LEEVE GONE AT HICKMAN

High Winds Cause Dyke to Let Go
—No Loss of Life Reported in Flooded District.

Hickman, Ky., April 4.—As a result of the terrific beating of the waves against the dikes protecting the lower portion of this city, the levee gave way shortly after noon to-day, the Mississippi river pouring through the gap at a mad rate of speed. All persons employed in the district had been warned out earlier in the day and no loss of life is reported.

The break, it is said, will not relieve the river situation at other points, the water booming through being turned back to the main stream by the Government, or Reelfoot levee, two miles below the town. The section flooded is occupied by several factories and the homes of several hundred workmen.

According to this afternoon's report the Reelfoot levee is withstanding the flood in good shape, no bad spots being reported.

4000 Refugees a Wickliffe.

Wickliffe, Ky., April 5.—Four thousand refugees from adjacent inundated territory are being cared for here tonight, principally in tents received from Memphis and St. Louis.

The town has no sewer system, and the question of sanitation is causing more anxiety than that of food and shelter. Practically every physician in this (Ballard) county has been asked to lend services to this Wickliffe camp.

A Letter From The Governor Of The State of Ohio.

Executive Department, Columbus, Ohio, April 5, 1913.—

Sunday School of the First Baptist Church, Marion, Ky. My dear Friends:

For the stricken people of Ohio I want to thank you for your offering. We are touched not more by these substantial generosity than by the largeness of the hearts of those from whom they flow.

The elements have wrought us a staggering havoc. But this is a great state. She will recover. The lights of love and hope will point the way.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES M. COX.

RAIN ADDS TO MISERY

Six Hundred Refugees Camped On Hills Back Of Shawneetown, Ill.

De Koven, Ky., April 7.—Rain throughout this section today added greatly to the misery of six hundred Shawneetown, Ill., refugees camped on the hillsides behind their flooded town.

The Ohio river is five miles wide and is running like a mill stream. The river rose five and one-half inches over night. All the lowlands are flooded. No trains are running out of De Koven, which is situated opposite Shawneetown.

There are other good corn planters on the market, but the best one made is a P. & O. 70. Don't take our word for it, but compare it with others, you can't fail to see the good features over others. We have sold more of these planters in the last 4 years, than has been sold in the county of all other makes combined. Don't fail to see one at our store April 14.

New Job For Egan.

Paducah, Ky., April 8.—Announcement is made that Col. A. H. Egan, for ten years superintendent of the Kentucky division of the Illinois Central, with headquarters in Louisville, has been appointed superintendent of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad, a branch of the Illinois Central. He succeeds G. W. Berry resigned. The change effective April 1.

Woman, Baby And 73 Head of Mules in Danger.

Seventy-three head of mules of R. H. Soaper's farm in the Walnut Bottoms may be drowned. They are on a mound and up to their breasts in water. Margie M. with barge left Thursday morning in an attempt to rescue them, and had not returned early today. The mules are valued at more than $18,000. In Walnut Bottoms woman found by relief party from Mt. Vernon perched on roof of house with two-year-old baby. The family had arranged a temporary protection with an awning and refused to leave their habitation as dangerous as it was.—Henderson Gleaner.

The Immensity of Nature Almost Beyond Comprehension.

R. F. Haynes, the druggist, says:

The Ohio river at its present stage has a capacity of one mile in width, one hundred feet in depth and seven miles an hour in speed. In one hour, therefore, 19,514,880,000 gallons of water will empty. In one square mile of space occupied by Lake Michigan, average depth, 600 feet, is 16,727,040,000 gallons, or one and one-fifth square miles an hour filled by the Ohio at the present stage.

It would take, therefore, 18,709 hours, or 779 days, or two years and forty-nine days for the Ohio river at its present stage to fill up lake Michigan, if the latter was empty.

Boys' see the bicycle man at our store Monday, April 14, if you need a bicycle.

CASEYVILLE DESTROYED

Entire Kentucky Town Wiped Off
Map by Raging Flood.

Evansville, Ind., April 8.—Every building in Caseyville, Ky., is afloat or ruined, the inhabitants of the place say it will never be rebuilt. They were encamped last night on the hills back of the town site. The town hall, a frame building, floated off, after the records had been saved in rowboats. The churches of the place have been ruined, and the buildings that have not already floated down the Ohio river are knocking together in the wind that is stirring up great waves in the flood. No lives were lost.

