ELLIOTT BUSY IN ENGLAND

General Manager of Tobacco Association Has Sold 1,000 Hogsheads.

General manager Elliott, of the Stemming District Association, has been busy since arriving in England, and as a result of his efforts several nice sales of the prized weed has been closed. He is still in London and reports from him are to the effect that he is making sales almost daily to English and Irish buyers.

Since the remainder of the crop was placed in hogsheads it is stated that about 1,000 hogsheads have been disposed of at good prices. Five thousand hogsheads were prized and there yet remains unsold 4,000 hogsheads. Mr. Elliott expects to remain across the pond until all or a large portion of the unsold crop is sold.

Among the buyers who have gotten some of the tobacco is Thomas Gallaher, of Belfast, Ireland. Mr. Gallaher has changed his mind about the crop since he was in Henderson last winter. While here he was quoted as saying that the crop was very inferior and that he did not have a demand for anything except the best grades. Shipments are now being made to Gallaher firm from points over the district.

When Mr. Elliott left the city a few weeks ago he stated that he would remain in England until sales were made. That he is being successful will be good news to all members of the pool and other people generally. —Henderson Gleaner.

THE GOLCONDA NORTHERN R. R.

Near Our Borders the Steam Shovel Is At Work Making the Dirt Fly.

It looks like business up on the Golconda Northern Railroad the past week.

The company has an immense steam shovel at work, and believe us, it is throwing some dirt. This big machine was received a week ago and has been steadily at work now for several days. It requires a large number of teams to haul the dirt it scoops up, the shovel's capacity being something like four or five yards a minute, or upwards of 200 yards per hour.

The machine was put to work at the north end of the Illinois Central's track above the incline and is grading at this time on Michel land, between the seven sycamores, and the I. C. tracks.

With the work progressing thus rapidly, and with the large amount of road which is already completed, namely, from Sam Clark's to the seven sycamores, it should not be many months until the entire road to the mines would be ready for the rolling stock. —Carrsville Enterprise.

Miss Stella Phillips, of Colon, won the 50 yard dash.

Harry Moore, of Glendale, won the sack race.

TRICE BENNETT

The Farmer Candidate for County Attorney. A gifted lawyer graduate of Center College, at Danville, Ky., one of the best law schools in Kentucky, from which such eminent men as Carlisle, Breckinridge and Proctor Knott, graduated. He is not only capable but honest and sober, a Christian who adds honor and dignity to Crittenden county's good name. Trice Bennett is a gentleman in every sense the word implies. He has a license to practice in Kentucky courts and the United States courts and has only to be sworn in after the election at the Marion Bar to be ready to look after the county's business. Your vote and influence solicited and will be appreciated.

The County Clerk's Office.

One of the most important officers to be elected next Tuesday by the voters of Crittenden county, is the County Clerk. His duties require him not only to record the deeds and mortgages and other papers that may be filed with him, but he also keeps the records of the proceedings of the county and fiscal courts. During the course of the year almost every citizen in the county has some business in the County Clerk's office or with the County Clerk in looking up records, filing deeds, mortgages or other papers, etc., and it is to the interest of citizens that we have a man in the office, who will be courteous, accommodating and competent. We think Mr. Howard Phillips is one who will meet all the requirements of the office if elected.

He is a man above reproach in character, of kind and courteous disposition and of education and natural ability sufficient to render him entirely competent. He has been a farmer all his life and is not afraid of hard work, and, if elected he will devote his entire time and attention to the service of the citizens of Crittenden county in the duties of his office.

TEN BIG ENTERTAINMENTS

Scheduled for This Season's Lyceum Course.—Includes Five Musical Programs.

Our Lyceum Course for the coming season is bigger and better than ever, that is, better and higher priced talent than we have ever had before has been contracted for. It is a lecture and entertainment course and one that should appeal to everyone who enjoys instruction and good wholesome entertainment. There are to be five high class musical programs; an evening of impersonations by John B. Ratto; a program of interpretations by Everett Kemp; and lectures by Dr. Edward Amherst Ott, Dr. E. T. Hagerman, William Rainey Bennett.

The course is under the auspices of the Marion City School and the entertainments will be held in the School Auditorium. Since last season the Auditorium has been re-seated with attractive and comfortable opera chairs, making it the best Auditorium in town for such entertainments.

We believe in the Lyceum and believe that the management should be in the hands of the school. It furnishes entertainment, instruction and enthusiasm to a large number of the students. And Pres. Van Hise, of Wisconsin University, says that the field of knowledge is broadening so rapidly, that, for the people to have an active appreciation and an accurate understanding of the age in which they live, the school must provide instruction for parents as well as their children. Then there is a growing sentiment that it is the duty of the school to furnish good wholesome entertainment for its community. We want the Lyceum, in a measure, to meet these needs.

The season tickets will go on sale some time this week. The price of season tickets for adults will be $2.75 each, for pupils $1.50 each. Considering the character of programs we have to offer the price is so low that we do not see how any one can afford not to take advantage of the opportunity. The price of single admission tickets will be 50 cents each for adults, 25 cents each for pupils.

The first number of our course is to be a lecture by Dr. Ott. He was on the Chautauqua program here last summer and his lecture on "Sour Grapes" was regarded by many as the best feature of the whole program. We have never had a lecturer on our courses that will compare at all favorably with Dr. Ott. He is a university professor, writer of books, contributor to the periodical press and lecturer. His lectures show the stamp of the scholar and are at the same time humorous and highly entertaining. American audiences can hardly get enough of this man and his purposeful oratory. He is to be here Monday evening, November 10th.

Watch for cards in show windows and announcements in this paper for information about the remaining numbers.

Envelopes, Letter Heads, Bill Heads, Statements and Note Heads are our specialty. Don't forget us when in need of such items. THE CRITTENDEN-RECORD PRESS, Job Office.

TOUGH JOKE ON TO-BE BRIDEGROOM

Arrested By Deputy Sheriff On Telegram From McCracken Sheriff.

Dr. J. W. Bass, of Paducah, who became the husband of Miss Lottie Dean Wednesday morning, had an experience Tuesday night that he will not forget should he live to be one thousand years old. He was actually placed under arrest by a deputy sheriff and was in custody of the officers as a "felon" for some time.

