FORMER CHIEF JUSTICE NUNN

Addresses A Letter To His Old Friends And Neighbors
Of Hopkins County.

Dear friend:

No doubt you are aware of the physical affliction from which I have suffered the last three years. After submitting to severe surgical operations, I realized that I could not recover my health sufficiently to do my share of the work on the Court of Appeals bench. While the law generously allows the salary to be paid to an official when, because of sickness, he is unable to render service I felt in justice to the Court and to the people that I should resign and let some one be appointed in my place to aid the other Judges in disposing of the rapidly increasing business. Entertaining this idea, I did resign, although I had served but three of the eight years to which I was elected. During my illness my son, C. S. Nunn, gave up his work at Marion and came to Frankfort to aid me in studying and disposing of the cases which came to me by regular assignment. In this way the other members of the Court came to know him, and, by that knowledge, they recommended him to the Governor for appointment in my place for as much of my unexpired term as the law permits—that is, until the coming election. He has been serving since last March. My confidence in his integrity and ability goes without saying. I am aware that the opinion a father entertains for his son is not always considered unbiased, but I am perfectly willing to submit his work on the bench to the people and abide their judgement upon it. Of course the lawyers are more familiar with it, because they come in direct contact with the Court, and I shall be glad for you to inquire of them. I shall be grateful beyond measure if the people will approve his appointment by nominating him, at the coming Democratic Primary in August, to serve the remaining three years of the term I gave up, and to which I was elected.

The good people of Hopkins county supported me in that election, and I hope they will support my son in his ambition to complete that term. His work on the bench will keep him in Frankfort until about the first of July, so that he will have practically no opportunity to make a personal canvass over the eighteen counties composing the district.

If my health will permit, I hope to see you before the election but, in the meantime, I will appreciate a letter from you telling me all about the situation in that section.

Your friend,
(Advertisement) T. J. Nunn.

Judge J. F. Gordon Makes Ringier Declaration To The People of Crittenden County.

To the Democratic Voters of Crittenden County:

It was not my purpose to make an active personal campaign in Crittenden County, for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals, but the Messrs. Nunn having opened their campaign in Hopkins county, they are no longer in a position to claim the exclusive support of Crittenden, for Judge Clem Nunn as a county man. Therefore, I take this means of announcing to the Democratic voters of Crittenden my candidacy, and soliciting their support. I observe from their newspaper advertisements and from their personal letters, addressed to the voters of Hopkins county, that the Messrs. Nunn are laboring under the mistaken idea that they have a title and right to the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals: That they are basing their campaign upon that idea. True they will have held the office for thirteen years, when Judge Clem's time expires in November; but the people know that office holders do not, by reason of long tenure, take any title to, or vested interest in the office nor does the office pass from father to son under the Statute of descent and distribution.

When a man is elected to an office, he takes the office as the servant of the people, with a perfect understanding that if he becomes permanently disabled in health, during the term for which he is elected, so that he cannot properly discharge his duties, and resigns on that account, as common decency and fairness to the public would prompt any honest man to do, then the office is not his to pass on to his son, but returns to the people to whom it primarily belongs.

Everybody is familiar with the manner in which Judge T. J. Nunn resigned from the bench and had his son appointed in his place. No notice was given to the people of the district of his intention to resign, nor of the effort he would make to have his son appointed in his place. It was all done as one transaction: Cut and dried. The people were allowed no opportunity to name a person of their preference to succeed him. Instead of making his resignation open, and giving the people of the district an opportunity to be heard, an opportunity to advise with the Governor as to a suitable person for his successor; the whole matter was treated as though the office belonged to him, with power to name his own successor. It is apparent to all men that the methods of the political manipulator, and the dark lantern proceedings that are usually employed by politicians, who desire to over-reach the people, were employed in this instance, that the father's mantle might fall upon the son, whether it suited the people or not.

I have never believed that the professional politicians of the country possess the right to juggle the public offices upon the theory of "the people be damned!" The Messrs. Nunn claim, in their private letters and public prints, that all the members of the Court of Appeals recommended the appointment of the son, and endorsed the thimble-rigging process, by which he obtained his appointment. If this is true, then it is clear that it is a case of a little leaven, leaving the whole lump; that the Messrs. Nunn not only succeeded in putting it across on the Governor, but that the honorable members of the Court of Appeals were mesmerized and bewitched into taking a hand, for the evident purpose of lending these proceedings the color of respectability. They now come and ask the people, whom they dared not consult then, to ratify their disregard of the people's rights.

