ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE ROOSEVELT

Fails But The Colonel Is Painfully Wounded. Injury In Chest Serious And Not Mere Flesh Wound.

NO VITAL SPOT WAS TOUCHED. BULLET LOCATED IN BREAST TISSUES.

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—Colonel Roosevelt's special train left for Chicago at 12:30 a. m. Although still bearing a bullet in his breast Colonel Roosevelt declared he would go to Indianapolis, to fill a speaking engagement tomorrow night after spending the night in Chicago. The special is due to arrive at Chicago at 3 a. m. and the Colonel will be taken to the Presbyterian hospital.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded tonight as he was leaving the Gilpatrick hotel for the Auditorium to make a speech. The bullet lodged in his chest. Colonel Roosevelt continued to the hall and began his speech after seeing his assailant arrested and taken to the police station.

A mob surged around the prisoner who is apparently mentally upset on the subject of Roosevelt running for the third term for president.

The man admitted firing the shot and said:

"Any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

In notes found in the man's pockets were statements that he had been visited by the spirit of President McKinley who had said indicating Roosevelt, "This is my murderer, avenge my death."

Col. Roosevelt was just stepping into an automobile to go to the speaking and a crowd had gathered round it, when the would-be assassin pushed his way through the crowd and fired. In a moment he was overpowered. The crowd became wild crying "lynch him, lynch him," but Col. Roosevelt insisted that the man be brought before him and that the crowd take no hand in the matter. Questioned by

Col. Roosevelt the man refused to give any reason for his act but later showed notes to officers which said he had been visited by the spirit of President McKinley which declared Roosevelt was his murderer and that his murder be avenged.

Col. Roosevelt proceeded to the auditorium after the arrest of his assailant and delivered an address, the copy of which in his coat pocket is believed to have saved his life by diminishing the force of the bullet.

Col. Roosevelt spoke at the auditorium for an hour with the bullet in his breast and along toward the close of his speech showed signs of weakness from loss of blood. At the conclusion of his speech he was rushed to the hospital where physicians awaited him.

Col. Roosevelt insisted from the time the shot was fired until the X-ray examination was under way that he was not seriously hurt and that "the physicians were taking it too seriously."

After the examination Col. Roosevelt was taken to a special train on which he expected to leave for Chicago about midnight.

The assailant of Col. Roosevelt gave his name as John Schenk.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY BROUGHT BIG CROWD

Judge Alben W. Barkley And Hon. Gibney Oscar Letcher Delivered Speeches.

The Letcher and Barkley speaking in Marion, Monday, was certainly satisfactory in every way. The announcement that the good old Democratic doctrine for which the hearts of the people are athirst, would be expounded from the hustling attracted the largest crowd that has been seen on the streets here for twelve months and the opera house where the speaking took place was crowded to its utmost.

Mr. Letcher spoke first and was given close attention and his speech was enthusiastically received. It was his first appearance in Marion and we predict he will be in demand here frequently in the future. Judge Barkley, always a prime favorite here since his first visit, has gained in popularity each time he has come back and Monday he made many new and warm friends. He explained the tariff more clearly than many of his listeners had ever heard and by his clear elucidation gained many votes for the Democratic party.

All in all it was a hopeful, pleasant crowd and the music of the murmur of the voices on the street was a prelude to the harmony of the incoming administration of Woodrow Wilson.

There was to be a partial eclipse of the moon this morning visible throughout the United States, except in the extreme eastern portion where the setting of the moon and the rising of the sun occurred before the beginning of the eclipse. One more occurrence, Oct. 6, 1930, ends the series to which this lunar eclipse belongs, which began over 800 years ago on the moon's southern limb, and that of 1930 will be very small and on the northern limb. A lunar series consists of 48 recurrences—covering a period of 865 years.

Cruelty to Oysters.

