MISS ENA CLARK WINS GOLD MEDAL

In Declamatory Contest At Deer Creek.—Other Honors Go To Misses Wright and Watson.

The annual Declamatory Contest of Division 2 was held at Deer Creek, Saturday night November 7. An hour before time for the program to begin the house was crowded with people who are awake to the best interests of the boys and girls of Crittenden County.

At 7:30 Miss Ruth Cook at the organ, began playing the march, and a minute later the seven contestants with the President Mr. Geo. W. Condit entered and took their places on the platform.

Directly after the prayer by Rev. W. R. Gibbs the first speaker, Miss Ruth Beet of Oak Hall was introduced. Little Miss Beet caught the audience with the first sentence and held them interested until the close of her declamation. Her subject, "Mrs. Smart learns to Skate," was especially suited to her style of delivery. Her voice was smooth and clear and the storm of applause which followed showed that her speech was well received by the audience.

The second speaker, Miss Dew-drop Graves of Forest Grove made a very favorable impression in her delivery of "Kiss Me Mama." Her child impersonations were very pleasing.

Miss Kate Wright of Tolu was next introduced, and in every way—voice, gestures, expression and delivery she was master of the subject, "The Old Church."

Miss Stella Phillips rendered a very beautiful vocal solo, following Miss Wright on the program.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Deer Creek pictured, "Aunt Sophrona Tabor at the Opera," in a most pleasing way. She was perfectly at ease and her voice was well controlled and her gestures were graceful and effective.

The next speaker, Miss Eula James of Glendale made a splendid showing in her delivery of "Little Joe's Flowers." Her voice was smooth and clear and her work was indeed a credit to the school which she represented.

Miss Ena Clark of Hebron was next introduced, and she was certainly at her best in her presentation of "The Queens Robe."

Miss Clark's voice was strong, yet so well modulated that she passed from harsh tones to softer words of love or sympathy with perfect ease. Her expression and gestures too, were well placed.

The last speaker of the evening was Miss Lola Watson of Barnett, who gave the same speech as that given by the first speaker. Miss Watson was very much at ease and her delivery showed that she had both a clear conception of the quaint character which she portrayed and of the contents of her selection.

Every one who took part in the contest is to be congratulated and the schools which they represented should be proud of them.

The judges of the contest were Professor Vick of Lola, Professor Campbell of Salem and Professor Peat of Marion. The medals were presented by Professor Campbell in a very pleasing, good natured way, the gold medal being awarded to Miss Ena Clark of Hebron, the silver medal to

MARRIAGES

A wedding of more than casual interest to our people is that of Miss Mary Louise Meyers of Crider to Charles Ratcliff, Jr., of Princeton, which will occur this month. The bride to be is a grand niece of Mrs. Josephine Adams of this City and of Al and Joe Dean and Miss Nannie Dean, and has visited here often.

Cards announcing the marriage of Miss Dorothy Krause to Mr. Stuart Campbell both of Saint Louis, Mo., were received this week by friends of the family here. Mrs. Campbell is a niece of former Judge J. W. Blue, being a daughter of Mrs. E. B. Krause formerly Miss Annie Blue. Mrs. Campbell is not known to many of our citizens, not having visited here since childhood, but her mother was a belle here a third of a century ago.

Miss Elizabeth Jones and Mr. E. D. Reynolds were married Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the manse of the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. H. W. Burwell officiating.

The bride wore a stylish tailored suit of blue cloth with accessories to harmonize. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones, 1529 Broad street, and a charming young woman.

Mr. Reynolds is a prominent young business man, credit manager for the J. W. Gleaves & Son furniture house. He came to Paducah from Crittenden county about three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will go to housekeeping immediately at 520 North Eight street.—Paducah Sun.

Kentucky Judge Wins

A Fortia for His Bride.

Practitioner married Judge when Miss Rudy James, sister of Ollie James and of United States Marshal, Edgar James, married Circuit Judge, Judge J. F. Gordon, of Madisonville, Wednesday evening. Miss James is licensed to practice at the Kentucky bar and has a law office at Marion, Crittenden county, the home of the James family. Although the match did not originate in Judge Gordon's courtroom, Mrs. Gordon often prepared suits for his court, paying the way for Judge Gordon's pressing of his suit out side of the courtroom.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. J. Thompson, of the Crescent Hill Methodist Episcopal church. After the wedding the couple repaired to the Seelbach, where they were joined in a wedding supper by Senator and Mrs. James, Mr. and Mrs. L. Grayot and Miss Lemah James, daughter of Marshal James.

Judge and Mrs. Gordon will spend a few days in Louisville, after which they will go to house keeping in Madisonville.—Louisville Post.

Mr. H. A. Haynes who spent a month at the World Dispensary Medical Association in Buffalo, N. Y., has returned home much improved which is gratifying to his many friends. He contemplates going with his family to Florida later in the season.

HATS OFF TO JUDGE CHAMPION

He's Crittenden's Adopted Son And Formerly Lived Here Although Born In Livingstone.

In the recent election Thos. W. Champion of Ardmore, Okla., was elected Judge of Carter County by the largest majority of any candidate on the ticket. This is especially good news to Tom's friends here in Marion where he practiced law several years, and where he won one of our fairest daughters for his bride only a few years ago. The Judge-elect Champion is a native of Livingstone County but located here, soon after he completed his course in college and begun the practice of law. It was about this time, 1906, that he met, wooed and won Miss Daisy Towery daughter of the then County Judge Aaron Towery. They have one son, Charles an unusually handsome little fellow.

The lure of the West soon attracted him and being of an ambitious temperament and having moved to Ardmore a growing and prosperous community his friends and they are legion, have expected to hear from him and expect to hear from him again in the future. Heres to you, Tom.

IN SOCIETY

The Wednesday Bridge Club met with Miss Nannie Rochester last week. Hot chocolate, Sandwiches and Date Salad were served.

Next meeting will be with Miss Eva Clement.

Mrs. M. Saunders was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club last week. Delicious refreshments were served.

Several guests were present: Misses Nannie Rochester, Katherine Yates, Madeleine Jenkins, Mary Cameron, Della Jones and Judge T. J. Nunn.

Little Ethel Roberts four years of age is taken to the "Movies" by her parents on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Her grandmother whom she seems to love very dearly was complaining about her being deserted on these evenings to the little lady and said: Ethel, I don't believe you love me very much to go to a picture show and leave me here in the house all alone. Little Ethel whose Presbyterian Sunday School lessons have evidently left impressions replied: Why, no Na-na you are not alone, God is with you.

In honor of their little daughter Marie's 13th. birthday, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Moore of Sheridan entertained a number of her friends Friday evening, Nov. 7th, at six o'clock dinner. Those present were:—Misses Mable Cline, Elsie Clark, Gladys Beard, Ollie Thomas, Ruth Enoch, Rose Moore, Stella Thomas, Mary Hurley, Cora Moore and Messrs Homer Davidson, Clifton Enoch, Ray Thomas, Hurse Stallions, Marvin Cline, and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore took the little folks on a Hay ride to Church at Silcam.

All left wishing Marie many happy returns of the day, and declaring they had had the best time ever. Many handsome and useful presents were received.

Fire at W. R. Cruce's.

