HON. LEE GIBSON PROPOSES

Primary in Hopkins County to Hon. W. J. Cox—Full Text of their Correspondence Given.

Gibson's Proposal.

The following proposition made by Hon. Lee Gibson to Hon. W. J. Cox is self-explanatory:

Mr. W. J. Cox, Madisonville, Ky.—Dear Sir: I find from talking to the voters of Hopkins county about the selection of a Democratic candidate for circuit judge that a great many of our friends regret that we have two candidates from this county, and they say both of us should not run. I am of the opinion that each of our chances for winning the nomination would be better if we had only one candidate from this county. I request, in the interest of harmony and the good of our party, that we let the democratic voters of this county, possessing the qualifications of legal voters in a democratic primary, decide which of us shall be Hopkins county's candidate for Circuit Judge.

I suggest that a ballot such as used in the legal democratic primaries, be printed and that each of us select two men in each of the voting precincts of Hopkins county, and that they hold an election from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the various voting place in this county, and make duplicate certificates of the votes, returning same either to the County Election Commissioners, or to two gentlemen, one chosen by you and the other by me, who shall canvass the vote. As both of us are known to practically all the voters of Hopkins county, I suggest that said election be held any day before December 19th, 1914, preferably on some Saturday, and the one of us receiving the smaller number of votes at said election withdraw from the race as a candidate for Circuit Judge at the next August primary. The expense of this election to be borne equally by us. Should you receive a greater number of votes in this primary than I, I will give you my support at the next August primary.

Please answer in time for your reply to be put in next Tuesday issue of The Hustler so the Democratic voters of Hopkins county may know what is going to be done in regard to this matter.

Very truly yours,
Lee Gibson.

Mr. Cox's Reply.

Hon. W. J. Cox replies to the letter addressed to him in the last issue of the Hustler by Hon. Lee Gibson, and it is self-explanatory:

Monday, Nov. 23, 1914. Hon. Lee Gibson, Madisonville, Kentucky:—Dear Sir: Your open letter which was published in the Hustler on Friday, November 20, 1914, and copy of which was delivered to me, submitting the proposition that the Democratic voters of Hopkins county, possessing the qualifications of legal voters, in a democratic primary, decide which of us shall be Hopkins county's candidate for judge and in which you suggest that the matter be determined at an election held before December 19, 1914, and that my answer be made in time to be put in the issue of the Hustler on Tuesday Nov. 24, 1914, has been read and considered, and answering the same I assure you that the proposition meets my approval and I hereby accept the same, but do not accede to the time fixed in your letter, because the people of the county should be considered in the matter, in order that the fullest expression in the making of the choice may be had.

Within the last few months in Hopkins county we have had two elections, one so recent as the third of this month, and the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons both approaching, it should seem difficult to interest our people very largely in even so important question to them as selecting a candidate of this county, to be voted for next August as its candidate for the democratic nomination for Circuit Judge; and knowing that the democratic vote in this county is as large as that in the other three counties of the district, I would suggest that as nearly as may be, we divide the time, and hold the proposed primary election in and for Hopkins county in the various voting precincts, as outlined in your proposition, on Saturday, April 3, 1915.

If this date is satisfactory to yourself you may advise me on or before Nov. 25, 1914, and we shall then agree upon all matters expressed in your proposition, and sign a joint statement for the information of the public.

Respectfully yours,
Wm. J. Cox.

Mr. Gibson's Reply.

November 23, 1914

Hon. W. J. Cox,
Madisonville, Ky.

My Dear Sir:

Your response to my proposition of the 20th inst., to submit our candidacy for the nomination for Circuit Judge to the democratic voters of this county, has been received, and I note that you accept the same, except that you want the primary held on April 3rd instead of the date suggested by me.

We have both been announced candidates for practically two months, and I felt like a fair expression of the voters could be had on the date I named. Further, the roads and weather conditions would likely be more suitable and the farmers would certainly be able to vote without losing time from their work which would not be the case if the primary should be held on the date named by you.

I can see no good reason for deferring the matter until April, as we are both well known to the voters of the county, and I am convinced that an early election would meet with their hearty approval and would be to the best interests of the party.

Inasmuch as we are not agreed on the date for holding this primary, I make the following proposition. That each of us name a third known democrat; that we appear before them and state our reasons for the time suggested by us for holding the primary and that their decision in the matter shall be final and binding, and that the primary be held on the day named by them, or a majority of them.

Yours very truly,
Lee Gibson.

It seems from the above correspondence between Messrs. Gibson & Cox, Hopkins county's candidates for Circuit Judge, that they think the Democrats of the other counties of this judicial district should not have

MISS IVA BIGHAM WINS GOLD MEDAL

In Declamatory Contest In Educational Division No. 1—Miss Alvie Millikan wins 2nd Prize.

The Declamatory contest of educational division Number One was held at Frances on Saturday night, Nov. 14, and a very interesting and entertaining program was rendered.

The contest was held in the beautiful new Presbyterian church and there was scarcely room in that spacious building to accommodate the magnificent audience that had gathered to enjoy the program.

Soon after all were assembled the house was called to order by the president, Mr. Hilliard and all joined in singing "America."

After invocation by Brother Thompson, an eloquent welcome address was given by Mr. Allie Whitt, and response by Mr. Hilliard.

Then the speakers were introduced, Miss Iva Bigham of Crayne spoke first. Her subject "Mice at play" was well suited to the speaker and the impersonation of the childish characters in the declamation was perfect.

Her voice was clear and plain so that every word could be heard distinctly in all parts of the room. The storm of applause that greeted her when she had finished gave proof of the appreciation of the audience.

Then followed the other speakers of the evening, and all were highly complimented on the splendid manner of delivery of their declamations.

When the speakers were through the judges, Mr. B. M. Owen, Mr. Frank Farris, and Rev. A. J. Thompson, retired from the room but soon returned as the decision was unanimously in favor of Miss Iva Bigham who received the gold medal, the silver medal going to Miss Alvie Millikan, of Frances.

All joined in singing "God be with you", Bro. Thompson dismissed the audience and all went home feeling much benefitted by the enjoyable evening spent.

A Birthday Dinner Given.

On Tuesday, Nov. 10th., the friends and relatives of A. G. Cline gathered at his home, one-half mile west of the Sulphur Springs to celebrate his 63rd birthday.

When the noon hour rolled around we found ourselves seated at the table which was loaded with barbecued hog, roasted turkey, pickles, preserves, jellies of all kinds, four different kinds of cakes, 3 different kinds of pies and many other good things too numerous to mention.

He received several nice and useful presents.

Those present besides his family were:—Ellis Cline and wife, Ocie, three children, Mable, Marion and Wilma; Phoebe Wright and wife, Alice, and son William Ray; James T. Wright and wife, Mamie, and children, Alice, May and Forest Bennett; W. Q. Ramage and wife, Ida, and children, Carl, Raymond and Homer; Joe Ramage and wife, Alta; Mrs. L. E. Harmon, Bill Parmley, Joe Willis Stallions, Will Franklin, Ed Beard and Henry Todd.

