BATTLE ROYAL

Being Waged Between Former Kentuckians.—Cruce and Wilson Fight Over Okla. Text Books.

Muskogee, Okla., April 21.—A battle royal is being waged in Oklahoma right now with Gov. Lee Cruce, formerly of Crittenden county, Kentucky, on one side, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Robert H. Wilson, formerly of Allen county, Kentucky, on the other. Both have a good following in the Legislature and the result in doubt and will be until the question is finally voted upon. The question at issue is the adoption of the school text-books for the Oklahoma State schools. Wilson, by virtue of his office, is chairman of the Oklahoma State Board of Education. The remaining members of the board, six in number, are appointed by the Governor.

A short time ago the board met and adopted text books for the next five years. These adoptions are now the bone of contention, and the amount involved runs up to something like $5,000,000 for the five years. Previous to this Gov. Cruce and the board had disagreed upon this as well as some other questions, and the board had divided four to three, three sustaining the Governor in his contention to delay the adoptions, and four favoring immediate action. Finding that the board was about to make adoptions regardless of his request for delay, Gov. Cruce took the bit in his teeth and removed three of the members who were taking sides with Superintendent Wilson.

TOOK SNAP ACTION.

Foreseeing that the Governor might do this very thing the three members, together with Superintendent Wilson, met and made what they claim to be the adoptions for the five years to come just a few minutes before the notices of removal were served.

Governor Cruce denies the legality of the adoptions and has asked the Legislature to extend the adoptions now in operation for another year and thus set at rest the question of the new adoptions. Whether the Legislature will do this or leave the matter to be fought out in the courts is not known.

Train Runs On Stilts.

Dixon, Ky., April 21.—The I. C. railroad has resumed service over its branch line into Dixon, although the water near Wheatcroft is still three feet deep and comes to the top of the step of the cocher. An engine which can run through six feet of water is used.

Made Rig Contract.

The Marion Electric Light & Ice Co., Incorporated, closed a contract this month for twelve hundred tons of coal, the years requirement to operate the power house. Beside the certainty of being supplied there's some saving in buying full now, as the season progresses coal always advances.

FLOATING SKIFF

Bearing Bradley's Name is Proof of His Death.

Metropolis, Ill., April 18.—The overturned skiff bearing the name "J. C. Bradley," which was found one mile below Metropolis, is considered proof that Clyde Bradley, of Smithland, was drowned. The skiff was found on a farm bordering on the Ohio river, several days ago, but the news of Clyde Bradley being missing was not learned until yesterday. When found it was considered that the skiff had become loosened and floated down the river.

The discovery of the skiff was reported to Magistrate Thomas Liggett, who is awaiting the arrival of the owners to claim the skiff. He has notified relatives at Smithland. Anthony Harmon, who found the skiff will claim the reward of $25.00 offered for the recovery of the body or the skiff.

Bradley left Smithland April 2 in the skiff for Dog Island in a swift current, and it was feared that he would never reach the island.

Pope Pius X.

Two hundred fifty million subjects are awaiting with anxious hearts for news of the physical condition of their ruler. The Roman Catholic church, largest denomination in the world, is ruled as no other church ever will be ruled. The pope is regarded as the vicar of Christ, and is looked on by this quarter billion people as the earth's only representative of the Nazarene. In direct descent he traces his sovereignty back to the apostle Peter, who was pope of the Catholic church from the year 41 to 67. Peter was succeeded by Linus, who served from 67 to 79, and then in ten year intervals followed Cletus, Clement I, Evaristus, Alexander I, Xystus I, Telephorus, Hyginus and the first Pius, who was pope from 142 to 154. Pope Pius I died in 155 A. D. The present pope is the 162nd from the beginning, St. Peter being the 1st.

A Birthday Dinner.

In honor to her husband Mrs. Emma Crow gave a birthday dinner on his 35th birthday. She styled it a hen party. Those present were Mrs. Emilina Morris, Mrs. Mollie Hibbs of Cairo, Mrs. Larah Watson, Mrs. Jimmie Vosier, Mrs. Sue Dobson, Mrs. Ben Wigginton, Mrs. Maud Patterson, Miss Lucy Patterson, Miss Emergine Patterson, Mrs. Joe Dollar, Mrs. Maud Duer, and Mrs. Kittie Loyd. Mrs. Wm. Barnett and daughter, Miss Esther, returned from a visit to Mrs. Jack Thomas in Evansville.

DEATH OF PROMINENT CITIZEN

Passes Away After Lingered Illness of Kidney Trouble for Several Weeks.

Ira Duke Nunn of the Applegate section, one of the county's oldest and most highly respected citizens died Saturday night April 19th, of kidney trouble, with which he had suffered for some weeks. He was in his 78th year, having been born in 1835. He was a son of the late John Nunn and was born and reared in the section of the county where he died and in fact has spent all of his life there.

In early manhood he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Delaney, who died in young womanhood. He then married Miss Nannie Shaw, a sister of Mrs. T. J. McConnell of this city, who survives him with five children, two sons, Roy D., of this county, J. Gus. of Sullivan, and three daughters, Mesdames Ben F. Franklin of this county, Clarence Berry of Sullivan and Ed Haynes of Sespe, California. He is also survived by 5 brothers, S. A. and E. L. of this county, Judge T. J. of Frankfort, George H. of Blackford, and Chas. E. Nunn of Evansville and 6 sisters Miss Sarah Nunn and Mrs. I. H. Clement of this city, and Mesdames P. C. Stephens, Mort Duval, Dez Clement and Ed Cook all of this county and most of whom attended the funeral and burial at Rosebud Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, which was conducted by Rev. Wheeler, pastor of the Rosebud Methodist church of which the deceased had been a consistent member for many years.

Mr. Nunn professed faith in Christ 40 years ago and his life exemplified his belief. He was a christian gentleman, an upright citizen and good neighbor who will be missed in his community. Peace to his ashes.

Farmers Should Grow Alfalfa.

"Washington, April 12.—A Government Bureau to control the trade in American tobacco is proposed in the resolution by Representative Flood, which would direct Secretary Bryan to confer with Austria, Italy, France, Spain and Japan with a view to arranging for the tobacco monopolies of those countries to secure their American tobacco through an American bureau."

ABOUT ALFALFA AND SOY BEANS
A goodly number of members have asked for names of reliable dealers in alfalfa and soy bean seed. The Breeder's Gazette supplies the names to follow:

Grow Alfalfa—I will furnish you seed and everything necessary, and prove you can by a fair trial on your own land. Pay after you are satisfied. F. F. Ide, Illiopolis, Ill.

Cowpeas and soy beans, the fertilizers that pay. Write for prices and booklet.—A. K. Roney & Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Soy beans; Holy Brook; high yielding; inoculated soil. Send for circular.—Noah Fouts, Camden, Ind.

DR. CHAS. EVANS

President of Central State Normal School, Edmond, Okla., one of the Principal Speakers.

Dr. Chas. Evans, who will speak at the Kentucky Educational Association on the subject "Natural World in the Mental World," is a former Kentuckian who like many other Kentuckians, has been transplanted to the State of Oklahoma and has made good in the State of his adoption. He is a native of Livingston county and was for some years Superintendent of the city schools of Marion prior to his departure from Kentucky. He is president of the Central State Normal School at Edmond, Oklahoma, and is very prominently spoken of as next State Superintendent of Oklahoma. He has attained great success as an orator and writer. His recently published book entitled "Growing a Life" has received favorable comment by educators throughout the country.—Southern State Journal.