Friday night about midnight one of the Crider boys returning from a fox hunt, saw a light which proved upon investigation to be a fire in some of the out buildings at W. R. Cruce's country place, three miles south of the city. He gave the alarm and awoke Mr. Cruce and his wife. The fire, it seems, had burned the poultry house and then extended to the cellar, which was a double walled affair with air chambers and tamped with sawdust to make it frost proof. Both of these buildings were consumed with all their contents. The cellar was stored fruits and vegetables and its shelves loaded with good things to eat, for which the Cruce home is famous. Mr. Cruce had his winter apples stored there also Irish potatoes, preserves, vinegar, wine and other things too numerous to mention, and worst of all there was no insurance.

Mr. Cruce and his good wife have the sympathy of all who know them in this loss. Although he took it quite philosophically and said, "there's no use grieving over spilt milk," and "it might have been worse," Mr. Cruce who had guests that night at his home, said he was sorry to disturb them, and that was his greatest regret.

Telephone Operator's

The manager of the Marion Home Telephone exchange, W. T. Black, has organized an Operator's Meeting, which met the first time, Wednesday evening, Nov. 4th, 1914. Among those present besides the young lady operators, were B. Y. Chambers, assistant Supt., of Louisville; H. J. Jeffreys, manager of the Paducah plant and district manager of Western Kentucky; W. T. Black and the following operators: Mrs. Pearl L. Adams, Misses Cladye Stephenson, Willie Stephenson, Mayme Bryant, Hattie Phillips, May Cook and Mrs. Minnie Shuttlesworth.

MANY RUINED LIVES

Hundreds can point to the use of calomel as the cause of physical decay. Its strenuous effects upon liver, kidneys and even the heart are known to every practicing physician.

Medical science has found a vegetable compound that eliminates the poisons from the liver and accumulation from the bowels in a safer and saner way than does calomel and leaves no ill after-effects.

This remedy in the form of GRIGSBY'S LIV-ER-LAX is a proven success. It is for sale in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles by Haynes & Taylor who guarantee to refund purchase price if you want it. It is always protected by the likeness of L. K. Grigsby.

London, Nov. 10.—It is officially announced that the channel steamer "Queen" rescued 2,500 prisoners from the French steamer Admiral Ganteaume, blown up by a mine off Boulogne. An appeal has been made for help for the distressed people. When the steamer Queen left the scene of the accident, Admiral Ganteaume was still afloat and British destroyers were standing by.

BEAUTIFUL NEW LONDON ZOO

Quarters for Animals in Which They Will Be Enabled to Enjoy Some Freedom.

Every animal from the gnu to the hippopotamus will be made to feel comfortably "at home" in London's new zoo, the Boston Evening Transcript states. Even the visitors will be given thrills and pleasures. For instance, they will find themselves separated from the bears by no bars at all, but only by a deep ditch, so that it will appear possible for the beasts to leap upon the visitors if they so desire. The new zoo will be called "the Mappin Terraces," having been given to the city by the late J. Newton Mappin. The rock-loving sheep and goats will have mountains on which they can enjoy exercise, warm shelters from the wind and flat ground in front, where they may come to be fed by the visitors. The bears, most of which have been confined in dismal prisons, will have spacious and various exercising grounds, baths and cots. As the sun moves around they will have shade under one or other of the radiating partitions, and in the hottest weather they will be able to retire into the shade.

Visitors will be able to see the panoramic effect of the terraces and the side terrace, the gaudy water fowl and deer below, the bears apparently free in the valleys of a mountain, and the sheep and goats on the distant peaks. It is estimated that nearly 5,000 persons will be able to see something of the animals simultaneously, an incalculable boon in the small garden on crowded days.

ONE IMPROVEMENT.

"Say not so. They've dropped the fad for simplified spelling."

NATURAL CONCLUSION.

"Smith told me he was a self-made man."
"I suppose that is why he succeeded in an automatic company."

OWE MY HEALTH to Peruna

I was Gradually Breaking Down From Confinement to Store.

Mr. C. N. Peterson, dealer in fine boots, shoes and cigars, No. 132 South Main St., Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health and I felt that I was gradually breaking down."

"I tried several remedies prescribed by my physician, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately, and five bottles restored me to complete health. I have been in the best of spirits since, and feel that I owe my health to it."

Catch Cold Easily.

Mr. Arthur G. Peterson, R. F. D. 21, Box 21, Oniro, Wisconsin. He was in the habit of catching cold easily.

He says: "It has been seven months now since I have taken any Peruna and I haven't felt the least touch of cold since, and I am positive that I am now rid of the tendency to catch cold. Peruna is a wonderful remedy."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

A GRUESOME WAR STORY IF TRUE.

Entire Brigade Crosses River on The Corpses of Men And Horses.

Paris, Nov. 11.—First hand information of the stupendous carnage which followed the opening of the sluices of the Yser river has just reached me. After eight days of the most sanguinary fighting in military history the river became choked with corpses. The entire Wurtemburg brigade was able to cross the river, using the corpses of men and horses as their sole bridge. When the infantry were on the western bank of the river the German artillery shelled the first line of trenchers, and when no reply came from there the Wurtemburgers, shouting their war cry, charged the trenches. It was only when they arrived at the breastworks that they discovered the Belgians had left, leaving their hats propped on sticks.

Before the Germans were able to regain the river banks the Belgians opened the sluices and hundreds of tons of water rushed upon the entrapped men, carrying with it houses, uprooted trees and thousands of dead bodies.

Shrieking with terror the Wurtemburgers attempted to flee, but when they were wading breast high in the water French guns posted on a nearby slope opened fire, and with the exception of a mere handful who struggled to the Belgian lines the entire brigade was wiped out by fire and water.

The valley is now a tranquil sheet of water. The only visible objects thereon are a few telegraph poles and a number of corpses floating on the surface.

For colds, catarrh or sniffles there is nothing better than Hyomei which Haynes & Taylor sell on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan. Hyomei not only gives quick relief but is a sure and lasting benefit.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna."

This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is commended by Christians everywhere to be the most helpful.

If Christians allow the rush and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually weaker day by day and if the peace of God gives place in their hearts to the discontent which is growing in the world, not understanding the multiplication of our comforts and perfections.

Using Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the title of this little book is not in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good, not for profit.

Your Friends Birth Dates.

An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.

Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

She Will Outfit Field Hospital.

New York, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, will sail to-morrow for Europe on the Lusitania with a staff of four surgeons and fifteen trained nurses to establish at her own expense, a large field hospital behind the firing line in Northern France. Ten motor ambulances, a large quantity of medical supplies and clothing sufficient for 3,000 men, women and children, all purchased by Mrs. Whitney as a part of her undertaking, were shipped to France last Saturday.

Wounded soldiers of the warring nation will be treated at the field hospital, which is to be conducted in co-operation with the American ambulance hospital now managed by Drs. De Ranchet and Jose A. Blake near Paris. The field hospital is to be known as a unit in the American ambulance hospital service, and it is understood that Mrs. Whitney is prepared to finance from her own personal fortune other units should they be deemed necessary. Mrs. Whitney's sister, Countess Szechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, is now aiding the wounded in Austria.

Is Belgium Gone?

The Washington Herald publishes a "local story" to the effect that it is believed in diplomatic circles that the German Kaiser wishes to force the United States to recognize him as the ruler of Belgium. He is said to have courteously intimated to Brand Whitlock, the American minister to Belgium, that his mission is at an end and that the German government hopes that he will enjoy remaining in Brussels as a private citizen as long as he wishes to do so. In the view of the Kaiser, apparently, Belgium no longer exists. The territory of the exiled King is a German province.