At 3:30 o'clock the most of us departed, wishing Mr. Cline many more happy birthdays.

Written by One Present.

SPECIAL VENIRE FAILS TO AGREE

For the Second Time in the J. J. Thomas Case.—Sixty Men Were Summoned.

In the circuit court when the case of the commonwealth against J. J. Thomas, charged with secreting $1,000, intending to convert it to his own use, was called Wednesday, 23 jurors out of the regular panel could not serve. A special venire of 60 men was summoned. The evidence was all in and the case given to the jury Friday morning after four speeches had been made, two for the defence by A. C. and V. Y. Moore, and two for the prosecution by Grayot and Bennett. The jury failed to agree and were discharged by Judge Gordon Saturday at noon, six being in favor of acquittal and six in favor of conviction.

In 1911 Thomas was carrying the mail from Marion to Salem, and was also in the habit of carrying express for the Salem Bank. He left the depot with $1,000 in silver, weighing about eighty pounds. When about half way to Salem he took out the money and put it under a culvert. Blood hounds were secured and taken to the spot, but refused to take any trail away.

Thomas, having always borne a good reputation and having on many occasions carried as much as $5,000 in currency, was believed to have been robbed as he reported upon his return to Marion. He repented and in a few days, and before any warrant had been sworn out against him, he went to friends and told them where the money was, and had them to return it to the Salem Bank, the package never having been broken. He also reimbursed the bank for all expenses incurred for telegrams, telephone calls and bloodhounds.

He was tried at a former term of this court and the jury failed to agree.

INTERESTING SCHOOL NOTES

As Gathered From Educational Division Number Three by One Who Was Present.

Weston, Ky.,
Nov. 1914.

Dear Editor:

Since other divisions have been sending news, I feel that we from division number three should do so. We are in no wise dead for at Walnut Grove we find Prof. E. E. Phillips doing things not by halves. At Green Chapel is Miss Edith Davis, acting as chief promoter of knowledge. At Dempsey we find Miss Nellie Nunn telling the children how to get an education and setting a good example of pure, upright, honesty and industry before her pupils.

At Baker we find J. P. Samuels as an instructor of sufficient ability. At Applegate Miss Mae Drury is doing leading act in the educational line. At Gladstone is Prof. Fred McDowell, doing good work for the community.

At Moores, Prof. A. A. Fritts is holding the fort and doing the work of a veteran. While at Oakland T. F. Newcom is to be found imparting his great knowledge to the young with untiring energy. At Post Oak Miss Ina Vaughn is succeeding in impressing both parents and pupils as to her ability to overcome the hardest of educational problems.

At Seminary we find C. C. Newcom doing whatever he can for the upbuilding of the educational cause. While at Heath we find the invincible Miss Wanda Marvel doing a work, of which, all in her district should be proud.

At Going Springs Miss Addie Maynard is to be found drilling the young in the way which they should go and at Weston we behold Miss Bertha Rankin doing a work that will stand as did "the house built on the rock."

The Teachers Association at Seminary Springs was a grand success, while the Field-Day at Post Oak was something that is not beaten every week, but others should write these meetings up and not leave it to visitors to do that work. What is the matter with the Secretary of division number three?

Division number three is doing something towards libraries, but on Friday night, Nov. 13th., a "Double Hoodoo Day" but Miss Bertha Rankin undoubtedly carried the left hind foot of more than one grave-yard rabbit for at time this she gave a box supper at her school at Weston. At 7:30 the house was called to order and a delightful program was rendered, consisting of songs, monologues and dialogues by the children and excellent music by the Fords Ferry String Band.

The house would not hold the people although it is a large one, it was crowded to the limit and the old saying, "there's always room for one more," was for once found to be untrue.

The boxes were sold by J. B. Hughes, who proved himself to be an excellent auctioneer. The result of this sale was $13.40, but to the surprise of all, the sale was not to end here, for the energetic little teacher had determined to spring a surprise upon the audience. This she did, but very agreeably, by announcing that there was an enormous, fine

Rheumatism Sprains Lumbago Sciatica

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."—Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 55, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I happened to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

Are You Suffering From? Auto-Intoxication?

The dictionary says that Auto-Intoxication is "poisoning, or the state of being poisoned, from toxic substances produced within the body." This is a condition due to the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver, or pores of the body failing to throw off the poisons. More than 50% of adults are suffering from this trouble. This is probably why you are suffering from nervousness, headaches, loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and many other symptoms produced by Auto-Intoxication. Your whole system needs stirring up.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

MEAN MAN USED DIPLOMACY

Proving That There Are More Ways Than One of Getting a Seat in Crowded Car.

He was not tagged the meanest man in town, but he might well have been. The first thing he did after stepping inside the car was to fall over a suitcase, the next was to astonish his neighbors with an outburst of vigorous language. His virile remarks made the owner of the suitcase uncomfortable.

"I am sorry," he apologized. "The suitcase does seem to be in the way, but I have no place else to put it."

"No place else to put it?" repeated the irate passenger. "You can easily find a place. Any place would be better than right here by the door."

The man in the corner seat surveyed the well-filled car doubtfully.

"But I can't move," he said, "and I can't shove the suitcase any further along with nobody to look after it. Somebody might swipe it."

The irate passenger reflected a moment. "I'll tell you what to do," he said. "Ask somebody to change places with you. Almost any man down there in the middle of the car would be willing to swap. You ought to try, anyway. Somebody is going to get a broken neck if that suitcase is left standing where it is much longer."

The prospect of being charged with homicide quickened the corner man into immediate activity. He picked up the suitcase and advanced to the middle of the car.

"Sir," he said, addressing a gentleman of portly mien, "will you change places with me? I have a seat in the corner, but my suitcase appears to be in the way. If you will let me sit here I will appreciate the favor."

"Certainly," said the stout man, and began to rise. Before fully surrendering his advantageous position, however, he looked toward the corner and sat down again heavily.

"I believe," he said, "I'll stay where I am."

The meanest man in town had usurped the place occupied by the owner of the suitcase and was intently studying the panorama as viewed through the platform window. His victim sighed and clutched at a strap, and during the rest of the trip he imperiled his own neck by stumbling over the inconvenient suitcase.

"Movies" Not So New.

The "movies" (perhaps we should omit the quotation marks, the word is working into the language so fast) are considered a strictly twentieth-century development. Here is an amusement advertisement which appeared in the public prints in England exactly 101 years ago:

"At the Duke of Marlborough's Head in Fleet street, is now to be seen a new invented machine, composed of five curious pictures, with moving figures, representing the history of the heathen gods, which move as artificially as if living; the like not seen before in Europe. The whole contains near an hundred figures, beside ships, beasts, fish, fowl and other embellishments, some near a foot in height; all of which have their respective and peculiar motions, their very heads, legs and arms, hands and fingers artificially moving to what they perform, and setting one foot before another like living creatures, in such a manner that nothing but nature can excel it. It will continue to be seen every day from 10 in the morning until 10 at night."