And to make the joke more humiliating he was placed under "arrest" at the home of his bride on Holloway street while in the act of sitting down to a pre-wedding supper. The joke happened this way:

Dr. Bass is related to the sheriff of McCracken county. To pull off a capital joke on the bridegroom the Paducah officer sent a telegram to Sheriff Abbott to arrest Dr. Bass and to hold him until further orders. Sheriff Abbott did not know but what the message was genuine, and he directed Deputy Eastin to make the arrest. Deputy Eastin located the doctor at the home of his bride and promptly made known his mission. Consternation was caused among all except Dr. Bass, who knew of the joking proclivities of his kinsman, and tried to explain the situation to the guests and the officer. Deputy Eastin was obdurate and would not listen. He accompanied the doctor down, and was handed another message saying it was all a joke.

The angered physician beat a hasty retreat to Miss Dean's home to explain matters and get his portion of the splendid supper which he was about to miss.

It is expected that the McCracken sheriff will make himself scarce when Dr. Bass and bride arrive at Paducah. —Henderson Gleaner.

AMERICANS on the ISTHMUS

Colon, C. Z.—For the American resident of the Canal Zone life is not all beer and skittles. There is plenty of beer, but I have not seen a skittle here. Perhaps I would not have recognized one if I had seen it.

The American in a foreign land is not so tenacious of his home customs as is the Englishman, and in Panama he finds himself not only in a tropic climate but in the midst of a civilization much older than his own. Consequently he yields in many particulars to the customs of that climate and that civilization. The mid-day siesta of two hours, when he disrobes and dozes in a cool room, the dip in the ocean before dinner and the evening stroll in the plaza all appeal to him as to the native and have become a part of his life there.

At the same time the influx of north-erners has had its effect on the Panamanians, especially, perhaps, in the matter of sports. Bullfights no longer are to be seen here and cock fighting has suffered a marked decline. In place of them the native now enjoys frequent wrestling matches and prize-fights, indulges in tennis to some extent and has taken kindly to the national American sport of baseball.

It is the American woman on whom the changed conditions of life bear hardest, for housekeeping on the isthmus is attended by many annoyances. A good many people have the idea that a woman in the tropics lies in a hammock all day and at meal time picks her food from the branches of trees that shade her resting place. As a matter of fact she must do her household shopping as at home, and the domestic problem is with her here as there, only more so, if possible. For clothing and standard groceries she usually goes to the store of the commissary department, where she can buy well and cheaply. But for fruit and many of the vegetables there is the daily trip to the market. In that spacious building—I am speaking now of Colon and Panama—are scores of booths and tables, attended by Jamaicans, Chinese and native Panamanians, and piled high with taro, breadfruit, soursops, guavas, papayas, bananas, plantains, alligator pears, mangoes, oranges, coconuts and a dozen other tropical products. The layout is tempting, but the purchasing is a task. Such a thing as a fixed price is unknown and one must bargain diligently or get the worst of it. And the insolence of the negro women is often commensurate with their ignorance. The native meat market is quite "impossible" for white people from the United States, for the meat, roughly hacked, is sold immediately after slaughtering, and the screening, enforced by the American sanitary department is rendered ineffective by open doors.

The domestic servants, employed by Americans in the zone are almost all Jamaican negroes. They are neat and clean, but their stupidity usually is monumental. Every detail of the household operations must be driven into their heads, and their minds seemingly are on the island home they have left, for their memory is almost nil and their eyes see little close at hand. Then, too, after a year or so of service and saving they begin to think of returning to Jamaica and grow "weary."

"Why, Blanche," said one shocked housewife, "here it is eleven o'clock and the breakfast dishes and kitchen things not washed, and the ants all over them!"

"Oh, marm, I couldn't do them, I'm so exhausted this morning," was Blanche's reply.

That's a mild sample of what must be contended with.

Speaking of ants, there is another of the annoyances of housekeeping in the tropics. The ants are everywhere, in unbelievable numbers and most extraordinary activity. Screens do not keep them out nor insect exterminators discourage them. They must simply be endured. If they take a fancy to a nicely growing garden of young vegetables, they cut and carry off all the leaves in a night. It is the so-called leaf ant that does that. All over the isthmus he is to be seen, moving in processions along well beaten paths, each individual carrying a leaf or other bit of foliage. One day I saw a long line of them moving through the sparse turf, all carrying tiny red blossoms cut from a small weed. It was a very picturesque miniature parade. No place and no age has been free from the cockroach, and in Panama he grows to an enormous size and spends some of his time and energy eating the covers of bound books.

Rust and mould add to the woes of the American housekeeper, and many articles she must keep in "dry closets" in which electric lamps are kept burning.

There are not in Panama a great many of the old pure-blooded Spaniards families, whose members possess education and refinement, and those that are there are not especially fond of Americans. Consequently there is not much social intercourse between the two races. The social activities of the Americans have three general centers—the Tivoli club, the Washington Cotton club and the Young Men's Christian association. The first two are dance organizations and give balls alternate fortnights at the Tivoli hotel in Ancon and the Washington hotel in Colon. These affairs are quite formal and attract the best of the Americans from all parts of the zone.

As for the Y. M. C. A., its work on the isthmus really deserves a chapter to itself, for it has been one of the big factors in the successful building of the canal. At first it was found impossible to persuade men from the United States to remain long on the isthmus. The pay was good, the work interesting, but homesickness found easy victims and they resigned and went back to the States in discouraging numbers. Several remedies were tried, and finally the commission established a club house in every zone town of any size and wisely put them in charge of the Y. M. C. A. In these houses are billiard rooms, bowling alleys, gymnasiums, soda fountains, libraries, lounging rooms and a dozen other conveniences, and each house has a hall large enough for dances and amateur dramatics and musical entertainments. The secretaries in charge have been exceedingly active in the organization of bowling, baseball, billiard and other leagues, and the tournaments are continuous and of great interest. Of course no intoxicating drinks are to be found in these clubs, but in other respects they are conducted on lines so liberal as to be sometimes surprising. In one of them, for instance, I saw a number of young men and women dancing in the hall, to the music of a phonograph, immediately after the close of the Sunday evening religious service. This may have been an exceptional case, as it was in one of the more isolated towns.

In Ancon, Cristobal and some others of the larger American towns flourishing women's clubs have been maintained, and these were united in a zone federation which dissolved only this year, feeling that its work was done with the virtual completion of the canal. The clubs have done a great deal in the way of philanthropy and study, and many social functions are given under their auspices.