What right or power have the

LIVINGSTON ENTERPRISE HIGHLY RECOMMENDS JUDGE C. S. NUNN

Our neighbor and friend, C. S. Nunn, of Marion, Ky., comes before our readers this week asking to be nominated and elected to the seat on the Appellate Bench formerly occupied by his distinguished father. Our readers are acquainted with Clem Nunn, having known him from boyhood, but it is a custom to rehearse a man's past life when he seeks office and point out those things that make the man.

Clem Nunn is a progressive man, alive to the interest of his county and state, affable among the people, pious in his daily life, a democrat of old school, a law-members of the Court of Appeals to say for the people of this district, who their judge shall be? They have no right to act officially in such a matter; their part in this matter was purely personal; they live in other districts and in other parts of the state and their interference was a piece of presumption and impertinence that our people condemn and resent.

Judge T. J. Nunn, having become disabled to discharge the duties of the office, resigned; this was highly proper in Judge Nunn, and was exactly what any decent and just man would have done under the circumstances, but when he resigned, the title of the office reverted to the people and they had the right to an opportunity to be heard by the Governor, as to the appointment of his successor; but by secret conclave they were denied their opportunity to be heard then, but there is no mistaking their intention to be heard on the 7th, day of August, and I am convinced that their verdict will be that the day of the scheming politician, with his "gum shoe" and his "dark lantern" is past; that the Court of Appeals of our Democratic Republican form of government shall not be abrogated or subverted, with their approval or acquiescence.

I maintain that Judge Clem Nunn's incumbency of the office he holds, carries with it no prestige and bears no mark of public approval or confidence, but is the result, merely, of a selfish expedient, born of the hope of continuing in the family the salary of the office. The yer of prominence, a scholarly gentleman of deep convictions between right and wrong, brave in his attitude toward men of vicious habits, but relenting in his own heart when the victim of wrong doing comes before the bar for adjudication, because the distinguished Judge has a tender feeling for human suffering. There is a close tie between this county and Crittenden county people and this tie together with Judge Nunn's sterling ability and goodness will result in popular favor next August.—Livingstone Enterprise.

people of the district owe the Messrs. Nunn nothing. They have had their reward. What has not been freely conferred upon them by you, in this office, they have taken from you without your leave. As to the respective qualifications of myself and the young Judge Nunn, for the office to which we aspire, no people are better able to judge than the people of Crittenden County. That matter I leave to you to decide, and I make my appeal to your sober judgement, unimpaired and unbiased by the deceptive influence of a false sentiment.

I solicit your support and your votes, and in return I pledge to you an efficient, faithful and just discharge of the duties of the office, to which I hope and expect to be elected.

Faithfully yours,
J. F. Gordon.

Editor Of Livingston Enterprise Was In Marion Saturday.

J. L. Smith, the editor of the Livingstone Enterprise was here Saturday in the interest of the New Road Law. He spoke to a good crowd at the Court House and made one of the best arguments ever heard on the subject in this county. It was plain, honest, logical, and in fact unanswerable. It was not his fault that the proposition did not carry with our Magistrates, there were some other underlying reasons which could not at this time be overcome. However when Livingstone county starts the work, the enthusiasm will lap over our borders. Its catching. We thank you Mr. Smith for taking that much interest in us, and if you will give us a little time for it to soak in we believe it will be a winning proposition in our good county of Crittenden

How Alexander Untied the Knot

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

Author of "Do Something! Be Something!"

ALEXANDER the Great was being shown the Gordian Knot. "It can't be untied," they told him; "every man who tried to do so failed."

But Alexander was not discouraged because the rest had flunked. He simply realized that he would have to go at it in a different way. And instead of wasting time with his fingers, he drew his sword and slashed it apart.

Every day a great business general is shown some knot which has proved too much for his competitors, and he succeeds, because he finds a way to cut it. The fumbler has no show so long as there is a brother merchant who doesn't waste time trying to accomplish the impossible—who takes lessons from the failures about him and avoids the methods which were their downfall.