What we need, of course, is a society for the prevention of cruelty to oysters. It is a year since the humane gentleman from Alabama rose to announce that oysters when eaten on the halfshell were alive; that the act was next to cannibalism, and, that he and his house were going to eschew, if not the oyster, then the practice. "Waiter, serving." This was not received in a spirit of due seriousness by frequenters of oyster houses and other such resorts. It was even treated with levity. It is therefore to be hoped that since Dr. Wiley has lifted his voice against the devouring of oysters alive, better counsels will prevail. We are to stab the bivalve through the heart with the oyster fork, smother with horseradish and swallow with a clear conscience; unless, of course, we are vegetarians, in which case we have no business to be flirting with the oyster at all. What Dr. Wiley has neglected to tell us is whether the fork-stab is a complete coup-de-grace. What if we do not like horseradish in sufficient quantities to dispatch a half-assimilated oyster? The better part of a rapidly civilizing world looks forward confidently to a state of society in which oysters, if eaten at all, will have been painlessly executed prior to serving. An enlightened public conscience is beginning to be revolted at the idea of carrying nature's restrictive laws to the luncheon table. We have enough of the survival of the fit in business. At mealtime, let us live and let live. Better a dinner of herbs. Pass the pre-digested raisins.—Boston Transcript.

PROMINENT SHAWNEETOWN WOMAN

Claimed by Death. Victim of Cancer. From The New-Gleaner, Shawneetown, Ill.

Mrs. Rebecca Caldwell Adams, wife of Mr. L. H. Adams, of this city, died at her home Friday morning at 11:45 o'clock. She was a victim to cancer. Her first affliction dates back to June of this year. On July 31st she went to a hospital in Evansville for treatment and was there told she had cancer and that it was only a question of time until she would succumb to the affliction. She came back home in August and her condition gradually grew worse from that time on. Neighbors and friends of the family vied with each other in acts of loving kindness and tender solicitude, to assist him upon whom rested the heavy responsibility of attempting to fight back the ravages of disease—to avert the inevitable—and in whom were united the devotion of a friend, the untiring skill and watchfulness of pain-tollers and the best and ablest but love and skill were equally of no avail. The great destroyer had placed his signet on her brow and today, hundreds who loved her living, mourn her dead. Mrs. Adams was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell and was born near Shawneetown Nov. 16, 1842. With the exception of a short time when she lived with an aunt in Vincennes, Shawneetown was her home.

Feb. 24, 1864, just after she returned from Vincennes, she united with the Presbyterian church in this city, along with Lizzie Spillman, daughter of Rev. Spillman, the first pastor of the Presbyterian church here. Henderson Powell, Eva Hunter, Alice Docker and Melinda McMurchy. June 6, 1884 she was married to Mr. L. H. Adams and they lived happily together for more than 28 years.

Mrs. Adams was an every day christian. The beautiful influences of a pure religion were spread over a life and character as charming as was ever possessed by any of the noble women who have lived and died in our community. She was faithful and attentive to her church duties. For more than 40 years she was a teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday School and for more than 30 years she had charge of the primary department and nothing delighted her more than the work in getting the little folks in Sunday School and keeping them there. In this work she was known far and wide and in hundred of places in this country, from coast to coast, will be found men and women who got their first lessons in Sunday School from Mrs. Adams. She was thoughtful and industrious in her work in this department of the Sunday School. She visited the homes and invited children to attend; she encouraged and persuaded parents to send their children to Sunday School; she went after them when occasion required; she took an interest in them when they came and never did she neglect an opportunity to encourage children to do right. At the annual Christmas festivals she always saw that her boys and girls got their portion, whether they attended or not. And, she did not neglect her boys and girls after they had grown up. It was a constant fight with her to get them into the church and to keep them there, and she delighted in the work. She was forced, on account of her affliction, to abandon this work several months ago but her heart was still in the work and many times she talked of it. She attended the Sunday School the last time June 8, 1912.

As such a life as was lived by Mrs. Adams was a blessing and benefaction to all within the sphere of its influence so is the death of such a one a public misfortune, as well as an irreparable loss of the home circle made desolate by her departure. It is a pleasure to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of so good a woman—one whose every day life was embellished by the most charming and lovable attributes of her sex. A perfect lady at all times—under all circumstances, she seem born to inspire the love and respect of all who were so fortunate as to be acquainted with her. No one was more willing to aid the suffering, sustain the weak and throw over the frailties of our race the mantle of christian charity.