As may readily be comprehended, life for Americans in the zone is much like life in an American suburban town, and it has some of the disadvantages of the latter. Gossip and social jealousies are prevalent here, as there, and not a few women have been driven back to the States by them. Disputes over promotions and the assignments of living quarters cause bitterness and estrangements, and of course there are innumerable complaints of undue influence—"pull"—in these matters. In some cases it must be admitted there has been cause for these complaints, and, sad to say, often woman has been the cause. Her influence with certain of the high officials cannot be doubted, and sometimes it has results that are to be deplored.

Here is one instance of the power exerted by "pull." A man for some years has held a responsible position with the Panama Railroad company, and who has a wife, two daughters and a young son, has been waiting long for housekeeping quarters, which are at a premium. Two minor clerks of the railway had been attentive to the daughters, but, being objectionable to the father, were discouraged. But the clerks had some influential connections, and in revenge have so contrived things that the family in question has been passed by repeatedly in the assignment of housekeeping quarters. The father and son live in one building, the mother and daughters in another, and all must take their meals at the hotel.

Naturally, not many of the Americans on the isthmus will remain there after the completion of the canal. A few of the doctors may engage in general practice there—some already have done so—and some of the workmen may find the tropic climate so to their liking that they will stay. But nearly all are looking rather eagerly to the time when they can return to the states. The engineers and physicians no doubt will find that the experience they have had will be invaluable to them in the getting of positions and practice when they come home. But to readjust themselves to the old conditions of living may not be easy for the men and women who have been in the zone for years.

How sad, we were made to feel when we heard of the death of our beloved pastor Bro. E. B. Blackburn. While we believe with all our hearts, his soul is at rest and that he has gone to that glory land where there is no suffering and pain. Still we were so sorry to have to give him up. We have so many times since that glorious revival we had our church in Sept. thought of him and how faithful he worked in the meeting and how some of our precious ones and dear friends were saved. Little did we know we would never hear his dear voice again in this life. One night during the meeting, how well I remember when we were singing, "Oh think of that home over there," he was standing and singing, and when we came to the verse, "I will soon be at home over there for the end of my journey I see; many dear to my heart over there who are watching and waiting for me." He looked Heavenward and closed his hands, no doubt he fully realized that his end was near at hand, that his toil and labor in this life would soon be over, that the Lord would soon say enough, come up higher. May God's richest blessings rest upon the bereaved family.

Our Trip.

J. B. M.

"Hello, Moosehead!"
Ring down Aeroplane No. 13. This is an unlucky number, but try to stop her at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning, as we want to start on our trip to the great educational meeting, and we are expected to be there "sharply" on time.

Now, Moosehead, have every thing ready on time. Do you understand? "Yes, sir."

Now, when I call you—be quick, for they have taken the tariff off, and that machine will just come whizzing through the air. No tariff, no toll gates, no wash outs, no bridges to build, just a clear field, sailing through the air with the blue sky for a coverlet. Over fences, hills, valleys, ravines, mountains, rivers, lakes, towns, cities, states, counties—oh! she's coming at the rate of two miles a minute!

Well, ring her down, Moosehead! Don't stand there and talk and let her go past! Here she comes and there she goes—to St. Louis!

Yes, Moosehead, you have stood and talked tariff and let that flying machine pass by.

Well, let her go!—that airship. It is a disappointment, of course, but life is made up mostly of disappointments anyway; so we sit down and listen to the falling rain—and dream of falling aviators and rejoice that we are not one of 'em. Well done, Moosehead! Talk on, and settle the tariff question. We'll foot it to Hurricane.

This is a great educational day in the fourth section of our county. To-morrow is another great day.

This is a step forward in educational progress. It gives the teachers and pupils an opportunity for recreation, advanced views and larger capacities for work. Young people see and know that it is not merely to go to school and hump over a few mathematical problems, but that there are other things, and that life is worth living.

Therefore let every dawn of the morning be to us as the beginning of a new life, and every setting of the sun be as its close. Let every one of our short lives leave its record of some kindly act done to others.

To do this we should co-operate with our school officers, keep in touch with every advanced step—the teaching of domestic economy and of agriculture in the public schools. Are we going to be ready for it?

If so, fall into line! Why not have an educational fair in Marion—a central point—at a date to be agreed on later?

When the bowels become irregular you are uncomfortable and the longer this condition exists the worse you feel. You can get rid of this misery quicker by using HERBINE. Take a dose on going to bed and see how fine you feel the next day. Price 50 cents. Sold by Haynes & Taylor and James H. Orme.

How To Read The Bible.

Martin Luther used to teach his children to read the bible in the following way: First, read one book carefully; then study chapter by chapter and verse by verse; and lastly, word by word. "For," he said, "it is like a person shaking a fruit tree, first shaking the tree and gathering up the fruit which falls to the ground, then shaking each branch, afterwards each twig, and last of all looking carefully under each leaf to see that no fruit remains. In this way, and in no other, shall we also find the hidden treasures that are in the bible."—Apples of Gold.

TAX LAWS IN KY.
CAUSES EVASION

Present Unsatisfactory Laws
Responsible for Small Returns

Retard Development and Lower Standard of Integrity—Efforts to Secure a Better System of Taxation Has Been Persistent for Fifteen Years.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special)—The efforts to secure a better system of taxation for Kentucky have been persistent for fifteen years but owing to the ironclad restrictions in the state constitution it is exceedingly difficult to secure any change.

Tax commissions have repeatedly been appointed by authority of the legislatures and these commissions have unanimously condemned the general property tax which was adopted by the last constitutional convention and as the law is constitutional it has been impossible for the legislature alone to repeal it.

However, the last general assembly undertook to amend the constitution as provided by law and this amendment will have to be ratified by the people at the November election and if it fails to carry it cannot be voted on again for another five years.

The effect of the present law is to drive people and money from the state and to prevent other people and money from coming in and building up our industries.

This is how the general property tax is regarded by outsiders as indicated in a report of a commission appointed in another state and it applies in all respects to our present tax system.

"The personal property tax is a farce. It falls inevitably upon the comparatively few who are caught. The burden it imposes upon production is out of all proportion to the revenue it produces.

