FINAL SURVEY FOR ELECTRIC RAIL ROAD BEGINS IMMEDIATELY.

Twenty-six Prominent Farmers and Business Men Guarantee Cost of Survey—Ultimate Building of Line Through Livingston County Absolute Certainty.

Messrs. J. B. Trail and J. E. Massey met with the citizens of Smithland, Tuesday, and succeeded in securing sufficient pledges of financial support to guarantee that the final survey for the electric railway will be begun right away. The survey which will include a commercial report as well as a determining of the best route and the actual cost of construction. When it is completed it is said that the company has every arrangement for working capital to begin actual construction.

A railroad is not built in a day. The promoters of this one do not promise to have this one up and running next week or next month but they do make the assurance that it will be built in due course of time. They have been quietly at work for two years now and have completed all the worrisome and time consuming detail work and with the proper support of the people along this division of the route it will be but a remarkably short time until we will have transportation facilities that are quick and unfailing.

When the road is built, and that it will be built now appears as certain as anything in this life can be, old Livingston county will at last take its rightful place in the lead of all Kentucky counties for we have the natural resources that it takes to make a wealthy community—natural resources that have lain dormant for ages waiting for nothing only transportation facilities to make this the garden spot of the world not only from a stand point of an ideal place to live but a place where the capitalist and laborer can find an unequalled field for exploitation.—Livingston Banner.

Presbyterian Church Owns Publishing House.

Nashville, Tenn., July 28.—In a decision announced today Judge Edward T. Sanford, of the Federal Court, decided that the Cumberland Presbyterian Publishing House property here must be operated for the use and benefit of the Presbyterian church, United States of America, which is to have its benefit in its denominational work. The publishing house is now in the hands of a Cumberland Presbyterian Board of Publication. The Presbyterians, it was announced, were not entitled to a decree determining what persons are lawful members of the Board of Publication.

Marshall A. S. Cannan, Again.

Thursday night the City Council met in called session and elected A. S. Cannan city marshal, the office having been declared vacant on account of the absence of former Marshall J. F. Loyd in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Cannan served the city most acceptably as marshal for several years, and when he resigned to take a position as section foreman for the I. C. railroad there was general regret. He has many, and loyal friends, who will be delighted that he is again the city's guardian of the peace.

Getting Interested.

"I can't get interested in missions!" exclaimed a young girl, petulantly, and, if truth must be told, a bit superciliously, as she left one of our thrilling missionary meetings in company with an older lady, presumably an aunt or other relative.

We were near enough to hear her answer:

"No, dearie," came the pitying response, "t isn't to be expected you should—yet awhile. It's just like getting interest in a bank; you have to put in a little something first; and the more you put in, the more interest—time or money or praying, it doesn't matter which. But something you have to put in, or you never will have any interest. Try it, dearie—just put in a little something, and you're sure of the interest."—The King's own.

Report of S. S. Convention Held at Mt. Zion.

The eastern division of this county held its annual S. S. convention at Mt. Zion July 17.

There was a very large crowd present of which a large number were enthusiastic workers in the Sunday school cause.

After devotional exercises led by F. F. McDowell the work on the program was taken up.

Miss Maud L. Dance one of our state workers was present and handled her subject well. We also had good talks from two of our county officers, Mrs. H. N. Lamb and Miss Edna Roberts.

There were six ministers present two of whom gave us a good talk, Rev. J. M. Cook and Rev. B. F. Hyde. There were also ten Supt. present, 25 teachers and 10 other officers.

There were 18 schools represented and all made good reports.

There were 4 choirs all of which did their best. The prize being awarded to the Juvenile choir at Sugar Grove. The people of Mt. Zion did everything to make this convention a success and we can truly say that this was one of the best (if not the best) conventions we have ever held.

Friends let us be encouraged and labor to make our convention next year the best in the history. Like our excellent president Mr. E. F. Dean let us have undaunted faith entiring energy believing we shall be well able to possess the land, making Crittenden a banner Co., in the Sunday school cause. All the former county officers were re-elected for another year.

The total amount contributed being $48.91.

Yours for service,
Jos. Foster Co. Sec'y.

Railroad Officials to Visit Marion.

Friday Aug. 1 at about 6:30 o'clock in the evening a special train of I. C. railroad officials will stop at the Marion station and as they are on tour of inspection and locating good things in good towns it would seem only proper for Marion's business men to turn out and meet these officials. If we want any good things the way to get them is to stand in with the powers that be. Let every body be on hand.

Sunday School Picnic at Tolu.

By invitation from Mr. Trice Bennett the Tolu Sunday school held their annual outing at the beautiful country home of Mr. Judson Bennett one mile out from Tolu at which many of the friends of Mr. Bennett were present it was indeed quite an enjoyable occasion to all present.

The good women brought baskets well filled with the good things to eat.