This will probably hold you for a while, although it must be admitted that the moving pictures of 1912 were different in mechanism and extent from those which play so large a part in the life of 1913.—Marpers' Weekly.

Philadelphia's Early Journalism.

The first newspaper published in Philadelphia was the American Weekly Mercury, which issued its first number 194 years ago on December 22, 1719. It was the third newspaper in the American colonies, its two predecessors having been published in Boston. The publication was "printed and sold by Andrew Bradford, at the Bible, in the Second street, and John Copson, in the High street." Bradford, like the founders of the Boston News-Letter and the Boston Gazette, was a postmaster. His father, William Bradford, had established the first printing office in America outside of New England. The postmaster editor had his troubles with the authorities, and was warned, on pain of imprisonment and the confiscation of his printing plant, never to publish anything about the political affairs of the colonies. The reprinting and warning followed the publication of an article which Bradford explained had been inserted by a journeyman printer without his knowledge. Bradford had other disputes with the powers that ruled Philadelphia, and on one occasion was committed to prison, but was released.

Dreamless Rabbit.

Those who want a dreamless sleep after the late tidbits will surely appreciate this rule and will enjoy the dish in the bargain.

Put in the blazer of a chafing dish one tablespoonful of butter; when hot add one cupful of milk, a cupful of fresh breadcrumbs, two cups of grated fresh cheese, add a teaspoonful of dry mustard and a pinch of paprika and salt. Stir constantly and when well blended add two well-beaten eggs. Cook one minute and serve at once on hot crackers. This is delicious made with Edam cheese, using one cup of grated cheese, one and one-half cups of milk and one and one-half cups of breadcrumbs. It also makes a good luncheon dish.

SUN DIAL IN THE HOUSE

Generally Easy to Find Suitable Place for It During the Months of Winter.

Just because the sun dial must be unscrewed from its pedestal before snow begins to carpet the garden is no reason why it must be packed away until spring. Nearly every house has at least one window which catches the sunshine much of the day and here the sun dial will mark almost as many hours as it did during the summer.

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

says one sun dial which comes in polished brass or copper or bronze and in all one tone or marked and lettered in black enameling.

"Let others tell of storms and showers, I'll only mark your sunny hours," promises another dial, while a third reminds the idler sternly that "Time lingers not."

Associated with the sun dial is an old world charm. It suggests the gardens of an elder day, tradition and romance, and it is one of the most acceptable gifts which a bachelor man or girl can send to the woman who remembered to invite them to her house parties last summer.

RIVALRY BETWEEN THE SEXES

Prominent Suffragist Declares This Feeling Is to Replace the Old "Chivalrous" Sentiment.

Perhaps those who have cherished a strong "anti" sentiment have not so much to fear, after all. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw declares that "in reforming the country generally the women would not seek to lord it over men." Men and women would be absolutely equal, and there would be a "pleasant rivalry" between the sexes on an equal footing.

This is most gratifying and reassuring. Many men had feared that under the desired new order of things they would be forced down and out, but merely a "pleasant rivalry" would be quite enjoyable. Life would become much like a mixed foursome at the Country club, or at the worst no more strenuous than mixed doubles at tennis, with tea and waffles on the side.

The "pleasant rivalry" is to replace the old pleasant chivalry. Dr. Shaw says that the women are seeking no quarter and that they do not ask for chivalrous treatment. They want to vote, but they do not want men to give them their seats in the street car. Fine! Let's make it a trade. Give the ladies the ballot and let them give up their seat chances in the cars.—Providence Journal.

OVERLOOKED.

"There are a number of things which go to the making of a new opera," remarked the director as he smoothed the fingers of his white kid gloves. "There's the music and the story and the cast and the leading tenor. And there's the temper of the audience."

"Why forget the greatest influence?"

"What's that?"

"The ticket speculator."

And the director tore savagely at an obstinate glove button and went his way.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MISUNDERSTANDING.

"Is this a tentative performance of yours?"

"Now—nothin' of a tent about it. Say, do you take this show for a circus?"

FEMINE PLEASURE.

One of the pleasures a woman gets out of being in the social swim is the intensity with which her neighbors who are not in it hate her.

SUPERLATIVE DEAFNESS.

Never address your conversation to a person footing up a column of figures. There is nothing so deaf as an adder.

HEARD AT THE CLUB.

"Young Hardupp says his grandfather was one of the first settlers."

"Not inherited, evidently; Hardupp never settles."—Judge.

TURN ABOUT.

Toots—It takes an artist to mix a cocktail, according to the experts.
Tanks—I dare say. I've seen a cocktail mix an artist.—Puck.

IT IS.

"A man's home ought to be the dearest place in the world to him."
"It generally is when his wife goes shopping for new furnishings."

Trouble Brewing in Tripoli

Rushes More Troops.

Rome, Nov. 24.—Apparently the situation in Tripoli has suddenly become very serious, due primarily to the activity of Islamic agents endeavoring to stir up the tribes there against Italy. This development in the Tripoli situation is being watched closely here, and it is not unlikely that the Turkish propaganda in Tripoli may finally be the means of drawing Italy into the war.

The first detachment of 500 troops from the garrisons of Eritrea arrived here to-day enroute for Tripoli, where they will be used to strengthen the Italian garrisons. Arrangements have been made to strengthen all the garrisons of Tripoli.

"HE DIED FOR ME"