"Year after year state and local assessing boards have denounced it as impracticable in its workings and unjust in its results. These recommendations have for the most part passed unheeded or have led to ineffectual attempts to bolster up the law. It is time the situation was faced squarely, and the tax in its present form abolished.

"So far as the personal property tax attempts to reach intangible forms of wealth, its administration is so comical as to have become a byword.

"Such a method of collecting revenue would be a serious menace to democratic institutions were it not so generally recognized as a howling farce.

"But it is not a farce to those who are fully assessed. These are chiefly the widows and orphans who are caught when their property is listed in the probate court, farmers, retail merchants and others, incorporated or unincorporated, with stocks of goods, and the small investors who are not skillful enough to make non-taxable investments."

The state referred to has changed its tax system and already the receipts from taxation have increased enormously and the peculiar effect of it has been to lower the taxes on lands and improvements by securing a greater revenue from personal property which had formerly produced little or no returns.

Kentucky must increase its revenues to keep up its schools and public institutions and it would be manifestly unfair to make the property at present paying taxes sustain this added burden, but under the present law there is no other recourse.

If the amendment carries and the legislature is empowered to classify property so as to bring under the assessor's scrutiny the vast amount of personal property now escaping taxation the revenues can be increased and taxes on lands and houses diminished and what is more important than all we will be able to develop our resources, maintain our population and attract capital and people who will help to build up the state.

Ohio has recently changed its tax laws and has already been benefited and Tennessee is about to renounce the general property tax. Other states have either long since abolished it or are preparing to do so.

The present system in Kentucky was popular when the country was young and wealth largely confined to real estate which could not be hidden.

Wealth is now largely in personal securities which the assessor can not locate and in consequence this class of property escapes almost entirely.

Can we afford to neglect this great question and yet hope to compete with neighboring states which are less favored than ours naturally but have the advantage of cheap money and low taxes?

If the amendment fails to carry the next census will show that Kentucky has moved down another peg or so in its standing among the states and those at present paying taxes will inevitably have to pay more on the same property while others will escape by hiding their personal property from the assessors.

BROOKLYN
TABERNACLE
BIBLE STUDY ON

JEALOUSY AND ENVY PUNISHED.

Numbers 12—Oct. 12.

"Love enveth not; love boasteth not itself, is not puffed up, is not haughty, is not itself unassuming."—1 Corinthians 13:4.

TODAY'S BIBLE study tells of a serious error made by Aaron and Miriam, Moses' brother and sister. That Miriam was the leading spirit is fully demonstrated by the outcome, which shows that God's punishment rested upon her, and not upon Aaron.

Moses had married an Ethiopian. At this time she had come to live with him in the Camp, and thus became the first lady of the nation. Previously, Miriam had filled this office. It was but natural that she should feel the loss of her position, especially as she reflected that her sister-in-law was of an alien race.

This fact seemed to give Miriam's jealousy a religious footing; and she undoubtedly convinced herself that her hostility to her sister-in-law was based upon a high moral ground, affecting God's honor and the future possibilities of Abraham's seed in the Promised Land. No good people can harbor jealousy, envy, etc., without deluding themselves into thinking that the peculiar circumstances of their case fully justify their attitude.

Miriam became convinced that God would not use especially one who had thus lost caste with herself. Her poisoned mind began to see evidences that the Lord had forsaken Moses, that otherwise he would not have made so great a mistake, as she thought. She communicated her fears to Aaron. The two doubtless prayed much respecting the sad fall of Israel's leader and the necessity laid upon them to make good his dereliction.

Apparently Aaron was a weak character, merely used and useful as Moses' mouthpiece. He showed much weakness on this occasion, as also when he made the golden calf and assisted the people in their idolatrous worship. Miriam probably assented at that time that such was the only course to take to satisfy the rebellious people.

The text implies that Miriam began to spread her insidious suggestions throughout the Camp. The people were to be prepared and the Lord helped, of course, by the primary suggestion that Moses was not the only leader of the people, that Miriam and Aaron were also prophets, in relationship with the Lord exactly as was Moses. This insidious preparation would make ready for the expected time when the Lord would disown Moses and speak through Miriam, Aaron being her mouthpiece.

And the Lord Heard It.

Suddenly the Lord called Moses, Aaron and Miriam into His presence before the Tabernacle. All three obeyed the summons, Miriam doubtless supposing that now the Lord would oust Moses as leader and appoint herself. The denouement, however, was very different. God did, indeed, declare that He had used Miriam and Aaron, but that His dealing with Moses was on a very much higher plane. To him the Lord had spoken directly, not through dreams and visions. Thus the ambitions which were the grounds of the jealousy and evil speaking God promptly set aside.

Additionally the Lord gave a punishment. As the Divine presence departed, Miriam was smitten with leprosy. Aaron recognized this to signify that he had upheld his sister in a wrong course. To Moses he prayed for relief, acknowledging their sin and pleading for Miriam.

Then Moses cried to the Lord. God heard him and healed Miriam, but directed that she be treated like others healed of leprosy. All such were required to remain seven days outside the Camp, to see that no further symptoms of the disease appeared.

"The Law Was a Shadow."

St. Paul explains that the various things commanded Israel under their Law Covenant were prophetic shadows illustrating things appertaining to Spiritual Israel. Thus leprosy, practically incurable, except by Divine interposition, was a type of sin; and the seven days of excommunication from the favored people represented a complete period of tests respecting a putting away of sin, a cleansing, a return to harmony with God.

The Golden Text is St. Paul's exhortation to the Church. The Church, we must remember, is that special class called out from humanity in general by the Gospel to become followers of Jesus. Their call is to sacrifice all earthly rights, and to be fully submissive to the Divine will in everything. Their Covenant is to be loyal to every principle of the Divine Program, under the leadership of the Savior.

This leaves no room for the works of the flesh or of the Devil. All these are to be put off, as displeasing to God. On the contrary, the fruits and graces of the Spirit are to be substituted, that ultimately Jesus' followers may attain to the fullness of Divine favor. Love represents the full character of God; for "God is Love."

To A Citizen.

