NUMBER 52

TAFT IS NOMINATED ON THE FIRST BALLOT

PRESIDENT'S VICTORY WON BY JUST 21 MORE THAN MAJORITY.

Will Have as His Running Mate Vice-President Sherman.

William H. Taft.

James S. Sherman.

Chicago, Ill., June 23.—With nearly 350 Roosevelt delegates declining to vote and hastening away at adjournment to tender to Col. Roosevelt a nomination of a new party, the fifteenth republican national convention is at an end after a tumultuous session tonight after renominating William Howard Taft president and James Schoolcraft Sherman vice-president.

Taft received 561 out of 1,078 votes or 21 more than a majority.

The decision of the Roosevelt people in refraining from voting left no other candidate near the president.

The announcement of President Taft's victory was greeted by cheers from his adherents and groans and hisses from the opposition.

All other candidates for vice president dropped out, leaving a clear field for Vice President Sherman.

ROOSEVELT ISSUES STATEMENT CHARGING THEFT AND FRAUD

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—Col. Roosevelt at 12:30 o'clock issued this statement:

"A clear majority of the delegates honestly elected to this convention were chosen by the people to nominate me. Under the direction and with the encouragement of Mr. Taft, the majority of the national committee, by the so-called 'steam roller' methods, and with scandalous disregard of every principle of elementary honesty and decency, stole eighty or ninety delegates, putting on the temporary roll call a sufficient number of fraudulent delegates to defeat the legally expressed will of the people and to substitute a dishonest for an honest majority.

"The convention has now declined to purge the roll of the fraudulent delegates placed thereon by the defunct national committee; and the majority which thus indorsed fraud was made a majority only because it included the fraudulent delegates themselves, who all sat as judges on one another's cases.

HOLDS TO DELEGATES

"If these fraudulent votes had not thus been cast and counted, the convention would have been purged of their presence. This action makes the convention in no proper sense, any longer a republican convention representing the real republican party. Therefore, I hope the men elected as Roosevelt delegates will decline to vote on any matter before the convention. I do not release any delegate from his honorable obligation to vote for me if he votes at all; but under the actual conditions I hope that he will not vote at all.

"The convention as now composed has no claim to represent the voters of the republican party. It represents nothing but successful fraud in overriding the will of the rank and file of the party. Any man nominated by the convention as now constituted would be merely the beneficiary of this successful fraud; it would be deeply creditable to any man to accept the convention's nomination under these circumstances, and any man thus accepting it would have no claim to the support of any republican on party grounds and would have forfeited the right to ask the support of any honest man of any party on moral grounds.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

TERribly BITTEN BY VICIOUS DOG

Lady Near Marion Badly Wounded.
Thirteen Stitches Required to Close Gashes.

Mrs. W. C. Stephenson, who lives near Marion at the Wash Elder place, on the Old Salem road, was badly torn and bitten on her arm by a dog last Saturday. The dog was the property of R. M. Pogue who had lived in the house with Mrs. Stephenson all winter and who moved away last week taking the dog with him. Friday the dog returned but seemed uneasy and restless as his master and family were not there. Mrs. Stephenson's neighbor, Mrs. Will Grubbs, called on her and probably saved her life as she noticed the dog did not appreciate her visit, but was not expecting him to attack Mrs. Stephenson, when suddenly the infuriated canine grasped her arm in his teeth, terribly lacerating it before he was pulled away from her. Mrs. Grubbs alarmed the neighbors who came in and the dog was killed by some one who brought a gun with them thinking the dog was mad. Drs. Clement and Fox was called to attend the wounded woman. They took 13 stitches in 3 of the 5 gashes and closed the other 2 with bandages and sticking plaster. Mrs. Stephenson was resting easy and recovering rapidly from her hurts as we went to press.

Entertainment at the Club.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the Costume dance given by Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson in honor of her brother, Albert Shelby, of St. Louis, Thursday night, June 20, at the Crittenden Atheneum Club rooms. Delicious punch was served by the charming hostess during the evening. The guests and the costumes they wore, were:—Misses Ellis Gray, Pink lady; Marian Clement, Queen of hearts; Gladys Long, Merry widow; Eva Clement, Milk maid; Katharyne Yandell, Hiawatha; Madeline Jenkins, Twilight; Nelle Clifton, Flower girl; Pearl Kay, Queen of hearts; Kittie Gray, College girl; Nannie Rochester, Dutch girl; Isabel Howerton, Gypsy; Gwendolyn Haynes, Martha Washington; Anna Haynes, Chorus girl; Mrs. Jno. Wilson, American beauty rose.

Refreshments of Pimento sandwiches, chocolate and candy were served, which was much enjoyed by all. The guests departed at a late hour each, declaring Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Wilson, most charming host and hostess. The boys were Douglas Clement, Robt. Jenkins, Maurie Nunn, Robt. Cook, Jones Gill, Clyde Chambers, Emmett Rodgers, Mr. Edwards, Guy Conyer, Earl Clement, Douglas Carnahan and Albert Shelby. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carnahan, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. J. Seth Henry.

Circuit Court in Session.

The June term of the Crittenden Circuit Court convened Monday but on account of the illness of his wife, Judge J. F. Gordon was not present, the Governor appointing Judge McKenzie Moss of Bowling Green, who arrived Monday and opened court. Judge Moss who is a nephew of Quinine Jim McKenzie former Congressman from the 2nd District, was himself Congressman from the 3rd District is a well known man in affairs of the state and nation. He assumed the reins with ease and dignity and after his splendid charge to the grand jury proceeded to the business of the court as docketed without delay. Commonwealth Attorney Grayot was not present the first three days of court but it is presumed will arrive today. Judge Moss appointed Judge J. W. Blue as Commonwealth Atty. pro tem until Mr. Grayot arrives.

NEW PARTY LAUNCHED COL. ROOSEVELT LEADER

ONE-THIRD OF THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION FOLLOW HIM.

National Convention Planned For Some Time in August

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for president on an independent ticket tonight in the dying hours of the regular republican national convention, in which he met defeat.

His followers gathered in Orchestra Hall, within a mile of the coliseum and pledged to support the former president.

In accepting the nomination Roosevelt appealed to the people of all sections of the country, regardless of party affiliations to stand with the founders of the new party, one of the cardinal principles of which shall be

"Thou Shalt Not Steal"

This informal nomination is said to be for the purpose chiefly of effecting a temporary organization. Beginning tomorrow, when a call is to be issued for a state convention in Illinois and work of organization will be pushed rapidly, state by state.

Later, probably in August, a national convention is intended.

Roosevelt in accepting the nomination said he did so with the understanding that he would willingly step aside if the new party, when organized, should they desire some other standard bearer.

THE SIGN OF A GOOD WAGON

TENNESSEE

THE PROOF OF THE UNEQUALLED QUALITY OF THE
TENNESSEE WAGON
IS IN ITS WEIGHT

EVERYBODY KNOWS the better the quality of timber, the more it weighs. Some of the greater weight of the "TENNESSEE" wagon is in its ironing, but most of it is in the better quality of timber used in building it. Notwithstanding "TENNESSEE" wagons weigh more, size for size, than other wagons—

THEY ARE EASIER RUNNING than any other wagons as proven by the testimony of hundreds of thousands of users who are putting them to the test every day and who write the manufacturers of them such letters as the one below.

"TENNESSEE" WAGONS are not only made of better timber and better ironed, but they are more handsomely and durably painted than any other wagons.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF THEM in use every day rendering perfect service, proclaim their quality and value louder than any words can express.

COME IN AND SEE THEM on our floor and you will be convinced that the "TENNESSEE" is the only wagon for you to buy.

CALDWELL SPRINGS

We had a very hard rain Monday morning.

The corn crop is now planted and the tobacco crop has been replanted.

Guy Holland and wife, of Kuttawa, were on our side of Livingston creek Sunday.

Will Perryman and children, of Kuttawa, came over Sunday to see Elihu Millikan and family.

The bridge committee, composed of Judge John W. Blue, Esq. Hard and Esq. Yandell, of Crittenden county; Judge Gray, Esq. Gray and Mr. Baldwin, of Lyon county; met here Wednesday of last week and received the new bridge, which spans the Livingston creek at Free Betty ford. The committee pronounced it a fine piece of work, claiming that it is the best bridge in the two counties. As soon as the approaches are in, it will be ready for use. The Champion Bridge Co., in erecting this fine piece of work, has certainly merited the good will and patronage of Lyon and Crittenden counties. It stands as a monument to the memory of S. H. Simpson, who superintended the work for the company, and especially will it remind us of the untiring and faithful efforts of the worthy officials of both counties, who have given us this bridge as a free gift, but one that they thought was justly due the people.

There are scores of democrats here, who have no better sense than to vote for Judge Barkley, of Paducah, for Congressman from this District. Well, boys, I guess you're about right, for he is a good old fashion, self-made man, and if elected, he will stand by the people. He has been climbing ever since he washed dishes and swept the school room at Benton, to pay his tuition. Let's push him on, boys.

Hogwallow Happenings

DUNK BOTTS, Editor.

Columbus Allsop will take his base fiddle to Tickville Saturday evening to play for the thunderstorm scene in the show in the opera house.

Miss Hostetter Hocks has returned from a pleasant sojourn with relatives and friends near Rye Straw, and has been trying to remember where she left her gum sticking.

The clock peddler has decided to come through Hogwallow about every eight days, instead of going around through the Calf Ribs Country, he having put all the clocks in that section in good running order. He says so perfect is his knowledge of a clock that he can take one that is in perfect running condition and find something the matter with it.

A large sized crowd was out to hear the Dog Hill preacher last Sunday notwithstanding the good weather.

Washington Hocks had just left a tree Thursday Morning when it was struck by lightning. He says if a person will always take that precaution he will never get killed.

Raz Barlow expects to be present at the foot washing service at Hog Ford next Fourth of July. Last year he attended and came home with a fine pair of sox.

An ice cream festival will be given at Thunderation next Tuesday night, and Yam Sims is preparing to be among those present. Yam made quite a favorable impression upon the fair sex of that vicinity last season by the efficient manner in which he turned the ice cream freezer and played the fiddle.

The horse doctor at Bounding Billows reports health good in his section, with both man and beast. He says if he had his ruthers he had rather practice among animals than people, as the former do not have to have funerals.

Jefferson Potlocks beat Luke Methews in a horse trade a few days ago and as a salve for his conscience he will lead in the singing at the Dog Hill church next Sunday.

Little Fidity Flinders has been presented with a pair of new shoes by his grandfather who lives near Tickville. He will not wear them now, however, but will save them until he gets grown.

The Hogwallow postmaster did not observe Memorial day by closing the doors of the postoffice the weather being too warm.

Rat Not Part of Woman's Hair.

Chicago, June 25.—A woman's "rat" cannot be called a part of her hair, Municipal Judge Scully decided Wednesday.

The question arose when Joseph Totalsky was arraigned on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Eva Zolpence by pulling out some of her hair.

"It's all a mistake, Judge," said Totalsky. "It is true I twisted a coat hanger in her 'rat' but I did not pull out part of her hair. I should say not."

The prisoner exhibited the rat. "It's a 'rat,'" said the Judge, "Totalsky, your defence is well grounded. I'll put you under a peace bond for six months, however."

The Donkey Is a Wise Mule

San Antonio, Texas, June 25—"As little sense as a donkey" is a favorite expression of contempt, but sometimes the four-footed creature shows intelligence far greater than the two footed species. There is a donkey in Laredo, one of the union centers of Southwestern Texas, whose daily performance is entitled to special mention. The donkey is attached to a water cart, a two wheeled vehicle used by Mexicans to peddle water among their "peon" countrymen. It is driven across the railroad track about ten times each day and each time as it nears the track, stops and brays vociferously. No amount of persuasion can get it across the track until it has given notice to trains on the right of way, that it is coming.

Speaking of Dad.

We happened in a home the other night and over the door saw the legend worked in red letters, "What Is Home Without A Mother?" Across the room was another brief, "God Bless Our Home."

Now what's the matter with "God Bless Our Dad?" He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, wipes off the dew of the lawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping late after a round of picture shows, card parties, and visits to soda fountains and other harmless places of amusement the night before. He makes the weekly handout to the butcher, the grocer, the milkman and the baker, and his little pile is sadly worn before he has been home an hour.

