CELEBRATES HER 70TH. BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Annie LaRue Celebrates Her Seventieth Birthday With A Reunion Last Sun.

Early Sunday morning Nov. 3rd, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Annie LaRue, began gathering at her home to celebrate her 70th birthday, and before the noon hour had arrived all of her family, who were within reach, were present.

Dinner was served at 12 o'clock and everybody fared sumptuously. There were pies, cakes, vegetables, fruits, meats to please everyone—fried chicken, beef, fresh pork and ham, but the one feature of the dinner was the finest of bread, made by the hands of her, who for three score years or more, has made just that kind.

The day was very pleasantly spent. All the children and grandchildren who live in Kentucky, were present.

The older ones talked and laughed and then talked and laughed some more and the youngsters romped and played as youngsters always do at grandma's house.

There was but one thing to mar the happiness of the day, and that was the thought that one of the daughters, Mrs. J. W. Martin, who lives at West Plains, Mo. At dinner one place was vacant, and all thought of the sister and her family and wished that they too, might have been there.

The children present were Mrs. Lillie Daughtery, Mrs. George Williams and husband, E. T. Franklin and wife. The grandchildren were Mrs. Jno. Vaughn, and husband, Joe Williams and wife, Mamie Williams, Hollis,

THE POSTMASTERSHIP.

I just love the Democrats,
I think they are mighty fine,
When they vote for Postmaster,
I hope they'll make it mine.

I handle lots of hardware,
Wire fencing, paint and oil,
Jack knives, tin buckets, and Fertilizers for the soil.
I want to be Postmaster,
Won't you vote for Me?

Dry Goods and Ladies' Wear
Is my long suit,
I know the business thoroughly
From head to foot.
But, I want to be Postmaster,
Please vote for Me.

I have always held an office,
From Commissioner up and down
You surely would'nt ask me
At my age to lie down,
So I do want the Post Office.
Kindly vote for Me.

I travel on the Railroad
Selling hats and caps,
I'm familiar with rural routes,
I've seen them on the maps,
I want to be Postmaster.
Won't you vote for Me?

I was County Judge and Sheriff
But that was years ago,
I feel as young as ever
Though perhaps a little slow,
I want to be Post Master
Won't you vote for Me?

In rain and shine I hand out
The truly rural mail,
I'd be mighty pleasant
To quit that muddy trail,
I want to be Postmaster,
Please vote for Me.

Good roads, electric lights,
With the best to make a town,
Has been my work for Marion;
My politics are sound,
So I want to be Postmaster
Won't you vote for Me?

LEVIAS

(Delayed from last week.)

Big frost Nov. 4th.

A good revival in progress at Union church under charge of Elders Carter and Miller.

R. G. Manley is building an addition to his house. J. H. Price is the carpenter.

A little child of Bunk Perryman, was dangerously hurt by a horse Saturday evening. The child was playing in the yard when attacked by the pony, and but for the timely interference of a passer by, the child would have soon been killed. The doctor was called and several stitches were necessary for an ugly wound on the head.

New Acetaline lights have been received for Union church house, a gift to the church from John H. Grimes, of Eskew, Ark.

The Board of Health was in Levias again last week and raised a flag at Reuben Wheeler's. Two cases of scarlet fever there.

Carson Franklin and family, of Marion, visited friends and relatives here last week.

Ulie Threlkeld, the singing evangelist of Crayne, is helping in the meeting here.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE FIVE MARION PRECINCTS