Your article advocating Judge Kevil for Mayor strikes a keynote in another way. Judge Kevil—like any candidate—wants an endorsement, which he deserves and further than that if we are to have water works, he is the best equipped man for the Mayor's office in Marion. The laying of water pipes is an engineering feat which requires the over sight of an expert in civil engineering, and Judge Kevil knows all the details from A to Z and would safeguard the city's interests in a way that would make him worth his year's salary in one week, besides there are many legal phases to all the city's business, requiring the services of a lawyer, almost daily at the head of the city's government. ## Lameness Sloan's Liniment is a speedy, reliable remedy for lameness in horses and farm stock. Here's proof.

"I had a horse sprain his shoulder by pulling, and he was so lame he could not carry foot at all. I got a bottle of your Liniment and put it on four times, and in three days he showed no lameness at all, and made a thirty mile trip besides."—Walter B. Alford, La Salle, Ill.

For Splint and Thrush
"I have used Sloan's Liniment on a fine mare for splint and cured her. This makes the third horse I've cured. Have recommended it to my neighbors for thrush and they say it is fine. I find it the best Liniment I ever used. I keep on hand your Sure Cure for ringbone, splint and thrush, and I can certainly recommend it for Cuts."—J. B. Smith, Kentucky.

Lloyd's Brain Leaks.

Mrs. Joe Dollar says: "us women will spend three days cleaning up because we expect a caller, and the moment the caller arrives we will begin telling her how dirty and upset everything is, and her to excuse the appearance of the place, if I had known you was coming I would have tried to straighten up a little."

Ben Wigginton says: "appearance may be deceitful, but damn few men are better than they seem to be."

Miss Florence Patten says: "The less hair a girl has the longer it takes her to fix it."

Wealth may keep us out of Heaven, but Bill Cox says: "he knows 900,000,000 folks who are willing to take a chance."

Mrs. Lora Watson says: "every woman knows that if her husband was some other woman's husband for about a week he would appreciate what a good wife he had before he made the change."

One of Fredonia's best men went to Marion, to attend a church meeting of some kind, and was struck with the beauty of the town. He had plenty of time, and while wandering about walked into the town cemetery, it was a beautiful place and he walked around among the graves. He saw a monument, one of the largest in the cemetery, and read with surprise the inscription on it. "A lawyer, and an honest man."

The fellow scratched his head and looked at the monument again, he read the inscription over and over, then he walked all around the monument and examined the grave closely. Uncle Dock Green approached and asked him, "Have you found the grave of an old friend?" "No," said the man, "but I was wandering how they came to bury these two fellows in one grave."

A Fredonia girl who visited in the country was complaining to daddy about the savage way the jersey bull regarded her. "Well," said daddy, "it must be on account of that red dress your're wearing." "Dear me," said the girl, "of course, I know its the fashion now, but I had no idea a country bull would notice it."

Joe Parr says: "before he got a telephone his wife could keep a secret all night."

Bert Hillyard sent his card to call on his girl, he went into the parlor taken his seat and waited for one hour, and said: "I wonder if she is making up her complexion or her mind."

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians, of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers. 10

Men are too much occupied

Over 500 farmers in Webster county have signed the following petition to the commonwealth's attorney which shows that they do not approve of the prosecution of the Imperial tobacco Co.

"The Hon. S. V. Dixon, we understand that an indictment was lately procured in Henderson county against the Imperial Tobacco Company, which indictment has been removed to Union county for trial. We further understand that any judgment against that Company on that trial would, under the law, forfeit its charter and prohibit it from any longer doing any business in Kentucky. The Imperial Tobacco Company has been an important competitor in the tobacco trade, and has purchased one third or more of the tobacco raised in Webster county. To drive that Company out of business would in our judgment, benefit nobody but would be a great detriment to the tobacco growing interest of this whole district.

Therefore, we farmers and tobacco growers and other citizens of Webster county, being as much interested in that business as the growers of Henderson county, respectfully request that you take such steps in the matter as will promote our interest and the interests of other tobacco growers.

Working Convicts.

All convicts should work. If they are worked within the walls, by contractors who lease them at low rates they are producing something which comes in direct competition with honest labor and it is questionable whether the commonwealth ever did get sufficient wages for them to pay the expenses, repairs, etc., of the prisons. We are aware that a balance is some times shown on the profit side but look at the millions that have been spent and wasted preparing to confine the convicts. Put them on the roads. Let the soldiers of the regular army guard them. Let the pensioners also have positions

Take them off the dependent list.
They could superintend the eating and sleeping houses, see after the culinary and other departments such as making shoes, hats and clothing for the use of the State's wards. One year's work by all the State's convicts on our roads would transform Kentucky and move her up a long way on the list of the progressive States.

amateur production ever put on in our city.

The cast of characters is as follows:

those who patronize them will receive many times their money's worth in good, clean, wholesome entertainment.

3:30 o'clock and was taken to the home of his brother, Esq.,
G. R. Williams, in East Marion.
The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock at the Cumberland church and the interment was immediately afterward in the New Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and two children.

Mr. Williams is remembered

Women May Vote Next Tuesday For County School Superintendent.

The court of appeals has upheld the Anderson circuit court, which granted an injunction to compel the county clerk to have ballots printed for women voters in the election for school superintendent.

Justice Hobson holds that the county superintendent of common schools is not a constitutional office, and the constitution does not prescribe the qualifications of persons who may vote for candidates for that office.

The opinion says further that it is an office created by the legislature, and women in many counties of the state have been elected to the office and no question of their eligibility has ever been raised.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Hobson the whole court sitting, exhaustively discusses the constitutionality of that portion of the Suffrage Act of 1912 relating to the election of superintendents. This affirmation of the judgment of the Anderson circuit court finally settles the right of women, possessing the statutory qualification and living outside of first and second class cities, to vote for this office, and Attorney General Garnett, who has received inquiries from county clerks about the question, said he would notify them at once that they must provide separate ballots for the women to vote for county superintendents.

School Entertainment Halloween Night at Lone Star School House.

Miss Addie Maynard and her pupils are arranging a pleasant entertainment in contests and lawn features for next Friday.
Every one invited and the girls are asked to bring cakes. Proceeds for the library.

