A BEAUTIFUL CHRISTMAS WEDDING

Rev. M. E. Miller Pronounced The Ceremony That United Prominent Couple.

A beautiful Christmas wedding was that of Miss Mary Coffield and Mr. Harry Kuykendall which was celebrated at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Christmas day, Rev. Martin E. Miller officiating. Promptly at the hour appointed the bridal party arrived at the entrance of the church, the interior of which was already filled to overflowing with the friends of the happy pair.

The church had been decorated for the occasion with flowers, evergreens, palms and ferns.

The bride attired in a tailor-made traveling suit was given away by her uncle, C. S. Nunn, and they were preceded to the altar by the maid of honor, Miss Lena Holtzclaw who led the way down the left aisle, the groom and his best man, Mr. O. T. Miller of Vincennes, Ind., taking the right aisle and meeting the bride at the altar, where in a most appropriate ceremony they were united "for life, for better or for worse until death do us part."

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party accompanied them to the station where they took the afternoon train for an extended tour to Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio and other points in the east. They will reside in Paducah which is the center of the groom's territory; he holds a lucrative position with National Cash Register Company.

WAS WHITE CHRISTMAS

Four Inches of Snow Fell on Christmas-

Four inches of snow fell Monday evening, Dec. 23rd, the first real snow of the season. In places it drifted until it was a foot deep, and Tuesday morning, Christmas eve day the scene was beautiful beyond description. Every flake clung where the great Decorator designed and the purity of the Heaven seemed to have dropped to earth in honor of the birthday of His Son. The sheeted earth lay beneath the bended boughs and the snow clung to every twig and wire white capping every thing it touched. Parties driving through country roads out for Christmas beside royal wood fires and real Christmas cheer that is found most historic and abundant in prosperous country homes, were thrilled by glimpses of beautiful vistas, the art of man could in no wise rival—and if an uplifted buggy whip touched the burdened limbs delicately showering the beholder, it was an impulse not to be resisted or resented while under the influence of the festive season. That night fire works flashed beautifully on numerous snowclad hills and Santa's rein-deers dashed through ideal scenes, but the next day the snow departed as quietly as Santa and as it came. It was a special decoration.

In town the snow ordinance worked well and most of the citizens cleaned the snow off the sidewalks. We had a "white Christmas."

HE WHO FIGHTS AND RUNS AWAY

Will Live to Fight Another Day. Homer Lewis' Case Next Monday.

Considerable excitement was created in Judge Blue's court one day last month, when Homer Lewis, a young man living near Lola, in Livingston county, who was brought before the court on a charge of bastardy, made a dash for the woods and for liberty. Through some error in the warrant upon which Lewis was arrested, it was necessary for the court to dismiss the warrant and issue a new one. When Judge Blue dismissed the warrant, and before the clerk could issue another, the prisoner, seeing there was no warrant to hold him a prisoner, took advantage of the situation and bolted from the court room, going down the banistered stairway, five steps at a jump. Emerging into the fresh air of out-doors, he proceeded to kick the dust of the blamed town off his feet, making for the surrounding fields, going south and west at a rapid pace, and soon the city appeared to him a mere speck in the far east.

Meanwhile as soon as the new warrant could be had Sheriff Joel Pickens, Deputy Dave Gilliland, Deputy John T. Pickens, City Marshal J. F. Loyd, Jailor Will Wallace, County Attorney John A. Moore and a number of others started in pursuit, going afoot, horseback, in buggies, wagons and automobiles. The sheriff and county attorney, accompanied by R. H. Kemp in the latter's automobile which out-traveled the more slow-going vehicles, came up with the fugitive on the Moore hill about five miles northwest of town and brought him back.

Judge Blue fixed his bail at $1,500 and he was placed in jail. The trial is set for Monday week, county court day.

J. F. WYATT'S DEATH OF HEART FAILURE

Prominent Salem Citizen Well Known Here Called With Cut Warning.

A merry Christmas and a Happy New Year were turned into sadness and mourning at the home of J. Frank Wyatt at Salem Saturday morning, Dec. 21, by his sudden death of heart failure. While he did not enjoy robust health he had not been ill, but had watched with tenderest solicitude the wife of his bosom, his boyhood sweetheart, who was not well and who had been under the care of her physician for several days previous.