In the midst of internecine strife,
When life is only worth a life,
When human life is cheaply bought,
And sympathy is vainly sought,
There in the war was one young man
Who proved that human being can
Give life itself for comrade dear,
And face dread death without a fear.
Well these two friends each other knew,
And friendships such are only few.
The elder comrade had a wife
As dear to him as his own life.
The younger knew his girls and boys
He knew his sorrows and his joys.
A happy life the elder led,
By toil he earned his daily bread.
The younger knew them round the board,
And ate with them their frugal hoard;
He knew that love with them abode,
And knew that kindness was their code.
When war had sounded its alarms
Throughout the land to towns and farms,
These two men who were friends indeed
Became each others friends in need.
They heard the South's long, loud appeal,
They answered to the clash of steel,
And felt their duty bade them go
To meet the unrelenting foe.
Bidding farewell to friends that day,
Though sad, they proudly marched away
To defend the South; their own dear land,
For her to fight, for her to stand.
There was the bitter separation,
There was hasty preparation
These two good friends were forced to make
For this sad leave they had to take.
They saw how the sad wife grieved
When parting, though she still believed
And hoped that they would return—
Oh! How her burdened heart would yearn.
When the sad truth at last she learned,
Her pale, wan face away she turned
To hide from them her blinding tears
As well to hide from them her fears.
With tears the younger turned to go
With faltering steps weak and slow;
From these dear friends he turned away
On this last fateful, farewell day.
To see them sadly thus depart
Would melt the stoutest, hardest heart
With sorrow thus to see them turn
Made his kind heart to swell and burn.
He saw the parting last farewell
Of husband and wife, sad to tell;
He saw the last farewell embrace,
While tears flowed down his own sad face.
He was the younger by some years;
For those his own he had no fears
As had his comrade for his own,
For love of wife he had not known.
The parting strangely left impress,
Causing him much and sore distress;
His heart was saddened by this scene;
Sadly touched he had often been,
Though never to such extent as this
When he saw the last farewell kiss
Before they started for the war,
Miles away, from their home afar.
Then afterward for many weeks,
The painful thought would blanch his cheeks—
The children looking wan and pale,
And their mother so weak and frail,
As back and forth she paced the floor,
Fearing that she might nevermore
See her loving husband again;
She'd sadly sigh and weep, and then
Think of God, to whom she would pray
For strength to bear the load that day,
The load of trouble, pain and woe,
And then she'd rise refreshed to go
To her daily round of grinding toil
Of gaining from the fertile soil
Food for children, ever dear,
Though often she gave way to fear.
Then how she toiled and lived and prayed,
Read the Book, trusted and obeyed,
Was weary years afterward told
To him who had been soldier bold,
Whose patriot heart was no less true
Than any man who wore the Blue.
This man went forth to give the South
His service at the cannon's mouth,
When eating the soldier's common fare,
The youth took less than was his share
That his friend might be stronger,
That he might survive the longer,
And return to his own loved ones
When war had ceased to fire his guns.
Alas! Alas! A sad day came
Which proved the younger could die game,
They were captured, he and his friend,
And one must die! His life must end!
In all the wars and bitter strife,
Retaliation is always rife.
Now, only a few days before,
Some Federal soldiers by the shore
Of the river were shot down dead;
Now these men had to face the dread
Of being shot; they stand in line,

The lots are cast, the hands they bind,
And on the elder man by lot
It fell to be cruelly shot!

Then to the captain the younger went,
And begged that his poor life be lent
To save the life of the other,
The precious life a brother.

The astonished captain readily gave
His consent the other to save,
The youth was glad his life to sell
To save his friend he loved so well.

The youth now sadly took his place,
A smile of glory lit his face;
He smiled a moment, held his breath
And thus he calmly met his death.

Angels looked down and wept for joy
At sight of this angelic boy.
Common beings oft wonder why
For another, one friend could die.

There is nothing that man can do
That so thrills us through and through
As that grand deed of that brave youth,
Except the martyr for God's truth.

But man for man will sometimes die,
To save his friend he'll often try,
But he has hope that he may live,
That God to him his life will give.

Without this hope to buoy him up,
Man would not often drink the cup,
The cup of danger always found
When his friend is about to drown.

But this young man now firmly stood,
Willingly there he shed his blood—
He gave his own for his friend's life
To send him back to his dear wife.

In this world of seeking for self,
Of grinding greed, money and pelf,
'Tis inspiring, hopeful to read
Of an example free from greed.

But few there are on this old earth
In this sad world there is a dearth
Of great souls who can rise above
The things of life and die for love.

How transformed this world would be
If we could thus our duty see!
This earth would be an Eden then;
And love of God would rule again.

Few there be of such heroic mould
That would for life let life be sold.
Carved on the stone which marks the place
Where lies this boy of noble race.

These words as simple as can be,
They are just these: "HE DIED FOR ME!"
Such love for man is rarely shown,
But death for life more often known;

But one there is who loves us all,
Who chooses not that we shall fail,
If we but love Him who life gave,
Who gave His life mankind to save;

The finite mind can never know
The sorrow, sadness, pain and woe
That Christ endured while on the cross
To cover mankind's wretched loss.

The heavy debt he freely paid,
His precious life he calmly laid
Upon the cruel cross to win
A world of men from damning sin!

Now, while this single case of man
Is told by men throughout the land,
The Savior men will not obey
And thus be wholly saved, to day!

Christ the savior, God's own dear son,
Died on the cross and grandly won
Great salvation for us complete,
And made for us a safe retreat.

May this story cause us to think
That we are standing on the brink
Of the eternal, boundless shore—
Let's take Christ forevermore!

A poem dedicated to the Rev. John Cunningham, to whose delightful sermons I have listened with rapt attention.

But This Does Not Bother Mrs.
Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

Fighting On Suez Canal.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Reports reaching Berlin from Milan, Italy set forth that in Egypt fighting already has occurred near the Suez canal. This information was given to the press today from official quarters.

Four wagonloads of English wounded have arrived at Cairo; the men were hurt in fighting between Suez and Ismalia. There has been a mutiny of the native troops and many well-known Egyptians have been arrested.

The Turkish General Staff reports that the second line of the Russian defenses in the Caucasus have been taken by the Turkish troops.

THE KELLOGG-HAINES SINGING PARTY.

There are five in the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party—three gentlemen and two ladies. Much of their program is given in elegant and appropriate costumes. Some of these numbers are the best examples of humor and wit that good literature has to offer. Scenes are also given in grand opera.

The chief claim that is made for this company is that they present entertaining concerts of such solid musical character and fresh wholesomeness that they are sure to captivate the musical layman, while winning admiration from the musical critic of the severest type.

It is doubtful if any other mixed quartet in America can approach the Kellogg-Haines Party in that sinking of individuality and perfect blending of voices that comprise ideal quartet work. It is heard in the singing of the foremost male quartets.

Professor Charles A. Prosser, superintendent of the New Albany (Ind.) Chautauqua, says, "The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party have given the greatest satisfaction of all the musical organizations that have appeared at our assembly in the last four years."

Little Things.

A good-bye kiss is a little thing,
With your hand on the door to go,
But it takes the venom out of the sting
Of a thoughtless word or a cruel fling
That you made an hour ago.

A kiss of greeting is sweet and rare,
After the toil of the day,
But it smoothes the furrows out of the care,
And lines on the forehead you once called fair,

In the years that have flown away.
'Tis a little thing to say, "You are kind—"

I love you, my dear," each night;
But it sends a thrill through the heart
I find,

For love is tender, as love is blind,
As we climb life's rugged height.

We starve each other for love's caress
We take but do not give
It seems so easy some soul to bless,
But we dole love grudgingly, less and less,

Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.

"I cannot say too much for Peruna. It has entirely cured me of my trouble. My eye lids were thick and red nearly all the time. My eyes were especially sensitive to light. Catarrh was my trouble. I had had my eyes treated and took a great deal of medicine, but nothing seemed to help me until I tried Peruna. I always use Peruna when my family need it. Always find it very good; it helps wonderfully. You can use my testimonial anywhere you wish to." So says Mrs. C. Skehan, No. 614 S. Leavitt St., Chicago, Ill.

