CHAUTAUQUA WILL BE HERE NEXT YEAR.

Had No Trouble to Secure The Required Guarantee of $1,000
Among Enthusiasts

FINE THING FOR OUR CITY

Marion is the smallest town in the South to have Redpath's Circuit Chautauqua.

The progressive spirit of the citizens of Marion asserted itself last week when more than fifty persons pledged themselves to be responsible for tickets amounting to $1,000 as a guarantee to secure the great Redpath Chautauqua next summer.

Several months ago Supt. Snyder, manager of the local Lyceum course, took up the matter with the Redpath Bureau of Chicago. Due to the size of the town and its location, it was a hard matter to get the bureau interested enough to send its representatives here to investigate. But the Bureau took the stand that a town that could support a Lyceum course as large as ours, could and would support a Chautauqua. Acting upon this belief, two men of the bureau, Mr. Pasley and Mr. Wilson were sent here last Wednesday afternoon.

Nothing further than a consultation was attempted until Thursday afternoon. Then in twenty-four hours the required number of guarantors were secured.

The Chautauqua has been called the People's University. It is correctly named for it brings the best preachers, orators, entertainers, and musicians that can be had, and it gives a week's wholesome treat that leaves no bad taste in the mouth. Such lecturers as Gov. Folk and Adam Bede, such music as Knight's famous band and such entertainers as Lamant are on the program.

More extended notice will be given later. The time is about the last of June or the first of July.

There will be twenty programs and the tickets for the whole week are two dollars or all over fourteen years of age. For those under that age, one dollar.

They do all the advertising, bring their own tent and crew and between 125 and 150 persons are on the program. They put advertising matter in every home in the county and in all towns within 50 miles of Marion.

Following is a list of names of those who pledged: W. B. Yandell, T. H. Cochran, Jas. H. Orme, Jas. U. Snyder, T. H. Guess, H. V. Stone, W. D. Cannan, R. F. Haynes, R. L. Moore, Carl Henderson, C. C. BELOVED YOUNG MATRON CALLED

Deaths Ends Suffering for Mildred
Haynes Bennett, Early Saturday Morning at Tolv.

Seldom has there been more genuine sorrow felt in Marion than that experienced in the death of Mildred Haynes, the girl wife of Trice Bennett. For months it had been known that her fight with the grim monster was an unequal one and her friends and family and devoted husband had hoped against doubts and fears. Altho attended by the best medical skill, trained nurse and a loving mother, and husband, she gradually sank under the ravages of the dread tuberculosis, until the end came in the early hours last Saturday morning at her home near Tolv.

The remains were brought here to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haynes where the funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, being conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. V. Escott, of the Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. Gordon of the Methodist Church, after which the remains were laid to rest in the New Cemetery and the mound was covered with flowers, tokens of love and affection from friends here and elsewhere.

The deceased was in her 27th year having been born, Jan. 21st 1886.

She was married June 10 1908, to Trice Bennett, who survives her with two little girls. Their wedding was a memorable one being a double wedding at which her brother, W. V. Haynes and Miss Willie Croft were united in marriage and it was especially notable in beauty and in the popularity of the contracting parties and the plan in which it was carried out and many who were there were at the sad finale Sunday and their minds reverted to the bright and happy scene four short years ago when she left the same house a bride.

It is no fulsome praise to say she was universally beloved. Gentle in manner a true Christian, she was held in high esteem by those who knew her best.

She was of a timid and retiring nature; but was refinement personified and was noted at all times for devotion and obedience to her parents' wishes.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the motherless babes, the stricken husband, the dotting parents, brothers and sisters.

Important Letter To Tobacco Growers.

Marion, Ky., Dec. 9 1912
Editor Record-Press:

Will you be kind enough to give me space in your valuable paper to say a few words to the tobacco growers of this county of all sorts and kinds of growers. As I have been urged several times in the last few days by a large number of growers to see if this crop can be sold and moved out early. I have appointed myself as a committee of one to look after this matter at once. So I am now in correspondence with several tobacco buyers and will very soon have several buyers in this county. I will also say to all independent growers to get up a small sample of their crop and leave it with Calvin Elder at Marion so that I can get to see as many samples as I can before the buyers get in the county so that I can give some information as regarding the price and as to how you ought to class it and I must urge the pool people of the Union to pool at Marion.

If they wish me to split in selling their pool tobacco I will assure them I will do all I can to effect a sale for them and if the pool committee will get in touch with me and have as many samples placed in their factory at Marion as they can in the next ten days, before all of the buyers get in I will bring the buyers to their factory in Marion and do what I can do in getting up a sale. All of the independent growers will please drop me a card to Marion, Ky. so that I can get as many names and where you are. You will have to act promptly to get up a sale of all

I am afraid you will not sell as well as you did last year but I hope you will. I am going to do all I can free of charge—now all hands work together.

E. C. Jones and family, of Sturgis, spent Sunday with his parents at this place.

Misses Willie Stephenson and Martha Wilborn, of Marion, spent Thanksgiving with Miss Allie Wilborn and Mrs. Foster, of this place.

