ONE OF THE COMING BIG EVENTS IN THIS SECTION OF THE STATE

TYPICAL SCENE AT A REDPATH CHAUTAUQUA

HE forthcoming Chautauqua which is to be held here will be one of the big events of the season in this section of the state. The above photograph illustrates a typical crowd at one of the Redpath Chautauquas. There are today nearly 1,200 Chautauquas in the United States and Canada. In fact, the Chautauqua has become one of America's great institutions, and the idea has already spread to England and Japan. In 1872 there was not a Chautauqua in the world. In 1873 Bishop John H. Vincent and Lewis Miller inaugurated at the spot now called Chautauqua, N. Y., the original institution. Today Chautauqua, N. Y., is the summer center for 10,000 people, and its land, buildings and equipment represent a cost of millions.

But, although thousands of people go annually to Chautauqua, N. Y., from all parts of the United States, the great mass of American people would never get to a Chautauqua if they had to travel far from home. The recognition of this fact brought about the decision to take Chautauquas to the people everywhere. The movement a few years ago began to spread rapidly. Today there are operated from the Redpath headquarters in Iowa, Kansas City and Chicago nearly 600 Chautauquas. Only the best talent is engaged, as high as $15,000 having been paid by the Redpath for a single attraction for the Chautauqua season. Every year the number of Chautauquas grows, and there are more requests annually from towns wishing to be Chautauqua centers than can possibly be granted.

Will Re Representative in Annua Debate to be Held At Bowling Green

Mr. E. H. Joiner, of this city is he recipient of an honor of which ne is entirely worthy. He has ust been elected as one of the six peakers in the annual debate be tween the two literary societies of Bowling Green Business University, which institution he is at tending. This year the question is, "Should We Take Mexico? and Mr. Joiner and his colleagues champion the negative. This occasion draws visitors from al parts of the state to Bowling Green and excitement runs high that no building in that city s large enough to accommodate all who wish to hear the debate. The audience is admitted on ticket, and the opera house, with capacity of 1500 is filled to its ut most. For three hours, men, women and children listen, applaud and scream their approbation of their favorites and finally the vic torious speakers are carried on the shoulders of their friends.

Of course we are for Mr. Joiner, first, last and all the time, and his many friends in this county will wish for him the victory which we are sure he will not only merit. The girl wife who lost her life win. Mr. Joiner is the son of cows with young calves, for

GOV. CRUCE AND HIS LEGISLATURE AT SWORD'S POINT

Crittenden County Boy Stands For What He Thinks is Right.

Oklahema City, Okla., May 10-Following a day of acrimonious and impassioned speechmaking over the report of an investigating committee that excoriated Warden Clyde Reed of the state reformatory at Granite for alleged laxity of administration and permitting disease and unsanitary conditions to exist in the prison, Gov. Cruce sent to the legislature a message in which he demanded a fair hearing for Warden Reed, calling at tention to the report that only discharged employes of the institution had been heard by the com- SEXTON MANUFACTURING Co. mittee. The message seriously reflected on the character of the committee, of which Speaker Maxey is chairman.

Upon the arrival of the message Speaker Maxey, seeing it character, left the chair and went to a corner of the chamber and sat down and read it. The result was that the message was not received until the next day, but meantime it had appeared in the newspapers. Next day a resolution refusing to receive or entertain the message was adopted-67 to 17. The res lution recited that "the commun." cation does not come within either the letter or the spirit of the constitution, but is intended for and does make, a personal attack upo the legislature as a whole, and es pecially one of the committees of the house" and that "there the chief clerk is directed to retur said communication to the govern or, together with a copy of this

In his message the governor

"This committee has not succceded in covering up its purpose. in a way that has deceived me. know what the committee has in mind. I know that this committee has deliberately set out, after having discussed the matter in se cret, to try to discredit the governor and to bring about a state of feeling among the people that will justify the committee in undertaking to institute impeachment proccedings. I know this is so-that members of that committee are disappointed and angry because they have been unable to foist upon the people of this state legis lation that was iniquitous and outrageous. If I had signed the Muskogee fair bill and the redistricting bill, and thus permittecertain members of that committee to pave their way to a seat in congress, there would have been no such report as the one you lis tened to yesterday."