Caseyville is a place of 300 inhabitants, located on the Ohio, in Union county, just above the mouth of Tradewater river. The relief boat, Isabella, in charge of Capt. Naylor, of the U. S. A. is expected to reach Caseyville some time during the day to give relief to the flood-stricken people of that town. Caseyville is completely under water and many of the buildings have been wrecked. The damage will be heavy.

The Cumberland Presbyterian church was washed away to-day and nearly all frame buildings have collapsed. Half the people will be bankrupt.

The colored Baptist church and the courthouse are slowly floating away. The only livery stable left in town started away but was caught and tied to a tree. Not a house will be left standing.

UNIONTOWN ABANDONED

Tradewater River Overflows at Sturgis, Causing Much Distress.

Morganfield, Ky., April 7.—Except a few families on the hill, Uniontown is abandoned. The water is now higher than in 1884 and is steadily rising. Morganfield offered shelter for the sufferers and many people have come here.

At Sturgis the Tradewater river, which empties into the Ohio, overflowed Wednesday and flooded parts of the town. This is the first time Sturgis has suffered by high water since 1884. The distress is great. Fourteen families are living in the warehouse. There is much pneumonia.

The body of an unknown woman was found near Uniontown.

Huerta Steps Down For Peace.

El Paso, Tex., April 3.—To satisfy all factions in the Mexican melee, General Huerta has agreed to the naming of Pedro Lascurian as provisional president, according to advices received from Mexico City.

Lascurian would serve out Madero's uncompleted term.

SHAWNEETOWN SWEEP

Water Stands deep on All Thoroughfares.

Shawneetown, Ill., April 8.—(By boat to DeKoven, Ky.)—All that is left of Shawneetown is the few substantial brick and stone buildings behind the main levee, and they are considered unsafe. There are less than 100 persons left in the former town of 3,000. They are in the second and third stories of the Main-street buildings, the structures on the highest street in town. A strong wind, rising at 10 o'clock in the morning, completed the destruction begun by the opening of the south levee.

The water within the levees was up to the fifty-seven-foot level of the Ohio river. The forty-five-mile an hour tempest lashed the broad waters of the Ohio into a rolling, tossing sea.

Good Business Stand.

We will sell or rent the Harve Porter stand at the crossing of Bellville street and I. C. railroad. Terms to suit buyer. Call on J. R. Summerville or George M. Crider.

CONGRESS GET WILSON'S MESSAGE

Brief Document Tells Purpose of Extra Session—Must Alter
Tariff Duties.

Washington, April 8.—President Wilson's message, read today to the senate and house at the beginning of the extra session, was a brief, pointed document setting forth in general terms what congress is expected to do in the matter of tariff revision. The message was as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: I have called the congress together in extraordinary session because a duty was laid upon the party now in power at the recent elections which it ought to perform promptly, in order that the burden carried by the people under existing law may be lightened as soon as possible and in order, also, that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves. It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alteration in the conditions of our economic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation.

While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began, or have moved in the direction they were given when no large circumstance of our industrial development was what it is today. Our task is to square them with the actual facts. The sooner that is done the sooner we shall escape from suffering from the facts and the sooner our men of business will be free to thrive by the law of nature (the nature of free business) instead of by the law of legislation and artificial arrangement.

Harrowing Experiences In Walnut Bottoms.

Stories of harrowing experiences undergone by people in Walnut bottoms were told the Gleaner Friday night by its Smith Mills correspondent.

The most startling experience was that of four men who were interrupted in eating dinner in the second story of a house on J. H. Turner's farm, when the house began to slide off its foundation and fell with a roar into the water a few minutes after the men had leaped into a skiff tied at the second story window. The men were John McFerron, Jake Gardner, John Crawford and Gilbert Hollifield. The last named lived in the house and his family had been moved to high land.

The four men were living in the house. The water was up to their knees in the second story and they were eating dinner and discussing the advisability of making their way to the roof when they felt the house tremble and made a rush for the skiff. It was none too soon for the building collapsed with a roar. The wind was whipping the water into high waves and the men feared any moment that their skiff would capsize but after a thrilling experience they managed to reach high land. They were drenched to the skin.—Henderson Gleaner.

Levee Breaks at Point Pleasant.

Cairo, Ill., April 8.—H. A. Wheeler, an engineer in charge of Point Pleasant, Mo., 70 miles below here on the Mississippi, telegraphed tonight that the embankment there had gone out. If this is true a valley 20 miles wide and 100 miles long will be flooded. This would materially relieve the situation here. The Ohio's current is increasing.