If there is a noise in the night Dad is kicked in the back and made to go down stairs and kill the burglar. Mother darns the socks, but Dad bought them in the first place, and the needle and yarn afterwards. Mother does up the fruit; Dad bought it all and jars and sugar cost like the mischief.

Dad buys chicken for Sunday dinner and serves them himself, draws the neck from the ruins after every one else is served. "What is home without a mother?" Yes, that's all right, but what is home without a Father? Ten chances to one, a boarding house. Father's under the soil, and the landlady is a widow unless Dad left enough life insurance to make Ma's painted cheeks and silly talk attractive enough to offset her temper, that she may get some fellow to marry her.

Dad, here's to you—you have your faults—you may have lots of them—but you are all right, but we will miss you when you are gone.—Fulton Leader.

CARE IN HANDLING APPLES

Few People Appreciate Importance of Preventing Bruises While Picking or Packing.

(By S. VAN SMITH.)

Few people realize the importance of handling apples with care while picking, packing and marketing. Apples are bruised very easily, and especially those varieties having a tender flesh or skin. Bruises mean not only an unattractive appearance, but a real waste of fruit by having to cut out the bruised tissue. Probably the greatest damage from bruises, however, results from the fact that the bruises furnish an entrance for fungus or rot spores. These spores, or "fungus seeds," are as fine as dust and float in the air. If they happen to lodge on a bruised or broken spot on the apple, they take root and grow and spread through the apple, causing it to rot. Wrapping or covering the apple may not always protect it, as the spores may have lodged on the apple before it was picked. However, if the skin and flesh of the apple can be kept intact and not bruised or broken, there is not much danger of the fungus or rot finding its way into the apple.

To prevent bruising, apples should not be dropped or thrown into a bucket, box, or barrel, and in pouring from one vessel to another care should be taken that the apples are as close as possible to the bottom of the vessel in which you are placing them before the pouring begins.

Bell County Man Finds Enormous Bee Tree.

Pineville, Ky., June 24.—Geo.
Robbins made a remarkable find of a bee tree in Furnhoe hollow on Yellow Creek. He noticed the gathering of the bees around a tree that was split from top to bottom. On cutting the tree it was found to be filled with honey, 900 pounds being taken from the trunk.

"SEE AMERICA FIRST" SPIRIT

New Santa Fe Trail Along the Fort Lyon Irrigating Canal in the Arkansas Valley, Colorado.

The "See America First" spirit is taking a new grip on the western states, according to information received from that section. They say out there that "if you must see Europe, why, see it; but see America first."

In the Rocky mountain region just now the advocates of this patriotic principle are talking a great deal about the south and are urging people who live in the west to visit the southland and get in closer touch with its people. In Colorado, especially, is this true.

Colorado has had many southern people within her borders within the last year and a special effort is being put forward to induce more to visit that state in the summer months.
From Texas and Oklahoma last summer, it is said, a large number of people journeyed to Colorado in their automobiles. They entered the state by way of the great Arkansas valley, which is said to be one of the largest irrigated areas in the world, embracing more than 500,000 acres.
A new automobile highway has been built along what was known as the old Santa Fe trail, but now called the New Santa Fe trail, which has been designated as part of the trans-continental highway. For miles and miles this highway is said to be as smooth as a city street. The route leads to Pueblo, designated as the Pittsburg of the west, owing to the vast steel works in operation there; thence to Colorado Springs and on to Denver.

Colorado people are pushing the construction of automobile highways in the state and are looking to the southern states to do the same, so that during the winter automobile owners from that state can motor through the south.

Colorado has 33,000 miles of roads, of which 20,000 are passable by automobile and 4,500 miles are improved roads. Good hotels and garages can be found in every town in the state where the population exceeds 1,000, according to information sent out from the state highway commission.
From this same source it is learned that Colorado expended $1,750,000 on its roads in 1911, and will expend $2,400,000 in 1912.

Extraordinary Pond.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 14.— J. H. Thockmorton, of the Farmersville vicinity, Caldwell county has a freak pond on his place.
For the last four years this pond has steadily refused to retain water during the rainy season, but just as the dry weather sets in water rises in the basin and remains there without any sign of diminution until the rains begin again. Mr. Thockmorton has no explanation to offer for the phenomena; he is content to enjoy the benefits of the water when it is needed most without asking questions.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Raising Chickens By Electric Method

New York, June 25.—Dr. Rudolph C. Lienau, a Brooklyn dentist is having installed on a farm belonging to him at Green River L. I., the apparatus necessary to raise chickens by electricity.
Dr. Lienau expects that his chickens will equal ordinary chickens in weight in half the time, or in a similar period will exceed the common barnyard fowl in weight by 36 per cent.

The dentist says that his ideas are similar to those of Dr.
Thorne Baker of London, who finds that by practically continuous doses of high frequency of electricity he can shock his chickens into rapid growth.

The men whom we have seen succeed best in life, have always been cheerful and hopeful men, who went about their business with a smile on their faces and took the changes of this life brave men and not like cowards.

Three linemen were electrocuted on a pole on which they were working in Elizabeth, N. J. William Woodridge grabbed a short circuit wire. Al Burbank and Frank Johnson went to his aid. When they grabbed his body they, too, were electrocuted, and all three were held rigidly on a cross arm of the pole. Firemen with a hook and ladder took the bodies down. Any climber who is careless with live wires is liable to meet just such a fate.

A. R. HUGHES.

RETROSPECTIVE.

We presume that until 1878, Marion, nor the county of Crittenden had a news paper. If so no legend of it has come to us. No "oldest inhabitant" has told it in song or story—no minstrel touches his harp to words that thrill to its sacred memory. The weeks of those receding years were brightened by no published record of interesting events—how drear the thought! Eternity alone keeps urn and tablet of those years.

In 1878 Profs. J. J. Nall and A. H. Adams as principals of the Marion school bought a press and type at first intended for publishing a paper as a school enterprise.

Two copies of "The Student" were published and the paper became "The Marion Reporter," and was published as a county paper. Shortly afterward R. C. Walker and C. F. Champion, classmates and chums, bought the press and published the paper changing the name to "Crittenden Press." In a short time Mr. Champion selected another avocation in a distant state and R. C. Walker assumed the ownership and editorship of the Press until 1903 when he sold the plant to S. M. Jenkins and went to Colorado for a climate adapted to his constitution. Only once in all these years has the good old paper changed hands. This issue is No. 52, Vol. XXXIV. Next week's paper will be the 35th anniversary number of the CRITTENDEN RECORD PRESS for in 1906 Mr. Jenkins bought out The Crittenden Record and added the word Record to the head of the county paper.

Every week for 34 years this county paper has been sent out with clock-work regularity to its subscribers. Numbers of men who gave their first subscription to the Press in the prime of life, enter the office leaning on a staff and relate that they have never failed in all these years to give their subscription to the Press. Think back, will you, of the changes that have transpired during these 34 years. There is not a business organization extant in Marion, and we suppose, not in the county, that was organized when the Crittenden Press was founded. Marion's excellent school system is commensurate with the beginning of the paper; for the promoters of one were in a large measure the promoters of the other.

In that day the county had no banks. The dry goods store of J. N. Woods stood where now stands the Farmers Bank and J. H. Hillyard's drug store occupied the site of Marion Bank.

Lawyers, such as L. H. James and Judge Nunn were young in their profession. John W. Blue, sr. was engaged in a lucrative practice. S. Hodge sr. was also a member of the bar, and Mrs. Hodge at their typical southern home, long ago in ashes, encouraged school and church affairs entertained and kept a fine boarding house, surrounded by ample ground on which now are half a score of homes. Judge Ben P. Cissell and John W. Lockett, both of Henderson, were circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney and Hon. Dan H. Hughes of Morganfield, was a familiar figure in our courts. J. G. Rochester was reading law and walked in through fields and woods from the old Rochester home then a mile from Marion. W. J. L. Hughes was circuit clerk and J. W. Bigham was county clerk.

Dr. J. W. Crawford, father of Dr. Frank Crawford of Wheatcroft and Dr. Henry Crawford, our dentist had just traded his property—the old Padon home and farm that afterward became the Hampton hotel and the site for the town of Hampton—to Jas. H. Cameron for the home now owned by R. H. Woods. T. J. Cameron was post master and merchant in a large and popular way on South Main St. A. Wolfe was a merchant, W. Wager was a druggist; and E. L. Carrington his partner, RB Dorr, a brother of R. F. Dorr, was in the furniture and undertaking business and R. F. Dorr was an apprentice under his brother. Miss Belle Stewart was the one milliner of the town and she was just beginning at the old Stewart, (now Wheeler) property. Messrs Wm. Carnahan and Perry Maxwell were the moneyed men of Marion, and were amassing the fortunes their heirs now enjoy.

R. C. Walker, H. A. Haynes, R. I. Nunn and C. F. Champion, were some of the speakers of the school debating society that doubtless inspired the younger boys. Clem Nunn and Ollie (whitie) James were little boys amusing themselves about town and John Nunn and Jas. Henry were getting large enough to hunt rabbits in an indefatigable style. J. P. Pierce was sheriff living in Caldwell Springs community and Mr. Fulton Haynes had not moved to Florida. Wm. Duke Haynes, who loved music and harmony in all things and yet resides in "East Marion" in his "blue grass" home and who with Mrs. Haynes has grown younger with the passing years was in demand to assist school concerts. All this was before Senator P. S. Maxwell and Calvin Elder were named.

The paper was here before the railroad. It was here, lively in the interest of Good Templars Conventions, that with basket dinners were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. L. A. Glasscock who was music teacher for many years was active socially.

The Presbyterian church stood in the old cemetery. The Presbyterian church on Bellville St. now the oldest church in town, was not then under contemplation. There were only the Old School Presbyterian and the Methodist church buildings in town. The Wilsons, Frank and Wm. lived opposite each other across Wilson avenue where their descendants yet live. The Presbyterian Church U. S. A. stands on the ground that was once Mrs. Frank Wilson's beautifully sloping lawn. Uncle John Hawkins was busy caring for his invalid wife and collecting the Methodist preacher's salary. Twice have the Methodist rebuilt since. R. N. Walker conducted prayer meeting and Sunday School at the Methodist church and D. N. Stinson was faithful in the same capacity at the Presbyterian church. The pastors of the town and county were Revs. B. A. Cundiff, J. S. Henry, J. B. Garrett, and H. H. Allen. Rev. Jas. F. Price was a young school teacher of the county. Prof. Wicox had a fine school at Posto

Firms have come into existence and their proprietors have failed or retired or moved or died and these columns have told the beginning and the end. Pastors have filled the stands of the several churches for pastorate after pastorate and have gone to work in other fields or passed into their long reward. The Press noted their efficiency, their spiritual gatherings and other church work that is now history. Business men are here with silver in their hair who had not then selected a business career. Most of those who had attained middle age and were in business in 1878 have been borne to their last resting place and the Press has noted their solemn "passing." Many and many an one who fills an important place in the affairs of life has had his birth, school attendance, marriage and business noted by this faithful paper, for the Press antedates a large percentage of our citizens. A few snowy heads of those days remain as benedictions. After the fire the Press arose Phoenix-like to tell of the newer and better Marion. Unchanged by changes, the Press remains. Time adds "no wrinkles to its brow," but in the fullness of its vigor and inspired with its mission to carry kindly tidings its promise is to go on without interruption until other lives swell the tide of humanity that sweep around us and until many who now look for its weekly coming shall have read their names on imperishable tablets.

FOND MEMORIES OF WAR TIMES

Being an Annual Visitor From The Buckeye State.

Geo. Reynolds, of Celina, O., who paid his annual visit to the family of Mrs. Laura Howerton last week, left Monday for his home in the Buckeye State. Mr. Reynolds has never forgotten the kindness shown him by the family of the late John Flannery when he as a soldier stopped at their house during the war and was given shelter and food. Mrs. Howerton was then quite a young girl but old enough to assist her mother about the cooking, and he says she had her hands in the biscuit dough when he arrived there, and the sight of a pretty girl, thus engaged, so impressed him that he has never forgotten it.

This announcement will bring a throng of her friends out to hear her.

The Marion school orchestra will furnish sweetest music. There will be no charge but a free will offering will be taken. The public is cordially invited.

MRS. VENNER LOSES FATHER

Died in Omaha, Neb.,—Buried at Old Home, Corydon, Indiana.