Mr. Trice had barbecued 3 spring lambs for the occasion, of course everybody enjoyed the dinner, but that was not all, the sociability of the occasion was after the old time sort, the music by the local string band as well as the Tolu choir was not to be excelled by any community. There were about one hundred and thirty present and you should have seen the little folks enjoy themselves swinging, playing hide and seek, and other games.

There were several of Mr. Bennetts friends from Marion. The home of Mr. Bennett is an ideal place for a picnic. Say Trice is a candidate for the nomination for county attorney and we are all for him down this way.

FOUR GENERATIONS AT FAMILY DINNER

Mrs. Susan Glenn's Descendants Surprise Her on Her 74th Birthday.

Thursday, July 24th, 1913, will long be remembered as one of the pleasantest days in the memory of Mrs. Susan Glenn, and her descendants most of whom met by appointment at her house on the date named to give her a surprise birth-day dinner and have a general family reunion. Mrs. Glenn was born July 24th, 1839, near Fredonia in the Bethlehem section of Caldwell county and was therefore 74 years of age. Her maiden name was, Susan Emeline Turley. Her only living child, a daughter, Mrs. Laura Butler, wife of the Hon. Albert Butler, of the Salem Hall, was among the first to arrive with her husband and all of her children and grand children, except Mrs. W. H. Summers, of Bridgeport Texas, were present, the list embracing the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby G. Butler and son, James Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Butler and daughter, Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel M. Butler and son, Henry Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Butler, Mrs. Roy K. Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryan and son, Robert Carter; other guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Gibbs, Miss Dottie Perkins, of Salem, Miss Margaret Moore, of this city. Each family brought a basket well filled with dainties and substantial all well prepared "just like mother used to make" which is enough said, for everything was there and in abundance, and each one enjoyed the splendid spread. The plan to serve dinner on the lawn was abandoned as there was some appearance of rain, so the dining room was arranged to suit the occasion and the table groaned under its burden of good things. After several pleasant hours spent together, all departed for their homes wishing mother, grandmother, and great grandmother Glenn many happy returns of the day. Mrs. Glenn received many mementos, all of which she prized very highly. Her grand-daughter, Miss Will Summers who could not attend, sent her a beautiful silver ladle.

Mrs. Nora Riddle Dies in Evansville.

Mrs. Nora Riddle, about 37, a former resident of Henderson, died Friday afternoon at her home in Evansville. The remains will be shipped to Henderson this morning for burial, services being held at 11 o'clock at the chapel at Fernwood cemetery.—Henderson Gleaner.

Mrs. Riddle was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McMullen of this city and they, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Nannie, were called to Evansville last week when it became known that their daughter was seriously ill in a hospital there. We learn that she died as the result of an operation. Mr. and Mrs. McMullen and Miss Nannie returned from Henderson Monday.

J. J. Bennett Dead.

News reached the city last week of the death of John Bennett at Dade City, Fla. He was a son-in-law of Mrs. Susan Glenn of this city.

Lectures Two Weeks and Makes Four Times as Much as For Being Secretary.

Washington, July 29.—William J. Bryan has returned to Washington from his first lecture tour after he became secretary of state. He comes back richer by nearly $2,000 than before he began his lectures, which have evoked so much criticism.

During the two weeks that Mr. Bryan has been on the lecture course his salary as secretary of state has been $461.50, while his income as a lecturer has been, as stated, over four times that amount, which shows why he is loath to part with the privilege of the Chautauqua circuit.

Figured very conservatively Mr. Bryan's first Chautauqua tour since becoming secretary of state has added to his accumulation as follows:

July 13, at Hendersonville, N. C.	$250.
July 17, Mountain Lake Park, Md., in excess of	250
July 20, Winona Lake, 2 Free
July 21, Gary, Ind.	375
July 20, Oelwein, Ind.	250
July 23, Adel, Iowa	500
July 23, Panora, Iowa	250

Mr. Bryan still sees no impropriety in lecturing for pay while he is secretary of state.

"Criticism is not only a part of public life but it is a good thing," he said. "It makes us careful. Unjust criticism reacts to overcome the harm it has done, when the facts become known."

Mr. Bryan calls this first Chautauqua tour a vacation trip and when he was asked if his salary went on while he was gone he said, with some heat:

"Why shouldn't I take a vacation? Men in other walks of life take a vacation. Don't their salaries go on?"

Card of Thanks.

I desire to thank the many kind friends and neighbors who so willingly and patiently assisted me in waiting on my grand-daughter, Lelia Lynn, during her last illness. May the blessings of God rest upon them all, is the prayer of her grand mother.

Mayfield, Ky., July 26.—William K. Thompson received injuries when he fell from a stack of hay that resulted in his death twenty four hours later. While stacking hay near Glade he fell off the stack onto a wagon and stuck a wagon standard in his right thigh, making an ugly wound four inches deep. It required two men to pull the stick from his body. He was a prominent man of Marshall county and a brother of Mrs. J. R. Lemon, of this city.

Chinch Bugs playing

Havoc With Crops.