Finds a Roll of Bills.

Paducah, Ky., April 23.—Amid the driftwood in the backwater near Smithland, George Rogers, a poor man found a large roll of bills. The amount of the money he keeps a secret, but several bills were examined at the bank and were found to be good. The money is supposed to have been washed out of some house and floated down the river.

Gruesome reports reaching Paducah Sunday morning were substantiated about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when Coroner R. L. Eley and party of searchers from Paducah found part of a human skeleton suspended from a tree limb on the Kentucky shore opposite Fort Massa, at Metropolis, Ill.

A quarter of a mile east of the spot the searchers were astounded to find a dark bay horse resting in a perfectly horizontal position in the branches of two trees leaning toward each other.

Henderson County Crop Improvement Association are after him. Learning that Prof. Holden, now at the head of the International Harvester Company farm implement department is making a tour of the country in an automobile, giving practical demonstrations on the proper way to grow alfalfa and corn, the Commercial Club and Prof. Mahan communicated with the great expert in regard to whether he would come to this county. The answer was very encouraging and it is very likely that he will visit Henderson county within the next two or three months. Twenty to thirty meetings will be held in different sections of the county.

"Farmers should substitute alfalfa for tobacco" Prof. Mahan told this writer, "Usually where there is a good tobacco soil there is good alfalfa soil and the farmers would greatly benefit, in my opinion, if they dropped tobacco and took up the growing of alfalfa. Fifty or sixty farmers in the county are growing alfalfa now and making a success of it. Their example should be emulated."

Prof. Mahan is very anxious to secure the help of Prof. Holden, believing that meetings held by him would result in an awakened interest in alfalfa growing and would be an important step in farm improvement in this county.

State's Rights Are Supreme, Says Wilson in "Jap" Case.

Washington, April 22.—State's rights are supreme. This is the position of the president of the United States on California's land owning legislation pending in that state, but the president hopes to avoid any open break with Japan.

As a consequence he sent a lengthy telegram to Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, today, information regarding the contents of this message was refused at the executive offices, but it is understood to be a personal appeal to California's governor to see that no mistakes are made by the legislature in the anti-alien land law.

Greatly concerned over the anti-American demonstration in Japan. President Wilson denied himself to all visitors at the executive office today. Positive denials that President Wilson was "under the weather" as a result of too much work was made by Secy. Tumulty. No appointments were made for today because the president believed that the California situation was grave enough to require his immediate and personal attention. The secretary of state also devoted much of the day to the Japanese situation.

Stories of The Town.

Things Serious and Frivolous Talked About on the Streets of the County Hub.

(Reported by R. C. HAYNES.)

It was a busy day in the barber shop. Though the wind blew threateningly without, and the rain came down in great torrents—pelted against the buildings and filling the streets and sidewalks with gushing streams of water—a number of men of various ages were comfortably seated around the walls of the tansorial parlor, each awaiting his turn to be "next." In the meantime they were passing away the time in exchanging stories of such interesting happenings as seemed to be fresh in the memories of the narrators, mostly along the line of fox-hunting and fishing.

"I used to be somewhat of a fisherman," remarked a gentleman who was waiting for a hair-cut and had been an interested listener to the adventures as related by his companions. The speaker had come to town early that morning to confer with one of his friends who is a candidate for sheriff; and he had come into the barber shop mainly to get out of the rain, the hair-cutting being a handy excuse for his presence in the busy shop.

"In my younger days," the speaker continued, "I was quite as fond of fishing as any of you gentlemen, not excepting Mac or Doc, or even my old friend, Doctor Dan'el, who lives down in my own country on the Ohio. Since a certain episode in my life, however, I have lost, by grab, all my fondness for the sport."

"Let us have the story, Zebulum," spoke up one of the story-tellers. "To what episode do you allude?"

Kuowing Zebulum's proclivity for story-telling, the assembled crowd, some of whom had heard him relate the adventure growing out of the striking of Bobby Broadway, drew closer together, as if expecting to hear a good one.

"The truth is, gentlemen," said Zebulum, in reply. "I have always been averse to telling about that blamed fishing trip. It is all very well to tell a story where the story-teller himself is the hero of the adventure, but by grab, when the narrator finds him, self the victim, or, I might say, the under dog, it is different."

"However, as that scoundrel Nibs, who delights in telling his version of the affair, has given out such parts of the story as show up well for him—self—dogonim!—I might as well tell you the whole truth of it.

"I am, as some of you know, a member of the Presbyterian church in good standing, and, although I have never been, I might say, exactly on the water wagon, I always disliked to see a man make a hog of himself in any way, especially in the use of snake medicine."

"My home is down near Ford's Ferry, and a mighty good locality it is. One day Nibs came by on a fishing trip up Crooked creek and wanted me to go with him, stating that the waters were treacherous, that many moccasins abounded there around and that he was loath to go alone on that account."

"Not wishing to appear unneighborly, I consented, unhitched my team from the plow and went to the house for my fishing outfit, asking my wife if she wouldn't like to have a fine mess of fish for supper."

"Nell replied good-naturedly that she would, though she rather intimated that she wouldn't build up her hopes very high in a fish-eating direction."

"The old doctor, who lives over toward Weston, had told us where all the best fishing-holes were located, so Nibs and I, each with pole and line and bait, set out for Crooked creek, afoot."

"It was an afternoon, in April and apparently a fine day for fishing. I didn't want to take the blamed snake medicine along, but Nibs insisted that we should, arguing that it would be extremely dangerous to venture down on the creek without ample protection from the moccasins, which, he said, were very numerous and ill-natured at this season of the year."

"Only last week," said Nibs, "a young fellow, while fishing down there, was bitten by one of these venomous reptiles, and if the old doctor, who chanced to be fishing near by, had not come to his aid with a supply of snake remedy, the fellow would have been as dead as a door nail in less time than it takes me to tell about it."

"I have always been afraid of snakes and after listening to such an occurrence as that related by Nibs, it was natural that I should be impressed with the advantage of having along some life-preserving agency in the shape of snake remedy—to be used, of course, only in case of dire necessity."

"Do you know, Zeb," said Nibs, "I feel much safer since knowing we have a supply of restorative with us. However, I wish you'd brought two bottles along."

"I made no reply and we continued on our way toward Crooked creek. We followed the public road for a mile or so, then struck out through the woods, shaping our course toward the point on the creek where the old doctor had told us the best fishing holes were to be found."

"We talked but little after we got into the woods, our minds being occupied in the task of picking our way through the 'deep-tangled wild-wood,' dodging the limbs and grape-vines which would slash us in the face, entangle our feet, whack us across the knees and knock our hats off, sometimes causing Nibs, for the time being, to lose his temper and his foothold upon terra firma."

"As we approached the creek the woods became still more dense and pathless and we wended our way along, going along in single file, I in the lead and Nibs following as closely on to my heels as he could, sometimes stumbling up against me and at other times at a considerable distance in the rear."