Turkey's Plans.

Turkey, it is argued in London will endeavor to accomplish three things:

First, the invasion of Egypt.

Second, the blockading of the Suez Canal, and the third, the stirring up of a holy war among the 70,000,000 Mohammedans in India as well as among these religionists in Egypt. It is this which England and her allies regard with the most concern although nothing has developed so far to indicate that the Mohammedans have been convinced, that their religion is involved.

As to the Turkish army, formidable as it is in size, the opinion is expressed here that it will not be an efficient fighting machine under modern conditions which require the latest type of arms.

Concerning the campaign in Egypt, England feels that in Lord Kitchner she has just the man to meet the situation, for no European general has a better knowledge of the country than he. If the reports that the Turkish invasion of Egypt is well under way are true, picturesque forces mounted on camels and horses probably have already crossed the frontier. Furthermore, two Turkish army corps are said to be moving in the direction of the frontier.

Snake Failed to Live

Up To Reputation.

Winchester, Ky., Nov. 24.—Ed Profit, a well known young white man, is suffering from a snake bite and is under the care of a physician. Profit bought the snake from a carnival company and startled the people by walking down the Main street with the reptile about his neck. A panic was caused in a local billiard parlor when young Profit suddenly threw his snake on a billiard table. He then boasted that the snake would not bite, putting out his hand to prove it, and the snake suddenly sank its fangs into his wrist.

Hunter Is Killed by Wounded Deer.

Lindsay, Ontario, Nov. 24.—An unusual hunting accident occurred at Buck Lake, five miles south of Wilberforce, by which William Hughie, Jr., of that village, lost his life.

Hughie had wounded a deer, which turned and attacked him, while he was in his canoe, pitching him into the lake.

A companion, who heard his cries for help, swam out to his assistance, and brought him to shore alive, but he died shortly afterward from the wounds inflicted by the deer and immersion in the icy water.

This information reached The Hague in a telegram from Berlin, which read as follows:

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

Every American should be thankful that we live in a land that flows in milk and honey and that is not harrassed by war and famine.

It has been rightly said that the fortunate people the truly fortunate are not so much those who succeed in life as those who succeed in living.

Right living is a beautiful art, made up of courage and kindness and hard work and true religion; and it is open to everybody.—Selected.

The time you spend getting the tangles out of your worsted, and the knots out of your thread might have been used to better purpose if you had been a little more patient or a little less careless. Life has difficulties, of course, but as a rule its tangles could be avoided by care and patience.—Girls' Companion.

Keep still. When trouble is brewing, keep still. When slander is getting on its legs, keep still. When your feelings are hurt, keep still till you recover from your excitement, at any rate. Things look different through an unagitated eye. In commotion once I wrote a letter and sent it, and wished I had not. In my latter years I had another commotion, and wrote a long letter, but life rubbed a little sense into me, and I kept that letter in my pocket against the day when I could look it over without agitation and without tears. I was glad I did. Less and less it seemed necessary to send it, and eventually it was destroyed.

Silence is the most massive thing conceivable sometimes.
In its strength is very grandeur.
It is like a regiment ordered to stand still in the mad fury of battle. To plunge in were twice as easy.—Selected.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna." This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is everywhere in the most popular.

It explains all the rush and excitement of modern life to deprive the human mind of the peace of heaven. It is a book that will be read by day and night. It is a book that will be read by day and night. It is a book that will be read by day and night.

"Daily Heavenly Manna" contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the little title of this daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly comfort cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.

Your Friends' Birth Dates. An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birth dates as they occur. This makes the book a valuable yearly. Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

Whipped By Farmers.

Ardmore, Okla., Nov. 25.—Because he is said to have sold a bale of cotton for less than 10 cents a pound, the price fixed throughout Southern Oklahoma, Joshua Samels, a small cotton grower in Carter county, was whipped by masked men. He was called from his home and beaten with a piece of rope soaked in water.

$8,000,000 For Cotton.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Eight million dollars in fifteen minutes was the record of Chicago banks Monday in subscribing to their pro rata share of the $135,000,000 national cotton loan pool to aid the southern growers in carrying the portion of the 1914 crop which they have been unable to export during the war.

Before the day was over practically the entire $12,000,000 part of the loan apportioned to local institutions had been subscribed for. Ten millions was taken outright and approximately $2, 000,000 was taken by banks on the condition that the loan should meet the approval of their boards of directors. The subscriptions were gathered by a clearing house committee composed of F. H. Rawson, president of the Union Trust company; Mr. Forgan, president of the National City Bank, and W. T. Fenton, president of the National Bank of the Republic. Each bank here was asked by the committee to take an amount of the cotton loan equal to seven and one half per cent of its capital and surplus. All banks but one complied and the small amount not taken will be distributed among the larger institutions.

Of the $20,000,000 subscription which the Chicago Clearing House association was asked to obtain $8,000,000 has been allotted to other cities of the seventh reserve district. The Rawson committee to-day sent a letter to each clearing house association of the district informing it of its pro rata share of the loan.

We feel that the success of the portion of the loan allotted to the entire Chicago district is assured, said Mr. Rawson.

The loans are in the form of series A, participation certificates running for one year at six per cent interest and secured by cotton in warehouses at the rate of six cents a pound for middling.

WAS AN OLD YALE MAN

By C. D. LEWIS.

There was but one passenger to alight at Snow Hill, in the cattle and Indian country, and that was Miss Bessie Vaughn of Chicago. Her schoolmate, Nettie Long, whose father owned and managed the big Long ranch, and who was now living with him in the wilds, had written that a person would meet Bessie at Snow Hill with a buckboard and bring her safely to the ranch. The "person" proved to be a young man of twenty-five, dressed as a cowboy, but having rather a distinguished look about him. While he was hastening along the platform and yet thirty feet away, the girl acknowledged to herself that his features were good and that his face showed character and ambition. Perhaps it was for these reasons that, while he was covering the other thirty feet Miss Bessie suddenly decided that he ought to be snubbed.

"This is Miss Vaughn of Chicago, I presume," he said, as he lifted his hat and smiled a welcome.

What right had he to presume? By what right did he smile a welcome and seem ready to shake hands? The girl looked coldly at him and slightly nodded her head, and that was snub No. 1. The young man took it so, but, though he colored up, he did not lose his smile.

"You will give me your cheeks, please, and I will put your trunk aboard and we will be off."

There was a touch of authority in his tones that nettled the girl, and she turned away and delivered up the cheeks with her own hand. She would also have loaded the trunk on the vehicle if she had been strong enough. Snub No. 2 had followed fast on the heels of snub No. 1.

"We have fifteen miles to drive," observed the young man, as they got seated.

No reply. Snub No. 3.

"I take it that you have never visited this section before," was remarked after the silence had lasted for a mile.

"No."

"But I trust you will find novelty and pleasure."

