is a misnomer
so far as it indicates the purpose for which the cars on his line are employed. He says, "The cars on the Illinois Central used by the officials are not in the slightest sense the sanctuary the word
"Private" implies. They are office cars pure and simple, and used for the same purpose as the offices in the general headquarters at Chicago—to transact business with the public and with our employees. The cars in question are in reality offices set on wheels, where the business of the Company in its internal relations, as well as with the public, is conducted in practically as great a volume and with as much regularity as in the home offices of the respective officials who are assigned the cars. On this account the word "Office Car" will convey the true purpose for which the cars are constructed, and not set up in the mind of any one the impression that the cars are used exclusively for the private advantage of individuals occupying same.

"We thus hope to banish any feeling of timidity which may exist in the mind of an individual having business with our officials upon entering these cars."
In travelling, officers will carry stenographers and clerks, maps and records for general business purposes.

HAS MODERN DEATH.

Man Is Killed by Aeroplane
Which Strikes the Grandstand at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., May 30.—
While Aviator Clifford Turpin was flying down the field at the Meadows Thursday at fifty miles an hour an unidentified man ran across the track and would have been beheaded by the aeroplane had not the aviator turned upward and toward the grandstand.

The machine struck the tier of boxes in front of the stand. Several persons in one of the boxes were hurt, and the aeroplane, its power shut off and its momentum cut short, fell upon the heads of the people standing in front of the grand stand.

The injured were conveyed to a hospital. Raymond Chapman, ten years old, sustained a fractured skull and is in a serious condition.

The meet was declared off immediately after the accident.

The man who died from his injuries was identified at the morgue as George Quinby, twenty-five years old, a civil engineer of Galesburg, Ill. Identification was almost impossible, as his entire face had been cut off by the propeller of the aeroplane and it was not until a friend recognized a ring and the laundry mark on his clothing that his name was known. Quinby, who was also a wireless operator, had just returned from Alaska on the steamship Bertha, on which he served for one round trip.

Turpin, the aviator, was badly bruised, but escaped serious injury. The coroner's office instructed the police to hold Turpin pending an inquest.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

IMPROVES MEATS OF ALL SORTS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.
Is savory meat—no matter what sort—one of your gastronomic delights? Cook it in the paper bag, and it will be a greater delight than ever.
Suppose you want an approach to barbecued lamb—as near an approach as the gas range or the coal one permits. Get a rack, not too big, fat and tender, and have the ribs ends cut very short and all the angles of the backbone carefully removed. Wash it quickly, wipe dry with a damp cloth, rub all over with soft butter, pop in a paper bag, very well greased, and cook in a hot oven ten minutes, then in a moderate one fifty minutes longer. Take up and open the bag, but only a little way on top. Then pour carefully into it a sauce made thus: Boil soft in a little water half a dozen pods of cayenne pepper, mash in the liquor, remove strings, add half a cup of butter, half a cup of very strong vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of Worcester sauce and a saltspoon of ground black pepper. Cook together for five minutes, stirring constantly. Dip by small spoonfuls over the meat in the bag, putting on about half. Set the bag back in the oven after cutting away a square on top. Turn the heat on full and cook for five minutes longer. Take up the meat on a hot platter, pour the bag gravy over it, and serve what remains of the pepper mixture in a separate boat. The meat roasted thus without seasoning is tender and juicy and ready to take flavors from the gravy and the sauce.
Serve with it potatoes—both sorts—baked in their jackets, using very little water in the bags with them so they shall be mealy. Too much water makes white potatoes waxy or heavy, and gives to sweet potatoes a pale flavor not desirable. The secret of paper bag cooking, as of all other cooking, is learning the difference between enough and either too much or too little. Serve also with the meat either turnips cooked in a bag or carrots or spinach.
A beet salad goes well with the highly seasoned meat—much better than cold slaw, though that will serve at a pinch. Fresh cucumbers, sliced thin, and seasoned only with salt and vinegar, are best of all.
Boiled batter pudding goes finely with such savory meat and its vegetable complement. To make it, take for each person who is to eat of it a fresh egg, a level tablespoonful of flour and half a cup of milk. Beat the egg yolks very light, adding to them alternately the flour, with a little baking powder sifted through it, and the milk, taking care to mix very smooth. Beat the egg whites very stiff and melt a level spoonful of butter for each three eggs in the pudding. Beat in the melted butter—it must not be hot, only warm enough to run—then add raisins and citron, in the proportion of a cupful for every two eggs. The raisins must be seeded, the citron finely shredded, and both well floured. Beat them in well, but quickly, then add the whites of eggs. Fold rather than beat them in, and pour the pudding into either a well greased bag or a mold lined with well greased paper bag paper. Set either mold or bag inside another bigger bag, pour in enough water to come half way up the side, seal, and cook in a very hot oven seven minutes, then in a moderate one for three-quarters of an hour. Be careful to leave room in the bag; the pudding rises a lot if it is made right. Serve in the mold, cut it with a very hot knife or spoon, and serve with a rich sweet wine or lemon sauce. Before putting in water, be sure that the outer bag is water-tight all up and down the seam. You can, if you like, make a bag mold for the pudding, but the paper bag, tied tight at the mouth, is rather more trustworthy. The boiling bag must, of course, be set upright; hence it will be apt to require the whole oven space.