The situation is somewhat difficult, but the United States will doubtless decline, pending the issues of the war at least, to recognize German authority and Belgian extinction.

Crown Prince Off Germany Dead.

Washington, Nov. 9.—A private letter received by a young woman in Washington from a Lieutenant in the German army refers to "the funeral of the Crown Prince." The letter came to the attention of state department officials when its recipient asked the American government to undertake to transmit a reply for her to the Lieutenant to whom she is engaged to be married.

The request was denied, as have been many similar ones. The letter made only a casual reference to "the funeral of the Crown Prince," speaking of the big crowds that poured out to see it.

A week ago dispatches from London also reported the receipt there of private letters from Germany saying the Crown Prince had been buried.

WILSONGRAMS.

Liberty does not consist, my fellow citizens, in mere general declaration of the rights of men, but consists in the translation of those declarations into definite action.

The way to be patriotic in America is not only to love America but to love duty that lies nearest to our hand and know that in performing it we are serving our country.

It is patriotic to learn what the facts of our national life are and to face them with candor.

We set a nation up at any rate, we professed to set it up to vindicate the rights of men.

I would be ashamed of this flag (Stars and Stripes) if it ever did anything outside America that we should not permit it to do inside of America.

How to Banish Flies.

Gen. Vaillard, President of the Health Board of the French army, addressed the Royal Society of Medicine in London a few weeks since on "Houseflies and Public Health." Among the most interesting things he said were these about the best methods of ridding houses of flies. After mentioning the traps and fly papers, with which every one is familiar, he spoke on Pyrethrum powder as very active when fresh and pure. Milk containing 15 per cent of formalin is good and fumigation with cresol ought to be more common, as it destroys mosquitoes as well as flies. This fumigation is especially useful in kitchens and stables.

Volcano Vesuvius Again

In Eruption.

Naples, via Rome, Nov. 10.—Mt. Vesuvius is again in eruption and the inhabitants in its vicinity have become greatly alarmed. On Sunday special prayers were made and processions of people went to favored shrines as a repetition of the disaster of 1906 is feared.

The activity of the volcano first manifested itself by deep detonations and rumblings. This was followed by gigantic columns of smoke and soon thereafter an abundant eruption of lava began.

The last serious eruption of Mt. Vesuvius occurred in the spring of 1906. Several villages were destroyed and the property loss was estimated at $20,000,000. About 500 persons were killed and fifty thousand were rendered homeless. Many nations, especially the United States sent aid to the sufferers. There have been several eruptions since 1906 but all were of a minor character and no serious losses.

HERMIT IS SOUGHT IN MURDER TRIAL

Recluse Who Lived In Cave Disappears

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 10. — "Grizzly," a hermit who lived in a cave near Island Park, is being sought by South Bend police, who believed that he may know something of the murder of Hazel Macklin, 15-year-old girl who disappeared on August 10, and whose body was found in a vault in Island Park, October 25. The aged recluse is said to have disappeared a few weeks ago. Detectives are searching the woods in the vicinity of Island Park in an effort to locate him. The description of a man said to have met Hazel Macklin near where she was murdered was given the police late today by Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McCloud, of South Bend. The McClouds said they were on a street car with a girl of Hazel's description on the evening she disappeared. They said the girl alighted from the car near Island Park and that she was joined by a man about 40 years old, five feet five inches tall, of dark complexion, who weighed about 155 pounds, who wore a black mustache and who had closely set eyes and a sharp nose.

(delayed from last week.) Having seen nothing from our neighborhood for a long, we thought we would send you a line or two. The farmers are finishing the wheat sowing this beautiful weather. Molasses making is in order now with sorghum mills in great demand there being more cane than mills to make it up. Rev. Gibbs, of Marion, filled his regular appointment at this place Saturday and Sunday. He was called as pastor of this place for the ensuing year. Rev. Boucher preached an excellent sermon at this place Saturday night, which all present enjoyed. We would be pleased to hear him. Come again. Collin Fox went to Lismann, Ky., Monday to accept a position as agent at that place for the I. C. railroad. The Irish potato crop is a complete failure in this section, with the sweet potatoes nearly as bad. Jack Frost delayed his coming long, but at last has done his work thoroughly. Bro. APOSTLE OF COMMON PEOPLE

Charles Dickens the First Author to Give Insight Into the Heroism of the Poor.

A recent number of the London Dickensian contains a sketch of Charles Dickens which presents him as "the apostle of the people." The people as represented in ordinary men and women, it says, had never been articulate until Dickens, who as the genius of the commonplace, became their mouthpiece. Until he came upon the scene to champion them, the common people had always been misrepresented even by Shakespeare, Fielding and Scott. Dickens understood the common people with an understanding that is only born of fellowship in suffering and of the charity that is love. He knew what poverty was, the article asserts, for he had felt its bitter bite and sting. "As a boy," says the Dickensian, "he must have given eager ear to countless stirring tales of the wars that had lately convulsed the whole western world; yet in spite of all this he manifested throughout his life a spirit of anti-militarism. He went out of his way to avoid description of a battlefield, just as he refrained from putting the heroism of sudden effort before the day-to-day, hand-to-mouth heroism of the poor."

PIANO IN BALLOON.

Indianapolis viewed a novel flight last fall, when a coal-gas balloon of 80,000 cubic feet capacity carried a player piano, a young society woman as performer, and a licensed aeronaut to a height of 3,000 feet, and landed seven miles from the starting point. The piano, platform, six bags of ballast and the two passengers weighed nearly 1,800 pounds. No difference in the tone of the piano was noted, except that when the highest point was reached the bass notes, when struck, vibrated until the whole bag shook.—Popular Mechanics.

THE EASIER WAY.

"Why doesn't somebody make another trip to the north pole?" "What's the use?" asked the cautious traveler. "There are so many ways of joining the Ananias club nearer home!"

LOGICAL EFFECT.

"Did you see where they have found out that lead pencils carry germs?" "Well, naturally, they are the very things to draw them."

POLICEMAN'S PISTOL HOLDS UP A SUICIDE

After Plunge Into Icey Chicago River Bradon Hesitates—Revolver Does the Rest.

Chicago.—That old adage about being "between the devil and the deep sea" falls far short of describing the predicament the other day of John Bradon. In all of his 48 winters he had never found the Chicago river so cold nor Chicago's police force so unrelenting. He was standing on the Washington street bridge when he decided that the Chicago river would be a good place to drown himself. He leaped over the railing and hit the water with a splash that brought Policeman David Powers on the run. Bradon came up shivering and kicking. Why he should try to swim when he wanted to "Come Out of That, You Spalpeen." Bradon didn't know, but the water was so cold he had to do something to keep warm. "Come out of that, you spalpeen, you!" shouted Powers. "Come out of that, or by all that's good and holy, I'll put a bullet in you!"

The policeman had drawn his revolver and leveled it at the swimmer. Bradon knew that he couldn't dodge the bullets without ducking his head in the icy water, and he struck out for a pier, to which he clung until the policeman hurled him a rope and pulled him out. "It was a cold, unfeeling world, and I wanted to end it all, but that water is the coldest proposition I ever went up against," said Bradon, shivering, as he was being taken to the Iroquois hospital. He refused to say why he wanted to commit suicide.

