George Washington

George Washington as you all know,
The bravest and wisest of all men;

He was elected president,
As no other man could have been.

He went to war at the trumpets first sound,
And not one word did he say;

Until he was on the battle line
On the battle line far away.

And he fought well and bravely too.

And not a single complaint did make, nor did he shed a tear.

OUR NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

For Marion—Bond Election Must Carry—A Word to The Voters. Important!

Next Saturday July 1, the voters of Marion will have another opportunity to help make Marion a bigger and a better town.

Marion has always been strictly a school town and during its years of steady growth the school has been an important factor in making the town what it is today. As our little town has prospered, the school has grown and today we find that our present building, and equipment are absolutely inadequate to meet the needs of our town and county. Last year the high school with an enrollment of 108 was so crowded that the halls had to be used as study rooms, and after the second term began many deserving young men and women, who are seeking an education, were turned away from lack of room.

There are 125 or more common school graduates in the county this year and many of them have already expressed a desire to enter high school in September. With the present building and equipment, the school cannot care for them.

This is our day of opportunity and if we fail to provide for these—our own boys and girls, who are merely asking for a "chance" in life, if we as voters fail them now, at this time when we have this golden opportunity to make our school better and at the same time to render service to our own people, if we fail now a "wayfaring man" can see what the result will be.

But the citizens of Marion are not going to fail, they have never failed us in the past and we are sure that they will not fail us in this hour of need. The school children in Marion and Crittenden county are asking you for a chance to make the most of life; they are pleading with you to give them, by your vote, the kind of an education which will make life easier and happier for them. We are sure that you will not deny them.

If you believe in Marion, in your school and in the childhood of Marion and Crittenden county help us by your vote and influence to give us the room and the equipment, which are necessary to make the Marion High School meet the needs and the demands of the boys and girls of this part of the state.

Yours for better schools,
V. L. Christian, Supt.
Hollis Franklin, Prin.

The election will be held in the school auditorium from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. next Saturday, July 1st.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

In the last Teacher's examination in Caldwell County, taken at Princeton, Kentucky, one of our Marion girls, Miss Allie Wilborn, secured the only first class certificate out of twenty-seven taking the examination. Of this number ten made Second Class certificates and sixteen failed. So you see we should be proud of this Marion girl. Miss Wilborn made an average of 92.4-11 percent.

Lecturer For the Closing Day of Chautauqua

DR. E. T. HAGERMAN.

DR. E. T. HAGERMAN, who is to lecture here on the last day of the Chautauqua, has occupied the leading pulpit of his denomination in each of six cities. He went from the First Methodist Church of Des Moines to the First Church in Milwaukee, the largest Methodist church in the state of Wisconsin. He has never been troubled with empty pews.

Dr. Hagerman has the gift of putting fundamental truths very simply. He discusses problems in the language of the people. His congregations were notable for the large number of men who attended.

He has also been in much demand as an after dinner speaker. Only men who can interest and entertain are called on repeatedly for after dinner speeches.

As a lecturer Dr. Hagerman is not of the dramatic, explosive style, but a speaker who grows on his audiences the longer he talks. He is a genius in word painting, and his thoughts are emphasized by natural, wholesome wit.

GO TO CHURCH It Will Insure Happiness Here and In Hereafter

GO TO CHURCH.

By going to church you'll insure a happy life here and in the hereafter.

THIS LIFE IS AN ILLUSION. AS A BOY YOU WERE TAUGHT TO LOOK FORWARD TO THE WHITE HOUSE AND THE PRESIDENCY. OR PERHAPS YOUR DEAR MOTHER PRAYED THAT YOU MIGHT BECOME GOOD ENOUGH TO BE A CLERGYMAN. THE THINGS THAT YOU HAD HOPED FOR WERE MADE UP IN YOUR IMAGINATION. THEY ARE SELDOM REALIZED. OFTEN IT IS A WISE AND MERCIFUL ARRANGEMENT THAT THEY ARE NOT. YOU BEGIN LIFE WITH ILLUSIONS. ALL LIFE'S EXPERIENCE IS A CORRECTION OF THESE ILLUSIONS.

Again there occurs that immortal saying, "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Riches, as often has been preached, do not bring happiness. More often they bring misery. Solomon, when he had satiated every desire, said, "All is vanity." There is only one place on earth that true and lasting happiness can be had, and that is the house of God. There is an emptiness in the happiness of the world, in the happiness that can be bought with riches. The man who is rich in religion, who is rich in the virtues, is far happier than a Croesus.

IT IS IN THE CHURCH THAT YOU WILL FIND REAL HAPPINESS. TRY IT. GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY. IF YOU HAVEN'T BEEN TO CHURCH IN A LONG TIME YOU WILL AT ONCE FEEL THE BENEFICIAL EFFECTS. YOUR HEART WILL BE LIGHTER. YOU'LL WALK WITH A MORE BUOYANT STEP. YOU'LL BE REFRESHED IN BODY AND MIND. YOU WILL FEEL LIKE THE TRAVELER ALONG A DUSTY ROAD WHO FINDS A BUBBLING SPRING.

