Move to Marion! The Biggest Town on Earth For Its Size and The Best People.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE AT STURGIS

Whole Business Section of the Town is Practically Wiped Out by Conflagration.

DAMAGES OVER $200,000.00

Sturgis, Ky., July 7.—Fire which broke out here Sunday night about 9 o'clock in a warehouse in the rear of Seagraves' drug store, on the main street of Sturgis, did damage amounting to about $200,000 and wiped out practically the entire business section of the city, thirty houses being destroyed. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

There is no fire department here and the citizens organized a bucket brigade and did their best to fight the flames. A call for help was made to Henderson, Morganfield and Princeton, but before the fire departments could respond the fire had burned itself out. A number of persons from surrounding towns came to Sturgis in autos and aided in fighting the flames.

Of the business houses only two remain, Winston Bros' Dry Goods Company and the offices of the West Kentucky Coal Company. Many of the buildings destroyed were of rather poor construction, and the owners and merchants have declared they would rebuild at once on a much more elaborate scale.

Though the majority of the structures destroyed were small, there were several large buildings, including the Y. M. C. A., which was one of the largest in the State for a town the size of Sturgis, and the drug store of Seagraves', which was handsomely equipped. The First National Bank was also a heavy loser, so far as the building was concerned, though all its papers and money were in a fireproof safe.

No one was injured during the progress of the flames.

The principal losers were: Sturgis Dry Goods Company, Seagraves drug store, Barker & Perkins' restaurant, Dodd & O'Nan, hardware and furniture.

Sturgis Grocery Company, Hagan & Sale, restaurant, A. L. Berry, insurance office, A. M. Benedict, grocery, Miss Carrie Elbe, 10-cent store.

Mrs. Kate Wilcox, milliner, C. S. Welch, jewelry, B. F. Hall, men's furnishings, Young Men's Christian Association.

D. W. Bishop, barber shop, C. E. Bradburn, grocery, City Judge's office, First National Bank.

Wallace S. Thompson's law office.

P. H. Winston and Dr. I. D. Winston, office.

A. L. Shipley, grocery, G. B. Simpson, grocery, furniture and hardware.

Meachem & King, druggists, James T. Truitt, grocery, E. L. Rakes, pictures and photographs.

Stone Hardware Company, H. A. Thompson, tin shop, Karl Kaminkey, dwelling and meat shop.

C. L. Funk, produce house, J. A. Culwell, blacksmith shop.

THIS ISSUE STARTS US ON OUR THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

DISASTROUS FIRE AT DIXON, KY.

Three Citizens Injured.—Two Others Nearly Drowned in Fire Well.

Dixon, Ky., July 7.—By dint of great effort citizens of Dixon prevented the destruction by fire of $100,000 worth of property when they kept the flames which destroyed the building of Bud Ramsey, biggest dry goods dealer in Dixon, from spreading to adjoining buildings. The fire fighting was the greatest ever witnessed here. Three citizens were injured. Guy Ramsey, strained back and bruises; Marlin Blackwell, nose badly cut; Watt Biggs, arm severely cut.

The fire originated in the millinery store in the second story of the Ramsey building. The fire was discovered about 7 o'clock. A call was sent to Providence asking for aid. Within twenty-nine minutes an automobile bringing fire hose was driven over the ten miles of rough roads by Joseph Justice.

The Providence hose was attached to a Howe pump engine and after a valiant fight lasting for two hours the adjoining buildings were saved. The Ramsey building was a complete loss. The building owned by Mr. Ramsey, was valued at $3,000 with $2,000 insurance. Mrs. J. R. Duncan and Mrs. J. L. Porter who owned the millinery store, valued their stock at $1,200 with no insurance. The Dixon bank building was damaged to the extent of $400 while the telephone exchange loss is about $100.

Watt Bigg, son of Jailer Biggs, was on a ladder playing a stream on the fire when a window fell and he was covered by bits of falling glass. A long gash was cut in his right arm which required a number of stitches. Guy Ramsey lost his balance while on a ladder and fell heavily to the ground, escaping fortunately without any broken bones. Marlin Blackwell was also cut on the face with glass.

While the fire was at its height a grim tragedy was narrowly averted when Aries Bell, an eleven-year-old boy fell in a well from which water was being pumped into the engine. The lad fell into the well when a loose stone gave way. The water was about twelve feet deep and six or eight feet from the surface. It was too dark to see the boy in the well but his screams indicated that he was managing to swim about. Prof. F. G. Boyd, principal of the local school, was lowered into the well by a rope, which broke while he was descending. Another rope was hastily secured and the two were rescued. The boy was half strangled.

Dixon was visited by a $25,000 fire only a few weeks ago.

and part of Alloway lumber yard.

Nearly all the people were at church at the time the fire broke out.

The Illinois Central depot was saved, but only after a hard fight.

THROUGH TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS THE "PRESS" HAS CONTINUED OVER ONE-THIRD CENTURY.

HOPES TO CONTINUE AS MANY YEARS LONGER.

ONE OF THE OLDEST COUNTY PAPERS IN THE STATE.

The recurrence of one's birthday is naturally looked upon as an event of some importance—an epoch, somehow, for self-congratulation—and it is, therefore, with a peculiar sense of satisfaction that we can point out to our readers the "No. 1—Volume XXXVI," to be found at the head of our front page this week.

With our last issue the Crittenden Record-Press rounded out its thirty-fifth year—making its appearance week after week, sometimes coming out through trying vicissitudes, but never missing an issue—and to-day, its thirty-sixth birthday, we send it forth to its large list of subscribers with renewed hope for the future and having no great cause for regret of the past.