Saline de Cannelon: Take a cold roast duck and join it neatly. Place the carcass, giblets, bones, etc., in a clean enameled iron stewpan, add to them a couple of sage leaves or a little powdered sage, a pinch of powdered sweet herbs and half a pint of stock. Bring to the boil, skim carefully, then draw the pan to the side of the fire and simmer very slowly until the goodness is fairly extracted. Then strain through a hair sieve into a clean saucepan, place on the fire and reduce about one-third. Add salt and pepper to taste, the peel from half a dozen French olives and half a glass of port. Meanwhile, grease a bag thickly, place in it the joints of the duck and cook for ten minutes. Remove the bag from the oven and pour the gravy in. Close the bag, and make very hot for ten minutes. Then dish up on a hot salad dish and serve garnished with fried crotons and accompanied by clipped or straw potatoes. Any kind of game may be rechauffed after this recipe.

Good Advice

Make Your Manager's Style Your Own

By MAUD BENEDICT

FIRST of all the stenographer who would show that she can manage the correspondence shouldn't make it too evident that she can improve on the manager's diction or give him pointers in grammar and management.

Managers usually believe in the efficiency of their own methods, and whoever will step on the toes where their little vanities are concerned isn't likely to be boosted.

The stenographer who is inclined to say all she thinks—to air her private opinions regarding what her chief does or doesn't do—is always in danger of spoiling her chances. Silence is as great a virtue in an office as capable talk, and every one knows that the manager's little whims and predilections have as much to do with your promotion as your own honest efforts always to do the right things at the right time in the right place.

You must copy your manager in the beginning. You may sneer at the copy-cats and the self-satisfied imitators, but on the other hand strain your originality too much in the face of an old foggy manager and see what happens.

The new correspondent must be diplomatic. It ought to be easier for her to tickle the vanity of her chief than to outrage it, though personally she may despise people who are always rubbing you the right way for a purpose.

Make the manager's style your own. Acquire some of his phrases and peculiarities of expression, and you will be surprised to see how soon he will let you handle some of his letters independently. Knotty correspondence is always a bugbear to a harassed, hurried manager, and sometimes he is only too glad of the opportunity of giving over a portion to a reliable assistant. And if you tally with him in the beginning he is more likely to give you own methods a little leeway later on.

When you can once prove your knack at writing good, fetching business letters that do not clash with the head's own way of doing things, you are soon a factor in the office. By and by you can introduce those little original methods that would have rattled and rolled the boss before. At that point your chief is bound to consult your opinion in many things. Because of your steady contact with customers through the mail you may find out a thing or two about his business of which he is not aware. Instead of being only a servant you are also a co-operator.

When a letter involves a particularly knotty problem always consult your boss and recognize him as first authority in adjusting doubtful matters. But a good deal depends on your judgment in referring things to him that may rightly devolve on you. "Don't fuss and haggle about trifles. The more readily and firmly you can make up your mind about a thing the more correspondence you can cover in a day, and it stands to reason that the more work you can put out in a day the more substantial your claims to a raise."

Would Build School for Out-Door Training

By FRANK CRANE

If I had a billion dollars I would establish the University of Outdoors.

