BOHUMIR KRYL AND THIRTY OF HIS ARTISTS COMING HERE CHAUTAUQUA WEEK

A LEADING feature of Chautauqua Week in this city will be the appearance of Bohumir Kryl and his band. This band will comprise thirty or more artists. Mr. Kryl, in addition to leading the band, will appear in cornet solos at each performance. Bohumir Kryl is today acknowledged to be one of America's five greatest bandmasters, and as a cornet player, according to the Los Angeles Times and other great newspapers, he has no superior in America. Last summer Kryl and his band appeared on all Redpath Chautauques in Tennessee, Kentucky, Michigan and Indiana. The demand was so vigorous that he should return to these cities that the Redpath would have been ungrateful indeed had it disregarded the people's requests. Everywhere Kryl Band Day drew big crowds and created great enthusiasm. This year the band will be augmented by several more players than last year. One of these will be the widely known harpist, Leo Zelenka Lerando, who has toured throughout Germany, Austria, Italy, Denmark and England. With further reference to Bohumir Kryl, it will be recalled that he laid down the sculptor's chisel after completing the statue of General Lew Wallace at Crawfordsville, Ind., and made music his life work thereafter at the suggestion of Sousa and that he immediately sprang into great prominence.

MRS. W. T. M'CONNEL'S BROTHERS

Complimented in Paducah News-Democrat's "Home Coming Edition."

Senator S. R. Glenn, was born in Lyon county in 1877, where he has resided all of his life. His parents were W. P. and Celia (Young) Glenn, both dead. After acquiring a good education Mr. Glenn followed various channels of business and in the past few years has become an extensive farmer, owning and operating one of the finest Cumberland river farms in Lyon Co. At the age of 21 years Mr. Glenn was elected mayor of Eddyville, the only office he ever held until his election to the state senate by the handsomest Democratic majority in the history of his district which service was so well rendered that he has been held in high recognition all over the state.

Senator Glenn won a hard fought, but honorable fight for the nomination and his handsome majority at the general election in November, 1911, but showed the esteem in which he was held. Senator Glenn was the author of eight bills, all of which were passed, chief of which was his pension bill giving the Confederate soldiers $10 per month, the constitutionality of which has been tested and held constitutional.

Mr. Glenn deserves to rank among the prison officials and is mentioned favorably in connection with the prison because of the appropriation he secured for the late filtering plant and water system that now gives both the prison and Eddyville absolutely pure water. Among the other appropriations secured by him was one for the new concrete bridge at Eddyville near the depot.

He was chairman of the committee that passed the insurance bill, which has saved from the deduction already made over $300,000 to the policy holders.

It is much to Mr. Glenn's credit that he never missed a roll call and voted every time. It shows that he was about the "people's business." He is a courteous, polished gentleman and popular wherever known and being a holdover will be able to

CRITTENDEN CO., MINING NEWS

The Crittenden Springs Property Has Developed Vein of Zinc and Lead Ore

The Crittenden Springs property owned by Edward F. W. Kiser formerly of Louisville, has developed a great body of zinc and lead ore. The size of the crystals of zinc and the cubes of lead are greater than the ordinary ores of the district. They are carried in a matrix of white calc spar and our ordinary limestone, producing an ideal concentrating and cleaning proposition. Mr. Kiser is being congratulated on all sides for his persistency in overcoming many and varied obstacles while Professor Wright, also of Louisville, the well known mining engineer is given all credit by Mr. Kaiser for showing him where and how to produce such results.

The report in last weeks issue of the Press regarding a strong body of lead and zinc ore in the Commodore Mine is absolutely confirmed. The width of the ore body at the point where the drift entered the vein is a strong eight feet consisting of a very high lead percentage. This property since Mr. James White assumed the management has reached a shipping and financial status that foreshadows wonderful dividends in the not distant future.

The Ohio Valley Mining Company's property near Mexico under the direction of Mr. James Persons, the well known Wisconsin zinc expert is raising from one of their shafts a considerable tonnage of carbonate of zinc. At the present, this body of carbonate has some four feet of a breast, it may widen to a very great deposit or the reverse, as in mining carbonate of zinc a change of front sometimes occurs in a very few feet. It is such a treacherous ore as to last long qualities that it is always good business to take what is before one while working and to follow its lead even though it carries one to the top of the ground.

Considerable tonnage of zinc carbonate was shipped from that old reliable mine, "The Mann" last week by Mr. Ed-

At the age of twenty he held the position of first violinist in this famous organization and later on played solos, accompanied by the Thomas Orchestra. Mr. Thomas himself has joined in the applause for Marx's solos. While in Berlin Mr. Marx competed with forty-eight musicians for a scholarship under Dr. Joachim and won the prize. In 1912 Mr. Marx was appointed assistant concert master of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, one of the highest positions that can come to a violinist in this country.

PEEVISH LITTLE BEES

Cut to Sting Everything in Sight It Seems.

Porterville, Calif., May 18.—Hundreds of bees, angry at long confinement in hot hives during the trip here from Kern county for the orange blossom season, swarmed out of their stands at the Kern County Land company's apiary near Ponca station. They flew into the poultry yards at the Bryant place and stung more than 200 fancy pullets to death.

The swarm continued down the road and nearly overwhelmed an automobile party. Several passing ranch teams were badly stung. The unusually warm weather is thought to be responsible for the bad temper of the bees.

Health a Factor in Success.

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are sold by all dealers.

PERSICA FLORIBUNDI

Mr. Richard Leavell has in his yard in the country a tree very much resembling an ordinary peach tree, the botanical name of which is Persica Floribundi, or flowering peach. It is covered with a great profusion of double rose colored blossoms larger than a Rambler rose. Some varieties of this tree have a kind of red fruit, not edible, and others have no fruit. The tree grows as large as a peach tree and the foliage is identical.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

To The Continental Policy Holder!

I have just purchased of Mr. James T. Hicklin, of this city, the agency of the Continental Insurance Company, for Crittenden and Livingston Counties, and am very glad to find so many policy holders of this Company. I congratulate you upon your wise choice in selecting as old and as reliable a Company as the Continental in which to place your Fire and Tornado Insurance. There are perhaps a few figures in connection with the Continental that might be of interest to you, and they will appear in this space from time to time.

As we have already stated, the Continental was formerly represented by Mr. Jas. T. Hicklin, who succeeded Mr. R. L. Flanarg, and it was through no failure upon Mr. Hicklin's part that the agency was transferred, but I paid Mr. Hicklin for the agency. I bought it for two reasons, First, because I KNEW the Continental Insurance Company, and KNEW that you were acquainted with its fair, square methods of dealing with its policy holders. And Second, because I believed you would want your business to remain with just such Company. Therefore, I purchased the Agency and take this method of saying to you that I not only desire, but sincerely believe that you will allow your business to remain with the Continental, and will speak a good word for me and the Continental to your neighbors. You will find me at all times not only ready, but anxious, to serve you in any way possible. Should you want any change made in your policy; should you have a loss; should you make a deal involving the title to your property, please report it to me AT ONCE. You will find me located in the Jenkins building, Room No. 12, Phone No. 239-2. Call me. Rest assured that I will be to see you in plenty of time to renew any policy which may expire, and will put forth my best effort to make our dealings mutual and satisfactory. Trusting that I may have the pleasure of meeting every one of the Continental Policy holders personally within the near future, I am, Sincerely Yours,

Stories of The Town

Things Serious and Frivolous Talk- ed About On The Streets of the County Hub.

"When the recital of the first stanza of that little poem," continued Dog-Owner No. 3, "instead of being the means of my hoped-for identification, so utterly failed in its mission, owing to the deplorable condition of my voice; that it had, on the contrary, been rather the means of a farther estrangement, I knew it would be useless to recite the second stanza."

"The house stood back some distance from the front gate and, when I had reached the latter, I cried out:

"Hello!"

"I had thought it probable that Fluffy would, by this time, catch on to my disguise—or rather want of disguise—as the moon was shining and I could see her gaze fixed upon me."

"Hello," she called back, "what will you have?"

"As this was the first audible sign she had given of my presence on the premises, I took courage. I will act so friendly and natural, I reflected, that Fluffy cannot fail to recognize me."

"Well," I replied, after clearing my throat several times, "I'd like, by George, to have a shelter from the night breeze, a kiss or two, a square meal, a big dose of grip remedy, a good night's sleep and in the morning another square—"

"By this time I was about half-way between the gate and the house and was mentally congratulating myself on my apparent success, when I was suddenly interrupted by a third party on the scene."

"Old Bounce came round the house from the back yard, making toward me in full speed and showing great wrath and indignation at my unholy presence in the yard!"

"I don't contemplate having any trouble with old Bounce, I reflected, for dogs are very hard to deceive when it comes to disguises. Therefore, when I saw him coming at me in such fury I paused, put on a bold front and said to him:

"Come, sir, be civil. Greet your master."

"When I had uttered these words, addressed to the dog, I heard a giggle behind me and, looking back in that direction, I saw Fluffy standing on the porch laughing—whether at my words or my predicament I could not tell, though most likely, I surmised, at my effort at speech; for, though I spoke as distinctly as I could, it sounded as if I had said to the dog:

"On, cur, ye devil! Meet your disaster!"

"At all events, the brute's anger seemed to be augmented rather than pacified by my conciliatory measure, and he came on at me with renewed energy and increased rage."

"Hold up, Bounce!" cried Fluffy, and the dog stopped at once, though he still growled savagely to himself."

"Now, stranger," she continued, turning to me and pointing toward the gate, "rid this yard of your presence at once. I don't know who you are, yet I wouldn't mind giving you something to eat, but Reuben is not here, poor soul, so you will have to mozo on. Besides, I don't like your looks at all. Very likely you have made your escape from the pen or from some institution for the feeble-minded, probably the latter, as your actions are silly, your words are ridiculous and your looks (tee-hee!) are rather more comical than vicious."

"Anyway," Fluffy went on, "you are, it seems to me, an undesirable citizen to have around one's premises. Therefore, the sooner you are off and down the road the safer it will be for you; for, unless you are outside the gate in three shakes, or less time, old Bounce will know the reason why."

"Well, I shall not be in so great a hurry to leave as all that," I replied, in a wheezy voice. "I don't believe in running away from home and leaving one's wife and son and dog to run things about the place. I shall, therefore, go quietly in and proceed to make myself at home. Is supper about—"

"Of the above, I did not know how much Fluffy understood, or how much she misunderstood; but, when I had got thus far, my wife looked at the dog, then pointed with her hand at me. Again the brute came at me in a more savage way than ever!"

