Everything Running Smoothly—New Additions Are Being Made on Auditorium Stage

The entertainment last Friday night was a great success. The school made about $25.00 for the improvement fund. We thank the people for their hearty sup- port.

How Mary Finley visited the prize Library Society last Fri- day. The subject of the program was the “Pamela Exposi- tion.” Miss Finley read a prize paper on this subject, and told us some very interesting things. We enjoyed having her and we invite her to come again soon.

The stage in the Auditorium is being replaced. The carpent- ers are at work on it now, and hope to have it completed by next week. Drapery and focusing rooms are to be instal- led. After it is finished we will have a free-class stage on which to give our plays and entertain- ments. The Junior class is to give a play on Friday evening, Feb. 18th. We as the members of the townpeople on this occasion as the proceeds of this enter- tainment are to be appropriated to and the payment of the debt incurred by this work.

While the carpenters are at work with all stage, and we can- not have our regular chapel ex- ercises, the perfect classes are exercising in their own rooms.

The Library Society has a debate on the following subject: “Resolved that the United States should within the most fifteen years, grant the Philippians their independence, and tint them in establishing a free and independent govern- ment.”

The Symposium of Men’s B. S. E. is to give a “Collegiate” program. The library of Carlow Hall is being furnished and several others are to be discussed. This program is sure to be very interesting and instructive.

Marion High School Conference: In The Mountains

The Carpeige Library to be built at Corbin, Ky., will be a feature of the program of the district meeting of the Kentucky State Library Association last week. We have not seen the plan or the specifications but we understand that it is a scale of magnificence which is usually dispensed by Mr. Carpano in such estab- lishments. We congratulate the people of Corbin in securing the service of Mr. Black which will make the building an artistic job in every particular.

Brown’s Tower

We are glad to know that the greatest bargain king of the south is seen in streets. We are informed that he will conduct a big bargain sale like the one year ago for Carpelton Bros. & Dods. It will be remembered that the sale was the largest ever in this city. He will take over and charge of Carpelton Bros. & Dods’ store for seven days from the evening of Easter Sunday to close a few days late April 13th, during which time the entire stock will be marated at cost and below. All propositions will be made and thousands are expected.

Easter Comes Late

Easter comes later this year than it has since 1946. April 3rd is the date of the end of Lent. Easter Sunday was the same date in 1945. Easter will not come as late as April 3rd until 1946, when it will be two days later, April 3rd, 1945. Easter Sunday fell on April 3rd, 1944. The latest date for Easter Sunday was 1945 until 1940, in the year 2000 Easter Sunday will be on April 21st. With the excep- tion of 1940 there will be no Easter Sunday as late as Easter Sunday until 1946. Candidates for Apr. 3rd Easter Sunday will be nine days later than on Apr. 3rd. Next year’s will be fifteen days earlier.

LORD'S BRAIN LEAKS.
By J. A. LeRoy

Dr. Morey was curious to know the exact number of blood vessels in the brain. He decided to find out by injecting a blue dye into the brain of a live animal. The dye spread throughout the brain, revealing the intricate network of blood vessels. Dr. Morey was amazed at the complexity of the system and published a detailed report on his findings.

NO HEADACHE.
By F. H. Armstrong

A headache can be a result of many factors, such as stress, dehydration, or even a simple cold. However, a recent study found that regular exercise can significantly reduce the frequency and intensity of headaches. Participants who engaged in moderate physical activity for at least 30 minutes a day reported a decrease in headache occurrences.

THE MOSQUITO HUNTER.

This novel tells the story of a young man who discovers a natural remedy for mosquito bites while on a camping trip. The remedy becomes popular, and he starts a business to sell it. However, a rival company tries to copy his formula, leading to a legal battle. The book is a thrilling adventure and a cautionary tale about intellectual property.

County Superintendent Travis Writes Letter To All County Teachers

As this week ends another year’s work with its successes and failures, its joys and sorrows, and above all, if I cannot return free from sending you this pastestling of the year. Let us hope that the seeds of good that have been sown will be fruitful, and that miseries that have crept into our schools will be gathered and forgotten. The schools of the county have suffered some this year from congestion, hail raids, high water, intense weather, &c., but we feel that much has been accomplished for the happiness and betterment of the children and citizens of our county through your endeavors. I want to thank you for the hearty cooperation you have given me in carrying out this work as I planned. I am pledgeing you my best efforts for better conditions in the county for next year if they can be had. At least you will have my sympathetic cooperation in the work as it may come. Spend your vacation profitably. The best place I know that you can be doing this is at the State School.

Exceedingly you will find a blank form of questions and answers. I will be much obliged, and you will be helping the County Board. A good deal if you take the time to answer these questions and return them to me with your full reports. Send for your truant and have him help you.

In your "last day" speech do not forget to insist on your students graduating the High School work next year. Our County High school pupils are doing well. Someone has said that the County High School in the Farmer’s college. The school here is already well-equipped and doing good work, but if need be it will be made better. Show to your children the advantage they are getting by not giving themselves of this privilege.

Another idea has come into my head. I am not afraid to say that I am asking for your assistance in the interest of the school. Send a postcard, in a letter, on your last report, for me to hold to them the last month’s salary and enroll you as a member of the E. K. A. I will send the enrolling blanks and send you a receipt. This will enable me to keep a record of all who enroll. Then when we meet the school we will have the right of controlling. If you cannot attend the meeting you will receive the report anyway which I will distribute.

Again thanking you for your faithful efforts and hearty co-operation and pledge to you, that in the future as in the past, you will prove a true friend to the teacher and to the children of Caddo county. I beg to remain

Yours very truly,

E. JEFFERIS TRAVIS, County Superintendent.

She Will Recover

So her doctor said. The shell had left its sinister mark in the noonday sun of April. But she knew that it was barely a month since the April sun had gilded her cheeks with the golden glow of health and beauty, and she knew that she would recover. “It is a question of time,” she had been told. “I only have to lie in bed a few more days and then I will be well again.”

On her twenty-third birthday, which was approaching, she had been, as usual, quietly prosperous. Her health was good, her spirits were high, and she was indulging in every luxury that money could buy. Her friends had been with her all day, and had left her in the charge of her devoted maid, who had promised to see that she was taken care of.

But when she was alone, her thoughts turned to her future. She knew that she would recover, and that she would be able to enjoy all the pleasures of life again. She would be able to go to the opera, to the theater, to the races, and to all the other entertainments that she had formerly enjoyed. She would be able to live as she had always lived, with all the comfort and luxury that money could buy.

And so she lay in bed, her mind filled with thoughts of the future, and waiting for her doctor’s news. She knew that she would recover, and that she would be able to enjoy all the pleasures of life again.

The doctor had come to see her, and had told her that she would recover. She thanked him, and promised to lie in bed a few more days. She knew that she would recover, and that she would be able to enjoy all the pleasures of life again.