"I paid no attention to the scoundrel Nibs, letting him keep up the best way he could. Just before reaching the creek he caught up with me, puffing like a steam engine, and asked me to lend him a handkerchief to wipe the perspiration from his face. I took one from my pocket and gave it to him, but made no halt, being in all kinds of a hurry to get to the creek and to jerking out the fish for Nell's supper. By grab, I'd surprise her, for once in her life."

"I don't know what use Nibs made of the handkerchief, but in a few minutes he caught up with me, thrust it into my coat pocket, then again dropped back in the rear."

"Being of an unsuspicious nature, I thought nothing of Nibs' maneuvers until I heard behind me a peculiar, gurgling sound—a sound that can't be imitated or improved upon—aad, looking back, I beheld a sight that caused the Irish blood in my veins to boil with rage and indignation!"

"The first thing that met my outraged gaze when I looked around was my bottle of restorative, which the scamp of a Nibs had slipped from my pocket when he replaced the handkerchief. One end of the uncorked bottle was to the scoundrel's mouth and the other pointing skyward, at the proper angle. I made a grab for the bottle, but before I could lay hold of it the hog had guzzled down the last drop of the snake medicine, leaving me exposed to the venom of the reptiles!"

"The longer I reflected upon Nibs' hoggishness, the more angry I became and I decided that the proper thing to do was to grab the scoundrel up and pitch him, headforemost—snake medicine and all—down the high bank into the deep waters of the creek."

"It is said that the guilty run when no man pursues. It might be added, with equal truthfulness, that the hoggish dodge when no man strikes. It was so with Nibs."

"I could not see any occasion for his dodging, but he dodged. I only gave the empty bottle a pitch into the bushes, but Nibs evidently thought I was going to throw it at him. Anyway, he dodged; and, in doing so, his feet became entangled in the brush. The more he tried to extricate himself the worse he became entangled, losing his equilibrium and stamping and pawing around, trying to keep at least one foot on terra firma. In the midst of his dilemma a lizard ran out from its hiding-place under a disturbed heap of brush and Nibs—perhaps it was the overdose of restorative getting in its work—mistook it for a snake. By grab, I never saw a fellow jump like Nibs did. He made a frenzied leap into the air to get out of the way of the supposed snake and, as he did so, a grape-vine caught him around both legs, throwing him backwards with his feet high in the air, his hat flying in one direction, a shoe in another, and his body, back downward, falling like a log to the ground, smashing the unfortunate lizard as flat as a pancake!

"In the midst of Nibs' free exhibition I forgot my wrath, as well as my danger from the reptiles, and roared with laughter."

"Extricated at last from the vines, Nibs, after kicking around in the brush, pulling himself together and taking in his surroundings, got upon his feet; and, as he looked around for his hat and shoe, he sang good-naturedly:

"Every time I go to town Old Grinby Grouch comes meddlin' run';

I ups and with my fist, ker-slosh!
I takes him on the snoot, b'gosh."
"Nibs," I said, "we're down here to fish, not to talk or sing. So cut it out and lets get down to business."

"Yes, we've got to fish and not talk, by gosh," agreed Nibs. "I'm the best fisherman that ever stood on the banks of Crooked creek. You are all right, Zebulum, and I can whip the man who says you're not! I can wh—"

"Cut it out, Nibs," I interrupted. "or, by grab, I'll pitch you into the creek. You'll frighten the fish away."

"We had reached the creek and traveled a little distance above to a good fishing-hole, Nibs walking unsteadily at my side."

"The water here was deep, the banks rising high and steep on both sides of the creek. A large drift of logs and brush extended almost entirely across the stream. Above the drift a fallen log extended from the bank about half-way across the creek, making an admirable place for one or two fishermen to occupy, provided they could keep on the log."

"You'll have to keep a look-out for moccasins, Zeb," said Nibs. "That's a snakey-looking place, by gosh, and you haven't a drop of snake medicine, within or without. Its too—"

"Well, get out on the log, sit down, quit talking and get to fishing," I interrupted.

"All right, Zeb, I'll watch out for snakes and not talk. You are all right, Zeb, and I didn't mean to treat you shabby, but I didn't want to take any chances with the moccasins. After all, though, you're to blame—you should have brought two bottles along. The idea of one bottle for two fishermen of our medicine-taking capacities, among a lot of poisonous reptiles is ridiculous. If we'd had two bot—"

"I motioned Nibs toward the log and he, not willing to trust his legs, coon-jointed across to the end and sat down, I following and taking my seat between him and the bank."

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This interesting story, as told by Zebulum himself, will be continued in this department of the Record Press next week.

LIVINGSTON AND UNION INVADED

Plant Bed Depredations Extended Into Two More Counties.—Active in Caldwell Also.

Morganfield, Ky., April 21.—The plant beds of Geo. H. Drury, a prominent farmer living near here, were today discovered to have been sown with grass seed. This is the first time that such a thing has been done in Union county. All trouble among the tobacco growers was thought to have grown over. Mr. Drury is the father of County Representative Lucien Drury, and was a former member of the tobacco association, but was not a poler this year.

IN LIVINGSTON COUNTY.
Paducah, Ky., April 21.—News reached here today of night rider activities in Livingston county. Twelve tobacco beds in the vicinity of Luka were scraped Monday night. Warnings were left not to replant the beds, with threats of death.

BUSY IN CALDWELL.
Princeton, Ky., April 21.—Reports of tobacco bed scraping and grass sowing in the southern and eastern sections of Caldwell county are to the effect that the depredations are becoming alarming. Every right plant bed is either scraped or sown in grass seed, and it is now very doubtful whether enough tobacco plants can be produced for a crop in the effected sections this year. It is the prevailing opinion that tobacco deliveries to Hopkinsville and other markets by those not in the pool has caused the outbreak of lawlessness.

WOULD FORCE RENEWAL

Of Convict Labor Contract at Eddyville.

Frankfort, Ky., April 15.—Suit was filed in the Franklin Circuit Court this afternoon by the Reliance Manufacturing Company to enjoin the Prison Commission from ousting its factory from the Eddyville penitentiary and compel performance of an option to renew the company's contract for labor of 175 prisoners for another term of four years.

The contract originally was let to W. T. Goodlow, of Memphis, at 50 cents per capita, a day and was subject to the Reliance Manufacturing Company at 67 cents per capita, and expired this month.

The contract provided for renewal, but the Attorney General advised the commission that the option of renewal lacks mutuality and is not enforceable on the commission. The latter is now advertising the labor of convicts employed by the Reliance Company. The commission will require a stipulation in the contract. The Reliance Company manufactures shirts.

Resolutions of Respect.

We, the undersigned committee, have been appointed to draft resolutions of sympathy to the bereaved family of Charles Walker, who departed this life February 21, 1913. We therefore offer the following:

Whereas the Supreme Ruler of the universe has again made his presence felt by plucking one of our members, the first one since our camp was organized, one that was useful in our camp and whose presence will be missed more than any one of our camp, for he was always at his post of duty, and always said, Come on, boys.

He will not only be missed in our camp, but in our community as a neighbor as well. The same has cast a deep gloom of sorrow over our whole country.

The message was flashed over the wires like a bolt from the cloudless sky and our fondest hopes were shattered and we question, why?

A man whose life was so useful should be called so suddenly from his home and family and no one left to keep the boys together. But the reason we may not know.