These two lived happily together in their home alone and were looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the arrival of his sister, Miss Mary Wyatt and the little niece and pet of the family, Miss Mary Gholson to spend the holidays with them. Friday they received word that they were in Marion, en route to Salem and that evening they reached his home.

Next morning Mr. Wyatt in his usual spirits and health was up early and made the fires and went to the stable to attend to his stock when he was suddenly attacked and fell on his face in the stable loft. As he did not return, when breakfast was ready, a search was instituted and he was found in the loft as stated above having expired without pain and without warning.

His remains were embalmed and brought that afternoon to Marion to the residence of J. W. Wilson, whose wife is a niece of Mrs. Wyatt, and the funeral was conducted there by Rev. H. V. Escott Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the interment was immediately after at the new cemetery and was largely attended by friends and relatives of the deceased, the new made mound was covered with a blanket of roses, a pillow of violets and sweet peas at the head and a Roman cross of calla lilies at the foot, tokens of love from his bereft ones.

J. F. Wyatt was born at Fredonia, Oct. 15 1857, being a son of John and Mary J. (Crider) Wyatt. He was married Dec. 8th, 1885 to Miss May Shelby daughter of Clark M. Shelby of Lyon county and a grand daughter of Chitterden Lyon for whom that county was named.

His wife survives him. There were no children, he is also survived by one brother, E. Z. Wyatt, of Texas, and one sister, Miss Mary Wyatt. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Fredonia and had been since the year 1900. Frank Wyatt was courteous gentleman of the old school. He was as kind and gentle as a woman and was universally beloved by those who came in contact with him, in a business or social way. He inherited a fortune but its uses and pleasures were not withheld from those less fortunate nor those dependent upon him. And at his home he always dealt out a generous hospitality. Peace to his ashes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Masters who spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliot, of Henderson, are expected to return this week.

UNLIKE PRODIGAL SON

Chicago Man a Bit too Sudden in His Home Coming.

Webster, Mass., Dec. 28.—The return of Joseph Salus, of Chicago, to his home here, after an absence of twelve years, was marked by a reception different from that of the Biblical prodigal.

Salus desired to surprise his people, and there had been no forewarning of his presence, when the door was opened by his sister, now Mrs. Sak.

Overjoyed at seeing her, Salus embraced the woman, who screamed, bringing her husband to her aid. Salus was floored with a left-hand swing. Before he could recover, the angry husband seized the supposed intruder by the neck, dragged him down a flight of stairs, threw him into the street and called the police.

When the time for explanations arrived, Salus established his identity and received his welcome home and first aid for his injuries.

SOCIETY.

Miss Lemah James of Kuttawa, Ky., who spent the Christmas holidays here entertained a few of the younger society set with a "500" party on last Saturday evening at the residence of her grandfather, L. H. James. Refreshments of fruit salad, sandwiches, salted nuts and candies were served and a most enjoyable time was spent. Those present were:—
Virginia Blue, Earl Clement, Isabel Guess, Hertel Yates, Louisa Clement, Medley Cannan, Ruth Croft, Robert Jenkins, Lemmah James, Douglas Carnahan.

Miss Anna Cox entertained a few of her friends at 500 one evening during the holidays. The beautiful home was comfortable heated, and lighted by the soft and mellow lights of myriad tinted globes which made a scene beautiful to see and quite in contrast with the wintry weather and snow on the outside. Miss Cox served nice refreshments to her guests and entertained them with games. Among those present were Messrs. Ted Boston, Geo. Orme and George Dowell, of Tolu, and Misses Ruth Haynes and Linda Jenkins.

Quite a delightful afternoon was spent at the home of Miss Susie Boston, Saturday, Dec. 28. The game of hearts was the leading feature of the afternoon, Miss Mira Dixon winning the prize, a box of candy.

Miss Boston's guests included: Misses Elvah Pickens, Mira Dixon, Maude Flanary, Madeline Jenkins, Frances Blue, Katharine Yates, Katharine Yandell, Ladie Fonville of Mo., Nannie Rochester.