A RETROSPECTIVE GLANCE.

Thirty-five years ago—July 10, 1878—The Crittenden Press made its initial bow to the public. It was established by Messrs R. C. Walker and C. F. Champion, both of this city and both young men just out of school. After a few issues of the paper Mr. Champion sold his interest to Mr. Walker, who assumed entire control of the publication.

Under the editorship of R. C. Walker the Press became a wide-awake newspaper, though it started out under unfavorable conditions—difficulties that beset most new publications, the want of public confidence. This was caused by the failure of its predecessor, the Marion Reporter, established a year or two before by Messrs K. H. Adams and J. J. Nall, principals of Marion Academy. These gentlemen, though great educators, were not newspaper men. The paper was a failure from the beginning and had a short existence.

A few years later the Marion Monitor made its appearance before the public, B. F. Copeland being the editor and publisher of the new paper. After a short and financially unsuccessful run, Mr. Copeland sold out to S. C. Haynes, and at the death of Mr. Haynes a year later, the paper passed into the hands of A. C. Moore and W. S. Adams, still later to T. J. Davidson and finally into non-existence and restful oblivion, the Press taking over the type and fixtures of the plant.

Several years later—in about the year 1902—Mr. J. E. Chittenden established the Crittenden Record. For want of the necessary patronage, the paper had a rather troubled existence for a year or two, then Mr. Chittenden sold to George M. Crider, who continued the publication a short time, then sold the plant to the present owner of the Press, the two papers were consolidated and henceforth became The Record-Press.

In October, 1911, the Marion News, C. V. Oakley, editor and publisher, made its appearance. The paper, not having the hoped-for support, suspended publication after a year's financially unprofitable existence. On its expired subscription list many of the names were supplied the Record-Press free until January 1, 1913—this being done voluntarily and without compensation by the editor of this paper.

Though these various publications, like ancient empires, have arisen, had their day and passed away, the Record-Press is "yet alive" and has, on its thirty-sixth birthday, the best paying subscription list and a better advertising patronage than in any period of its existence. It also has a complete Job Department.

At the time of the establishment of the Crittenden Press in 1878, Marion was a much smaller place than the new Marion of to-day. Then there was no railroad, no telegraph office, no telephones, no banks, no electric lights, no macadamized streets and few, if any concrete walks. While the town possessed the same refined, wide-awake, industrious citizenship, it contained less than one-fourth the population of to-day and none of the advantage of a thriving county seat. Though hidden beneath our soil lay rich deposits of minerals, there was at that time no mines of lead and zinc and fluor spar operated in Crittenden county.

Just how far this paper has been instrumental in bringing about these improved conditions is not for us to say. However, we might call attention to the fact that no opportunity has been lost, either by the former or the present editor, to advance the interest of the town and county in every way possible. During the ten years the present editor and publisher has had control of the paper he has put forth every effort to keep the Record-Press up to its former standard. How well we have succeeded we leave our subscribers to judge. We have endeavored to make it a newspaper in every sense of the word, giving the news of the town and county, as well as the important happenings in adjoining counties—social news, min-

Dixon, Ky., July 7.—Claude Hall, aged 28, a farmer, was arrested at 6 o'clock this morning on the charge of posting a note ten days ago on the front gate of Will Spencer, living between Sebree and Robards, in Webster county, threatening to burn his home unless he plowed up his tobacco, and tonight made a confession, declaring he would plead guilty in circuit court tomorrow. The warrant was sworn out this morning by Mr. Spencer before Magistrate J. W. ing news, political news without party discrimination.

While the Record-Press has always been Democratic in politics, the editor believes in being fair to all parties alike, and this he will endeavor to do in the future as he has in the past.

Viewing things from every standpoint, the publisher of the Marion home paper has no cause to feel ashamed; on the contrary he is proud of its illustrious former employees, some of whom have gone out to seek fame and fortune elsewhere. Among these we might mention:

Charles F. Champion, of Chicago; Robert C. Walker, Grand Junction, Col.; Walter Walker, same city; Ed Moore, Madisonville; W. E. Stinson, Evansville; W. G. Hammond, of Chicago; J. C. Bourland, R. E. Promptly.

SISCO, BROWN AND KIRK SIGN.

Judge J. F. Gordon, as per previous announcement reopened the summer term of the circuit court Monday and took under advisement, the granting of bail to Ed Massie, who has been confined in the Morganfield jail where he was sent by Judge Blue for safe keeping to await the action of the grand jury. He was brought here Saturday afternoon and lodged in jail.

Judge Gordon decided he was entitled to bail and fixed $3000 as the sum. It was promptly made by Wm. Sisco W. H. Brown and H. H. Kirk. Immediately afterward Massie was released from custody and left the city with his relatives and friends many of whom were here.

There was no undue excitement attending the proceeding. Notwithstanding the gravity of the charge and the prominence of all the parties interested everything pertaining to it was orderly and quiet.

Burse B. Dunn Withdraws.

To the voters of Livingston and Crittenden counties. The facts being known that my nomination petition was presented to the Secretary of State two days too late to have my name printed on the Democrat ballot for Representative.

I am certainly sorry that I neglected having my petition ready at the right time. But I have been interested on the farm and the busy rush of the crops have taken most of my time when I should have been at work on my petition. I certainly appreciate those eight that signed my petition and others that promised when same could be presented to them. Also those that had pledged their vote and influence. The time is now at hand when our people should be getting their petitions ready, asking our next Representative to vote for laws as of interest to us.