The report accused the governor, the attorney-general and the president of the board of agriculthre, who compose the board of prison control, with being responsible for a continuation of alleged conditions in the reformatory.

Representative John H. Wright offered a resolution demanding that impeachment proceedings be instituted against all the members of the board, but it was defeated.

Gov. Cruce declared that he has sent his last message recommending legislation of any char-

Representative Ollie Morris defended the governor and impugned wrong motives to members of the committee. He mentioned a man who, on Speaker Maxey's reconmendation, had been given a position under the warden of the prison, and had sought to sell state property to two different persons.

This caused an uproar, and Representative Smith, a Kentuckian warned Morris that the next time this accused ex-employee of the reformatory met Morris there might be an accounting in blood. While Gov. Cruce is getting hundreds of telegrams and letters daily from all over the state inlorsing the stand against the legislature, the house has arranged for the publication of 1,000 coptes of the report for circulation. Appropriations are yet to be made for the maintenance of all state offices and departments and state insti-

Obituary.

Mrs. Lillian T. Howard (nee Bass,) born Oct. 8, 1886, died March 12, 1913, her age 26 years, five months and four days.

She leaves a husband and two children, a mother, father, halfbrother and sister, besides a host of friends and relatives to mourn her death.

She professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. church, south, in early life, where she remained a faithful member till God called her home to glory. It is hard to part with our loved ones here on earth but our loss is her gain. While she can not come back to us, we can go to her in her eternal home, where there will be no more parting.

The Niles, Mich., Daily Sun says: "It requires no words of ours to add o the volume of praise for the great chautauqua even-day course. Its value to the community as an educational and moral force cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

The Crawfordsville, Ind., Journal: "A canvass was made of the business portion of the city to-day, in which a large number of people competent to judge were asked the r opinion of the chautauqua. Without exception, those interviewe? said it was great."

The Maysville, Ky., Daily Independent: "The people of Maysville who have had a touch of the chautauqua this year have surely enjoyed it. Some of the lecturers alone were worth the price of a season ticket."

The Vincennes, Ind., Commercial: "This year's program has been wonderful.

The Kendallville, Ind., News-Sun: "Everyone is looking forward to next summer's week of pleasure."

The Goshen, Ind., News-Times "The chautauqua is proving a great success and promises to become a permanent institution in Goshen. It furnishes good wholesome entertainment and is a great educational and uplifting influence in the community."

ZEBULUM'S STORY

Recalls to Mind of Former Marion Boy Experiences of His Own Along Fords Ferry Road

Mr. S. M. Jenkius. Marion, Ky. Kind Editor:-

I have read with thought and pleasure the article in your good paper entitled, "Chased By The Sheriff," and written by "Zebulum" himself.

I read it with thought and pleasure, because it reminded ands each year for many years me that twenty-nine years ago on the 27th day of February last past, I rode from Marion to Fords Ferry with my marriage license in my pocket, but not chased by the sheriff, no. no.

It was on a stormy, snowy day, and I rode meditative and alone, trying to penetrate the coming years, and determine if possible what they would bring out of the future to me. Fortunately crops which had not been markthey have all brought peace, happiness, and contentment. My mind often goes back to "My dear native land Where in peace and content, The years of my boyhood Were carelessly spent.

From its wide spreading plains To its deep flowing streams, Ever dear to my heart, It is seen in my dreams."

But now I am pleasantly situated in southern California, among good neighbors and true he is talking about. C. Lower, drugfriends, "same as you."

The sea breeze reaches us from 8 to 9 o'clock, a. m., and drifts back again from the mountains tain air making the nights cool enough to sleep pleasantly under a comfort or a blanket.

I shall not attempt to describe the many pleasures and advantages of this country, these have been told and written by thousof the past. But I wish to say to those who contemplate ever coming to California to secure homes now is your time. Some great disaster has come to many portions of our country at some period of time. Southern California had hers this winter in the hardest freeze ever known here, so old settlers say. That portion of the orange and lemon eted before the freeze was almost a total loss, many growers losing their entire crops. Trees in bearing groves generally were not hurt, but many young groves lately set were frozen down to the ground. Many growers have become discouraged, and others who had not paid out on their

There are perhaps a few figures in connection with the Continental that might be of interest to you, and they will appear in this space from time to time.