Messrs Douglas Clement, Herbert Rodgers and Clyne Chambers.

Delicious refreshments of hot chocolate with whipped cream, olives, chicken salad, wafers, fruit cake and mints were served.

Miss Maude Flanary entertained a number of her friends with a delightful five course luncheon Friday, Dec. 27.

Each guest found a dainty little hand painted place card at her plate. Those who enjoyed Miss Flanary's hospitality were:

RECEPTION CHRISTMAS EVE

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Nunn Entertain at Their Residence on Salem Street

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Nunn gave a reception Tuesday evening, Dec. 24th, to introduce Mr. Harry Kuykendall, the groom to be and in honor of their niece, Miss Mary Coffield, who on the next day became the bride of Mr. Harry Kuykendall of Dayton, O. The elite of the city's social set called during the different hours of the function, some being invited at one hour and others at another hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunn were assisted in receiving their friends by U. S. Senator-elect O. M. James and wife, Miss Lena Holtzclaw and Mr. O. T. Miller, of Vincennes, Ind., all of whom including the prospective bride and groom stood in the receiving line. Refreshments were served in the dining room by Misses Kitty and Fannie Gray, Leafa Wilborn, Della Barnes, Ruby James and Mrs. Henry Crawford.

During the evening there was a stream of callers who came to honor the Christmas bride and groom as well as the popular host and hostess. The occasion will long be remembered as one of the pleasantest of this Yuletide season.

Breaks Arm in Two Places.

Roxie Pippin, the cook at Senator Deboe's, who is a good servant and well known to most of our citizens, and who is also janitress at the new Methodist church, had the misfortune to fall on the steps leading to the basement of the church, Sunday night, and with such terrific force as to break her arm in two places, the bone protruding from the flesh. She was carried to a doctor who pronounced the wound a compound fracture and of a serious nature. She has been suffering considerably but her physician hopes there will be no serious developments.

Misses Nannie Rochester, Susie Boston, Katherine Yandell, Katherine Yates, Madeline Jenkins, Frances Blue and Mira Dixon.

WOULD NOT NAME NEXT SENATOR, SAYS JAMES

Marion, Statesman Answers Interview Given by Judge Young.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Senator-elect Ollie M. James to-day gave out the following statement when asked his views of a good report from Cincinnati that Judge Allie W. Young in an interview in that city had said Mr. James, with the State patronage at his disposal, could name the next Senator from Kentucky.

"I do not claim the right to name the next Senator from Kentucky. That is the high prerogative that belongs to the splendid Democracy of the State and it is one that I could not usurp if I would and I would not if I could.

"The Democracy of that great State has honored me highly by electing me as Senator to serve them in one of the lawmaking branches of the republic, and not to dictate to them whom they should select as my colleague.

"I have never believed that it was a part of my official duty to undertake to create myself as a boss over those, whose servant I am."

Prospect: Inevitable disappointments, heart burnings, broken friendships with erstwhile sharers of mint juleps.

Solution: An election to decide upon the most fitting man for the place, the Senatorial recommendation to go to the winner.

Result: Peace all around for Ollie James.

Supt. Travis Receives

Valuable Letter.

Supt. Travis has received the following letter, which is quite complimentary from State Superintendent Barksdale Hamlett.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 30, 1912.
My dear Superintendent;

Through your cooperation and assistance, your loyal support and fidelity to the interests of the children of our State, we have made splendid progress during the year now closing. The year 1912 in Kentucky has been fruitful of educational progress, unparalleled in the annals of any State. This is due to your unselfish efforts and to that universal awakening of the people—the fruitage of the labors of those who have struggled in the past, as we struggle today, for Kentucky's Emancipation from ignorance. I am writing you to send New Year's greetings, and to thank you again for all that you have done. I know that your zeal and cooperation will not be less during the coming year.

In this spirit, I anticipate even greater things for 1913.

With all good wishes, I am,
Yours very truly,
BARKSDALE HAMLETT,
Superintendent.

Henry Bros., Find Trouble With Country Road.