TEN DOLLARS FOR EACH BODY

Reward Offered by Hamilton O.,
Officials for Persons Lost
During Flood.

Hamilton, O., April 7.—The City today offered a reward of $10 for each body recovered from the debris left by the flood of last week.

So far seventy-one bodies have been recovered. It is believed, however, that many bodies have been swept out of the Miami into the Ohio river and perhaps will never be found.

A canvass of the city today places Hamilton's death list at 150.

Eight Miles Of I. C. Road Bed Covered With Water.

Illinois Central passenger train No. 302 due at Henderson at 6:55 p. m. arrived at 10 o'clock last night over four hours late on account of the high water near Dekoven and Henshaw.

West of Dekoven for a distance of five miles the train barely crept through the water which came up to the bottom step of the cars.

If the water had been two inches higher it would have put the engine out.

For a distance of three miles near Henshaw water is running over the track at a depth of twenty inches and the engineer used the slowest speed possible going through fearing that the track was washed away or damaged to such extent that the train would derail.

Three hundred workmen are working in shifts day and night placing thousands of sandbags and paroling the track to discover any damage.

Railroad traffic, although badly hampered over this road will be continued unless worse damage occurs.—Henderson Gleaner.

We desire to express our thanks to all the neighbors and friends who gave their aid and expressed their sympathy in so many ways during the last hours and death of our dear husband and father.

In Memory.

Monday evening just as the sun was sinking in the golden west, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bunk Perryman, and took from them their darling baby, Ralph Ray, just seventeen months ago he was given to them to brighten and cheer their home. But the Lord thought it best to take him home. Weep not dear parents for the Lord knows best. We know his suffering was great but the Lord says suffer little children to come unto Me.

Little Ralph was a sweet and lovable child. He was so quiet and good. How you will miss his little voice saying papa and mama. A mound upon the hillside on which the flowers weep for mother's little darling now so fast asleep; just an empty cradle where Ralph once did rest; just an aching heart where the baby once was pressed; rosebud lips are silent; wee pink toes are still; lonely-hearted mother by the mound upon the hill; just some battered playthings that Ralph once used; just a weeping mother, no baby to amuse; silent tears are coursing down the pale wan face; how you all miss the baby from his accustomed place; oft she will awaken in some darkened hour, go and look for the baby in his downy bower then she will remember the grave upon the hill; the little clinging fingers now forever still; just some little keepsakes dearer than all the world; just some little dresses and his little shoes.

Mother, weep no longer o'er the little mound;
In heaven shining brightly your jewel can be found.

Just a little angel in the happy land.
Just a little stranger Christ has called his little lamb,

For He wants your treasure that He your heart may win.

From the darkened pathway of this world of sin.
A tiny bud just opened, transplanted by His hand
Basking in the lovelight of that sinless land.

Dear Sir:
Find enclosed one dollar for which please send me the Record-Press for one year. I had thought of discontinuing it, but I have taken it so long that it appears like getting a letter from my old home, and I often see the names of old friends that bring fond recollections of years ago. So I will say let the dear old Record-Press come and I will take it as long as I can find a dollar to pay for it. I saw many of my old Crittenden friends here during the days of Mr. Wilson's inauguration and you may bet that I was glad to see everyone of them. It made me feel like by gone days in old Crittenden, the land of my birth, and my old Kentucky home far away.

Calamity Joker Gets in His Work.

Carlisle, Ky., April 7.—"Repent—The End. 1913"—is the inscription formed in a common hen's egg being exhibited here and causing much excitement. Numbers of people are taking it as a warning that the end is about at hand, while others claim it to be merely a freak. The most common explanation of the egg is that it is the clever work of a practical joker who has placed the words in the egg with acids and chemicals. The egg is of brown color and the letters are white, and while somewhat irregular and imperfect are entirely legible.

"Such shipments mean Studebaker has the confidence of the farmer"

Every year over one hundred thousand horse-driven vehicles are sold by Studebaker. Over a million Studebaker vehicles are always in use. Stop and think what that means.

This enormous output means that Farmers—the men who know—depend upon Studebaker wagons to do their work.

And a Studebaker wagon never fails. It is always ready to do a big day's work—and to keep on doing it. There are thousands of Studebaker wagons that have been in service from 20 to 40 years.