Owing to the recent Democratic victory and the election of Woodrow Wilson to the office of President of the United States; and knowing according to the usual custom, that sometime in the future, it will fall to his lot to appoint, upon proper recommendation some one as Postmaster at Marion, and it having been agreed that the fair and proper way to arrive at the will of the patrons of said office, as to their choice who should fill same it has been agreed that an election shall be held at sometime in the near future, at which time all Democrats and supporters of Woodrow Wilson will have an opportunity to vote by secret ballot for the applicant of their choice. This is absolutely fair and all those wishing to apply for said position will have ample time to announce themselves, and see the voters. Feeling that I could discharge the duties of the office as satisfactorily to the patrons perhaps, as anyone, I have become a candidate for said office, and I trust that my Democratic friends in the five precincts will come out on the day fixed, and give me their support. I may never ask that favor of you again: Three times I have borne the brunt of the battle, when there was but little or no hopes for an election, and when no other one would lead the fight, when I myself would like to have remained out of it but at the earnest request of my party have sacrificed my own interest and headed the ticket to fight the battles of Democracy, and save the organization of the party. Now my Democratic friends have the opportunity to do for me, what they have so often lead me to believe they wanted to do. I ask you to stand by me one more time, I can win in this fight with your support. I entered this contest in good faith. I have no petition in circulation nor is any necessary and no one who signs a petition for any candidate is bound by it. If the appointment was to be made upon the petition of applicant to the President, as has been customary then a petition would be necessary, but as suggested by Senator-elect Ollie M. James and agreed upon by all applicants so far, an election is to settle it, then a petition could not be considered and could not be used for any purpose, except the one unfair purpose to prevent the voter from feeling free to vote for the applicant of his choice at the polls. I hope no one will feel himself bound by any petition, which he may have signed but will wait until all applicants are in the field and select from them the man of his choice, giving to all applicants a square deal. Confidently believing that my friends will not in this the one opportunity they have in rewarding me for past sacrifices, desert me, I remain,

Yours Truly,

J. G. ROCHESTER.

NOT REPRESENTED

McCracken Will Not Place Tree on Capitol Lawn.

It is not likely that McCracken county will be represented on the capitol grounds by a tree as is desired by the State officials. The post oak tree was assigned as the representative of McCracken county. County Judge Alben W. Barkley is not particularly impressed with this tree as a representative of the county. The expense of planting the tree will have to be borne by the Co., and this is another drawback. Another reason for the delay Judge Barkley says that he does not think this is the best season of the year to transplant a tree. A tree has been assigned to every county, but only about 50 out of the 120 counties have responded by planting a tree on the lawn of the capitol grounds. —Paducah News-Democrat.

Illinois University Endorses Stock Show.

Hon. Eugene Davenport, in a recent interview, expressed himself as follows, relative to the International Live Stock Exposition, which will this year be held from November 30 to December 7.

"It is a mistake to suppose that the promotion of agricultural interests affects only the farmers. The truth of the matter is that other people are more interested and more affected by agricultural progress than are the farmers themselves. Along the line of live stock husbandry the greatest public need is that the common man should enjoy good animal products. It is a simple proposition when reduced to its lowest terms, but to secure the products at a reasonable price means that every man specializing in live stock must employ every device known, and discover many more not known to improve the quality of his product as well as to lessen the cost of production. To this end no single agency bears greater results than the bringing together each year at the International Live Stock Exposition, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, specimens of the best cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep that the world has been able to produce. Such a gathering takes place this fall and not only farmers but men in all kinds of business enterprise in the country should support and attend the exposition."

Would Salute Red Flag Rather Than "Old Glory."

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 13.—The persistent refusal of Lena Tyler, 13 years old, to salute the American flag and recite a patriotic formula led today to her suspension from the Franklin public school here. "I don't want to salute any flag," said the child, "but if I must I will salute the Socialist flag, which stands for liberty and justice."

Lebanon Junction, Ky., Nov. 12.—The Hocker Hotel, a large two-story frame structure, containing nearly forty rooms, was destroyed by fire late this afternoon. The loss will be $20,000. The hotel was owned and conducted by S. K. Clark, who bought it from R. M. Hocker, who operated it for many years. Mr. Clark did not carry any insurance and at the time of the fire was making many substantial improvements. The building stood near the railroad station, which for a time was in danger. The fire was the result of the explosion of a plant used in lighting the hotel. During the fire there was a second blaze, which seriously burned R. L. Mudd, a local jeweler.

In Memoriam.

Died at the home of her son, Dr. C. G. Moreland, in this city, just as the clock tolled the hour of noon, Monday, October 28th, Mrs. Elizabeth Moreland, aged 81 years, 10 months and 19 days. She was the widow of the late A. B. Moreland, to whom she was married in 1860. To this union was born two children, J. Willie, as he was familiarly known among his friends, and who died December 5th, 1892. She is survived by Dr. C. G. Moreland, her other son.