Henry Bros., who had completed the monument for the late Wm. Padon, of Hampton, Ky., last week, engaged Lawson Bros., to haul same to Good Hope cemetery. Lawson discovered when their teams hung up on the hill just beyond Salem on the Hampton road. After five days of strenuous work, the immense granite memorial was delivered at its destination, and when erected it will indeed be a lasting monument to one of Livingston county's best citizens and purest men.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

FOR VARICUS MEATS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.
Every manner of meat, even the humblest, may be made tender and palatable by means of paper bag cooking, if only the cook knows how and is willing to take the pains. Even the humble pig's head and feet. An extreme example, you say? Try—and see if you incline to gainsay further.

Scrape the outer skin very clean, cut off the ears and nose of the head, scalding both head and feet well and removing all removable integument outside and in. The brains, of course, will have been removed. Break off any sharp projecting bones from either head or feet, blanch them by pouring boiling water upon them, taking out and dropping in very cold water, then drain and season lightly with salt. Lay in a large well-greased paper bag with a stalk or two of celery if at hand and a single slice of onion. The pepper and herbs come in later. Add half a pint to a pint of cold water, according to the bulk of the meat, seal bag tight, lay on trivet, set in hot oven for five minutes, then reduce heat two-thirds and cook for five or six hours. Take up, empty into a bowl, and as soon as it can possibly be handled, pick up, removing all bones. The gristle will have dissolved. Now add the seasoning—pepper, powdered herbs, especially sage, a bare dash of tarragon vinegar, and a bare suspicion of garlic. If there is much liquid, add either sifted cornmeal or bread crumbs, both browned in the oven. Pack smooth in an earthen mould and let get cold. There will be headcheese worth eating.

Nor is stuffed pork tenderloin, which is as full of relish as either goose or turkey, or even the lordly baron of roast beef to be disdained. Get large fat tenderloins, have them split, but the halves left together down the side, lay a good breadcrumb or mashed potato stuffing, highly seasoned with butter or drippings, pepper, sage, and onion, in the split, skewer the edges together over the stuffing, and cook in a well greased bag with a very little water until well done. This is especially economical, in that there is no bone to be thrown away.

Either a fresh ham or shoulder, boned, stuffed and cooked in a paper bag, will furnish a mighty satisfying dinner meat. The even ought to be very hot and stay so for seven to ten minutes, depending on the size of the meat. Then slack heat one-half and cook until thoroughly done.

A square of rib-pork, the skin cut in checkers, well seasoned and baked in a paper bag with apples or sweet potatoes about it, will need no water, only a well greased bag. Spareribs can be paper bag baked if care is used in handling them to see that the ribs end so not go through the paper. Loin-foam, cooked thus with either apples or potatoes, or white potatoes with a slice or two of onion, will make any hungry soul rejoice.

Perfect capon is none so plenty in the markets, but if to be had is the best of all poultry. Get a big bird—eight to nine pounds. Stuff, but not too tight, putting a handful in the crop-space. Truss extra firmly, fastening thin slices of bacon over the breast and thighs underneath the trussing strings. Grease all the rest of the body liberally with soft butter, put a little butter under the bacon on the breast, then pop into a loose-fitting well greased paper bag, lay on a trivet set on broiler in hot oven, let cook till bag corners turn very brown, then slack heat half, or even a little more if the heat is fierce, and cook for an hour and a half to an hour and three quarters.

Choose your goose young and fat, even though you know the paper bag will make a tough bird tender. Singe, wash and drain the same as capon, and hanging in a cold place a day and night improves it. For the stuffing, boil mild onions very tender, slicing them and letting them lie in salt water half an hour before cooking. A medium goose will take two to six onions, according to size, and two or four apples. Peel and slice them, cook soft with the onions, adding a very little chopped celery. Mash all together, then add to mashed potato enough to fill the goose, but not too full. Season with salt and pepper, also a tablespoonful of powdered sage and a tiny pinch of mixed herbs. Add a large spoonful of lard or butter, stir it well through the hot mass, let it cool a bit, then stuff the goose, which has been seasoned inside and out, truss very firmly, rub over well with lard, butter or drippings, put into a thickly-greased bag of generous size, add a tablespoonful of cold salt water, seal, and set in hot oven for ten minutes. Slack heat half and cook done, allowing twenty-two minutes to the pound. Serve with mashed turnips, baked squash, baked apples or apple sauce, hot corn bread and sweet cider.