Resolved, That we express to this family that sympathy we feel for them in this great sorrow, and while we cannot remove the sting of death, we can share with them the sorrow and point them hopefully to the Great Beyond, where with the redeemed of God, we shall meet his everlasting presence and there shall be no death.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved relatives and distant friends our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their great loss and sad bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, a copy be sent to the family and a copy to the Record-Press.

Committee.

FEAR FELT FOR SAFETY OF ELKHORN DAM

Great Cracks Appeared in Forty-Foot Wall.—People Fled to Hill When Warned.

Terror seized the people all along the waters of Elkhorn Creek last Wednesday night, when word was brought to them by riders to flee for their lives; that the great dam of the Consolidation Coal Company, just above Jenkins, was breaking, threatening to wipe out the entire population.

This dam is a concrete wall forty feet high, running across the creek from mountain to mountain, and backing the water of the creek for about the distance of one mile.

At 8 o'clock a watchman at the dam reported that the wall had sprung a leak and that the tide was pouring over the wall to a depth of four or five feet, and couriers were dispatched in every direction to warn the people to flee to the hills. The power house whistle shrieked its message of danger for an hour, and every man, woman and child of Jenkins and for many miles below turned out into the chilly night and slept in the hills. But the dam did not give way. While great cracks were later found in different parts of the wall the force of the water was not sufficient to carry it away.

Some of the people have returned to their homes at Jenkins and some have not. The entire country is fearful lest the wall may break and a deluge of water let go that will wipe out the entire settlement along the creek.—Jenkins telegram to Louisville Times.

Each renewal to Crittenden Record-Press will entitle the subscriber to 100 frost proof cabbage plants.

NOTICE

Order of Court That County Roads Must be Worked or Pay According to Law

On motion at a special term of Fiscal court of Jan. 7, 1913, it was ordered that the roads of Crittenden county be worked by hands to be warned in by the County Road Engineer, or his assistants, and all able bodied male citizens of the county over the age of 18 years and under the age of 50 years, except licensed ministers of the gospel and citizens of incorporated towns and cities, are required to provide themselves with necessary tools and implements, and to work on public roads of the county, not exceeding two days in a week and six days in each year, provided, however that any road hand may pay to the county engineer, the sum of three dollars. ($3.00) on or before the 1st day of June, of any year, and upon payment of said sum, he will thereby be released from work upon the road during the said year. The County Road Engineer shall immediately pay over said sum so paid to him, to the county treasurer, who shall place same to the credit of road fund, and same shall be applied and used in the employment of graders, plows, and teams and hands to work upon the roads of the county when needed. And said treasurer shall keep a separate account of such funds from that paid to him by the sheriff.

In employing hands to work upon said roads the County Engineer shall pay the prevailing wages in the neighborhood where said work is done, not however, to exceed $1.50 nor less than $1.00 per day, for each day of eight hours. In view of this fact I am now prepared to give receipts to all who want to pay.

M. A. WILSON,
County Road Engineer

Sixteen Mile Tunnel Through The Rockies.

Winnipeg, Man., April 12.—The Canadian Pacific railway announced today that it would begin construction shortly of the longest tunnel in America. The tunnel will be built through Pack Horse Pass in the Rocky Mountains, and will be sixteen miles long, costing $14,000,000. It will take seven years, it is estimated, to build it. The great hole through the mountain will be four miles longer than the famous Simplon tunnel through the Alps.

Railroad officials assert that the construction of this tunnel will eliminate many miles of dangerous snow sheds.

SQUIRE JAMES IN OREGON

Writes Interesting Letter to His Old Kentucky Friends.

Dillard, Ore., April 3, 1913.
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:— I will give you a short sketch of my trip to the west. I left Marion, March 24th, arriving at Evansville, Ind., 11 a. m., it was very windy, begun raining shortly after we arrived; left Evansville at 5:20 p. m., arriving in Mattoon, Ill., at 10 p. m., left Mattoon at 3 a. m., Tuesday morning arriving in Chicago at 10 a. m. Lake Michigan was a great sight to see, it being very windy and the waves were rolling high. We left Chicago at 4:45 p. m., arriving in Omaha, Neb., at 8 a. m., Wednesday. We saw part of the storm district. Leaving Omaha at 1 p. m., over the Union Pacific. We had over 1700 miles of riding to Portland, Ore. We changed time at North Platte, Neb., at 8:30 left at 7:50, that was the first time I ever left a place before I got there (one hour's change in time.) Changed time again at Huntington, Ore. Arriving in Portland, Ore., at 8:30 p. m., Friday, leaving Portland at 1:30 a. m., Saturday over the Southern Pacific, through a beautiful country, arriving at Roseburg 1 p. m., Saturday, where we met friends. Roseburg is situated in the valley of the Umpqua river surrounded by hills. The streets are paved, but not with gold. This is a very rich and prosperous country.

Yours Respectfully,
J. J. James.

Fifty-Two Nations Now Have an Income Tax.

In view of the new income tax proposed on the estates of millionaires by the Democrats tariff reform bill we think.

The following rates and collections which prevail in the other countries will be of interest:

England, about $200,000,000 annually, at the rate of between 2 and 3 to 6 1-3 per cent.
Prussia collects between $90,- 000,000 and $100,000,000; graduated rates from .57 to 2.85 per cent.
Italy collects $50,000,000, rates
3 3-4 to 20 per cent.
Spain, $2,000,000 at 1 1-2 to 20
per cent.
Japan, $20,000,000 at 6 1-4 to 20 per cent.
Saxony, $15,000,000 at 2 1-2 to 5 per cent.

The following nations collect about $10,000,000 at various rates; Denmark, Cape of Good Hope, Holland, Norway, India,
Sweden, Switzerland and Hungary.

Austria collects $15,000,000 at one-tenth of 1 per cent to between 4 and 5 per cent.

In 25 German states imposing an income tax, the rate is from two-thirds of 1 per cent to 8 per cent.

The Income Tax.

The Democratic principle that wealth shall bear its full proportion of taxation, is after years of effort in that direction to be realized. Such a law would have been enforced long ago, but for the rather scandalous action of a member of the country's highest court, who underwent a change of sentiment in a night.
It has taken a constitutional amendment to accomplish the result, slow indeed, but sure, henceforth the question will not be left with the courts. It has been settled that all incomes in excess of $4,000 shall be taxed, and that every man will enjoy the same exemptions. The first $20,000 will pay one per cent; in excess of $20,000 two per cent; and in excess of $100,000 three per cent, and on a million or over four per cent.—W. P. Walton, in the Lexington Leader.

What They Think of Woodrow's Appearing in House and Senate.

Boston Herald (rep.): Wilson's is at least a new way. The proof of the pudding will come in eating. If he succeeds, the country always ready to applaud the vigorous leader, will give its stamp of approval to what he has done, and the executive power will have been accordingly enhanced.

Cincinnati Enquirer (dem.)—
Perhaps President Wilson remembers the old Franklin proverb which inspired Paul Jones: "If you would have a thing done, go;
if not, send."

Dubuque (Ia.) Telegraph-Herald: The spectacle presented by him in the company of his cabinet appearing before a joint session of congress is one certain to be approved by the country. It establishes that personals touch which promotes understanding and paves the way for team work.
Anything promotive of concert of action is stimulating to progress, and the president's course clearly should make agreement easier and unity of action more likely.

Not Protection, But Mon- opoly, Removed.