"I looked around me, but could not find a club or a stone anywhere with which to defend myself. I measured, with my eyes, the distance from myself to the porch and from myself to the gate, and decided I could not gain either point. So I made for the nearest available tree, the dog coming after me in full tilt!"

"Though the distance was short, old Bounce gained on me so fast that I decided that I could not reach even that harbor of safety. So, choosing the only alternative left me, I grabbed hold of the martin-pole and up I went, hand over hand, and clinging to the pole with my legs. But none too soon; for, as I sprang up the pole, the savage beast made a grab for me, tearing with his sharp teeth a patch of cloth from the back part of my trousers!"

"Although I was now beyond the dog's reach, I found it difficult to cling to the smooth surface of the martin-pole, and I reflected that I might, at any moment, lose my grip and fall to the ground and into the jaws of the savage brute!"

"With these reflections, I climbed up a little higher, took a firmer grip on the pole and called out to my wife:

"Oh, Fluffy, Fluffy! Come here to your Reuben!"

"My cold was getting worse all the time and my voice more wheezy and squeaky and, in trying to talk, I made a more dismal failure than ever. It sounded this way:

"Old Puffy Puff-up! Come near to your ruin!"

"When I had delivered myself of this little oration Fluffy stepped off the porch and came about half-way to the martin-pole and I had begun to congratulate myself on my success. But I was disappointed; for, instead of driving the dog away and bidding me come down, she cried out:

"Bill-ee!"

"I saw Billy stick his head out of the stable door, and then Fluffy again called out:

"Come here, Billy, old Bounce and I have a crazy man treed up the martin-pole! Bring your gun with you and guard him till Reuben comes!"

"Looking again toward the stable, I saw Billy coming toward the house, carrying his shot gun on his shoulder."

"Finding it extremely difficult to hold on to the pole, I climbed on up until I reached the highest point, then sat down on the martin-box, which was nailed to the top of the pole. Although it was a hazardous thing to do, I found it more comfortable than clinging to the smooth surface of the pole."

"Well, ma, he's a slick-looking citizen all right," remarked Billy, after he had taken a good look at me, "but he doesn't look like he'd hurt anybody. He'd never take the prize at a beauty show, would he, ma?"

"No, he wouldn't, Billy, (tee-hee!)" replied Fluffy, "but of course the poor fellow can't help his looks. I think, too, there's something wrong with his head. You and old Bounce can stay here and guard him, Billy, and I will walk down the lane to see if I can't meet your pa coming home. I'm uneasy about Reuben."

"Fluffy passed through the gate, walked on down the lane and disappeared down the road. The moon was still shining, but her pale light came down through fleecy clouds which chased each other through the sky, casting ghost-like shadows across the lane and fields, and, though I myself was unenviably situated, my heart went out to Fluffy, poor thing, in her lonely walk, knowing that she was distressed because of my supposed absence."

"Billy and the dog took their places near the pole to guard me. After sitting there for perhaps half an hour, Billy looked up at me and said:

"Old fellow, how are you getting along up there? Pa is a long time coming, and I'm getting dad gum'd hungry. If you will get down and then light out as fast as you can go, I'll hold the dog until you can get away."

"I could see no good in my sitting up there on that blamed martin-box all night, waiting for some imaginary bewhiskered Reuben to appear, so I accepted Billy's proposition."

"Sliding down the pole, I once more stood on mother earth, Billy holding on to the dog, which was making desperate efforts to get at me."

"Now, be off as fast as your legs will carry you," said Billy. "I don't know how long I'll be able to hold old Bounce."

"I started down the lane in a run, determined to go to the home of my nearest neighbor, Peter Brown, who, I reflected, would know me, since he was in the barber shop when I was deprived of my whiskers."

"As I was hastening on in full tilt, I saw, through the dim moonlight, the form of Fluffy coming up the lane toward me on her return home. The poor thing looked about down and out, and again I could but feel sorry for her."

"As I approached her, I could see that she recognized me—not as her husband and the father of Billy, but as the man-up-the-martin-pole. Consequently, I didn't have to urge her to give me the right of way to the middle of the road, for she gave me a wide berth and only slightly bowed to me as I rushed by, giving a good-bye wave of the hand as I passed."

"When I got to the end of the lane I slackened my speed and walked leisurely down the road toward the home of Peter Brown. It was only a short distance, and when I arrived at the gate I called him out."

"Peter," I said, getting down to business at once, "I want you to accompany me home and identify me to my family."

"Peter, who was a good neighbor, readily agreed to do so, and we started back to my home at once."

and taking our way up the walk to the house."

"Old Bounce came out, but seeing Peter, went on round to the back yard, we stepped upon the porch and Peter knocked at the door."

"Fluffy came to the door, Peter bowed, inquired as to the health of the family and then said:

"I have a gentleman here who is introducing a patent churn in this locality and—"

"When we stepped into the room in the bright light of a couple of lamps, Fluffy looked at me as she would at any stranger, then, all at once, I could see from certain expressions of her face, that she recognized me—both as her husband and as the man-up-the-martin-pole!"

"Then Fluffy—consarn her!—instead of falling on my neck and asking pardon for the somewhat unwelcome reception she had given me, fell back into a rocker and gave vent to great peals of laughter. She would laugh and laugh, take another look at me, then laugh some more. Billy coming into the room, joined his mother in the jubilee and rolled upon the floor in uncontrollable laughter."

"Now, Fluff," I remarked, amid their merriment, "I can't see anything so very hilarious about one's getting a shave; though, of course, if you and Bill want to laugh your fool heads off, just go ahead."

"Reuben," replied Fluffy, "I have thought of a scheme. You could get a fine job with some circus as a clown—you wouldn't require any make-up."

"And take you and Billy along as dog-trainers, I returned."

"Well, we stayed on the farm and my wife and son soon became accustomed to my non-whiskered appearance, but not so with old Belzie and the dog. Though passively reconciled to the new order of things, they seemed to look upon me as an intruder, thinking it likely, no doubt, that their old master had somehow disappeared and that Fluffy had married a second time."

THE END.

LINSEED OIL AS A MEDICINE.

Linseed oil is a good and safe purgative for the horse. It should be given by farmers and non-professional persons in preference to any other article. The English veterinary surgeons use linseed oil for colic in the horse in the following combination: Linseed oil, one pint, and two ounces of oil of turpentine and laudanum. In cases of choking, in either horses or cattle, a half pint of linseed oil should be poured down the throat so that, by its emollient properties, the substance may pass down the gullet. For horses, one to two pints make the dose for a purgative. For scalds and burns, linseed oil is mixed with lime water.

Withdraws Thirty Per Cent. Differential on Certain American Products.

Washington, May 22.—The Brazilian ambassador, Senor Dagama, announced today that his country in the future would decline to extend the thirty per cent. differential in customs duty formerly allowed this country on shipments of flour, cement, typewriters, machinery and other products.

This probably means a loss in trade to American manufacturers amounting to considerably more than three million dollars annually. The action is an expression of Brazil's resentment at the department of justice's move in breaking up the Brazilian coffee valorization scheme.

We are authorized to announce
BUR-EB. DUNN,
as candidate for Representative from Livingston and Crittenden counties, subject to action of the Democratic primary, Saturday, August 2nd.

Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson, recently appointed by President Wilson to take charge of the postal affairs of the United States, is heartily in favor of one cent letter postage. He so announced himself to a delegation representing the National One Cent Postage Association which waited on him in Washington a few days ago. "I am heartily in favor of one cent letter postage," declared Postmaster General Burleson, who went on to explain that he hoped to bring it about just as soon as revenues of the department could be adjusted.

The postmaster general told the advocates of one cent letter postage that he had long believed that their contention was right. He stated, however, that as head of the department it was his business to see that sufficient revenue was raised to meet all expenses and while he admitted that there was a big surplus received from first class mail each year he added that it would be necessary to make such an adjustment of rates as would put the department on a business basis.

Postmaster General Burleson is strongly in favor of putting the postal department on an efficient basis. He also favors adequate compensation for postal employees, and such a readjustment of rates as will permit the operation of the department in a business like manner.

It is the purpose of the present post office administration to establish civil service rules through out the department, applying eventually even to first class postmasters.

Senator Burton has long championed the battle for one cent letter postage, while Representative Bartlett has favored the cheaper rate for many years.

A strong advocate for the lower rate has appeared in the person of Hon. James J. Britt of Ashville, N. C. Mr. Britt recently retired from the position of third assistant postmaster general. Upon being asked for his opinion of one cent letter postage, he expressed it in no uncertain tone.

"I am heartily in favor," declared Mr. Britt, "of the immediate reduction of letter postage from two cents an ounce to one cent per ounce for these reasons:

"It will promote general intelligence, and will improve the social relations of the people:

"It will advance the business interests of the country, by lowering the cost of communication:

"The rate of one cent an ounce for letters, with the increase of mail—matter which the reduction will induce, will defray the cost of handling and transportation.

"But few public questions are of such vast concern to the great body of the American people, and I earnestly hope it may receive the early and serious attention of congress."

The Underwood tariff bill, which is now before the senate, having recently passed the house unamended by more than a two-to-one vote, will have the most unique history of any tariff bill for more than half a century, by reason of having been passed unamended Heretofore when a bill is introduced by a republican congressman a few of the items at least are in the interest of the public, but when the bill gets before a republican house it is amended until it is in the interest of the capitalist and manufacturer and against the interest of the consumer or public. Then when the republican senate gets through amending it, it is indeed a full fledged robbery tariff divested of every patriotic virtue.

The present tariff bill is largely the work of Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, the chairman of the ways and means committee, and President Woodrow Wilson. Underwood is undoubtedly the ablest and one of the most patriotic men that has ever shaped a tariff bill in the history of this country, and his matchless leadership and statesmanship are having a telling effect all over this country. The bill is drawn absolutely and unqualifiedly in the interest of the whole American people, and outside of the Louisiana senators, who are opposed to free sugar, it is probable that every democratic senator and many of the progressive republican senators will vote for it.—Gleaner.

Suppose that California had today Jap population almost as large as her white population; suppose, further, that she was threatened not with the ownership by Japs of merely a few paltry acres of land, but by the proposition to put each one of these Japs upon an exact plane of equality with the white freeholders; to give them the ballot; to make them eligible to hold office; to make laws; to enforce laws; to sit as judges and jurors. The little landownship trifle is now causing California to fill the land with roars. What would she do if the entire proposition, as we have outlined it, was forced on her? Imagination falters.