The knottiest problems in trade are:

- 1—The problem of location.
- 2—The problem of getting the crowds.
- 3—The problem of keeping the crowds.
- 4—The problem of minimizing fixed expenses.
- 5—The problem of creating a valuable good will.

None of these knots is going to be untied by fumbling fingers. They are too complicated. They're all inextricably involved—so twisted and entangled that they can't be solved singly—like the Gordian knot they must be cut through at one stroke. And you can't cut the knot with anything but advertising—because:

- 1—A store that is constantly before the people makes its own neighborhood.
- 2—Crowds can be brought from anywhere by persistent advertising.
- 3—Customers can always be held by inducements.
- 4—Fixed expenses can only be reduced by increasing the volume of sales.
- 5—Good will can only be created through publicity.

Advertising is breeding new giants every year and making them more powerful every hour. Publicity is the sustaining food of a powerful store and the only strengthening nourishment for a weak one. The retailer who delays his entry into advertising must pay the penalty of his procrastination by facing more giant competitors as each month of opportunity slips by.

Personal ability as a close purchaser and as a clever seller doesn't count for a hang, so long as other men are equally well posted and wear the sword of publicity to boot. They are able to tie your business into constantly closer knots, while you cannot retaliate, because there is no knot which their advertising cannot cut for them.

Yesterday you lost a customer—today they took one—tomorrow they'll get another. You cannot cope with their competition because you haven't the weapon with which to oppose it. You can't untie your Gordian knot because it can't be untied—you've got to cut it.

You must become an advertiser or you must pay the penalty of incompetence.

The Way They Do It At Frankfurt.

After a two minute interruption to the street and incandescent lights at 1:30 this morning caused by a break in the machinery at the power plant of the Kentucky Public Service Company, temporary repairs were made and the incandescent light responded feebly until 3:01 o'clock when, to use the expression of one of the company's employees "the damned engine went all to smash" and it was announced that it would be impossible to restore the lights before daylight. Fortunately business houses were closed and the lights in the majority of residences had been extinguished. The hotels, hospitals, Police and Fire Departments were inconvenienced and the State Journal plant was put out of commission. Fortunately the majority of the paper had been "set up" and the linotype operators at once went to work to "set" the remainder by hand with the aid of candle lights.—State Journal.

Just put a few drops of Sloan's on the painful spot and the pain stops. It is really wonderful how quickly Sloan's acts. No need to rub it in—laid on lightly it penetrates to the bone and brings relief at once. Kills rheumatic pain instantly.

I had it so bad one night when sitting in my chair, that I had to jump on my feet to get relief. #### SYMPTOMS

Slight Symptoms Sometimes Presage Serious Results.

Don't you feel tired, have you a sal low complexion, constipation, headache, bad breath, sleeplessness or circles around your eyes? If so, you are undoubtedly suffering from liver complaint.

Perhaps you don't feel very badly now, but delay is dangerous. To allow your liver to continue out of order, is to invite a serious chronic illness.

Whenever you have the slightest symptoms of liver trouble, stop it immediately. You can do it harmlessly and mildly by taking LIV-VER-LAX, the natural vegetable compound that is replacing calomel everywhere. It has all the effectiveness, not the effect of calomel. Insist on getting the original LIV-VER-LAX, bearing the likeness and signature of L. K. Grigsby, which is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, Marion, Ky.

Boy Has Twelve Toes And Eleven Fingers.

An operation to remove an extra finger from the left hand and a sixth toe from each foot of Louis Norris, three years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Norris will be performed at the City Hospital within 24 hours.

X-ray pictures of the addition.

al members taken at the hospital showed the finger to be perfectly formed as to number of joints and bones, but there were no corresponding bones in the hand. It is about half the size of the small finger of the same hand. The extra toe on the left foot has no bones in it, but the one on the right is perfect.

The boy's parents said that an additional finger on his right hand already had been removed. A twin brother of the child died shortly after its birth.

Don't dose delicate little stomachs with nauseating drugs—rub VICK'S Croup and SALVE well over throat and chest. #### BRIGHTEN THAT NORTH ROOM Skillful Touches in Arrangement of Furniture and Draperies Will Accomplish Wonders.