Stuffed Tomatoes, Milanaise.—Cut out freely the stem ends of six large tomatoes, scoop out the seed and part of the pulp, dust the insides well with pepper and salt and put a bit of butter in each. Fill with finely minced cold meat—beef, veal, lamb or chicken, mixed with minced raw bacon and seasoned lightly with salt and pepper. Sprinkle fried bread crumbs thickly over the top, put in a well-greased bag and cook in a quick oven ten to twelve minutes. Serve on a very hot dish.

Women!

If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramlin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.

DEATHS

Henry C. Farmer, an aged and respected citizen, who resided four miles east of the city, and who had been in declining health several years, died Monday, Dec. 23rd, 1912, at 7 o'clock in the morning and was buried at the old family burying ground near the Old Jim mines four miles west of the city Tuesday, Rev. T. C. Carter officiating.

He was in his 71st year, having been born in Smith county, Tenn., in 1841. He removed to this county with his parents when a child and has resided near Marion ever since. His wife, who was Miss Sarah L. Jackson died several years ago. He is survived by two sons, James B. and Thomas H. and one daughter, Myrtle, wife of Rufus H. Elder, of this city.

Mr. Farmer was a Baptist by profession and held his membership at the time of his death at Union.

ONE MORE APPEAL TO MY DEMOCRATIC FRIENDS.

Several times when there was but little, or no hope for success, I have sacrificed my own interest and at the earnest solicitation of the democrats of this Co. have run for the office of Judge of the Crit. Co. Court when no one else seemed willing to make the sacrifice. But for the sake of party organization the ticket had to be made out, the contest fought, with the usual result, our ticket defeated except now and then a favorite on the side a winner. Unfortunately for me I have yielded too often to the request of my friends and have gone down, with other sacrificing democrats in defeat; but never until every inch of ground was contested. I believed at the time that I was serving my party and giving to my very best service in order to keep the fires of democracy burning and its organization intact.

Not only in our fights for county offices have I given the strength of my younger manhood but I have gone out upon the stump in Crittenden Co., for other candidates and in almost every national and state election since I have been a voter and done what I could. No man deserves reward for voting his principles. This is a duty he owes not only to himself and those around his own fireside but it is a duty he owes to his country as well. The party owes no man anything except a debt of gratitude. I do not claim that my services have been worth more perhaps than any other good democrat, but who of my opponents would take their place upon a county ticket in Crittenden County to run for an office and sacrifice their time and business interests, in the interest of any man or ticket or the democratic party? Not one of them. I venture the assertion that the unanimous appeal of the democratic party in Crittenden County would not persuade a single one of them to accept a place on the ticket until someone else lands the party safely in the democratic column. Its a mighty nice thing to pluck the fruit after it has been matured by the labor and sweat of another man's brow.

The greatest living American today, the man to whom we are most indebted for the great Democratic victory on the Fifth Day of November last, the man that set in motion the reform and progressive ideas that are taking hold upon the American people and shaping legislation in Congress has three times been defeated for the office of President, and I predict that the crown of thorns he has so gently lifted from the brow of the American citizens by his pen and matchless leadership in the Baltimore Convention will in the course of time be pressed as it were upon his own brow. Bryan perhaps will never be president. If it was in my power I would elevate him to the seat of the highest executive office in the land, that of President. I believe that it is nothing but right to reward a man not for doing his duty, but for the sacrifice he makes for others. If any candidate for the Post Office has sacrificed more for the Democratic party than I have and received less; vote for him. If you think I have yielded to my party's call and done it a service the others would not do, not for reward but from a sense of duty, vote for me. I am asking my democratic friends now for an office that is entirely within their gift, without the aid or assistance of any other party and may I not expect my friends in this struggle to come to my aid one more time? I will never ask you for another county office.