In the presence of such a sorrow, how cold and impotent are the words and how doubly deep would be the grief over the grave did not the rainbow of christian hope span the dark gulf between time and eternity, and such pure, bright lives inspire the belief that there is a better world beyond, where, filled from the corroding cares of earth, the good and true are reunited after life's fitful fever.

Mrs. Adams remained conscious to the last and although fully aware that her life was near its close, she manifested no dread but bravely awaited the termination of the struggle. Only a day before she died she talked with those about her about the past, the present and the future and recited one verse of "Crossing the Bar."

The funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Breeze, and all that was mortal of this good woman was laid to rest in Westwood cemetery. The church was filled with people, among them many men and women with families who had been her Sunday School pupils in their childhood.

In the course of his remarks Rev. Breeze paid the following tribute:

"Yes, her earthly life has ended forever. Never again will she enter this sanctuary where she has so long bowed in worship. In these places where she has been seen for over 60 years, she will never more appear. That voice is hushed in death. That tongue is silent forever. Soon all that was mortal in her whom we honored and loved will be mingled with the dust. "Whether there be knowledge it shall vanish away; for we know in the past." "For now we see through a glass darkly." In the light of eternity, our departed teacher, member, this loving wife, may have learned more, in these last few days, than in her life-time before. She has left behind an influence; she has borne away a character. Our joy is not in her talents, or in her earthly fame, but our joy in the belief that she lived to glorify God and that her controlling purpose was to do good. We rejoice in the confidence that, in the great ends which she set before her, she was an obedient follower of the Savior, patiently endeavoring to do His will and humbly trusting in His mercy for Salvation. And the source of this satisfaction with which we review her life, is the fact that she was employed by her Master, as an instrument of training a host of dear children to be obedient to parents, and faithful to God."—Shawneetown News-Gleaner.

NEW SALEM

We are a little behind with our letter to the Record-Press as we have been a little careful for past two weeks, where we traveled but as peace has spread her wings over Cross Roads, we have ventured out again.

Dry and dusty, water getting scarce.

Not over 50 per cent of a wheat crop seeded.

H race James, of the New Salem section, was married last week to a Miss Meeks, of the Emmaus section.

Married, Oct. 7th, Charles Belmar to Miss Maude Threlkeld. Both of New Salem. Good luck to you.

Born Sept. 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. James LaRue, Jr., a son. The little one lived but a few hours. They have the sympathy of their friends in the loss of their first born.

Protracted meeting closed at New Salem last week. Rev. King assisted the pastor Rev. Boucher, in the meeting. It was a most excellent meeting.

James Mahan and family and Mrs. Mary Mahan spent part of last week the guests of relatives near Birdsville.

Capt. Raymond Babb & Co., have moved their rock crusher to the Croson spring, and are grinding every day. We have not carried any turn to them yet, but will later on.

E. L. Harpending, wife and daughter, of Marion, were guests of his father and family Sunday.

Clem Moran represented New Salem church at the Presbytery at Hope well church last week.

Loftus has moved to Marion, (his county,) the last week.

Some of our boys have taken out hunting license.

Corn threshing will commence in ten days. It is about 80 per cent of a crop.

If old Ananias had lived in our day and time and had lived near Cross Roads, the old fellow would doubtless have taken to the woods.

We have not had time the past week or so to notice or answer "old windbag," of Cross Roads but will later on. One thing we will do in the future, will be very careful about, should we ever have any more medicine to sell, who we sell it to. Yes, we have in days gone by merely for past time, played a few games of "seven-up" but we will swear we never lost the shirt off of our back in a game and walk two miles with the mercury at the freezing point. The doctor informs us that Ginseng Syrup has run its course and that there is no danger, so we will go down in a day or so. One thing we wish to say we did not spend the night in the Alvis woods, as your Cross Roads correspondent writes, no sir, we whooped for good old peaceful Crittenden Co., God's country, where peace and happiness and safety to life and limb is assured to all her people. Don't get uneasy old Windy, we will try and see you later on.

Local business men are greatly interested in the campaign now being conducted for one cent letter postage. Active steps looking toward the inauguration of the lower postage rate will be taken by congress this winter according to present outlook.