I would advise papering the room with a self-toned paper, light tan in color as near to the tint of sunshine as you can get. Your shades should, of course, match those in use all over the house. Then make your drapery curtains of tan art scrim, just a deep hemstitched hem at the bottom, and allow them to hang straight.

Stain the woodwork white and give it several coats, finishing off with an enamel or egg-shell finish. For the center of the room have an "art square" made. This may be woven as the rag rugs are or crocheted or knitted. I prefer the woven rugs and beautiful solid effects with handsome borders now possible.

Try to have the rose color predominate in rug and articles of furnishing for the bureau and chiffonier, pillows and couch cover. With white enamel furniture, the north room will be far from a cold, repellent room, and will be a transplanted sunshiny corner.—Exchange.

G. N. McGREW,

of Bayou, Livingston county, Kentucky as candidate for Representative of the counties of Caldwell, Livingston and Crittenden. Subject to the action of the Democratic primary, first Saturday in August 1915.

In this issue Judge Gordon addresses a letter to the voters of Crittenden county, and he has published it in the papers of other counties also. Judge Gordon criticises Judge T. J. Nunn because he resigned, and at the same time commends him for doing so; he assails the Judges of the Court of Appeals for recommending Judge C. S. Nunn, as well as the Governor for appointing him. He should not feel hard toward Judge C. S. Nunn for accepting the appointment, and to show how he felt about it, at the time Judge C. S. Nunn was appointed, the following letter from him will show, it being written the day after the appointment was made.

Office of C. Pepper, Sr.,
Princeton, Ky.

March, 2nd, 1914.

Hon. C. S. Nunn,
Frankfort, Ky.

Dear Friend:—

I congratulate you upon your appointment to succeed your Father upon the Court of Appeals Bench.

I wish you the greatest degree of success and all the honor and glory that may come to you in your high position, and that you will finally receive your greatest reward in the consciousness of duty well done.

Sincerely your friend,

J. F. Gordon.

As to the respective qualifications of Judges Nunn and Gordon for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals; Judge Gordon says no people are better able to Judge than those of Crittenden County. They are both equally known to the people of this county. Judge Nunn was born and reared here and has lived here all his life. Judge Gordon has been holding our Circuit Court for more than a decade. The August Primary will show what the people think of each man.

IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Chastain Haynes very charmingly entertained the Friday Bridge Club last week.

Many interesting games were played, after which delicious brick ice cream and cake was served. Beside the members the following guests were present: Mesdames, Emma Haywood, Ollie Tucker, Press Guess and E. G. Kimpton, of Chicago; Misses, Ruth Haynes, Nannie Rochester, Ruth Flanary, Katharine Yandell, Della Barnes and Judge T. J. Nunn.

Delicious fruit cocktail and cake was served to: Mesdames, Wm. Barnett, G. P. Roberts, E. G. Kimpton, of Chicago and Miss Madeleine Jenkins. Messrs. G. P. Roberts, Sam Gugenheim and Bruce Babb.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. George P. Roberts gave a delightful tea in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Edward Kimpton of Chicago.

Assisted by Mrs. Kimpton and Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Roberts who presided at her tea table, which was artistically arranged with flowers, served her guests with tea flavored with rock-candy and closely following, were sandwiches, dough-nuts, mints and almonds. Mrs. Kimpton, who is quite gifted in the art of reading, gave a selection, much to the enjoyment of her listeners and Mrs. Wilson rendered several solos on the piano.

Big Real Estate Deal—
Babb's Restaurant To Move.

By a deal which was consummated last week, R. F. Dorr sold his fine, new, two story brick store room on Main street, next door to the Farmers Bank, to Bruce Babb, and the Babb Bros. Restaurant will be moved to it at once. Mr. Babb is being congratulated on getting this splendid stand for his restaurant. The room is well adapted to the purpose. The entire upper floor has, we understand, been leased for ten years to the Home Telephone Co., and is an admirable location for them as it is near both hotels, both banks, and opposite three of Marion's leading mercantile establishments. The building is a splendid brown brick, two stories high and with plate glass front and was wanted by several of our business men. The consideration was $2500, cash and it is considered a bargain.