Yours respectfully,
Burse B. Dunn.

Objects to Honeymoon in a Jungle Bungalow.

New York, July 10.—Miss Madeleine Sylvester decided that she preferred a flat in the metropolis to a bungalow in jungles of Honduras. So, when Russell H. Millward, the explorer, came to wed her, she celebrated the occasion by marrying Charles E. Doll.

The explorer, however, refuses to repine.

"I'm not surprised at anything happening in this crazy city," he says. "So long as I am in the jungle, things go very quietly and comfortably. But as soon as I come back to civilization I get it from all sides at once."

"Really, though, I don't blame the girl for preferring the variety and excitement here to hard tack and beans with me in the wilds of Honduras, where there's about one mail a year."

This is Millward's second disappointment.

A year ago he thought he had the wedding cinched. He had the license and the ring, and they were going to have the mayor to marry them right away. But the groom broke away to get a shave and a haircut, and then his fool friends broke into his room and stole the license and ring. That gave the girl another night to think it over, and next morning she had lost her nerve. So Millward sailed to Honduras without her. Now he's going to sail without her again.

Scalded to Death.

One of the most horrible accidents ever to occur in Franklin county happened at the T. C. Keller mine at Sesser at four o'clock Monday afternoon. John C. Hale, the 19-year-old step-son of Jesse P. Hale, fell into a cistern or reservoir of hot water, and died in the hospital at Ziegler five hours later. After falling into the water he climbed out without assistance and walked about forty yards to the office and inquired for something good for burns. To a miner met on the way he told what had happened and remarked that he did not think he was hurt much. Shortly after appearing at the office he fainted and soon became unconscious.—Benton Republican.

Snakes Go Turkey Hunting.

W. E. Thompson, of the Kirkwood section, tells us that last Thursday he saw a commotion among his young turkeys and went to investigate and found that a big cow sucker snake had gotten among the flock and swallowed one of the young brood. It raised its head above the grass as Mr. Thompson approached, and tried to make good its escape, but he killed it. The next day he was attracted to the same spot and found a second snake, probably the mate of the first one, for it was equal in size, and Mr. Thompson killed it too.—Harrodsburg, Ky. Herald.

Gave Uncle Sam Money to Keep.

Washington.—More than half a century ago Uncle Sam was handed three bags of gold worth about $600; he is still holding them. Some thirty years ago he was handed a bag of valuable silver bullion and the owner has left it with him ever since. This gold and silver has been a great nuisance to the accounting officer of the federal government. Comptroller of the Treasury has just decided that to convert it into the treasury to the credit of the men who presented it would require an act of congress. In 1856 H. J. Peters brought $127.87 worth of gold bullion to the San Francisco mint; in 1858 Joseph Baker presented $333.27, and in 1863 J. M. Souther handed over $166.96. They never returned.

In 1882 Thomas F. Davis brought 180.90 ounces of silver bullion to the New York assay office, to be made into silver bars, and has not been seen since.

FIVE CENT MEAL SOLVED PROBLEM

It Helped Reduce Expenses of Domestic Science Course.

ATTENDANCE 100 PER CENT.

Colored High School of Owensboro
Among the First to Offer Full Four Year Instruction in Household Arts.
Every Girl Pupil and Several Boys
Now Enrolled.

Three years ago, when very few high schools in Kentucky were offering a course in domestic science, the Colored High school at Owensboro made a beginning. The board of education at that time, like many others in the state, was hampered by a lack of funds. The board also had before it the experience of other schools where the expense account of the domestic science course had proved quite a burden. It was a difficult problem, but the faculty of the high school felt that the work could be put upon a basis that would make it almost self sustaining.

Today the Colored High school of Owensboro has a four year course in domestic science and will graduate seven girls that have taken this full course. During these four years only three girls have failed to take the course, and this year 100 per cent of the girls in the high school take domestic science. Besides these girls, it might be well to add that there are eight boys enrolled in the classes, so that the figures should really read 100 per cent plus.

A five cent dinner and lunch counter handled by the domestic science department have made this splendid work possible. The cost of material in both cooking and sewing classes has been met each year by the board of education paying a deficit of about $5 a month.

The preparation of this five cent dinner would seem to be a definite loss in some of the technical training, but it appears otherwise when one visits the school.

It appears to be of absolute value in the general training, as the girls are used in small relays, so that each girl in the school comes to this special work once a week. The class book, which is carefully kept, shows exactly the work the pupil has done each time she has been on duty for a dinner and luncheon.

If she has made biscuit and afterward cleaned the stove this week the next she will probably prepare a salad and clean the refrigerator. In the course of the school year she will have covered a certain definite amount of practical, housekeeping work. There is the added value that she has prepared this food in quantities sufficient for an ordinary family, and not in laboratory quantities.

It might be urged that a high school is not a vocational school, and that our schools are not preparing girls for lunch room service. This is all true, but the greatest indictment brought against our schools today is that they do not give our boys and girls a grip on live, real, everyday things. The work in this school seems to give this and at the same time helps to sustain itself while giving all the pupils something that is wholesome to eat at a remarkably low price.

There are high schools all over the country that cannot afford domestic science. There are many others where the girls are doing laboratory domestic science, and a large percentage of the pupils go to the corner grocery or a cheap confectionery for their noon luncheon.

The value as well as the economy of serving the children with an appetizing, inexpensive meal, scientifically prepared, is obvious. Their health is conserved and a practical course in domestic science is made possible.