ARMLESS MAN MAKES RESCUE

Extends Legs Into Water, Raises Up Swimmer to Pier Without Use of Rope.

Chicago.—When it comes to rescuing men from drowning, Stanley Martin, who lives at 538 Grand boulevard, requires neither ropes, planks, lifeboats, nor even arms. His short stumps that end a few inches from the shoulder, two legs and a loud voice are all he needs.

Martin spent the afternoon strolling along the lake front. At Thirty-fifth street he paused to look out from shore and watch Henry Carlson of 4100 Vincennes avenue skimming along in a canoe. As he watched the canoe capsized before a fresh gust of wind and Carlson was thrown into the chilly water.

The armless man looked frantically up and down the shore. No one was in sight. He did not see how he could offer much assistance by kicking his way out a quarter of a mile to the point where the canoe had overturned. He did not dare run across the railroad tracks for aid.

So he ran nervously up and down the pier shouting encouragement to Carlson, who was swimming vigorously toward shore. Martin looked at the smooth sides of the pier and realized the swimmer, exhausted by the cold and exertion, could never pull himself out. He sat down on the edge and continued to shout encouragement. Carlson says he came near giving up a scant rod from the pier, but made another effort and drew close.

Martin had thrown himself face down on the pier. Bracing himself with his stumps he edged cautiously backward, letting his legs swing out in the water as far as he could reach. He felt the despairing swimmer grab a foot, gripped his teeth, and hung on. Carlson clung for a few seconds, then, aided by the armless man, pulled himself up and floated away.

It was then that Martin's other faculties came into service. He threw back his head and yelled until others arrived and assisted in carrying Carlson to a hospital.

The writer never met the little girl, but Russell was a bright sweet little boy and was loved by all who knew him. His tragic death has cast a shadow over the entire neighborhood and took all the sunshine from his own home and that of his grand-parents (Mr. and Mrs. A. J. V.), being the only child was a great favorite and visited his grand-parents every day. Oh! the home will be so lonely to papa and mama without their little Russell and the aged grand-parents will miss his "hello" of a morning as he would always call for them to come and see who had come, he always received a welcome there, from Grandpa, Grandma, three aunts and one uncle. No one can take Russell's place with them.

The sad accident has darkened another home, that of Mrs. Geo. Tudor, they being grandparents of both children. Dear bereaved ones, the same one that took them from you has said, "My grace is sufficient for thee." Little Mabel was buried somewhere near her home. Russell was laid to rest in the Rowland Cemetery amid a large crowd of relatives and friends, two schools having dismissed. Rev. U. G. Hughes made a beautiful talk and loving hands covered two little mounds with flowers.

A bud the garden gave us, A pure and lovely child, By sin unblighted, By sin undefiled. But just as it was blossoming In the glory of the day, Down came the heavenly gardener, And took our flower away. 'round the little grave we linger, 'till the setting sun is low, Thinking all our hopes have vanished, With the flower we cherished so. Jesus, while our hearts are bleeding, O'er the spoils that death has won, We would at this solemn meeting, Calmly say "Thy will be done," —LENA RUSHING.

Dont Blame the Tax Collector If He Gets You.

City Marshall and tax collector A. S. Cannan at the last meeting of the Council reported over $5100.00 collected of the 1914 levy thus enabling the City to meet its obligations. So much for having a good marshal and good collector. However the law is plain and Mr. Cannan will be forced to proceed to collect the balance of the unpaid taxes which amounts to several hundred dollars, and will begin to make levies in a few days. Dont blame him. Every one can pay their mite and should do so and save costs.

W. J. Hill Writes for Us Again.

Mr. Editor There are a few things I would like to get in the RECORD-PRESS. They are continually coming up in the Sunday School and I am sure if the boys will take the word of the Lord for proof I can show them their wrong. I am sure it will cut on someone's creed or faith. But let God be true and every man a liar.

When God made man he made him pure and holy, not even a taint of sin about him. So this didn't suit the devil and he began to plan to put Adam out of the garden, so one day he got up a conversation with Adam's wife in reference to eating fruit and being wise, of course this catches a woman, to talk to her about being wise or keeping up with the styles of the day, just like any other woman will. She got left, lost her home and died spiritually, cut out of a home, Gen. 3: 1-2.

Some call this falling from grace and others backsliding, to say the least of it the devil got the victory and put them out of business and it caused God to give his son to redeem man from under this curse of broken law.

But through love and mercy Jesus came and suffered and died on the cross in order that man could have one other chance, so, at 30 years of age, Jesus began preaching and called 12 men to help him; Matt. 10: 1-20. Read this.

Will some of you preachers and people say that one of these men was a devil from the beginning. My! what a slam on our Lord. I would not say that for anything.

Judas was ordained as preacher, had the same power as the other eleven did. He was the treasurer and clerk, carried the money, paid the bills, preached, ate the passover and took the sacrament, all in the upper room with Jesus and the eleven. And when they sang a song, or some as it was, they went out, Jesus and the eleven went to the garden, and Judas got thirty pieces of silver, came to Jesus in the garden and kissed him. And they bound Jesus and went away. Then Judas saw what he had done, went and tried to get them to take the money back.

But they would not have it, so he went and hung himself, as all Bible readers know.

Now as to the supper and sacrament read Matt. 26: 20-30; Mark 17: 17-26; Luke 22: 17-21; and Psalms 71, 7-9. Then if you don't think our Lord took the sacrament with the twelve, read I Cor. 11: 23-25. Now what do you say? Friends I know that some of this will be hard to swallow, but I didn't make the Bible and I don't propose to run the risk of changing it.

I think some of you ought to rehaul your creeds or change your books. There is no penalty against that and there is if we take any man in preference as to the Bible.

Now this comes from a big living heart, one who tries to help all men to a better life. I am going to the Judgement. I am working hard to get all of my business first with God and man.

Yours in love,
W. J. Hill.
P. S.—Read Acts 1: 25.

A Dollar That Can't Be Spent

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

Author of "Do Something! Be Something!"

EVERY dollar spent in advertising is not only a seed dollar which produces a profit for the merchant, but is actually retained by him even after he has paid it to the publisher.

Advertising creates a good will equal to the cost of the publicity. Advertising really costs nothing. While it uses funds it does not use them up. It helps the founder of a business to grow rich and then keeps his business alive after his death.

It eliminates the personal equation. It perpetuates confidence in the store and makes it possible for a merchant to withdraw from business without having the profits of the business withdrawn from him. It changes a name to an institution—an institution which will survive its builder.

It is really an insurance policy which costs nothing—pays a premium each year instead of calling for one and renders it possible to change the entire personnel of a business without disturbing its prosperity.

Advertising renders the business stronger than the man—independent of his presence. It perpetuates systems of merchandising, the track of which is left for others to follow.

A business which is not advertised must rely upon the personality of its proprietor, and personality in business is a decreasing factor. The public does not want to know the man who owns the store—it isn't interested in him but in his goods. When an unadvertised business is sold it is only worth as much as its stock of goods and its fixtures. There is no good will to be paid for—it does not exist—it has not been created. The name over the door means nothing except to the limited stream of people from the immediate neighborhood, any of whom could tell you more about some store ten miles away which has regularly delivered its shop news to their homes.

It is as shortsighted for a man to build a business which dies with his death or ceases with his inaction, as it is unfair for him not to provide for the continuance of its income to his family.

A Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the horrors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break, when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Hornung, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter and summer and every one remarked about my appearance. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pains in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak."

"I was visiting at a friend's home one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day. Everybody is asking me what I am doing and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. HORNUNG, 91 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Was A Blessing To This Woman.

So. RICHMOND, VA.—"I was troubled with a bearing down pain and a female weakness and could not stand long on my feet. Of all the medicines I took nothing helped me like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now regular and am getting along fine. I cannot praise the Compound too much. It has been a blessing to me and I hope it will be to other women."—Mrs. D. TYLER, 23 West Clifton St., South Richmond, Va.

Pains in Side, Could Hardly Stand.

LODI, WIS.—"I was in a bad condition, suffering from a female trouble, and I had such pains in my sides I could hardly move. Before I had taken the whole of one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt better, and now I am well and can do a good day's work. I tell everybody what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. JOHN THOMPSON, Lodi, Wisconsin.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., CONFIDENTIAL LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

VOTE AN AID TO WORKING WOMEN

Would Gain Them a Greater Influence.

AN INSTANCE IN NEW YORK

By VIRA BOARMAN WHITEHOUSE.

THE anti-suffragists say that women shouldn't vote because they are already represented at the polls. Their husbands or fathers or brothers or sons represent them. If society were neatly divided up into pairs, a man and woman each with identical interests and opinions, then one vote could represent two people. But society is not so divided.

Not only is it not evenly divided as to numbers, but certainly not as to opinions. The Hon. Mr. Hefflin of Alabama, speaking against woman suffrage before the committee on rules of the house of representatives, December, 1913, made this latter point very clear. He said: "The husband will hold to one political view, and the wife will cling to another. . . . and pandemonium will reign in many quarters of the country." Evidently, then, on the evidence of a prominent anti-suffragist, a husband does not represent his wife's opinions at the polls.

"Uneven Representation." But he said in the same speech, "Every man in the world who has accomplished something is the flesh and blood representative of some good woman." From the text of the speech it would appear that women and their interests are to be represented by their sons. This would seem rather an uneven representation. Some women have no sons at all; others have many. But even those women who have sons are doomed under this arrangement to go totally unrepresented during at least twenty-one of the best years of their lives until their firstborn male child is old enough to vote.

The suffragists believe that it is a fairer and more effective arrangement to let every woman vote for herself rather than to try to provide her with a male representative, husband or son. However complicated this system of representation is, there may have been some ground for it under former conditions. Women's work used to be concentrated in the home, and all the conditions, the manner of the work and the hours of the work and the amount of the work, were controlled by the individual women themselves, and the result of their labors was for the immediate use and consumption of their families. Their husbands could and did share their interests and, roughly speaking, might very inadequately and unevenly represent them politically.

But the economic changes brought about by the invention of machinery and the establishment of the factory have drawn the women of the poorer classes relentlessly from the home. The census estimates 9,000,000 working women in this country.

Women Are Specialists.

In the development of factory conditions it has come about that special classes of work have fallen entirely to women. They have been sorted into groups with interests, problems and difficulties distinct from men's. For the most part men, even fellow wage earners, are ignorant of and indifferent to their problems. These class interests of women then, which have taken the place of their former individual interests, cannot in any way be represented by husbands or sons.

The result of engaging in factory work without political representation is evident. It cannot be denied that the conditions under which women labor are not as good as the conditions under which men do their work. Regardless of the task accomplished, wages are lower.

Men's labor unions have refused to take women into their ranks because they are ineffective as citizens and therefore as members. Women have not as yet organized on a large scale or, when organized, have not been able to enforce their demands. For instance, the shirt waist strike of several years ago in New York city was a bitter experience for the voteless workers.

After a long and fruitless struggle they appealed, 30,000 of them, to Mayor McClellan to lighten some of the difficulties under which they were suffering. He refused to receive their delegation. He said he was not interested. He probably had reasons which seemed excellent to himself for refusing. The motives that influence legislators in their discrimination against women are often obscure even to them selves. Is it likely, however, that 30,000 voters would have been refused an audience?

The shirt waist workers received no consideration. It was clear to them and to many outside observers that their treatment by magistrates, politicians and the public was more contemptuous than if they had been voters. Their indirect representation was not effective in that situation.

NO JOB FOR CORONER

MERELY DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AMONG ITALIANS.

Stolid Americans Naturally Felt a Little Alarm at the Heated Discussion, But It Was Nothing to Excited, Volatile Latins.

"There is something most refreshing to the colder northern races in the excitable and volatile Latins," said George Hamlin recently. "We had a delightful exhibition of this quality when we first reached Milan. We entered a cafe, celebrated as much for the artists who frequent it as for its excellent cuisine, and had barely given our order when our attention was attracted to a nearby table where two diners were engaged in what was evidently a very serious discussion. At that time our linguistic accomplishments were limited to Mark Twain's famous 'Quanta costa?—Troppo caro,' with an additional phrase or two thrown in, all of which were inadequate to unravel any clue to the earnest conversation opposite."

"Presently the voices grew louder and more passionate, and the two men looked positively violent as they half rose from their seats and glared at each other ferociously across the table. We became decidedly uneasy. Vendettas, stilletos and such Italian appurtenances are all picturesque enough in grand opera, but we did not care to have our dinner punctuated with deeds of carnage."

"In the meantime all the other diners had stopped eating and were gazing with interest toward the scene of altercation. Gradually they abandoned their dinners altogether and came over to take sides with the disputants. Even the waiters forsook their posts, and attached themselves to one side or the other. 'Surely,' we thought anxiously, 'this quarrel must involve the honor of the whole nation.' 'By this time the din was fearful. A score or more of excited men were shouting at each other across the small table, brandishing furious fists in each other's faces, and looking like bloodshed and murder. Our soup cooled untasted before us; all appetite had vanished. We clung to our chairs, too terror-stricken to flee for our lives, even though we felt a desperate conviction that a massacre was at hand and our minutes were numbered."

"Finally, one of the crowd pounded on the table vigorously and yelled some noises which sounded like a pack of firecrackers exploding. There was an instant's silence, and then the whole lot of them, waiters and all, bolted out the front door."

"We breathed an immeasurable relief! At least the scene of slaughter was transferred and our skins were safe. Just then our waiter reluctantly returned, though he made it plain that his duty to us was a decided bore."

"Was it a feud?—a vendetta?" we asked—and can't the police stop them before they kill each other?"

"And the waiter replied in his own peculiar brand of English: 'It be onless that they not agree which be the shortest road to La Scala, and so half they go one way, and half they go the other, to make it prove!'"

A Real Drought.

If you don't like it in the United States this summer go to Aden. Ed. Howe has lately been there, and the following are some of the pleasant things he says of the place: "At nine o'clock this evening we came to Aden. In Arabia, said to be the hottest town in the world. Every drop of water used there is condensed from the sea, though there is a white population of 2,000, including English soldiers, and an Arab population of 40,000. There is a tradition that rain fell at Aden three years ago, and that every roof in town leaked; but previous to that time no rain had fallen in the town or its vicinity for many years; many of its elderly citizens had never seen a rainstorm, and looked with wonder upon the one which fell three years ago. A gentleman who lives at Aden says he pays $20 a month for water, which is delivered at his door in tanks drawn by camels. Some of the numerous shops in Aden sell bottled water, and the price in quantity is usually a dollar per hundred gallons. Many years ago great tanks were built at Aden to catch the precious rainfall, but these have not been in use for many years, although tourists usually visit them."—Nebraska State Journal

Breeding Tailless Dogs.