Mrs. W. L. Venner, who was called to Omaha, Nebraska, two weeks ago by the illness of her father, Mr. J. S. Pfeiffer, returned home Monday. Her father passed away last Wednesday and his remains were taken to his old home Corydon, Ind. for interment. He was a Mason in high standing and a member of the Christian Church and his remains were handled at Omaha and also at Corydon by members of these organizations. Mr. Venner, who joined the funeral party at Omaha last Thursday and proceeded with them to Corydon to attend the burial returned home also Monday and resumed his duties at the I. C. station. Mrs. Venner has the sympathy with her in the loss of her father of her many friends here—she is now doubly bereaved, having recently lost her mother.

All life is a "whiz"—and every third whiz on the road is a Ford. It's the car of the millions and the millionaire—lightest, rightest, most economical. Many thousands of the seventy-five thousand we're building this year are being sold to the owners of more expensive cars.

And this is this stamp of approval of a responsible maker—proud of his good handiwork. The "Winged-Pyramid" is backed by the biggest reliability in all automobiledom—something better than a guarantee—a worthy reputation—and a car that will go seventy-five thousand strong this year.

HONOR GIVEN WHERE DUE.

Prof. Chas. Evans Made Present School of Ardmore Possible.

(From the Ardmoreite, Ardmore)

The State Board of Education paid a compliment to a most worthy man on the 21st of this month when the members without a dissenting vote adopted, "Growing a Life" for the Teachers' Reading Circle in Oklahoma. This work is from the instructive pen of Prof. Chas. Evans, one of the best known educators of the State, and the best educator who has ever worked for the welfare of the youth of this, or any State.

Prof. Evans needs no words of eulogy from anyone. He is recognized by the people all over this great educational State for his true worth and merit. Ardmore knows him for what he is—Oklahoma knows him for what he is. He has been tried and found true to the test. And the adoption by the Education board of his work, for the use and instruction of the teachers of the State speaks in the most conclusive manner of the appreciation of the people which he so richly deserves.

Coming to Ardmore seven years ago, Charles Evans has made possible the high standard which the schools of this city today enjoy. He it was who took hold of things and pushed them along in this city, until today Ardmore stands pre-eminently at the head of a long list of cities of good schools in this State of good schools.

We can say without fear of successful contradiction, that had it not been for Prof. Evans, the magnificent High School building, now under course of construction, would be as far from a realized certainty today, as it was when he first came to this town seven years ago.

Seven years ago, the 16th day of next August, Prof. Evans began to do things as soon as he got off the train here—and he has been doing things ever since. Furthermore, unless we are very sadly mistaken he will keep on doing things as long as there is anything additional to be done for the furtherance, or the betterment of educational advancement in this entire State.

Here is a brief sketch of the merited preferment that has been accorded Prof. Evans since he first came to Oklahoma in 1905 at a salary of $1,200 per year; salary raised to $1,800 in 1906; elected director of the Chickasaw Teachers' Institute in 1906; made executive committee-man for the Indian Territory in 1906, brought about after a most bitter struggle, the amalgamation of the teachers' association of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma in 1907; elected president of the Chickasaw Teachers' Association in 1907; made president of the State Teachers' Association, dean of the A and M College, and chosen a vice president of the National Educational Association in 1908, during which year his work on civil government was adopted in the schools. In 1909 he was re-elected dean of the A and M College and also elected annual orator of Oklahoma university. In 1910 he was elected to the list of "Who's who 'A America'" and his salary raised to $2,500 per year. In 1911, he was elected president of the Central State Normal at Edmond, and took the Master of Arts degree. Thus far, this year, he has finished a work on pedagogy, "Growing a Life" and the same has been adopted for the Reading Circle of Oklahoma teachers.

All of which goes to show that the man is most worthy and well qualified, and that the good people of the State recognize true merit and "render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's."

Much has been said of the extremely fortunate things that have contributed to make Oklahoma a great state—one of the greatest new states ever born; much has been said of the advanced system of education to be found here, but too much can never be said of the great men who have made the state and the educational greatness possible. And when the roster of the great educators of this state is made up, we venture the prediction that Chas. Evans' name like Abou Ben Adhem's in days of yore, will lead all the rest.

MARION PARTY

Stopped Over Night in Cadiz.

An automobile party, composed of W. B. Yandell and wife and Mrs. J. H. Orme and children, of Marion, and James Estes, of Paducah, reached Cadiz Sunday night about nine o'clock and remained here until Monday morning. Mrs. Yandell, as Miss Florence Pierce, attended school in Cadiz thirty years ago, and enjoyed meeting a number of old friends while here. Mrs. T. F. McBride and Miss Annette Jefferson being among the number. Mr. Yandell is one of the most prominent merchants and financiers of Marion, and for several months was Collector of Internal Revenue at Owensboro under President McKinley.—Cadiz Record.

Replacing Horses.

The replacement of horse cabs by motor cabs in European cities is now so complete that in Berlin, Germany, the horse cabs are to be forbidden the use of the streets. The Berlin Chief of Police has issued an order stating that as horse cabs are so nearly obsolete they can no longer be allowed to circulate in the city streets after March 31. To compensate the drivers of these cabs for their employment, each is to receive compensation to the amount of 600 marks and been encouraged to learn to drive motor cabs. In London the deterioration of horse-cab service under competition of motor cabs is such that a committee is being formed for the relief of indigent cab drivers and the prevention of the use of unfit horses.—Team Owners Review.

COMMITTEE.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

SPECIAL FAMILY DINNER.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. The following menu is suitable for a paper bag cooked dinner, to be served during winter months, when the occasion is more than ordinary, say on a national holiday, or some special family or community event: Blue Fish or Sea Trout, Planked Sliced Potatoes Buttered Beets Cold Slaw Baron of Beef, Roasted Baked Squash Celery Salsify Stewed Cold Baked Apples with Rum and Sugar Romaine Salad with Cheese Balls. Sharp French Dressing Biscuit Plum Pudding, Brandy Sauce Nut Candy Stuffed Dates Homemade Citron

The fish will require a plank, oak, of course, and proportioned to the size of the biggest paper bag. Get it as thin as possible—half an inch, say. Scour it well, then grease with oil or butter, heat gently and wipe off all surplus grease while still warm. This before undertaking to use it. It must be heated very hot underneath the gas flame before the fish goes on it. Sprinkle rock salt thickly over it to prevent charring, dash it off and grease very thickly, then lay upon it your fish, opened flat, seasoned, and well-greased all over the skin side. Season it on top with salt, black and red pepper, a few toasted bread crumbs or a little grated cheese, thin slices of onion and raw peeled tomatoes. Lacking fresh tomatoes, put on a little tomato catsup. Squeeze lemon juice over all and dot plentifully with butter. Flatten well on the plank, then slip plank and fish inside a thickly-buttered bag and cook in a hot oven fifteen to twenty minutes, according to the thickness of the fish.

The beef baron—the double sirloin—needs only to be roasted in a bag after greasing it very well all over. Do not salt it. Roast according to weight—fifteen minutes to the pound for rare meat, twenty for well done. Make sliced potatoes as previously directed, also cold slaw. Beets should be boiled quickly, putting them on in cold water, peeled as soon as done, and buttered while still very hot. Season with salt and pepper, also a dash of either vinegar or lemon juice. Baked squash has been exploited, stewed salsify likewise.

Serve the cold baked apples as a sort of sorbet—a course to themselves. Peel and bake the apples in a buttered bag, with a teaspoonful of sugar to each apple. Put in the serving dish, and while still very hot pour over a desertspoonful of rum to the apple. Let cool and serve with wafer-biscuit toasted very crisp. For the salad, break crisp romaine in two-inch bits, make a very sharp French dressing; putting in a little lemon juice with the vinegar, adding salt, celery salt, onion juice, Worcester sauce, black and red pepper, and a mere suspicion of mustard. Sour claret make take the place of vinegar and lemon juice—you must aim at a very piquant flavor to give a tang to the mild cheese balls and biscuit. Shape the balls with butter moulds from cream cheese softened with either a little oil or sweet cream. Roll them in finely ground nuts and stick a tiny sprig of parsley in each. Make very small biscuit to go with them, and bake so they may come to table very, very hot. Plum pudding should be in hand; heat it well either over hot water or inside a bag. For the nut candy, use either black walnuts, scaly barks or pecans—I give them in the order of preference. A mixture of all three is not so bad, but the crisp richness of fresh black walnut goodies appeals most to my taste. Crack the nuts and pick out the kernels in as big pieces as possible. Be careful not to let bits of shell fall among the meats. Measure them after picking out, for each heaping cup of nuts take a level cup of soft sugar and half a cup of water. Cook sugar and water together till it ropes from the spoon. Have the nuts in round, rather shallow vessel, well greased. Pour the hot syrup upon them and stir about until the candy hardens around the kernels. Make your own stuffed dates. Pick out the largest, firmest fruit, wash quickly in cold water, drain, and take out the seed. Stick into the cut side either a nut, a bit of crystallized ginger, a little candied peel, or a bit of citron. Roll in confectioner's sugar and lay in a very lightly-greased bag, left open at the end, in a cool oven to harden. Drain strips of citron from their syrup, roll in sugar and dry off the same way.

The country-bred may like to have either squash or pumpkin served as a vegetable. Peel, cut up, bake soft and mash, then season well with salt, a little pepper and a tiny bit of onion juice. Make in a cake and lay in a paper bag mould or a well-buttered bag. Lay thin strips of bacon over the cake, seal an cook in a hot oven ten to twelve minutes. Turn out in a hot dish and serve with the beef. Pumpkin in particular, mashed and cooked in the gravy of roast fresh pork, is tempting and toothsome, to say nothing of being somewhat out of the common. As an accompaniment to roast suckling pig, it has no superior, unless it may be yellow yams. (Copyright, 1911, by the Associated Literary Press.)

WELL DESERVED

The Praise That Comes from Thankful Marion People.

One kidney remedy has known merit. Marion people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Marion testimony proves it reliable. W. I. Tabor, Marion, Ky., says: "I suffered for ten years from kidney trouble. There were severe pains in the small of my back, I was unable to sleep well and arose in the morning, feeling lame and sore. I was always tired, languid and nervous headaches were common and I also suffered from dizzy spells. My kidneys were disordered and the kidney secretions passed too frequent. It was finally my good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. I used them and in three weeks was greatly relieved. Thus encouraged, I continued taking this remedy and the contents of one box effected a complete cure. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney complaint."

COOLER FOR SURE.

Jag cooled in Seven Minutes—New Way of Getting Over a Drunk.

San Antonio, Texas, June 24.—Disappearing a "jag" in seven minutes is the record that has been established by the pre-cooling plant recently established at San Benito, in the lower Rio Grande valley. This plant is one of five in the United States and the only one in the South. It was opened only a short time ago. One day while a car was being cooled preparatory to loading it fruits and vegetables the men having charge of the work found a man lying in the gutter, having indulged unwisely in the juice that steals away the senses. Thinking to play joke on him they placed him they placed him in the cars. He had been lying in the sun with a temperature playing about him in the neighborhood of 100 degrees and the sudden change to a temperature only a few degrees above the freezing point was somewhat of a shock. In one minute he was tossing about, in two minutes he was sitting up and at the end of seven minutes he was beating on the car door clamoring to get out. He told the jokers he had heard of the efficacy of a "cooler," but had never tried it before.

WILLIAMS PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

Had No Attorney and Made No Statement—Wife Not Present in Court.

Evansville, June 25.—Robert H. Williams, the "J. Rufus Wallingford" who was caught at Morganfield, Ky., Saturday by Private Detective Hougland, pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery in circuit court yesterday and was sentenced by Judge Blakey to the State prison from two to fourteen years.

Williams' wife was not in the court room yesterday when the sentence was imposed. It is understood that she left last night without telling her husband goodbye. Williams did not inquire about his wife after being returned to the county jail.

The affidavit against Williams charged him with forging a telegram in the name of the Mercantile Trust and Saving Bank and W. Ed Clark Cashier. The telegram intercepted here before it was sent, instructed a bank at Morganfield to pay Williams a draft for $350. No charge could be lodged against the man on his giving an $80 check to the St. George hotel in this city for a board bill. Williams made out the check in his own name.

Williams was represented by no attorney and when asked by Judge Blakey whether he had anything to say in regard to the charge, he said he did not.

Profanity.