Is it not possible to gain both things at the same time by a carefully prepared course of study?

It certainly is worth thinking about, for people everywhere are looking to the school for more real every day efficiency.

The Mother.

She never touched, with skillful brush, the canvass.

And left a picture that the world might praise;

Or, with inspired fingers on the keyboard,

Sent down an echo through the length of days;

With smiling lips she passed beneath the rod,

Descending almost to the vale of shadows.

To bring a little new born soul from God.

She never sang a song of joy or sadness,

In clear, sweet tones to make us smile or weep;

Her voice, too weak to win the world's approval.

Was only good to hush a babe to sleep.

She never penned a book whose glowing pages

Might lift us up and help us in the fight;

But day by day she sought, with loving patience,

To guide two little stumbling feet, aright.

And yet mayhap, when at the gate of heaven

She paused, God looked at her and smiled;

With hand outstretched, His kind voice spoke a welcome

To her, the mother of a little child.

A new oil well was brought in west of the Jacob Smith farm this morning, and it is said to give indications of being a good one. The drill was sent one screw into the sand, and the hole filled up to a depth of 100 or more. The most encouraging feature is said to be that there is a good showing of gas, and this leads some to believe that the prospect for the field is much better on that account.—Mt. Carmel Republican.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

BIBLE STUDY ON
GOD'S INSTRUMENT IN PREPARATION

Exodus 2:11-25—July 13.

"Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth."—Matthew 5:5.

THE education of Moses is briefly summed up in the Biblical statement that he "was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians." Legend tells us something of his schooling in the philosophies of that time, and declares that he was a successful Egyptian general; but it is for us to follow the Bible account. The time was nearing when God intended to bring the Israelites out of Egypt into the Land of Promise—an illustration of the still more wonderful deliverance by the Greater than Moses, which now is nearing.

God's providences may be noted in respect to the experiences of Moses, who is credited by the Lord with having been "the meekest man in all the earth." God wanted a meek man for the important position which He intended Moses to fill. Moses' lessons and experiences helped to make him meek. Who can not see that, if he had been proud and arrogant, he would have been unfit for the duties and responsibilities devolving upon him as leader of his people? Perhaps no man had a more difficult task than that represented in Moses' forty years with Israel in the wilderness. We may be sure that he was prepared for the ordeal only by the experiences of the preceding eighty years of his life.

The adopted son of the Egyptian princess, Moses must have been a court favorite, and in danger of cultivating pride and arrogance. As an offset, he had continually before him the fact that his features were Jewish, and that thus every one had knowledge of his identity with the despised and oppressed people. The tendency would naturally be toward one of two courses: Either he would seek to ignore the Hebrews and to become more and more identified with the Egyptians, or else he would exercise faith in the special promises of which his people were heirs as children of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

St. Paul notes that Moses was a victor in this test. He chose to suffer affliction with the people of God rather than to enjoy the honors which might have been his as an adopted member of the royal family. (Hebrews 11:24-26.) To Moses the Promise which God made to Abraham, and repeated to Isaac and Jacob, and which still awaits fulfillment, was more to be desired than all the riches and honors of earth.

Moses Discouraged, Heartbroken. Trusting in the Lord's Promise, Moses believed that the time had come for the deliverance of the Israelites from bondage. He knew well of his miraculous preservation, and had the assurance of God's Promise that this signified that God had a special work for him to do. He was anxious to begin that work. He knew not of his own unreadiness—that he would require forty years more of special schooling.

An occasion to show his zeal for his brethren came when he saw an Egyptian abusing one of them. Moses threw himself into the scuffle. The Egyptian was killed. Moses perceived that none of the Egyptians knew of the matter, so he quietly buried the victim in the sand. He doubted not that his brethren would realize that he was their friend and defender, and would look to him with confidence as their leader, when God's providence would open the door for them to leave Egypt.

But all his dreams faded when, next day, he perceived that there was no such loyalty among his brethren, and that they were ready to deliver him to the Egyptian authorities. Thoroughly discouraged and fearing for his life, Moses fled to the wilderness of Midian. It looked as though all his education and development had gone to waste.

Moses Jethro's Shepherd. As the fugitive sat upon the censing of a well, shepherds brought their flocks for water. Amongst the shepherders were Jethro's daughters, and opposing them some ungallant shepherds, who hindered them. Moses took their part, and drew water for their flocks. Incidentally he walked with them to Jethro's house, ward their home. Jethro was appreciative of the stranger, who did not disclose his identity. Moses was thoroughly crestfallen, meek, teachable.

Moses married one of Jethro's daughters and continued to be a shepherd for forty years. He did not at the time understand the Lord's providences in his affairs; but he was all those years learning a most important lesson of meekness, of full submission to the Divine will. When the lesson had been learned, God's time had come to put His thus doubly educated servant into a most important place, for which he never could have been galled without just such experiences. God's dealings with Moses illustrate the general principles of His dealing with all those whom He would use in special service.

Moses Threw Himself into the Scuffle.

I. C. TRAIN HELD UP NEAR MEMPHIS FRIDAY MORNING

Bandits Hold Up Passenger Train
And Much Money is Reported Stolen.

Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—Illinois Central train No. 101, which passes through here from Cincinnati, at about midnight, was held up and robbed of a large sum of money south of this city about two o'clock this morning.

The masked and heavily armed bandits took complete charge of the train and its passengers, and had little difficulty in looting the express car of its treasure. The cars were detached from the engine, and the express car was isolated from the others on the main line.

A large party officers from Memphis and other places at once went in pursuit of the bandits.