The door of the church is open. It is inviting. The pastor bids you to enter. Follow the happy throng. Be one of them.

IF YOU DESIRE HAPPINESS NOW—

IF YOU WISH HAPPINESS HEREAFTER—

GO TO CHURCH.

Dr. J. R. GILCHRIST

OPHTHALMOLOGIST

A YEAR WITHOUT A SUMMER

The Year 1816 Had No Summer, Frosts Prevailed and Ice Formed In June.

It is said that the year 1816 had no summer; that frosts prevailed and ice formed in the month of June; that in July ice formed to the thickness of an inch; that in August there was a heavy fall of snow; but that in September the usual fall weather prevailed. There was no corn raised, and most of the crops were failure. It is said that these weather conditions extended all over the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Probably the facts have been exaggerated. Other parts of the nation and world had a summer, and there was food and clothing for the people. Some growl perpetually at the weather; it is too hot or too cold or too wet or too dry. And yet a kind Providence arranges it infinitely better than we could. What a beautiful promise this was in the early history of the race: "While the earth remaineth, seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter and day and night shall not cease."—The Christian Herald.

MONTH'S NAVAL CRUISE WITHOUT ANY EXPENSE

Government Will Defray Cost Of Trip For Poor Boys

Word has been received by Naval Recruiting Officer S. Schelle that it would now be possible to send boys who are unable to pay their way to the Atlantic coast and return on a naval training course on board the ship they are assigned to. The expense for those who are able to pay their way has been lowered to half the original sum, making it about $40.

The object of the naval cruise is the same as that of the army training camps and the men will be taught as much about the work as is possible in a month. The ships will leave from different places on the seacoast on Aug 12th. All applications should be handed in before July 1st. All applicants will undergo a medical examination at the local recruiting station and another at Indianapolis and then will be sent to the coast.

YELLOW-BILLED CUCKOO

(Coccyzus americanus)

Length, about twelve inches. The yellow lower part of the bill distinguishes this bird from its near relative, the black-billed cuckoo.

Range: Breeds generally in the United States and southern Canada; winters in South America.

Habits and economic status: This bird lives on the edges of woodland, in groves, orchards, parks, and even in shaded village streets. It is sometimes known as rain crow, because its very characteristic notes are supposed to foretell rain. The cuckoo has sly, furtive ways as it moves among the bushes or flits from tree to tree, and is much more often heard than seen. Unlike its European relative, it does not lay its eggs in other birds' nests, but builds a nest of its own. This is, however, a rather crude and shabby affair—hardly more than a platform of twigs sufficient to hold the greenish eggs. The cuckoo is extremely useful because of its insectivorous habits, especially as it shows a marked preference for the hairy caterpillars, which few birds eat. One stomach that was examined contained 250 American tent caterpillars; another, 217 fall webworms. In places where tent caterpillars are abundant they seem to constitute a large portion of the food of this and the black-billed cuckoo.

No Commendation.

"You seem to think a great deal of that candidate."

"How do you arrive at that conclusion?" asked Senator Sorghum.

"Why, you have always supported him."

"Yes; but a public man's attitude toward a candidate may be that of the family toward the head of the house. You don't necessarily think any more of a man because you've got to support him."

One Million Jobs In America Closed to Drinkers.

In the July American Magazine Dr. Edwin F. Bowers says: "There are more than a million jobs in America closed to the man who drinks alcoholic liquors. This means that not only the employee shall not drink while on duty, but that he shall keep clear of all public drinking places while off duty."

"Leaders in this excommunication of John Barleycorn are the American railroads, which generally have adopted 'Rule G,' the mightiest blow yet delivered at alcohol in industry. But the railroads are not standing alone. Other great industries have come to see that alcohol makes only for accidents, inefficiency and waste. Workmen's Compensation Laws in many states have helped to open men's eyes, and business common sense is keeping them open."

SQUEEZING BLOOD OUT OF A TURNIP

A Lot Of People Apparently Think It Can Be Done.

"You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip." This is absolutely true, but a lot of people evidently don't believe it.

You can't expect nervous, run-down men and women to be cherry, normal beings. They don't get one-half out of life that they deserve. But a lot of people expect it of them.

In every community there are a legion of these men and women. Not really sick, perhaps, but affected with a nervous, debilitated condition so that they imagine countless things are wrong with them. They have frequent headaches, are sluggish in mind and in body and they haven't enough real energy to make them self-reliant in even the little things of life. They haven't enough rich, red blood to nourish their bodies.

Their vital organs are congested. They need something to speed up their assimilation to a normal state, something to bring back old vitality, self-reliance and a cherry view of life.

They need something that contains the right nerve food, tonic, invigorator and appetizer which will awake their sleeping energies.

Tanlac is designed especially to meet these conditions. For the relief of stomach, kidney and liver ailments and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes it is believed to be without an equal. It fortifies one to better encounter fatigue, exposure and the daily grind of life.