The deceased professed faith in Christ when 11 years of age and joined the Missionary Baptist Church, known as Otter Creek congregation, in Meade county, Ky. She last belonged to Camp Creek church of which she made a faithful member.

Time closed the life of one we all knew only to esteem more highly as the years went by. The end was as peaceful as the close of a summer day, when day fades into night with increasing loveliness. She had been unconscious to all surroundings for several hours before the end came, yet suffering no pain, and death reminded us of what John Bunyon wrote when he was describing Christian and Hopeful coming to the gate of the Celestial City. He said: "Now, I saw in my dream that those two went in at the gate, and lo! as they entered they were transfigured; and they had raiment put on that shone like gold. Then I heard in my dream that all the bells in the city rang for joy, and it was said unto them, 'Enter ye into the joy of your Lord.'"

It may be truthfully said of Grandma Moreland, that none ever entered her home without a warm welcome, nor left without feeling the warmth of genuine hospitality, so characteristic of the people of her ancestry. Disease and age did not destroy the charm of a kind and indulgent disposition nor diminish her unselfish solicitude for her friends and loved ones.

While she has continued to enjoy the society of her friends and children, she has for several years realized that her active life was over and with resignation awaited the Divine call from death unto life.

As the death dew gathered on her marble brow, around her bedside gathered her "boy"—always her boy, though now grown to mature years with boys around his own fireside, together with grandchildren and loved ones who drew near. The life so long interwoven with theirs, with tearful eyes they watched as it slowly but surely passed over. The love of a mother for her children passeth understanding. The son, grandchildren and friends that gathered about the bed of this dying mother who so bravely fought the death angel, some of whom long ago, passed out from the little home circle. Business cares and their own home circle have encroached upon their time. They have many times robbed mother of their companionship, but she was ever just the same; rejoicing in their success and grieving at their misfortunes.

Vain is any attempt to measure the loss of this life. After all the poets have sung, and all the lovers dreamed, we are still unable to find anything that will satisfy the heart for the vacant chair. Only the memory is left, and this we shall cherish through future life. May Heaven's richest blessings be upon the home made lonely by the loss of this one.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. T. Oakley, after which interment followed in the Mt. Zion cemetery. Peace to her mortal remains and a home in Heaven.—A Neighbor.

Turkey Is Crushed.

Sultan's Power in Europe Broken.

Vienna, Nov. 9.—Turkey is crushed. After more than five centuries' ascendancy in south-eastern Europe, the Turk is on the point of being driven back into Asia, across the Bosphorus. In one of the shortest, bloodiest most decisive wars in the history of mankind, a great empire has been crumbled and defeated by a little kingdom not half its size. Irretrievably defeated by the Bulgars, the Turkish government may lose its 95,000 square miles of territory in Europe with its 6,000,000 subjects there.

Although Greece, Serbia, and Montenegro have aided in the overthrow of Turkey, history will accord the lion's share of honors to Bulgaria, the real victor.

History of world-wide importance and interest is being made in the Balkan peninsula. The great powers of the world have not recovered yet from their astonishment at the feat of the Bulgars, who have struck one staggering blow after another at the Turks.

But while the political side of the struggle reaches great importance, the human side of the struggle is the gripping part of the story. The meager details of the midnight battles, valiant charges, long bombardments and plains strewn with dead and dying, just now mainly concern the people of the world. The aspects of treaty, armistice and territorial disintegration are left to the chancelleries. The Turk gained his foothold in Europe in 1354, and from all indications he will lose it in 1912, after 558 years of occupancy.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A DUMPING GROUND FOR JAIL-BIRDS.

By A. W. MACY.

Prior to the revolution England used the American colonies as a dumping-ground for her undesirable citizens. It is estimated that between 1717 and 1775 not less than 50,000 convicts, of all kinds and of both sexes, were taken from the jails of Great Britain and Ireland and transported to the American colonies, where they were condemned to hard labor and hired out to the settlers. The Maryland colony suffered most from the affliction, 20,000 or more of the jail-birds being sent there. Some of them, however, had been convicted of slight offenses, and were easily transformed into good citizens of the new world.

CALDWELL SPRINGS

The farmers of this end of Crittenden Co., will meet at the Caldwell Spring school house next Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering a proposition to pool their tobacco.
Every tobacco grower should attend this meeting.