It is not yet known how much money was secured in the hold-up, but it is known that the amount of cash carried on this trip was unusually large.

BOTTLE MESSAGE RE- VEALS SEA MYSTERY

Farewell Note Found Along English Coast Tells of Ship's Doom.

A message in a bottle, picked up on the Kentish coast of England, has disclosed one of the most bewildering mysteries of the sea in recent years. Nine years ago while en route to her home port, after loading a cargo of lumber in Mobile, the London steamer Nutfield disappeared as completely as though the sea had opened its jaws and swallowed her.

The Nutfield, which carried 2,000 tons, and a crew of 25, under the command of Capt. Tackell, sailed from Mobile with a cargo of timber on Dec. 3, 1904, bound for the Tyne, and she was to have called at Havre on the passage.

After the steamer left Norfolk, Va., where she called for coal, nothing had been seen or heard of her. On board the vessel were two Shieds men—a donkey man named William Howard, a fireman named George Slater; and Mrs. Howard, the former's widow, of Newcastle, England, received a letter by post containing a communication apparently written by her late husband and his friend Slater, just before the vessel foundered. Mrs. Howard formerly lived in Hardwick St., South Shields, but she at present lives in Raglan street, at which address the letter was delivered. The letter in which the message from her husband was inclosed is as follows:

"The Compasses, Cliffe, near Rochester, Kent, Feb. 23, 1913. "Dear Madame: If this reaches the person concerned, please let me inform you that it was picked up at Cliffe, on the Kent shore of the River Thames, by myself on Feb. 21st, 1913. It was sealed up in a glass bottle. Your faithfully

"GEO. JOHNSON."

There were two notes in the bottle written by William Howard and George Slater, and Mrs. Howard states that she can identify her husband's handwriting. The first letter is as follows:

"Dec. 16, 1904, s s Nutfield. "W. Howard, 5 Hardwick St., South Shields, England.

"Dear Wife and Children: At the time of my writing this I am going to my doom. I hope you will look after the children and that Willie is a good lad to you. Let my father and mother know. Best love to all.

"W. HOWARD." Below the name are a number of crosses.

The second message reads as follows:

"To whoever picks this up: Please make it known that our ship is doomed. We have a very heavy deckload on and are looking to every moment to be our last. Good-bye to all.

(Signed) "J. SLATER." "Dec. 16, 1904."

The word "left" is written on the same sheet, and after a blank space came the words, "We are in the English Channel."—Mobile, Ala., Register.

SLOGAN IS "ONE FOR EVERY ONE"

Cheerful Cry Adopted In Rowan County In 1911.

JEANETTE BELL ORIGINATOR

Practiced What She Preached on Poor Girl Who Got Behind In Her Studies on Account of Practical Blindness Work Has Not Stopped, Either.

Last winter, when the enthusiasm of the moonlight school campaign was at its height in Rowan county, Miss Jeanette Bell, an official stenographer, decided to adopt and carry out the slogan, "One for every one." She looked about her in Moorehead, the county seat, for some person who was out of school and could not read or write. In the hotel in which she was living she discovered a pupil, Cordie Wilson, who was working as a chambermaid. When asked about the work she had done for Cordie Wilson, Miss Bell smiled quietly and said: "It wasn't work at all. It was a pleasure, and a very real pleasure too. You see, Cordie was born in Elliott county, and when she was quite young she was almost blind. Of course she did not go to school with the other children, and when her eyes grew better she felt shy about going to school with children so much her junior. This was somewhat accentuated by the fact that she was one of those unfortunate overgrown girls that look almost twice their real age. Today, at fifteen, Cordie looks like seventeen or eighteen.

"At night when her work about the hotel was done she would come to me with her books and pencil and pad and work like a Turk. Naturally I expected it to take her some time to learn to write and read, but in six nights she could write her name easily and knew how to join all her letters into words. In this same time she had also learned to read well enough to cover the first twenty pages in her first reader. Soon after this she left the hotel and did not come to me any more."

Every vital human movement easily becomes both religious and contagious, and the moonlight school seems to prove the rule. Other counties and communities are taking up the work, and it is hoped that the whole state will realize the value of a school for out of school folks.

In 1911 Rowan county decided to strive to get a number of her schools to open their doors for adults who could not read or write. Grown people do not care for a primer or a first reader, so Rowan county launched a paper, THE ROWAN COUNTY SCHOOL MESSENGER, that the pupils might have a real live paper to read. The first column of the paper, dated Sept. 16, 1912, is as follows:

Can we win?
Win what?
Win the first night school prize.
Of course we can. Just watch us try. And watch us WIN!
We are winners, we are!
Watch us grow. Grow what?
Everything but weeds.
Our district shall win!
Our division must lead!

Let's all go to school. It is good for us. It will make us young again. It will make us more useful. It may start us on the road to greatness.

All night schools in Rowan county started on Monday evening Sept. 16.

Each will try to have the largest number enrolled, the best attendance each night and the largest graduating class; also each will try to have the oldest pupil.

Rowan county has the finest building stone in the world.

Rowan county will grow the finest fruit in the world.

Friendship.

Omaha friends of Richard L. Metcalfe, who goes to the Panama Canal Zone as a member of the Isthmian canal commission, gave him a testimonial dinner at the Paxton hotel, June 26th. Mr. J. W. Woodrough, speaking on the subject of "Friendship," said:

The only way for a man to have friends is to be a friend. It was in my thought to say a word about friendship. Every talker since Adam has talked about it. Every dreamer has dreamed about it. Every wise man has eagerly sought it and valued it and exalted it as priceless beyond the power of words to tell.