All ready some scheming politicians are suggesting my name for the office of County Judge in 1913. This is evidently done for the purpose of swinging of my support to some one of the other candidates and to make my friends feel justified in supporting some one else for postmaster and me for Judge. I beg my friends not to be duped in this way. I have already been sacrificed on that altar too often I would not have the office if given me without opposition. If I am the strong man as they say, to run for Judge, why I am not, for the position I am asking? You see the fallacy of their argument. And right here I want to warn my friends against any dark horse, I am for a fight in the open, fair play and a square deal. I want to say that I have no promises out. If elected I shall give my democratic supporters, their sons and daughters an opportunity to stand the civil service examination for any of the clerkships in the office and I promise you, that the authorities who appoint same will be left without my influence to select them upon their merits. This will give every one a chance for these positions. What could be more fair? Have any of the other applicants offered as much. These clerkships have been promised. Has one of them been offered you? If not have you the assurance from any applicant that your son or your daughter, or your yourself young man will have an opportunity to fill one of these places? If I am elected you will have. I hope this will set at rest the current report that if elected I would make a family affair of it.

I am in the hands of my Democratic friends. It is with you. May I beg you one more time to remain loyal to me and not desert me in this the one opportunity and the only one you may ever have to help me. Whatever the result may be I shall remain a Democrat and loyal to my friends and the Democratic party. The third Saturday in January between the hours of 8 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. is the time fixed for the primary to be held in Marion when you can by secret ballot express your choice of the candidates in the field.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Marion Woman is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Often times 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Dean's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Marion women know this. Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. Emma Weldon, Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney trouble bothered me for five years and my health became run down. My back was lame and pained me most of the time and suffered from headaches and dizzy spells. None of the remedies I took gave me permanent benefit. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills as a last resort, procuring them at the Haynes & Taylor Drug Store. In less than a month they removed every symptom of my trouble. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers." (Statement given February 3, 1908.)

FOUR YEARS LATER

Mrs. Weldon was interviewed on February 2, 1912, and she said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills and they always benefit me. You may use my statement as heretofore."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Death of George W. Perry

George W. Perry, one of the county's best citizens, died at his home one mile south of the city limits Tuesday night, Dec. 24th, at 11 o'clock of kidney trouble, superinduced by pneumonia with which he had been confined for several weeks. The funeral was preached by the Rev. A. J. Thompson at the residence Thursday at noon, and the interment ceremonies took place immediately after at the new cemetery in this city, conducted by Rev. W. W. Clift.

Mr. Perry is survived by his wife and four children:—Mrs. Mattie Hill, of Colorado; Harry, Irma and George, Jr.

He was in his 59th year having been born Feb. 19th, 1854. He was a native of Tennessee but came here when a young man. He married Miss Alma Mayes Jan. 7th, 1885.

Mr. Perry was a Republican in politics and was twice honored with the office of County Superintendent of schools succeeding W. J. Deboe, who was later U. S. Senator from Kentucky. He had accumulated considerable of this world's goods, owning besides his fine farm several pieces of real estate in this city.

You will find that druggists everywhere speak well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. They know from long experience in the sale of it that in cases of coughs and colds it can always be depended upon, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

BECKHAM ANNOUNCES FOR UNITED STATES SENATORSHIP.

Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Kentucky, to succeed William O. Bradley, in the State primary election to be held throughout Kentucky in August, 1913. His card of announcement is as follows:

"In answer to a great many inquiries, I feel that I should, without further delay, make known my purpose in regard to the approaching race for the United States Senatorship, for which a Democratic nomination is to be made in the State primary next August. Following my retirement from the office of Governor, about five years ago, and the result of the Senatorial election in the General Assembly of 1908, it was not my intention to again seek public office. Eight years of arduous and difficult service as Governor, frequently dealing with serious and critical questions, had prepared me to welcome and enjoy the relief from public responsibilities and the peace of private life which such retirement offered me.

"But from the people and the press of the State I have received so many kind and flattering assurances that I might as a Senator from Kentucky be of some useful public service, and gratefully appreciating the honor implied by such expressions, I have decided to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for that office in the primary next August, and to submit my candidacy to the Democratic voters of the State.