Mrs. W. L. Samuels, Misses Velda Cullen, Eunice and Dora Jones spent Thanksgiving at W. K. Powell's. A splendid dinner such as Mrs. Powell is famous for, was served, and after dinner a party composed of Velda Cullen, Bernice, Lockie, Dewey and Kenna Powell, Dora and Eunice Jones started out to explore the cave on Mr. Samuels' farm, but when we reached the mouth of the cave it looked so small and dark that Bernice Powell and Dora Jones decided that they had rather stay on the outside. The rest of the crowd went in, however, with Kenna Powell as leader with one lantern and a pocket full of matches, Velda Cullen and Eunice Jones carried a ball of twine in to find the way out and no trouble occurred, until we disturbed an o'possum and a number of troublesome mosquitos. We soon left Mr. Possum and started back and found a scorpion, but Kenna killed it, and the entry was soon reached, but lo! the small opening was filled with chunks, rocks and sticks. We hardly knew what to do but Kenna went to work and finally removed enough to let us out and upon questioning the other girls, discovered that Mr. Lefe Samuels was to blame for our imprisonment. We all reached home about dark, tired and worn out but well pleased with our afternoon of fun and pleasure and hope to go again sometime.

Dr. Bob Moore and family, of Marion, spent Sunday with Gus Summerville and family, of Mattoon.

Dr. Ben Price, of Blackford, was here last week.

Miss Monte Stanley spent Sunday afternoon with Eunice Jones.

Wm. Nation and wife and Miss Rubie Moore, of the Baker section, were here Saturday shopping.

Thomas Woody, of Marion, was here Tuesday.

MRS. BOSTON ANNOUNCES.

Fredonia, Ky., Nov. 20, 1912.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Dear Sir and Friend:

Having been solicited by quite a number of my friends to make the race for the Post Office, I have decided to do so. I have spent quite a lot of my time and means caring for the orphans and have raised five of them. So I believe, now, something should come my way, and I believe I have friends enough that will help me win in this battle. I don't see why some lady of old Crittenden should not have part of Uncle Sam's pie. I am as good a democrat as you ever saw. So if you will put this before the public, my friends will come to my rescue.

Very Respectfully,
MRS. G. E. BOSTON.

Failed to Send Children to School; Must Pay $5 Fine.

In placing a fine of $5.00 upon Mitchell Ford, a resident of the Bayou country, for failing to send his children to school, County Judge Clarke made a statement from the bench warning all parents and guardians that hereafter he will not be so lenient in cases of a similar nature. Mr. Ford had three children of school age that have not attended school this year and was brought before the court on complaint of the school authorities of the county.

The Banner heartily commends the course of the officers who are trying to enforce this law and especially Judge Clarke for his frank statement and fair warning to others who willfully disregard the duties they owe their posterity. — Livingston Banner.

BLACK LEG

Attacks Cattle in Kentucky—New Serum Laboratory.

Dr. Robert Graham, of the Division of Animal Husbandry of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, has secured information, that, the blackleg is prevalent among cattle in sections of the state. He thinks that it is advisable to immunize all young cattle in the infected districts. The vaccine for this purpose may be obtained through the Division of Animal Husbandry of the Station, free of charge, and when possible a man will be detailed to immunize the herd.

The State is to have New Serum Laboratory. At a meeting of the Board of Control of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station a contract was let for the construction of a new serum laboratory to be located on the Experiment Station farm. This building is to cost $10,640 and is to be completed by April 15th, 1913. The laboratory will be a two-story brick building 37x45 feet long, with a basement, which will be used for cold storage, boxing, shipping and heating. The second floor will consist of four rooms, a sterilizing room; the laboratory proper, where the serum is handled; the operating room, where the serum is drawn from the animals and another room, where the animal is thoroughly washed and cleaned before entering the operating room. The third floor will consist of offices and emergency rooms.

When this new laboratory is complete it will be possible to produce 300,000 c. c. of serum per week. This amount of serum will be sufficient to vaccinate 1500 hogs averaging 50 pounds each. Three hundred head of hogs will be kept to furnish and to equal the capacity of the laboratory.

The Experiment Station has been cultivating the government strain of virus. This work will be continued and has been provided for by two inspection sheds, which are 40 feet long and divided into four equal parts, with concrete floors and drains and wire netting on the sides to prevent the birds from scattering the infection.

With this equipment, the present prospect for the control of hog cholera in the state of Kentucky is very encouraging and will be surpassed in the production of serum only by the state of Ohio. Forty thousand doses of hog cholera serum have been prepared and 1500 hogs vaccinated in the last ten months by station men. From 90 to 95 per cent of the cases were saved from contracting the disease. This shows the value of this work to the swine owners of Kentucky.

On account of the limited facilities the station has been unable to furnish the demands. After the new laboratory is complete, it will not only be able to furnish Kentucky but many of the southern states. It is expected that orders from the southern states will be sufficient to maintain the expense of the laboratory. At present one cent per cubic centimeter is charged for serum and virus to Kentucky farmers. But there are no charges for the services of field experts. The Station even defrays the traveling expenses to protect the hogs against disease. During the summer months four men and during the winter months two men are employed for this work. These services will be greatly increased and the production and distribution of approximately 1500 doses of hog cholera serum weekly will do much to prevent the million dollar loss which has annually been sustained by the swine breeders of the state through the inroads of this terrible disease.

It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism Electric Bitters have no superior. Try them. Panama Canal To Is.

In fixing the Panama Canal tolls, President Taft has been guided entirely, it appears, by the advice of Professor Johnson, the expert selected to investigate the matter. In his report Prof. Johnson shows his decision influenced by the conviction that the Suez Canal will be a formidable competitor of the Panama Canal for a great volume of maritime commerce. Accordingly, he has fixed the Panama toll, it appears, to correspond with the Suez toll, in order to place the rival trade routes upon an equal footing. He outlines briefly the division of trade between the two canals, which he expects to result from the tolls prescribed. The expert presentment in support of the established toll is a strong and logical one. It was expected that the rate fixed would range between $1.00 and $1.25 per ton. There was, we believe, some opposition to the latter figure on the ground that it would drive traffic away. With the tolls adjusted to meet the Suez competition, that objection should fall. The rates are, we take it, experimental in a way and subject to change upon due notice. So that any error of judgement and miscalculation will be easily remediable. Their announcement a good way in advance of the canal's opening has been requested by commerce, and it is to be hoped that the figures fixed will prove satisfactory. In one respect they may find objection in the United States. For not a few Americans have felt that the tolls should be so adjusted as to make the canal self-sustaining from the start.—New Orleans Times-Democrat

OLD SOW AND 5 PIGS CASE ENDS

Litigants Agree to Divide Costs of $961.35—Attorneys' Fees Will Be $1,000 More.