But friendship imposes its exactions, its obligations and its requirements.

With great talent, genius and energy men soar like eagles above the walks of life of ordinary mortals to the high places of command and influence and power. They are admired, followed, courted and sought after. But though a man be crowned victor through all the years of his life, unless he has been made fit for friendship—fortune has played a scurvy trick upon him and left him poor as Lazarus. Reputation, fame and power are as hollow as tinkling cymbals unless at the core there beats a heart tuned to friendship's rhythm.

In 1890 a young man was assigned to report for the World-Herald, a series of debates being carried on in this congressional district. On the one side our fellow townsman, W. J. Connell, was a candidate for congress and there was opposed to him the man who today stands higher in the hearts of all true lovers of democracy throughout the civilized world, than any living man, William J. Bryan. Bryan was then in his vigorous, promising youth, forging the first links of the chain that now bind a million hearts to him. That youth of Bryan's that lies behind vast mountain ranges of achievement, of high endeavor, of service for mankind. Hundreds heard his speeches then; admired, cheered, followed and elected him. But the eye of that young reporter saw more clearly through the mist of things than his fellows. He heard with a keen ear. His heart beat with truer sympathy. He talked to the people of Nebraska, through the Herald's columns, of the ideal leader. He saw the ideal leader and knew him then for what he was and for what he has come to be for the whole world in the full strength of his maturity. The loving heart of a true friend guided his pen and inspired the columns that he wrote—his was the voice of one crying in the wilderness, "Prepare ye the way."

Since then Metcalfe has spoken a powerful word for democracy every day of his life; in reporting the acts and omissions of the legislature; in reporting the doings of congress in a commanding position upon a great daily paper; from the most influential weekly paper published throughout the world. Playing a large part in the public life of our state. All of which he saw, a great part of which he was.

Now the great commoner has come into his own as secretary of state for this nation, a thousand calls are made upon his time; upon his giant strength. Calls of business; calls of duty; through the long days far into the night—but the call which summoned Metcalfe to serve this country at the gates of Panama, at the portal which separates the occident from the orient, was the call from the big heart of a friend to an old, tried, loyal, true and dearly beloved friend. Competent, qualified adapted to high trust—and a friend. A call of a friend takes Metcalfe to serve at the right hand of our spokesman to the nations of the world. Nor can our great democratic senator from Nebraska be outdone in recognition of true and meritorious deserving.

Gentlemen we see and celebrate tonight history in the making at its best. The generous, magnanimous actions of great leaders who stand the test; who are fit for friendship.—Commoner.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT.

Advocates Use of Convict Labor on Public Roads.

The following letter has been handed us with the request that we publish it: Frankfort, Ky., July 7th, 1913.
Mr. Carl Henderson,
Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—
I am in receipt of yours of the 3rd inst., relative to convict labor, and note with much interest and pleasure what you have to say concerning the amendment being carried in your section of the state.

I am indeed much interested in seeing this amendment carried at the next election, and trust that the next General Assembly will enact laws whereby we may use convicts for public road purposes. They could be used to quite an advantage in getting out and crushing stone for road purposes and also for grading where work is heavy, and semi permanent camps could be established with safety.

This would not only benefit the people in the State, by building roads that would benefit each and every citizen of the State, but would also benefit the convict by teaching him a trade, at which he could earn a living after serving his sentence; a trade that would not only benefit him, but humanity as well.

Trusting that this amendment will meet with the approval of every voter in Crittenden county, I am,
Yours truly,
ROBT. C. TERREL,
Commissioner of Public Roads.

DEATHS.

He was a member of the Baptist church, having become a member in Livingston county, but had not transferred his membership.

He was a man estimable in all respects.

For twenty years he was engaged in the tobacco and mercantile business in Livingston county and was one of the most prominent and influential men of that county. He leaves many friends there.

Your Plain Duty.

Every non-attendant upon religious service virtually votes for the elimination of the institution from society. If a person believes that the world needs the church he has but one clear, unmistakable and unanswerable way of stating his position.

That is by regular church attendance. The man who goes to church stands for an indispensable institution, even as a good citizen stands for a state by voting. Absenteeism from the ballot box and absenteeism from the church are failures in duty to society. Thoughtful persons stand for the church because the church stands for the best things. The church goes lines up with the forces which make for righteousness. —Burlington Hawkeye.

Blackhead In Turkeys.

In many localities the growing of turkeys has become almost extinct as the result of a malignant parasitic disease known as blackhead. This disease is not only extremely contagious but it is very much aggravated through inbreeding, which depletes the vitality of the stock of breeding turkeys and make it possible for the germs to gain a destructive foothold. It is called "Black-head" because the heads of those affected turn yellow or black, but this is only a symptom, as the seat of the disease is in the liver and intestines. It usually contracted from other fowls, but is primarily caused by an absence or deficiency of mineral elements in the feed, which, owing to the semi-domestic nature of the turkey, are an essential aid to proper food digestion. In its wild state the turkey was accustomed to supply itself with these elements, which are found in minute portions in various grains, seeds and grasses, and this disease is unknown to the wild turkey. It has been claimed that there is no known specific for this destructive disease, but a preparation that is being marketed under the name of Bourbon Poultry Cure has proven a most efficacious remedy for the cure and prevention of this ailment, and large turkey raisers are using it with great success, many saying they have saved their birds with it after having lost half of their flock.

The disease is most prevalent in the summer months and at the beginning of cold weather in the fall.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil."