It is not protection that is to be removed from the tariff by the congress that assembled. It is monopoly. It is not an American system that is to be destroyed. It is privilege—an institution alien and monarchistic.

There will be plenty of protection in our tariff when monopoly plunder and oppression shall have been taken out of it.—New York World.

A Definite Policy.

The Chicago Record-Herald, a republican paper, in discussing the President's message, pays this high compliment to the president: "Even the opponents of the measure, or of the arguments advanced in its favor, will candidly admit, however, that the president and his party are endeavoring to redeem their pledges, to relieve the consumer, to open new channels to industry and commerce, and to promote national prosperity. There may be room for amendments and compromises; no rate is to be considered final; a full and searching discussion of the bill is assured. The administration will not wobble; it knows what it wants and will accept responsibility for the consequences of its policies; but it will welcome light and honest data from those who regard the proposed reductions as too radical."

The Facts Of Our Day.

The democratic purpose with respect to the tariff question is well described in the following extracts from President Wilson's first message to congress:

"While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began."

"For a long time we have sought, in our tariff schedules, to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world."

"We have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition, behind which it was easy for any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly."

"Nothing normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business."

"We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising masters of competitive supremacy; better workers and merchants than any in the world."

"The object of the duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contact with the wits of the rest of the world."

"We must build up trade, especially foreign trade."

"We must build up industry, as well, and must adopt freedom in place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build up, not pull down."

"Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us we shall be fortunate."

"We have to deal with the facts of our day; with the facts of no other, and make laws which square with those facts."

Read these paragraphs to your high tariff neighbor and help him to understand that the democratic tariff platform program is constructive program—a program that will result in the greatest good to the greatest number.—Commoner.

The annual consumption of sugar in America, or rather the United States, is 80 pounds for each man, woman and child, as our family average five persons the sugar used by each family as the average taking the country over is 400 pounds. At many poor families do not use 100 pounds in a year, while many rich ones use that much in a month. If the tariff revision downward takes only a penny off of sugar it will save each family in the United States on the average $4.00; other items are to be reduced, clothing and many other necessary articles therefore it is safe to estimate the saving at $50.00 to each family on all the items reduced in the new tariff bill, a dollar a week saved is not to be sneezed at.
If our democratic warriors succeed in this first step they will find it much easier to take the second step and the country more willing to believe in them and offer them the encouragement they deserve.

Every person who has paid subscription to the Crittenden Record-Press

German Language Should Rank Next to English In Our Schools.

By THEODORE SUTRO, President of the United German Societies of New York City and of the German-American Alliance of New York State.

THE German language should be pushed to the very front as a BRANCH OF INSTRUCTION instead of being crowded to the rear. We may well say that in the whole civilized world the two principal languages in active use today are English and German.

AS A MEANS OF FITTING OUR CHILDREN FOR PRACTICAL LIFE INSTRUCTION IN GERMAN SHOULD RANK AT LEAST NEXT TO THAT IN ENGLISH.

Aside from its practical use, the German language also embraces, with English, the RICHEST AND MOST IMPORTANT LITERATURE OF THE WORLD in every science and in every art and in every field of human endeavor.

German is used to a large extent in our commercial life. It is a distinct aid to a man engaged in a large business, to doctors, to lawyers.

German should be taught in our schools FROM THE EARLY GRADES, and there should be no thought of ever cropping it from the curriculum.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

Copyright, 1913 by Panama-Pacific International Exposition

DESIGN of the Motor Building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This structure will be one of the largest of the exposition palaces, approximately 275 feet front by 800 feet deep, covering about 210,000 square feet, or more than five acres. The dome, which surmounts the center of the front portion of the building, is 130 feet high and surmounted with a turret composed of the prows of modern motor boats, each carrying a searchlight. This point will be used by Mr. Ryan, the chief of illumination of the exposition, for the purpose of lighting up the grounds and adjacent buildings. Other groups at the base of the building will convey, allegorically, the uses of electricity, gas and other mechanical devices which compose the motor. Its modernity is in harmony with the nature of the exhibits which it will house, and its triumphal character is emblematic of that triumph of modern transportation, the automobile. The groups of statuary surmounting the attic will be allegorically carried out to typify the triumph of the motor over the elements. The main group in front will be a sort of quadriga of automobiles typifying the conquest over the land. On the sides will be allegories of the motor boat and the aeroplane, respectively, typifying the victory over the sea and air. On either side of the entire length of the building there will be a frieze 10 feet high in bas relief, giving the history of transportation from the early log cart up to the most modern development of the automobile.

DANVILLE MEN TAKE UP ROAD PROJECT

Will Join Other Communities in Reconstruction of Wilderness Road

Danville, Ky., April 21.—At the last meeting of the Danville Commercial Club there was a large and enthusiastic attendance and the matter of asking for Federal aid for the reconstruction of the Old Wilderness road was taken up. A resolution was unanimously adopted by the club to join the Mt. Vernon, Middleboro, Pineville, Corbin, Stanford, and other commercial bodies along the route in securing a Federal appropriation of $400,000 to be used in making "Boone Way." A speech, abounding in historic interest and outlining the effect of the Old Wilderness road with the early development of Kentucky and the West, was delivered by C. C. Bagby. Mr. Bagby showed he has been a deep student of Kentucky history and his speech was filled with interesting data.

PROVISIONS OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL

Congressman Underwood Explains What It Means to the Country.

REDUCE REVENUE $80,000,000

Places Raw Wool on the Free List, and Heavily Reduces the Sugar Duty—Raises Rates on Several Items.

Washington, D. C.—Removal of all tariff from many articles of food and clothing, broad reductions in the rates of duty on all necessities of life, an increase of tariff on many luxuries, and a new income tax that would touch the pocket of every American citizen whose net income exceeds $1,000 are the striking features of the new Democratic tariff revision bill.

Sugar would be free of duty in 1916, the bill proposing an immediate 25 per cent. reduction and the removal of the remaining duty in 1916.

Raw wool would be made free at once, with a corresponding heavy reduction in the tariff on all woolen goods.

Placed on the Free List. Other articles are put on the free list as follows: Meats, flour, bread, boots and shoes, lumber, coal, harness, saddlery, from iron, silk and cotton, cotton baling, agricultural implements, leather, wood pulp, bibles, printing paper not worth more than 25 cents a pound, typewriters, sewing machines, typesetting machines, cash registers, steel rails, fence wire, cotton ties, nails, hoop and band iron, fish, sulphur, cods, tanning materials, acetate and sulphuric acids, borax, lumber, including broom handles, clapboards, hubs for wheels, posts, laths, pickets, staves, shingles.

These principal items are taken from the free list and taxed: Rough and uncut diamonds and precious stones, furs, coal tar products, 10 per cent.; volatile oils, 20 per cent.; spices, from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound.

The new rates are estimated to reduce the customs revenue approximately $80,000,000 a year. This is expected to be made up by the income tax.

Protection to the farmer would be cut throughout by more than 50 per cent. In an effort to reduce the cost of food, protection to the steel and implement manufacturer would in turn be cut by fully as wide a margin. Heaviest reductions fall upon foodstuffs, agricultural products, woolen and cotton clothing.

Duty Cuts in Detail.