Profanity is far too common in these days. One is often surprised at the familiarity with which even children use words which dishonor the name of God. They do this through thoughtlessness or because others have done so in their hearing. Many wrongs in life must be set down to the account of imitation. We ought to imitate the good and not the bad; the right, not the wrong. Every profane expression weakens language. It does not make it stronger. Whoever swears, whether in anger or folly, breaks the third of the Ten Commandments, which distinctly says, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."—Pembroke Journal.

TREE PLANTING

By Kentucky Counties at The State Capital To Be On Scientific Lines.

Lexington, Ky., June 24.—Prof. H. Gorman, of State University, who is State botanist, has been chosen to prepare a complete list of the native trees of Kentucky and to select from this list a tree indigenous to that particular locality for each of the 120 counties of the State, to be planted on the State Capitol grounds at Frankfort where it is proposed to form a great arboretum typical of the forestry wealth of the State.

The original idea was to have each county donate a tree, but it was soon found that many trees of the same variety would be sent exclusive of others and the Fayette County Committee, composed of H. F. Hillemeier, the noted nurseryman; Prof. H. Gorman, State botanist, and Joseph W. Porter, secretary of the Lexington Park Commission, is entitled to the credit for submitting the systematic and State-wide plan to the tree planting commission which has received the approval of the Governor. It is now planned to have every county in the State represented at the tree planting on the Capitol grounds provided for by the Garnett resolution, and a suitable day, probably Arbor day, will be selected and appropriate exercises mark the unique event.

So Careless of Him.

(New York Tribune.)

The late Gen. F. D. Grant used often to tell on Memorial day a funny story about Bull Run.

"A soldier," he would begin, "had a scar on his face."

"Where did you get that scar?" they asked him.

"At Bull Run," he replied.

"What?" they cried incredulously. "What, shot in the face at Bull Run? How could that be?"

"Well," explained the soldier, "it was like this." After I had run four or five miles I got kind of careless and looked back!"

Fort—Moore.

Tuesday morning at the residence of Joel A. Pickens where the bride has been boarding since her parents moved to the country, Miss Margaret Moore and Mr. George I. Fort of Louisville, were united in marriage by the Rev. M. E. Miller. The wedding was quite a surprise to many—only the close friends and relatives knowing of the approaching nuptials. The groom reached here on the 8 o'clock train and later R. Henry Moore, and wife of Salem drove into the city but no suspicions were aroused by the arrivals until the closed carriage containing the groom and pastor was seen wending toward the residence of Mr. Pickens where the ceremony was said in the presence of a few friends. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple took the train to Dawson and after a short stay there they will go to Cadiz, the groom's former home to visit relatives of his for a few days after which they will go to Louisville to reside. The Groom has visited here frequently and is highly spoken of, is well connected and has a remunerative position in his adopted city. The bride who has held a responsible position here in Carnahan Bros. & Dodge's big store is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis B. Moore and is a popular young lady entirely worthy of the splendid husband she has won. Accompanying them are the best wishes of a host of friends. Those present at the marriage were Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Nunn, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Carnahan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. C. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Moore of Salem, Mrs. Josie Paris and Homer Paris. Miss Lucile Pope played the wedding march. It is said the groom has a furnished home in readiness for his bride and every thing possible planned for her happiness on their arrival in Louisville.

He will go to Louisville again in three weeks.

Wm. J. Bryan Robbed at Door of Press Gallery at Convention.

Chicago, Ill., June 21.—Wm. Jennings Bryan's ticket to the Republican National Convention as a reporter for a series of newspapers was snatched out of his hand today at the door of the Coliseum by a woman who gave her name to the police as Katherine Doll. At the police station she was found to have $1,000 sewed in pockets in her undershirt. Bryan's ticket was restored and the woman will be examined for her sanity. After taking the ticket she tried to enter the hall.

Prominent Couple Marry Sunday.

Beverly T. Towery, formerly a student of the High School in this city, and Miss Myrtle Todd, a popular and highly educated young woman, who is well known here and who taught here last session in the 7th grade, were married at the home of the bride's parents in the county Sunday and drove to Blackford to catch the 4 o'clock train for Cincinnati where the groom has been making his home for some time. The groom is well and favorably known in this and Webster counties and is a young man of great promise. He has secured a splendid education, being a graduate of State University and the Harvard law school and is well equipped for the battle of life. The bride, who is a daughter of Esquire Wm. Elihu Todd, is a very charming woman and has many friends in this city where she spent the winter and was a teacher in the Graded school.

We learn that Mr. and Mrs. Towery will leave Cincinnati on the first of July for Chicago, where he has accepted a splendid position and a handsome increase in salary. Both are favorites here and the Crittenden Record-Press extends warmest congratulations.

WOOL CARDING

Bring in your wool as early as possible, will not card longer than 30 days. TRAVIS & FOSTER, Old Marion Woolen Mills.

THE COUNTRY IS DEMOCRATIC.

This country is more Democratic now than ever before. Even the Republican party is trying to be democrats.

Many of the Republican congressmen have been voting for Democratic measures. They have done this in response to the demand of their constituents. They have been forced to follow the trend of the times in accepting those things which the Democratic party has long been fighting for. They have demonstrated by their votes that they and their party are getting to be Democratic.

Just at this time, when the whole country is getting to be Democratic, it would be the height of absurdity and the essence of folly for the Democrats to retrace their steps from their rightful position as progressives and take up the reactionary policies about to be abandoned by the Republicans. It would be suicidal for the Democrats to now become Republicans, as it would be salvation of the Republicans to become Democrats.

There are some Democrats who want these interchanges of position to take place, but the number is small, constituting a helpless minority, that will not be able to direct the nomination or to write the platform at Baltimore. This being true, the Democratic party will remain Democratic and meet its obligations to the American people.

A cowardly surrender in the face of a public duty to boldly and fearlessly meet the public issues would be fatal.

The Democratic party must continue to be progressive.

To become reactionary in the moment of its prospective triumph would mean disaster to the party and the things for which it has so long existed.

Let the Republican party be what it may in this hour of its extreme peril, the Democratic party must remain Democratic. —Nashville Tennessean.

These proved useless and the chief justice turned to his wife with, "May I try your glasses, my dear?" The second experiment proved successful, and as the jurist settled himself comfortably to scan the program he remarked gallantly: "Fine—fine, my dear! I felt sure your glasses would suit. Everybody knows I always see through your eyes."

President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois has set in motion a proposition for a revision of the American congressional voting system which is even more revolutionary to political circles of this country than the popular election of federal senators. It is following the English practice of letting parliamentary aspirants stand for election in districts in which they do not reside. This argues Professor James, would not make the tenure of valuable public servants in congress dependent upon the whims and factionalism of districts in which they live.

There is no constitutional requirement at present, it is asserted, which requires that a member of congress must reside in the district from which he is chosen, and many important instances have been cited where an outsider has defeated a district resident. The Illinois education plan came to the front recently when he wrote Congressman Tawney of Minnesota, concluding with him over his defeat in the primaries. There is some talk in Washington of pushing the James idea.

Chicago.—William Howard Taft again heads the Republican ticket for president.

James Schoolcraft Sherman is again the party's nominee for vice-president.

Mr. Taft was nominated on the first ballot at 9:30 Saturday night, receiving 561 votes, or 21 more than a majority of the votes in the convention.

Mr. Sherman was the only man placed in nomination for second place, and he received 597 votes. The rest were scattering or not cast.

Flattened out completely by what his advocates denominated the steam roller, Col. Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy was abandoned by that gentleman himself, and a few hours before the balloting on nominations began he sent to the convention hall a request that his delegates should refrain from voting on any other questions whatever. This request was obeyed by 344 delegates, who responded "present but not voting."
Of the others, 107 cast their votes for Roosevelt because they felt bound to follow the instructions of their constituents.

The vote of the convention on president is shown in the subjoined table:

Roosevelt Men Quit the Fight.
The story of the last day of the convention is one of much disorder, quarrels on the floor, sporadic bursts of enthusiasm, and, during part of the long session, swift work by the well-oiled Taft machine. Making their last futile fight on the seating of the contested Taft delegates from Washington and Texas, the Roosevelt delegates voted against the platform submitted by the committee on resolutions and then devoted themselves to rather riotous behavior, laughter at the Taft speakers and even at Chairman Root, and vigorous refusal to vote.

The colonel's advice to his forces was read to the convention by Henry J. Allen of Kansas and included a bitter denunciation of the actions of the majority. It was booed by the Taftites but as the table shows, it was effective in most instances.
Among the states that disregarded Roosevelt's request, Illinois stood out most prominently. That 52 of its delegates voted for the colonel was due to state political conditions.

Pennsylvania created a diversion by casting two votes for Justice Hughes.
In the mix-up Senator Cummins grabbed off seven unexpected votes —from Idaho. And La Follette also benefited by the conditions, getting five of South Dakota's votes, in addition to his 26 from Wisconsin and 10 from North Dakota.

Enthusiasm Is Rather Mild.

If the truth must be told, the victory of President Taft did not create any wild enthusiasm in the Coliseum.
Of course, there was a lot of cheering, and a banner bearing the picture of the winner was carried through the aisles, but no one followed it, and the tired spectators at once began to make their way out of the hall. Even the delegates could not be kept in their seats for the vote on "Sunny Jim." The reading clerks jumped about like crazy men trying to catch the vote in the midst of the din, and nobody cared very much whether or not they succeeded.

"This purges the party of a most disturbing element," said the Taft men, soberly.

"This is the death of the good old Republican party. Now for a new party—a party of progress," said the defeated friends of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Such Democrats as were present said little, but looked joyful.

Taft Forces Win Every Point.

From the day when the national committee met to begin the hearing of contests, the Roosevelt forces never won a point of any moment.
With all the machinery in their control, the Taft men did not let go of anything that could endanger their cause in the least. An instance of their clever work was the way in which the report of the committee on credentials was submitted to the convention. It came in to the hall piecemeal, a state or a district at a time.
This enabled Chairman Root to make the eminently fair ruling that the delegates whose seats were involved in each fragment of the report should not vote on its adoption. It sounded good, but it was perfectly safe.
On only one of these reports was the Taft majority reduced to a perilous point. That was the California case, considered one of the strongest brought up by the Roosevelt men, and the Taft vote was 542, just two over a majority.

On most of the reports the Roosevelt leaders did not demand a roll call. First would come the committee report. Then a minority report with a motion to substitute it. Next Chairman Root would turn to Jim Watson of Indiana, who would rise and move to lay the minority motion on the table. "Aye" would vote the Taft men, stolidly. "No" would be the long drawn out and loud response of the colonel's delegates. And to the tooting of "steam roller" whistles and the jeering laughter of the Roosevelt men would come the chairman's high pitched "The ayes seem to have it; the ayes have it."

Even Senator Root Smiled.
Even Senator Root himself could not always keep a straight face as this process went on. Once a colored

Rosewater Opens Convention.

delegate from Mississippi rose to a point of order asserting that the steam roller was exceeding the speed limit.

"Point of order sustained," said the chair, "but I will explain that we are moving swiftly in the hope of getting home for Sunday."

As the rest of the show was little but a formality, the crowd was mighty glad to receive this assurance of an early adjournment. But the thousands of spectators stuck manfully—and womanfully—through the long nominating speeches and the balloting on the head of the ticket.
For the spectators there was always the hope of some exciting or spectacular incident. Now and then something really did happen, and every one jumped to his feet, as when a tire burst in an automobile race.

"Riot and Bloodshed."

Once there was a sudden commotion in the back of the section where the delegates were seated. All hopped up and howled, without knowing what it was all about. Then a police lieutenant came past the press seats and announced: "Jack Johnson of North Dakota hit a Mississippi delegate in Vermont." A few minutes later there appeared in the hall a news sheet announcing in big headlines: "Riot in G. O. P.—Bloodshed."

Another bit of excitement came

when the Massachusetts delegation was being polled. The 18 Roosevelt delegates refused to vote, and Chairman Root ruled that their alternates should be called. This raised a fine row and Mr. Root received all that comes to an unpopular umpire in a ball game, except the pop bottles.
He stuck to his decision, as every umpire must do, and the row gradually subsided.

Putting Them in Nomination.

Having given up the fight, Colonel Roosevelt was not put in nomination.
But Ohio responded nobly for President Taft with an eloquent speech by Warren G. Harding of Marion.
Mr. Harding is a large man with a large voice, and he kept the crowd cheering by safe references to the Grand Old Party and its achievements. Several times he drifted into eulogistic passages concerning Mr.
Taft, but the Roosevelt army didn't like these and made its dislike known so noisily that Chairman Root had to make one of his rapid advances to Outside the Coliseum.

the front with cutting rebuke for the disrespect shown the speaker.