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished. We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS HAD A PURPOSE IN ALLOWING SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN THESE SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.

Why I Want My Husband Prosecuted.

"Although my two babies and I will no doubt suffer most by conviction in this case, I want the prosecution to go ahead and reach a speedy termination. It will add the final drop to our cup of bitterness, but I have chosen to put aside any consideration of our future in the hope that my course will add a mite toward a better day for all women and children."

"It is to hurry that day when little innocents like mine shall have better protection from the heartlessness and selfish passions of men, that I have not added my pleas to others alleged to have been made to delay or seek dismissal of the case against my husband and the other men involved."

"Long delays and tampering with such cases only serves to add to the incentives which cause men to desert their families and makes more difficult the combat against the alarming growth of sex sins in this country."

—Statement of Mrs. Elizabeth Caminetti—a mere slip of a girl—whose babies are the littlest figures in the Caminetti-Diggs white slave cases that have become of national import.

Anty Drudge—"Those children are worrying the life out of me to bake them huckleberry pie. But I daren't do it. It nearly kills me trying to rub the stains out of their clothes, as well as the table linen."

Anty Drudge—"That's 'cos you don't wash the Fels-Naptha way. Let the children have all the pie that's good for 'em. Fels-Naptha Soap and cold water will remove the stains in a jiffy."

The value of Fels-Naptha Soap depends on how it is used. Fels-Naptha will wash clothes in cool or lukewarm water. Used that way it saves time, money, health and hard work. Your clothes will be cleaner, fresher and wear longer.

Don't insist on boiling and hard rubbing in the old-fashioned way. Fels-Naptha isn't made for that.

THE PANAMA CANAL

And the Isthmus in History And Romance.

(BY EDWARD W. PICKARD)

Mr. Pickard is that type of globe-trotting authors who seeks the quaint and curious places and people as subjects for his clever descriptive articles. In his present series of twelve articles which we have arranged to print, he has touched not only the actual work of building the canal, and the people who have accomplished it, but has gone into what the newspaper worker knows as the side lines, and which as a rule are of as much interest as the main story. This is particularly true in this case. After our readers have completed the last of Mr. Pickard's articles they will have a better understanding of the Panama Canal, and conditions within and surrounding the canal zone. (The first article of the series will be printed in our issue of July 17th)

Obituary.

In the natural course of events it has pleased the Almighty God to take from our home and carry to the world where there is no trouble or sorrow, our beloved friend and relative, Albert Ray Minner.

He was born in Crittenden county, Kentucky, August 12th, 1891 and died in Scott county, Missouri, June 10th, 1913. He leaves to mourn their loss a wife, one child, a father, brother, and numerous friends. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Levi Bess at Morley, where a large concourse of relatives and friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. He was a faithful and devoted father and husband and an attentive and obedient son. His presence will be missed in many ways. God's way is best however, and we must submit to Him who doeth all things well. We express our sincerest sympathy to the heart-broken family and lovingly commend them to that grace which is sufficient for all.

TRICE BENNETT ANNOUNCES

For County Attorney.

I take this method of making known to the citizens of Crittenden County my candidacy for County Attorney. Realizing the many responsibilities resting upon the various officials and having acquainted myself fully with the duties imposed upon this particular branch of our local government, I ask you honestly and fairly to honor me with your support.

I deem it fairness to the voters and justice to myself to say that I was graduated from the Law School of Central University of Kentucky in June 1907 going immediately to Marietta, Oklahoma where I engaged in the practice of Law until October 1st, 1911 when circumstances over which I had no control demanded my return to Kentucky since which time I have farmed on the Ohio below Tolu.

I shall conduct a fair, clean and legitimate campaign for the nomination, and election for this office and shall present myself before you strictly upon my own merits, and not upon the demerits of any person or persons who might oppose me. Having a high regard for the citizenship of this County I promise you that I shall not cast reflections of discredit upon friend or foe for the purpose of advancing my cause.

Should I be chosen by you to serve you as your County Attorney it shall be my pleasure to serve you in a firm, courteous and constant manner, striving for honor to both you and myself. Respectfully asking your support and influence in the Democratic primary election to be held August 2nd, 1913; I am,
Yours very truly,
T. C. Bennett.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stongle, Plainfield, N. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and now eat almost everything that I want. For sale by

MAUDE HURLEY

Appointed Deputy Collector For Paducah Port.

The Paducah Sun has this to say of one of our girls:

Through the recommendation of United States Senator Ollie M. James, Miss Maude Hurley, formerly of Marion, Ky., has been appointed deputy collector of customs for the Paducah port. Her appointment came this morning in a telegram from Warner Kinkead, collector of customs.

Effective July 1 the office of surveyor of customs held by Walter A. Blackburn, clerk of the United States district court here, went out of existence with the Taft consolidation order going into effect. For Kentucky there is now only a collector of customs stationed at Louisville and a deputy for Paducah. The duties of Miss Hurley are practically the same as those performed by Judge Blackburn.