Now that the parcels post problem has been disposed of, the next important step in postal affairs in this country will be the inauguration of one cent letter postage, according to the officers of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association, which is conducting a campaign for one cent postage.

Business men here are backing the movement for the lower rate. The association already has a large membership in this state and is constantly seeking to enlarge it, so that when the real battle for lower postage is waged in congress next winter the association will receive ample backing from the business men whom it will most benefit.

Many important postal reforms have been inaugurated during the past year, resulting in the elimination of a huge deficit and the accumulation of a creditable cash surplus. In addition to this a plan has been adopted for a limited parcels post, to be put into effect early next year. Advocates of one cent postage declare that in simple justice the government must establish the lower rate at once.

Under present conditions first-class mail is paying a surplus to the government of over $62,000,000 a year. Although it requires two cents to mail a letter any where in the United States, it is estimated that it actually costs the government about one cent to carry it. The post office department has always been operated with a view to carrying mail at cost. At the present time the department receives on first-class mail a revenue of at least 84c per pound equal to $1680 per ton, thus making a profit of 66 per cent. Although first-class mail supplies less than one-eighth of the total tonnage of the mails, yet it pays for 70 per cent of the total revenue. It is the principal advocates of one cent postage claim the rate should be cut in two.

Business men of this town say they would have their postage accounts cut exactly in half were the new law inaugurated. At the present time, they claim an enormous deficit is caused on second-class mail through the cartage to extreme points throughout the country of magazine mail. Magazines, some of them charging from $4,000 to $5,000 a page for advertisements, are carried throughout the United States for one cent per pound or $20 per ton compared to $1680 per ton which business men pay on letters. The large proportion of second-class mail matter carried throughout the country is said to be weekly and monthly magazines on which publishers are making vast profits.

"You pay more than ninety cents per pound for carrying letters about the United States although it costs less than half that sum to transport them," declares Assistant Postmaster General James G. Britt. "To correct this manifest injustice we intend to ask congress to lower first-class mail from two cents to one cent and to so adjust other classes as to put them on a cost paying basis.

"I certainly believe that one cent letter postage will pay if rates are adjusted. During the fiscal year of 1911 the government made a profit of $62,631,990.65 on first class mail, a profit of $182,184.29 on third class mail and a surplus of $6,601,574 on fourth class mail, while it suffered a loss of $66,336,662.68 on second class mail."

Hundreds of commercial bodies, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, and national business associations, as well as thousands of individual business houses, have endorsed the campaign for one cent postage. A bill providing for the lower rate will be introduced in congress this winter, and will be supported by commercial bodies and other organizations located all over the country. The American Bankers Association in session at St. Louis in September unanimously adopted resolutions favoring one cent postage and urging the government to adopt the new rate at this winter's session of congress.

An unusually active campaign on behalf of the propaganda for one cent letter postage is being conducted by the National One Cent Letter Postage Association which has its headquarters in Cleveland. Its officers are Charles Wm. Burrows, president and George T. McIntosh, secretary and treasurer. The advisory board is made up of some of the biggest merchants throughout the country.

Millions of small stamps are being distributed throughout the United States for use on correspondence of business houses urging the lower rate, and active steps will be taken this winter to press through congress a bill providing for one cent postage.

A JOLLY PARTY ENTERTAINED

WITH SUMPTUOUS REPAST. Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Ira Nunn Celebrate the Anniversary of Their Wedding.