Approaching Nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Yandell have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mabel, to Mr. Robert Crittenden, a prominent and well known business man of Memphis, Tenn.,
on the afternoon of Tuesday, Nov. 11th, 1913. The ceremony will be performed at the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock.
The event is looked forward to with much interest here as Miss Yandell was born and reared here, and is a popular young woman. She has been her father's assistant in the bank, and by her uniform kindness and sweetness of manner has won many friends in the business, as well as the social life of Marion

Who, 13 Years Ago, Loaned $1 To Friend in Financial Straits, Receives $10,000

Pittsburg, Penn., Oct., 28—
Thirteen years ago, Miss Cora Bowser, a domestic, of Kittanning, loaned $1 to W. M. Morrow who had concluded that the East held none of the good things in life for him, and he decided to go west to prospect for fortune.
She considered the dollar in the light of a friendly contribution to Morrow's fortunes, and proceeded to forget about it, in the passing years nothing was heard from Morrow, and he was forgotten even by his friends.
Meanwhile Morrow was doing a lot hard plugging. Recently he "landed," making his strike in Nebraska. The other day Miss Bowser received a certified check for $10,000.

JUST A WORD PLEASE.

E. Jeffrey Travis has a splendid record as superintendent of Schools in Crittenden County Kentucky.

July 13th., 1911, Mr. Ellsworth Regenstein, then the Superintendent of Public Instruction wrote Mr. Travis: "I like your plan of having all your schools begin at the same time. It is desirable that they continue in session without interruption and close at the same time."

July 27th., 1911, Mr. H. H. Cherry, President of the State Normal School at Bowling Green Kentucky wrote Mr. Travis: "I do not want to pay you doubtful a compliment; but must say with great enthusiasm, that I have never seen a higher expression of interest nor a more aggressive or patriotic interest than you are manifesting in the performance of your official duties. I congratulate you upon your success in this connection."

September 24th., 1912, Mr. T. J. Coates, Supervisor of Rural Schools wrote to Superintendent Travis: "Permit me to congratulate you upon the plan that you are forming for the improvement of your schools."

It was an old custom for the schools of Crittenden County to begin at any time when it best suited the convenience to teacher or trustee. They would begin any time from the third week in July to the second week in September. The Teachers Institute would come on after some of the schools had been going from one to three weeks, while others had not started. The teacher of each school mapped out his own programme of study, if he had any. There was no concerted action of Crittenden County teachers. Now the Teachers' Institute is held before any school begins and they all begin at the same time.

We have now in Crittenden County a daily programme that each teacher is supposed to follow. We have a course of study in the hands of each teacher with instructions how to use it. Each teacher is furnished every month with a printed list of examination questions based upon the work as outlined by this course of study. Crittenden is the only County in the state that does this. These educational improvements have been working and growing for the past three years.

Now For Some of The Results.

Results as shown in the graduation of Rural District pupils from the common schools:

In 1910 (the first year)	there were 8
" 1911 (the second year)	" " 32
" 1912 (the third year)	" " 41
" 1913	there will be still more.

Results as shown in number of pupils in County High School

In 1910 there was in the County High School	1 pupil.
" 1911 "	were " " " 9 pupils
" 1912 "	" " " " 19 "
" 1913 "	are " " " " 30 "

Results as shown in School Attendance in Crittenden County

In 1910 School attendance for the county was over	1,300.
" 1912 "	" " " " 2,000

Prior to 1910 there were several districts that had only three months or no school at all. Since 1910 there has been a full six months term taught in every school house in the county.

Since 1910 there has been no money returned to the state; but all has been used in the County for the Schools.

In 1912 there were 39 Trustees who attended the County Teachers Institute on "Trustee Day."

In 1913 the attendance was 50, a thing unheard of before.

These are a few of the plans and improvements for the benefit of our schools put into force and operation by Mr. Travis the present County Superintendent. He has had 17 years experience in successful teaching in Rural Schools and four years experience in the office of County Superintendent. The School interest was never greater in Crittenden County before.

Prof. W. J. Craig of Bowling Green State University says: "I was very agreeably surprised in Crittenden County. The school interest of that County is easily 20 per cent above the average over the whole state."

JOHN T. PICKENS,

CHAIRMAN REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Lloyd's Brain Leaks.

Mrs. Lon Dunn said to her little boy the other night. "Son, it is bedtime, darling. All the little chickens have gone to bed."

"Yes, mama, and so has the old hens."

Dr. Bailey said to one of his patients the other day. "I'm sorry to tell you, but this spot of sickness has left you a broken man."

"You bet I am, doc, I got your bill this morning."

Uncle Dock Greea says there are only two things in life that require no effort. They are growing old and growing fat.

George Givens, an old dandy, stepped into Dan Patton's store and said. "Say, boss, you got any gunpowder, here?"

"Yes, we have gunpowder."

"Let me see some of that gunpowder."

Dan showed him some.

"Four some of that powder in my hair."

The old dandy took the powder near the light and his forefinger through, around and around it, looking at it critically, and then smiled. Two or three times.

"And you say this gunpowder?"

"Yes," answered Dan, sharply. "That is powder. What is the matter with it?"

"Damn, boss," George shook his head doubtfully. "But it smells to me like its done been shot off before."

Daddy Lloyd's grandson said to him. "When you put a hen on eggs to hatch them, do you say she is sitting or setting? A hen can't really sit, can she?"

"Don't bother about little things like that. What concerns me most is to know when she cackles whether she has laid or lied."

Mrs. Martha Ordway had asked Jim, more than fifty times, (so she said,) when he was going to furnish her kitchen oilcloth. Finally in a fit one Saturday afternoon he pulled on his overalls and went at it. Monday morning it had not dried a bit.

"Something is wrong with the varnish, Jim. Where did you put the can?"

"I set it back on the shelf," he answered absently. She came back presently with the can and stood in front of him quietly. He looked up. She held the can toward him. "Can't you read, Jim? You varnished that kitchen oilcloth with pure sorghum molasses."

Carlous Oakley stepped up to the counter in Mr. Orme's drug store and asked for a cone of ice cream. The clerk not catching his order, asked: "Do you want two cones?"

"I want two," said Carlous, "but I've only got one nickel."

George Givens, a slouchy colored man, went down the street whistling like a lark. His clothes were ragged and his shoes were out at the toes and heels, and he appeared to be in the depths of poverty. As he passed Dan Patton's store, Dan stepped to the door and hailed him.

"Say, George, I've got a job for you. Do you want to make a quarter?"

"No, sah," said George, "I's done got a quarter."

Albert Boaz says it has gotten so now-a-days that if a girl doesn't smoke cigarettes, use cuss words and tramp the streets at night, she is considered old fashion.