Willie Pilaut's little boy, thirteen months old, died Saturday of diphtheria.

One of Mrs. Oliver's little boys is sick with the diphtheria.

George Jones has the flux.

Dr. Frazier, of Marion, was here Thursday looking after the diphtheria patients. The doctor says "the people must stop scattering this disease." You are right, Dr. We are with you.
Do your duty and we will love
you better.

Mrs. May Stone went to Kut-taw, Friday on business.

Mrs. Cas Cruce went to Flat
Rock, Sunday, to see John Stevenson, who is at the point of death.

There are a few bridges and mud holes in our public roads
here that need immediate attention.

At the April term of the Crittenden Co. Court, an order for a change in the public road from Mrs. Mayes' to the Dycusburg road, was granted. We have not heard of that order since.
The people who asked for the change in this road feel like they need it and would be glad to see the order carried out.

Well, we can only say to him,
to move out, for she is sure done gone.

been to Dawson Springs several times but he found nothing that did him any good. He leaves a wife (who was Lela Belt, before her marriage,) a child three years old, several brothers, two sisters and a father to mourn his loss. Mr. Vaughn was a man, who was thought lots of by every one who knew him. He was an honorable citizen, a devoted husband and a loving father.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Kenedy, after which the interment took

Popular Couple To Wed.

Great interest centers in the approaching nuptials of Miss Ina Price and Mr. Virgil Moore, both of this city, which happy event
will be consummated next Wednesday week.

The bride to be is one of the most popular girls in the city and justly so. She was born and reared here and is beloved by every body. She is a musician of rare ability. The prospective groom is a young attorney of much promise. He has ambition and great energy, which combined with a bright mind and the gift of oratory endow him by nature with those qualities requisite for success. Friends in the city and many other points in the State are looking forward to this as one of the society events of the season in Marion.

Invitations which have been issued to friends of the contracting parties in this city and elsewhere read as follows:

"Rev. and Mrs. James Franklin Price request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Ina to Mr.

Virgil Yandell Moore on the morning of Wednesday, Nov.
27th, 1912 at 9 o'clock at Presbyterian church, U. S. A., Marion, Ky."

Preached Here Last Sunday

Rev. J. T. Barbee preached at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday at 11 o'clock
a. m. from St. Matthew 7: 24, 25, 26, 27. A large and attentive audience was present and appreciated the sermon very much.
Rev. Barbee is a preacher of more than ordinary ability and power, and is loved by all who know him. It was with regret that he failed to fill the stand at the evening service as was announced. Rev. Woodruff had made arrangements with Rev.
Barbee to change pulpits with him at Blackford, which was agreeable to all concerned. After Rev. Barbee had arrived in Marion, Rev. Woodruff notified him that he could not fill his pulpit at the evening service and Rev. Barbee felt it was his duty to go back to his own pulpit for the evening service. Rev. Barbee stated that he would give us
another appointment any Sunday and Sunday night that he was not engaged. We hope to have the pleasure of having him preach for us again soon.

WON $20 PRIZE.

Last spring Messrs. Blue & Nunn offered a prize of $20.00 in gold to the tenant on their farm
who made the best crop of corn.
There were several entries, among them being Calvin Fritts, Geo.
King, Robt. and Lummie Fritts,
Charles Horning and Geo. Fritts.
The latter two were partners,
making a crop together and last week the judges awarded them
the prize, although we learn it was close competition, as all of the tenants did well. The Press considers this a most commendable bit of enterprise on the part of Messrs. Blue & Nunn and we dare say they were well repaid for the expense.

G. W. L. Nesbitt, Marion, Ky., says:
"Kidney disease had made me an invalid. I was often in bed for two weeks at a time, and no tongue can describe my suffering. I often wished that death would come and end my misery. The kidney secretions became highly colored and my limbs were badly swollen. My sight also failed and doctors had little hope for my recovery. I could hardly hold my hands above my head, in fact, my right side was paralyzed. I had lost all hope when a relative advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I finally consented to give this remedy a trial, and a box
was procured at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. I improved from the first and after I had taken one box, I was so greatly relieved that I felt confident I had at last found something that would cure me. One by one the symptoms of my trouble disappeared
and in three months I was a well man, attending to my business in the usual way. That Doan's Kidney Pills are the greatest remedy in the world for kidney disease, is a fact of which I am firmly convinced."