"I believe the people of Kentucky have known me long enough and well enough to judge by what principles and purposes I have always been influenced in my public life, and how well or ill I have met every responsibility or obligation confronting me. I have been frank with them at all times, frequently when I believed it to be to my personal disadvantage, and I have never let them remain in doubt about my position upon any important political subject.

"So, upon the issues now prominent before the country, the people of Kentucky well know how I stand and what my course of action would be if I should be elected to the Senate. I am in hearty accord with the principles of the platform of the Baltimore convention, and it would be my endeavor as a member of the Senate, without ostentation or display, to earnestly and efficiently assist President Wilson and his administration in fulfilling the promises made to the people in that platform and in the recent campaign.

"The verdict of the American people in the recent National election was unmistakable and emphatic. They voted for a definite change in certain policies of the Government, the restoration of its control to the people, the detronement of the power of special interests, relief from the burdens of tariff taxes and tributes, the overthrow of monopoly in our industries, the readjustment of the functions of government to serve the masses of the people rather than those favored classes which have fattened upon special privileges, and for other just and needed reforms outlined in the Democratic program. However much we may rejoice over the recent result at the polls, our victory is not yet won, and will not be won until we have substantially fulfilled these expectations of the people by enacting into laws the promises we have made. It is evident that the admirable man we have elected President recognizes the solemnity of the obligations placed upon him in these matters, and it is essential for the success of his administration that he should have in the Senate, as well as in the House, to aid him in keeping faith with the people, men who are in cordial sympathy with his policies, and men who are willing and capable of finishing successfully the work to be begun.

"I seek this position as Senator from my Native State not merely with any selfish consideration of the honor it may bring me, but for the broad opportunity it would afford me of rendering some useful and patriotic service to the people of the country. I believe that I have had such experience and training as would make me reasonably well prepared for the work. I do not come before the people of Kentucky in this race unknown to or untried by them. In my public career in the past they have had ample opportunities to determine whether or not I can be trusted with official responsibilities, or whether or not I am accustomed to redeem my promises and obligations to them.

"Upon their sound judgment and generous confidence I rest my candidacy for this high office, seeking their support if they believe me worthy of it, and advising them to vote for some other man if they believe he can more faithfully and successfully serve them."

TRUTHFUL REPORTS.

Marion Reads Them With Uncommon Interest.

A Marion citizen tells his experience in the following statement. No better evidence than this can be had. The truthful reports of friends and neighbors is the best proof in the world. Read and be convinced.

Thomas L. Hillyard, Railroad street, Marion, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills came to my relief after I had suffered great deal and had spent much money for medicine without receiving any benefit. Two years ago I had an attack of typhoid fever and upon recovering found that my kidneys were badly disordered. The pains in my back were so severe that frequently I had to leave my work and lie down for several hours. There was a constant desire to pass the kidney secretions and I was obliged to arise several times during the night. The kidney secretions were highly colored and the passages were attended with pain. I often became dizzy and spots floated before my eyes. A relative, hearing about my condition, advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. I procured a supply at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store and they cured me in less than two months. For over two years I have had no return of my old complaint. I am bound to look upon my cure as a permanent one."

Alma Must Be Near Heaven. Four Churches Consolidate.

The Presbyterians, Methodist, Baptist and members of the Christain church of Alma, Mo., have decided to unite in one congregation and support a nonsectarian church. Separately, neither of the four was strong enough to keep up an institution.

All the denominations will be represented on the Governing Board, and all sectarian teachings will be avoided. Members will have their choice of procedure. Baptists for instance, will be immersed, while those who do not favor immersion will be allowed the form of ceremony they desire.

This would not be a bad plan for churches to follow anywhere. In fact churches in all small towns, could do this, much to the advancement of Christ's kingdom on earth.—St. Louis Republic.

Let The People Decide.

Judge Allie Young is reported as saying that Ollie James will be able to name the senator from Kentucky by virtue of the fact that he will control the major part of the Kentucky patronage at the disposal of President Wilson. The Gleaner does not know whether Judge Young really said this, but it is along the line of the ideas of a great many politicians as to how politics is played. It is in harmony with Judge Young's career as a politician, from the best view we have been able to have of him.