Coming all the way from Europe to second the nomination of his friend, Mr. Taft, John Wamamaker delivered an address that doubtless was very excellent. But only those close to him could hear his words.
"He may be a fine merchant but he's no speaker," said Policeman Rafferty.
"Why didn't he stay in Europe?"

There was considerable surprise at the silence of Iowa, in view of the hopeful talk of the Cummins shouters before the last session. But Wisconsin made up for this loss by sending Michael B. Oibrich, the boy orator of Madison, to the platform. Mr. Oibrich never entered an oratorical contest without emerging with the first prize, and at the Coliseum he endeavored to live up to this reputation. With mighty voice and gesture, he told the delegates all about the long and soulwearying fight which had been made for progressive policies in government by a son of the Badger state.
He called forth the repeated applause of the Wisconsin and North Dakota delegates and the shrill screams of approval of a young woman in the east gallery who continually pounded the bald head of a gentleman in front of her with a small flag. But that seemed to be the full measure of the results accomplished by Mr. Oibrich.
He spoke for an unconscionably long time, and at last in response to repeated demands to "name your man" he sprang on the astonished audience the name of Robert Marion La Follette. Up leaped the Wisconsin 26 and, assisted by a few scattered knots of shouters, they managed to make a tremendous amount of noise for so few people. But then the young woman in the gallery helped immensely.

Taft Flaunted in His Face.

During Mr. Oibrich's speech two men made their way along the girders of the roof and let down a banner with Taft's picture upon it, so that the worthy president was staring the young orator in the face. The entire gathering resented this discourtesy loudly, but Chairman Root didn't mind nearly so much as he did the action of some Roosevelt men who, earlier in the day, flung from the north gallery a placard reciting his opinion of the Penrose machine in Pennsylvania.
The latter manifesto was quickly removed by virtuously indignant policemen.

Incidentally, Mr. La Follette took an awful chance Saturday afternoon. He sent to Chicago and had read to the convention a statement to the effect that he did not approve the platform, and if he were nominated for president, he would not bind himself to make the race standing upon all the planks selected by the committee.
But Mr. La Follette was not nominated.

Thursday and Friday were not very interesting days in the convention hall. On those days the work was being done in committee rooms and hotel conferences. Each night some radical plan would be fixed up and the next day it would be abandoned.
First it was a bolt of all the Roosevelt delegates. Then it was a double convention. And again it was a policy of silent non-participation. There was no bolt; there was only one convention; there was nothing that even remotely resembled silence except the refusal to vote on the final ballots by the colonel's staunchest adherents.

Rosewater Prompt, But—

Victor Rosewater, who as chairman of the national committee called the convention to order, was only three minutes late in pounding out with his gavel the announcement that the show was about to begin. The Omaha man looked pitifully small and weak, and could not make himself heard ten feet away from the platform. For fifteen minutes confusion reigned, and the chairman was unable to quell it. A little later, when the Roosevelt adherents were making their first fight by seeking to substitute their own temporary roll for that prepared by the national committee, Mr. Rosewater piped feebly until some one shouted,

"Speak up, little boy." Then he succumbed to the roar of laughter and let a clerk read his rulings.

It was no easy job keeping the great crowd in order, for while the delegates themselves were mostly grim and tense, apparently imbued with the idea that they were "making history," there were numerous skillfully placed cliques in the galleries which interrupted the speakers at frequent intervals.

Hadley Commands Respect.

One man there was who was not subject to ribald interruptions and jeers. That was Governor Hadley of Missouri, the Roosevelt field captain.
Whenever he arose he was accorded respectful attention and often hearty applause, for even his political enemies couldn't think up weak spots in his record with which to taunt him.

"Bill" Flinn, another Roosevelt fighter, was not so fortunate, but he seemed to like the storm that raged about him and did not give an inch until squelched by the gavel. Senator Bradley of Kentucky, too, came in for a share of "boos" and hisses and was stirred to rage by many allusions to the fact that he had voted in favor of Lorimer.

"Heinie" Cochems in Action.

The little flurry in the Wisconsin delegation, caused by Mr. Houser's assertion that the delegation would not support Governor McGovern for temporary chairman, gave "Heinie" Cochems a chance to show some of the spirit which used to take him through an opposing football eleven. Cochems had placed McGovern in nomination, and all had gone swimmingly until Houser got up and protested that La Follette would not enter into any combination with any other candidate, and therefore the Wisconsin delegates should not support the Badger governor, who was the choice of the Roosevelt forces.

Up jumped "Heinie" and, being given two minutes, explained that the Wisconsin delegation in caucus had split on the question, but that he, as an individual La Follette delegate, had presented McGovern's name. "But," shouted Cochems, squaring his jaw,
"I dare any progressive delegate from Wisconsin to vote for Root." And he made good, for when the ballot was taken, thirteen Badgers voted for the governor and the other thirteen split up their votes among North Dakota men and Mr. Houser.

Howls for Heney.

For stirring up a tempest, Francis J. Heney was unequalled by any other man in the convention. He fought hard against the seating of the two Taft delegates from the Fourth district of California, and was howled at by the Taftite galleries. He bobbed up on various other occasions, notably in a long speech seconding the nomination of McGovern, and was howled

Boomers in Congress Hotel.

at again and again. But always Mr.
Heney merely grinned and held his ground, and waited for the tempest to subside. He took some very vicious pokes at his adversaries in the Taft ranks, likening A. E. Stevenson of Colorado to Abe Ruef, whom he helped to rend to the penitentiary, and speaking rather unkindly of Senator Biles Penrose and other "bosses."
More hoots and jeers.

Finally Sergeant-at-Arms Stone announced, on behalf of Chairman Rosewater, that those who treated the speaker with disrespect would be put out of the building. Considering all the things Mr. Heney said to and about Mr. Rosewater and his faction of the national committee in the preliminaries to the convention, this was taken rather kindly of the little man from Omaha.

Police Intermittently Active.

Chicago supplied a small army of policemen to assist in keeping order and handling the crowd, and they did their duty nobly, by fits and starts.
Despite all precautions, the doorkeepers let in hordes of their friends, who blocked up the aisles. At intervals some commanding officer would open his eyes, and there would be a sudden clearing out of the passage ways, accompanied by violent pushings and indignant protests. Some of these intruders wore fake badges, which served until a suddenly efficient policeman discovered the trick and rushed the offenders to the door with a mighty roar.

Of all the nuisances with which the police had to contend, the assistant sergeants-at-arms were the worst.
With nothing much to do, and nowhere to sit, these hangers on, numbering many hundreds, were in everyone's way. Sometimes the exasperated "cops" hustled them like ordinary citizens, to the delight of seat-holders.

Wild Demonstration for Hadley.

Hadley was the man of the second day's session—Hadley of Missouri. He had stepped forward to speak in support of Governor Deneen's motion which was designed to prevent the 78 contested delegates voting on their own cases, but before he could utter a word pandemonium broke loose. In a moment every Roosevelt delegate was on his feet shouting "Hadley, Hadley," and even the Taft cohorts could not keep their seats. Then the enthusiasts began to pull up their state standards and march with them, while the galleries leaped to their feet, waving hats

Looking from the Gallery.

and handkerchiefs and papers and howling at the top of their voices. California's golden Teddy Bear led the way, and New Jersey, Missouri and North Carolina followed close behind.
West Virginia, Ohio and Oklahoma fell into line, and there was a mighty roar as "Bill" Flinn grabbed Pennsylvania's standard and led his followers past the front of the speaker's stand. Minnesota and Maine now joined the shouting procession, and people all over the hall began to say that if nominations were in order, it would be no trick at all to put the governor of Missouri at the head of the ticket.

Pretty Woman Increases Furore.

For a long time Governor Hadley stood smiling and helpless, with Jim Watson of Indiana by his side. Then they sat down, hopeless of stilling the tumult. Just as the shouters began to get a bit weary, a pretty young woman was spied in the front row of the west gallery wildly waving a big portrait of Colonel Roosevelt and yelling at the top of her musical voice.
She Mrs. William A. Davis of Chicago, and her efforts were rewarded by a renewal of the uproar, which now changed to shouts of "We want Teddy." Certain of the colonel's publicity promoters, quick to seize upon the incident, made their way into the gallery and led Mrs. Davis downstairs and to the speaker's stand. She was boosted onto the platform, and, with the standards grouped in front of her, led the Roosevelt forces in a redoubled demonstration.

Finally the patience of Chairman
Root and Sergeant-at-Arms Stone was exhausted, and the police were told to escort Mrs. Davis away with orders to resume her seat or leave the hall. She chose the former alternative.

Colonel Roosevelt Pleased.

During all this uproar there were constant rumors that the demonstration had been pre-arranged by the Roosevelt men, and that the colonel himself was on his way to the Coliseum. The latter part of this certainly was not true, for Colonel Roosevelt sat in his hotel room receiving bulletins on the proceedings. When he heard that there was something in the nature of a stampede for Hadley, he said: "I am glad of it."

Senator Depew looked on with great interest, and said he believed the demonstration was entirely spontaneous, and that it looked as though Hadley would be a third candidate.

The uproar lasted in all nearly an hour, and was decidedly diverting, but did not accomplish anything. For when it came to a roll call, the Taft forces tabled Deneen's motion with a vote of 564 to 510, thus showing an increased strength over the vote on temporary chairman of six votes. The entire delegation from Hawaii had shifted back to the Taft side.

More Threats of Ejection.

"Fighting Bill" Flinn again ran foul of Chairman Root and again the senator threatened to have him ejected from the hall if he did not show proper respect for the speakers. Flinn subsided with evident reluctance.

While Thomas H. Devine of Colorado was arguing against the Deneen motion, W. H. Featherstone of the Texas delegation kept yelling at him.
This aroused the ire of Senator Root.
He walked to the front of the stage again.

"Gentlemen of the convention," said he, "I don't know whether you want to hear what is said on this serious subject, but I want to say to you (pointing to Featherstone) that, delegate or no delegate, if you don't preserve order the sergeant at arms will be directed to put you out."

Root was loudly applauded. Featherstone insisted he was merely trying to correct misstatements.

The second day did not get the vention much farther on its way.
Nominations and adjournment.
fighting was continued, but the result was not such as to really inspire for the Taft or the Roosevelt fight with renewed hope of ultimate victory.

Women Delegates Cheered.

California's two woman delegates, Mrs. Florence C. Porter of Los Angeles and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney Saratoga—cast the first national convention votes ever given to members of their sex by any great political party. They went with the progressives, voting for McGovern, and each rose to her feet to announce choice she was cheered by the delegates and the audience.

Mrs. Porter was the first to rise.
She spoke out loudly, and her voice could be heard distinctly on the platform. Mrs. Blaney's answer was not so distinct, when her name was called,
but the clerks managed to catch a Governor's name.

The cheering for the two women was not confined to any one section of the great hall. The McGovern men yelled the loudest, perhaps, because it was their candidate who got the women's votes, but the Taft people cheered also, out of courtesy, apparently, for the audience, it was the novelty of the thing that won their enthusiasm.
"I did not mind it at all," said Mrs.
Porter. "In fact, I enjoyed the experience. I was the first woman who had ever done anything of the sort and when I got up I felt a good deal like a Joan of Arc. I was making history for the women of America, though in a slightly different way than Joan made it for France."

"O," said Mrs. Blaney, "I just said, that's all. Really, I can't recall how the experience affected me."

Flinn Threatened With Ejection.

Just after the vote on the temporary chairmanship had been announced and Senator Root had taken the gavel the convention hall witnessed a disturbance. It was ended only after Senator-at-Arms Stone had sent word to William Flinn and the members of the Pennsylvania delegation that unless they ceased "insulting the chairman" he would have them ejected from the hall.

Root had just begun his speech with the phrase, "Believe that I appreciate this expression of confidence," when the whole Pennsylvania delegation broke into jeers.

"You're a receiver of stolen goods," shouted R. R. Quay.

"Mr. Root," demanded Flinn, "are you willing to take this tarnished election?"

At this moment he was interrupted by another outburst of yells from the Pennsylvanians. Both Quay's and Flinn's words had been distinctly heard, however, by Root and all the delegates.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone came running down the platform, megaphone in hand.