Chairman Underwood's statement giving the changes in detail continues as follows:

"In the chemical schedule the rates on certain commodities show heavy reductions. For instance, boric acid is cut from 78.70 per cent. to 21.43 per cent., glue from 35.06 per cent. to 14.29 per cent. and red lead from 60.35 per cent. to 25 per cent. Moderate reductions have been made on medicinal preparations, which are cut from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent., blacking from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent., drugs from 12.55 per cent. to 10 per cent., and olive oil from 35.18 per cent. to 21.05 per cent. The schedule contains a number of articles on which either no reduction has been made or an advance provided for.

"Rates on all brick have been cut on the average from 30.23 per cent. to 10.28 per cent., tile from 47.84 per cent. to 23.36 per cent., asphalt from 37.05 per cent. to 9.02 per cent. Ordinary earthenware, which was already relatively low, being subject to an average duty of 24.67 per cent., has now been cut to 15 per cent., while window glass has been given an average reduction on all glasses of from 46.38 per cent. to 28.31 per cent. Plate glass, which may be considered a luxury, still retains a duty of nearly 40 per cent., the average being 38.45 per cent., in place of the duty of 63.95 per cent. in the law.

"Pig Iron and Forgings Hit. "Pig iron and slabs, which were 16.35 per cent. and 17.79 per cent., have been cut to 8 per cent. in each case; beams, from 23.20 per cent. to 12 per cent., and forgings from 30 per cent. to 15 per cent. On the other hand, bicycles, a much more highly manufactured product, are dutiable at 25 per cent. as against 45 per cent., and razors at 35 per cent. as against 77.68 per cent.

"The idea of the large extension of the free list for the unmanufactured products has been the fundamental conception, while the effort has been made to improve the status of the manufactured lumber. Thus, sawed boards, other than cabinet wood, have been carried to the free list, while sawed cabinet woods, which were 12.75 per cent. in 1912, are now 10 per cent.; casks, barrels, etc., which were 30 per cent., are now 14.77 per cent., and house furniture, which was 35 per cent., is now 15 per cent.

"Tobacco and spirits have been found to be good producers of revenue and have, therefore, been left at the same rates as in the present law.

Would Reduce Cost of Living. "In the effort to relieve the consumer and to mitigate the high and rising cost of living, schedule G, which deals with agricultural products, has been thoroughly revised and important reductions have been made. For instance, the duty on horses has been reduced from 25 per cent. to 10 per cent., cattle from 26.07 per cent. to 10 per cent., sheep from 16.41 per cent. to 10 per cent., barley from 42.05 per cent. to 23.07 per cent., macaroni from 34.25 per cent. to 23.81 per cent., hay from 43.31 per cent. to 26.67 per cent., fruits from 27.21 per cent. to 15.32 per cent., figs from 51.53 per cent. to 42.10 per cent., lemons from 68.85 per cent. to 24.03 per cent., live poultry from 13.10 per cent. to 6.67 per cent., and vinegar from 33.03 per cent. to 17.39 per cent. Other changes are in proportion, and the general effect has been to reduce in a very material proportion the heavy taxes upon imported foodstuffs.

General Slash on Cottons.

"In schedule I, dealing with cotton, comparisons of the principal items show reductions on cotton thread from 31.54 per cent. to 19.29 per cent.; on spool thread from 22.95 per cent. to 15 per cent.; on cotton cloth from 42.74 per cent. to 26.69 per cent.; on water proof cloth from 50.56 per cent. to 25 per cent.; on ready made clothing from 50 per cent. to 20 per cent.; on collars and cuffs from 64.03 per cent. to 25 per cent.; on blouses from 51.40 per cent. to 40 per cent.; on handkerchiefs from 59.27 per cent. to 30 per cent.; on stockings, 75.34 per cent. to 50 per cent.; on gloves from 59.17 per cent. to 35 per cent.; on underwear from 60.87 per cent. to 25 per cent., and on cotton damask from 40 per cent. to 25 per cent.

"The linen and their products have been similarly dealt with. Raw flax and ram have been reduced from 92.19 and 92.70 per cent., respectively, to 51.25 each; jute yarns have been cut from 20.99 per cent. to 15 per cent.; cables and cordage from 34.33 per cent. to 4.55 per cent.; all other flax yarns from 41.29 per cent. to 15 per cent.; handkerchiefs from 50 per cent. to 35 per cent.

New Schedule K Enacted.

"Schedule K, dealing with woolen and woollen manufactures, has been the center of criticism for many years and the committee has given it very careful study. The result has been to make raw wool free of duty, to reduce yarns from 75.34 per cent. to 25 per cent.; blankets from 72.69 per cent. to 25 per cent.; shawls from 93.29 per cent. to 25 and 35 per cent.; dress goods from 59.70 per cent. to 35 per cent.; clothing from 79.56 per cent. to 35 per cent.; webbing, etc., from 82.7 per cent. to 35 per cent., and carpets from rates ranging from 60 per cent. to 82 per cent., to rates ranging from 20 per cent. to 35 per cent.

"Inasmuch as silk and silk goods are distinctly to be classed as luxuries, it has been deemed wise to make only very moderate reductions in the rates of duty. Partially manufactured goods have been cut from 21.01 per cent. to 15 per cent.; spun silk yarn from 37.09 per cent. to 35 per cent.; sewing silk from 35 per cent. to 15 per cent.; silk goods from 52.55 per cent. to 50 per cent.; silk handkerchiefs (plain) from 50 per cent. to 40 per cent.; ribbons from 50 per cent. to 40 per cent.; artificial silk yarns from 41.79 per cent. to 35 per cent., and braids, embroideries and the like of artificial silk, from 63.49 per cent. to 60 per cent.

Print Paper on the Free List.

"Print paper, whose cost of production is as low in this country under favorable conditions as it is anywhere in the world, has been transferred to the free list when worth less than 2 1/2 cents per pound, while the higher grades have been given a tariff of 12 per cent. in place of 15.50 per cent. Copying paper has been cut from 42.32 per cent. to 30 per cent., bag envelopes, etc., from 49.92 per cent. to 35 per cent., parchment papers from 47.92 per cent. to 35 per cent., photographic paper from 29.99 per cent. to 25 per cent., writing paper from 45.13 per cent. to 25 per cent.; common wrapping paper from 35 per cent. to 25 per cent. and books from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent.

Jewelry Only Slightly Reduced.

"Jewelry has been only slightly reduced, falling from 75.74 per cent. to 60 per cent. A good illustration of the attitude adopted with respect to the application of the tariff is seen in the item, precious stones uncut, which are given a rate of 10 per cent. notwithstanding they were on the free list under the act of 1909.

"Where the tariff rates balance the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, including an allowance for the difference in freight rates, the tariff must be competitive, and from that point downward to the lowest tariff that can be levied will continue to be competitive to a greater or less extent.

Strikes Blow at Monopoly.

"On the other hand, when the duties levied at the custom house are high enough to allow the American manufacturer to make a profit before his competitor can enter the field, we have invaded the domain of the protection of profits. In the committee's judgment the protection of any profit must of necessity have a tendency to destroy competition and create monopoly, whether the profit protected is reasonable or unreasonable.