A Studebaker wagon is a real business asset. Wheels, body, frame, axles and running gear have been tested and retested by experts. You can buy cheaper wagons but they're not Studebakers, nor will they last like Studebaker wagons.

Whether in city, town or country, for business or pleasure, there is a Studebaker vehicle to meet your requirements. Farm wagons, trucks, contractors' wagons, buggies, surreys, runabouts, pony carriages, business and delivery wagons—each the best of its kind. Studebaker harness also, of every description.

—Warning to the Officials and People of Kentucky in River Towns
In view of the danger to health and life in most of the river counties and cities from unsanitary conditions and damage to water supplies, will become more pronounced as the floods recede and the season advances, the State Board of Health, in the discharge of an evident public duty, appeals to the health and civic officials, the newspapers, business men's associations, women's clubs, and the people in every town and county in the flood districts, to call public meetings or in other ways arouse public sentiment for an organized, systematic and thorough clean up campaign, the free liming and whitewashing of all recently overflowed premises, the boiling of all suspicious drinking water.

Competent health boards and officials exist in every county and city in the State for just such emergencies, but they are entirely dependent upon the fiscal authorities of the jurisdiction for funds, and upon the people for such co-operation as will make their efforts effective.

After the officials do all that is in their power, still more will remain to be done by the individual and family, and no good citizen should wait to be forced to an evident duty, especially as such work and the incident expense will be found far cheaper than the sickness which will follow neglect. Trained inspectors are now in the most exposed sections, but the main responsibility is with the local officials and people, and it is to them that this appeal is addressed. By authority of the Board.

Farmers Bank of Marion

On Wednesday night, March 26th, about eleven thirty, a fire, of unknown origin, was discovered in a vacant building adjoining this Bank's building, which resulted in the complete destruction of this Bank's building and furniture.

Our vault prevented any damage to our valuables, and all books and valuable papers were found in as good condition as if there had been no fire.

Temporary quarters have been secured in one of the rooms of James & James and our business is being transacted, as if there had been no fire.

Just as soon as plans and a contract can be let for a new building, we will build a substantial Bank building on our old site.

While we are now prepared to render you the same banking service that we have rendered since this Bank was organized, we have no vault in which to protect your valuable papers, and a second fire might result in their damage.

We will keep a watchman and do all else that we can to protect these papers, but we would advise you to decide for yourself whether you should leave them in this temporary office, or take them where you can see to their safety.

We appreciate your past patronage, and hope to soon be in position to serve you as well or better than we have in the past.

Your cross roads correspondent brings up old war memories by speaking of a gun invented by us and thrown into a pond on account of the cussed way the darned thing went off. We will look up our war diary and will chronicle some memories in our next letter.

We may have invented a gun, but there are some things we haven't done. We have never eat until we had to stand in running water with only one garment on for six hours to keep our toe nails from coming off. And again we have never got a friend into a leaky boat and then threw a stick of dynamite under him just to see the fun and the poor devil jump. And again we have never got a half fool out and scared the poor devil until he had fits and then proposed to the boys when he thought time was up with him to cut a tree on him, go back and tell the boys that he ran under a tree that we cut for a coon and got killed.

While in Salem last we called upon our life long friend, Judge C. R. Stevens. We found the Judge quite poorly, having been confined to his room for a week. We hope the old Judge will soon be up.

It was my good fortune while in Washington for the inauguration to see the Honorable Ollie M. ### TO THE CITIZENS OF MARION.

It has been currently reported in Marion, so we are informed by some individual to foster their own interest, that the Marion Ice Company would not run the plant the coming season, and thereby induce some people to purchase ice shipped in. Now to make a long matter short would we not have been so foolish to have supplied the citizens of Marion with ice since last November, through the entire winter until May at a considerable loss had we any idea or intention of not running the plant. We can assure you for five to six months during a year there is actually not sufficient ice sold in Marion to pay a man for delivery and feed stock necessary to deliver it, giving the ice for nothing, but we are in the ice business to stay and have at all times kept ice for those using it for sickness and other uses even when our supply would run short actually shipping it in by express which alone cost as much as we often get for the ice.

This shows reliability and our intention to remain in the business and give service and we do believe that our service along this line is appreciated by the citizens, neither do we believe as a rule many people in Marion can be induced to patronize a foreign industry, when they have at home an enterprise worthy of patronage, which has at all times not only furnished the goods but showed their faith in Marion by erecting an ice plant that has given employment to their people.