There would be no buildings to speak of; it is not for them I would need the money, but to hammer my idea into the heads of my countrymen.

Somewhere on one of the great lakes I would set up my school, consisting of twenty miles of water front, plenty of virgin forest, and many little lakes, hills, rocks, streams, meadows and sandbanks.

The health and training of the body would not be an elective hour or two a week in a stuffy gymnasium, after the manner of our extant hothouses, kiln drying educational infirmaries, but the first and unremitting effort would be to perfect the house of the mind.

Whether my children should fill their noggin's or not, their nerves, blood and sinew should be stuffed full of fresh air, they should be graduated as splendid, supple animals, as healthy and physically joyous as dogs or deer.

The school term should begin with the spring and end with autumn. Every minute, day and night, the pupils should be outdoors, using tents for sleeping in bad weather.

They should learn how to be cold and hot, wet and dry, without taking sick.

Girls as well as boys should learn to swim, to sail a boat, to ride and to run and to throw (for which their grandchildren would build me a monument).

Boys should also learn to dance, to sing, to sew and to cook. There would be no clothing question, certain uniforms being prescribed for all.

No human being, before the age of twenty-one, should waste one thought upon clothes.

Critique Some of Our Modern Sports

By PAUL SIMS

The followers of sport today demand a spectacle equal to the blood flowing scenes of Nero's time. The recent Elgin races would compare with a gladiatorial contest such as the barbarous Roman emperor was pleased to conduct for the Roman rabble. Instead of a reeking sword and a shield the gladiator of today drives a huge wheeled demon of destruction.

What is the reward of today? It is the same reward that gracious Nero was wont to bestow—honor and gold. The stamp of disapproval is placed upon prize fighting and numerous laws are passed for its elimination, but in its stead we commend a sport that is more fatal and more brutal.

How quickly will the public condemn two physical giants who endeavor to massage one another's countenance in the most approved prize-ring style! Meanwhile this same and civilized public will permit, nay, encourage, the slaughter that seems to be a necessary adjunct to automobile races.

Every one is familiar with the situation of ancient history times, when assassination was a profession, but the game of today seems to be a suicidal contest, with a mixed reward of notoriety and collars.

The eternal feminine crops out in the current story of the nervous woman to whom the throat specialist, while adjusting a laryngoscope preparatory to an examination, remarked:

"Doctor, before you begin, perhaps I ought to tell you that I really hadn't time to mend the holes in my stockings before I came here."

Man Who Stood Still Dies.

The death of D. W. Stockwell, of this city, in Hawarden, Can., marked the passing of one of the quaintest characters in Illinois. He was known as the "Man who stood still." As owner of one of the biggest stores outside of Chicago during the Civil War he prospered. After the war he failed to keep abreast of the times, and the same goods which he carried then are still on the shelves and show windows of the store.

Five years after the war Stockwell still was making a profit. In ten years more the place was a curiosity shop, and has continued so. The hoopskirt, barber-striped hose and jet jewelry continued a part of his stock. In later years he was the only one who entered the place except visitors to the city. He did no advertising. He had about $10,000 worth of goods and settled down to wait for customers who never came. He was at business at 7 o'clock each morning and remained until 6 o'clock in the evening. He was 76 years old.—Aurora, Ill., Telegram to the New York American.

Going At It Right.

(Glasgow Republican.)

Up to Saturday night $11,500 in cash and work had been subscribed to repair the Glasgow and Tomkinsville road from Fallen Timber Creek by Temple Hill and Freedom to the Monroe county line. Much work has already been done, as many as thirty wagons with numerous workers being on the road at a time. The work has been systematized and fully organized.

A Good Roads Meeting.

(Williamsburg Republican.)

County Judge J. C. Lovitt made a special call of the Whiteley County Fiscal Court to meet here on last Monday for the purpose of discussing roads. The court met pursuant to the call and the roads were discussed by the members of the court. The court then agreed to adjourn until June 5, at which time they will come to some conclusion as to what will or can be done for the betterment of the county roads. Every citizen of the county, who is interested in good roads, is hereby notified to meet with the court.

One Way to Repair.

(Owenton Democrat.)