Philippe de Vilmorin has just completed some odd experiments to ascertain the influence of heredity on tailless dogs. There are several different breeds that have no tails, and these are fairly common in some parts of France and Germany.

In an effort to ascertain if absence of tail is hereditary in dogs, he brought about twenty-seven crosses between dogs of different breeds. He reports to the Academie des Sciences that when tailless is bred with tailless, the result is 75 tailless and 25 with tails. This is exactly in accord with the formula of Mendel, absence of tail being in such dogs dominant to possession of tail. Of the 75 tailless dogs 25 are pure bred, and the other 50 unite the two characters. The 25 pure will bear pure tailless progeny; the 50 mixed will bear in the same proportion, 25 pure tailless, 50 mixed, 25 with tails.

Breeds that normally possess tails are pure and will always have puppies with tails.

He makes no report on the effect of breeding tailed with tailless.

ECHOES FROM MADISONVILLE

Madisonville Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Madisonville resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

Mrs. Eva Hobbs, N. Seminary St., Madisonville, Ky., says: "No one but those who have suffered from bearing-down pains across the small of the back can appreciate what a boon to kidney sufferers Doan's Kidney Pills are. I used everything that was recommended to me for kidney complaint, but the trouble remained. I tried plasters and different remedies, too, without success. Finally my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and my son got them for me. After taking a few doses, I felt their good effect. I continued until all symptoms of kidney disease were removed. My health is now greatly improved. You are at liberty to continue publishing my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hobbs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 115-12

Obituary.

The Rev. J. J. Franks, better known as "DOCK" and son of Jno. M. and Nancy T. Franks of this Co. was born March, 18 1852 professed faith in Christ in 1874 at Siloam under the preaching of his uncle Rev. W. T. Moore. He united with the Baptist Church of Crooked Creek where he was active loyal, and consistent, later he was transferred to Union Church where he remained until his removal from Crittenden to Livingston Co. where he united with Pinckneyville Church where he remained till his death.

Soon after his conversion he was called to the ministry which he meekly and modestly obeyed, bearing evidence by the joy he found in the same that his field of labor was of Divine appointment.

Having pastored several Churches of this and adjoining counties and as a reward of his faithful labors has been permitted to witness the salvation of many precious souls.

In 1875 he was married to Miss C. Farmer. To this union were born ten children six of whom preceded him to heaven.

His wife having been called three years previous to his departure, left him and his family of sons to encounter many hardships and endure many privations in the effort to maintain and preserve the home with all that it means.

Yet, amid all this he ever exemplified the spirit of submission never rebelling or murmuring, but was of ten known to rejoice in full assurance of his hope of blessed immortality beyond this veil of tears.

On April 12, 1914 he was married to Mrs. Leona Rice of Livingston county.

Saturday Aug. 15, 1914 he was taken very ill and on the third day of his illness, he was taken to Paducah where an operation for Locked Bowels was performed. He bore the operation heroically, giving strong evidence of recovery, which was soon eclipsed by the discovery of a complication.

After ten days, he was removed to his home near Pinckneyville, where his family physicians, neighbors and relatives rendered every service that medical skill and tender love could suggest. But all to no avail, for our Heavenly Father dreamed it otherwise and through love called him home on the evening of Sept. 19, to rest from his labor leaving us with bleeding hearts as fragments of broken homes.

Yet we will not murmur or rebel, knowing that our Father makes no mistakes, but doeth all things well. We know our loss is His eternal gain no skeptic could have witnessed the keep-power of God as demonstrated in the life of the dear one during his affliction and not be forced to forsake the error of his way and be constrained to accept the gospel of Christ.

God grant that the unmistakable and even tread of this Godly life, may serve as a mighty magnet to attract many to the fold of Christ, and that his mantle may rest upon his dear boys who are bereft of Fatherly affection and counsel. Though he be absent yet may he be present to go before as a light and guide their inexperienced feet into right paths.

He made a brave fight that he might be restored to his dear family and the church of God, saying I should like to sing some more Psalms and talk some more to the boys.

But said he was fully committed.

On being asked on the last Sabbath if he desired to go to his heavenly home that day said, "If it is the Lord's will."

O, those loving smiles the kind and tender words he gave us refuse to leave us. None but those who have experienced it know their depth.

How we miss him and yearn to see him again. We could not bear it, if it were not for the hope which serves as an anchor to the soul.

But we shall meet again and should we live our allotted time, the Psalmist compared it to a handbreadth it will not be long.

Besides a wife he leaves four sons one daughter-in-law two grandsons and one granddaughter respectively, John Reed, Haskell Millard, Mrs. Grace Franks, Rudell Elder, Harold Franks and Lucile Franks. Also eight brothers and sister, R. M. Franks, Tolu, D. H. Franks, Mancos, Colo. Mrs. J. A. Farmer Marion, Ky., J. T. Franks, Denver, Colo., Mrs. T. M. Gill, Commerce, Texas, E. T. Franks, Owensboro, Ky., Mrs. W. M. Hurley and Addie Franks of Tolu vicinity.

Funeral took place the following day from the home church. The funeral sermon was conducted in a very earnest and appropriate manner delivered by the Rev. T. C. Carter.

The choir furnished some excellent music. By his request his favorite song "I am going through" was sweetly sung by his cousins Mr. and Mrs. Redford Yates of Marion.

The floral offerings were liberal characteristic of the esteem in which he was held.

SCIATICA GIVES FAIR WARNING

Start Taking Rheuma at Once And Prevent Rheumatism From Becoming Chronic.

Sharp, darting pains from the hips down the legs to the knees are signals of approach of sciatica, and should be treated at once to prevent rheumatism becoming chronic.

Rheuma dislodges the little uric acid crystals in the blood vessels feeding the great sciatic nerve and creates a free movement of the muscles and joints. It stimulates the kidneys, liver, bowels and skin to extra work in throwing off the irritating poisons throughout the system.

Read the testimony of Guy Torley, the great cyclist, of 265 Dayton Ave., St. Paul, Minn.: "I was so crippled with sciatic rheumatism in my hips that I could not walk without crutches. I spent over $200 without relief. Was persuaded to try Rheuma, and after taking three bottles the rheumatism had entirely left me."

J. H. Orme and all druggists sell Rheuma. It is good for all forms of rheumatism, and costs so little you can not afford to suffer for want of it. 4

Great Britain Uses

Iron Rod In Egypt.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Great Britain today proclaimed martial law throughout Egypt. Official notification by the British Charge d'Affaires at Cairo, was to the American diplomatic agents there. On orders from London the commander-in-chief of the British forces took command of the general situation with orders to suppress all outbreaks.

It Really Does Relieve Rheumatism

Everybody who is afflicted with Rheumatism in any form should by all means keep a bottle of Sloan's Liniment on hand. The minute you feel pain or soreness in a joint or muscle, bathe it with Sloan's Liniment. Do not rub it. Sloan's penetrates almost immediately right to the seat of pain, relieving the hot, tender, swollen feeling and making the part easy and comfortable. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief.

The Great Chicago Stock Show.

It should be understood that the purpose of the International Live Stock Exposition, which will this year be held from Nov. 23 to Dec. 5, is the improvement of the live stock of the nation.