The above statement was given February 3, 1908 and on February 3, 1912
Mr. Nesbitt said: "I still believe Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney remedy. I have not used any in over a year. You are at liberty to publish my former statement."

Died at her home in this community, Mrs. Jane Brown, on Saturday night, Nov. 2nd, after an illness of four weeks. Every thing was done by the family and two good physicians to prolong her life but all to no avail. Her remains were laid to rest at the family graveyard near Childress bluff. Aunt Jane, as she was called, was a christian woman. The writer visited her while she was on her death bed and she seemed to bear her great sufferings with much fortitude. Realizing that when done with this life that she would inherit that building not made with hands. We would say to the bereaved ones, "weep not for her, but prepare to meet her, and live so as to be ready when God shall say come up higher and enjoy that rest that remains for the saints of God."

Wisdom From Bacon.

An ant is a wise creature for itself, but it is a shrewd thing in an orchard or garden; and certainly men, who are great lovers of themselves, waste the public, divide with reason between self-love and society; and be so true to thyself, as thou be not false to others, especially to thy king and country. It is poor center of man's actions, himself.—Bacon.

KENTUCKY FLUOR SPAR

By M. E. BACON.

After a varied experience of about the same nature through which the majority of mining sections go, the fluor spar industry in Crittenden and Livingston counties of Western Kentucky seems at last really to have come into its own. The experience here has been the oft-repeated one where the mineral of real value has been cast aside, through ignorance of its worth, in a frenzied search for others found in lesser quantities which at the time were in greater demand. The excitement that prevailed about 1900 to 1905, reaching real boom proportions, was caused principally by the craze over zinc and lead, both of which are found in the fluor spar regions in considerable quantities.

But this died out, and the depression that followed was only greater in comparison with the busy times that had gone before. It was then that careful attention was turned to fluor spar, and as this is the real basis of the mineral richness of the two counties it is now being mined in great quantities. New fields are being opened, capital is becoming interested and, while the one-time boom and its accompanying excitement and fictitious land values are missing the situation has cleared, conditions are settled and substantial and the business seems to be upon the threshold of permanent and successful activity. Zinc and lead, which caused the flurry before, are now regarded as only by-products from which a considerable revenue is secured, but which are only secondary considerations to fluor spar itself.

USES OF FLUOR SPAR.

The demand for fluor spar has been created in comparatively recent years. Regarded formerly as waste matter it is now used in large quantities in steel mills, in making glass, porcelain and enamelware, and from the finer grades hydrofluoric acid is made. This acid is so extremely caustic in its action that it will etch glass, and by its use thermometers and all graduated glassware are marked into divisions.

For fluxing purposes fluor spar has almost entirely succeeded limestone in the steel mills. Instead of using large quantities of limestone to a certain amount of ore the mills now use comparatively very small amounts of fluor spar. This fluor spar is mixed with the ore and put into the furnace and, when the mass is melted to a liquid state, the fluor spar attracts and holds the impurities which then easily are separated from the pure metal. In the glass, porcelain and enamelware factories the process is equally simplified and cheapened and it is fluor spar which gives the durable glaze or finish to the manufactured vessels.

The producing fluor spar fields of the United States are confined almost entirely to Crittenden, Livingston and a small portion of Caldwell counties in Kentucky, and a strip of territory about ten by eighteen miles lying along and just across the Ohio river in Illinois. Small deposits have been found in Colorado and other places, but never in such quantity and grade as to make mining profitable. In the famous lead and zinc fields about Joplin, Mo., there is some fluor spar, but only enough to make it a by-product, to which little attention is given as compared to that paid to lead and zinc.

DEMAND ABOVE SUPPLY.

As the American demand annually is about 100,000 tons and is increasing, and the output of the Kentucky and Illinois fields, which must supply it, is considerably less than this, on account of the lack of proper development holding down the production, it readily can be seen that the fluor spar industry faces a bright future. Marion, the capital of Crittenden county, is the heart of the producing district, and it is estimated that shipments from that point will not go above 50,000 tons annually under present conditions.