Petersburg, Ind., Dec. 9.—The celebrated old white sow and five pigs law suit that has attracted so much attention in southern Indiana, has been finally disposed of.

The suit was first started in October, 1907, by Ernest Sullivan vs. John R. Clark for damage done to his crops by Clark's old white sow and five pigs.

The suit was compromised yesterday, each litigant paying one-half of the costs, amounting to $961.35. As the attorneys in the case received over $1,000 the total costs of the case are over $2,000.

The sow and pigs were valued at $25 and the damage done the drop at $25. The dismissal ends one of the most laughable cases in southern Indiana. The parties live twelve miles north of here.

Since the filing of the suit Judge Shaw, of Vincennes, one of the attorneys in the case, died; Clerk J. F. Louis, of Knox county, moved away; Sullivan county divided into a separate circuit, and the plaintiff moved to Illinois.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE CASE.

The chronology of the case follows:

Oct. 25, 1907—Case tried before Squire Gabe Frank, of Oak-town. Jury after deliberating over the matter for 28 hours and 25 minutes rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff with damages.

Oct. 28, 1907—Appeal taken to circuit court and bond of $500 given.

Jan. 31, 1908—A jury of 12 good men tried the case. After being out 74 hours they reported a disagreement and were discharged.

Case set for re-trial May 14, 1910, but stricken from docket three days later.

Nov. 29, 1910—Case is again placed on the docket and venue to Sullivan county.

Sept. 11, 1911—Sent from Sullivan county to Knox for trial.

Nov. 22, 1912—Suit is settled by the litigants agreeing to divide the costs and is finally taken out of court.

A VISIT TO SALEM

A Traveler Recently in Salem Sends in The Following Nice Compliment to The Town

There is not a town in all the land that has more upright, God-fearing people, according to the inhabitants, than has the ancient town of Salem located in the Salem Valley in Livingston Co. Time was when this town was the Capital of Crittenden county. Salem was before Marion and as harking goes, that is harking back some,

Salem still stands as she always stood for truth, uprightness and the greatest good to the greatest number. There is more enterprise in Salem to the square inch than many towns of twice her size. It seems to run in the blood of the Salemites to boost, push, inflate or holler until they are black in the face over any Salem enterprise. I made a careful search and failed to find a hammer anywhere. Henry Moore said there was not a hammer in his whole stock of hardware and never had been. Can you beat it? Absolutely you cannot. Arriving there one night not long ago, I was informed that if I wanted to see anybody I would have to go to church, and sure enough everything was closed up tight and most of them were found at the Baptist church a of concrete structure. This meeting was the last of a series of revival services, conducted by Rev. Jones, of Louisville. The most impressive thing about this particular service was the immersion of eleven candidates for baptism. Of course this ordinance is administered very frequently but not often. So we see two as splendid specimens of young manhood as Mr. Brown, Salem's new school Superintendent; and Mr. Moss, Salem's very attentive hotel keeper.

And never to be forgotten was the music rendered on this occasion. Miss Nellie Gray has a voice of rare beauty with full sustained tone. There is a quality about her voice that grips you. Her solo was very much appreciated and had a tear compelling effect that caused more than one eye to be brushed. Among the others we noticed Eligah Franklin singing tenor and Oscar Pierce singing bass. The choir was not large. It made up in quality for what it lacked in quantity. One song sung by this choir still rings in our ears, "Will The Angels Come." This is a splendid piece of music and thereby hangs a tale. The former pastor of this Salem Baptist church was Bro. Watkins. One night at choir practice, he said, he wanted this piece sung at his funeral. In less than one week they sang, "Will The Angels Come," at his funeral.

High Time to Swap Tobacco for Christmas Money.

Here the 9th day of December, 1912, and not a stalk of Stemming Association 1912 tobacco sold. And the same holds true of the counties on the east side of Green river type of tobacco—as far east as Warren county and inclusive of Warren. To the east of that county the Green river Pryors, Book, Little Crittenden and Hangdown rapidly shade off into a Burley type.

Rumor has it that a sale is about closed in Warren for a pool, one-sucker type, of sixteen or eighteen million pounds. My latest advices from over there are to the effect that buyer and seller are haggling over a fraction, but are so near together a sale is inevitable around seven cents average.

To the south of us a small amount of tobacco has been sold, last week, on the loose floors at Hopkinsville. Say sixty thousand pounds of tobacco of indifferent quality at prices ranging from $4 to $11. A few crops, below a top-notch quality, have also been sold in Christian at from $8 to $9 average. But planters are stoutly holding the best crops at from $10 to $12 average in Christian. Quite sixty per cent. of the crop there is in the Protective Association.

Further south in the counties on either side the Kentucky-Tennessee boundary line no tobacco, practically speaking, has been sold.