"Mr. Chief of Police," he shouted, addressing Assistant Chief Schuetter,
"if any person on this floor again insults the chairman of this convention
I will have him ejected."

Marching Through the Aisles.

I order you to eject him from the hall."
Stone was white with rage and glad at the Pennsylvanians as he spoke.
The latter then subsided into quiet.

Leave Hall as Root Starts.

Mr. Root had scarcely begun his address before hundreds of spectators on the floor and in the galleries began to move out of the hall, noisily and hurriedly.

"9" IS MYSTERIOUS FIGURE

It Recurs in a Row of Numerals Like Magic.

Has it ever occurred to you what strange feats may be performed with figures? Take the figure 9, for instance. Multiply it by 2, and you get 18; and 8 and 1 make 9. Five 9s are 45, and 5 and 4 make 9 again. Three 9s are 27, and 7 and 2 make 9. Four 9s are 36, and 6 and 3 make 9.

Nine is indeed a mysterious number. Take any row of figures you fancy, say 8642, and if you reverse them and subtract, 8642-2468, you have left 6174, which added together, makes 18, or twice 9. Take the 18, and 8 and 1 makes 9 again. If you take five figures, say 76543, reverse them, 34567, and subtract, you get 41976, which, added together, makes 27—that is 7 and 2 make 9, or three 9s are 27.

Thirty-seven is another number specially adapted for figure juggling. Multiplied by three 37 becomes 111; and no matter what multiple of three you use the figures in the result will be all alike. Twelve times 37 is 444, 37x21 becomes 1,111, and so on.—Answers, London.

Girl Claims Record For School Attendance.

Waukegan, Ill., June 25.—Miss Mary Ethel Hicks claims a world's record for school attendance. For thirteen and one-half years she has attended the Waukegan public schools without being absent or tardy. Miss Hicks made public her record last night after she had heard that Harold F. Woodyate, of Dixon, Ill., claimed the State record with a faultless attendance of seven years.

Miss Hicks has been a leader in the social life of the school and a star of the girls' basketball team.

REPTON.

H. T. Summers had the misfortune to lose his grist mill and blacksmith shop by fire Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock. It seems that the fire originated by the overturning of a gasoline tank upon a box of matches. Mr. Summers was in the shop at work when he discovered the fire, but it had gained such headway, he could not save anything except a small amount of meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Reasor, of Sturgis, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Joseph Foster and family.

Miss Bernice Powell is visiting relatives in Webster county.

Miss Laura McChesney, of Marion, was the guest of Miss Myrtle King Saturday and Sunday.

E. C. Jones and wife visited her parents, of Freedom, Saturday and Sunday.

SHADY GROVE.

Wm. Birchfield and Thomas Tabor were in Providence the first of this week.

Cortez Lemon was in Providence Wednesday.

Robt. Moore, of Repton, was here this week.

B. F. Horning was in Providence this week.

Frank and Fred Easley were in Marion this week.

John L. Wood went to Marion Saturday and while there he purchased a fine surrey, paying $100.00 cash therefor.

Rev. W. R. Gibbs preached an excellent sermon to a large and appreciative audience at the Baptist church here Saturday and Sunday.

S. D. Asher was in Marion Friday.

Willis M. Towery and wife, Masters Claude and Clarence Towery and sister, Miss Ruby, of Tribune, attended church here Sunday.

GIRL WHO SET THE CONVENTION ABLAZE

Was Formerly Miss Hippel, Sister of Fred Hippel—Well Known Here.

The dispatches from Chicago contain picturesque accounts of the remarkable scene in the republican convention following the unfurling of a Roosevelt picture by a Mrs. Davis. Mrs. Davis formerly lived at Paducah and made frequent visits to Marion while her brother lived here. She was a Miss Hippel, was reared in Paducah and is a sister of Fred Hippel, owner of the "Old Hickory" formerly of this city but now of Chicago. She is a very attractive woman.

Deaths.

Mrs. S. Gugenheim and Miss Nelle Williams and their mother, Mrs. H. B. Williams of Providence, returned from Paducah, Saturday, where they attended the funeral of the latter's brother, Mr. Walter R. Thomas.

The News Democrat has this to say of the deceased:

The body of Walter R. Thomas, 48 years old, who died Monday evening at Deming, New Mexico, arrived in Paducah Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock over the Illinois Central Railroad. They were taken to the Mattil Effinger and Roth undertaking establishment, from which place the funeral cortege will leave this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The Rev. C. S. Quinn, rector of the Grace Episcopal Church will conduct the funeral at the Oak Grove Cemetery.

The deceased was born at Providence, Webster Co., Ky. He came to Paducah 25 years ago. While here he married Miss Fannie Shaw who died in 1901. He is survived by one child, Fannie, aged 13. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. H. B. Williams, and Mrs. Fannie Hicks of Providence, and two brothers, Mr. J. P. Thomas, of Providence, and R. H. Thomas of Madisonville.

GREEN'S CHAPEL

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITIES

Wonderful Machine Now in the Mint

PHILADELPHIA.—A most interesting machine recently installed in the United States mint in this city is the automatic weigher for coins of all denominations. Last year the government coined nearly 5,500,000 pieces of gold and 36,000,000 pieces of silver. Formerly each piece was weighed by hand. Seated at long tables, each with a balance in front of her, were from 30 to 60 women "adjusters." It was their duty to weigh each piece. Pieces which were too heavy were reduced with a file. Those that were too light were thrown aside to be put again into the melting pot. Gold pieces were weighed twice, once in blank and once in coinage.

The new weighing machines have each ten balances which are set according to the required weight of the coin, which is being tested. Then they work automatically, each machine taking ten coins at a time. The movement of the beams of the scales determines into which of the several chutes the weighed coin shall drop. If it is too light, the scale beam moves up and the coin is dropped into the "lights." If it is too heavy the scale beam drops and the coin falls into the "heavies." If it just balances the coin drops among the coins which are of the proper weight. The work is very rapid and very accurate. There are eight of these new machines in use at the mint, and they have displaced 34 women, who each received two dollars a day.

Another important improvement at the mint is the automatic, self-feeding coining presses. The blank coins were formerly fed in by hand. The new attachment consists of a hopper, at the bottom of which is a copper disk perforated with holes the size of the coins which are being stamped. When the machine is in motion this disk revolves slowly, and the blanks drop through into a stacking tube, whence they are carried by little clutches and placed under the stamp. Similar machines are in use in manufacturing establishments where small articles like buttons have to be placed under dies, but Uncle Sam never adopted the invention until now.

Under the new plan, one man feeds seven or eight presses with the blank coins, and when the hopper of a machine is filled it runs itself.

Revolution Daughter 111 Years Old

ATANTA, GA.—Mrs. Mary Tarwick Proctor, aged 111 years, a real daughter of the American revolution, a woman who has lived in three centuries, has been found in an humble one-room Georgia cabin. Her sole companions are her daughter, Miss Mary Proctor, aged 90, and the two great-grandchildren, descendants of another daughter, all who are left of six generations of her family.

On a bed of straw, constituting a mattress so thin that the rough plank slats can be seen, this daughter of the revolution lies, her form emaciated, skin wrinkled, almost to a skeleton. Her aged daughter, never tiring of her feeble efforts to give her another every possible comfort, administers to her wants and tills the soil in a small cotton and garden patch near by. The meager profits derived from their labor she adds to the $12 a month pension Mrs. Proctor receives for the services her husband rendered in the War of 1812.

She was born but a few years after George Washington was elected president, and she has lived under the administration of 25 presidents, including John Adams and William H. Taft. Until a year ago, when her mind became so enfeebled, Mrs. Proctor would tell her great-grandchildren of the epoch-making incidents in 11 decades over which her life has spanned. Her stories were vivid kaleidoscopic pictures, treating of her personal knowledge of the early stages of the history of her own land.

The morning of her life she spent in the eighteenth century, when the United States government had just been established; the afternoon in the nineteenth century, when brother fought against brother in the Civil war of 1861, and now in the twentieth she hears of the discussions of world-wide peace movements, of long journeys by airships, in striking contrast to the methods of travel when she was a girl and the modern methods of doing a thousand things in as many different ways so foreign to those employed a hundred years ago, when she was 11 years old.

'Dormant Accounts' Reach Big Total

NEW YORK.—More than $1,000,000 is lying in the savings banks of New York city in what banking people call "dormant accounts"—that is accounts to which nothing has been added and from which nothing has been withdrawn for many years. But the depositor in each case is liable to appear any day and demand it. In fact, since the beginning of the year five accounts in the Emigrants' Savings bank alone, which had been untouched for from 25 to 30 years, suddenly became "active," through the owners, who had not been seen nor heard from in that long period, reappearing at the bank. Some of these dormant accounts are more than 70 years old; none is less than 22, and what to do with such deposits has been a puzzle ever since savings banks were first established in that city.

Money at four per cent interest per annum doubles itself in about 18 years, and as four per cent is the average rate paid by the savings banks in New York, it will be seen that the "unclaimed" money or dormant accounts, unless checked would pile up enormously in the course of time and become such a burden that the banks might collapse under it. At first the limit was fixed at 20 years, but later was extended to 22 years.

Most of these sleeping accounts were originally sums of only $5 or $10, fragments of accounts which once were active. The owners perhaps had left these small balances simply to keep their accounts open and finally perhaps forgot all about them. But many of the accounts represent money deposited by some emigrant who later probably went west or to some other section of the new country, and, unable to write, had never again got in communication with the bank.

Several of the deposits were made by men or the benefit of some child or other person, while a number of others represent the savings of seafaring men who had sailed away and for some reason never returned.

Kansas Women Classifying Merchants

TOPEKA, KAN.—Kansas club women are preparing a classification of merchants in the various towns in the state according to service rendered. The retail associations of the state have a classified list of customers. Those who are prompt in paying bills are classified as class A. Those who are slow, but sure pay, get into class B. Those that pay finally, but are exceptionally slow, are put into class C, and those who never pay are class D, or "deadbeats," and not entitled to credit.

The women are going to do the same thing with the merchants. Those stores which sell goods as advertised and deliver goods of the same quality when ordered by telephone as when bought personally, will get a class A rating in each town throughout the state. Class B includes the merchants who try to give their customers the best possible treatment in every way, but who handle some inferior lines of goods, or where the store management is not the highest class.

Those merchants who are gruff and fussy, or who employ "sassy" sales-people and are always trying substitution of one article for another "just as good," will be put into class C, as merchants who skimp on goods, give short weight and measures, who actually show one article for sale and substitute another in wrapping, will be put into class D, and the women of the state will be warned to keep away from them.

Some Kansas merchants have threatened to apply for an injunction to prevent the publication of the classification, but the women have sent back word that the merchants "might get into a lot of trouble right quick because of the deadbeat list which they publish and exchange with each other so the proposed injunction suits have been dropped.

Roosevelt's Dilemma

Roosevelt will have no pleasant time before the people, writes Alfred Harry Lewis. His candidatorial couch will be mobbed of roses. True he was robbed in rawest fashion. In the name of Taft and with Taft's connivance and consent, the pockets were picked of eighty delegates. Had Roosevelt received a square deal, he would have been named. He did not get a square deal and now he will appeal to the people.

But the Roosevelt trouble to come lies here. He has experienced nothing which one way or another he has not practiced. He has been handed his own medicine: the medicine he gave the party and the captains of the party when four years ago he handed them Taft with the threat: showing all of his teeth—"if you don't take him, you'll take me." They took "him" under stress of that menace, and now they have used him as a weapon, fat, but in formidable hands sufficient to destroy Roosevelt.

When the circumstances come, all to be considered, the popular sympathy for Roosevelt will not in the billows of its expression "run" as say the sailors "mountain high." Roosevelt in his troubles will excite little less fearful concern. As president he forgot his duty, forgot the reasons of his White House elevation to force Taft upon the party and the people. Nobody except Roosevelt wanted Taft. But employing every political resource of the White House, exercising in the fullest sweep every quality and power which marks the boss, Roosevelt forced Taft down the party throat.

Roosevelt liked Taft for the very qualities which most unfitted him for the post of President. The man whom Roosevelt likes least is the man who disagrees with him most.

Taft never did. Sassy, fatly, indolent, inert, resolute only to do nothing he could not do sitting down, Taft either openly agreed with Roosevelt or was silent in a soothing way. And for this genius, for acquiescence, Roosevelt loved and exalted him.