There may be few people in Marion that probably will catch the Sears & Roebuck habit but as a rule they are in a class to themselves. The good citizens of Marion can depend on the plant not only being run when the proper time arrives but will be supplied with the best of ice at all times, and the promptest service possible, rendered. We give this notice that all may understand the facts and may know what to depend on. Mr. W. D. Baird, whom you all know, is looking after the prompt delivery of ice. We are preparing to put the plant in better condition this season than ever before, for not only turning our better ice if possible, but in larger quantities and will be well prepared to make special inducements to the country trade and wagon load customers at the proper time.

Very sincerely,

METAL CASK OF RARE COINS

Unearthed In John J. Audubon's Old Mill—On Display To-Day at Mayor's Office In Henderson.

A find was uncovered at 5:30 Monday afternoon that will make the city of Henderson richer by several thousand dollars unless relatives of John J. Audubon, the naturalist, proves their relationship and claim the valuables.

Late Monday afternoon while city workmen were digging under the old stone walls of what was Audubon's grist mill on the Clark factory lot, preparatory to placing dynamite this morning to blow the walls down because of their danger of falling and injuring children who persist in playing around the crumbling walls, a workman's spade struck a metal substance. By digging around the object a heavy metal cask was brought to view. The workmen promptly notified Mayor Thompson and Chief of Police Bailey, who hastened to the scene, and with the aid of several workmen unearthed the cask by the use of a derrick and placed it on a wagon and hauled it to Mayor Thompson's office at the city building.

The cash will weigh more than a ton, and it required more than a dozen men to carry it from the spot where it has rested for nearly one hundred years to the wagon.

At the mayor's office all efforts were made to open it, but none availed until a blacksmith was secured and after an hour's hard work with a chisel, finally succeeded in breaking open the lid.

When the lid was raised those who had gathered at the mayor's office were dumfounded when a trayful of rusty coins came to view. The coins were of all denominations, American and foreign coins from almost every civilized country. They were oxidized from being under ground so long and the rust had to be removed from them before it could be ascertained from what country they came.

Every coin in the tray was coined during the year of 1600 and 1700 except a few American gold and silver dollars made in 1800, 1802, 1804 and 1805. It is estimated that these coins, actual value, will reach $10,000, and there is no telling what they are worth as rare old coins. Many who saw them last night say that coin collectors would give ten times the value of each coin.

Under the tray was found two dozen drawings of birds, animals and scenery by Audubon. These drawings were made on the finest Irish linen, and aside from the fact that they are moulded every object is visible, and shows the artistic taste of the once great naturalist. These drawings were placed back in the cask for fear they might fall to pieces if handled in the air. They will be placed in a hermetically sealed box and sent to the Smithsonian Institute by Mayor Thompson, where they will be placed in an air-tight glass case to preserve them.

A prominent banker who examined the coins last night picked out a Spanish coin made in the year 1632, which bears the likeness of Columbus on one side and King Fernando and Queen Isabella on the other. He said the coin was worth not less than $1,000.

One of Audubon's great hobbies was collecting rare coins. It is stated that when he heard of a rare coin he would set out afoot to locate it, and while enroute would study the habits of birds. It is told that he walked from Henderson to Tennessee once to secure a rare coin some one had told him about. The coins will be on display at

WILSON DECLINES

To Ask American Bankers To Negotiate Loan To Chinese Empire.

Washington, March 28.—President Wilson tonight, in a statement approved by the cabinet, after two hours discussion, announced his administration had declined to request a group of American bankers to continue negotiation for participation in the $125,000,000 loan desired by the Chinese government.

The statement declares that the representatives of these bankers informed the administration it would not continue negotiation unless expressly requested to do so by the administration.

The president said the administration declined to so request because it did not approve the conditions of the loan and the implication of the responsibility on its own part, which it was told would be involved in the request.

It was stated tonight the same policy would prevail in the administration to parallel situations in Central America and elsewhere.

Huntington Wilson's attack on the repudiation of the Knox-Taft "dollar diplomacy" is almost precisely similar to the exceptions issued by the interested bankers in New York. It completely aligns the late administration with the Morgans, the Speyers and the other Wall-street bankers who induced the late administration to guarantee their share of the China loan.