Over at Owensboro an offer of $10, $10 and $4 has been made for three million pounds of selections. But the offer was rejected by the Green River Association. That Association for the present declines to sell a part of the twenty odd millions pooled, but has offered all the Association's holdings at from $10 to $6 for leaf and lugs, and $3 for trash. Buyers have unanimously—indeed one lone buyer could not have evinced a more entire agreement with himself—declined the offer, but with like unanimity have tendered a bid of from $8 to $6 for leaf and lugs and $3 for trash. And there the matter hangs. And will hang for many a long day on that offer, for the rank and file of the poolers are resolutely backing the Sales Committee—indeed members in meeting assembled have formally notified the sales committee that a sale below $10, $6 and $3 will fail of ratification by members.

This Stemming Association last Saturday rounded up a full line of

ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE

Cooking under modern methods and conveniences is made so attractive the whole family is becoming interested.

"These biscuits are delicious; this cake is excellent," says the father. "I made them," says the daughter, and both father and daughter beam with pleasure.

Royal Baking Powder has made home baking a success, a pleasure and a profit, and the best cooking today the world over is done with its aid.

samples representing twenty-seven or twenty-eight million of pounds of pooled tobacco grown during the current year in the counties of Hopkins, Webster, Henderson, Union and Crittenden. The district board, composed of five committeemen, one from each county, was here and passed on the classification and declared the crop in every county to be truly represented by the samples.

And by-the-way, quite a few good judges who have seen, some a part—some all, the samples, declare, in opposition to common impression I admit, this 1912 crop is while lacking the spread of leaf, on the whole superior in quality to the 1911 crop. All agree it is a far cleaner crop.

Buyers have been notified, and are hereby notified, the samples are ready for inspection, and that Manager William Elliott is, under full instructions from the District Board, prepared to negotiate a sale of the Association's 1912 crop of tobacco.

This, my once-a-week letter, goes to every newspaper in the five counties, and these concluding lines to remind the editors, true and faithful friends to the cause of farmers co-operation, that I will keep them fully informed through the Henderson dailies, or if more speed is requisite, over the 'phone, of matters of moment arising during the barter and sale, or failure of sale, of the 1912 crop.

The farmers of this Association should, and I think do in goodly measure, though not to the full, realize the inestimable, indispensable support, freely rendered by the lovable editors in the five counties.

Nothing nicer for a Xmas present than a good magazine. See Lamb & Taylor.

Death Due to Joy
At Meeting Wife.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 7.—Within an hour after he had met his wife at the depot upon a return from a visit, Harrison Keith, 71, of this city, dropped dead to-day. Joy over meeting his wife is believed to have brought on an attack of heart disease.

Those members who have not received their dividend on the 1912 crop can get it by mailing their weight tickets to E. G. Thompson, Henderson, Ky., Enclose in your letter a self-addressed envelope.

We are just in receipt of notices from General Manager Elliott in which he advises farmers not to strip and bulk tobacco this season as the tobacco is unsold and is liable to damage in bulk before it can be delivered. He further adds that if you must strip to bulk in dry order in dry order and assort as last year.

ONE MORE APPEAL

TO MY DEMOCRATIC FRIENDS.

Several times when there was but little or no hope for success, I have sacrificed my own interest and at the earnest solicitation of the democrats of this Co. have run for the office of Judge of the Crit. Co. Court when no one else seemed willing to make the sacrifice. But for the sake of party organization the ticket had to be made out, the contest fought, with the usual result, our ticket defeated except now and then a favorite on the side a winner. Unfortunately for me I have yielded too often to the request of my friends and have gone down with other sacrificing democrats in defeat; but never until every inch of ground was contested. I believed at the time that I was serving my party and giving to it my very best service in order to keep the fires of democracy burning. Not only in our fights for country offices have I given the strength of my younger manhood but I have gone out upon the stump in Crittenden Co., for other candidates and in almost every national and state election since I have been a voter and done what I could. No man deserves reward for voting his principles. This is a duty he owes not only to himself and those around his own fireside but it is a duty he owes his country as well. The party owes no man anything except a debt of gratitude. I do not claim that my services have been worth more perhaps than any other good democrat, but who of my opponent would take their place upon a county ticket in Crittenden County to run for an office and sacrifice their time and business interests, in the interest of any man or ticket or the democratic party? Not one of them. I venture the assertion that the unanimous appeal of the democratic party in Crittenden County would not persuade a single one of them to accept a place on the ticket until someone else lands the party safely in the democratic column. Its a mighty nice thing to pluck the fruit after it has been matured by the labor and sweat of another man's brow. The greatest living American today, the man to whom we are most indebted for the great Democratic victory on the Fifth Day of November last, the man that set in motion the reform and progressive ideas that are taking hold upon the American people and shaping legislation in Congress has three times been defeated for the office of President, and I predict that the crown of thorns he has so gently lifted from the brow of the American citizens by his pen and matchless leadership in the Baltimore Convention will in the course of time be pressed as it were upon his own brow. Bryan perhaps will never be president. If it was in my power I would elevate him to the seat of the highest executive office in the land, that of President. I believe that it is nothing but right to reward a man not for doing his duty, but for the sacrifice he makes for others. If any candidate for the Post Office has sacrificed more for the Democratic party than I have and received less; vote for him. If you think I have yielded to my party's call and do it a service the others would not do, not for reward but from a sense of duty, vote for me. I am asking my democratic friends now for an office that is entirely within their gift, without the aid or assistance of any other party and may I not expect my friends in this struggle to come to my aid one more time, I will never ask you for another county office.