Taft mirrored back to Roosevelt every feature of his so-called policies. Roosevelt could see his face in Taft and believed he had found his alter ego when he had discovered his own reflection. It was the most natural thing in the world that once Taft was elected the Canons and the Aldriches and the Rootes should steal him away from Roosevelt. Taft, shallow, shining, was born a looking glass man. Roosevelt was bewitched and delighted with those looking-glass characteristics.

That Taft has disappointed Roosevelt is not so much Taft's fault as Roosevelt's. To be what Roosevelt thought he should have been, Taft should have passed nine-tenths of his time on his feet.

Roosevelt was fooled, truly; but in that blind regard, he pulled his wool over his own eyes and fooled himself. For all of which reasons and for those others heretofore declared, no one will sit up nights in peculiar pity over Roosevelt and what has happened to him.

Had the pulpy Taft possessed but one-tenth the Roosevelt courage with his advantages in position and precedent, he would have won this fight in half a round.

Roosevelt, when he goes to the people, will find himself as stated, not greatly sympathized with. Conventions and stolen seats and steam roller robberies are soon forgotten.

Roosevelt will find himself running, not along against what candidates the parties and factions have placed in the field, but against Washington, Jefferson and the great ones of the past.

Who of his flaming day was better loved than the silent Grant? He had been the victorious figure of a mighty war. He had ridden with a million and a half men at his horse's tail.

Roosevelt was elected to the White House but once. Had he called himself a one term president, the common feeling might have supported him. It was he himself who named his elected term his "second term" and the thing from that moment became res adjudicata.

But there is something else, much else. There is tariff. There are the trusts. In his recent stump conflicts with Taft he was silent with a great silence concerning trusts and tariffs.

How will Roosevelt meet them? What record has he that will come to his relief? He was president seven years, he selected his successor. And tariff today is a bigger swindle than ever, while the trusts bite even deeper than before.

Roosevelt will be beaten. He is popular, but his popularity will not save him. White Houses are not buttonhole bouquets and with trusts advancing, not receding, and the price of beef going up the people will hardly present one even to Roosevelt, as a mere evidence of favor. This will be a battle not of personalities, but parties. The Republicans have lied for forty years, will lose, and that too, whether rump or regular. The Democrats will win. It is their year to win; they ought to win.

Roosevelt will be defeated, but not disposed of. Taft will disappear—vanish like a fat shadow cast for the moment by the lamp of purest chance upon the curtain of politics. Roosevelt will not disappear. In place of out, he will remain a force to be accounted with until that hour the doomsday sods are laid upon his grave.

The Governor of Kentucky

Held up by a Party.

At a late hour Friday night, 9:30 o'clock, a party of Western Kentucky editors and their families, chaperoned by the Governor's most Loving Colonel, called at the Executive Mansion at Frankfort while enroute home from Olympian Springs and were received in the reception rooms most cordially.

Our handsome Governor had gone to his room upstairs for the night but when he was called out by one of his staff officers he was too good a soldier not to respond.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Jenkins and daughter, Miss Madeleine of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hancock of Pembroke, and L. W. Gaines and daughter, Imogene of Trenton City.—Todd County Progress

CROOKED CREEK.

John Clayton has been very feeble with stomach trouble, but is better at present.

Mrs. E. J. Corley has been suffering with rheumatism.

Anthony Murphy and family visited friends in Tolu Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. A. J. Ford visited Mrs. Corley Monday.

A Torpid Liver is a foe for the Malaria Germ and it thrives wonderfully. The certain result in such cases is a spell of Chills.

HERBINE

Is a Powerful Chills Tonic and Liver Regulator.

It puts the liver in healthy, vigorous condition and cures the chills by destroying the disease germ which infests the system. Herbine is a fine antiperiodic medicine, more effective than the syrupy mixtures that sicken the stomach, because it not only kills the disease germs, but acts effectively in the liver, stomach and bowels, thus putting the system in condition to successfully resist the usual third or seventh day return of the chills. Herbine is a cleansing and invigorating medicine for the whole body.

Price 50c per Bottle.

CALDWELL SPRINGS

Our farmers are very far behind with their farm work.

Wheat cutting is in order, and the yield is very light this year.

Meadows are not any better than they were last year.

There has been a large acreage of peas sown. Would it pay for some one to purchase a pea huller?

Henry Rice is erecting a fine cow barn. Walker Chambers, of Kuttawa, is doing the work.

Harvey McElroy has purchased and set up on H. C. Rice's farm one of the most complete and most up-to-date engine and saw rig, that has ever been in this vicinity. Mr. McElroy has secured from H. C. and W. S. Rice a large contract of sawing. Parties wanting lumber should see him.

John E. Pilant took the June examination for a teacher's certificate in Eddyville Friday and Saturday.

Duron Koon went to Marion Friday to enter the examination. Duron has pulled against the tide to make for himself a good name and get an education. We wish him success.

Mrs. Ruby Jones has been quite sick for a few days. Dr. J. N. Todd, of Fredonia, is attending her.

There was a little fight in our peacable little corner last week. The boys went over to Esq. Yandell's and danced to the time of a few dollars.

Mrs. Henry McGough and Mrs. Mobile Spickard, neither of whom had ever ridden on a railroad train, and one of them had never seen a train and both of whom are now on the shady side of life, boarded the train last week, one to visit in Illinois, the other to visit in Muhlenburg Co., Ky. Their husbands wanted to go with them but they said no, we will make this, our first trip, alone.

LEVIAS

Wheat harvest is on.

Miss Lena Yates, of Sheridan, is teaching music to Misses Lele and Joy LaRue, Berna Threlkeld and Gertrude Franklin.

A new boy at O. G. Threlkeld's. All doing well.

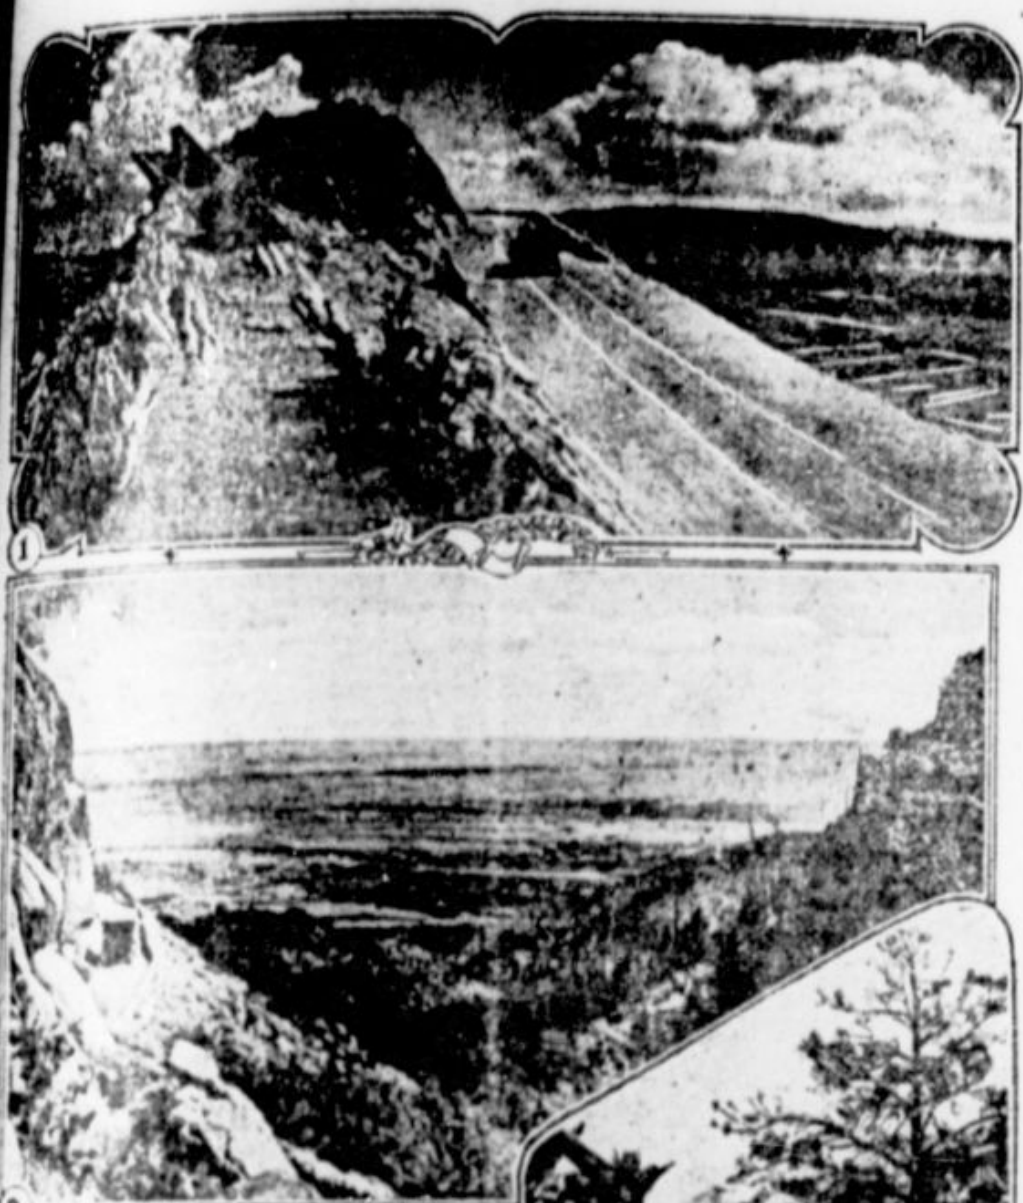

Prof. Thompson and Miss Reba Bebout, of Sheridan, attended Sunday School at Union Sunday.

Misses Ula Ainsworth and Loleta Frazier, of the Keystone mines, were shopping in Levias Thursday.

J. W. Goodlow, of Marion, is plastering and papering for J. B. Carter this week.

R. M. Pogue has moved from Marion to his farm in this section, having built a new house.

FOLLOWING THE SKY LINE IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

2—Crystal Park Auto Road, Overlooking Colorado Springs in the Pike's Peak Region.

3—Penetrating the Mountain Fastnesses From Boulder, Colorado.

Following the skyline in an automobile in the Rocky mountains of Colorado is a thrilling pastime. On some of these highways the traveler can "cruise" among the rim-rocks at altitudes which present ever changing vistas of snow-capped summits, dizzy chasms and endless plains.

There are many such drives in Colorado, but the Skyline drive, completed recently at Canon City, is one of the finest in the state.

The number of such mountain boulevards is increasing. Both state and county authorities are active in the building of good roads, and each year new areas of mountain wilderness are being added to the territory which is accessible to the automobile tourist.

PRIZE PAPER ON OLYMPIAN SPRINGS

"GARDEN OF THE GODS."

While the editors were at Olympian Springs hotel recently, General Haldeman announced that he would give a prize for the best written article, by a lady of the Association, covering the incidents of the Midsummer Meeting. President Shinnick, upon whom the duty devolved, appointed a committee composed of Loving W. Gaines, of Trenton; S. M. Jenkins, of Marion, and Lucien Beckner, of Winchester, to pass upon the merits of the dozen papers submitted. The successful contestant as reported, was Mrs. C. B. Nelson, of Winchester, who was awarded the ten dollar prize. Mrs. J. C. Alcock, of Jeffersonstown, and Mrs. Ed D. Shinnick, of Shelbyville, were each given a five dollar prize complimentary by Gen. Haldeman as the committee marked their papers 2nd., and 3rd best respectively although no 2nd or 3rd prize was offered. Every paper was well written and showed surprising talent. The prize-winning paper is as follows:

"Long years ago roomy coaches, laden with such distinguished guests as Henry Clay, Aaron Burr, Gov. Crittenden, Gov. Morehead and Gen. John B. Houston, rolled to the door of the Old Olympian Hotel, whose fame for rest and health even then had spread over many States. We are historically sure that they came when there were matters of deep concern to solve for the welfare of the State. The inspiring environments and recuperative waters aided in the proper solution of these weighty affairs. History repeats itself. Last Monday a carload of notables bended beneath their burdens of newspaper problems was unloaded at Olympia station for a purpose as deep in significance, as that which inspired the others to come hither.

For months the Kentucky Press Association has lived in the joyful anticipation of this meeting. With a breath of gladness we dried our pen, closed our desk, hung the last "squib" on the hook and boarded the train in highest exultation to join our fellow-workers. What a joyful meeting it was and how our hearts thrilled as saluted the gallant commander of this army of congenial people, Gen. Haldeman, who, with his splendid wife, are so inspiring to those of us trying to reach their standard. With every revolution of the car wheels there were hearty felicitations and expressions of joy over the privilege of being on the way to this lovely place.