Fifty years is a long time in the past, but the journey is easy when memory holds so many tragic reminders. Fifty years ago the south had the hot end of the proposition we have laid down—except that the negro is not, of course, comparable to the Jap in intelligence heridity and respect of law and order—and the position California then assumed was exactly opposite to her present position. She then thought it proper, not simply to let a freed negro purchase a few acres of land—which the southern whites were glad to have them do—but to give into the hands of a million negroes just free from slavery and scarcely a generation from the jungle the full rights of American citizenship; the same right to vote with his former master; the same right to hold office; to sit on juries and on the bench trying their former masters.

That's all! Except that California must have done a vast amount of thinking in the past half century. We simply conjure old ghost to justify the interesting query:

If our California friends make such ado over a few Japs and a few acres of ground, what peals might not go up to high heaven if the whole power of the federal government were turned on them, as it was on the south, to force their every institution under an alien and repugnant yolk? It makes a lot of difference as to whose ox is gored!

—Atlanta Constitution.

What They Think Of Our Ollie.

Newspapers all over Kentucky are having lots of nice things to say about United States Senator Ollie M. James since his masterly speech in the Senate in defense of the Wilson administration and free sugar. The burden of the many complimentary notices in the State press is that Kentucky now has real Senator at Washington, who will restore her former prestige in the upper branch of congress. The State papers now emphasize the fact that Senator James is the "main guy" in Washington when it comes to appointments or anything else, although a few of the editors had the wrong "dope" at first. Following are samples of what the State press is saying about "Big Ollie."—Louisville Times.

"The press dispatches announce that Senator James, of Kentucky, made his maiden speech in the Senate. It may be that this is the Senator's maiden speech in the Senate, but if he were to hark back to the time when the big man from the Purchase made his first speech it would recall days of the long ago, when stumps grew plentiful down in the county of Crittenden, and when the embryonic statesman utilized them in voice practice with the woods and the beasts of the forest for his auditors. It is hard to tell just when the Senator made his maiden speech. He began life talking, and he has kept it up ever since. But let the truth be known, his voice has ever been lifted in behalf of the people who needed an advocate. He served a long time in the lower House, and no taint ever covered him. He was elevated to the Senate by the almost unanimous vote of his people, and he will not be long kept back by the Senate traditions."—Bowling Green Messenger.

"That personal letter the President sent to Senator James following his great speech in the Senate in defense of free sugar shows that the President recognizes in the Kentuckian a really great man and one of his advisers. Those politicians that have been trying to get the President's ear for Kentucky pie hunters in order to humiliate Ollie, might just as well stay at home, for they got it in the neck in the Breckinridge case and they'll get it worse the next time."—Winchester Democrat.

Ollie James has already shown the country what his friends already knew—that he is the biggest man in the United States Senate. He will be the next Vice President, watch the prediction.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

You are wrong, friend. If the people decide to not keep Woodrow in the Presidential chair for life, our Ollie will be the next President. Watch this prediction.

The city of Marion has quite outgrown its baby clothes. It is today a lusty young fellow that has a desire for the all that make for civic beauty, health and comfort. There are many things lacking, if there were not we should be at a stand still. So long as there remains something to work and plan for, that long our people will earnestly strive to obtain it. When one makes a comparison and of course comparisons are considered odious, yet one would go a long ways before a duplication of the public spirit, the personal progressive element in our citizenship is seen. It is a keen pleasure to pass along on the perfectly constructed walks, through streets shaded by full foliaged oaks and maples, beautiful flowers in full bloom and by the well kept lawns with their velvet coverings. These streets are splendidly cared for, the possible future dust is allayed by oil, the alleys and the by-ways are antiseptically cared for, our very competent Dr. Frazer is our health officer and like the good official that he is, nothing is left for the tomorrow. It is natural, quite natural that we should wish for better roads out countryway, water works and perhaps paved streets. The sun is rising on all of these, some of us have doubted the wisdom of running into a future obligation to provide for present needs yet we must remember that the city of Marion is very much like a business house in many respects, if our present capital is not sufficient to provide for our needs, what do we have the splendid credit for, if not to anticipate just those. A straight, square young man is infinite, better off with the obligation of a debt hanging over his head provided it was made purposely and properly, than without one. He hustles and he rises early and words late, he becomes a man. Does not the same apply in municipal affairs? Are we not pretty much the same, meaning the city of Marion?

Massie's Examining Trial in Progress

The examining trial of Ed Massie, who is now charged with homicide in connection with the death of Miss Una Clement, was called before Judge Blue Tuesday morning. The defendant filed an affidavit asking Judge Blue to retire from the bench. After an all day wrangle between the attorneys, all of whom spoke at length and cited many authorities, he decided to do so, stating that he did not wish to sit in judgment on any man who did not want him to do so and who did not believe he would give him a fair and impartial trial. The members of the bar met immediately after adjournment as is customary in such cases and after some discussion Esq. Job Postleweight was chosen to try the case. When he came in Wednesday morning he announced that the defendant was related to him and this disqualified him. The local bar then chose Postmaster Carl Henderson as special Judge to try the case.

M. A. WILSON,
m29 2t Co., Road Engineer.

You will be driving into town when that great big band of 57 pieces strikes up my old Kentucky Home. Its mighty nice to feel that you are a sure enough Kentuckian then. June 14-20 at Marion.

Hurrah for Wilson.

The Salem road between Marion and the Livingstone County line is rapidly assuming the pretensions of an ideal thoroughfare. Machen Wilson the Road Engineer in charge, has in his quiet unassuming manner, perfected this road to a point where it is a real pleasure to either drive or motor over it. Sunday morning Messrs. Huston Orme, Will Clifford, Sam Gugenheim, and Edward Rommel visited Druggist Norbourne Farris at Salem for an hour or so, going over in Orme's car. They assure the Press that this road to the point named above is in far better shape than at any time within their recollection.

A little work is yet to be done on the "Crosen Hill" near the county line and then the road will indeed be ideal. One of the party remarked. We have the best road engineer in the state." He has improved this road and in fact all the main roads I have seen, 50 per cent. Too much praise can not be given Mr. Wilson. He deserves encouragement and hasn't a single knock coming. Two good towns like Marion and Salem should have as good road as is possible connecting them. In fact they should be in the same county, with a first class turnpike connecting them.

He has appeared in every state and territory in the United States and has been a leading attraction on nearly every great Lyceum course in the country. He has appeared in all the large cities, including numerous appearances in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Atlanta, Chicago, Omaha, Minneapolis, Denver, Portland, Dallas, Galveston and San Francisco, and has made three record breaking tours of Canada. HE.

O maiden, may I still hope on
And may I still be glad?
Ah, tell me not the love is gone
That once you said you had!
O maiden, turn me not away—
Have pity, maiden fair.
Since candor forces me to say
My pa's a millionaire!

The sorrows of the rich, you know,
Are broad and deep and high.

For Carnegie has told men so,
And Andy wouldn't lie!
Ah, maiden, you have seen
That if you are blessed
O maiden, do not turn from me
And rob my soul of rest!

SHE.

I pity you, O luckless boy!
Your pa's a millionaire.
And so there can be little joy
In life for you to share—
I pity you! I pity you!
So take me to your heart
And let me bravely help you to Play out your bitter part!

Bible of the Supreme Court.

It is a little book, only five and one-half inches long and three one-half wide. It is bound in bright red morocco leather, with the word "Bible" printed in diminutive gold letters on the back. But one does not see the red morocco cover unless he removes the little black leather slip which protects it.

Long, long ago the little red Bible began to show wear, and then the black leather slip was made to protect it—so long ago, in fact, that fifteen of those covers, made to the venerated little volume, were worn out in the service. It is without doubt one of the oddest Bibles, if not the very oddest Bible, connected with the government, and is certainly the most historical.

It is the book which since 1800 every chief justice—with the single exception of Chief Justice Chase—and every member of the Supreme court has taken the oath of allegiance when accepting his appointment to our highest tribunal. More than that, every attorney who has practiced before the Supreme court since that date—1800—has pledged his allegiance over the little volume. And, with one exception also, and that exception was Daniel Webster.

It is told even yet of Mr. Webster's fame as an orator had so preceded him that on the occasion when he came to argue his first case before the court the clerk, Mr. Caldwell, in his eagerness to hear the great speaker, forgot to administer the oath.

"PAY AS YOU GO."

A word of good counsel we never should forget.

Is that which forewarns us to keep out of debt:

For half of life's burden the man overthrows

Who starts out determined to pay as he goes.

'Tis folly to listen to those who assert

That a system of credit does good and no hurt;

For many have squandered their income away,

And homes have been wrecked by a promise to pay.

A man to be honest, as merchant or friend,

In order to have, must be willing to spend;

Is it love, or affection, or faith they bestow?

Return their full value, and pay as you go.

He loses the sweetest that life can impart

Who looks up a treasure of wealth in his heart.

To reap a rich harvest of pain or regret.

When too late he discovers how great is his debt.

No loss like the losing that comes of delay

In binding the wounds that are bleeding today;

For where is the comfort of tears that are shed

On the face of the dying, the grave of the dead?

A good word of counsel we never should forget:

To keep out of danger is to keep out of debt!

If peace and contentment and joy you would know,

Don't live upon credit, but pay as you go.—Josephine Pollard.

Richest Nation In The World.

Which is the richest nation in the world? Not the United States; not Great Britain; not France. The little Republic of Panama claims the honor. While the great nations find their debts beyond their power to pay, and even the interest a heavy burden Panama has no debt. While others count the cost of government at so much per head of population, Panama counts her profits that way. After paying her expenses she actually has a profit of $12 a year for each inhabitant. There is no army or navy to keep up, and the United States is bound to protect Panama's independence. To add to Panama's prosperity the United States must begin February 1st to pay $250,000 a year forever, as rent for the canal strip.—Ex.

A Job for the Undertaker (Chicago Record Herald)

A colored man had been arrested on a charge of beating and cruelly mistreating his wife. After hearing the charge against the prisoner the justice turned to the first witness.

"Madam" he said "if this man were your husband and had given you a beating would you call in the police?"

The woman addressed, a veritable amazon in size and aggressiveness, turned a smiling countenance toward the justice and answered: "No, judge, if he treated me lak he did 'is wife, ah wouldn't call no policeman. No, sah, ah'd call de undertaker."

"Studebaker wagons are built of air-dried lumber and tested iron and steel. Even the paint and varnish are subjected to a laboratory test to insure wearing qualities."