All ready some scheming politicians are suggesting my name for the office of County Judge in 1913. This is evidently for the swinging of my support to some one of the other candidates and to make my friends feel justified in supporting some one else for postmaster and me for Judge. I beg my friends not to be duped in this way. I have already been sacrificed on that altar too often. I would not have the office if given me without opposition. If I am the strong man as they say, to run for Judge, why I am not, for the position I am asking? You see the fallacy of their argument. And right here I want to warn my friends against any dark horse, I am for a fight in the open, fair play and a square deal. I want to say that I have no promises out. If elected I shall give my democratic supporters, their sons and daughters an opportunity to stand the civil service examination for any of the clerkships in the office and I promise you, that the authorities who appoint same will be left without my influence to select them upon their merits. This will give every one a chance for these positions. What could be more fair? Have any of the other applicants offered as much. These clerkships have been promised. Has one of them been offered you? If not have you the assurance from any applicant that your son or your daughter, or your yourself young man will have an opportunity to fill one of these places? If I am elected you will have. I hope this will set at rest the current report that if elected I would make a family affair of it.

I am in the hands of my Democratic friends. It is with you. May I beg you one more time to remain loyal to me and not desert me in this the one opportunity and the only one you may ever have to help me. Whatever the result may be I shall remain a Democrat and loyal to my friends and the Democratic party. The third Saturday in January between the hours of 8 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. is the time fixed for the primary to be held in Marion when you can by secret ballot express your choice of the candidates in the field.

Making Rubber at Home.

Scientists report that they have found a way to make rubber which will probably lower the cost to 24 cts per pound. It is reckoned that every ton of rubber produced in the tropics under present conditions, costs a life. By the new method rubber will be produced from potatoes and other things within easy reach.

The thoughtless will say, How fortunate is this discovery, just when new sources of rubber supply are needed to meet the rapidly increasing demand. But the student will see in it another proof that the Messianic kingdom is near. Psa. 81:8 says of man, "Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of Thy hands," and mentions sheep, oxen, fowl and fish, showing that the things over which he is to have dominion are earthly things. In Gen. 1:28 we have the account that man was placed in the earth with instructions to subdue it and have dominion.

It is evident that this discovery of a method of making rubber is one more step toward man's subjugation of the earth, one more step towards the dominion he is yet to have. Through Adam's sin the first dominion was lost, but the Messiah is to bring about its restoration. "And thou, O tower of the flock, the stronghold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion." (Micah 4:8.)

Concerning the times just prior to the Messianic reign we have the assurance that "They, (the wise towards God) shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom and talk of thy power, to make known to the sons of men His mighty acts, and the glorious majesty of His kingdom. Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. The Lord upholdeth all that fall and raiseth up all that are bowed down. The eyes of all wait upon thee. (Psa. 145:11-15) In other words, the establishment of the Messianic Kingdom is the "desire of all nations." (Ezra. 2:7), and as predicted, "It will surely come."

Rural Carrier Examination. Marion and Tolu, Kentucky for Crittenden County.

Saturday January 11, 1913, the United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination on the date and at the place named above, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of rural carrier at Tolu, Ky., and other vacancies as they may occur on rural routes at post offices in the above-named county, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion. The usual entrance salary for rural carriers is from $600 to $1,000 per annum.

Age limit, 18 to 55, on date of examination. The maximum age limit is waived in persons honorably discharged from the United States military or naval service. An applicant must have his actual domicile in the territory supplied by a post office in the county in which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all male citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application, form 1314, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the secretary of the local examining board or the post master at any of the places named above, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Eligibles on registers established prior to March 1, 1912, can be considered for appointment only at the office for which they were examined. Such eligibles may be examined within one year from their former examinations upon filing applications showing that they meet the requirements of the new examination, their old eligibility for their home offices not being canceled.

Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington. As examination papers are shipped direct from the Commission to the places of examinations, it is necessary that applications be received in ample time to arrange for the examination at the place indicated by the applicant. The Commission will therefore arrange to examine any applicant whose application is received in time to permit the shipment of the necessary papers.

An eligible register for the position of rural letter carrier for each county will be maintained. A person must be examined in the county in which the post office that supplies his home is situated. As a result of such examination he may become eligible to appointment as rural carrier at any post office in such county. A rural letter carrier after one year's satisfactory service may be transferred to the position of clerk or carrier in a first or second class post office to the position of railway mail clerk, or to other positions in the classified service, subject to such examination as may be required by the civil service rules.

Lessons in Economy.

It has been decided to teach economy in the schools. Economy is an element of character of great value to man and pleasing to God. It will be remembered that when the angel of death passed through the land of Egypt, in the night prior to Israel's deliverance the Israelites had considerable supplies of bread not yet baked. Instead of throwing the dough away when they began their march to Canaan, "the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading troughs being bound up in their clothes upon their shoulders," and thus departed. (Ex. 13:54.) Although God provided them with bread from heaven after this was exhausted, yet they were expected to use it while it lasted.

The deliverance of Israel from Egypt is a wonderful picture of the coming deliverance of mankind at the hands of the One of whom Moses said, "The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a prophet from the midst of thee, of their brethren, like unto me." (Deut. 18:15-19.) As Moses delivered Israel from the power of Pharaoh, so the Messiah will deliver mankind from the power of the Devil. As Pharaoh was drowned, so the Devil will be destroyed. "Never shalt thou be any more" are the words addressed to Satan to show that he will not be preserved anywhere. (Ezek. 26:13-16.)

As Moses had the people save their dough, unleavened, and carry it with them across the Red Sea, so the Messiah, during the Messianic reign, will have the people knead, bake and eat the bread of life, the Word of God, upon which it is now our privilege to feed. Then the food will be without leaven, whereas now we do not always get the bread of life served in that way. Another difficulty is that we are now living in the time when there is "a famine in the land, not a famine of bread nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord." Amos (3:13.)

The Turkish Exodus.