"Which course is the wiser one for our government to take? The one that demands the protection of profits, the continued policy of hothouse growth for our industries—the stagnation of development that follows where competition ceases—or, on the other hand, the gradual reduction of our tariff to a basis where the American manufacturer must meet honest competition; where he must develop his business along the best and most economic lines; where, when he fights at home to control his market, he is forging the way in the economic development of his business to extend his trade in the markets of the world. The future growth of our great industries lies beyond the seas."

LOYD'S BRAIN LEAKS.

Dan Patton said to Judge Garner: "where are those cigars I left on my desk?" I haven't touched one of them, sir. "Then how is it there is only one left." That's the one I didn't touch.

Do you have trouble when you are saying your lesson, Cecil? "Yes sir." What seems to trouble you most, my boy? "The teacher."

A boy said, "Are you still looking for your dog?" Daddy—"Yes." "Why don't you put an add in the Record-Press?" "What's the use, the dog can't read it."

A lady stepped into Billy Cox's grocery the other day asked Howard Rice "What have you got in the shape of cucumbers, this morning?" "Nothing but bananas, maddam," was his reply.

At a ball in Washington, a finished lady gave Senator Ollie James her fan to hold and asked him if he could flirt a fan. "No," he replied, "but I can fan a flirt."

Judge Garner says if you can't get beer or whiskey, drink water or blackberry wine. If you suffer from headache, neuralgia or kindred complaints, take another drink; if not better in 30 minutes repeat until you are unconscious and then you won't notice the pain.

A man asked Hansen Rushing, "why ain't you at you at work today, cut on a strike, are you?" "Yes, I struck the boss for a raise and he fired me."

Miss Mattie said to daddy one day, "I want to ask your advice. Two fellows are in love with me; one is rich the other is poor, but he says he loves me so much he would die for me. What would you do?" "Very simple matter indeed. Let the poor man die for you, then marry the rich one. Couldn't be simpler."

Uncle Dock Green says "deal gently with the old for they have come a long way; and be kind to the young for they have a long journey before them."

Dick Crow took a seat in a chair that Billy Cox had been measuring sorghum molasses on and he says that is his excuse for wearing the chair home. As warm weather is coming on uncle Billy Loyd is prospecting around for a good soft stump to sit on when the sun shines warm. He will pick out one he thinks won't have any lizards or sharp splinters on it.

Uncle Dock Green and Daddy Loyd took dinner together a few days ago, after eating chicken, beefsteak, beans, peas, potatoes, milk, pie, and coffee, he poured sorghum molasses over the mixture, the lady said, "what will you have next?" Uncle Dock—"Well I guess indigestion or a doctor, I can't tell which."

Uncle Billy Loyd says, eat and you will not be hungry; it's avoid sun stroke do as I do, "keep out of the sun."

Dan Bolster says, "you can shake off a chill if you shake hard enough." Jesse McCaslin is talking about running for Representative of Crittenden Co. Jesse is somewhat of a statesman and you had better keep your eyes on him. Congress is not out of his reach and then the Senate and maybe Presidency. You never can tell.

A certain farmer, a widower, stepped into the office of the Record-Press, the other day, and said to the editor, "I want to put a little add in your paper, Marshal." "WANTED—A woman who can cook, wash, iron, milk four cows, and manage a farm." "I'll state the wages," inquired Marshal. "Wages, the devil," replied the farmer, "I want to marry her."

Uncle Billy Loyd says, "my motto is work first then rest."

Dan Bolster says a man can put his money in the bank for safe keeping, but there's no place he can keep his reputation out of danger.

Uncle George Stallions says "the only sure way to keep out of trouble is to never get into it."

WHAT OUR CONGRESSMAN IS DOING

Six-year Term of President No Re-election.—To Abolish Short Session.

Washington, April 22.—Representative A. W. Barkley, of the First Kentucky district today introduced several important resolutions looking to constitutional changes. Judge Barkley seeks to provide for the direct election of Presidents by the several states; to lengthen the presidential term to six years, and make the executives ineligible to re-election; and to do away entirely with the "short session" of Congress.

In the latter enterprise Judge Barkley will probably have the support of Woodrow Wilson. The President in his writings and conversation has expressed the opinion that the short session should be killed. The measures are not to be pressed until next December, but in the meantime Judge Barkley plans to go over his resolutions with the President.

Under the Barkley plan a Congressman elected in November will not have to wait thirteen months to take his seat. He is empowered to begin his duties in the second week in January subsequent to his election, and the President elected in November is to be administered the oath of office one week previous. Congress would then sit from the second in January of each new year until that time in the succeeding summer when its business was completed.

Mr. Barkley's direct election resolution does not give Congress the right to organize the elections. It provides that they shall be held under the auspices of the several States, which shall then certify their choice to the Secretary of State. This does away with the electoral college. Judge Barkley also introduced today a bill striking at "bootlegging." It prohibits the issuance of a Government license or permit or receipt for special tax which would in any way authorize the sale of liquor in local option territory.

AN AMUSING LETTER

From San Francisco—This Man
113 Some Tobacco
Seed.

San Francisco, Cal., Mar. 31 '13.
M'gr., Telephone or Telegraph
Co., Marion, Ky.

Comrade:—
I notice an article in one of our papers a few days ago, stating that some gentleman there was planting out some tobacco seeds in his yard, which reminded me of the fact that I have tried unsuccessfully here several times to get some tobacco seed. I wonder if you would kindly secure and mail me a dozen or so seed, so that I can try them in my yard, and furnish me with any instructions as to how to sow the seed, depth, etc. When a boy, I remember my grandfather raising tobacco in southern Indiana, and how he placed it in a shed in the fall, and afterwards made it into twists and used it for smoking and chewing tobacco. I also distinctly recollect that I undertook to chew some of it one day, and afterwards laid under the trundle bed all day, sick as a mud hen. I enclose a stamp for a reply and also mail you under separate cover, a small monthly magazine, which contains a reduced picture of a small corner of our old office, which was taken before the great earthquake and fire here in 1906. I address this letter to the Manager of the Telephone or Telegraph Co., as the old tariff book, which I have at home, gives your office as a three star office, meaning Telephone office. I also address it as "Comrade," not knowing whether you are a man, woman or Miss, however, any of the names will answer, providing it reaches you and I get the seed.

In the photo of the office, I am the good looking man, standing at the extreme left hand corner of the switchboard.

Thanking you in advance for the seed, I am,
Yours Truly,
MARION B. BROWN,
125 West Park street.

Wearry Feet.

I wonder how many people who suffer tortures with their feet in hot weather, agonies of aching, burning, swelling and extreme tenderness, know that a raw potato, peeled and cut in half and well rubbed over them every night and morning will cure the trouble? Or, failing that, a good daily soaking in strong cold tea? Or that the worst soft corns will yield to a treatment of salt—ordinary salt applied night and morning?

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A DUMPING GROUND FOR JAIL-BIRDS.

By A. W. MACY.

Prior to the revolution England used the American colonies as a dumping-ground for her undesirable citizens. It is estimated that between 1717 and 1775, not less than 50,000 convicts, of all kinds and of both sexes, were taken from the jails of Great Britain and Ireland and transported to the American colonies, where they were condemned to hard labor and hired out to the settlers. The Maryland colony suffered most from the affliction, 20,000 or more of the jail-birds being sent there. Some of them, however, had been convicted of slight offenses, and were easily transformed into good citizens of the new world.