NOVEMBER 6 DESIGNATED KENTUCKY ARBOR DAY

Gov. McCreary Issues Mandate At Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., 23.—Gov. McCreary today issued the following proclamation designating November 6 as Arbor day in Kentucky: "I, James B. McCreary, Gov., of the Commonwealth, do issue this proclamation, designating Thursday, November 6, 1913, as Arbor day for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and request its observance by the planting of trees and such other exercises as may be deemed proper.

"The attention of all the people, and especially the teachers and pupils of all the colleges and schools is called to the importance of planting trees. Every proper effort should be made for the renewal of our forest.

"In the last decade there has been great development along forestry lines in the United States. The inauguration of forest management in the national forest, the activity of various States in public forestry, and the interest of private owners in tree growing, have resulted in marked improvement in everything connected with forestry. There are now a number of colleges in the United States where forestry is included in the curriculum. In the last few years there has been a constantly increasing activity in the forestry of the various States and now thirty states have some kind organization for forestry work.

"I call upon the people to give more attention to the observance of Arbor day.

"Schoolhouse yards, home yards, public roads, pastures and fields should be beautified with trees. Our natural forest are diminishing and we must reforeest the cutover, the burnt over and the unforested part of the State.

"In testimony whereof I have caused these letters to be made patent and the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed. Done at Frankfort the fourteenth of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, and in the one hundred and twenty second year of the Commonwealth.

"By the Governor,
James B. McCreary."

A LOVELY FACE... BUT UGLY HAIR

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfume liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinker tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50 cts. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony Laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

CARE OF THE CONSUMPTIVE

NOT DANGEROUS IN THE HOME IN THE EARLY STAGES OF THE DISEASE.

Important Information Regarding the Proper Care of the Patient—The Use of Material Eating Utensils—Care of the Clothes.

The home care of the consumptive in the beginning stage, under the supervision of a doctor or a nurse, is not dangerous to the other members of the household. The germs of the disease are almost wholly thrown off in the discharges from the mouth and nose, and a uniformly careful collection and destruction of this material will prevent the spread of the germs through the house. The consumptive should spit in a paper box or cloth which can be burned. Paper napkins should be used instead of the ordinary cotton or linen handkerchiefs to wipe the nose and lips, and these napkins should be carefully burned. The consumptive should have his own set of dishes, which should be washed separately in boiling water. His bed and table linen should first be soaked in a disinfecting solution or boiled for half an hour before being washed with the rest of the family laundry. He should wash his hands carefully before and after eating. He should never cough without a paper napkin held to his mouth. He should never kiss another person. These are practically all of the precautions; but they are really so difficult to observe day in and day out that special sanatoria for the consumptives are almost essential. ## FRESH AIR!

It's a lucky thing that God made so much fresh air; it does more for us than we ever imagine. Few things have such a destructive effect on most disease germs, after they leave the body, as a slow, steady draft of fresh air. For instance, the germs of consumption will be killed by it in less than twenty-four hours. Considering the number of people moving about and spreading the germs of consumption, it is lucky for us all that the fresh air keeps so steadily and effectively at work. Fresh air is also, by long odds, the most important factor in the cure of consumption. The steady breathing of fresh air twenty-four hours a day, regardless of the weather, will do more to produce a cure than any other single thing. The constant supply of fresh air, purging the body of impurities, keeps the machinery of the body literally in "good fighting trim," and at the same time, slowly and surely kills the germs as fast off.

FRUITS COULD BE KENTUCKY GROWN

$17,000,000 Spent Outside State Each Year.

SHOULD GROW THEM HERE.

Schools Are Striving to Help Solve Problems That Will Confront Our Children—Useless to Talk to Older Farmers—Boys' Corn Clubs Point Way to Success.

It is estimated that there are 9,000,000 apple trees of bearing age in Kentucky at the present writing. Our annual crop from these trees is some thing like 3,000,000 bushels of inferior quality. We spend $17,000,000 for fruits of all kinds that could be grown in Kentucky.

It is useless to talk to many of the older farmers, for they will tell you:

ROOT GRAFTING.

"Oh, yes; when I was a boy you could raise all the fruit you wanted to. But now—well, I reckon it's 'sue' run out."

It must be the new generation with which we deal if we are to save this annual expenditure of $17,000,000 some time in the future. We cannot go out to every farmhouse in the state and have a chat with the farmer and his boys and girls, so we must find a way to teach them easily and effectively. The Boys' Corn Clubs point the way to success. They have been made possible by the co-operation of teachers everywhere in the country, and the same is possible in fruit culture. At one of our normal schools numbers of the young people who are training for teachers are getting ready for this new crusade.

Almost any afternoon this spring in the basement of one of the big buildings, tables littered with roots of young apple trees, twigs from standard varieties, thread, wire and knives might have been seen.

As rapidly as deft fingers cut roots and twigs to fit snug, they were wound with thread and placed in small bundles. These bundles of ten, fifteen or twenty-five tiny trees were then sent to the country by parcel post. These trees were to be planted in the home gardens of the pupil teachers and carefully cultivated for a year before being set out permanently.

That the interest in this real vital work of education is growing is shown by the fact that the number of trees mailed to the homes of the students this spring will be about five times as great as it was two years ago.

The first year the work was inaugurated 4,000 trees were grafted, last year 8,000 and this year about 20,000 will go on their mission of education.

With such work being done by teachers here and there over the state the children are sure to see a new vision of Kentucky as a fruit state.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

THE REPORT OF THE SPIES. Numbers 13:1-3, 17 to 14:25—Oct. 19. "If God be for us, who can be against us?"—Romans 8:31.

THE Israelites' first journey was from Egypt to Mt. Sinai, where they remained about a year. Their second journey began after Miriam had been received back into the camp. Their journey led through a barren wilderness scorched by the sun, very different from Sinai's valleys, in which they had rested. The distance to Kadesh-Barnea, on the border of Canaan, was approximately 160 miles. The journey was beset with unknown dangers—serpents, wandering bands of Arabs, lack of water, etc. The Israelites, including women and children, household goods, cattle, sheep, etc., necessarily travelled slowly. Apparently one or two months were spent on the way, as they arrived at the time of the first ripe grapes—July.