Our correspondents say the Turkish population is fleeing en masse before the Bulgarian Army, leaving the country behind them uninhabited. No movement like this has taken place since the middle ages. A correspondent says, "This headlong flight of the population eastward and southward is no ordinary fugitives' flight from home scenes to which they will return. There is and has been no one for a week, beyond Tchorlu. The hords seem to have fallen back toward Constantinople by instinct. Their villages have all been burned and they will erect villages on the other side of the Bosphorus."

In view of the foregoing, and in view of the way the flower of the Turkish Army was mowed down by the Bulgarians, it is small wonder that many think the hand of God is in the disruption of European Turkey. The driving of the Turks beyond the Bosphorus may mean, however, a period of rest and reconstruction to Palestine and the other portions of Asiatic Turkey, while the nations of Europe are engaged in a death struggle over the spoils she has left. If this be so, what a wonderful incentive it is to all Jews to leave Europe and return to their native land.

In Gen. 17:6 God promised Abraham "All the land of Canaan for an everlasting possession." In Gen. 15:16 this everlasting title covers "from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates." In Gen. 35:12 the deed was confirmed to Jacob. Gen. 23:4 and 37:1 agree that Abraham and Jacob, during their lifetime, were strangers in the land which they and their posterity are to have "for an everlasting possession." (Gen. 46:4.)

How unreasonable God would have been to tell Abraham to "Lift up now thine eyes and look from the place where thou art northward and southward and eastward and westward, for all the land which thou seest to thee will I give it and to thy seed forever." (Gen. 13:14-15.) If neither Abraham nor his posterity are ever to come into possession of the land.

Wm. Clark's Daughter Injured. Rafter Falls and Hits Her Toe Making Amputation Necessary.

Mrs. Hanyes, the wife of Rev. J. G. Haynes, pastor of the Saint John Methodist church narrowly escaped what might have been a serious accident yesterday afternoon at the new Blendville Methodist church which was built yesterday. Rev. and Mrs. Haynes left Cartersville yesterday afternoon to see the accomplishing of building a church in one day. About ten minutes after they arrived she stepped inside the edifice to see how the work was progressing on the inside. She had only been standing inside for a few seconds when a large rafter fell from above, striking the toes on her right foot. The board grazed her head striking her hat. Two Christmas Trees. Captain and His Wife and Crew Lost.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—The Rouse Simmon, a three masted schooner with a crew of 16 men and the captain's wife, were believed today to have gone down in Lake Michigan.

The boat was two weeks overdue from Manistique, Mich. with the annual cargo of Christmas trees. She was sighted more than a week ago flying distress signals during a severe gale. The high sea and wind hindered savers who put out and they lost sight of the schooner.

Later a search in the neighborhood where the boat was last seen the life savers saw wreckage and Christmas trees floating but could find no trace of the ship.

Today they reported that they believed the boat had gone down with all on board.

"THE LOOM OF LIFE."

Review of Prof. Noe's Recently Published Book of Poems.

"The Loom of Life," a volume of verses by James Thomas Cotton Noe of the State University of Kentucky, recently from the press is a most delightful little book, and our criticism is "all good" it is not because Prof. Noe is one of our friends, but because his work appeals to a lover of nature, because its lessons are drawn

Warp and woof from the Loom of Life,
A fabric wrought in endless strife;
Lights and shadows, night and day,
A thousand tints of gold and gray,
Ten thousand shades in leaf and bloom

Prof. Noe has woven the material in "The Loom of Life" in five parts: "A Skein of Silver," "A Spool of Silk," "Gold and Gossamer," "Linen and Lace" and "A Hank of Homespun," each of which, though characteristic of the author, contains a distinct thought. In "A Skein of Silver" we see how the author has looked deep into the beauties of the commonplace; how, in his reflections on "the old fashioned loom" "the old, old clock" "the old spinning wheel" "the old water mill" and "the old drinking gourd" he draws from each the lesson of the great beauty of the simplicity of the olden days. Leaving the workaday world behind, the reader agrees with the author; "The world may grow fastidious in art add nature, too,

And say there is no beauty in the rainbow's every hue;
And yet the bee finds nectar in the common clover bloom
And I still love the music of the old, old fashion loom.

"A Spool of Silk" is a collection of sonnets, some touching man's more serious experience such as "Solitude," some dedicated at the time they were written and some with that rich sense of humor so well known to those more intimate with Prof. Noe. "Our Pilgrimage" is dedicated to the Canterbury Club of which Prof. Noe is a member.

In the third division called "Gold and Gossamer," the melody of the lines and words shows that the author is a musician at heart, a musician, not only of sound but of sight, for the colors of nature are so harmoniously wrought as to be true music to the eye;

How they flood the soul with music,
Sad as song of nightingale.
Tinkling melodies of music,
Vague, uncertain, longing, tragic,
Just the cowbells in the vale.

A "Rondeau" to Wordsworth and an "Acrostic" to Burns, are among the contents of "Gold and Gossamer."

Love in many phases is the theme in "Linen and Lace" the happy love of childhood, passion, mother and toward mankind; it is the oldest theme, yet ever new, and will never lack appreciative readers.

"A Hank of Homespun" is just what the name implies: a collection of homespun tales, as homely but tales warranted to wear as well as the weave itself, written in the tongue of the untaught that show the wealth of sympathy which the author possesses: few readers will be able to read these verses without a smile at the genial author of these lines.

Although the volume is a small one, Prof. Noe has given to the world a bit of his own personality and the world is better because of the existence of just such work.

The State University of Kentucky as well as the city of Lexington is to be congratulated on having entered among its instructors, the name of the author of "The Loom of Life."