One thing that has boosted the price of fluor spar recently is the duty of $3 per ton which Congress placed on foreign shipment to this country. The foreign spar is of an inferior grade, and there are immense quantities that have been dug out of the ground in past ages, when other metals were being sought, and left in great piles as refuse. To add to this absence of cost of mining, it can be shipped to this country for practically nothing, as steamers will carry it as ballast, and in consequence it is sold at a very low figure. With the frugality for which large American corporations are noted it was utilized rather than pay the higher prices for the better grades from Kentucky and Illinois. The resultant lack of demand is what really caused the slack market for a few years, but now the consumers have turned to the American mines for their supply. Not long ago an attempt was made to get some of the foreign spar into this country without paying the duty. It was claimed that the stuff was of such low grade that it really was not entitled to be classed as spar at all, and therefore shippers should not be made to pay the import fee. The decision went against the foreign offering, and the spar business in this section immediately showed the effects by renewed activity.

Under all these encouraging conditions much more interest is being taken in the mining of fluor spar than ever before. Old mines that had been practically abandoned are being cleaned out and worked again. New shafts are being sunk on every hand. Mineral rights, the term applied to the contract between a land owner and a prospective miner, whereby the owner sells to the miner the right to the mineral deposits under his land—the consideration sometimes being a stated sum of money and again a royalty on the production—are a steady stock in trade. Outside capital is becoming interested and several foreign concerns are operating mines in the district.

All of this has brought about an awakening of business in all lines. Except for the broad and fertile Ohio River bottoms, the topography of the fluor spar section is rocky and not well adapted to agriculture, but the people who own teams find steady employment in hauling the spar from the mines to the mills or to shipping points. Labor has been imported, mineral rights make the land valuable even if it will not grow corn or tobacco, and the country is well supplied with money.

One of the oldest and richest mines in Crittenden county, the Memphis, is operated by a syndicate of Pittsburg and St. Louis capitalists. The Bluegrass is a comparatively new mine that is producing richly for a New York

Is it the Hair or the Face that makes the Woman?

Newbro's Herpicide Saves the Hair

There is nothing which is so destructive to the hair as dandruff. This annoying trouble to which everyone is more or less exposed is due to the working of an invisible growth of microscopic fungi called the Dandruff Germ. It robs the hair of the mass and luster of health, burrows down into the follicle and eventually loosens the hair, allowing it to fall out. Newbro's Herpicide applied regularly and intelligently kills this germ, keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Falling hair is thus prevented and, if the hair follicles have not become atrophied, a new growth of hair may be anticipated. The life and luster of Herpicide hair is beautiful to see, is unmistakable. An abundance of fluffy, glittering hair is woman's chiefest beauty and to permit its needless destruction is unpardonable.

WILL NOT NAME SHERMAN'S SUCCESSOR UNTIL LATER

President And Cabinet Decide To Postpone It.

New York, Nov. 9.—After a conference between President Taft and several members of his Cabinet and Republican Senators and Representatives it was officially announced here tonight that no successor to Vice President Sherman on the Republican ticket would be selected until after the election returns are all in. Gov. Hadley, of Missouri, is known to be favored by President Taft and many of the leaders.

Conference today on the special train which brought the President and several party leaders back to New York from the Sherman funeral in Utica developed opposition to the selection at this time of a man for second place on the ticket.

Some of the leaders believed it would be poor politics to name a man who might not carry his own State and who would, therefore, go before the electoral college without any vote to start with.

Although President Taft was understood to have approved early announcement of a vice presidential choice, he was won over to the other view, and it was said tonight that the National Committee, at its meeting Nov. 12, will make the selection. The President reached New York tonight shortly after 10 o'clock. Attorney General Wickesham, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel and Postmaster General Hitchcock, of his Cabinet; Chairman Hilles, of the Republican National Committee, and Senators Root, Crane and Penrose were visitors on his private car on the way down from Utica. The President remained in New York tonight and will leave tomorrow night for Cincinnati. He will go by way of Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and other big Ohio towns.

Governor of Georgia uses Sloan's Liniment for Hog Cholera.

"I heard Gov. IN MEMORIAM.

Died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Deboe, of near Fredonia, Oct. 28th, 1912, Allen, better known to all as "brother" aged a little more than three years, having been born Jan. 15th, 1909.