West Point, Ky., July 29.—Farmers in the lowlands report considerable damage to the corn crop from chinch bugs. This is the first time chinch bugs have ever appeared here and the farmers believe that their presence is due to some deposit left by the recent floods as no complaint have come from the upland farmers.

WOMAN ASLEEP

WALKS STREETS OF ST. LOUIS ALONE

Three Men Take Charge and by Turning Her About Walked Her Home To Husband.

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—An unusual case of somnambulism has come to light here. Charles A. Marrs, 3203 Russel avenue, a passenger on a Compton car shortly after midnight Thursday while passing Park and Ohio avenue, was attracted at the sight of a young woman walking barefooted with arms outstretched and followed by two men.

Alighting and walking closer he saw the woman was clad only in a thin silk night dress, with her hair down her back in plaits. He noted further that while her eyes appeared wide open and staring, she appeared to grope her way. Lastly, he noted two large diamond rings on her fingers.

Marrs joined the two other men, and the three agreed they were following a somnambulist. They then took counsel as to how to proceed, and it was decided to get a doctor. A neighboring physician was aroused, but when told of the circumstances returned to bed with the parting shot that they could wake her up themselves.

Attempt to Arouse Her.

Again taking up the pursuit, the men followed her a block or two until they came to a saloon, agreeing that her decoyette appearance would prove an embarrassing situation in her waking moments. Marrs and his companions decided to take radical steps.

Marrs approached and spoke to the woman, but both questions and replies seemed to be misunderstood. Then individually they took turns shaking her, but the woman was not aroused.

"Well," said Marrs, to his companions, "we've got to get this young woman home some way. Let's just turn her around and start following her again, and ma be she will walk home. But we can't see her walk around in her bare feet, so I'm going to give her my shoes."

Put His Shoes on Her feet.

Marrs proceeded to take off his shoes—No 9's—and the woman complacently leaned for support on the other men, as Marrs drew the shoes on her feet. Then turned her about, urged her gently ahead and fell behind her.

The party strolled leisurely on until they approached the 2700 block on Rutger street, where they encountered a man, who stopped out of breath, with the embarrassed, but satisfied air of a man whose quest is ended.

"I'll take charge of her," he announced. "Not so fast," spoke up Marrs. "I started out to see this woman home. You may be her husband or you might be after those rings. Anyway those are my shoes, and if anything happened I would be held to blame."

The party walked on a little farther until in front of 2744 Rutger street, when a large black dog leaped out on the sidewalk, and rushing up to the party, greeted them with loud barks. The barks of the dog aroused the woman.

Woman Awakes, Then Faints.

Immediately upon becoming conscious she took in the situation in a bewildering glance, and then fainted. She was carried into the house, which proved to be her own home.

A reporter who went to the home Wednesday, learned the young woman was Mrs. Jennie Enbanks, 23 years old, wife of a street car inspector. "Mr. Enbanks said his wife retired as usual at 11 p. m. and he did not discover her disappearance for nearly an hour. He said she twice before had had similar experience.

Letter From New Mexico.

Portales, N. Mex., July 17, 1913. Mr. S. M. Jenkins,

Marion, Ky.

You may think I am bothering you a great deal, but I want you to change my paper from Mann, N. Mex., to Portales.

Our crops look right pretty, but we need rain so it will keep growing. We had a two weeks' rain the first of June and the water was up to my buggy bed in some places from my house to town. We are having some hot days now but the nights are so cool and pleasant. The wind blows hard all night, and one can sleep so good.

As I am writing, I will tell you and some of my old friends back there about what wife and I are doing. These long windy days I am trying to get the weeds out of my crop. I have in 60 acres in corn maize and California wheat. I am plowing four horses to a 2 row cultivator. It takes me two weeks to get it all plowed, besides doing or helping to do all the other work. We have 11 little orphan lambs, and are milking 6 cows, we have 275 young chickens, a lot of feed of all kinds and plenty of every thing that is good to eat.

I wish some of my old Kentucky friends would come out and spend awhile with us, as wife and I are alone, but we try to be as jolly as we can away out here. My wife has been almost passed going all summer with rheumatism, but is getting better now. I think she will soon be well again, as the picnics are getting plentiful and we have got some place to go.

Mr. Jenkins I will send you a check for $1.00 for the year of 1914.

As I am writing you a short letter, I will close with best wishes to all of my old Kentucky friends.

Case Knife Hid in One Tree And an Axe in Another.

About 25 years ago Joe Freeman stuck a case knife into a black oak sapling which stood in his yard, on the farm in the Providence county. The knife was never disturbed; Today the knife is completely hidden and only a scar remains to show where the knife is, the sapling having grown to a tree, three feet in diameter. Near the same place, an axe was placed in the fork of a white oak about 12 years ago. It is also completely hidden. — Dixon Journal.

Ballard's SNOW LINIMENT

Is the Right Remedy for All Abrasions of the Flesh.