At their cozy and comfortable home on East Bellville street on Monday evening, Oct. 7, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Nunn entertained the official board of the Southern Presbyterian Church of which Mrs. Nunn has ever been a loyal member. The date was the 31st anniversary of their marriage which was celebrated in David Woods' residence on Oct. 7, 1881. Mr. and Mrs. Nunn have spent almost a third of a century of married life in Marion and both had lived here several years before and no couple stand in higher esteem, she for her gentle Christian characters and he for his sterling business qualities. Mr. Nunn, for years, has been the active head of the Marion Milling Company and has built that business up to colossal proportions, more capital being required to conduct it than any other local enterprise. On the evening named, when the invited guests, all of whom were present, except two who were detained at home on account of illness, gathered round the festal board, an appetizing spread prepared by the hostess' own hands, was before them. At each guest's plate was a card giving the dates 1881-1912 and verse: We've lived and loved together, Thro' many a changing year, We've shared each other's sorrows, We've wept each other's tears, and before them, all faintly prepared were the fruits and viands of all lands. The hostess was assisted in serving by her niece, Miss Sallie Woods and to say that each guest was delightfully and bountifully served would be putting it mildly. Many reminiscences of old days were indulged in and many happy and amusing incidents recalled. Those seated at the banquet with the host at the head of the table were: Messrs H. K. Woods, S. T. Dupuy, G. M. Crider, J. L. Clement, David Woods, G. C. Gray, J. W. Blue, L. C. Miller, and S. M. Jenkins.

Teachers' Meeting.

The Teachers' Association of Division 3 met at Weston, Friday Oct. 11, 1912, with a large number of patrons present and with only one teacher of the division absent. The meeting was called to order by Pres. A. A. Fritts, after which the devotional exercises were conducted by Prof. J. U. Snyder. A cordial greeting was extended us by the teacher, Miss Corda Smart, and a hearty response was given by W. B. Wilborn of Ford's Ferry. After Mr. Samuels had given us some splendid ideas why agriculture should be taught in the rural schools, we adjourned to feast upon the good things prepared in true Kentucky style by the hospitable people of the neighborhood. The unfinished program of the morning was taken up at one o'clock, after a song by the persons present. Miss Finley showed us how the old maxim "Honesty is the best policy" is very applicable to the life of the child. Supt. Travis in his forceful way gave us one of the values of repetition the deepening of the thought in the child's mind. Mr. Snyder gave us a yard stick by which we might measure our subjects and if they do not come up to the standard, advised us to use something else. The utility, or the increasing of our earning power, the culture, or the ability to appreciate the good in life and our services to mankind were his three requisites for a successful, well ordered life of the child or school. Mr. Hanning gave a splendid talk on the personal habits of the teacher and showed that in early life we form habits easily, but in later life, they form us. The every day problem of the teacher as given by Miss Bertha Moore are: the assignment of the lesson, occupation of the young-est pupils, how to use the lesson hour, good order, those who do not attend to business, irregularity of attendance, care of the children's health and keeping up the interest of the pupils. A frank discussion as to how libraries could be increased and of our great need for them was also given. It was felt that we had been very lax in our duties and that we were in a bad way. We will try to do better. -A. T. C.

PREVENTION OF DIPHTHERIA

Circular Issued by the State Board of Health of Kentucky.

To the Health Officials, Physicians and People of Kentucky:

The unusual prevalence of diphtheria in many sections of the state makes it the duty of this Board to again call attention to the best known methods of preventing the occurrence and spread of this disease.

1. Diphtheria is both contagious and infectious, and is distinctly a preventable disease, being easily limited to the first case or cases. When it gets away from the primary cases and make its escape upon the community somebody is to blame. The sooner we accept this as a sanitary maxim the sooner we shall begin to do our duties as individuals and communities.

2. On account of its frequency and fatality this disease is of far more importance to the people of Kentucky than smallpox, yellow fever or cholera.

3. When a child has sore throat, and especially if diphtheria is in the neighborhood, it should be immediately separated from other children until a competent physician has seen it and decided whether or not it is affected with a contagious disease.

4. If diphtheria, strictly isolate the case at once, in an upstairs room if possible, and as disconnected as practicable from the living and sleeping apartments of other children. No one, except the physician and nurse, should enter the room, and they should take every precaution not to carry the infection to others.

5. The board urges the hygienic use of a standard antitoxin, such as Alexander's, in at least 5,000-unit doses, as soon as the disease is recognized or seriously suspected, and that this dose should be repeated or doubled within twelve hours unless marked improvement has taken place. If the case is seen after the first 24 hours use from 7 to 25,000 units the first dose, depending upon severity. It recommends that immunizing doses of 1000 units be used for all children, and especially for all inexperienced relatives acting as nurses who have been seriously exposed.