"No wagon made is subjected to as many tests or is more carefully made than a Studebaker. You can buy them of Studebaker dealers everywhere."

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fence

CONSIDER SIZE OF WIRE When Buying Fence
DON'T BE FOOLED by Weight per Rod or Roll

There's no "bunkum" about weight per roll when you buy "Pittsburgh Perfect" because it is constructed without using extra wire to make the fence-joints. The extra weight of the joints in all wrapped, clamped, twisted or tied fences supplies no extra strength, but actually weakens these fences by persistently dragging down the panels, wearing them out before their time and making you buy more before you should. "Pittsburgh Perfect," the only fence with Electrically Welded Joints, is a one-piece fabric of unequalled strength, durability and economy, because we eliminate the expense of extra wire, and put this money into extra quality.

Made in Different Styles for FIELD, FARM, RANCH, LAWN, CHICKEN, POULTRY and RABBIT YARD and GARDEN

Every Rod Guaranteed

Ask your dealer for "Pittsburgh Perfect" and insist on his furnishing it. Do not allow him to persuade you that some other fence is just as good. If he doesn't sell it, write us direct.

America's Greatest Woman Interpreter of Literature to Appear on Chautauqua Program Here

MRS. ISABEL GARGHILL BEECHER.

MRS. ISABEL GARGHILL BEECHER, who will appear on the Chautauqua program here in interpretative readings, is America's greatest woman interpreter. Nothing in commendation of her work could be better than the following from some of the world's most famous people. The late United States Senator Dooliver said this: "Mrs. Beecher has done more to give life to the art of public reading than any of our present day elocutionists. Her art has charm and a fascination beyond the genius of either the platform or the stage today." John Temple Graves has said, "She is without a superior and scarcely an equal among the brilliant group of American men and women who interpret the world's great writers." In speaking of Mrs. Beecher's work Dr. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, made this comment: "I have heard nothing so perfect as your reading on either side of the Atlantic. You have before you a great career and an international reputation. You have genius, and genius of the highest order. It is impossible not to envy you the mastery of so divine an art."

Facts in Nature

FOR centuries it has been known that Nature's most valuable health giving agents for the cure of disease are found in our American forests. Over forty years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., used the powdered extracts as well as the liquid extracts of native medicinal plants, such as Bloodroot and Queen's root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Cherry bark and Mandrake, for the cure of blood diseases. This prescription as put up in liquid form was called and has enjoyed a large sale for all these years in every drug store in the land. You can now obtain the powdered extract in sugar-coated tablet form of your medicine dealer, or send 50c in one-cent postage stamps for trial box to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and tablets will be mailed, postage prepaid.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, red blood, invigorates the stomach, liver and bowels and through them the whole system. Skin affections, blotches, boils, pimples and eruptions—result of bad blood—are eradicated by this alternative extract—as thousands have testified.

DEATHS

Spillman Threlkeld of the New Salem section died Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock of a complication of diseases. He was in his 73rd year, and a widower, his wife having preceded him to the grave 5 months ago. His only child is Mrs. Roxie Summers wife of Ed. K. Summers. The funeral was preached, Saturday morning at Union 11.30 o'clock and interment immediately afterwards in the Union cemetery, where his wife and son are buried. Rev. W. T. Oakley officiated and in a very feeling way told of the deceased, who was one of the best men who ever lived in the county.

The remains of Barton Hopkins who died May 19th 1913 at Glenwood Springs, Cal., reached Marion Saturday morning at 11, and were taken to the home of his brother in law E. J. Harpending where Rev. W. P. Gordon preached the funeral and immediately afterwards the burial took place at the New Cemetery.

The remains were accompanied by Mrs. Hopkins and little son Robin 8 years of age, they coming all alone on the long trip almost from the coast, a distance of 2000 miles and over, to have the husband and father buried here near her old home. It will be remembered that Mrs. Hopkins was Miss Blake Harpending daughter of Esquire. T. A. Harpending of the New Salem section, and she will probably reside in the future at his home.

The cause of Mr. Hopkins death was a railroad wreck in which he was injured six weeks ago and from which he never fully recovered but gradually grew worse until the end.

The deceased was a mining engineer and was about 55 years of age. He was born in Illinois and was a brother of Dr. Hopkins who owns the famous Sanitarium at Glenwood Springs Colo.

He was well known to some of our people having visited here several times since his marriage about ten years ago.

Professor J. E. Wright, of Louisville, whose extensive experience in the line of his profession as a mining engineer has passed upon mines and minerals from Mexico to British America is entirely outspoken and places himself on record in a statement that it is his well considered opinion that Crittenden County will become one of the largest lead and zinc producers in America and judging by the recent developments in various sections the time is fast approaching when such a position will be had.

The Pigmy mine at Mexico, which has been one of our most prolific Fluor Spar producers and shippers cut their vein at depth the other day opening a beautifully clear vein of Fluor Spar from twelve to sixteen feet across. Mr. English the manager has quite unassumingly carried this property in his quiet way to a point where but little remains to be done except to occasionally inspect Bradstreets or Dun's for ratings on his customers and to properly bank the proceeds of the Pigmy's shipments.

The Franklin mine reached its vein on the three-hundred-foot level on Friday last.

The Keystone mine of the Roberts Fluor Spar Company has been placed in full commission for its season's work and output of fluor spar.

It seems to be quite apropos to comment on the apparent insane desire of one or two of the larger fluor spar producers to contract their output regardless of price. At least the quotations made and contracts entered into within the month indicate a desire to place their output regardless of the real or apparent values of that mineral. Contracts entered into with consumers at $5.25 per ton of 2,000 pounds, regardless of the fact that their mines are being rapidly depleted, that a very few years of their present output tonnage will land them high and dry so far as mining fluor spar is concerned does not seem to occur to these people.

If one will reflect upon the situation as regards this mineral, but one conclusion can be legitimately arrived at, that we have a very limited area in which this spar can be mined, that the demand by consumers of various kinds is as great this moment as the production and that new uses are daily being found for fluor spar, and that only a feeling of competition creates prices very much too low to even return a new dollar for an old one. Every foot of depth in a fluor spar mine seems not only increased expense in raising this mineral but every such foot lessens by that much the tonnage in the mine, hence an honest bookkeeper will charge as against the receipts from sales a proper percentage for depletion of veins. Such a percentage can safely be figured at 20 per cent on every hundred feet in depth. It is really true that at 500 feet in depth in any fluor spar mine such changes occur and such greater expense occurs that at this depth the cost is too great to continue mining on any prices we have yet obtained. A loss on every ton of fluor spar mined in this district as well as in Southern Illinois can safely be stated. The apparent profits made last season are myths when one considers the development and machinery expenses of the years past. It is understood that the Fairview mine made a profit of possibly $20,000 last season. It is we are told a matter of fact that the expenses prior to 1912 were in the vicinity of half a million dollars in that one operating mine. In such an instance it would require at least 25 years to recoup the original investment and in all likelihood ten years or less will leave veins mined to a greater depth than it is feasible to mine from.

The fact that the open hearth furnaces reproducing steel are our largest consumers of the lower grades of fluor spar induces one to estimate the cost per ton of steel to these plants. The United States Steel Company estimate ten pounds to the ton of steel, hence a ton of fluor spar will flux 200 tons and at $5.25 per ton the cost is a trifle over two and one half cents per ton. It seems really ridiculous that any man having a quantity of fluor spar which is non-destructible, not affected by weather or climate and that only fire will destroy, that such ownership should be at the mercy of a gang of salesmen who in order to secure their commission will or have contracted this mineral at such prices as are here named. Of course time will remedy this as time and the large output will cause these people to stop selling because they will have nothing to sell. We hope therefore that our Kentucky miners will simply stand one side and calmly gaze at the other fellows getting electrocuted, of course in a financial way.

The Commencement Exercises Marion High School.

Commencement Exercises Marion High School.

The Commencement of Marion High School was held at the auditorium Monday evening. After the Processional by the orchestra and the Invocation by Rev. M. E. Miller, the Address: "The Tragedies of the Unprepared" was given by Thomas Brooks Fletcher. It was indeed a master piece and was listened to attentively by the vast audience. The Presentation of Diplomas by Supt. Jas. U. Snyder followed and then the Benediction by Rev. W. P. Gordon.

The 1913 Graduates are: Harry Abell, Douglas Carnahan, Marion Conditt, George Heath, Malcolm Dollar, Eugene Wilson, William Rochester, Ruth Croft, Susie Boston, Ruth Melton, Mamie Haynes, and Mary Gilbert.

Valley Farm, a domestic drama in four acts, was presented by The Senior Class of Marion High School at the Marion Opera House, Thursday evening, May 22 1913, at 8 o'clock. Splendid music was furnished by The School Orchestra.

The following was the cast of characters:

Harold Rutledge—Douglas Carnahan.
Perry Deane—Marion Conditt.
David Hildreth—George Heath.
Silas Holcomb—V. L. Christian.

Azariah Keep—Harry Abell.
Jennings—Malcolm Dollar.
Hetty Holcomb—Mary Gilbert.
Isabel Carney—Ruth Croft.
Mrs. Rutledge—Isabel Guess.
Alvira Holcomb—Lena Holtzclaw.

Lizy Ann Tucker—Susie Boston.
Verbera—Ruth Melton.

The Opera House was filled, with the friends of the young folks, who lent their talents to this evening of pleasure, for all who were fortunate enough to be there. We feel that it is only simple justice to the "troupe" to say that the play was exceedingly well rendered and that we believe some beneficent millionaires will yet be found who will exploit their talents and put them all on the stage.

A home play in which local talent is employed is always a pleasure and a revelation as to the abilities of our boys and girls. Let's have a play each month during vacation.

MARION CHAUTAUQUA

Comments of World-Famous Men on the CHAUTAUQUA

Keep in Mind that Our City is to Have a Great Seven-Day Chautauqua
Program This Season.

Hon. Theodore
Roosevelt, Ex-
President of the United States,
says:

"The chautauqua is the most distinctive American thing in this country."

Hon. William Jennings Bryan,
Secretary of State, says:

"The chautauqua affords one of the best opportunities now presented the public speaker for the discussion of questions of interest to the people. The audience is a select one and always composed of the thoughtful element of the community, and as they pay admission they stay to hear. I believe that a considerable part of the progress that is now being made along the line of moral and political reforms is traceable to the influence of the chautauqua."

Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, the World's Greatest Preacher and President of Armour Institute of Technology, says:

"The chautauquas have become a great people's university. They are among the greatest feeders for our colleges and universities. He further states that ten per cent of the students in the institution of which he is president, Armour Institute, owe their presence to the chautauqua influence."

Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, says:

"A great many newspaper wits shoot their shafts at chautauqua lecturers, and certain purse-proud editors undertake to make it a sin for a public man to lecture for pay. They think it the height of sarcasm to refer to a public man as a chautauquan. There is one great virtue in chautauqua money. It is clean money. You do not have to explain where you got it. If a man does not desire to go to hear a lecture, there is no law to compel him to do so.  The chautauqua has been a powerful force in directing the political thought of the country, which is largely sociological in these latter days.  I defend the chautauqua and the chautauqua lecturer, with whom I have been associated, because they constitute as fine a group of men and women as can be found among the splendid citizenship of America. I have a deep and abiding interest in them, and bid them a hearty godspeed in their work."—From The Arena.

OUR CHAUTAUQUA

Is One of 110 to be Conducted This Year by the Redpath Bureau in Eight States.

The chautauqua with its great seven day program, three sessions a day, which is scheduled for this city this summer, is one of a 110 chautauqua in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Michigan, conducted under Redpath management out of Chicago. The season opens in the South in May and closes the last of August in Michigan and Ohio. As many as seven of these chautauquas will be in operation at one time.

WINCHESTER BOY KILLED UNDER PLATFORM SCALE

Winchester, Ky., May 20.—James Wright, aged 12, is dead as the result of a peculiar accident last evening. The boy, with his playmate, John Curtis, was endeavoring to crawl under a stock scale to get some junk. Curtis pried the platform of the scale up far enough to permit of Wright getting his head under the platform, when the stick used as a lever broke and the heavy platform came down across the neck of Wright, killing him instantly. Curtis became frightened and ran home and did not tell of the accident until this morning. When found, Wright's head was almost severed from his body.

The Harvest Which Chautauquas Yield

IN the above drawing the well known cartoonist, George E. Colby, Chicago, has given us his idea of what it means to sow Chautauquas and also Winter Lyceum Courses throughout the length and breadth of our land. To all those who would raise the standard of intellectuality, morals and good citizenship in a community, the Chautauqua, with its great free forum and high ideals, at once appeals. It has proved a source of uplift in hundreds of towns and cities and has the indorsement of America's greatest men and women.

PLUCKY BOY.

Joe Denton, 13 years old, who lives with his uncle, Lee Higginson in the Corydon country, had a thrilling ride in this city Friday afternoon. The boy hitched his team to a big land roller at Corbett's shop and when he started home the team got scared and started down the hill in a dead run. When the roller would strike a bump in the street it would bounce high in the air, but the boy held on tightly and with the machine until he managed to pull the team into a side street near Jas. F. Montgomery's and got them stopped. Many people watched the flight of the team and great uneasiness was felt for the boy until he got the team under control.—Providence Enterprise.

TO CROSS ATLANTIC IN AN AREOPLANE

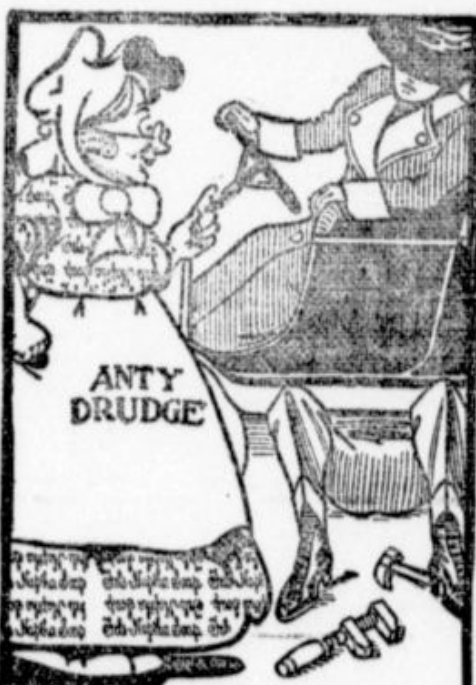

One of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's Assistants Will Make Perilous Attempt.

Sidney, N. S., May 23.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell announced today that F. C. Baldwin, one of his assistants, will endeavor to cross the Atlantic in an areo-plane in an effort to win the British prize of $55,000 to the first aviator who spans the ocean in less than seventy-two hours.

The inventor of the telephone, who is also an enthusiastic student of aviation, believes that many alterations must be made in the existing type of air craft before the flight is attempted, and the journey itself will be made, if at all, in one spurt.

"Starting from Halifax early in the morning, we should reach the coast of Ireland in time for a late dinner," he said.

Dr. Bell's calculations are based on the assumption that "the distance is 2,000 miles, and an airship is capable of a speed of forty miles an hour at normal elevation. If the flight be made at an altitude of five miles, the one-third density of normal atmosphere would permit a tripple speed."

His Wife—"Come out from under there, Georgel! Your clothes will be all covered with grease again, and you know it won't come off. We'll walk home."

Anty Drudge—"Let him fix it, Dearie; and don't fear the grease. Fels-Naptha will take out all the grease spots and stains. It's as good for cleaning garments as it is for washing clothes."

Fels-Naptha Soap is the easy way by which you can free yourself from the drudgery of the old-fashioned washday.

What is that drudgery? You know.

Boiling clothes, making fires, hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha Soap does all the work that you would have to do. And it does it in cool or lukewarm water, without hot fire, without hard rubbing.

Have you the will to cut loose from the old ways—to free yourself from this drudgery?

Follow the easy directions on the back of the red and green wrapper.

HURRAH FOR AMBASSADOR PAGE

No Knee Breeches For Our New Ambassador to London, "Going Broke."

New York, May 26.—Walter Hines Page, the new ambassador to Great Britain, sailed for his post in London Thursday but his parting word was that just because he was an ambassador he would not wear knee breeches. Page also held out the cheerful possibility of his "going broke" while away.

When asked as to his opinion in connection with the general belief that only rich men can afford to serve in countries, he said:

"They haven't a rich man going to England now."

"Then you'll go broke?" he was asked.

"If I am called upon to entertain too lavishly, I expect to," was the reply. "I am going there for diplomacy, not entertainment. There will be no knee breeches, so far as I can see, and there will just be an American ambassador doing his best to maintain the friendly relations that have so long existed between my country and the one to which I am accredited."

Coming Chautauqua Week

SCENES FROM "THE LOVERS' QUARREL"

THE Redpath Grand Opera Quartet, which is to appear here Chautauqua week, is composed of the following notable artists: David Dunbar, noted Scotch tenor; Hugh Anderson, bass; Miss Mabel Sherwood Cox, soprano; Miss Esther Muenstermann, contralto, and Isaac Van Grove, accompanist.

David Dunbar received his musical training in Italy and Paris. He made his first appearance in this country at the St. Louis exposition. He has sung with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Hugh Anderson sings in Italian, French and German as well as English and has appeared in song recital, concert, oratorio and grand opera.

Of Miss Mabel Sherwood Cox the Detroit Free Press says she made a charming Micaela in the rendition of "Carmen," and the Chicago Musical Secretary says, "Miss Cox has wonderful volume and range to her voice."

Concerning Miss Esther Muenstermann the Music News says, "She has amply demonstrated on the various occasions on which she has been heard that hers is a voice of rare charm and that the personality back of it is a charming one also."

Isaac Van Grove is a gifted young Polish pianist.

The above photograph shows this company in the presentation of "The Lovers' Quarrel." Perelli's beautiful opera, which has been played exclusively thus far in this country by the Chicago-Philadelphia Grand Opera Company. The Redpath Chautauquans pays a royalty for each time it is produced by the Redpath Grand Opera Quartet.

SALARIES OF RULERS

The King of England is paid $2,350,000 and has a private revenue of $350,000 a year besides. The Prince of Wales is paid half a million dollars a year. Denmark and Greece are very poor. Each pays its ruler but $260,000 a year, and its Crown Prince $32,000 a year. Spain is also poor, and can pay its king only $1,340,000 a year for himself and $600,000 for his family. Sweden pays its king $83,000 and his family $250,000 a year. The German Emperor receives $4,000,000 a year, which is about one-half of his income. The Sultan of Turkey has received all along a yearly salary of $7,000,-

000. The Czar of Russia receives each year more than $10,000,000. The simple republic of France pays its president $120,000 a year and allows him $120,000 a year for expenses. The president of these United States has a salary of $75,000 a year.

Greatest Rainfall Points.

Rather unexpectedly the slopes of Snowdon, a Welsh mountain only 3,560 feet high, have proven one of the wettest regions of the world. The average annual rainfall of the globe is about 36 inches; that of tropical Cherrapongee, Assam, is 610 inches, with an extreme of 905 inches in 1861; and that of Maranham, Brazil, 277 inches. Seathwaite, a little village of the English valley of Borrowdale, has claimed the third highest record. The meteorological office, however, has recently received reports from thirteen Welsh stations, of which Luchfa, at an altitude of 2,500 feet, showed the greatest European rainfall—247 inches—and eleven exceeded the 143 inches of Seathwaite.—Ex.

Local Boys Will Be Trained In Scout Craft by an Experienced Director During Chautauqua Week

1. Resuscitating the apparently drowned. 2. Mending a St. Bernard's broken leg. 3. Method of placing the injured upon a stretcher

THE value of training boys in scout craft was recently demonstrated during the Ohio floods. The newspaper dispatches told of the excellent work they performed because of this training in rescuing many sufferers who would otherwise have been lost.

During Chautauqua week here an experienced leader of boy scouts from the headquarters in Chicago will train a band of local lads in self reliance, manhood, good citizenship and scout craft.

Scout craft includes instruction in the first aid to the injured, life saving, tracking, signaling, nature study, camp craft, wood craft, canoeing and patriotism. Many scouts have passed the Red Cross examination and received a national certificate.

The boys live as much as possible out of doors, camping and hiking, being taught how to pitch a tent, make a hut and lean-to, light a fire and cook a meal.

A scout is a good Indian. You cannot lose him. He takes his direction from the sun by day and the stars by night. He knows trees, plants and flowers and the secrets of animals and birds.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH UNION AT HARRODSBURG

Presbyterian Congregations in Historical Town Consolidated.