If the wound is cleansed and the liniment applied promptly, the healing process begins at once and the wound heals from the inside outwardly, thus performing a perfect cure that leaves no scar. If the wound heals on the outside too quickly, pus forms under the surface and breaks out into a running sore that is hard to cure and inevitably leaves a bad scar.

Owners of wooded stock prefer this liniment to all others for that reason, and they use it not only on fine animals, but on human flesh, as it does its work quickly and thoroughly.

It Might be Worse.

A learned professor says that the girls of two thousand years ago wore the same kind of dresses they do now. Possibly and two thousand years before that they didn't wear any at all. Things are not as bad as they might be.—Tampa Times.

A Request.

Bear in mind that it is the aim of the editor of this column to record the going and coming and social events of Marion for the entertainment of the Crittenden Record-Press readers. Items of this nature can only be obtained through information. Entertainments and visitors might possibly remain unnoticed unless some one gives the details to the paper. An effort is always made to give details in the paper, but the best source must be through the host or hostess themselves. The society editor does not intentionally overlook anybody, but the paper can not just know all things; somebody must give the news in. Why not by the people themselves? This is the custom in larger cities and in all polite society, why not in Marion? Give in the news, and while it is news, and that means fresh; don't hold it back until it is stale and will not be read with interest.

Thanksgiving Monument.

In the heart of the main plaza of the little Indian village of Jamay, on the shore of Lake Chapala, in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, stands a remarkable monument. The pedestal is built of brick and concrete, while the statue of Pope Pius IX, which crowns it is made of concrete. There are two noticeable features about this monument. Firstly, the Pope faces in two directions, having no back to his figure, and, secondly, the monument, costing something like fifteen thousand pesos, was erected in fulfillment of a vow made by certain devout Indians of Jamay some fifty years ago, when a terrific pestilence, probably smallpox, carried off more than half the inhabitants of the village. The survivors prayed to the saints to avert the pestilence, but apparently without result. They then prayed to the Pope at Rome, vowing to build the monument should the curse of the plague be removed. The pestilence disappeared soon after and the monument, the result of the contribution of some article of jewelry or a day's labor of every Indian left alive in Jamay, was promptly erected.—Wide World Magazine.

PRESS AND PULPIT.

There is refreshing novelty in an unqualified declaration by an eminent clergyman that the press is a mightier power for morality than the pulpit.

It is a fact, becoming daily more and more obvious, that the power of the press is a mightier force for good.

But Dr. Peters is putting it rather strongly when he says that the press is taking the place of the pulpit. Each has its own place and function, and one cannot replace the other.

Each can supplant the other, both can work, each in its own way, toward the same end. They can bring about results in the public conscience that may sometimes seem to be alike.

But there is a vast difference. The pulpit appeals to the few whose ideas are perfect morality. It steadily elevates that ideal and cultivates enthusiasm and activity in making the ideal applicable in the everyday lives of those who accept it. It puts the heaven into the human life.

The press appeals to the mass. Moral teaching is not its prime purpose. The press is a mirror that reflects mankind as it is. The world may look on it and see itself. The bad is there as well as the good, and more bad than good because truth requires it.

But the press is a great leveler. It brings all mankind into a common understanding of life, to the vast mass that the pulpit cannot directly reach the press carries the heaven that pulpit gives to a class. It brings all men into knowledge of the ideal.

The torch burns true, it may be said that the press gives moral light to the world; but if it does not supply the torch—it does not take the place of the pulpit.

The press is one of the most matter-of-fact institutions in the world. Good people are prone to complain of it because it does not preach more and portray less. They mistake its mission and misunderstand its condition.

The press is a senseless series of living pictures of the punishment that follow crimes, of the suicides that follow sins, of the want and despair that comes of improvidences or unjust conditions, of the successes that come of right endeavors, of the joys that are linked with honest loves, and of the sweet and serene old age that ripens with righteous living.—Selected.

Committee Organization.

Owing to the fact that next Saturday is primary election day the meeting of the newly elected district committeemen of the Stemming District Association, will take place at Marion, Monday, August 4th., to form a new County organization.

At that time a county chairman will be elected, who will become a member of the District Board. This is a very important place, especially at this time as a large part of the old crop of tobacco is on hands to be disposed of, and other matters of importance coming up that will affect the interests of the tobacco growers of the county.

We think that if possible a man who has had experience on the district board should be elected at this time. There is some times a disposition on the part of the committeemen to pass the office around from one district to another regardless of the qualification of the man. That is a very short-sighted policy. It is of much more importance to the growers that their business be attended to properly than that a certain man or a certain section of the county have the chairmanship. There are men in the county who have had experience on the board and who are in every way qualified for the position but if the board should conclude to get a man we think that they should use their best judgment and not elect him merely because he happens to live in a certain part of the county.

To the Republican Voters of Crittenden County.

