New President Reviews Immense Inaugural Procession.

GLORIOUS SIGHT

General Wood, Grand Marshal-Veterans, National Guard and Civillans in Line-Indians Add Touch of Picturesque.

By EDWARD B. CLARK. Washington, March 4. - Woodrow Wilson, as ex-president of Princeton, rode down Pennsylvania avenue today, and later rode up the same avemue as president of the United States, and as the highest officer of government a few minutes thereafter reviewed the multitudes of soldiers and civilians which, with playing bands and flying flags, marched by to give him proper official and personal honor. For several nights Pennsylvania avenue has been a glory of light. Today it was a glory of color, movement and music. here are 360,000 inhabitants of the city of Washington. Its temporary population is nearer the half million mark. The absentees from the flanking lines of the parade were mostly the policemen, who were given orders to protect the temporarily vacated residences of the capital, Woodrow Wilson asked that "Jeffersonian simplicity" be observed in all things which had to do with his inauguration. The command for Jeffersonian simplicity seems to be susceptible to elastic construction. There was nothing savoring of courts or royalty, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love uniforms and all kinds of display which can find a place within the limits of democratic definition. ## Pittsburgh Perfect" Fence

Why we use Open Hearth Wire in Preference to all other kinds

Remember the iron wire your father and your grandfather had around the farm? Good old wire, wasn't it? The Special Open Hearth Wire, as we make it today from our owr. (secret)

formula, is more like the old time iron wire than that used in any other make

It takes longer to make this special Open Hearth Wire, but it excels in strength, toughness and long life, and consequently makes the most serviceable, satisfactory fence. The wire is the very foundation of fence-durability.

Thomas W. Mayo, publisher of the Record, St. Anne, Ill., pens the following:

"It takes money to run a newspaper! O what an exaggeration. Whata whopper. It doesn't take any money to run a newspaper. It can run without money. It is not a buisness venture. It is a charitable institution, a begging concern, a highway robber. The newspaper is a child of the air, a creature of a dream. It can go on and on and on, when any other concern would be in the hands of a receiver and wound up with cobwebs in the window.

"It takes wind to run a newspaper; it takes gall to run a newspaper. It takes scintillating, acrobatic imagination, half a dozen white shirts, and a railroad pass to run a newspaper. But money, heavens to Betsy and six hands around, who ever needed money to conduct a newspaper? Finally, on April 30, all was ready Broad streets. The streets had been filled since sunrise with waiting crowds, and the enthusiasm was intense. In the senate chamber Washington was joined by Adams, Knox, Hamilton, von Steuben and a few others, and all of them appeared on the balcony. Robert R. Livingston, chancellor of New York, administered the oath and cried "Long live George Washington, president of the United States," whereupon there broke out a mighty tumult of cheering, bell-ringing and the noise of cannon. Returning to the senate chamber, President Washington read his inaugural address and the history of the United States under the constitution began.

Myth About Jefferson.

If you are a good Democrat, no doubt you believe that Thomas Jefferson rode unattended to the capitol on horseback, tied his horse to the fence, and was inaugurated with less ceremony, than would attend the tak- edly long, and so was the inaugural ing of office by a keeper of a dog address, and then the president led pound. Such is the old story, but it the procession back to the White is pure myth and is first found in a book of travels in the United him and within one month he was States written by John Davis, an Englishman. Davis asserted that he was an eye-witness of the simple ceremony which he described, but it has been proved that he was not in Washington at the time.

The inauguration of Jefferson, which marked the defeat of the Federalist | foiled an organized plot to assassinate party of Hamilton, Washington, him on his way to Washington. The Adams and Jay, was the first to take big bodies of troops that had been place in Washington. The newly es- employed at former inaugurations tablished national capital, then but merely to add pomp to the occasion a few months old, contained only 3,000 inhabitants, many of them negroes; the president. As he rode to the the houses were mostly huts and the streets muddy roads. Jackson Almost Mobbed. When Andrew Jackson was elected in the fall of 1828 the people of the west and the radical elements of the south scored a triumph and he was hailed as a "man of the people." This character was emphasized on the day of his inauguration the following March, for never before had such a huge motley throng gathered in Washington. Jackson's wife had died not 10,000 persons who were restrained only by a great iron chain. Jackson Arriving at Elizabethtown Point, rode to the capitol on a white horse the Kill von Kull House. Then began his troubles, for

It was the capitol, which stood on the site of then that the windows were thrown the present sub-treasury at Wall and open, and the living throng found an outlet. It was the people's day, the people's president, and the people would rule."

Taken figuratively, that might not be so poor a description of the plight of presidents in these later days.

Exposure Killed Harrison. For 12 years the Democrats controlled the destinies of the country, and then the Whigs elected William Henry Harrison, who was inaugurated March 4, 1841. By this time transportation was made easier by the building of railways and the crowd that flocked to Washington was immense. It was much better behaved than that which "honored" Jackson, but it was hungry for offices.

Cold, wintry blasts swept the streets of Washington that March day, and Harrison, already old and rather feeble, rode his white horse without cloak or overcoat, and with his hat off in salute to the cheering crowds. The line of march was unprecedent-House. The exposure was too much for

PAPER BAG HIGH LIGHTS

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer. Famous London Chef.

AN ENGLISH COOK'S EXPERI-ENCE.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. Because I have baked in paper bags after M. Soyer's method, I give full credence to this report from England, where thousands of housewives have discarded the pot-and-pan method of cooking for the paper bag system. I may add that I have myself verified by actual demonstration most of the report. So I pass it on to my fellow housewives in full confidence of its accuracy.

"The chef," runs the report, "has cooked the following items without the use of a single dish or tin of any description, merely pouring the food ples of private morality, and the into the bag, to the undisguised astonishment of every cook and housewife in the audience:

Yorkshire Pudding. Fruit cakes in all varieties. Puff Omelets. Jam Turnovers. Stewed Green Gages. Banana Pasties. Fruit Vol-au-vents.

"Despite the fact that no tins nor the cooking of the above items, the advantage." brownness, consistency, tenderness or lightness of everything, has been a revelation of perfect cookery to those who have seen or tasted the food."

"I've been selling Studebaker Wagons and Buggies for over 30 years.

'I've sold them because my reputation as a dealer was at stake and from experience I have found that Studebaker means the best."

That tells the Story. Farmers bought Studebaker wagons before the Civil war and they have been buying them ever since.

Because they had confidence in the name Studebaker and in the sturdy, dependable wagons and buggies they build.

And that confidence has been upheld. Studebaker wagons are built on honor and the Studebaker guarantee goes with every one.