The Telephone a Convenience.
In an article entitled "The Social Problems of a Girl," in April Woman's Home Companion—an article filled with practical suggestions—appears the following:

"The telephone has introduced a new element into calling. Nowadays a man does not usually take his chance of finding his girl at home as he had to do in former times, but calls her up to know if she will be able to receive him on a particular evening. This provides a way of escape for the girl which was unknown to women of an earlier generation, and makes it possible for her to adjust her callers to her convenience instead of taking them as they come. A girl is free to say that she can or cannot see a man at the date he names and to fix a time when she will be at home to him."

Father And Son Pay Penalty In Electric Chair.

Richmond, Va., March 28. Floyd Allen and his son Claude, the only two of the Hillsville gunmen to pay the death penalty for the Carrol court house murder a year ago, were electrocuted in the state penitentiary shortly after 1 p. m. today after a dramatic eleventh hour attempt to save them had been thwarted by Gov. Mann unexpectedly returning to the capitol, thus preventing the lieutenant governor from acting upon a request for a commutation.

Floyd Allen was terribly unnerved by the excitement incident to the delay of six hours in carrying out the sentence, and went to the chair at 1:20 o'clock. He was pronounced dead at 1:26 o'clock.

Claud Swanson Allen went to the death chamber at 1:30 o'clock he was dead at 1:35.

Governor Mann arrived in this city from Washington at 11:30 o'clock. There was a large crowd around the station, composed largely of friends of the Allens, although there was no demonstration. Ten policemen and as many detectives escorted the governor to his automobile, in which he was hastily driven to the capitol. He declined to see anyone, although he notified the prison superintendent that he would be in his office throughout the day.

Floyd Allen almost collapsed in his death cell this morning when informed that the execution had been delayed. Claude Allen, whose nerve never failed heretofore, broke down completely. At noon Gov. Mann issued the following statement:

"Hearing at five minutes to three o'clock this morning of the action taken in the Allen case, after I left the city, I considered it my duty to hurry back. I simply desire to repeat that after the most careful examination of the evidence of these cases, I have not the slightest doubt of the guilt of Floyd and Claude Allen, and I will not interfere. The law must take its course."

It is understood that the governor's son called him over the long distance telephone at Washington and informed him of the half day respite issued at 2 o'clock this morning.

We like women. In fact, we have loved at least one in our life-time, and we want them to have all the good things to which they are entitled, but they must not get to "bossy." If they do, we men will turn against them, and they will never get to vote; and, besides, whereas we have been paying $25 to $50 for an Easter hat, we will only pay from $2.50 to $5.00.

Our wife has already been showing signs of "sass and independence," but what we referred to the Easter hat decision, which we were about to make, she calmed down and is now acting like an American woman with some sense; but in general our Marshall county women are not much in favor of woman suffrage, and neither are the men. — Mayfield Messenger.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions adopted by Copernicus Springs Local No. 360, F. E. and C. U. of A., on the death of Brother G. L. Travis who departed this life March 22, 1913.

Whereas God in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst our dearly beloved Brother, George Luther Travis, one of our charter members, and whereas we are bowed down with sorrow caused by his death, now, therefore be it resolved:

First, that we bow in humble submission to the will of him who seeth the end from the beginning; and who doeth all things well.

Second, that his removal from this world and from his family leaves a vacancy that cannot be filled and casts a shadow that cannot be removed.

Third, that we do hereby express our great sorrow caused by our Brother's death, and tender to his bereaved father, mother, brother, and sisters, his heart-broken wife and little son, our deepest sympathy, recommending them to the care and keeping of Him who said, "Look unto me in time of trouble, I will not forsake thee," who promised to be a husband to a widow and a father to the fatherless, and reminding them that above the shadows and clouds still smiles the face of this God.

Fourth, that these resolutions be spread upon our record book, a copy sent to the bereaved family, a copy sent to the Union Farmer and one to the Crittenden Record-Press for publication.

LOYD'S BRAIN LEAKS.

George Reid asked his Sunday school class, "What little boy can tell me the difference between the quick and the dead?" Willie waved his hand frantically. "Please, sir, the quick are the ones that get out of the way of the automobiles, and the dead are the ones that don't."

John Weldon said to Uncle Dock Green: "My goodness, Uncle Dock, you eat an awful lot for such a small man as you are." "I expect I ain't so small as I look from the outside," replied Uncle Dock.

Dan Boisture said to his wife: "I would rather a man would call me a fool than a dishonest man." Of course it's always the truth that hurts.