I am asking for your support for the nomination for Superintendent of Schools. You confided in me this trust once and I am perfectly willing that my work be compared along all lines of educational progress with that of my successor, the present incumbent. You must remember it fell to my lot to put into practice the present school law and it is with satisfaction that I note the very few changes that have been made.

I am frank to tell you that it is not altogether for glory or philanthropy that I aspire to take up the duties of the office again as my opponent seems to impress in his last weeks card as his desire. I feel the laborer is worthy of his hire and that I can perform the duties of the office as well as the present incumbent I need the emoluments of the office and would strive sincerely to earn every cent I receive.

He seems to impress the idea that he is serving for "the love of the work," but bear in mind that in addition to drawing his salary he has the tax payers to partly pay for his official bond. In all the bonds I filled the cost to the county was not a cent.

He says the actuating "principal" in all his work has been the well being of Crittenden's "Childhood." This shall not only be my principle but practice. On account of the examination being late, June 20 and 21, I have had but very little time to see you. I leave my case in your hands and any favors shown will be appreciated. I solicit your vote and influence.

Sincerely yours,
John B. Paris.

Hickman Man Gets

$1,500,000 Contract.

The largest single levee contract ever let by the United States was contracted last week and C. T. Bondurant, of Hickman, was the successful bidder, together with his associates, Leonard & Jennings. This million and a half dollar deal is for 5,000,000 yards of enlargement and bankette work and is all in Arkansas. It covers a distance of more than one hundred miles and will take a large force of men two years to complete the work. This contract was made by St. Francis Levee Board, who will expect the work to begin within the next 30 days.

Mr. Bondurant will open an office in Memphis, under the firm name of Bondurant, Leonard & Jennings, for the handling of this big job. Bondurant was also the lowest bidder on what is known as the White river work, which embraces something over 450,000 yards—by no means a small contract.—Hickman Courier.

BRAIN LEAKS.

BY F. S. LOYD.

Uncle Billie Loyd says he never saw but one woman in his life that wouldn't marry, and she was dead.

Miss Mattie Smith stepped into Albert Elder's store the other day and said, "I want a pair of shoes." "What number? Mattie." "Number 2." "This shoe you just pulled off is a number 4." "Yes, I know that, but it has stretched horribly."

"Florence," said Dan Patton, sharply. "That young man you had in the parlor last night is dull of comprehension. All I had to do was cough when the other chaps remained too late, and they would take the hint and depart. Did this one say anything when I coughed last night?" "Yes, papa, he said the next time he called he was going to bring you some cough drops."

Bro. Oakley says, "Amen without ambition" is as useless as a last year's dog license.

Henry Rice says girls should not have beaus until they are old enough to say "yes" and wear long dresses.

Carter Jones said to Mr. Patterson the other day, "I want a bail of hay." "Is it for your father?" asked Mr. Patterson. "No, its for calves, my father don't eat hay."

A dog came trotting into Crayne yesterday and stopped at the postoffice long enough to look in. Jesse McCaslin was dozing on the inside and hearing a loose plank rattle on the porch, hollowed and said, "there was no mail for you, today."

Uncle Dock Green says it is a pity all men can't be as upright and as worthy as the candidates for office this year.

Newt Dollar says some men are too tender hearted to beat a rug, these hot days.

Jim Hughes, of Fredonia, says no man is happy unless he thinks he is.

Mr. Carlton says bachelor quarters may be exchanged for better halves.

Mrs. Effie Baker says "my husband says my cooking gives him inspiration." Daddy guesses he means indignation, doesn't he.

Daddy Loyd said to Sam Watson the other day, "Why don't you try jollying your wife a little, its easy to tell her she's looking younger and more beautiful every day." "I tried that once and she nailed me for some money to go to Marion to have her picture taken."

The other day a lady stepped into Bille Cox's store, he said, "how do you do, Mrs. Green. It is quite a long time since you have been here." "My name is Brown." "Oh, I beg your pardon, for I'm colorblind."

The other day a man came up to Jesse McCaslin and said, "what's the matter, old man? You look worried." "I have cause to be, I hired a man to trace my pedigree." "Well, what's the trouble? Hasn't he been successful?" "Successful, I should say he has. I'm paying him hush money."

The other day a woman entered the railway train crowded with summer tourists, and happened to take a seat in front of a new married couple from Fredonia. She was hardly seated before the couple began making remarks about her which some of the passengers must have heard. Her last year's bonnet and duster were freely criticised with more or less giggling on the bride's part, and there is no telling what might have come next if the woman had not put a sudden stop to the conversation by a bit of clever woman strategy. She turned her head noticing the bride was considerably older than the bridegroom, and in the sweetest of a tone said, "Madam will you please have your son take his feet from the back of my seat?"

Mrs. S. Hodge Improved.

The many friends of Mrs. S. Hodge, who has been seriously sick the past few weeks, will be pleased to hear that she is much improved. Her daughter, Mrs. John Jackson, has returned to her home at Otter Pond, while her other daughters, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Moore, are still at her bedside. —Princeton Leader.