Thus over a happy home the shadow of a little grave has fallen; and as another has said, it is wonderful how long a shadow a little grave can cast.

But, clustering about the flowers that are blooming there, mingling with the oppressive silence that shrouds the revered spot, and quivering amidst the gloom of the grave the holiest memories speak in tones that fill the ear and thrill the sorrowing heart. All that there was of the life that has faded into the night of endless sleep; it's lights and it's shadows; it's sweetness and purity, pass before us like a rapidly moving panorama. Under such influences, with such a thrilling picture of days gone by, we must pause to speak of the baby boy in such a manner as will, if possible, comfort those to whom the life was most dear.

This beautiful baby life was so precious, so fraught with blessing to his parents that he seemed a flower of paradise permitted to bloom for a brief season by their side, then recall to it's natures skies, leaving the earth road for them dark and lonely indeed.

And when the messenger came from the unseen land to claim the dainty darling as his own;

He only crossed his little hands, He only looked more meek and fair, We parted back his silken hair, We wove the tear drops round his brow.

White buds, also, the summers drifted snow, Wrap him from head to foot in flowers, And thus he went out of this world of ours.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. T. Oakley, of Marion, who spoke of that eternal home, which the dear little one had gone to possess.

May the blessings of Heaven rest upon the bereaved family and friends.—C. V. OAKLEY.

IN MEMORIAM.

Kittie Hardesty, daughter of J. F. and Mary E. Hardesty, was born near Carrsville, Ky., Feb. 14, 1871. Was married to W. A. Davis, June, 1888. To this union were born nine children, all of whom survive her. They are as follows:—Mrs. Chas. Davis, Ed, Ralph, Luther, May, Katie, Homer, Ray and Ruth.

Mrs. Davis professed religion at Pleasant Hill, September, 1911, and united with the M. E. church at Tolu and lived a consistent member till death. She often expressed deep regret over her long delay of consecrating her heart to God. At one time she said to the writer, "Oh, I don't know,—I just can't see, now, what made me put off salvation so long. Why there is more real pleasure in religion than anything else in the world." Her faith was strong in God. She was a woman of remarkable strength of character. On the death of her husband, on Christmas day, 1910, it seemed to many of her friends, that it would be best for her to find homes for her children as it was such a great undertaking to keep them together and support them, but with a mother's great love, she said, "no I cannot part with my children, as long as I am able to work." "My place, is with them; and their place with me." She taken sick Oct. 8th, with malarial fever and was not thought to be in much danger till a few days before her death. Complications arose and the real battle for her precious life began. All that loving hearts and willing hands could do was done but God, in His infinite wisdom, saw best to take her to Himself. She never spoke of dying, but the day before she died she spoke of hearing such beautiful singing, and said to those at her bedside, "can't you hear it?" "They are singing 'Glory To His Name,' "and I never heard such lovely singing."

She died Oct. 23rd, 1912. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, G. Y. Wilson, after which she was laid to rest beside her husband in the White graveyard near Irma, Ky. A large concourse of friends and relatives gathered to pay the last sad tribute of love, to her, who had so lately walked among us. She leaves a father, mother, several brothers and nine sisters and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Weep not that her toils are o'er, Weep not that her race is run, God grant we may rest as calmly, When our work, like hers is done, Till then we yield with gladness, Our sister to Him to keep, And rejoice in the sweet assurance, He giveth His loved ones sleep.

PLENTY OF BEER BUT NO TOBACCO.

By A. W. MACY.

Beer and tobacco are supposed by some people to be on about the same footing, but a certain company in London 200 years ago did not seem to think so. It was the business of this company to look after the welfare of the emigrants who had gone out from the mother country to seek "homes" in the New World. In 1629 it sent over the good ship Talbot, loaded with provisions, clothing, etc., to the Massachusetts bay colony by the same ship the company sent a long list of instructions in regard to their conduct, telling them what they should and should not do. One of the things they were forbidden to do was to cultivate and use tobacco, "unless it be some small quantity for mere necessity, and for physic for the preservation of their health, and that the same be taken privately by antient men and none other."

Heretofore the greatest number of speakers ever pulled off in one day in Kentucky was 35. Mr. McChesney's record, therefore, is away ahead of any which has preceded it. He is being generously congratulated on his achievement.—Louisville Post.