Some time ago we with a number of other gentlemen made up three or four hundred dollars to use on the Sparta pike, our part being ten dollars. We also made a proposition to put out ten loads of rock free on the roads if every man of the county would put out ten free. We paid five dollars to Will Ford to put them out upon the New Liberty pike. Now we are usually pretty close and hard up for money, but we would again make that proposition to put out ten loads of rock free if each man in the county would do the same.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can be Done in Marion.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Marion residents would do well to profit by the following:

J. C. Tabor, Mexico, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for about six years. The pains in my back were severe at times and when stooping or lifting, sharp twinges passed through my loins. My back always ached more intensely at night and in the morning I felt very lame. I tired easily, was languid and nervous and had headaches. The kidney secretions also passed too frequently and caused me annoyance. I took the contents of one and a half boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they rid me of every symptom of my trouble. I am now in good health."

Bowling Green, Ky., May 23.—During the electrical storm late this afternoon lightning prematurely exploded a dynamite blast at the Bowling Green White Stone quarry, which may result fatally to W. D. Floyd, crusher foreman. Mr. Floyd had just finished preparing the blast when the lightning struck the connecting wires, causing a terrific explosion. He was on a high bluff and fell with the crushed rock some distance below. He was brought to his home in this city in an automobile. Physicians found that bones in his left hand were broken, as well as bones in his right leg below the knee. A deep gash was cut in his right side.

Somerset, Ky., May 28.—The large stock barn belonging to W. L. Cowan, a farmer of this county, was struck by lightning yesterday and destroyed by the flames which followed. Mr. Cowan succeeded in getting out all the stock, but lost some farming implements and several hundred bushels of feed. This is the second barn Mr. Cowan has had to burn in this manner within the last seven months. He had no insurance.

upon the present life of Marion as this story of achievement in character is told.

First, it clearly proves that the character of a community, its worth to a state need not be restricted by the number of inhabitants or its numerous interests.

Second. That the people who will exercise faith in an earnest leader and self control in educational affairs will finally develop remarkable life.

Third, That all the sacrifices, all the arduous toil, all of the resolute courage that a people may exercise and give to educational enterprises for the sake of their children, yield at last life's best dividends.

Pardon me but I did not intend to do more than to beg you to print this letter and to express my joy over such young life, having met me once as a teacher.

Let me say in conclusion that I rejoice at the new tax levy called for the purpose of making your children's schools better and over every feature of good thrift which Marion presents to me from time to time through the Press. It matters not just what may be my place in life, your people and your children will always be dear to me. The young manhood and womanhood of which Gray Rochester is one are not to be excelled in all the world. I believe this is not an exaggeration but if it be it is because I have found that every faith and hope I have found that every faith and hope I have reposed in them have been more than met. To them I send my happy greeting and out of the spirit of Gray's letter I bid them rejoice.

Your friend,
Charles Evans.

Mr. Rochester's Letter.

Lexington, Ky., May 20, '12—
Mr. Charles Evans,
Edmonds, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir:—
Knowing the enviable record that your students have made at State University I have tried to keep you informed this year as to the success of the last one of your old students to come to 'State.' To you we owe a great deal of our success and to you we are willing and glad to attribute it, for if it were not for the old "Congress" I am sure we would never have made the record we did.

I sent you the paper giving an account of my winning the Patterson Medal for Oratory. I sent yesterday the paper giving an account of our winning the Kentucky Championship in debating. Five times out of seven State has won the Intercollegiate debating championship and all five times we won you had a boy on the team, and the only two times we lost you were not represented. In 1907 were Moore and Towery, 1908 Moore, 1910 Babb, 1911 Gill and 1912 myself.

We have also carried back to Marion twelve medals won on the stage here in public contests. Towery 3, Moore 2, Crider 1, Threlkeld 1, Babb 1, Gill 1 and myself 2. No school in the state can equal us in the record made for oratory. Outside of this in 1909 Moore was valedictorian, 1911 Babb and 1912 myself.

It is useless for me to recount further the record made here by your students for you have probably kept up with them better than I have but we are proud of it and feel justified in boasting to a certain extent. I wish I had time to write to the Press and recount these records but I am too busy preparing for graduation.

With the very best wishes to you and the hope that I will see you this summer and regards to the family,
Respectfully,
(Signed) N. G. Rochester.