Paducah Minister Condemns Modern Dances

Paducah, Ky., July 28.—At the union services at the Broadway Methodist church the Rev. W. A. Fite, pastor of the First Christian church, condemned the modern dances, such as the turkey trot, tango and other inappropriate names for modest dances and urged the ministers of Paducah to take a firm stand against them. He said they were corrupt and disgraceful. He referred to the society hall at Lexington, Ky., as a shocking sight. The Rev. Mr. Fite is the first Paducah preacher to publicly censure the late dances.

Accident To Motorcyclist.

A terrible accident occurred last Friday when Ernest and Roy Thompson were both riding one and the same motorcycle. They were on their way to Fulton via Dukedom, when the heel of Roy's shoe caught in the chain of the machine, and the heel of his foot was terribly mangled, severing the large leader and tearing out a part of the bone. It will be several weeks or months before he will be able to walk.

Mr. Grouch—"I'm going to have the gas range taken out! I won't pay another bill this size! It's using the range all day on washday that costs so much."

Anty Drudge—"Do stop fussing about that bill! Just get your wife a cake of Fels-Naptha Soap. You won't have any more quarrels, because she doesn't need to use hot water, and can save gas."

Certainly no woman would deliberately make part of her work twice as hard and take twice as long as is necessary.

Yet that is what the woman is doing who clings to the old-fashioned way of washing clothes.

Fels-Naptha Soap will do all the hard work, will get the dirt out of the clothes without boiling or hard rubbing, in half the time, and in cool or lukewarm water.

Just follow the easy directions on the Red and Green Wrapper.

The party was returning to Elgin from the automobile speedway when the machine crashed into a tree. Miss O'Connor may die.

Pikeville, Ky., July 29.—Weeksbury is the name of a new mining town springing up with mushroom growth on the left fork of Beaver creek in Floyd county. This town was named in honor of Messrs. The little city is located on the properties of the Beaver Creek Fuel Co., and will become the home of many of the officials of this wealthy company. It is located only a short distance from the mouth of the creek, and is on the new line of railroad now being constructed up that creek.

Champion Snake Hunter.

Seven thousand rattlesnakes have bitten the dust in Pike county, since 1887, all victims of the twisted stick and other implements of destruction in the hands of Jack MacDonnell of Lord's Valley. He declares he has been bitten a dozen times but that he had rather take his chances with a venomous rattler than an ugly dog.

Twenty-six years in this hazardous life has dealt lightly with the veteran snake killer. He still makes his living selling the skins of reptiles, which net him from $2.50 to $3.00. They are used in the manufacture of belts and pocket books.

The fat of the snakes MacDonnell melts into an oil which he distributes free of charge among his friends and neighbors to be used in the treatment of earache, stiff joints, and rheumatism.—Kentuckian.

Stiff Joints

are relieved at once by an application of Sloan's Liniment. Don't rub, just lay on lightly.

"Sloan's Liniment has done more good than anything I have ever used for stiff joints. I got my hand hurt so badly that I had to stop work right in the busiest time of the year. I thought at first that I would have to have my hand taken off, but I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and cured my hand."—WILSON WILKINSON, Morris, Ala.

Good for Broken Sinews

G. G. JONES, Baldwin, La., writes: "I used Sloan's Liniment for broken sinews above the knee caused by a fall and to my great satisfaction was able to resume work in less than three weeks after the accident."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Fine for Sprain

MR. HENRY A. VOHL, 84 Somerset St., Plainfield, N. J., writes: "A friend sprained his ankle so badly that it was black. He laughed when I told him that I would have him out in a week. I applied Sloan's Liniment and in four days he was working and said Sloan's was a right good Liniment."

Obliging Her.

The sweet young thing was being shown through the Baldwin locomotive works.

"What is that thing?" she asked, pointing with her dainty parasol.

"That," answered the guide, "is an engine boiler."

She was an up-to-date young lady and at once became interested. "And why do they boil engines?" she inquired again.

"To make the engine tender," promptly replied the resourceful guide.—Pennysylvania Punch Bowl.

For Cuts, Burns And Bruises

In every home there should be a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, ready to apply in every case of burns, cuts, wounds or scalds. J. H. Polanco, Delvalle, Texas, R. Snyder, of the Model Grocery Company. The reptile was killed and embalmed by Mr. Snyder, who narrowly escaped its fangs while unloading the bananas.

Travel Talks.

How to Save When Traveling

(BY ZYLLA MOORE CARDIN.)

(Part III.)

TO EUROPE ON DIMES.

Since Uncle Sam has organized his postal savings-bank over the whole country, there is no reason why you may not see any country you want to badly enough, to save for it, to work for the wherewithal to save, and to study plans of procedure so there need be no useless waste of money, and a little may be made to go a long way. Whether you most want to see Paris, Rome, Vienna, or Algiers, the system is the same.