Miss Bessie looked straight ahead and shut her teeth hard. What was it to one of Colonel Long's hired men whether she enjoyed the west or not? The man was presumptuous, and she meant her silence to be another snub. Whether it was taken or not, it was not more than five minutes before a voice which had a touch of the paternal in it remarked:

"You don't look overly well, and a couple of months of this bracing atmosphere will do you a world of good."

"Sir, are you a practicing physician?" asked Miss Bessie, as she turned to look the young man square in the eyes.

"Well, no," he slowly replied.

"Then you need not bother to take charge of my health."

That was what the boys would have called a settler, and it hung the young man up for the next ten minutes.

When he spoke again, however, it was as if nothing had happened.

"It was on that hill over there," he quietly said, as he pointed with his whip, "that four of our men were surrounded by fifty Indian warriors two years ago."

Miss Bessie deliberately turned to look in the opposite direction, and she felt that he was smiling as he continued.

"One of the boys was killed, but they killed twelve Indians and held their ground all day."

What was it to her whether one or the whole four cowboys were killed? Indeed, she found herself almost wishing that all had been wiped out. She hadn't the slightest interest in the affair—not that day.

"And over there in that valley is where a drove of steers ran over and trampled the life out of two of our men last spring. We didn't even find their boots."

Miss Bessie looked straight ahead and made no reply.

"And you wouldn't believe, would you, that this insignificant creek we are crossing was a mile wide and ten feet deep last May? We lost a thousand head of stock in that flood."

Still no reply. It was snub after snub, and she meant to tire him out.

This time the silence lasted for fifteen minutes, and she it was who broke it at last.

The horses had shied at a coyote dodging for cover and started away on a tearing gallop. The young man kept them on the trail, but made not the slightest effort to check the pace.

On the contrary, he hummed a popular air as they lay down to their work. The visitor stood it as long as she could, and then turned and exclaimed:

"Can't you see that the horses are running away?"

"I have seen it for some time past," he quietly replied.

"Then why don't you stop them?"

"I will if you wish, but a run of a few miles won't hurt them any."

She did wish to get from the bottom of her heart, for the vehicle was jumping like a goat and it took both hands to hold her hat on her head, but she gritted her teeth and decided to be smashed into jam before she would prefer the request. The horses ran for three or four miles and then sobered down, and the girl felt that she had snubbed the young man again by not being afraid.

"Who is that man you sent to the depot after me?" she asked of her schoolmate, almost before she had taken off her hat.

"Who? Why, that's Tom. I'll formally introduce you some day."

POWER OF BRAIN A MYSTERY

Scientists Now Assert That Size and Shape Have Nothing Whatever to Do With It.

Dr. E. Linden Mellor of Johns Hopkins university has announced to all the world that your brain is good because it is, that's all. At least that is the substance of his message to the American Physiological society. Neither size nor convolutions have anything to do with brain force. Whether your brain is the size of a crabapple, and as smooth, or the size of a cauliflower, and as convoluted, makes no difference in the mental punch. That's all due to some mysterious force, undiscovered and unanalyzed.

It is somewhat trying to have all the established notions kicked over in this summary fashion, but maybe we can get used to this doctrine in the new year. Anyhow, there is some comfort in knowing that the rule-of-thumb method by which the world has been judging brain power for these many years—that of the quality of the product—does not conflict with the newest theory about the subject. So that while the textbooks may have to be rewritten, the practice can go on as it is, and the size of the pay check still be the outward and visible sign and gauge of the brain punch.

MANY USES FOR GLYCERINE

Almost Invaluable to the Housewife for General Purposes to Which It May Be Put.

Pure glycerine will cleanse a cut and cause it to heal quickly.

In washing clothes put three tablespoons of glycerine in an ordinary tub of water where softness is imperative. Try two tablespoons in the wash boiler when it is necessary to boil clothes.

Glycerine softens scrub water, is good for the hands, whitens wood.

A little glycerine rubbed with a flannel on shoes that are hard from wetting softens the leather, which will absorb it over night.

One tablespoonful of glycerine to each pound of fruit in preserves prevents the formation of a sugary crystal coating on top. In stewing fruit fresh or evaporated, two tablespoons of glycerine to each pound of fruit and a pinch of salt and less sugar is a great improvement.

CHANGEFUL CONDITIONS.

"What's the matter with our friend Tomahoe Calarico?" asked one citizen of a small republic. "He seems terribly restless."

"Politics don't move fast enough to suit him. He hasn't been dictator for three or four years and he's tired of waiting in line for another turn."

BEYOND THE STYX.

Plato—Let me see: They condemned you to die, but permitted you to choose the manner of your death. Am I right?

Socrates—That's right. I told them hemlock juice was my poison. I said ice cream first, but they made me guess again.—Puck.

WORTH TRYING.

"The grape fruit is spoiled."

"Are you sure?"

"There can be no doubt of it."

"Then bring it on and I will try it. That may be just what is needed to make a grape fruit fit to eat."

NO VIOLENCE.

"I heard you excoriated your false friend."

"I didn't. I gave him some hot talk, but I never teched him."

VERY MUCH IN LOVE.

She—I must leave you here. I'm going to have a tooth extracted.

He—Oh, I think I'll have one taken out too.

NO MARKET.

Editor—You must remember that poetry is a gift.

The Poet—It is; you can't sell it nowadays.

TOO MIXED.

"Now make your hero in the play a strong, red-blooded man."

"How can I do that when he has got to be of genuine blue blood?"

SUSPICION.

"Do you think all the 'line busy' telephone answers are genuine?"

"Well, I must say I think some of them are phoney."

England Advances Greece $8,000,000 for War Purposes.

London, Nov. 25.—Telegraphing from Athens, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says it was announced in the Grecian Chamber of Deputies to day that Great Britain has advanced the Greek Government 40,000,000 drachmas ($8,000,000), to pay for warships for Greece to be constructed in English shipyards.

Seaport Aden Threatened.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—Dispatches reaching here by way of Constantinople set forth that the British seaport of Aden, in Arabia, at the southern entrance to the Red Sea, is in danger because the leader of the local Bedouins is calling on his people to rise and liberate the country from the British yoke.

CALLED FATHER OF SCIENCE

Truly Wonderful Thinker and Inventor Was Archimedes, Famous Through the Centuries.

On December 10 of the year 212 B. C. perished the great Archimedes, murdered by a brutal, ignorant Roman soldier, as he sat with bowed head in his house at Syracuse thinking out the mighty problems of science.

Archimedes was born at Syracuse, Sicily, B. C. 287, and was therefore at the time of his death seventy-five years old. He was the greatest man of his day, and will ever rank as one of the profoundest thinkers and reasoners of all time. In mathematics and natural philosophy he had no peer on earth, and it is not too much to say that he is fairly entitled to be called the "father of science." He would have discovered the differential calculus had algebra been known in his day, and he came very near doing so even as it was. He anticipated the astronomical system subsequently worked out by Copernicus. He laid the foundation of hydrostatics. He invented the method for the determination of specific gravity. He formulated the true theory of the lever and uttered the ever famous words, "Give me whereon to stand and I will move the earth." In theoretical mechanics no advance was made upon his ideas during the eighteen centuries between him and Leonardo da Vinci.