Tanlac has won the greatest success ever stored by a medicine. It could not have done so without superlative merit. As the proof of the pudding is in the eating, so is the proof of Tanlac in the taking.

Tanlac now may be obtained in Marion, Ky., at the Drug Store of J. H. Orme, where it is being personally introduced and explained.

ROADS APPEALING TO THE FARMERS ON WAGE RAISE

If Demands Are Granted Farmers Will Have To Pay Big Part Of Increase

Washington, D. C.—Though farmers usually feel little interest in railway labor disputes and are disposed to think that such troubles are remote from them and cannot touch them directly. In the pending question between the Brotherhoods of freight trainmen and the railways of the country the railways evidently are making special effort to inform the farmers on the points involved and to enlist their attention.

It is argued by the railroad managers that the final disposition of the dispute will be made by public sentiment. They reason that the farmer, when it comes to a final "show-down," really controls not only the political power but the sentiment of nearly all the states. Therefore, they are trying to appeal to his horse sense. They are sending out a good deal of literature directed especially to the farmers—probably the first time such a course has been taken in any great labor struggle. They say they are convinced of the general public's confidence in the horse sense, the insight and the fairness of the American farmer, and that, therefore, his influence must be powerful.

High Wages Now Paid

They are dwelling especially on the argument that the freight trainmen already are the highest paid laborers in the world. They submit figures to show that in many instances freight train employees earn from $75.00 a month for the trainmen, or "brake-man" as they used to be called, to $250.00 a month for engineers, working from 22 to 25 days a month. They are asking farmers to inquire into the facts and convince themselves that most of the talk of excessive hours of labor on railways is empty and contradicted by the facts. More than sixteen hours of continuous work in railway service is forbidden by law. The instances of men kept on duty so long as sixteen hours are a very small fractional percentage of the total employment; they become less every year, and almost invariably are due to accident or some unusual weather conditions.

The managers of the railway companies point out that the farmer, himself accustomed to from twelve to fourteen hours a day of steady work and rarely earns in a year as much cash money as a trainman on duty from ten to twelve hours, and never continuously at work, can earn, resting from labor from one-fourth to one-third of his time. In the south it is a familiar maxim that "it takes thirteen months to make a cotton crop." The man who raises ten bales of cotton gets for it in money from $150.00 to $300.00, and from this must pay his living expenses, fertilizer bills and labor. "The trainmen are said to average $800.00 a year, this being the estimate of the Brotherhood leaders themselves, and the engineers draw from $1,500.00 to $2,500.00 a year, the conductors and firemen earning wages between those of the trainmen and engineers.

Farmer Vitally Interested

Aside from the question of justice, it is pointed out that the farmer's direct interest in the matter is that his welfare demands freight traffic adequate to the needs of the country, and that whatever injures the railroads or hampers their operation or prevents their development is a direct injury to him. If the trouble should develop a general strike of the freight train employees, resulting in a tie-up of traffic, the farmer would be unable to ship out what he raises or to get in what he wants. He will be asked to consider whether the railroads should be crippled by being compelled to pay 25 per cent increase in wages to men already receiving far more than the average prosperous farmer, with resulting injury to the farmer himself—and if the railroads are compelled to grant the increase and have to raise their freight rates, the farmer will have to pay a big part of the increase.

Rank Nonsense

It is the rankest nonsense for the Trainman to pretend that the public has nothing to do with this business. The public has everything to do with it, as the Brotherhoods will find, if they refuse arbitration and cast conservatism to the winds. The most cowardly government could not, in that case, shrink from its supreme duty of keeping the national highways open to commerce.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Freight Accidents Decrease.

The use of the huge new locomotives and the long and heavy trains, against which the Brotherhoods of freight trainmen, who are asking an enormous increase in wages, protest so vigorously, seems to have resulted in a rapid decrease in accidents to railroad employees, and a decided increase in their safety. The number of railway employees killed in service diminished from 620 in 1911 to 452 in 1914, and the number of injured from 6601 to 4322.

No other issues of the campaign is so vital as the issue that this vote presents. The followers of the Kaiser in the United States have set out to destroy President Wilson politically for the crime of being an American President instead of a German president. They have decreed that President Wilson must be defeated because the foreign or his administration are not satisfactory to the German Emperor.

BEAUTIFUL WAS THE WEDDING

Miss Ruth Fritz Becomes The Bride Of Mr. H. C. Moore Jr. At Hopkinsville.

Mr. H. Coleman Moore, Jr., and Miss Ruth Fritz were married at the Methodist church at an early hour yesterday morning and left at once for their future home in New York.

The church was decorated with green and white, the decorations being ferns and hydrangeas. The chorus of sixteen entered ahead of the bridal party and rendered a short musical program, while Miss Clara Bonte presided at the organ. Those in the chorus were Mrs. L. E. Foster, Misses Ruth Haydon, Adelia Williamson, Ruth Baynam, Rebecca Gaither, Elizabeth Golladay, Grace Sallee, Alice Merritt, Lena Clark, Mattie Crenshaw, Martha Kelly, Mrs. Tom Smith, L. E. Foster and Robert Wright. The bridal party entered to the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, where the best man, Mr. Langdon McGinnis, of Frankfort, and Rev. Lewis Powell, D. D. were in waiting.