How much have you in your pocket-book? A dollar. Very good, that is enough to open an account. Now, suppose you were dropped down in your city of dear desires, what could you see on that amount? For fifty cents, you answer, you could take street car rides on which you could see many of the famous public buildings and parks, note the dress and characteristics of the people on the street, and study the style of architecture peculiar to the place. Bright scholar, stand head!

You have the idea exactly. The finest things a city has to show you are the cheapest seen. Your first business then is to get a good guide book of the city, and a history of the country. In a vague way, you know what attracts you to that city above all others; now begin and study each feature until it acquires definiteness in your mind. Find out what there is to be seen, what it will cost, and the best method of seeing it.

Since you don't want to have either the expense or the annoyance of a guide, you must learn something of the spoken language of that country, be able to recognize enough of the printed and written language to read the signs on cars, buildings, and bulletin-boards. The best text-books for your purpose are the self-taught series, which give the phonetic pronunciation of words and phrases a traveler needs. For twenty-five cents, booklets, containing classified vocabularies, phrases, and conversations in regard to commercial, trading, legal, and religious matters, cycling and motoring, photography, amusements, money, weights and measures, naval and military terms, breakfast, dinner, tea, railway and steamboat service, hotel arrangements, and a simplified grammar, may be obtained of the French, German, Italian, and Spanish languages. In other languages they cost fifty cents.

You can't learn languages? I can sympathize with you, because I have a hollow where my bump for acquiring them ought to be; still, we can get a working smattering that is ninety-nine per cent better than nothing. Many will tell you that you can get anywhere on English alone; but, having traveled much abroad, I feel I can not urge too strongly on you the advisability of learning a few words every day.

I favor a regular kindergarten method of learning a currency. In New York, for a small premium, American money can be exchanged for the currency of any other country. Learn the money by handling it. If you read in one of your guide-books that the fare between two places is so much, take out your purse and count out the money. Also, suppose all sorts of accounts to yourself and pay them off, until you can use the currency of that country with as little thought as you do to your own and with as perfect an appreciation of what it ought to buy.

In reading biographies of famous people who have lived in, or visited your city, you will find some historic eating place mentioned as having been frequented by them; decide to go there for lunch on the other half of your first dollar. You see, you are going to have plenty to be studying while saving your money; for this has persuaded you to begin, hasn't it?

The real fun and secret of a continued interest in saving is to apply every sum to a specific purpose. Therefore take a note-book and write the name of a day at the top of each page. Divide each page into seven divisions and write in them breakfast, lunch, dinner, lodging, transportation, entrance fees and tips, and miscellaneous expenses. As you make a deposit in bank, mark out the division or divisions that sum is to pay. Even the heavy steamboat charge will not seem prohibitive when divided into days.

When, at last, after perhaps several years of effort, you stand on a ship outward bound, waving an adieu to your own land, you will carry with you an equipment far more valuable than your visible possessions—a way of finding out what you want and getting it, persistency in effort, and a habit of conquering difficulties.

A very wise man once said, if not in just these words, at least with this meaning: "He who has once read understandingly a great book, can never after that be called an uneducated man." The same is true of one who has studied thoroughly the history, habits, and occupations of one nation.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Marion citizen can be easily investigated. What better proof can be had?

G. W. L. Nesbitt, Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney disease had made me an invalid. I was often in bed for two weeks at a time. No tongue can describe my suffering. I often wished that death would come and end my misery. The kidney secretions became highly colored and my limbs were badly swollen. My sight failed and doctors had little hope for my recovery. I could hardly hold my hands above my head, in fact, my right side was paralyzed. I had lost all hope when a relative advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I finally consented to give this remedy a trial, and a box was procured at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. I improved from the first and after I had finished one box, I was so greatly relieved that I felt confident I had at last found something that would cure me. One by one the symptoms of the trouble left and in three months I was a well man, attending to my business in the usual way. That Doan's Kidney Pills are the greatest remedy in the world for kidney disease, is a fact of which I am firmly convinced."

NO TROUBLE SINCE. On Feb. 3rd, 1912, Mr. Nesbitt said: "I still believe Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy. I have not used them in over a year. You are at liberty to publish my former endorsement."

The Boosting Editor.

Editors are all born boosters. The other day the editor was solicited to join a lodge and was handed a petition printed by a supply house; he got a dun from a merchant in a government stamped envelope and written on a gargling oil statement; he made a purchase at a store and got a duplicate bill printed in Chicago, and wrote a check on a blank printed in Denver. Ye Gods! how can an editor be expected to join lodges and pay bills on such treatment as that and all the time tell the people to trade at home? Ever think of it? Editors have to be born boosters, prepared to live on dried herring and stand for anything.—Hillboro Journal.