Little Etna Watson said to her mother the other night, "Mamma, I'm afraid to go to sleep in the dark." "Nonsense, Etna, remember that angels are always watching over you." (Ten minutes later.) "I can't go to sleep, mamma, one of those little angels is biting me now."

Marshal Jenkins says: "Life is so uncertain with some men that they won't even pay for a paper a year in advance."

Uncle Dock Green says that kind words and deeds can never die, but they often have a hard time getting born.

Daddy Loyd says: "They used to tell boys that they'd be men yet before their mothers. Nowadays there seems to be some doubt about it in his mind, since seeing them riding horse back on the street.

Uncle Billy Loyd started on a trip. Stepping up to the conductor, he asked, "Do I take this train to Cairo?" "No, sir," replied the conductor, "the engineer will attend to that."

Aunt Reen Smith says that some women's tongues in Fredonia are like automobiles—always running people down.

CONGRESS GETS

WILSON MESSAGE

Business Not Normal.

We have seen tariff legislation wander very far afield in our day—very far indeed from the field in which our prosperity might have had a normal growth and stimulation. No one who looks the facts squarely in the face or knows anything that lies beneath the surface of action can fail to perceive the principles upon which recent tariff legislation has been based. We long ago passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government. For a long time—a time so long that the men now active in public policy hardly remember the conditions that preceded it—we have sought in our tariff schedules to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world. Consciously or unconsciously, we have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly; until at last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement. Only new principles of action will save us from a final hard crystallization of monopoly and a complete loss of the influences that quicken enterprise and keep independent energy alive.

It is plain what those principles must be. We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical, and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not, and probably cannot, produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

Development, Not Revolution.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste, or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up amongst us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws, in our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution or upset or confusion. We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item.

To some not accustomed to the excitement and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us, we shall be fortunate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners. We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best, indeed it is necessary, to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that clearly defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws; but just now I refrain. For the present, I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—of the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, April 8, 1913.

WESTON

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Crisp were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bennett, of place.

Mrs. Alice Bennett and Rissie Cain spent Wednesday with Mrs. Sallie Gahagan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Collins were in Weston, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollis Phillips were in Weston, Saturday.

Rev. W. T. Oakley, of Marion, was in our little town Saturday shaking hands with old friends. We were all glad to see our old pastor once more.

There was a large crowd gathered on the bank of the river at Weston, Saturday, looking at the great body of water, something that none of us have ever seen in Weston before. Our postmistress, Mrs. Jerrie Rankin, was compelled to move the postoffice to Mrs. Jane Hensell's on account of the high water. The largest crowd that has been in Weston for years was here Sunday. About 500 people from different places were here viewing the water that has covered our little town. Business in this place is closed down. All of the business houses have water in them, and most of the dwelling houses. It is about two feet higher than it was in the 1884 rise.—Little Pansy.

Keep Your Warehouse Receipt.

We have heard some inquiry from members of the Stemming District Tobacco Association for buyers for their warehouse receipts.

Now, it is all right to sell, if you can get what they are worth. If you cannot and must have money, rather than make a sacrifice it will be better to borrow money, give your note and put up the receipt as collateral security. Most any man that has money to lend would be willing to lend it that way by allowing some margin to guarantee against accident. Those receipts are a much better security than a mortgage on the tobacco, as it represents a certain amount of tobacco that has been valued, or appraised by a competent man; is being prepared for market by practical business men; is kept fully insured against loss by fire and the whole business under the management of the most successful tobacco and business men of the five counties who are under ample bond to cover any loss that might occur.

If you have a mortgage on a crop of tobacco and it damages, or is destroyed by fire, the loss is sometimes yours, but there is no better collateral than paper representing tobacco put up in dry English order by competent men and kept insured.

So do not fool away your receipts, but hold to them and stick to the S. D. T. A. and you will get all your tobacco is worth.

A Human Match Factory

The body contains phosphorus sufficient to make 485,000 matches. Phosphorus is one of fourteen elements composing the body—divided among bones, flesh, nervous system and other organs. The perfect health of body requires a perfect balance of the elements. These elements come from the food we eat—the stomach extracts and distributes them.

But if stomach is deranged—the balance of health is destroyed and the blood does not carry the proper elements to the different organs, and there is blood trouble—nerve trouble—heart trouble. Pain is the hungry cry of starved organs. Put the liver, stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health. That is just what is done by