Messrs. W. Oglesby Soyars and Alvan H. Clark were the ushers and led the way, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Smith, who wore a dress of green with a white hat trimmed in green. She carried pink roses. The bride and groom came last. The bride was clad in a blue coat suit with gray hat and shoes.

The ceremony over, the bridal party went at once to the L. & N. depot and Mr. and Mrs. Moore departed on the 7:05 train for New York, where they will reside in the future. They were showered with rice and bore with them the good wishes of their many friends.

Tuesday evening the best man Mr. McGinnis, gave a dinner party at the Elks Club to the following guests: Mr. H. C. Moore, Jr., Mr. W. O. Soyars, Mr. A. H. Clark, Misses Ruth Fritz, Elizabeth Golladay, Rebecca Gaither and Evelyn Smith.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moore, Sr., and is now filling a lucrative position as senior accountant in the electric light and railway service of New York City. He is a young man of splendid type, fine character and excellent business qualifications. His home is in Tompkinsville, Staten Island. His bride is one of Hopkinsville's loveliest girls, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Fritz. She is a lady of exceptional brightness, and unusual beauty and has been a social favorite since her graduation a few seasons ago.

The marriage is the happy culmination of a love affair dating back to the time when the young couple were in High School together, in a class that has resulted in several similar love matches with several precincts to hear from.—Kentuckian.

WAGER IS MADE IN NEW YORK

That German Submarine Merchant Will Reach America Before July 5th

New York, June 16.—A bet at $500 even money was made today that a German merchant liner would register her arrival with the customs authorities of this port before July 5th. The wager was made between officials of two well-known steamship companies.

The man who bet the submarine would arrive was not only confident she would make the voyage without any trouble, but would enter this port without submerging. He ridiculed the British naval attaché's statement that the undersea liner could be trailed by her oily waste and that the British could smell the exhaust from her engines.

Why didn't they pick up the wake of the submarine that sailed from Kiel to the Dardanelles? "How was it that they didn't smell the U-19 when she landed the Sir Rogers Casement on the

Be Good To Mother.

Myrtle McCollister, a factory girl of Seaford, Del., was left a fortune because "she was so good to her mother."

Myrtle had for many years worked hard every day that she might support herself and her invalid mother. She denied herself many pretty clothes and good things to eat that she might pay doctor bills and buy medicines for her mother.

She didn't go to parties or dances so she might spend her evenings caring for the little home and comforting mother.

She didn't keep company with any young men, for she thought that if she married the man might find her mother a burden.

She worked harder than her companions that she might buy for her mother those little things of food, flowers and wear that invalids so delight in.

A man living in the same town noted what this little factory girl was doing for her mother. He was a man who could admire such a fine characteristic in another and when he died he left all his wealth to Myrtle McCollister. Until she was acquainted with the good fortune that had come to her, Myrtle didn't know that the man existed.

He didn't know Myrtle, but he did know what she was doing for her mother, and that she didn't regard it as a burden, but as a pleasure. And so it should be to every child—a pleasure to do something for mother.

We are all Americans no matter whence we come. We love our country because it makes us free. The humblest may become the greatest, the weakest may become the strongest, the poorest may become the richest; here no taint of blood, no law of royalty. The freedom is as much the right of the one who comes here as the one who is born here. We are glad of it and happy to offer this opportunity and this happiness to all. We only ask in return loyalty to the flag, valor in its defence and love of our free institutions. We do not care what songs of the old home land you may sing or what memories of the country from which you came you may cherish. All we ask is that the song you shall hold dearest to your heart is the Star Spangled Banner—(Senator Ollie James' speech in taking the gavel as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention).

BLACKFORD

After permitting the item readers to rest for a little season, here we come again with a few off hand squibs from Blackford.

We are fortunate to be able to report that the farmers, so far as we know are in fairly good humor and very busy with their farm work, though somewhat encumbered by too much rain.

Third Sunday was the regular meeting day at the Methodist church and Rev. G. W. Dann of Dekoven preached a very interesting sermon.

As Mr. Roberts is industrious and courageous, and those two qualities go as far in a struggle for health as in any other kind of human activity, we predict a speedy recovery for the unfortunate employee.

Mrs. W. Milton Babb and little daughter Miss Iva, of east Crittenden, passed through this burg last week enroute to Luzon where they contemplate spending a number of days with the family of Dr. William C. Kemp.

Mrs. Chas. E. McGregor and son, Master James, formerly Blackforders, but now Marionites were here during last week and while here Mrs. McGregor reported to your scribe, that her husband has been somewhat indisposed for a short time. Friend McGregor has followed the vocation of telegraphy for a number of years and doubtless is well qualified for such work, but on account of constitutional weakness, which the secondary occupation aggregates, our opinion is that it would be better for him to engage in some business calling for more open air exercise.