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince the Most Skeptical
Marion Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts.
Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The following case is typical.
Marion residents should be convinced. The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.
Coleman Byford, Marion, Ky., says: "I cannot express my gratitude for the great good Doan's Kidney Pills did me. I was laid up with my back. I had to pass the kidney secretions many times during the night and there was a scalding sensation when being void. My heart was also affected, and my health and strength ran down. I had about given up hope of recovery. I was living in Owensboro at the time and the two doctors that were attending me, could do nothing for me. I had heard my mother speak highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they had cured her, I procured a box. Before I had finished the contents, I felt greatly improved and after I had given four boxes, I was well." (Statement used February 3, 1906.)

LATER TESTIMONY

On February 2, 1912, Mr. Byford added: "I can still praise Doan's Kidney Pills. I do not need this remedy very often, but when I do, it quickly cures me of kidney complaint."

call ourselves freemen," as stated in resolution No. 3.

TAKE NOTICE.

That the Crittenden County Farmers Union Tobacco Association without going into the details of the accusation that has been so widely circulated as to their attitude in the matter of the request that was made of the tobacco buyers. Had this word request been received in the same kindly spirit as it was given there would have been no need of any misunderstanding by any one.

Be it resolved—

That we the Farmers Union Tobacco association, concede the right to the Independent Tobacco buyer to commence buying tobacco when he pleases.

Be it further resolved,

That the said Association further concede to the Independent Tobacco growers to sell their tobacco to whom they please, when they please and where they please.

Be it further resolved—

That as far as the Farmers' Union Tobacco Association is concerned it is too dignified to stoop to any unlawful measure or to obstruct any one from buying or selling or marketing their tobacco or any thing else that they so desire and it gives them pleasure to see the farmers get a good price for what they raise, for God knows they need it.

Hoping this statement will be satisfactory to every one we beg to remain,

Yours, Respt.,

THE COMMITTEE.

Some of our boys visited Smithland this week to talk to the Grand Jury.

Capt. J. A. Alvis will cultivate the Jolley farm next year.

The rock crusher fertilizer plant has closed down since the election, to await the action of Congress on the tariff question.

Hons. C. H. Wilson, Chas. Ferguson and H. F. Green were in Salem a few days last week taking depositions.

Your correspondent was in Salem a few days ago, and showed to Judge Stevens and Col. Rappolee the New Salem items in the Record-Press. They well remember Maj. Harpending coming to Cross Roads to have his critter shod; he stopped and gave to them the history of his critter. He said that he rode her through the Civil War, and rode her through that memorable charge on Missionary Ridge, where the Major was badly wounded. They asked him how he received his wounds, he said he was running and a mule kicked him. They remembered to, that they were in an argument on scripture when the Major approached them. They say that they had some difference of opinion on certain passages, and knowing the Major's knowledge of the scriptures, and that he had sat at the knees of Mr. Jesse Dooley and Mr. Thos. Nickols, who were ministers and versed in the bible, and not knowing that he had gotten a dose of that celebrated rheumatism medicine, they asked him to decide certain points upon which they disagreed but the Major got all balled up and would not talk about anything but his almanac. That they then gently broke the election news to him, being the first election news he had received. He flew into a rage, used some sulphurous language and went home.

Gard of Thanks.

Samuel Long died Dec. 5th, 1912 and was buried next day at the King Graveyard. Those good Samaritans who rendered him service, from the least to the greatest, have our sincere thanks and prayers. May the Lord richly recompense you for your charitable deeds.

Like Lazarus he died a beggar and we trust and have evidence to believe, like Lazarus, "he was carried to Abraham's bosom."

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints,"

May the world deal kindly and gently with his little boys, is the wish of his Father and Sister.

(From Manager Wm. Elliott.)

To the Members of the Stemming District Tobacco Association in the counties of Henderson, Webster, Union, Hopkins and Crittenden:

Gentlemen:—Now that we have soft weather and tobacco is in order, we beg to advise you that it would be best not to take down any tobacco during this season, as we have not sold a pound of the name but the telephone.

If you will leave your tobacco hanging in the barn during this season and let them run, you will find that they show better grades. If you take the tobacco down and bulk it before the colors have run, you will find it will show dingy; therefore, we beg you to allow it to remain hanging until a sale is effected, for the reasons above stated.

We would also like to advise you as to the stripping and grading of the crop, and will say in the beginning that if that if you will follow last year's instructions, assorting all your tobacco in the proper class to which they belong, you will get more money for your crop. For the past few years we have assorted the tobacco into five grades, and we shall ask you if you have that many grades in your crop that you will so assort it.

No. 1—Long, fine, rich, smooth, good color and body leaf and lugs.

No. 2—Long, good, rich tobacco, not as smooth nor as fancy as No. 1.

No. 3—Good, medium brown, smooth leaf and lugs.

No. 4—Medium grade, fair color, shortish leaf and lugs.

No. 5—Common leaf and lugs, that will go in the above grades.

No. 1 Trash—Select trash out of your crop.

No. 2 Trash—The commoner trash out of your crop.

Let me suggest in culling your trash that you drop all the commonest out of it, which will go in your No. 2 grade and the long and better quality of the trash, dark and bright goes into No. 1. It is a very easy matter if members will do so, and it will amply repay them to separate their good and common trash. We have found heretofore that members do not feel disposed to cull their trash well, but we advise you it will pay you to do so.

It will be very greatly to your advantage if you will be careful in stripping to have all grades thoroughly separated, and you will find by so doing you will get a higher average for your crop.

Again let me insist that when you do take your tobacco down that you see that it is in good, dry order, as a great deal of friction occurs over this point and we shall hope that all members will be guided by these instructions.