WALNUT GROVE

As this the fifth day of July is a memorable day in the history of my life, I will tell some of the happenings. Just fifty years ago today, though it was on Sunday, July 5th, 1863, at Lebanon, Ky., myself and something near 300 Yanky soldiers were completely gobbled up by the famous Confederate raider, John Morgan. After we surrendered they made us run at break neck speed for nine miles. About the first half through dust, whoopee but it was hot. The other half through mud and water knee deep in some places and a heavy down pour of rain, and starving for a drink and could not get a drop. That may sound strange to some, but it is facts. That night I like to have frozen to death, and it was as hot weather as it ever gets to be. Little did I think that fifty years in the future would I be sitting at my desk, in my own little home, children all grown and me trying in my feeble way to describe to the public and the generation that was then unborn. Only a small part of the happenings though it will remain fresh in my memory just as long as I stay above the sod, though nearly all of our dear old boys who took part in that day's struggle, have answered the last roll call and passed over the border line. I call them dear because of the fact after after being with them and sharing the hardships of army life for over three years, we can't help but have a kind feeling for each and all of them while some of them were better men morally than some others while it is true enough, we were all bad enough. So far as moral character goes, some may fault me for some of my sayings but I am simply stating facts.—H. M. Riley.

PLEASANT GROVE

We are in need of a general rain. Ice cream suppers are the main go, at present. Our hustling road overseer, John Coon, is doing some fine work on our road, especially near Green Belt's farm. He did away with a dangerous bridge and put in a rock fill which we think is cheaper at time of building and will be good for several years to come. Luck to you, John. G. B. Belt and family were guests of George M. Barnes and family Sunday. Preaching at Pleasant Grove every second Saturday and Sunday by N. C. Lamb, of Dawson Springs. He is an old time preacher.

Hay cutting is in order with us now. Revs. Suggs and Dunning passed through our settlement on their way to preach at Dittney and Blooming Rose. May the good Brothers be successful in their calling.—Rambler.

NEW SALEM

Wm. Belt has a very sick child at his house, at present. Mrs. Mont Davenport is improving slowly after quite a spell of sickness. We'll, to say the least of it, this part of Crittenden Co., is the bottom dog, so far as a crop for this year is concerned. We have had practically no rain since the 10th of April. Pastures will burn, stock water played out, corn toasting out knee high, gardens a thing of the past, meadows not over 25 per cent of a crop, tobacco a thing of the past. To sum the whole matter up with 70 per cent of the people in debt it looks quite gloomy.

Mrs. R. B. Brown, of Crayne, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Mont Davenport.

Mrs. Florence Harpending and children, of Salem, are the guests of her husband's parents.

The blackberry crop is a short one. We were down at Cross Roads Saturday and failed to find either Judge Stevens or Col. Rappolee. The Colonel was out among the boys, telling them to remember August 2nd, and we were informed that the Judge was taking a course of treatment of our Ginseng syrup. Judge, go by directions or she might flounder you.

With the drouth, the infernal chiggers and dog days on us, and snake medicine no closer than Evansville, a man had better keep in the shelter of his cabin.

Uncle Albert Childress, of the Bluff section, suffered a heated prostration last week. He is slowly improving.

Our old friend G. C. Kirk, was in this section last week. Crit says he knows who will draw the lucky cards August 2nd.

CHAS. WHITE DIES AT AGE OF NINETY

As Superintendent for Whitestone He Built Many Large Structures.

Mr. J. B. White of the eclipse mines was called to Louisville on account of the illness of his father. The Post of Tuesday has the following account of the death of elder Mr. White. "Mr. Charles White, an old-time builder and architect and the oldest member of the congregation of St. Patrick's Catholic church, died at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James McKenna, at Fairfield, Nelson county; Ky. Death was due to infirmities of age and came after a long illness.

Mr. White was born ninety years ago in Dublin, Ireland. He came to this county when a young man and settled in Albany more than seventy-five years ago. Shortly thereafter he located in Louisville and resided here the later part of his life.

For many years previous to the Civil war Mr. White was employed as building superintendent by the celebrated Louisville architect, Whitestone and in this capacity he supervised the building of the Galt House and of many of the palatial residences of ante-bellum days in Louisville. After Mr. Whitestone's death Mr. White established himself in the contracting and building business under the firm name of White & Hughes, and the firm enjoyed a large patronage.

Mr. White was, as stated, the oldest member of St. Patrick's Catholic church and was always prominent in the affairs of this Catholic diocese. He was a very charitable man, although his gifts were given unostentatiously. He was particularly interested in the convent of the Good Shepherd, and he was one of the most generous contributors to that institution. He was also a prominent member of the St. Vincent dePaul Society.

Mr. White is survived by three children, Mrs. McKenna, James B. White, of Marion, and M. J. White, of Butte, Mont. The remains will be brought to Louisville for burial."

INJURIES FATAL TO YOUNG CURTIN

Youth Whose Skull Was Fractured While Diving Died at Infirmary.

The Louisville Post of Tuesday evening has the following account of the death of a brother of Mrs. J. B. White, of this city. Mrs. White has many friends here who will sympathize deeply with her in this bereavement.

"John Philip Curtin, aged eighteen years, the son of Cornelius A. Curtin, architect, succumbed shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Infirmary to injuries received while swimming July 4.

Curtin, with several companions, was swimming and diving from a canoe near the Turner's summer camp, and one of the boys dove and struck Curtin as his head emerged from the water. Both boys were dazed but recovered in time to swim to the canoe.

After working at his father's office in the Columbia building Saturday morning, Curtin complained of being ill and was taken home. His parents thought that he had been overcome by the heat and a physician was summoned. Early Saturday afternoon he lapsed into unconsciousness and was hurriedly removed to St. Joseph's Infirmary, where he remained in an unconscious condition until the end came yesterday afternoon. It was found his skull was fractured.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius A. Curtin, and three sisters, Miss Alice Curtin, Mrs. Lyne Smith, of Covington, Ky., and Mrs. James B. White, of Marion, Ky."