Owing to the pending controversy between the United States and Mexico, our mental faculties are favorably inclined toward optimism, therefore we shall not make any forecast regarding what the result may yet be.

Socialism Defined By J.

L. Stark, State Secty.

Socialism is a movement of the people who are imbued with the ideal of the Brotherhood of Man on Earth.

Its movement which strives to establish a Co-operative commonwealth, organized for use, instead of for PROFIT, as it is today.

Socialism declares that Capital is the result of labor applied to the land and machinery and the forces of nature, and by the that very act of Labor, rests the justice of their demand for the collective ownership.

Money is only the representative or vehicle used to exchange commodities and deserves no more respect nor consideration, than a spade or wheelbarrow.

Socialist seek to educate the people into a clear cut understanding of how wealth is produced and would take over by the legal enactment of law, all the principal means of production and distribution, such as railroads, coal mines, factories and mills in the same way that the post office and parcel post is run by the government and those utilities would be operated at cost of production, which would lower the cost of production and increase the wages of labor.

Society organized on that kind of basis would resolve itself into a great industrial commonwealth supplying work for all who wish to work and paying them wages enough for a few hours work to supply them with an abundance.

Capitalists were necessary in organizing big combines, but they are no longer needed, as they have fulfilled their mission and like all other organisms which has no longer a useful function must perish, that newer and better forms may take their place.

The first steps to take is to educate the majority of the people in voting for a political party pledged to legislate for this kind of a social order. When a sufficient number of Socialists have been elected to control Legislatures, Congress and the law making departments of our government, it will then be very easy to settle how we will take over these giant Trusts.

The powder of taxation is one the most powerful weapons in the world and once the Socialist get control of the powers of government, they can collect enough taxes off of watered stock and millionaires to pay for all the railroads, and other industries owed to day by people who don't use them.

This will be legal and right, as the will of the People is King of this Nation.

Things that are publicly used should be publicly owned. Things that are privately used should be privately owned. This would give every one a chance to own their own home. But it would not encourage people to want to own a meek home. This will eliminate poverty and make prosperity perpetual.

Wound Old Sores, Other Remedies Won't Cure. The worst cases, no matter how long standing, are cured by the wonderful, old reliable Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil. It relieves pain and heals at the same time. 25c, 50c, $1.00

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY Ernest Harold Baynes, The Naturalist,Will be Here Thursday, June 29.*Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge

Kidney diseases often advance so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretion is offensive, irregular and attended with pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Thousands recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement below. W. H. Smith, 315 Elizabeth St. Paducah, Ky., says: "I suffered for four years from kidney trouble and was steadily growing worse. My back ached constantly and I had pain across my kidneys. The kidney secretions were highly colored and proved that my kidneys were out of order. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and to my delight, they gave me prompt relief. I continued using them until cured. During the time that has since passed, I have had no kidney complaint."

Prices 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get cured Doan's Kidney Pills—the same as Mr. Smith. Foster-Milburn Co. Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 55

Needle Penetrates Chest.

MR. BAYNES AT HOME WITH THE BIRDS AND ANIMALS ON HIS FARM IN MERIDEN, N. H.

THE above photographs are typical of Ernest Harold Baynes, the naturalist, as he appears with the birds and animals on his farm in Meriden, N. H. The dog shown in one of the photos is a Great Dane, of which Mr. Baynes is very fond. One of the other photos shows a bird eating from a piece of bread held in Mr. Baynes' mouth. It is simply wonderful what Mr. Baynes can do with these birds. In addition to his afternoon lecture on the sixth day of the Chautauqua, Mr. Baynes will take the part of "Shy," the naturalist, in the production of the "Bird Masque" in the evening.

COMMON AMERICAN BIRDS

(Chordeiles virginianus)

Length, ten inches. Not to be confused with the whippoorwill. The latter lives in woodland and is chiefly nocturnal. The nighthawk often flies by day, when the white bar across the wing and its nasal cry are distinguishing.

Range: Breeds throughout most of the United States and Canada; winters in South America.

Habits and economic status: The skillful evolutions of a company of nighthawks as the birds gracefully cleave the air in intersecting circles is a sight to be remembered. So expert are they on the wing that no insect is safe from them, even the swift dragonfly being captured with ease. Unfortunately their erratic flight tempts men to use them for targets and this inexcusable practice is seriously diminishing their numbers which is deplorable, since no birds are more useful. This species makes no nest, but lays its two-spotted eggs on the bare ground, sometimes on the gravel roof of the city house. The nighthawk is a voracious feeder and is almost exclusively insectivorous. Some stomachs contained from 30 to 50 different kinds of insects, and more than 600 kinds have been identified from the stomachs thus far examined. From 500 to 1,000 ants are often found in a stomach. Several species of mosquitoes, including Anopheles, the transmitter of malaria, are eaten. Other well-known pests destroyed by the nighthawk are the Colorado potato beetle, cucumber beetles, chestnut, rice, clover-leaf and cotton-boll weevils, billbugs, bark beetles, squash bugs, and moths of the cotton worm.