If you will leave your tobacco hanging in the barn during this season and let them run, you will find that they show better grades. If you take the tobacco down and bulk it before the colors have run, you will find it will show dingy; therefore, we beg you to allow it to remain hanging until a sale is effected, for the reasons above stated.

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM ELLIOTT,
Gen. Mgr. S. D. T. A.

Uncle Josh Is Mad.

Mr. Editor, I am mad! Shonuf mad! When a fellow comes to town and wants to hob-nob with his friends and have a good time while he is attending to business it does look like that there ought to be nothing to hinder him. Well we have just had a court day in our capital city and your uncle was there. He had always had a love for good horses and was looking around at those that were being ridden and driven into town when he heard lots of noise from "jockey square" and went around to see what was going on. Now my pap always told me that the jockey business was a very poor business and I have kept away from where it was going on. But I feel like that all people ought to be interested in the development of the county and its resources and discourage all that is not "according to Hoyle." That is my reason for being in the "vicinity" of "jockey square."

Well, Mr. Editor, if I was not a member of the church and in good standing, I do not know just what I would say. However, I must do myself justice as well as the subject in hand. When I got in a square of the place it seems that I could smell sulphur burning, but when I had got a little closer, I found that the Old Boy was on hand and having a great time.

Cussin'! Whew! The air was b'c. Yellin' at the top of their voices and with all the power that their muscular arms could command and their legs could summon, the jockeys were whipping and spurring their horses.

Are we in heathen lands or Christian America! I have read some of the heathen countries but I never saw it 'till last Monday. To see those poor old stiff horses that should have been turned out on a pension of fifteen big ears of corn and a big fork full of hay, run up and down that place and made miserable by the constant spurring and whipping, is more than any man with a heart in the right place can stand without getting down-right mad.

Then there were boys of tender ages who were taking in all of that course vulgarity and those vile oaths and learning the ways of the toughs. Shall we allow this to continue. Will those who live in the vicinity sit on the stool of do nothing and allow this to go on in the hearing and seeing of their families? Will good humane citizens, and law-abiding citizens, put up with this kind of heathenism in this day and time? Is there no law on our statute books against such disregard for the feelings of the best of dumb beasts?

Uncle Josh calls on the good women, who, by the way, are about twenty years ahead of us poor mortals and worms of the dust, to lend their help and organize a humane society. Let everybody do something and stop this meanness.

UNCLE JOSH.

Interesting Items From Carrsville.

Nick Bridges, our stock buyer, made his usual weekly shipment of forty odd head of beef cattle and about the same number of porkers on Tuesday via the steamer Ruth to Evansville. Mr. Bridges has recently erected a model two-story and basement meat market and carries at all times dressed beef and pork to supply any demand. His prices are somewhat staggering to the old time marketmen, the very best cuts of beef which includes porterhouse and sirloin steaks are sold at 12 cents per pound. Rib roasts and less favored cuts are at a less price. Fancy dressed light weight hogs in the shape of chops and roasts, are also 12 cents. He is now cutting up twelve head every six days. As you evidently have no meat markets in Marion, at least none are advertised in the Press, a telephone to Mr. Bridges will bring to Marion $\frac{1}{2}$ the next morning's mail hack, steaks, roasts and chops at the above prices, the transportation charges being about 1 cent per pound in 20 pound lots. The new postal package system will put Carrsville meat into the eastern cities as the quality price has already created a strong demand in southern Illinois towns and throughout Livingston Co.

Henry Hammack, the genial hardware man, representing a Louisville house, is making Carrsville instead of Tolu his river base of operations.

The Davis Produce Co., of Carrsville, and Golconda, Ill., made a sale of their three months' accumulation of furs last week at good prices. Many hundred of skins of raccoons, skunks, muskrats, fox, both red and grey, mink and o'possum, were packed in big bales shipped north. The price in detail was not given although the total reached several thousand dollars. This produce company is obliged to retain a special boat on the Ohio river to transport its poultry and eggs to the Illinois Central at Golconda for shipment north and east, daily.

Just now the town is somewhat exhilarated over the mining operations being carried on, a stone's throw from the Main Street. The vein of the highest grade of zinc blende and the big ledge of Fluor Spar being the prizes aimed at by the company. The new concrete lined shaft was completed on Wednesday night, a night force being employed. Professor Wright, of Louisville; Lieutenant Colonel Saunders, of Several Cities; Major Reed, of Marion; Baron James Henry, of Tucson; Lord George Crider, of Oshkosh; Herr Guttenburg Boyland, of Alaska, and other celebrities have inspected this Carrsville zinc vein and so far, none of them seems to know why such big things should be found in Carrsville. Col. Roberts promises a great big barbecue when the present shaft reaches the ore body, and from present indications this roasted meat dinner will be given pretty soon.

A sad accident happened over at the Fairview mines the other day when a miner named Hollman, drilled into an unfired hole. He will probable die. His brother lost his life in the same mines last year.

The writer is pleased to notice that a lady from Boston announces for the Marion Postmistresship, why not? To make it more interesting let us hear from Louisville, Cincinnati and Louis.

Rather extravagant reports float up the river from Golconda relative to the building of rival railroad lines along the bluff at the Fairview incline a mile and a half from the village. A good deal of fun is being made over this work, but one can hardly get a line upon it. It seems the Southern Illinois Fluor Spar Co., (the Pierce Bros.,) have completed the grading of several miles of a narrow guage road connecting their sparr mine with the railroad and a second construction crew is grading along the river bank for a standard guage road. It is presumed the latter is in the interest of one or more officials of a St. Louis Trust Company, who own the right of way and as there isn't room for two lines along this bank it would block the extension of the Illinois Central, northerly. Judging from most poker games, it looks like a big bluff on the part of the trust officials against the I. C.