It was Archimedes who invented the endless screw, the most important mechanical contrivance known to science. From the teeming brain of the old Syracusan came also the idea of the screw pump, the hydraulic engine and the burning mirror. He was the creator of the catapult, the artillery of the olden time, whose dreadful bolts were the terror of ancient armies. He invented another engine, the ponderous claws of which, reaching over the walls, lifted up ships and their crews and then suddenly dropped them into the sea, while with his great "sun glasses" he was able to set on fire such of the enemies' ships as could not be reached with the grappling machine.

It took the world 2,000 years to produce the equal of the mighty intellect that was brutally snuffed out by the blow from the mace of that brutal Roman soldier.

Baths of Sea Sand.

The very latest beauty bath is that composed of hot sea sand. Some famous beauties have the sand brought direct from Coney Island or Long Island in barrels.

These baths are fairly expensive, but then it is claimed that they do infinite good to a certain quality of skin—that white skin which so often accompanies red-gold hair and a peach complexion.

The hot sea sand bath is prepared in rather a peculiar way. A large sheet is placed on the floor and covered thickly with smoking hot sand. Then the "patient" is wrapped up in the sheet and quietly massaged. After five minutes the "patient" is rolled over and over a dozen times and then again massaged. By this time the sand is cool and the operation finished, unless a very enthusiastic beauty lover has the courage to begin all over again.

After the sea sand bath is over a strong hot sea water bath is taken, and this is followed by a delicious douche of cold, faintly scented water. Next comes the cup of coffee accompanied by a roll and then—half an hour's repose!

Lesson in English.

Many travelers have the unfortunate failing of attributing ignorance and backwardness to everyone who wears the strange garb and observes the strange customs of a foreign land. Often, as in the case of the tourist in China that the New York Tribune tells of, there is a rude awakening.

When his steamer touched at Hong Kong, the tourist was delighted to see a Chinese woman in the costume of her country come on board ship. She was the first Chinese woman that he had seen in the native dress, and he determined to take a picture. Advancing to within a few feet of the little woman, he leveled the camera at her and began to exclaim loudly in amateur pidgin English:

"Me take picture! Can catchee! Can catchee?"

The Chinese woman looked at him in deep disgust, and replied in perfect English:

"You can catchee but you may not." Turning, she walked away. She had been graduated from an American college the year previous.

A Fair Offer.

It was at the moving-picture show. In front sat a young woman, very pretty and modestly costumed, with her son, a youngster of perhaps six years. Just behind sat a young man—a good-looking young man—a well-dressed man. The young man watched the young woman very much more closely than he did the screen across the stage. For the first quarter of an hour he did not dare to speak to her. But she was so attractive that he cudgeled his brains for some excuse to begin a conversation. At last he hit upon the idea of pretending he was a stranger—a foreigner—in need of information. He leaned over and said in his best French:

"Pardon, madame, may I address a few words to you?"

The six-year-old escort turned around with a courteous inclination of his curly head.

"If you wish, sir," said he, "I will translate for you. My mother does not understand French."—New York Evening Post.

QUAKER CITY BEHIND TIMES

Statistics Show That Shoes of Philadelphia Must Frequently Lack the Proper Polish.

Philadelphia doesn't keep its shoes well polished. Washington and Boston do very much better in this particular.

A merchant who knows whereof he calculates is authority for saying the Hub buys a great deal more shoe polish than does this city of independence, and Washington surpasses the home of the baked bean.

Even without these trade statistics it would be apparent to any observer that there are more busy bootblacks in Washington and Boston than can be seen in Philadelphia. The great number of long, thin boot-shine "parlors" in those towns have no substitute here.

But Europe beats all of our towns in keeping a perennial shine on its shoe. That, I imagine, is due to the prevalence of the custom in all hostilities of having a "boots." He shines while you slumber, and I'm ready to wager that you never were able to escape from any European inn, however small, without encountering the outstretched hand of "boots."—Philadelphia Ledger.

SURGICAL WORK MADE EASIER

Anesthetizing Machines Render Possible Operations Hitherto Scarcely Deemed Worth Thinking Of.

Machines for administering ether, chloroform or other anesthetics have been devised, which make the work of the surgeon easier and safer for the patient. An improved machine is being used in several eastern hospitals which is motor-driven and seems destined not only to simplify present methods of anesthetizing, but to open a field to surgery which heretofore has been almost beyond the reach of the knife. With the new machine it is possible to maintain normal lung pressure while the chest cavity is being explored, a problem solved as a mere by-product of mechanical anesthesia, while the patient is freed from distress as the effect of the drug wears away. Gas and air, and gas and oxygen may be given in any predetermined amount supplied by this machine. Eminent surgeons believe this method of anesthesia has a wide and varied field. —Popular Mechanics.

HOPELESS.

"Better take this patient out of the observation ward and place him with the incurables," said the great alienist.

"But his hallucinations were not out of the ordinary," said the head of the insane asylum. "He imagined he was Napoleon. Why do you regard his case as hopeless?"

"He told me that he was the president of Mexico," replied the great alienist.

SELF-APPRECIATION.

"King Lear is a great character," remarked the friend.

"Yes," answered the actor. "I suppose you remember my performance last season?"

"No, I confess I have never seen you in the part."

"Indeed!" was the rejoinder in a tone of gentle surprise. "Then how on earth did you know it was a great character?"—Liverpool Mercury.

QUITE TRUE.

Patience—To fold letters and insert them in envelopes I see is the purpose of a simple hand-operated machine patented by a Georgia man.

Patrice—But you never hear of any man patenting any device to remind 'em to mail 'em.

HABIT.

"Why has Jinks had the paths in his suburban place all such queer serpentine ones?"

"He had to have them that way to suit the walk he's learned in the city dodging autos and motorcycles."

INTERESTING FIGURES.

"I find the professor's statistics stupid."

"I don't. He told me there were 400,000,000,000 people in the world and that I was the prettiest girl in the lot."

HIS AFFLICTION.

"Does your husband suffer with anything like a somnolent tendency?"

"No, indeed, nothing so serious as that. He only gets sleepy all the time."

HOW FAR IS MADISONVILLE?

Not So Far That the Statements Of Its Residents Cannot Be Verified.

Rather an interesting case has been developed in Madisonville. Being so near by, it is worth publishing here. The statement is sincere—the proof convincing:

L. R. Woolfork, Madisonville, Ky., says: "I had severe attacks of backache. Often when I sat in a chair for awhile and tried to get up, sharp twinges caught me across my back and kidneys. In the morning it was impossible for me to stoop to put on my shoes. I had other symptoms of kidney complaints. I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills after reading statements given by people here in town, whom I knew, who had received great relief from them. I got a supply and they cured me. I always carry a box of Doan's Kidney Pills with me and a few doses now and then keep me in good health."