It is educational in its nature, aims, methods and results. It brings together annually from 6,000 to 10,000 of the world's choicest animals to be judged in upwards of 600 classes in competition for over 2,600 cash premiums aggregating more than $75,000, besides other numerous valuable prizes, trophies, medals of honor, etc., and holds constant business sessions during the week composed of the foremost live stock representatives of the world, also a series of brilliant evening horse fairs and displays of premium live stock in the arena, with music and special features, all for the purpose of instructing the eye and the mind of the producer of live stock to the importance and necessity of better methods and the greater profits to be derived from raising the better kinds of farm animals, thus expanding and improving the industry throughout the nation, and increasing greatly its agricultural prosperity.

In short, it is a vast object lesson intended for the improvement of the live stock of the United States, the upbuilding of public confidence in the health excellence of American animals and meats, and the creation of a better demand for them at home and abroad.

MONKEYS EASY PREY

JUNGLE LEOPARDS HAVE NO TROUBLE GETTING A DINNER.

More Clicking of Animal's Teeth Frighten Simians Until in Their Excitement They Fall From the Trees.

How the leopards of the low country jungle of Ceylon capture monkeys is told by L. S. Woolf in a letter to the London Times.

"Native Singhaless, who knew the jungle well," he writes, "always assured me that no form of food, except perhaps the dog, is so acceptable to the leopard as the large gray Wanderoo monkey. I have several times found the remains of monkeys that had obviously furnished the leopard's meal in the caves which serve the leopards for a lair—and the inside of a dead leopard has shown further proof.

"The Singhaless had often told me that leopards do not attempt to climb trees in search of their prey.

"Whenever monkeys see a leopard slinking under the trees they become excited and all chatter. As soon as the leopard hears this he lies down under a bush and begins to click his teeth.

"This noise seems to fill the monkey with terror and excitement. They huddle together in the tree top above the leopard's head, jumping up and down on the branches, shrieking and chattering. Below the leopard waits motionless, clicking its teeth, until suddenly one of the monkeys misses its footing and comes to the ground with a thud—and then the leopard is on it in a bound.

"I had always received this information with some doubt until one day saw, at any rate, the first acts of the tragedy. I was traveling in thick jungle and my bullock carts having gone on in the early afternoon, I was following later in the evening down the same sandy track. I noticed that a large leopard had been following behind the bullocks and that he had suddenly turned aside down a small game track.

"At the same moment I became aware of a tremendous chattering of monkeys in the distance. I had a Singhaless with me and we crept through the thick jungle toward the noise.

"After crawling about 150 yards I saw about fifteen to twenty monkeys jumping up and down excitedly on the top of a small tree. They seemed to be looking down at something on the other side of a large bush which was in front of me and when they saw us they kept on turning their heads first at us and then to something else, leaping up and down and shrieking perpetually—and as it appeared to me—gesticulating and beckoning to us with their long, thin gray arms.

"The same thought came to the Singhaless, for he whispered to me: 'They are beckoning you to shoot.' I lay still for a moment thinking which side of the bush it was best to crawl around, and then I distinctly heard the click, click, click of the leopard's teeth behind it. I chose the wrong side, for as I came around all I saw was the leopard disappear in a great curving bound into the thick jungle beyond."

The Creative Impulse.

The creative impulse does not itself know the next step it will take, or the next form that will arise, any more than the creative artist determines beforehand all the thoughts and forms his inventive genius will bring forth. writes John Burroughs in the Atlantic. He has the impulse or the inspiration to do a certain thing, to let himself go in a certain direction, but just the precise form his creation will take is unknown to him as to you and me. Some stubbornness or obduracy in his material, or some accident of time or place, may make it quite different from what he had hoped or vaguely planned. He does not know what thought or incident or character he is looking for till he has found it, till he has risen above his mental horizon. So far as he is inspired, so far as he is spontaneous, just so far is the world with which he deals plastic and fluid and indeterminate and ready to take any form his medium of expression—words, colors, tones—affords him. He may surprise himself, excel himself; he has surrendered himself to a power beyond the control of his will or knowledge.

Where "Stogie" Came From.

"Ever know how the word 'stogies' came into use?" asked Robert Simpson, a newspaper man of Pittsburgh, to a little party of his colleagues at the New Willard. No one in the group of writers did, whereupon Mr. Simpson proceeded: "I presume there are more stogies smoked in the middle west than any other form of tobacco. In fact, stogies are becoming popular the world over, and there are many who like them better than the best cigar. A long time ago I was in a Pennsylvania lumber district, and the timber was transported to market by means of teams. The teamsters in most instances had a long haul, and ordinarily would take a whole day to reach their destination, which was Conestoga. Instead of taking along a pipe, the teamsters would lay in a supply of Pennsylvania tobacco, and as they drove along, with one hand would roll it into shape for smoking. These rolls came to be known as Conestogas, and as time went on the word was contracted to 'stogies.'"

EMOTIONS ARE NO BAR TO VOTES

Both Sexes More or Less Influenced by Feelings.

THE EXCITABILITY OF MEN.

By VIRA BOARMAN WHITEHOUSE.

THE anti-suffragists say that women shouldn't vote because they are too emotional. A recent letter in the New York Sun, referring to Commissioner of Correction Katharine B. Davis, said: "Probably there never has been and probably there never will be a woman thoroughly capable of holding a position where the faculty for calm reasoning and cool emotion is the prime requisite."

This opinion is a surprisingly common one among people who oppose woman suffrage. At the root of it there are two assumptions: That women when they vote will be more emotional than men in their relation to public affairs and that emotion in the conduct of public affairs is altogether undesirable.

Since women as yet have taken no great part in political life the first of these assumptions must be based on the fact that women in private relations have shown themselves to be more emotional than men. Undoubtedly they cry more easily. They may be moved more quickly perhaps to the expression of pity. Their judgments may be more rapidly taken and less carefully considered. But how much of this is due to difference of training? So far the world has insisted that women should have interests only of a personal or familiar kind, and when they express themselves in a personal manner it exclaims, "How emotional!"

Men, however, do not show themselves altogether destitute of emotions in private life, although their emotions may be aroused by different interests and may be expressed not by tears, but by swearing, shouting or hat throwing.

The ideal of a calm and stoic silence under every strain seems to be passing away. Our college boys watching a football game are not unmoved. They stir themselves to an emotional excitement by songs and college cheers.

Our legislative bodies are supposed to be exceedingly dignified in their conduct of political business, but even in their scenes of an emotional nature are not unknown. In other countries they are frequent. During the past winter the German reichstag has been in an uproar of excitement over the Zabern affair, the Austrian house in a tumult over the delay in passing a bill giving more power to the representatives, and the Italian chamber, rivaling these scenes in a discussion over an election reform, has shown that men do not always consider questions of government with judicial dignity.

Wars, which have been the affair of men, have seldom been entered into through cold calculation. Emotion will be found to lie at the bottom of the final action.

It was intense indignation at the treatment of the negro and pity for him that had much to do with our civil war. It was also a mixture of sympathy with the difficulties of the Cubans and indignation at the sinking of the Maine that brought on the Spanish-American war.

Recently, when war was threatened with Mexico, the calm decision of the statesmen of this country was to avoid a conflict at all costs, but when Mexico refused to salute our flag in a specified manner war seemed imminent. There were excited groups of men through out the country who gladly took this refusal as a sign of battle.