As we have already stated, the Continental was formerly represented by Mr, Jas. T. Hicklin, who succeeded Mr. R. L. Flanarg, and it was through no failure upon Mr. Hicklin's part that the agency was transferred, but I paid Mr. Hicklin for the agency. I bought it for two reasons, First, because I KNEW the Continental Insurance Company, and KNEW that you were acquainted with its fair, square methods of dealing with its policy holders. And Second, because I believed you would want your business to remain with just such Company... chased the Agency and take this method of saying to you that I not only desire, but sincerely believe that you will allow your business to remain with the Continental, and will speak a good word for me and the Continental to your neighbors. You will find me at all times not only ready, but anxious, to serve you in any way possible. Should you want any change made in your policy; should you have a loss; should you make a deal involving the title to your property, please report it to me AT ONCE. You will find me located in the Jenkins building, Room No. 12, Phone Call me. Rest assured that I will be to see you in plenty of time to renew any policy which may expire, and will put forth my best effort to make our dealings mutual and satisfactory. ALPH BINGHAM is a humorist who for thirty-five years has been before the public and who is still in the prime of life. This is accounted for by the fact that his first appearance was at the age of six years, when he traveled as the "Boy Orator of America." His appearances on the American continent to date number nearly 10,000. T. De Witt Talmadge, after hearing Bingham, said: "Bless Bingham and all the apostolic college of humorists. The man that makes me laugh is my benefactor. God bless all skillful punsters, all those who mirthfully surprise us with unusual juxtaposition of words. This is a divine mission." AMENDMENT

TO THE CONSTITUTION OF KENTUCKY

Working Convicts on Roads.

An amendment to the State Constitution is to be voted on at the November election, which it adopted, will permit the convicts of the State to be worked on the public highways. The amendment limits it provision to able bodied men who are not sentenced for life. We think this amendment ought to be adopted and we are quite confident that it will be. More than a dozen States are working convicts on roads and many of them have been doing so for a number of years. Most satisfactory results are reported and no State that has tried convict labor on public roads has ever repeated the law. It is a good way to build good roads as it is the cheapest labor possible. A mile of good meta. road can be built with convict abor for half the cost of regular hired labor or contract prices. s stem of leasing the convicts to should carry and let the counties all honorable means to be elected. in bringing in competition on the chance to secure what ever R F D No. 1 GREEN B. Things Serious and Frive'ous Talked About on The Streets of Co. Hub

(Reported by R. C. HAYNES.)

"Old Belzie and I," went on Dog-Owner No. 3, 'were, ordinarily, on the best of terms. He was a gentle creat--- are and I often rode him around the place with perfect safety, even without saddle or bridle. On this occasion, however, as I have already pointed out, the mule, owing to my changed E 63 facial expression and the wheeziness of my voice, looked upon me as an interloper, as an usurper-as one who had no earthly right to a seat upon his

"When we came to the fork of the road, therefore, and I had given the mule's ribs a punch with my heels and at the same time indicating by a movement of the reins that I wanted him to keep on down the Ford's Ferry road instead of taking the road toward home, old Belzie determined to get rid of me, then and there.

"Anyway, the mule certainly did some of the tallest bucking I ever saw pulled off on Crittenden county soil. He reared and plunged and kicked up, sprang around stiff-legged, jumped forward and backward and sideways, plunged and reared some more, finally getting me off the saddle and setting me to the rear, near his tair. This being accomplished, he gave a monstrous kick-up, di-lodging me entirely from his back and sending me up among the branches of the trees overhead.

"When I had reached the zenith of my aerial flight and started down again toward this mundane sphere, I grabbed hold of an overhanging limb and held on to it with both hands and thus swung, back and forth, over the roadway.

"Old Belzie, finding himself freed from his encumbrance, looked around as if to see where I was located and, beholding me coming down toward the earth, kicked at me, then galloped off up the lane toward the house, looking back now and then, as if to see what had become of me.

"As the limb to which I clung was not high. I released my hold and came to the ground, landing on my feet. I ched the mule until he reached the gate and then I saw Billy go and lead him to the stable.

It sounded more like I had, with malice aforethought, squeaked out:

'Lo, here I come puffing, I've waded the mart; My shoe shines but slightly-You blasted upstart!'