6. Placard the house, and keep all other children, all having the care of children, and all who go where children are, away from it. Notify the health officer of the town or county within twenty-four hours, as the law requires, and he will co-operate with the physician and family to keep the disease from spreading.

7. The discharges from the mouth and nose, which especially contain the germs of the disease, should be received on soft cloths and burned, and other discharges should be disinfected, and all refuse from the sick room burned. All utensils used in feeding the sick should be washed separately from other dishes, and should remain some time in boiling water.

8. Disinfect all bed and body clothing, and other like things, as soon as removed, by immersion for at least six hours in a solution of chloride of lime, four ounces to the gallon of water. They may then be wrung out and put in the wash. Remember, however, that no disinfectant in the occupied sick room can do away with the necessity for abundant fresh air and sunlight.

9. The isolation of the patient should continue for ten days after all trace of the disease has disappeared, and until he has had a disinfecting bath and been clad in garments which have not been in the sick room. No person from a house where there is diphtheria should be permitted to go into public assemblies, and no child from a house where this disease has prevailed should be allowed to attend school without a certificate from the health officer that it is safe to do so.

10. After complete recovery, or death, always thoroughly disinfect the room and its contents, preferably with nascent formaldehyde, or where this is not available, by burning three pounds of sulphur, moistened with alcohol, for each 1,000 cubic feet of space, previously stopping all openings, and dampening the floor, bedding and clothing and leaving the room tightly closed for twelve hours. The room should then be thoroughly ventilated, and all ledges, woodwork, etc., washed with strong soap and rinsed with a disinfecting solution.

11. In case of death, the body should be wrapped in a sheet saturated in a disinfecting solution and buried without public service. In giving notice of death newspapers should state that it was from diphtheria, and that children, and those having the care of children, should not attend the funeral.

12. To be effective the precautions herein suggested should be rigidly observed. Imperfect isolation and disinfection are worse than useless, giving rise only to a false and misleading sense of security.

13. County and municipal boards of health have full authority under our laws to enforce these rules, and will fall short of their duty if they fail to do so.

14. Arrangements have been perfected under which county or city boards of health may procure Alexander's antitoxin at wholesale prices through this Board. A constant supply of fresh antitoxin is always on hand at Bowling Green. Details furnished upon application.

Copies of this circular, and of similar ones in regard to scarlet and typhoid fever and consumption, for free distribution, may be had upon application to the Board at Bowling Green.

By order of the Board,
WILLIAM BAILEY, M. D., President.
J. N. McCORMACK, M. D., Secretary.

"Who Wants the Old Vets?"

Kuttawa, Ky., Oct. 8, 1912.
To the Members of the Second Kentucky Brigade,
United Confederate Veterans.

At a meeting of the Brigade held at Mayfield, Kentucky, last year a Committee, consisting of Colonels S. W. Hollingsworth, H. S. Hale and myself, was appointed on place of meeting this year, 1912. Up to this date no camp or community within the limits of the Brigade has indicated a desire to the Committee to have the Brigade Meeting held with them. As it would not be proper or expected that an order should be issued convening the Brigade at any place without an indication that it was desired by the citizens that it be held there, no order has been issued or preparation been made for the meeting of the Brigade in 1912.

I am writing this to inform the members of the Brigade why such order has not been issued and to ask for any suggestions from any of the members that they may desire to make. It seems necessary that something be done in the premises as the officers elected at the annual meetings of the Brigade are elected for one year and there is no of the officers elected last year to hold the offices for another year without the consent of the members of the Brigade. The other three Brigades elect their officers at the annual meeting of the Division, which takes place each year at Pewee Valley. The Second Brigade being located so far from Pewee Valley makes it inconvenient for its members to attend that meeting, consequently only a very few would attend in any event.

The Committee would therefore very greatly appreciate any suggestion that any member of the Brigade may be disposed to make with regard to the time and place for a Brigade meeting or as to the manner of selecting its officers for the ensuing year.

Very truly
W. J. Stone, Brig. Gen'l,
Commanding 2nd Brigade, Ky.
Div., U. C. V.

PRIZE ESSAY ON

Our Home Farm.

By WM FOSTER.