WOULD CONSCISE PALE

IN EXCESSIVE FORTUNES

Inheritance Tax Bill is Before Senate. Washington Man Speaks for New Revenue Law.

Washington, April 21.—An inheritance tax that would run as high as 50 per cent, on fortunes over $15,000,000 was proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Jones, of Washington. The measure would impose inheritance tax on all estates except where the bequest is to members of the immediate family, in which case there would be an exemption of $25,000 and a reduced tax rate.

The general inheritance tax proposed is as follows:

On estates of less than $5,000, 1 per cent.; from $5,000 to $50,000, 2 per cent.; from $50,000 to $250,000, 5 per cent.; from $250,000 to $750,000, 10 per cent.; from $750,000 to $1,500,000, 15 per cent.; from $1,500,000 to $3,000,000, 20 per cent.; from $3,000,000 to $7,000,000, 25 per cent.; from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000, 40 per cent.; and above $15,000,000, 50 per cent.

No constitutional amendment would be necessary to impose an inheritance tax.

In the House a similar bill to that of Senator Jones was introduced by Representative La Follette, and referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Representative Miller, of Kansas, also introduced a bill to provide for taxation on inheritance, devises, legacies and gifts in the District of Columbia in excess of $3,000.

DEATH OF MR. TRAVIS.

Died at the home of his mother in this community, April 10th, Mr. Sam Travis, after a lingering illness of dropsy and erysipelas.

Mr. Travis was a member of Seven Springs church and was a regular attendant as long as his health would permit him to go.

His funeral was conducted by Rev. U. G. Hughes at Seven Springs church in the presence of a large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends, after which his remains were interred in the Koon cemetery.

During the erection of the new house of worship, at Seven Springs Bro. Travis was ever at his post of duty together with a few of the faithful to do any work that he could do that this church might be completed.

And we are proud to say that he lived long enough to see this house dedicated to the Lord, and while this church has lost this useful member we would say sorrow not as those that have no hope of the resurrection for we are taught in God's word that the dead in Christ shall rise first and we would say to the bereaved mother, brother and sister and to his children weep not for him but try to be ready to meet him when God shall say.

"Come up higher and enjoy the rest prepared for all who love and serve God."

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One—How a Resident Made a Bad Back Strong.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Follow the example of this Marion citizen.

J. O. Tabor, Mexico, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for about six years. The pains in my back were severe and when I was stooping or lifting, sharp twinges passed through my loins. My back always ached more intensely at night and in the morning I felt lame. I tired easily, was languid and nervous and had headaches. The kidney secretions also passed too frequently and caused me annoyance. I took one and a half boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they rid me of every symptom of my trouble. I am now in good health."

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

A BOON TO WEAK STOMACHS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.

When the Risleys were invited to a paper-bagged dinner, they came prepared to scoff—and openly. Charming people both, but a bit difficult. Especially the husband. The root of his difficulties I had long since set down as a stomach maladroitness, in doing its whole duty. The stomach's owner took on fat too readily, but did not gain strength proportionately to his thriving.

Therefore I permitted them to be in at the death—the death of several paper bags, the resurrection of their contents. When the brolle came forth bearing a bigish bag, black-brown at the corners, and ready to crack at a touch, they stood smiling, but critical, waiting to see what I would do with it. Catching the bag either side the cut, I lifted it gently—it came apart along all the seams, revealing a chicken, roasted to the most delicate brown all over. But when the carving knife went in there came out the finest flavous juice, and in such quantity it was possible to add "dish-gravy" to the plates as well as that in the boat.

"I never tasted real chicken before," young Risley said, as he took a second helping. His wife gave him an anxious look. "Be careful, dear," she urged. "You know, you've been on the verge of a bad spell all week." His answer was to take another sweet potato, and help himself to succotash—both had been cooked in bags. Salad he disdained upon hearing that there was in wait a damson roly poly—by help of which he rounded out a noble meal. His wife also ate heartily to my great joy. But I saw apprehension in her eye, until the very last.

Early next morning she called me. "Jack slept like a baby and says he has of felt so well in ages," she said. "Where can I get some paper bags?"

M. Soyer states positively that paper bag cooking is fine for contrary stomachs. My experience backs him up in this statement.

The succotash which I made for my friends, the Risleys, was prepared in this manner.

Succotash.—Boil one pint shelled lima beans in slightly salted water half an hour, drain and put white hot into a well buttered bag. Add green corn cut from the cob—four to six ears according to size, butter the size of an egg, half a tumbler of rich milk, a very little salt, a dust of pepper, and a teaspoonful of sugar. Seal bag, lay on broiler, and cook fifteen minutes. The beans are parboiled thus to avoid overcooking the corn, which requires much less time.

Plum Roly Poly.—Damsons are my favorites for this, but any ripe, sound plums will do. Wash and stew them, pick out the seed, and if very juicy, drain away more than half the juice. Sweeten lightly—no spicing is needed. Make puff paste, roll it out in long strips a quarter inch thick, sprinkle sugar on the upper side, then spread thinly with the stewed fruit, roll up and pinch the ends tight. Roll in a little lump of extra butter. Cook thirty minutes in a hot oven—forty if the roly is quite big. Serve hot with a sauce made from the extra juice, along with butter and sugar, cooked together over boiling water. (Copyright, 1911, by the Associated Literary Press.)

COLD MEAT COOKERY.

By Nicolas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Canneton a la Royale.—Take a pound of cold roast veal, free it from skin, fat, etc., and pass it through a mincing machine twice. Add to it six ounces of cooked ham, fat and lean together, also minced. Mix, then add pepper and salt to taste, a teaspoon of minced parsley, a teaspoon half full of minced shallot, a little grated lemon peel, and a dust of nutmeg. Mix again. Add the well-beaten yolks and whites of two eggs, shape into a roll, wrap up in a piece of clean, well-greased paper (a bag cut open), place in bag, and cook for twenty-five minutes.

Mouton Grille a la Indienne.—Underdone mutton for which no other use can be found may be turned into a very nice broil as follows: Cut a sufficient number of slices from a leg of mutton and cut into rounds or squares. Melt a piece of butter, about the size of a large walnut, on a plate in the oven. Add to it a teaspoonful of Harvey's sauce and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly and leave the slices of mutton in the mixture for at least an hour before they are required. Have ready a number of fried croutons, allowing one to each piece of mutton; place the latter on these, put them in a well-greased paper bag, put bag on broiler, cook for eight minutes.

Cold Fish.—Take off all flesh from the fish bones. Mash up a few potatoes. Season to taste. Grease paper bag. Place mashed potatoes at the bottom, flat. Put one teaspoonful flour on top of the fish, three table-spoonfuls of milk, salt and pepper, and a little chopped parsley (if desired), anchovy or other sauce. Mix together. Place the mixture on top of the potato in the bag. Seal up and place on broiler. Allow fifteen minutes in a hot oven. (Copyright, 1911, by Sturgis & Walton Company.)

YOUR RHEUMATISM

is probably due to uric acid in the system—the blood must be purified—the poisonous acid driven out and general health must be improved.

Thousands testify that Scott's Emulsion rids the system of poisonous acid by enriching the impoverished blood, and its concentrated nourishment is converted into red blood corpuscles which drive out rheumatism.

It is especially valuable to aged people.

Ask for and insist on SCOTT'S.