The only concerted action taken by women, however, in this connection far from contributing to the excitement, sets itself against it. In New York they calculated only the cost in men and work and held a great mass meeting of protest at Cooper Union, upholding the real determination to avoid war if possible.

Emotion is Necessary. Emotion, it may be suggested, is not merely a feminine characteristic but a human one, shared alike by both men and women. With men it seems perhaps more productive of violent results—lawless deeds as well as noble wars. But who would banish all emotion from a nation's life—all sympathy with the unfortunate, all indignation over wrongs, all generous desire to help without carefully counting the cost? Men are emotional in their own lines. They have shown themselves emotional in public affairs. Women, too, are emotional in their lines, but it is too early yet really to judge what effect the emotionalism of women will have when brought to bear on the conduct of public affairs. If their emotionalism, however, can "look upon the great industrial problems as human problems" perhaps that is just the quality the world of politics most needs.

Concerning Capons.

If capon tool manufacturers would arrange with the directors of fairs to have a "capon day," wherein the manufacturers could demonstrate the easy task it is to produce capons, it would result in good for the farmer, the manufacturer and the consumer of poultry. Many a poultryer would take up caponizing for profit if he knew how easy is the process.—Home & Farm.

Failure to elect Democratic senators in New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois is a hard blow to the Democrats.
The probable victory of the Democratic candidates in Colorado and California partially dispels the general gloom, but the apparent defeat of Senator Newlands, Democrat, of Nevada, is an unexpected reverse.
Democrats have elected 226 members, Republicans 192, Progressives 10, and Socialists one. Of the six missing districts, it was estimated that the Republicans and Democrats might elect three each.
Heaviest Republican gains were 13 in Illinois, 12 in New York, 10 in Pennsylvania and nine in Ohio. Progressive representation in the house was cut from 19 to 9 or 10.
Senators re-elected as the result of hard battles were Frank B. Brandegee, Republican, of Connecticut, opposed by Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin; Albert B. Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, who defeated Representative Maurice Connolly; John Walter Smith, Democrat, of Maryland; William J. Stone, Democrat, of Missouri; Jacob H. Gallinger, Republican, of New Hampshire, who was opposed by Representative E. H. Stevens.
Democratic senators in the south were re-elected without difficulty, new senators from southern states chosen being Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama and Representative Thomas W. Hardwick of Georgia. Former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, Democrat, of Kentucky, was chosen for the long term.
Francis E. McGovern, Republican, was elected, according to early returns, to succeed Senator Stephenson, Republican, from Wisconsin.
The triumph of former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon (Republican) over Frank T. O'Hare for representative in the Eighteenth Illinois District seemed certain on the early returns.

REPUBLICANS MAKE A STRONG SHOWING

DEMOCRATS RETAIN MAJORITY IN CONGRESS BUT LEAD IS CUT DOWN CONSIDERABLY.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD WINS

Uncle Joe Cannon Returned to House.
Boise Penrose Wins in Pennsylvania—Democrats in the South Re-elected.

New York.—Latest returns indicate that the Democratic majority in the house of representatives for the Sixty-fourth congress will be reduced to 23. The probable Democratic majority in the senate will be 14.
Word comes from the Democratic campaign headquarters in Washington that the new house is being claimed for the Democrats by 30 majority, but this is apparently the highest figure that even the most optimistic party manager will go.
The Progressive strength in the lower branch of congress has been reduced from 15 to 10, according to the latest returns. One Socialist has been elected. He is Meyer London of the Twelfth district in this city. He will be the second Socialist who has ever sat in congress. Victor Berger, Socialist, represented Milwaukee for two years, but was beaten in 1912. He and another Socialist candidate unsuccessfully tried to defeat Republicans in Wisconsin.
Although there was no chance of the Republicans gaining control of the next senate, the spectacular contests in nearly a dozen states has attracted keen attention to this first try-out of the new constitutional scheme of electing senators by popular vote instead of by the state legislatures.

RYE IS ELECTED BY 15,000 VOTES

RETURNS FROM 89 COUNTIES OUT OF 96 GIVE BIG PLURALITY TO DEMOCRAT.

WELSH IS ELECTED ALSO

Nashville Banner, Hooper's Strongest Supporter, Concedes Election of Rye—West and Middle Tennessee Solid for Rye.

Nashville.—With complete returns from 89 counties out of 96 Rye has a majority of 18,559. The counties which are not included in this list are the following: Polk, Anderson, Bledsoe, Claiborne, Meigs, Van Buren and Davidson. Returns from five of the East Tennessee counties among those that are now missing are expected to reduce Rye's majority about 1,000.
On the other hand, Davidson county is expected to come to the front with a majority of from 3,000 to 4,000 for Rye, and Van Buren is also expected to help.
When all the returns are in, it is expected that Rye's majority will be 21,000.
The result exceeded the most rosy expectations of Democrats here.
The election at this time, with returns still incomplete, almost looks like a landslide.
The Nashville Banner, Gov. Hooper's strongest newspaper supporter, concedes the election of Rye, Democratic nominee for governor, by 12,000.
Indications on the face of early returns are that Gen. T. C. Rye has defeated Gov. Ben W. Hooper, Republican, for governor of Tennessee by a majority of at least 12,000 votes. Although majorities for Rye were reduced in some West Tennessee towns and cities, in East Tennessee, the Republican stronghold, Hooper's majorities were also reduced. The country districts in West and Middle Tennessee have come strong for Rye, and it is estimated these districts will roll up a sufficient number of votes on the second-day count to make the result incontestable.
George N. Welch, for railroad commissioner, middle district, is falling but little behind the Rye vote, and his election over Capt. W. H. Sadler is almost certain.
Returns indicate no change in the Tennessee congressional delegation, and although returns are incomplete, it is estimated the Democrats will have a comfortable working majority in both branches of the legislature.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN

Elect Penrose Senator and Bumbaugh Governor—Pluralities Over 200,000.

Biggest Vote in Years.
Philadelphia.—Pennsylvania came back strongly into the republican column. That party elected Hoke P. Penrose to the United States senate and Martin G. Brumbaugh governor by pluralities that may exceed 200,000.
The vote exceeded that cast for president in 1912. The Republicans also elected their candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs, as well as four congressmen at large, T. S. Crago, Mahlon M. Garland, Daniel F. Lafean and John R. K. Scott.

Camden, Democrat, for the remainder of the late Senator W. O. Bradley's term. Nine Democrats and two Republican representatives in Congress were chosen.

ARKANSAS IS DEMOCRATIC

Delegation Returns Solid Democratic Majority—Senator Clarke Wins Over Harry H. Myers.

Little Rock, Ark.—Arkansas returned a solid Democratic congressional delegation in the election. Only one change in the present membership; that is in the Third District, where Representative J. C. Floyd retires and John N. Tillman succeeds him. Mr. Tillman was opposed by L. R. Putnam (Progressive) and W. N. Ivy (Republican).
Senator James P. Clarke was elected over Harry H. Myers by a large majority.

Georgia in Line.

Atlanta, Ga.—Georgia elected to the United States Senate the Democratic nominees, Hoke Smith and Thomas W. Hardwick. Nat E. Harris, Democrat, was elected governor. All Democratic congressional nominees were elected.

Prohibition Defeated.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Partial returns from most of the 15 counties in the state indicate the defeat of prohibition. Ralph Cameron, Republican candidate for governor, appears to be leading.