It was on a pleasant September afternoon and I was returning from school on my favorite horse. As I approached my country home, I suddenly dropped my reins and feasted my eyes on the fields made bright by the setting sun. I could hear the noisy geese, the lowing cattle and squealing hogs that waited around the lot gate to be turned in. I could also hear the loud shouts of my little brother who played with his friendly dog; and far but clear and sweet rang the call of "Bob—Bob—White" from some recess in the woodland.

The farm is almost entirely surrounded by ranges of hills. We reach it by a gap in the range through which there is a comparatively level road. There is a canyon on the west where a roaring stream freighted with sand and gravel grinds its way toward the broad Ohio. Our farm is a kind of a table land drained by four small tributaries to this canyon.

On the ridge between the first two tributaries is a clump of broad headed, short stemmed oaks, among which our cottage chimney may be seen. Many times have I lain beneath these sturdy oaks and listened with secure delight to the merry note of the mocking bird. The stock barn is situated just behind these trees but there is also a stock and tobacco barn near the center of the farm.

There are 165 acres in this tract of land which is irregularly divided into seven fields. An abundant yielding orchard stands just north of the house while in front toward the south lies a plot of sun scorched grass through which a silent streamlet glides. Far to the southwest can be seen a field of ripening corn and peas.

"Dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood" on the old homestead. I love to hear the rural "sounds of evening" and feel the soft breeze go by laden with the odor of new-mown hay. I can never leave it because I must save it from the desolation of careless farmers. I want to stay so that I can sometime run the "old farm" scientifically and transform every worn-out acre into fields of waving cereal. All the gullied and clay places must grow green again with grass and clover. Then will men rise up and call me blessed.

OFFICE OVER FARMERS BANK
MARION, KENTUCKY.

Our present system of farming should be changed along several lines to insure better financial returns. First, we need a better grade of stock. It has been proven that a thorough bred pig will develop twice as rapidly as a common pig and with the same amount of feed. Second, we should keep more stock to make more manure. Third, we should begin a four year rotation of crops, in the course of which we should use proper fertilizers and turn under at least one green crop of clover or cow peas in order to store humus in the soil. And last, our crops should be smaller so that better cultivation could be given. We should try to conserve the moisture in every possible way. This is a very great factor in bringing about financial returns.

When these things have been done, the joys of farm life will be greatly multiplied. How much more pleasure there is in growing pure breeds instead of scrub stock, both from a standpoint of beauty and financial returns. While the money increases the pleasure of farming very essentially there is one other thing that exceeds it without comparison—education. We need an education that will teach us to love the beautiful, then we would clean up the ugly places on the farm, repair the dilapidated houses and fences and cause beds of flowers to grow around the home. We need an education that will cause us to take pleasure in reading and conversing with the world's best thinkers. Then you will find the farmer among the small audiences that listen to plays of Shakespeare and go to Lyceum courses. Then will the home on the farm be raised to a higher plane and then will be reached the highest attainable happiness on earth.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Protecting the Child.

By DR. EDWARD L. TRUDEAU.
At present the most needed agencies are hospitals for advanced cases and measures to protect the child at home and at school. The advanced case is the most productive source of infection and as yet perhaps the most neglected. The need of protecting the child is shown by the fact that about 50 per cent of children living in the crowded districts become infected by the time they are five years old. Regulation of home conditions, better school hygiene, the segregation of actively tuberculous children and open air schools for those who have latent tuberculosis are measures that should be applied more extensively, the more so because the child shows a strong tendency to recover and the application of open air methods seems even more effectual in children than in adults in preventing and curing the disease.

Must Send Wife to School Says Court

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—"You must send your wife to school until she is fourteen years old or you will be arrested and fined" warned Magistrate Boyle after imposing a fine in the case of John Palasis, whose wife Annie is only thirteen years of age. The young wife and her father were arrested on a warrant charging them with failure to comply with the compulsory education law. When asked why she did not attend school, Mrs. Palasis, who wore short dresses, said she had no time to go to school, as she had to get her husband's meals and look after other household duties.

Nation's Men

Greatest Were Born in the Country

By REV. MADISON C. PETERS

RECENTLY delivered the oration at the dedication of the monument to General Thomas Hamer, at Georgetown, Ohio. He died in Monterey, Mexico, December 1, 1846, after participating in the operations on Monterey, where he led his regiment from Ohio, which was the first to plant the Stars and Stripes in capturing Monterey.