Kadesh-Barnea, their objective point, is a delightful place, well watered—a sharp contrast to the Desert of Paran. Here they rested and refreshed themselves. Moses, full of faith, proposed that they proceed forthwith to enter Canaan, the Land of Promise.

But the Israelites were timid. They had no knowledge of war, excepting a little experience with the Amalekites near Mt. Sinai. Their caution overbalanced their faith. They urged upon Moses the sending of the twelve spies. These apparently were divided under two leaders, Caleb and Joshua. One party went the length of the land, and returned in forty days; the others took a shorter journey and returned sooner. The spies were cautious men and gave a truthful report of the land, declaring that its cities had high walls and would be difficult to overcome. They reported also that they had seen giants. The report of the ten is described as an evil report because they presented the matter from the viewpoint of its difficulties, as in contrast with the report made by Caleb and Joshua, which was styled a good report, because encouraging.

The spies really should have considered themselves as a committee of ways and means for entering Canaan, rather than for deciding whether it was possible to enter. The possibilities were already determined by God's promise; hence Joshua and Caleb left these out of account. If God could deliver them from the Egyptians and the Amalekites He surely could fulfil His promise to bring them into Canaan.

Did God Encourage War? In studying this lesson, many are perplexed. They say, It seems unreasonable to believe that God gave such a message to Moses and the Israelites. Contrast this with the Scriptural declaration that God "will make wars to cease unto the ends of the earth."

Armies inquire, Where is the justice of commissioning the Israelites to steal the lands of the Canaanites, and to exterminate utterly all the people?

To understand the Bible, we must view it from its own standpoint, and not from that of our creeds formulated in the darker days, nor from that of our own imperfect reasoning. The Bible is beautiful, consistent, Godlike, only when viewed in its own light.

We must remember that the Bible antagonizes the theories of our creeds, which tell us that those slaughtered Canaanites went straight to an eternity of torture because they did not know the true God and Jesus Christ, the Savior. The Bible tells us that all mankind are children of Adam, and all perishing because of his death sentence. When they die, they are not alive anywhere. They are dead. They are suffering the penalty that God pronounced. "Dying, thou shalt die."

It matters not, therefore, in what way we die, or very much whether our experiences be longer or shorter. In the case of the Canaanites, God declared that their iniquity had come to the full. That is, God determined that they were merely cumbering the earth.

God was using the Israelites as a typical people, through whom He was making types and shadows of coming blessings. He would give Canaan to Israel, to illustrate the destruction of the works of the flesh and the Devil, which His people would accomplish in themselves by fighting the good fight of faith and overcoming the evil tendencies of their own flesh.

Although God is not bound by justice to give future life to anybody, He has arranged to do so. To this end Christ has already died for the sins of the whole world—including the Canaanites. Aside from this Plan of Redemption the whole race would have perished. But by God's grace we are to be recovered from death.

So we read, "God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him might not perish, but have everlasting life." Messiah's Kingdom—the Redeemer and His Church, His Bride, the members of which are now being selected from the world—will for a thousand years bless, uplift and restore all the nations of earth—from sin, degradation, death.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

The body contains phosphorus sufficient to make 483,000 matches. Phosphorus is one of fourteen elements composing the body—divided among bones, flesh, nervous system and other organs. The perfect health of body requires a perfect balance of the elements. These elements come from the food we eat—the stomach extracts and distributes them.

But if stomach is deranged—the balance of health is destroyed and the blood does not carry the proper elements to the different organs, and there is blood trouble—nervous trouble—heart trouble. ## Siloam Revival Meeting.

We are glad to report victory in the ranks of veteran soldiers of the cross, of this noble church. The hospitality of these people is not to be excelled, what a pleasure to be among them. The weather was ideal, and the people gladly attended on Sunday night men stood against the back of the front door to hear the sermon, among the number was found men who had not been to church for years, who also had the ministers to visit them in their homes.

The singing was conducted by Herschel Franklin, a true christian boy, all were delighted to have him with us.

Bro. K. K. Anderson of Union town charge was with us through the entire ten days, he is just the kind we like. meek and humble, kindly spirited, like Moses. His sermons were strong and forceful, being freighted with the holy spirit. We are sure this meeting will tell in eternity, for there was a deep work of grace wrought in many hearts. There were two conversions and one addition to the church. Under the power of the holy spirit, some who had not been on the best of terms for some time embraced each other through love and tenderness whose faces were tear stained and their countenance radiant with joy. Our people have received us very kindly for the 4th year. Have not been foundered yet, but think it is just before I'm going to be.

Yours sincerely,

EDWARD AMHERST OTT.

The popular lectures which Edward Amherst Ott is giving on the Lyceum platform are bearing fruit in the way of advanced legislation for the betterment of the American people. His lecture on "Sour Grapes," which treats of marriage and divorce, has been given nearly 2,000 times. In one of the states where it was given the legislator who introduced a reform marriage bill said he got his inspiration to do so from hearing Mr. Ott's lecture. But, whether he delivers this lecture or one of his other subjects, he is always alike forceful, entertaining and inspiring. He has appeared before more than 3,000 audiences in America and more than 2,500 copies of his books have been sold. American audiences can scarce get enough of this man and his purposeful oratory.

Every lecture should answer one of the fundamental inquiries of the mind. If a lecture is also humorous and highly entertaining, so much the better. Although known as the purposeful orator and author, Mr. Ott combines much of humor and entertainment in each of his lectures.

In 1910 Mr. Ott appeared at the original New York Chautauqua in two lectures. For two years Mr. Ott was president of the International Lyceum Association, and he has done much for the Lyceum and Chautauqua movement in general throughout the country.

To the voters of Marion, Ky:

I am candidate for Mayor. of Marion, and want your vote and influence. I am for the best interests of the whole people of the city. I am for water works because I think it best for many reasons. We can not have a clean healthy city without them, and if sewerage was ever needed it is certainly needed in Marion, besides it will pay thousands of dollars to laboring people to get installed. Besides installing, many other industries that we will never get until we get water. There is no doubt but what water works rightly managed, will be self supporting in a short time. We have as good people as are on the earth, and why not have a clean, healthy town while we do live, that will not be long at best and when we are called we will go if it suits us or not and not one of us will take any thing with us.

If elected I will promise you to do my duty as an officer should for the best interests of all the people of the city. I want it in a fair and honorable way—otherwise I do not want it.
