Great Charitable Act Executed in Louisville on the Ninth of August Last Year.

The "Tunick Max.

Louisville, May 24.—Fifty thousand loaves of bread will be delivered by R. T. Gomer, the "Tunick Max.," to the poor people of this city.

The "bread line," as this unique charitable act is called, was inaugurated in Louisville Sunday morning, and between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock, several thousand loaves of bread were distributed to the worthy poor as a signal to the great city of Louisville. In the afternoon, following the same practice, several thousand more loaves were distributed to the worthy poor as a signal to the great city of Louisville.

The Editor of the Crittenden Record-Press does not for one moment believe the article that appeared in the Louisville paper as to the intention of the Government allowing the "bread line," as it has been called, to continue to operate for a certain period that the "bread line" of Senator James is being used by his agents to obtain votes. The Senate is in session and the Government has not yet determined whether to allow the "bread line" to continue.

The President is not in the city, the Senate is in session, and the Senate is in session. The President has not yet determined whether to allow the "bread line" to continue.

The Saginaw Silo has continuous doors with perfectly air tight bearings. The handy levers hold them firmly in position. The inside surface of the doors is perfectly smooth before the latches are locked. The doors open and close with no noise of any kind. It is easier for you to get your feed out of the Saginaw. Bald Daylight Act Of

Ernest Billings

A notorious character of Marion, Ky., was the victim of a holdup last Saturday night. He was shot to death in the alleyway behind his store, by three men who burrowed a vault containing $500. Billings got a chance to pull a gun and shoot at one of the men, but lost his life in the endeavor. He was a good shot, and had killed several men in his time, but the crooks in the vault were too much for him. His body was taken to the hospital and will be given a funeral.