Pat to the Rescue.

The New York householder engaged an Irishman fresh from a remote district of his native land as general factotum. Pat gave much satisfaction, as he was quiet and smart, and always cheerful and obliging. Only one thing bothered him, and that was his master's telephone, and many a suspicious look he gave it when in his master's study. One night they were awakened by a cry of "Fire!" and Pat, hastily dressing himself, hurried down stairs, and rushing to the telephone shouted: "Hey, mister, y'd better come out o' that, or y'e'll be burnt to death."

BARN OWL
(Aluco pratincola)

Length, about seventeen inches. Facial disk not circular as in our other owls; plumage above, pale yellow; beneath, varying from silky white to pale bright tawny.

Range: Resident in Mexico, in the southern United States, and north to New York, Ohio, Nebraska, and California.

Habits and economic status: The barn owl, often called monkey-faced owl, is one of the most beneficial of the birds of prey, since it feeds almost exclusively on small mammals that injure farm produce, nursery, and orchard stock. It hunts principally in the open and consequently secures such mammals as pocket gophers, field mice, common rats, house mice, harvest mice, kangaroo rats, and cotton rats. It occasionally captures a few birds and insects. At least a half bushel of the remains of pocket gophers have been found in the nesting cavity of a pair of these birds. Remembering that a gopher has been known in a short time to girdle seven apricot trees worth $100 it is hard to overestimate the value of the service of a pair of barn owls. One thousand two hundred and forty-seven pellets of the barn owl collected from the Smithsonian towers contained 3,100 skulls, of which 3,004, or 97 per cent, were mammals; 92, or 3 per cent, of birds; and 4 were of frogs. The bulk consisted of 1,987 field mice, 656 house mice, and 210 common rats. The birds eaten were mainly sparrows and blackbirds. This valuable owl should be rigidly protected throughout the entire range.

CALIFORNIA JAY
(Aphelocoma californica)

Length 12 inches. Distinguished from other jays within its range by its decidedly whitish underparts and brown patch on the back.

Range: Resident in California, north to southern Washington, and south to southern Lower California.

Habits and economic status: This jay has the same general traits of character as the eastern blue jay. He is the same noisy, rollicking fellow and occupies a corresponding position in bird society. Robbing the nests of smaller birds is a favorite pastime, and he is a persistent spy upon domestic fowls and well knows the meaning of the cackle of a hen. Not only does he steal eggs but he kills young chicks. The insect food of this jay constitutes about one-tenth of its annual sustenance. The inclusion of grasshoppers and caterpillars makes this part of the bird's food in its favor. But the remainder of its animal diet includes altogether too large a proportion of beneficial birds and their eggs, and in this respect it appears to be worse than its eastern relative, the blue jay. While its vegetable food is composed largely of mast, at times its liking for cultivated fruit and grain makes it a most unwelcome visitor to the orchard and farm. In conclusion it may be said that over much of its range this jay is too abundant for the best interests of agriculture and horticulture.

Safe Light.

Gelatin-coated glasses, such as can be obtained by fixing out undeveloped plates, or by removing the image from developed negatives with ferricyanide and hypo, can be made the basis of very efficient safe-light screens both for orthochromatic and for nonorthochromatic plates. Equal numbers of the glasses should be stained by immersing them in solutions of naphthol yellow and of methyl violet respectively, and one of each should be bound up together, film to film. If a diffused light is required a sheet of tissue paper, or of paper mineral, may be interposed.

LOGGERHEAD SHRIKE
(Lanius ludovicianus)

Length, about nine inches. A gray, black, and white bird, distinguished from the somewhat similarly colored mocking bird by the black stripe on side of head.

Range: Breeds throughout the United States, Mexico, and southern Canada; winters in the southern half of the United States and in Mexico.

Habits and economic status: The loggerhead shrike, or southern butcher bird, is common throughout its range and is sometimes called "french mocking bird" from a superficial resemblance and not from its notes, which are harsh and unmusical. The shrike is naturally an insectivorous bird which has extended its bill of fare to include small mammals, birds, and reptiles. Its hooked beak is well adapted to tearing its prey, while to make amends for the lack of talons it has hit upon the plan of forcing its victim, if too large to swallow, into the fork of a bush or tree, where it can tear it asunder. Insects, especially grasshoppers, constitute the larger part of its food, though beetles, moths, caterpillars, ants, wasps, and a few spiders are also taken. While the butcher bird occasionally catches small birds, its principal vertebrate food is small mammals, as field mice, shrews, and moles, and when possible it obtains lizards. It habitually impales its surplus prey on a thorn, sharp twig, or barb of a wire fence.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said: 'I must go under an operation, but I did not go.' I read in the paper about the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. John A. Koenig, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Farmers of Western Kentucky
Guests of Eastern Ky., Farmers.