RE ENDORSEMENT.

On February 23, 1912, Mr. Woolfork said: "I have seldom had to use Doan's Kidney Pills since they cured me some years ago. You can use my endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50cts., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Woolfork had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 1119-26

RHEUMATISM SOON BECOMES CHRONIC

The Result of Tired Kidneys Failing to Expel Poisonous Waste Matter.

Tired, over-worked kidneys allow poisonous uric acid to remain in the blood instead of expelling it from the system. That is the cause of chronic rheumatism. The disease gets into some joint or group of muscles and settles there, and only strenuous treatment will dislodge it.

Rheuma softens the uric acid crystals lodged in the joints and muscles, causing the terrible pains, and passes them out of the system through the kidneys and bowels.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. Unless it is pure the organs become diseased. Rheur purifies the blood and the kidneys then regain their natural activity.

J. H. Orme and all druggists sell Rheuma at a price so inexpensive that it is folly to be without it. 5

How Canada Moves Her Troops.

Canada is going to make great contributions to the war. It is still uncertain how many troops she will contribute, but 100,000 is the number most frequently mentioned and the statement recently made by Lord Kitchener and Lord Roberts regarding the necessity of raising the largest possible number of British troops makes it apparent that every man Canada can send will be needed.

Canada, being a vast territory, sparsely settled, has important problems of communication and the government has taken every precaution to see that none of the trans-continental railway facilities are impaired by the destruction of bridges or other strategic points. That accounts for the sentries at bridges, along difficult stretches of track, and in the mountain passes.

All along the route we saw troop trains rushing the volunteers from the far West to the mobilization headquarters near Quebec. The Canadian Pacific is handling most of this traffic, being best equipped to do so because, in its own shops it was able to build nine special kitchen cars in less than a week. These are painted white inside, and are provided with storage facilities for four days' food including refrigeration and with kitchen apparatus sufficient to prepare three meals a day for 1,000 men.

Of course the troops are not given elaborate or rich meals, but they are well fed, the kitchen cars containing tea and coffee urns, hot water boilers and all necessary conveniences. The meals are served from enameled plates in the cars in which the troops are quartered. A detail of soldiers does the serving. It is a big task to transport several thousand men from Western Canada to Quebec on short notice, and Canada has a right to congratulate herself on the promptness and efficiency with which it has been done.—Leslie's.

MANY RUINED LIVES

Hundreds can point to the use of calomel as the cause of physical decay. Its strenuous effects upon liver, kidneys and even the heart are known to every practicing physician.

Medical science has found a vegetable compound that eliminates the poisons from the liver and accumulations from the bowels in a safer and saner way than does calomel and leaves no ill after-effects.

This remedy in the form of GRIGSBY'S LIV-VER-LAX is a proven success. It is for sale in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles by Haynes & Taylor, who guarantee to refund purchase price if you want it. It is always protected by the likeness of L. K. Grigsby.

cake to go to the most beautiful girl. To determine who this was, was indeed quite a task. The people were to cast votes which would cost them who voted one cent a vote.

The candidates were Misses Mamye Garrett, of Weston; Anna Brewer, of Fords Ferry; and Scott, of Cave-in-Rock.

The contest was lively and interesting. The battle for the "Maid Beauty" waged for one hour and fifteen minutes between Miss Garrett and Miss Scott, both candidates having many friends, who admired them and worked for their success. "Old Kentucky" has long been noted for beautiful women, but for once lost her reputation and the prize went to Miss Scott, from Cave-in-Rock, Illinois, who received 2,390 votes to Miss Garrett's 2,175.

Thereby Miss Rankin received the handsome sum of $45.65 for the cake. This sum, plus $13.40 realized from the sale of boxes, made the total sum of $59.05, all to go for the benefit of the school at Weston.

At the close of the exercises, Miss Rankin thanked the people for their support, more especially those from Illinois, and invited them back at any future time. We want to thank them for the part that they played and hope that they will never have cause to regret "The Double Hoodoo Night" of Friday Nov. 13, 1914, or their future visits to Weston.

Yours truly,

One Who Was Present.

HON. LEE GIB-

SON PROPOSES

any voice in the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge.

Hopkins County has had the honor of furnishing the Judge ever since this district was formed, and now, that three candidates have announced for this office next year: viz. Hon. Lee Gibson and W. J. Cox of Hopkins and J. W. Blue, Jr., from Crittenden, the two Hopkins county candidates say they are going to leave it to Hopkins as to which of them shall run, and that as Hopkins county has as large a vote "as that in the other three counties in the district" these gentlemen, in effect, say to the other counties of the district, we are going to select your candidate for you, and you will have to take what Hopkins gives you.

We regret very much to see this spirit manifested by the gentlemen from Hopkins, Messrs. Gibson & Cox, and we do not believe the Democrats of Hopkins will approve of that spirit. It is true that Hopkins is a great and rich county and has a larger population than any of the other counties of the district, and practically as many democratic voters as Caldwell, Livingston and Crittenden, but we are all together in one Judicial District, and the candidates for Judge having announced subject to the action of the democratic primary of August, 1915, the democratic voters of Crittenden, Livingston and Caldwell have as much right to say who shall run as the democrats of Hopkins have. According to democratic principles the office does not belong to any man, nor to any county, but to the people of the whole district, and, for that reason there should be a rotation in office not only as to the man but as to the county.

No one county has all the wisdom, intelligence, or suitable material, and the office should not be confined to one county all the time, but the citizens of each section should have opportunity to be represented. As Hopkins county has had the judge for four terms—twenty-four years—why not let some other county have it now, that is, if there is suitable material in other counties?

Crittenden county is offering as a candidate, Judge John W. Blue, Jr. Neither Caldwell nor Livingston has a candidate for this office. Judge Blue has held court in every county in the district, as special judge, under appointment from the Governor, and gave universal satisfaction as judge; showing by his decisions that he is well qualified as to ability, and by his kind and courteous treatment of jurors, litigants, lawyers and witnesses, and the dignity with which he presided, that he has the natural qualities necessary to make a first class judge. As to his honesty, integrity, and moral courage, he is the peer of any. He has been tried and approved as Judge and the people of the district will make no mistake in selecting him.

To surely and safely rid yourself of catarrh get a Hyomol outfit from Haynes & Taylor. There is no better remedy, yet harmless, pleasant and easy to use—your breath it.

Clift, his daughter, Lala Clift, Thos. Ordway and Robt. Perry, all prominent citizens of Fredonia for his public humiliation and disgrace, in Princeton, Ky., in Sept. 1913, which went to the jury at the convening of the court at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.