Harrodsburg, Ky., May 22.—Rarely has any event in religious circles in this city created so widespread interest as the union of the two Presbyterian churches which was formally consummated Sunday. Under cloudless skies and with a perfect day for such an occasion a tremendous congregation gathered for the exercises attendant upon the union. The Rev. J. G. Hunter, pastor emeritus of the former Southern congregation, presided. The opening prayer was by Rev. M. V. P. Yeaman, pastor of the Northern congregation, and responsive reading of the Scripture was led by the Rev. Bunyan McLeod, pastor of the former Southern church. The Rev. Frank J. Cheek, of Danville, delivered an impressive charge to pastors and officers, and Rev. D. H. Scanlon, of Richmond, made the address to the members of the congregation.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and a large choir rendered inspiring music.

The unusual feature of the union lies in the fact that it is the first case in Presbyterian history since 1865 where two congregations, North and South, have united upon a basis of official connection with both the Northern and Southern general assemblies similar to the relation sustained by the Theological Seminary at Louisville, which is under the joint control of the two synods, North and South. While the congregation is to be represented in both ecclesiastical courts the two co-pastors are to retain their connection, the one with the Northern and the other with the Southern Presbyterian. The union has been effected with absolute harmony, and makes one of the strongest churches of the denomination in the state.

Many from outside of Harrodsburg were present at the service Sunday. It is said that extensive building improvements will be made necessary by the union, which will be undertaken as soon as the organization of the new congregation is perfected. The name decided upon for the organization whose life began today is the "United Presbyterian Church of Harrodsburg."

Backache

Miss Myrtle Cothrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women. If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui.

Letter From Oregon.

Our old friend Jesse Bruce sends us an Irish potato that weighs 2½ pounds, and the enclosed letter. If we were close enough, the editor would like to buy a few hundred pounds of those potatoes at 25cts., per hundred. A few days ago $5.00 a hundred is what new potatoes were selling at, in Marion. Enterprise, Ore., May 8, 1913.

Mr. Marshall Jenkins, Marion, Ky.

Dear old friend: I was a little disappointed in the way you cut my last letter as you failed to say anything about the crops here; especially the potatoes, so I have sent one to B. F. Walker with instructions to show you, that weighed 2½ pounds, I have lots of them that large and larger. This one was raised by my boy, Eddie, on his place. We have them, by the tons, are offering them for 25cts., a 100 pounds. There was a large acreage in last year and consequently an over supply. They are buying them to feed to hogs.

My family are all well and so am I and doing well. You might have our friend Wolfe see the potato I mailed to Walker and tell him this is the way they grow here with about one fourth the work he must give them there to make a half pounder.

We are having fine weather here now every thing is growing fast, the indications are for bumper crops.

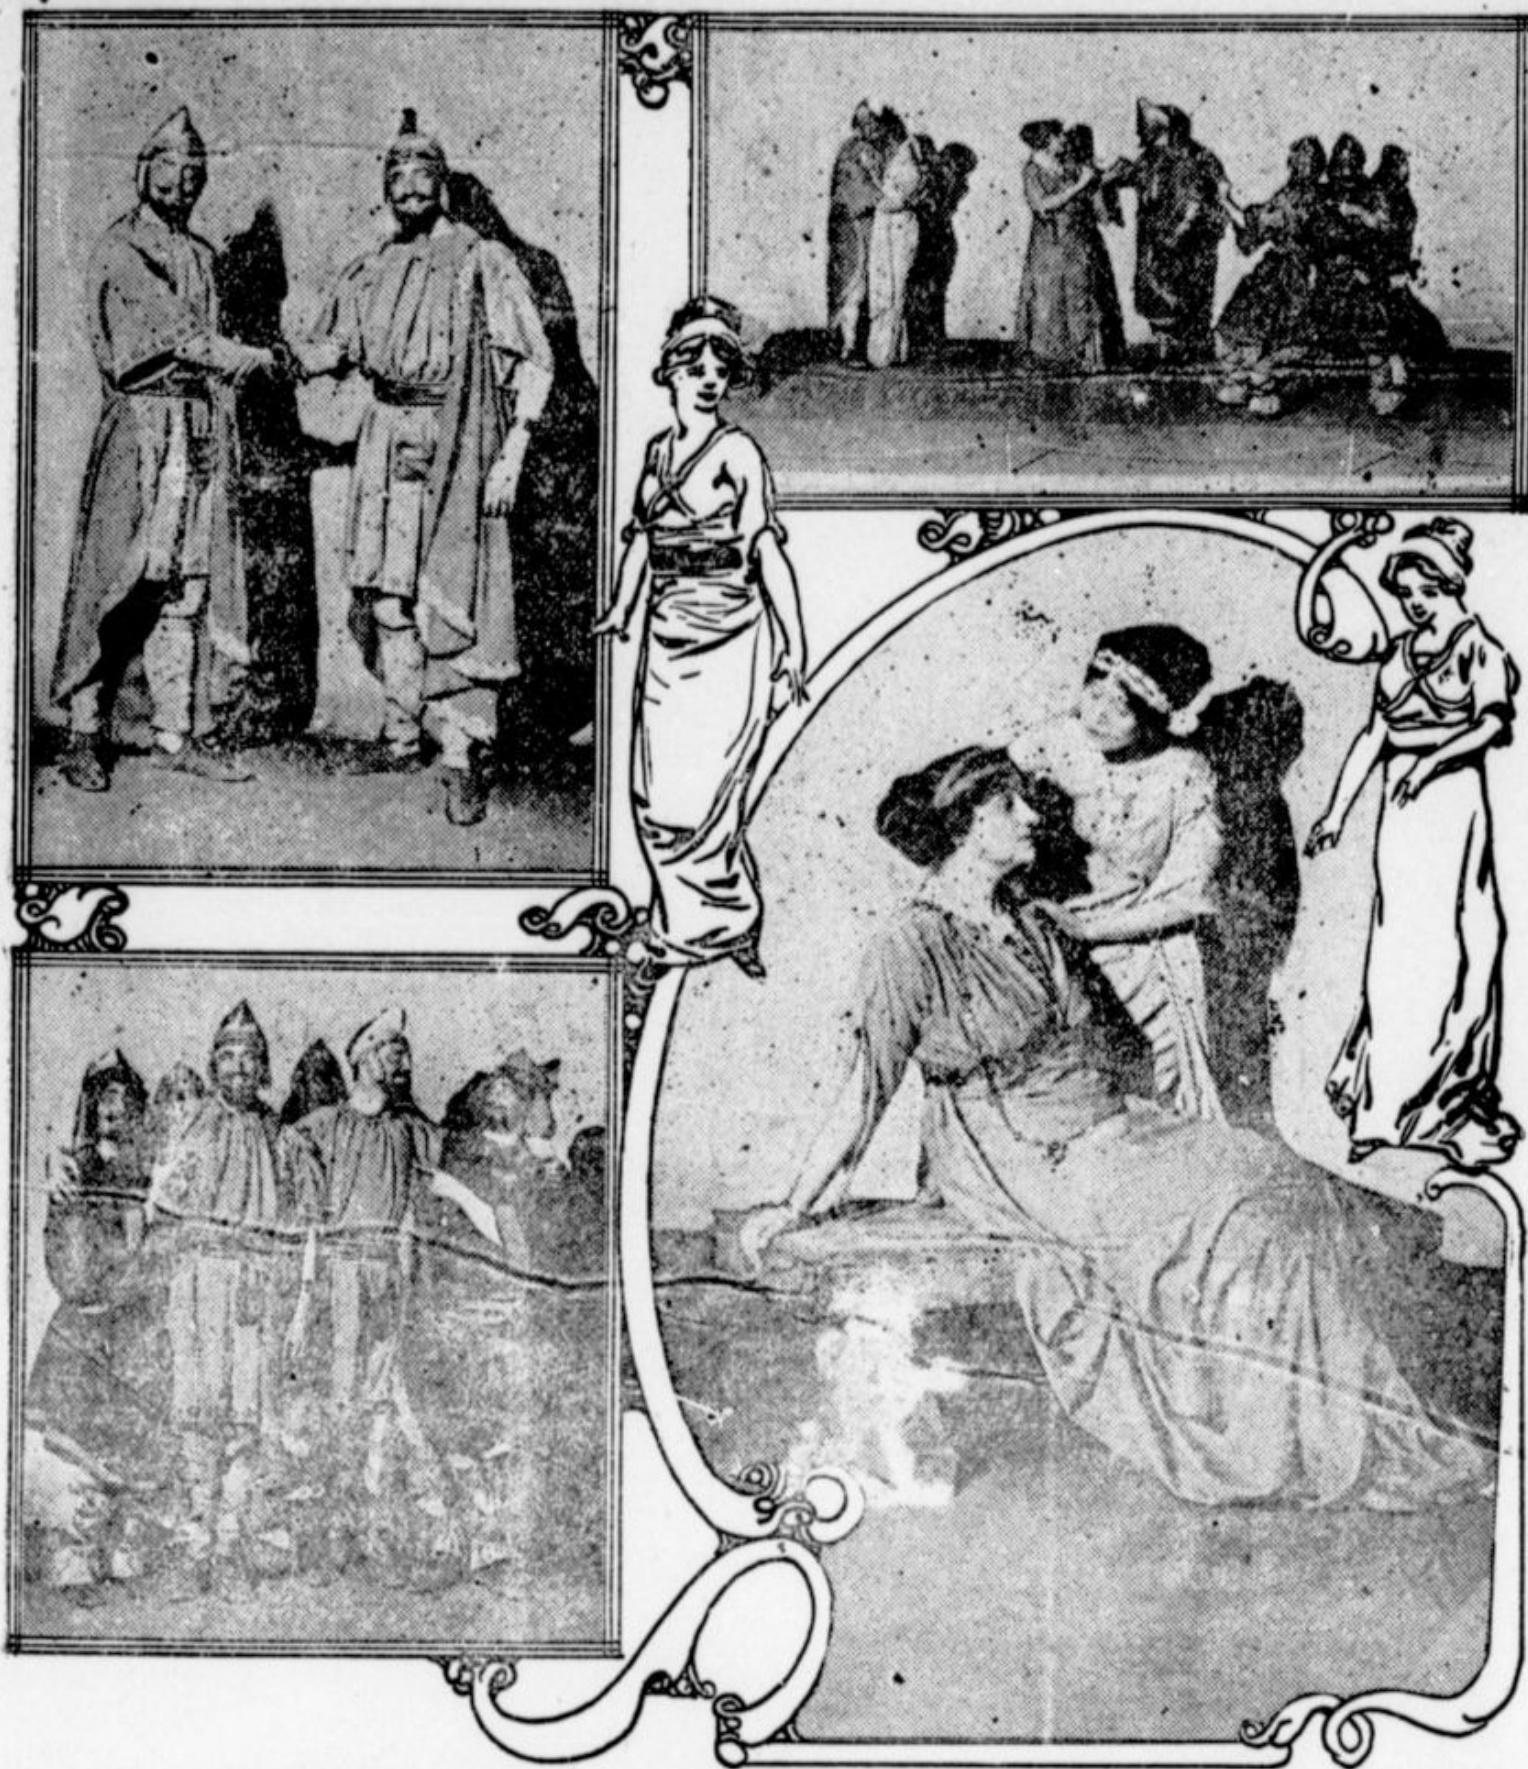

I notice my old friend W. H. Crow is back there from Texas, give him my regards also all the old neighbors and friends.

