LORD KITCHENER
Britain's Greatest Soldier Meets With All On Board The Ship.

London, June 6.—Admiral Trench, commander of the British fleet, reported to the Admiralty today that the British cruiser Hampshire, with Earl Kitchener and his staff aboard, was lost off the West Orkneys. Four boats were seen to leave the Hampshire but a boat was running and only a capitated boat and some bodies have been found.

Kitchener was on his way to Russia. Jellicoe reported little hope for any survivors. Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war August 8, 1914. He was recognized as England’s greatest soldier.

The Orkneys are of the extreme north of Scotland. The Hampshire was on its way into the Atlantic around the northern end of the Scandinavian peninsula into the White Sea. The cruiser probably intended to anchor at Archangel. There had been no previous confirmation that it intended to leave for Russia.

The Hampshire was an old cruiser of approximately 11,000 tons.

What's a Name?

A young Liverpool sculptor calls his sweetheart's Revenge, because she is severe and a young married man residing in Boston calls his confection Lictures, because he loves licorice so much and a fourth wife of an attorney calls him Wennesley, because he knows no law; and a Manchester man calls his wife Stale Bog, because she gets up late and goes to bed late even for the stage coach and at the lodge; and a Middlebrough man calls his wife Flatulently, because Shakespeare says: "Fracas, thy name is woman;" and a certain insurance agent calls his wife Humility, because it's the best policy, and a Nudesophian man calls his wife Mary Jane, because that's her name; and a Gloucester man calls his wife During because that isn't her name--it's a regular mess; and a Worceste man calls his wife Enough, because she is as good as a feast.--The Bib.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer from rheumatism due to irregularity in the diet, and many of these have been cured at the current price of $1.50 at Marion Drug Co., Marion, Ky. The great amount of excitement which occurs in the muscles and joints is the cause of the rheumatism. When there is freedom from these excited muscles and joints, there is freedom from the rheumatism.

The French Hold Verdon Gorge

London, June 5.—The current crisis in Italy has put a stop to another German attack which was expected against Tunisia. The French recently captured the Saint-Elme, a German vessel which is believed to be an adventurer, and the Allies have taken advantage of the situation to bring the United States into the struggle.

ALLIANCE Advantage

The German and Austrian fleets can be brought into the United States with ease, but on that brought from Cuba there is a duty of 1 cent a pound. This gives the British the margin of a cent a pound in their competition with sugar buyers from the United States. It also causes the allies to buy more of their sugar in Cuba, so that the other islands are obliged to buy on an equal footing with buyers from our country.

Although all the sugar raised in Cuba is cane sugar, the prices of beet sugar in the United States have kept parallel in the increase with the price of cane sugar. It is a "sympathetic" price, and results from the fact that beet sugar becomes more apprehended as cane sugar goes higher.

phies Dblouind.

At the current price of beet sugar now are $170 a hundred weight and on cane sugar $80 a hundred weight. Two years ago, before the beginning of the European war, sugar was sold at $144 a hundred weight, and sugar brought only $40 a hundred weight. This is certainly a 100 per cent increase in price.

Nanny Goat Serves As Infant's Meal Ticket

Leo, 2 months old, whose mother died a few weeks ago, once her life to a pet goat. The baby was longest in time from New York immediately after the mother's death in plane was in charge of an agent. The goat provided a pet and taught the infant to nurse the natural way.

The child that time only weighed five pounds and showed symptoms of tuberculosis. The goat, under care of the baby, soon grew and the goat was purchased and is at present approximately three months old. It was given to the baby and the goat was bought for $200.

In the morning the goat walks about the kitchen and卓s until the baby is brought out to "breathe." If the child cries it is put in the goat's case and the "goat's milk" is given. In this way the baby has learned to "goat" and to eat independently.

In response to many requests this Chautauqua this year, the local council has issued 1000 $10.00 season tickets. Throughout the season the prices of tickets are much lower than usual. The admission to the respective entertainments, as the officials state, does not amount to more than the current cost of a season ticket in case the ticket should be lost.

The name of some member of the family must be written in each space over your name. This provision is made strictly as a protection in the event of the ticket being lost.

In the early evening the missionary sermon, which is a regular feature of the annual conference, was presented by Rev. J. A. Chandler, pastor of the Methodist church at Martin. The sermon was a loyal and able defense of foreign missions, the speaker showing by unanswerable argument that it is the duty of every Christian to devote his time and money to this noble cause.

The sermon was a model of clear presentation of the subject. Mr. Chandler is a brilliant young minister and held the attention of his hearers from the first word to the last. "Many in the gathering crowd, never the stronger missionary sermon that they heard last Sunday, shaded with an assured impression of the work of the church in India and Egypt and China."

The meeting was well attended, and the audience was highly appreciative of the sermon.