From the long acquaintance we have with Ollie James' political career, we are sure he will not attempt to influence the selection of an United States senator by trafficking in the patronage at his disposal. Such a thing is entirely out of harmony with the spirit of the times; and the ideals of President Wilson, William J. Bryan, Mr. James and other leaders of the progressive democracy. The mere suggestion that the selection of a senator by the democrats of Kentucky is contingent upon the distribution of patronage is an insult to their integrity and intelligence.

The democrats of Kentucky can be trusted to select a suitable man for the senate at the August primary. They will have the privilege doubtless of a choice between A. O. Stanley, member of congress from this district, and ex-Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, in the final rounding up of the canvass. Both have records as public servants, and the people will be able to reach a choice without the aid of the patronage broker or the use of the big stick. It will be a family fight, and both the administration at Washington and the administration at Frankfort should keep their hands out of it and let the people of Kentucky, free and untrammelled, exercise their natural choice.

So far as Mr. James is concerned, the Gleaner feels sure he will not meddle or employ any patronage at his disposal in an improper way. The Gleaner feels hopeful that Gov. McCreary and those in touch with him will see to it that the guards in the penitentiaries, insane asylums and other departments of the state government are not put under duress or be compelled to contribute to the campaign fund of any senatorial aspirant.

There has been too much of this sort of politics in Kentucky. —Henderson Gleaner.

A Joyful Day.

The 27th day of Dec. 1912, will be a bright spot in the memory of those present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. James, who previously to that day invited their children and some friends to meet at their home and partake of their hospitality. Those present were Tom Jones and family, Walter James and family, Andrew Holman and family, Johnnie James, Allie Hughes and wife, Miss Zella Hughes and uncle Ira Hughes, who's age is near four score and ten.

About 10 o'clock all were present—all talked on pleasant conversations until noon. Then the good wife announced dinner. According to arrangements, the men were invited to eat first, and the table was soon filled. Uncle Ira Hughes was asked to offer thanks after which we began to eat. Oh my, the table almost groaned under the good things it had on it to eat, good things too numerous to mention. After the men had eaten to their satisfaction, the good women and children took the table in their possession and oh, how they did eat, and then and I believe there could have been 12 baskets full gathered up.

All the children were present except Mrs. Silas Guess, who was spoken of several times during the day and all regretted her absence. After dinner was over Allie Hughes entertained the children about two hours with his graphophone music, and then began to depart for their homes thanking Mr. and Mrs. James and bachelor Jim for their royal treatment and wishing those good people may live to enjoy many more merry Christmas. They were the recipients of many nice presents.

SHOT ON THE WING.

Many of us remember Kenneth Kimpton, of Chicago, who was employed by his uncle, George Roberts, during the school vacation last summer. Kenneth graduates from the Lake Technical High School in Chicago next month. While down here last summer his boarding house at Levia had as inmates most attractive young ladies. There seems to be something hereditary in the magnetism or attraction that a pretty girl exercises over this especial family, his uncle was made up the same way and it is hinted that his grandfather was never especially bashful. Colonel Roberts at Carrsville received his school magazine from Mr. Kimpton the other day, and finds the following, in its columns:

Though deadly germs in kisses hide, 'E'en at the price the cost is small; 'Tis better to have kissed and died Than never to have kissed at all.

And as Press Maxwell would say, isn't that true?

There's a school down at Tolu, not so far from Carrsville, where the following occurred:

Teacher—Henry, what figure of speech is this, "I love my teacher?"

Henry Hammack—"Sarcasm."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional medicine. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or impaired hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will send you three copies of our book, "Deafness Caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube," if you will send us your name and address.

Of this distance 127 1-2 poles is along the present Wallace Ferry and Fredonia road as now established. The remaining distance is 79 poles through the land of Ed Moore and wife, 92 1-2 poles through the land of Henry Lynn, and 163 and 1-2 poles through the land of Larned A. Campbell.

The effect of this change is to remove the public road from over what is known as the Griffith or Love graveyard hill but to leave so much of said hill road public as leads from Wallace Ferry and Fredonia road to the Love Graveyard.