Yours Truly
J. F. BRUCE.

We have three good milch cows with young calves, for sale. Terms reasonable. T. A. Harpending, Salem, Ky.

Big Chautauqua Week Attraction

THE BEN GREET PLAYERS

ONE of the greatest events on the forthcoming Chautauqua program this season will be the coming of the Ben Greet Players. A company of thirteen players, personally trained and coached by Ben Greet, are to appear here.

Mr. Greet is considered today one of the greatest living authorities on the English drama and is world famous for his remarkable productions of Shakespearean plays and old English comedies. He has been connected with the stage for thirty years and has taught many actors, perhaps more than any other man living today.

For twenty years Mr. Greet has been prominent in England for performances in which his splendid companies have acted each year in London, Cambridge, Stratford on Avon and other places in "Shakespeare's England."

Mr. Greet became well known in America several years ago through his presentation of the morality play "Everyman" under the management of Charles Frohman. This was the first time a play was presented in America by a professional company in the Elizabethan manner. This was later followed by a production of Shakespearean plays and classical comedies.

The company of thirteen Ben Greet Players who are to appear on the Chautauqua program here is the same company which made a transcontinental tour under Redpath management during the winter last past, playing to large crowds and mostly in the cities.

They will present "The Comedy of Errors" here, one of the best and most interesting of Shakespeare's productions. Special costumes will be worn in this production.

NO HALOS AROUND CABINET MEN.

It is a curious and interesting fact that while a cabinet may collectively make or mar an administration by its weakness or strength, the position of cabinet officer has never seemed to possess much political advantage for the individual. There is hardly one ex-cabinet officer in the United States today with a halo still around his head. Few men can now name off-hand the cabinet officers of the last administration. Not one man in ten can remember accurately the names of McKinley's advisers. To go still further into the past is to mingle with shadowy and ghost-like phantoms. There was a period, long ago, when the secretary of state was deemed the logical successor of the president. That time has passed. Nowadays a cabinet position seems to be the most effectual quietus for political ambition.—Washington (D. C.) Herald.

OUR SENTIMENTS

Do Your Own "Roasting"

Every once in a while some one intimates that we ought to "rip some one up the back"—say they deserve it and they don't see why we don't do it. Friends, we are not in the roasting business. Apply at a crematory if you have it in for some one. Go to him like a man. Don't try to mix the printers up into your grievances. They have troubles of their own. None of us poor mortals here below are perfect, not by a long shot, and other people may think that you yourself deserve special attention.—Herald Enterprise.

Youth Dragged to Death Under Disc Harrow.

Danville, Ill., May 20.—French Close, 19, of Owensburg, Ind., was dragged to death under a disc harrow when a four-mule team became frightened and ran away. The body was dragged a quarter of a mile and terribly mutilated. No one saw the accident, but the absence of the team from the field caused a search to be made. The body was found under the harrow and the mules were huddled in one corner of the field.

OYSTER-SHELL CONCRETE

Galveston people have put up a five-story concrete building, the concrete being made of oyster shells from the reefs of Galveston Bay. This material is asserted to be better and cheaper than concrete made of gravel. Shell concrete built in a wall three feet high and 336 feet long, in 1822, withstood the severe test of fire and water, and is today as sound as when built. It is estimated that the shells of 5,896,000 oysters are imbedded in the wall of this building.—Ex.

Folk Day at Our Chautauqua.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK is too well known to really need any mention here, and his coming to this city will be a notable event in the history of this community. The recital of all the reforms he inaugurated while he held office in Missouri would of themselves more than fill this page. Governor Folk is regarded as the pioneer in the great modern fight against graft which is now going on everywhere both in the state and the nation. As governor he put an end to bootlegging in legislative affairs. He abolished the practice of legislators and officials riding on free passes. He procured the passage of an act after a hard legislative fight repealing race track laws whereby gambling was legalized and put the most powerful and insolent race track syndicate in the world out of business. He stamped out grafters in the police departments, he appointed men of the highest character to all positions of public trust, closed the gambling dives in St. Louis and enforced the law closing saloons on Sunday in the face of intense opposition and denunciation. Governor Folk is still carrying the banner for purity in politics. Freedom from officeholding has but given him more time to fight the good fight. Whereas St. Louis was his battlefield, then Missouri, it is now a national issue, and Folk of Missouri is spreading a new civic gospel which reaches back to Calvary and the Golden Rule and is spreading from the Empire State to California, is bearing good fruit on the bloody ground of Kentucky and raising new standards in Louisiana.

HUSBAND'S ASHES STREWN ON WAVES

Contents of a Golden Urn Will Be Scattered from Ship.

New York, May 22.—A golden urn containing her husband's ashes, which are to be strewn on the waves a thousand miles off Sandy Hook, was taken with Mrs. Harriet M. Howland, of Norwick, Conn., when she sailed as a passenger on the steamer Berlin for Europe Saturday. With her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Howland, the widow began the ocean voyage during which she proposes to carry out a clause of the will of the husband, Dr. George T. Howland, who died September 24, 1911. Accidents to Mrs. Howland since his death delayed her carrying out his written wish before the present time. Dr. Howland was formerly a health officer of Washington, D. C.

First Appeared In the Notable McKinley Campaign of '96

WEATHERWAX BROTHERS COMING CHAUTAUQUA WEEK.

THE Weatherwax Brothers, who are to appear here Chautauqua week, did their first public work in the fall of 1896, when they sang throughout northern Iowa in the notable McKinley campaign. They made such a hit everywhere that year that there was an immediate demand for them on the Lyceum and Chautauqua platform. This quartet, in addition to vocal music, also appear in a trumpet quartet which always brings forth the admiration of those who love rich, heroic music. Trumpets are comparatively seldom used on the Lyceum platform, and it is a treat to hear them when well played. The trumpets which they use were made specially for this quartet. As to the vocal work of this quartet, all four brothers have fine voices and have had years of practice together, which has resulted in most excellent harmony. They have all been natural musicians from their infancy, and as some one has truly said, "Their voices have a decided family blend." A unique feature of this organization is that there are two readers in the company.

THE WAY THEY DO IT IN PITTSBURG.

Watches Sweetheart Kill Her Husband.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 20.—Valerio Fantezo was strangled to death in his home and body mutilated early yesterday. The police say his wife confessed that her sweetheart, Frank Mustino, and another man murdered her husband while she looked on. She was arrested.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

Man Who Left Owensboro Ten Years Ago Fails to Find Fatted Calf.

Owensboro, Ky., May 19.—An unexplained absence of ten years prevented Sam B. Gordon, a former well-known citizen, from being given the glad hand by his wife and family, and after staying twelve hours, while friends in vain tried to bring husband and wife together, he left again, presumably for Florida.

Gordon is a member of a highly respected family and over ten years ago he suddenly disappeared without any word of farewell or hint of his destination. His disappearance alarmed his family very much, and the members of it made many efforts to locate him, and it is understood they had never heard from him during the past decade.

A report had reached Owensboro several months ago that he had married again. Be that as it may, his wife and family refused to take him to their home again without any better explanation of the missing years than he gave, and so twelve hours after his belated return he left Owensboro saying that he was going to Florida, where he owned a farm.

PUT IN A LITTLE SALT.

If you want your lamps to burn well, add just a pinch of salt to the oil occasionally. It is wonderful what a difference it makes.

Do not forget that the toad is the farmer's best friend. He destroys about four hundred insects and bugs a day, not to mention the eggs of injurious flies.

When a druggist recommends a remedy for colds, throat and lung troubles, you can feel sure that he knows what he is talking about. C. Lower, druggist, of Marion, Ohio, writes of Dr. King's New Discovery: "I know Dr. King's New Discovery is the best throat and lung medicine I sell. It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed." It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand all the time for everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Guaranteed by Jas. H. Orme or Haynes & Taylor.

ALPHABET OF SPRING TIME

Among the slumbering sleepers,
Breathes the breath of spring,
Calling forth the creepers,
Drinking of waters that bring
Endless chains of pleasure,
From beneath the sod,
Giving in the fullest measure,
Heaven's blessings from God.
In many lonely places,
Jostle the corners new,
Keeping their shining faces,
Lighted with sparkling dew.
More and more the flowers,
Now seem the stars of earth,
Opening amid the showers,
Proclaiming once more a new birth.
Quietly fall the beams of light,
Rays of silver and gold,
Shipping forth and putting to flight
The days of chill and cold.
Underneath the carpet green,
Voices may be heard,
Whispering of a glorious scene.
Xyris plants and song of bird,
Yonder from the torrid zone,
Zion's wealth hath surely flown.

O. P. READ is one of America's greatest authors as well as lecturers. His power to entertain and instruct an audience is marvelous, and his use of beautiful English is equally notable. His American stories have made for themselves a secure place in the affections of the American people. It has been said that he received the highest prices for his writings of any author in America. O. P. Read is an original thinker. He is also a fine story teller and tells only his own stories. He tells them as none other can and has delighted thousands. A program by Mr. Read must necessarily abound in entertainment. He is also a philosopher and wit. He has an interesting and powerful personality. He is tall and commanding. Resolution and courage are prominently pronounced in his looks, and he has deep convictions.

"THE PEOPLE DON'T INTEND THAT THE RAILROADS SHALL ROB THEM"

"The People To Be Honest Must Not Permit Legislation That Would Rob the Railroads."

"To Discourage Railroad Building and Railroad Improvement by Hap-Hazard Legislation is Just as Foolish and Dishonest as to Rob the People by Railroad Overcharges and Reckless Capitalization."

"The public may as well understand that moderation in railroad legislation will bring good results and unreasonable legislation will defeat itself and make conditions worse than they have ever been."

"The railroad is simply an organization like any other necessary to the public, and managed on the whole as well as any other, by about the same kind of men as are engaged in other business."