On June 6th, the farmers special left Hopkinsville with nine pulman cars, three more were picked up in Bowling Green and all along the line they were hitched on, until on the morning of the 7th, when the big double header pulled into Lexington, she was pushing and pulling sixteen sleepers.

Then and there began the sight seeing for the farmers of the west. On the corner S. Limestone st. and Va. Avenue we stopped for a look through the Experiment Station building which contains approximately 100 rooms used for offices and laboratory work. The party proceeded next to the Experimental farm. On entering these grounds we saw Prof. Garmans experimental flats devoted to tests and experimental cultivation of forage plants, also Soy beans, wheat and tobacco. Further on was a small field of alfalfa, showing the methods employed by the experiment station in the cultivation and handling of this crop. The alfalfa was cut and coked with white caps covering it. On to the right we came to the field where soil fertility tests were being made, here we saw small plots of corn, wheat, tobacco, soy beans and cow peas, treated with fertilizer and untreated, but there was no practical difference, which goes to prove that this soil needs no fertilizer. Following the road to the south passing the hog chole- ra serum laboratory. A small seed house and storage barn. We came to a small barn where some beef cattle were kept, during the past winter two lots of steers were fed here, one lot kept in barn and the other lot having pasture range, it was found that the closely confined lot gained more than those on free range.

With a hurried look at the hog lots and piggery, the large beef cattle feeding barn, horticultural grounds, poultry yards and dairy. We proceeded to the gymnasium building for luncheon. We were behind our scheduled time so we hastened to board the interurban for Versailles the county seat of Woodford county. Upon arriving there we found 96 autos and motor trucks lined up on both sides of the street to take farmers to places of interest in that county. The first place visited was Senator Camdens home with the most beautiful lawn and driveways and gardens both vegetable and floral, surrounding a palatial house. I can justly say, it is an ideal country home.

The Senator stood on the veranda with a box of cigars in each hand and more on the table calling to the 500 visitors that he didn't want anyone to leave without one of his cigars, and extending an invitation to the whole party to come into his house and be at home, the doors were opened wide in true Kentucky hospitality.

After leaving Sen. Camdens we were speeded out on the old Lexington and Frankfort pike, a road as smooth as glass and as straight as a line far 25 or 30 miles, with fertile fields of red clover, alfalfa, blue grass, barley tobacco and hemp on all sides enclosed with limestone rock fences.

To a Crittenden county man, be he farmer, lawyer, or hod-carrier, 'twas a scene of such luscious beauty, that to gaze upon it would fairly make his mouth water, while he solemnly vows to be a better citizen and a better farmer in his own county.

Leaving the Lexington-Frankfort pike we turned into the driveway leading to the Alexander estate of 5,000 acres. This driveway is said to be as beautiful as any in the world, it winds and turns through dense forest and has all the appearance of being a driveway in the wild. This is the home of Maud S, the great racer. Two brothers and a sister own this estate and their yearly income is said to be $5,000 each.

Our next stop was at McKee Brothers' farm, they are breeders of pure bred Duroc Jersey hogs. He had about 800 head of hogs and some brood sows weighing as high as 850 lbs. From here we went to E. E. Taylor's place, the home of the Herefords. We saw the Hereford bull that was champion of England last year, which cost Mr. Taylor $12,000.

Mr. McKinsey, Mr. Taylor's herdsman is an Iowa boy, who is drawing the nice little salary of $5,000 a year.

We next went to the Versailles high school building for supper, and then as Versailles' guests went to Repath Chautauqua, where Gov. Stanley (who had joined us at Sen. Camdens) made a few minutes speech after which we enjoyed the lecture, "How to live a hundred years."

We then boarded our cars tired and sleepy and waked up the next morning at Falmouth, the county seat of Pendleton county, 40 miles south of Cincinnati.

Pendleton county is in the northern part of the state with the Ohio river bordering the north east, Campbell and Kenton counties on the north, Grant on the west, Harrison on the south and Bracken to the east.

Promptly at 8:30 we rolled out of Falmouth 75 autos strung in a good a rock road as any one cares to ride upon, soon we were gazing upon a country so hilly and rolling, in fact so broken that panther hollow, in Crittenden, would look like the plains of Abraham in comparison. But just wait, those steep hillsides were just teaming with sweet clover, alfalfa and blue grass, so green that they looked black and all the time in that rough country we were traveling over good smooth rock road, not going through mud holes, turning over in gullies and jumping bull heads, as I still found on Fords Ferry road on my way home.

The Pendleton county roads are fine but crooked, they run along on the hill for 7 or 8 miles then go down cork screw fashion and turn and twist with the branch for 10 or 12 miles then back on the ridge.

The whole surface of the county is rolling hill land, joined in a series of ridges two of which traverse nearly the entire length of the county, but everywhere you see the hills covered with sweet clover, and alfalfa, with Holstein dairy cows cropping the blue grass.