"When I had delivered myself of this well-meant recital, Fluffy, instead of recognizing me, either by my voice, my physiogomy or my poetry, looked at me with a defiant stare, then glanced around, as if to see if some weapon of defense was handy."

BIG EVENT CHAUTAUQUA WEEK.

ONCERNING the Ben Greet Players, who are to appear here Chautauqua week in the rendition of a Shakespearean play, the Kennebec Journal, Augusta, Me., recently said: "Seventeen hundred people were present at the city hall Monday night at the opening of the Augusta entertainment course and for more than two hours were in ecstasies of delight and laughter over the splendid production by the Ben Greet Players. The company was the genuine Ben Greet Players, and people were present in the audience who had paid $2 and $3 elsewhere to see the same production. The company contains seven of the original players who came with Mr. Greet from England twelve years ago, while the remaining six have been with him for several years in his greatest successes. * * * The management of the Augusta Entertainment Course is certainly to be congratulated upon giving the Augusta public such a splendid entertainment. * * * The acting could not have been bettered."

"When you buy a Studebaker you're buying a vehicle that has behind it and in it sixty years of experience—sixty years of success—and sixty years of reputation for the square deal. That's why a Studebaker always looks good to me."

"My father used to say that Studebaker honor was as sure as a United States bank note. He was talking after having used Studebaker vehicles since he was a lad, and he told me his father before him said, 'Be safe—get a Studebaker.'"

"Vehicle builders can't hold that sort of reputation now-adays without delivering the goods. A Studebaker wagon has the best in it. That's why a man gets the most out of it—why it's always an economy.

"Dealers may say to you something else is 'just as good.' But when you buy a Studebaker, you're making a safe investment

Miss Una E. Clement, daughter of R. B. (Fred) Clement, of this county, was born Dec. 18th. 1892, professed faith in Christ in early childhood and united with the Cumberland Presbyterians at Crayne, also this county, of which church was a member at the time of her death, May 14th, 1913.

She was a highly respected christian young lady, as was evidenced by the vast throng of people who gathered at the family residence Thursday evening to accompany the remains to the family cemetery, where interment took place.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. T. Oakley, from the home Thursday evening in the presence of perhaps the largest and most sympathetic audience that ever witnessed a funeral from a residence in this county. The floral offering was also per-relatives, all of which only spoke in silent words of the high esteem in which she was held.

We are unable to explain why the dark angel of death should enter this home and just as Una reached her majority, call for her. However, it was the wriz ter's privilege to talk face to face with her a few hours before the end came, and hear her say that she was ready when the call came, and was going home to Heaven to be with mother, Jesus and the angels. These are precious thoughts and were it not for these it would indeed be much harder to bear.

May the richest and choicest blessings of a Divine father rest in that home, and upon the bereaved father, brothers, sisters and all the relatives and friends, is the sincere prayer of the writer, and when the end shall come to us, may we likewise be ready to go to sleep as the sun sets in this world to awake at it's rising up yonder, and be greeted by the blood-washed throng that await

Chi-Namel Demonstration

AT THE CHI-NAMEL STORE

MAY 23rd and 24th.

We have the sales agency for the line of all-purpose varnish, which is so far ahead of any varnish that has ever been sold in this community, that we particularly desire an early opportunity to show its good points to some member of every household in our business district.

What we want you to know about this wonderful varnish is something that cannot be told; but we can show you in a very tew minutes that you get more for your money every time by using Chi-Namel Varnish for floors, woodwork, furniture. or anything about the house on which varnish is used.

This varnish is furnished in the natural coior and also in a full variety of colors It can be hammered and boiled without showing any signs of abuse. Any amateur can apply it to large surfaces and get just as smooth a finish as a professional finisher-no laps, no brush marks, no blotches to make a patchy ap-

You will thank us for this invitation after you have come to know all about it.

Other features we want to show you are the Chi-Namel Ready-to-Use Graining Process, by which you can cover all blemishes in your old floors and make them any color you wish, and also produce the grain of oak or other woods.

Old carpets can be made into rugs and a new hardwood border will take the place of the ugly flooring at a cost of but 2c per square foot.

We will gladly explain all these features at our store if you give us the opportunity.