"You cannot have on the one hand public service commissions and legislatures, compelling the railroads to reduce their rates, their freight charges and their commutation rates, and on the other hand organizations of labor, or arbitrators appointed by the Government, telling the railroads that they must raise wages and employ more men."

"You can't cut down the freight rate at one end and raise wages at the other without wiping out the railroads."—New York Evening Journal.

Which is Better—Try An Experiment or Profit by a Marion Citizen's Experience.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home. Easy to prove local testimony. Read this Marion case.

Mrs. Mary Alexander, Marion, Ky., says:—"I was troubled with kidney complaint for about three years, caused by a cold settling in my kidneys. I tired easily, was nervous and in the morning my back was very lame and ached constantly. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. The first box acted like magic. PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Railroad Officials at Rose Clare.

R. N. Greenlaw, president of the Gulf lines connecting railroad, together with several other officials of the line, and part of the engineering corps spent a recent day at Rosiclare. They assured the citizens of that place that the road would be built into their town as soon as possible and indicated that the camps now located near Golconda, Ill., would be moved up to or near Rosiclare in the very near future and operations commenced on that end of the line. While there they went over the territory adjacent to Rosiclare and selected a site for depot and switch yards, consisting of a tract of five acres in the northwest part of town lying immediately adjoining the last lots platted and is a very desirable location for the purpose, being above overflow, well drained and is easily accessible from all points. The land belongs to the Rosiclare Improvement Association and enough money was immediately pledged to build a $1500.00 depot on the site donated.—Hardin Era.

HAPPY DAYS

Oh, happy was the childhood hour
When father paid the bills
And left us free to grasp the flower
That blossomed on the hills!
Those were the days in which we took
No thought of taxes high
Nor feared the grafter or the crook
Who might be drawing nigh.
Three meals a day were always there,
So was the dwelling place.
We thought that father's greatest care
Was simply to say grace.
And so we wandered light and free,
Without a trace of woe.
Each had no thought save those
Of glee
Unless he stubbed his toe.
No greater wisdom bids us pause.
And grateful memory thrills.
We were so happy then because
Dear father paid the bills.

WOODMEN CIRCLE WOMEN ENJOY MISSION VISIT.

The following delegates to the Woodmen Circle state convention, which met in Tucson at the Willard hotel, were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Southerland, of 334 south Third street, on an automobile trip to the San Xavier mission; Mrs. Lizzie Driscoll, Globe; Mrs. Mamie Fleming, Globe; Mrs. Mae McDonald, Bisbee; Mrs. Cora Dennis, Tempe; Miss Etta Allison, Douglas; Mrs. Lizzie Lauver, Phoenix; Mrs. Grace Collins, Mesa; Mrs. Clara Pomeroy, Mesa.

The party also included John R. Lyons, state organizer for Arizona and New Mexico. The party, under the guide of the Sisters, were taken through the different class rooms where the students gave exhibitions in speaking and singing.

In one of the class rooms a dumb bell exhibition was given by the class which was one of the most interesting features. From the several class rooms the party was taken through the chapel. The statuary and paintings were pronounced the nicest ever seen, and the party regretted that time would not allow them to remain longer.

Every one seemed to be favorably impressed with the beauty of Tucson, and it is to be hoped that they may meet here again at some future date.—Tucson, Ariz., Citizen.

In employing hands to work upon said roads the County Engineer shall pay the prevailing wages in the neighborhood where said work is done, not however, to exceed $1.50 nor less than $1.00 per day, for each day of eight hours. In view of this fact I am now prepared to give receipts to all who want to pay.

HUSBAND IS JUSTIFIED IN "BEATING UP" RIVAL

According to an opinion rendered yesterday by Superior Judge Thomas G. Graham, no woman is justified in coming into court and asking a divorce decree on the ground of cruelty simply because her husband used his fist to mar the visage of a strange man whom he found escorting her to the theater. The opinion is handed down in the case of Dorris Erickson against Ernest E. Erickson, a motorman in the employ of the United Railroads. Judge Graham sustains the demurrer of the husband and practically throws the wife's case out of court.

Mrs. Erickson cited cruelty in her complaint and gave as a specific instance the fact that her husband assaulted a man whom he found escorting her to a moving picture show. In most emphatic terms the court holds that this is not an act of cruelty toward the wife. The opinion says:

"From the conduct of this plaintiff, who clandestinely kept company with another man, can it be said that she had any regard for the sacred obligations of the marriage vows? Is it not positively indecent and impertinent for any woman to believe, as well as for any lawyer to advise, that having disregarded with impunity her marriage vows by going to places of amusement with another man, without the knowledge or consent of her husband, that judges and courts are so credulous as to hold that such a woman has suffered any mental anguish because her husband upbraided or assaulted her escort?"

"The time has come when the courts should put the judicial brakes on cases of this kind, and let these people know who marry for convenience and flaunt their vicious conduct in public that our courts do not lightly view the sanctity of the marriage relation."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Coca-Cola Club.

The regular session of the club was largely made up of grouches, yet each man drank his coca cola with enthusiasm. The question was raised if the oil recently spread upon our streets would not endanger the citizens' health:—

The doctor: "In my judgment the crude oil placed upon the streets will destroy the rudimentary forms of all organisms that tend to produce Zymosis, an epidemic or endemic contagious affection due to some morbid agent fermenting in the system. This can better be illustrated by the use of a Zymosimeter—"

The Mining Man, interrupting: "Turn off the air, Doc. What you giving us? If these are the same kind of six syllable words the mining experts use in naming fossils, I wish to be excused. They give me the headache."

The Doctor: "This mining man always reminds me of a Megalichthus, which is a fossil granoid fish found in coal formations, but is not good to eat; but, as I was saying, medicamentally speaking—"

A chorus of voices: "Ring off, Doc. Life is too short to spend so much time on something you don't know anything about. Let's have another coca cola and let somebody tell us if the Fiscal Court is responsible for this dirty stuff, and does the county pay for it?"

The Lawyer: "The Fiscal Court is expending all of its money in helping Jim White down at the Eclipse mine to build the six miles of macadamized road he has undertaken to complete, and they are really foolishly enthusiastic over it. So far they have had no money to pay in, and Jim is betting his hand to the limit; however, it is understood that a recent decision of the appellate court gives Jim a legal status in suing for this expenditure, as the road is absolutely essential to the people of Crittenden county in traveling from one section to another."

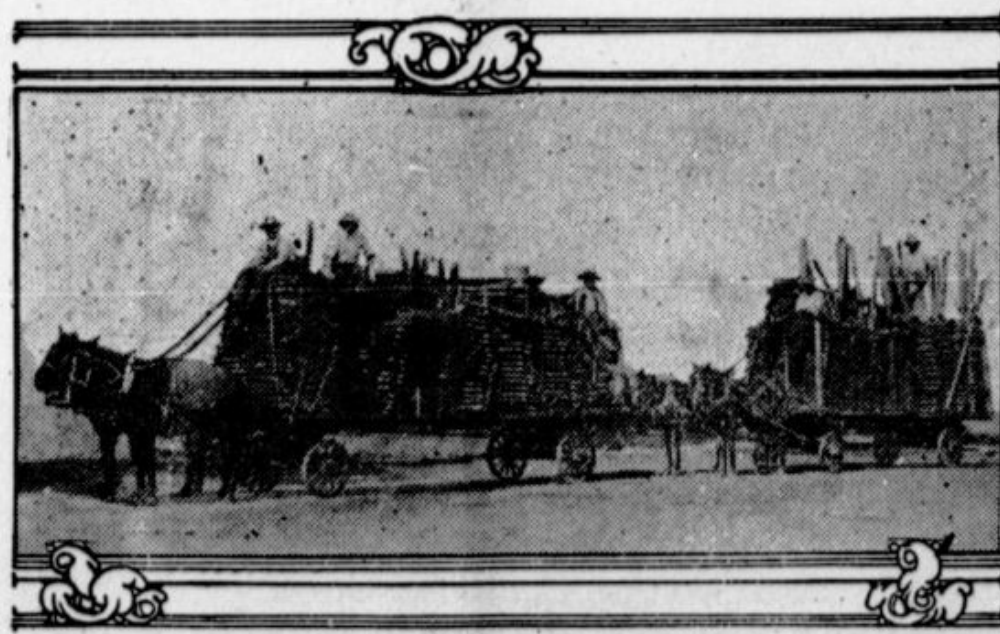

The Coal Man: "Who is this Chautauqua that is coming home next month, and what is his business?"

The Doctor: "That sort of thing makes me faint. Two granoid fish in one month is too much."

The Cattle Buyer: "Out on the Erie railroad in New York state is a little lake where the Boston high brows met the ordinary people for the purpose of telling them the proper way to cook bacon and eggs, how to dress and feed the children, the best way to use your knife and fork, when it was proper to sneeze, and to always eat strawberries with a fork. There was much Browning discussed, both Elizabeth and her husband. Since that time, some years ago, the Browning clubs have increased in number, and you will notice that where there are half a dozen pale faces, of ascetic mould and wearing double lenses glasses, they are members of a Browning club. The little lake was named Chautauqua, and from this sheet of water the Chautauqua clubs have multiplied. In ten years Crittenden county has lost over 800 of its citizens who, in that period emigrated to states where they thought the opportunities for prosperity and happiness were much greater than here. We want to have them return and we want to royally welcome them. Since all of us, everybody in fact, which includes the Fiscal Court, have put their shoulders behind good roads and water works and all that sort of thing. We want to show our old neighbors what a bully place they left, and had they not better come back. We want to make "Home Coming" week seven days of the happiest kind and we can do it."

The Sporting Man: "That sort of talk from the Cattle Buyer sounds good to me. There must have been a Mission around here somewhere. It is ten to one that feeling, backed up, will cause more blossoms on every rose bush in Marion than ever before existed. You chaps ought to have been with me at the races. We had a royal time going and we bet our money a little wild, so that when we did arrive home we were in the shape of the boy who returned from Leadville and sent a note to his father as follows: 'Dear Father: I have just got back from Leadville. I did pretty well in Leadville. I am here outside of town, please send by bearer a coat and a pair of trousers and a pair of shoes. I've got a hat.'"

HAULING THE CHAUTAUQUA SEATS.

THE above photograph represents a typical scene on the arrival of the big Redpath Chautauqua in a town—a Chautauqua such as we are to have here this season. Usually a half dozen big teams and wagons are required to haul the seats from the depot to the Chautauqua tent.