This country village of about one thousand people is remarkable for the great men it has given the state and nation. Of soldiers alone it furnished the Union army four generals, including U. S. Grant, West Point graduates, and nine generals and field officers of volunteers, among whom were General A. V. Kautz and General McGroarty, and most of these men were citizens of Georgetown when the war broke out.

From Brown county I went to Adams county, and in the backwoods of that county—much of it away from all railroads—there lived among other notables the ancestors of Whitelaw Reid, Sinnot, the father of Mrs. Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, while the spot where the late John A. Cockerill, the great journalist, was born is pointed out to the passerby.

In my travels about, speaking here and there, everywhere in the small towns I find, born, reared and often still living the nation's foremost men. I turn to any encyclopedia of American biography and find that the mighty men who have made and lifted the nation to greatness were country boys. Of twenty-seven presidents of the United States, all, with the exception of Roosevelt and Taft, were from the country. Call the roll of the 481 senators and congressmen, and with possibly one or two exceptions, all who are ever heard of were not only born in the country but began life in their shirt sleeves. Go into any city or town throughout the land and practically all the men who have done things worth while began life without a dollar. These men made their own chances. They never despaired, never whimpered, but they were up and doing.

A "happy hit" may sometimes be made by a bold venture, but in the long run the safest road is the highway of steady industry. God gives you enough when he gives you opportunity. A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds. Possess your soul in patience. Your time will come if you deserve it. Don't say you have been unfortunate when you were just foolish. Bad luck is bad pluck. Good pluck is good luck. No man ever lost his luck until he lost his pluck.

Why Girls Prefer to Work In Factories

By KATHRYN SCHWARZ

Perhaps one reason why American born girls prefer to work in factories at starvation wages rather than work in kitchens and be comfortable is that while in school they studied the same declaration of independence as their brothers did. Whether that old document tells the truth or not, it has made of our boys and girls something that does not willingly have inferiority rubbed into them.

One never stops to wonder that our young men will dig ditches rather than become valets or butlers or footmen, even though they might have more comfortable homes and better wages in the latter positions.

Some foreigners are born with or have been trained to a mental attitude of servility, but few raised in this country can acquire it.

A girl working for wages in a city kitchen has her menial position impressed on her in a thousand ways that perhaps even her mistress does not realize.

When she works in a factory she associates all day with people doing the same work as she does, and whether she figures it out consciously to that point or not she would rather live with that sense of equality and starvation wages than with comfort and the supercilious condescension she meets in another person's kitchen.

You who wonder why the average girl shuns housework, did you ever stop to consider that the life of the kitchen maid is as nearly a blank as it can be and escape total annihilation? With whom shall she associate? With whom shall she talk? Her mistress' family will talk to her—yes, talk down to her. The help in the families around her perhaps cannot carry on a conversation with her in her own language.

Every woman who will own to the truth knows that housework grows irksome even when done for the sake of one's own family.

Think then of its deadly monotony to one who does it day after day under conditions that of themselves kill all interest in life.

Until we can have co-operative housekeeping so that the workers can associate with each other at their work or until we can learn and act on the truth that those who do the most necessary and most disagreeable work are entitled to the highest honor, we shall not have girls doing housework if there is anything else at all they can get to do.

Musical Standards Have Been Elevated

until about 35 or 40 years ago. In music there has been rapid progress in the past 10 or 15 years. I can remember when anyone who could play a little or sing a little was called a musician. Now no one is recognized as much of a musician unless he or she has a good deal of gray matter, has studied the theory of music and has a solid literary education as well. I speak especially of recent musical standards in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other great cities.

Musical standards in this country have been greatly raised during the past few years. I have been reading with interest discussions about the educational requirements of those who study music seriously. I still consider myself a young man, but I have observed educational conditions in Europe and America long enough to have some definite ideas regarding cultural progress on this side of the Atlantic. The old world, of course, has had the advantage of centuries of art development. In this country, comparatively new, little attention seems to have been paid to art.