Arriving at the station we were met with comfortable vehicles and were soon rolling rejoicing over the picturesque road that leads to Olympian Springs. Can you ever forget, my friends, how glad you were at the sight of the hotel gleaming white among the stately trees, and the good-looking crowd of guests awaiting our arrival? In great letters was written upon the threshold the word "Welcome," and on the door a latch string that extends to the remotest corner of Kentucky.

Henry Clay and Aaron Burr could not have been received more cordially than this army of the Kentucky Press. We grow "adjectively" weak over this spot nestling between the foothills of Bath county. Nature herself lovingly molded it for such a retreat. No wonder the great historical characters could solve so consummately the questions of State here, for the conditions then as now were conducive to deepest thought. The new hotel, with its splendid accommodations, has taken the place of the old, which is now only filled with sacred memories. The scenery is glorious; we cannot adequately describe the vistas of refreshing green that stretched from every viewpoint. It would require volumes, and so, deeply conscious of Col. Polk Johnson's historical knowledge, we accept his statement that this is the Garden of Eden; that these hills were washed asunder by the flood and that on yon Mount Ararat, the ark rested and poured out its contents, the best remaining here on this side; the sweetest song birds, tenderest chickens and thriving Alderneys. Even Ham's best descendants stayed here and wait assiduously upon us. The well springs of life are here also and the "Beau Brummel" of the party has also discovered that the Fountain of Youth is not far from the salt-sulphur well. Noah's spirit of hospitality still pervades the place. Never was there greater attention to guests. Press the button and everything desired is yours. Every moment since our arrival has been filled with delights. We have not forgotten our duty to our profession and so each day we meet to solve the problems that we have in our journalistic walk through life. We have derived great benefit from these heart-to-heart talks and shall return to our profession with renewed vigor for the coming year. The officers and committees of the K. P. A. deserve much praise for their untiring energy in making the meeting such a success.

To the C & O officials we are deeply grateful for the kindness of our transportation, having at our disposal a special car. To our host and hostess and all of those who helped us to so merrily while the hours away we can best express our gratitude by saying that we would be happy to know that at this time every year, without the loss of one, and with the gain of more members, we could gather under their hospitable roof in a reunion sweetly suggestive of the one some time "Beyond the Blue," when we shall gather to receive our reward for all things set forth by Mr. Stearns in his essay on St. Peter, the editor. Everybody's happy, from the eldest member to Baby Tom Pickells, Jr., who coos delightedly. In the storehouse of fond memories none can be sweeter than those that cluster round the gala days at Olympian Springs.

DYCUSBURG

Here's the news once again from Dycusburg. There has not been any in the Press for several weeks. Nothing has been happening of any importance.

Eugene Brown, of Eddyville, was in town this week.

Misses Mollie Lee Dycus and Margaret Graves, and W. E. Dycus went to Nashville, Tenn., on the excursion Wednesday and returned Sunday.

Mrs. M. A. Cassidy went to Paducah Wednesday.

Mrs. G. F. Pickering, of Sikeston, Mo., is visiting friends and relatives in our town.

W. E. Charles, C. H. Cassidy and Mrs. A. L. Charles, of Calvert City, went to Smithland Wednesday.

B. F. Hill, of Tiline, was in town Monday.

Mrs. Mary Langsdon, of Caldwell Springs, who has been ill for several months, is now able to visit her friends in our town.

Messrs. Hughey and Glenn, of Caldwell Springs, were in town Wednesday.

Miss Addie Southern and brother, Archie, of Vicksburg, were the guests of Mrs. Ike Martin Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. A. A. Myrick, of Calvert City, returned to her home Saturday after visiting relatives in Tiline and here.

W. E. Charles left for Island, Ky., Saturday, to assist Rev. W. H. Neal in a revival.

Mrs. Marion Aikin, of Nashville, and Miss Minnie Cassidy, of Eddyville, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ramage visited in Crayne Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. M. A. Cassidy is in Paducah.

IRRIGATION FARMING IS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

Building of Storage Reservoirs Is Placing This Industry on a Reliable Basis.

1—Snowy Range, Where the Water Comes From for Irrigation. 2—Irrigating Canal in the Arkansas Valley, Colorado. 3—Wheat Fields in Colorado. Rocky Mountains in the Background.

For some time experts have recognized that the so-called arid country in the Rocky mountain region must some day be made to yield a vast amount of agricultural products, but they also have realized that this could not be accomplished except by irrigation.

The soil in that section is rich and the water supply is said to be ample once it is properly stored so as to assure the farmer of a continual supply during the growing season. This is being accomplished gradually.

Colorado excels all other states in the amount of land under irrigation. The census of 1910 showed that 4,000,000 acres were under ditch, and it was reported that with the completion of irrigation projects under way and in contemplation, the acreage would be increased to 6,000,000 acres. This is approximately one-fourth of the arable area of the state.

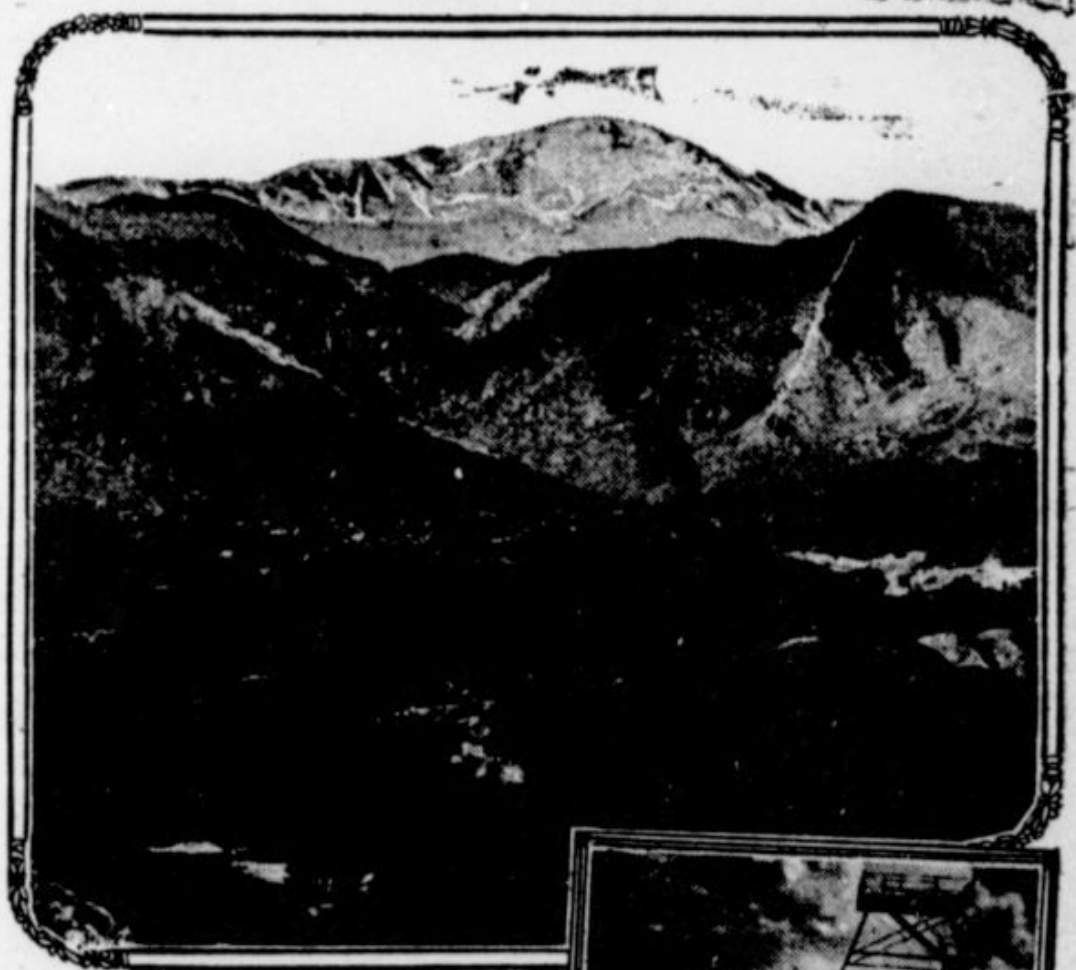

In the past the mistake was made often of over-estimating the capacity of an irrigation project. Time and experience has taught the builders to avoid this error and the aim is to put just enough land under ditch that can be adequately watered during the entire irrigating season. This policy is restoring confidence in irrigation and will eventually cause the state to be completely settled with prosperous farmers.

Colorado's annual agricultural output is now something more than $100,000,000. This includes fruit raising, which, in normal years, aggregates about $7,000,000.

Reliable data shows that the yield of an irrigated farm in Colorado is more than twice the yield of land in a rain-belt country. It is estimated that the net returns from a well cultivated irrigated farm is at least 25 per cent on the valuation of the farm. It is not unusual for a Colorado farm to pay for itself in two or three years where the farmer couples intelligence and frugality together. Approximately $60,000,000 has been expended in the construction of irrigation projects in Colorado. The total value of Colorado farm lands is placed at $360,000,000.

STATEMENT OF COMPARATIVE PLAYGROUNDS

Pike's Peak, Colorado, Altitude, 14,109 Feet, Which Can Be Seen for Many Miles Out on the Plains. A Glimpse of Manitou at the Base.

Switzerland is called "the playground of Europe." Colorado is termed "the playground of America."

The mean elevation of the highest Alpine chain is only from 8,000 to 9,000 feet. Colorado possesses more than 120 peaks of over 13,500 feet altitude, of which no fewer than 35 peaks range from 14,000 upward.

These figures are sent out from Colorado by advocates of the See America First movement.

Further information from this same source shows that the highest village in Europe is Avers Platz, in Switzerland—altitude, 7,500 feet. The highest inhabited point is the Hospice of St. Bernard in Switzerland—8,200 feet.

In Colorado the mining town of Leadville, with 12,000 inhabitants, is 10,200 feet above sea level. Other mining camps are still higher, and some gold and silver camps are worked at over 13,000 feet altitude.

There are wagon roads over mountain passes in Colorado ranging from 12,000 feet upward, the highest being Mosquito pass—13,700 feet.

Switzerland has a cog-railroad four and one-half miles long which ascends to an altitude of 4,072 feet. The cog-railroad from Manitou to the top of Pike's peak is eight and three-quarters miles long and the ascent is 8,100 feet, reaching an altitude of 14,109 feet above sea level.

"See America First," is the slogan. See the west, the east, the north and the south—then go to Europe if you must.

Really the Only Way Out.

Long's Peak From Deer Mountain Drive, in Estes Park, Colo.

rison, Golden, Boulder, Longmont, Loveland, and Fort Collins, the tourist can quickly penetrate with an automobile the mountain fastnesses and view grand and picturesque scenery which is not surpassed in the world. In the Pike Peak's region in the vicinity of Colorado Springs and Manitou, and in Estes Park in the Long's Peak region, are some of the finest automobile roads in the world. The scenery in these sections inspires the traveler with the "See America First" spirit, and if he be one who has visited the mountain resorts of the Old World, he is sure to declare that he has seen nothing to equal the grandeur of the Rocky mountains of his own native America.

The trip from Denver to Estes Park and return can be made easily in a day in an auto, but to exhaust the scenic possibilities of the roads through the park and its environs requires weeks of time.

But this is only a beginning. From Colorado Springs one can travel westward into the very heart of the Rockies by way of Ute Pass to Cascade, Green Mountain Falls, Hartsg-commodations can be had. In fact, all along this route the hotel accommodations are of the best.

From Glenwood Springs the way leads into the Grand valley to Grand Junction in the heart of the fruit section on the Western Slope.

From Grand Junction, by way of Dragon and Vernal, the road is clear to Salt Lake City, Utah. A southerly route through Utah takes the traveler to Arizona and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river. By turning north before reaching Glenwood Springs one can reach Meeker, Steamboat Springs and the vast and practically undeveloped empire of northwestern Colorado.

The state highway commission is planning great circle routes through the scenic wonderland, and as they are completed new opportunities will be created for the automobile tourist. Colorado has been aptly termed "The Playground of America," and as the wonderful opportunities for motoring in Colorado become more generally known the truthfulness of this term will become a matter of common knowledge.