County School Superintendent Travis Stands on His Own Record

of Crittenden County.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination and re-election to the office of County School Superintendent. I hope that I am not coming to you a stranger, for I have tried for the past four to years make my influence felt in every nook and corner of the county for better schools. I know, as does ever one else that has been closely associated with me in the work, that there are many things yet to be done before the schools can accomplish what a "real school" is expected to do. I think I know as well as any man in the county what and where these needs are. Give me time and your cooperation and the work will be done.

While I have been a life-long Republican I do not claim that the party owes me a single thing. I am what I am from honest convictions and principal. While I believe in the principles of the Republican party, and cast my vote that way. I feel that I am, in a great measure, free from partisanship or party prejudices, especially in the administration of the public affairs of the office which I hold. I have tried to do my duty fearlessly. I do not think that it can be truthfully said by any one in the county that I have shown any marked degree of partiality to class or creed. The strongest motive—the actuating principle in all my work has been the welfare of Crittenden County's Child-hood.

I am in this race again because I love the work, not because of the money the office may pay, for that is not much. I realize that the office of County Superintendent is an important post among those whose business it is to shape the destinies of the future generations. It requires a man who can look beyond petty personal or party interest to the fallen child and grasp, and help to lift him to a common level where life may be made worth living. If you think that I am the man that will do this, vote for me.

I am making this race as I did before, on my own merits, and not on the demerits or faults of the other fellow. I am asking only fairness and justice which is due every one. I do not look upon our school fund as a charity fund—not one cent of it. Do not feel because the salary has been small (which it has been, unreasonably so) during this term, and must according to law be better next term, that you owe any part of it to me. If you think that I am the man that can do your children the greatest good while earning this salary then I earnestly solicit your vote and influence. I have no special promises to make. I can only say that I will ever hold myself in readiness to do my duty faithfully and fearlessly in the future as I have endeavored to do in the past.

You will find my name first in the column for County Superintendents on the ballot to be used at the August primary election.

I will appreciate your support as much as any one could, and return the favor by being the best officer that I may know how to be.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis.

Letter From a Subscriber.

Weston, Ky.,

July 27, 1913.

Dear Editor:

In regard to the "Fish Fry" held here I can express myself in no other words than these, that it certainly was enjoyed by all who attended.

The candidates of Crittenden county were all invited to attend and we were sorry that more of them were not there.

J. C. Spees was there and showed his hand at frying fish for us. We appreciated his work and will reward him by making him old Crittenden's next jailer.

I express the opinion of this section when I say that Spees is foremost in the campaign here, and we sincerely hope he is elsewhere. We believe in giving every man a square deal. If he thought enough of us to fry fish as accommodation we feel it our duty to do as we are done by even if it is a mere trifle.

He that is faithful in little things shall be made ruler over many things.

Every man ought to go to the "polls," Aug. 2nd. Let every man vote according to his own conscience, and may every man see fit to vote for Spees for although he is not a farmer he has the welfare of us at heart and I am sure he will make us the best jailer Crittenden county has ever had.

Some Red-Light Facts.

The following propositions, concerning the commercialized social evil, were read by the Rev. J. S. Lyons, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, at a meeting of the Central Committee of the Men's Federation at the home of Fred Gernert, last night. All the newspapers were especially requested to publish the following paragraphs.

First—The Red-Light District in Louisville can be closed up in a day, and can be closed out within a week.

Second—If it should be closed out, sporadic trouble would follow in various sections of the city; but this would disappear in a direct ratio to the efforts of the Police Department to suppress it.

Third—The beast of prostitution, with all of its horrible appetite and well known friends, is perfectly at home in Louisville. Its homes are by the hundreds, its lights are red with the glare of hell, and the street walker goes unhindered and unafraid upon our streets.

Fourth—A recognized red-light section or zone is an irresistible invitation to police corruption, and is no more a moral necessity in the municipal body than a tubercular lung is a physical necessity in a human body.

Fifth—The social evil is municipal tuberculosis. It is just as universal as tuberculosis, just as deadly, just as difficult to cure by known means; and it is just as important that we should wage a relentless warfare which enlists every resource of science and every enthusiasm of religion and patriotism.

Sixth—Whoever has power to deliver a blow, and fails to do so, is the enemy of the community, is a traitor to duty; and his half-brother is any one who counsels compromise through any half-way measures.

Seventh—When the brothel is attacked, listen to the growl of beast in the allied interest.

Eighth—The Police Department will not, and can not, effectually enforce the law against the social evil, unless there is an intelligent and determined public sentiment which demands such enforcement.

Ninth—There is no such adequate public sentiment in Louisville today, because ninety-nine out of every hundred people in the city are ignorant of the facts about the beast in this community.

Tenth—Will the newspapers of the city publish these facts, with a view towards the formation and expression of a moral public sentiment, which shall require a single standard of purity for men and women; publicity concerning owners of houses used for purpose of prostitution, especially emphasizing any such property which may belong to church members; brand the man who revels in the ruin of a woman as lower than a brute; strike for a cure and not for a palliative.

Eleventh—Will any one deny any of the statements made above? Listen for the growl.