Fifteen years ago they grew corn, tobacco and wheat until their land was full of gullies, their bank at Butler (a little town of 500 people) was struggling for existence. An old man came through the country attending to bees, he dropped some sweet clover seed along the road, it grew, made good pasture, good feed, prepared the soil for alfalfa.

The people began to notice that alfalfa and sweet clover made good cow feed, they went into the dairy business, and when we got off the train at Falmouth there were 150 milk cows at the station waiting shipment.

These clovers also make good bee pasture and we find a great deal of interest and attention given to bee culture, they now have 6,000 colonies of honey bees in the county.

Now the county as a whole has four state banks with deposits amounting to $1,115,000 and the farmer's deposits alone in that same little town of Butler amount to $200,000.

After a 50 mile run through this rough country we come back to Falmouth and to dinner. In the afternoon we went out in another direction over the rolling but beautiful country until we came to a small area of smooth lands which lie along the main and south licking rivers, then back to Falmouth to supper, to sleep—and awake in Jefferson county.

We found 150 cars parked around the Y. M. C. A. building and promptly at 8:45 we ran east on Broadway and into the beautiful Cherokee Park, on to Douglas Boulevard, on to the Bardstone road where some of Louisville's most beautiful suburban residences are situated, on we went for a spin thro the market gardening districts in Jefferson county. First came the truck garden of Henry Diebel at Buechel, Ky., then the potato garden of George Hartman, at same place, next, the model home- stead and farm of Karcher & Harpring, Jefferson town, on to E. S. Monahan's farm at St. Matthews, and from here to Central State Hospital at Lakeland, then to the consolidated rural school at Worthington, in the country surrounding this they make a specialty of growing fine orchard; rass seed. Now we are back to Four- hon stock yards where dinner was prepared for us in the exchange building. Afternoon was spent at Bourbon stock yards then the Board of trade had special cars to take us out to Fontaine Ferry, where they served a Dutch supper and took the party to the vaudeville entertainment at the theatre there.

Everywhere we were shown that these people didn't do things by halves, on each of those three days behind the auto parade came a trouble car with all kinds of auto repairs, and behind the trouble car came a pick-up car, for any one who might lose his number.

The farmers and towns-people showed that they were doing for their farms and their homes just what they were doing for their visitors, making life more pleasant and profitable, making Kentucky a worthy place in which to live.

In suming up as a whole it was a great trip, one every man will be glad that he had the opportunity to take.

We were royally entertained.

Wm. Lester Terry.

DON'T GO TO BED
WITH COLD FEET

Says: "Often Brings on Attacks of Acute Rheumatism."

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and people who are subject to attacks of rheumatism should never go to bed with cold feet.

A whole lot is being said about taking salts and effervescent tablets for rheumatism and sciatica, but those who suffer sharp twinges and painful swollen joints need something powerful to overcome their piteous suffering.

Any broad-minded druggist will tell you that one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day is driving more rheumatism out of afflicted people than all the salts on earth. Right in this neighborhood James H. Orme, and all druggists sell large quantities of it, and it's the surest and most inexpensive remedy—about 50 cents a bottle. 12

"Our organization is efficiently complete to equip a hospital corps within a short time. We have been preparing for service for several months and have been assembling supplies and emergency kits. Much of this is only our regular routine, but we have carefully checked up our nurses and supplies that would be needed in case of war."

"My fire insurance expires at noon!"

"What company are you in?"

"I don't bother about details."

"Ever take notes from your customers?"

"Sometimes."

"Ever take a note without knowing the name of the man who made it?"

"Well, I guess not!"

"What is a note, anyway?"

"A promise to pay."

"What's a fire insurance policy?"

"I get you! A promise to pay if you have a fire."

"Exactly. You're paying good money for a promise to pay without knowing the name of the company that promises!"

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employees, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employees, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employees, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

MYRTLE WARBLER

(Dendroica coronata)

Length, five and one-half inches. The similarly colored Audubon's warbler has a yellow throat instead of a white one.

Range: Breeds throughout most of the forested area of Canada and south to Minnesota, Michigan, New York, and Massachusetts; winters in the southern two-thirds of the United States and south to Panama.

Habits and economic status: This member of our beautiful wood warbler family, a family peculiar to America, has the characteristic voice, coloration, and habits of its kind. Trim of form and graceful of motion, when seeking food it combines the methods of the wrens, creepers, and flycatchers. It breeds only in the northern parts of the eastern United States, but in migration it occurs in every patch of woodland and is so numerous that it is familiar to every observer. Its place is taken in the West by Audubon's warbler. More than three-fourths of the food of the myrtle warbler consists of insects, practically all of them harmful. It is made up of small beetles, including some weevils, with many ants and wasps. This bird is so small and nimble that it successfully attacks insects too minute to be prey for larger birds. Scales and plant lice form a very considerable part of its diet. Flies are the largest item of food; in fact, only a few flycatchers and swallows eat as many flies as this bird. The vegetable food (22 per cent) is made up of fruit and the seeds of poison oak or ivy, also the seeds of pine and of the bayberry.
