Their Conquest Of German Colonies Exceeds German Conquest

London, July 11th. — (Delayed in transmission). — Pointing out that the entente allies have occupied six times as much territory during the war as the central powers, Baron Newton, under-secretary of foreign affairs, expressed surprise to the associated press that Chancellor von Bethmann Holweg should point to the war map as the basis of peace, as he is reported to have done in an interview. Baron Newton said.

"I am surprised to find the German chancellor is basing his argument on the war map, because my war map indicates two points distasteful to the Germans."

"In the first place it shows that in Alsace, Turkey, Togoland the Kameruns, Southwest Africa, Kiaochow, the Pacific, East Africa, and Galicia the allied armies are occupying 676,000 square miles, almost six times as much territory as the central powers occupy."

"In the second place, my map shows the sea and the ships upon it, of which only an exiguous quantity, I observe are German."

"The works of the rear admiral Mahan make it clear that command of the sea in war time has a permanent effect, while command of the land has an effect which is manifestly transitory."

BANDIT HOLDSUP

5 STAGE COACHES

Robber Stages Old Time Affair With Yosemite Valley Tourists As Victims.

Yosemite Valley, Cal., July 6 — Five stage loads of tourists, entering the Yosemite Valley were held up to-day at Wawona by a highwayman who operated single handed and collected about $400.

Except that the bandit rode a motorcycle and the stage coaches were all motor driven vehicles the hold-up was not unlike the performance of early mining days.

The bandit stopped the first car by means of a log which he rolled across the roadway. As the car stopped he stepped out from the brush and with a sawed off shotgun, assumed charge of the situation. He waited until the five coaches had reached his blockade. He then ordered every one out into the roadway.

"Cash only; no jewelry wanted," he told them.

When he had finished taking up the collection he mounted his motorcycle and disappeared at full speed.

CLOTHING VALUES THAT ARE UNEQUALLED

See Them

Summer Dress Goods that are new and dainty. White and sport striped skirts. Colored wash goods, white goods. Lots of ladies low cut shoes at reduced prices. Same always new here.

In all the years we have been seeing and selling fine clothing, the value-superiority of our goods has never been so strongly emphasized as it is to-day. With the shortage of high-class fabrics, the trouble with dye-stuffs, and the increased cost of everything that enters into the making of clothes, it has been a difficult matter to maintain our standard of value. Yet not only have we done this, but we've actually provided better values than you've ever got before. We know that these values are unequalled elsewhere in town. We invite you to investigate and see for yourself.

ALLIES MAKE BIG DRIVE TO FORCE GERMANS OUT OF FRANCE

Paris, July 2nd—In the fighting south of Arras yesterday French took five thousand German prisoners, according to the official statement of the French war department.

In the course of the night French captured the village of Curly about seven miles south-east of Albert. Attacks upon the village of Hardecourt 1.8 miles north of Curly were repeated, the statement adds. After repeated assaults the Germans were obliged to retire in disorder.

On the right bank of the Meuse, in the region north of the fortress Verdun, Thiaumont was taken by the French yesterday after changing hands five times, the announcement says. The position was heavily attacked by the Germans in the night it is added, but without success.

The battle of Somme, now in full progress, marks the beginning of the Franco-British offensive, long expected as a critical if not the decisive stage of the war.

Early reports to-day show that the entente forces are sweeping along a twenty-five mile front. The allied lines have enveloped in the last twenty-four hours, nine villages and fifty square miles of French territory held until now by the Germans.

The great offensive was expected and eagerly awaited for the last ten days, but the exact point where the blow was to be delivered was carefully concealed. It was believed that it would be north of Arras, with Lille for the objective, but it was finally decided for strategic, rather than for sentimental grounds, to execute the move south of Arras at a point where the piercing of the line would operate more seriously in the dislocation of the German forces.

What The Allies Did Preparing For The Drive

Built 3,000 miles of railroad to facilitate the moving of munitions and troops and handling the wounded.

Put a metal surface on all the turnpikes.

Rebuilt or strengthened every bridge and railroad.

Concentrated 1,200,000 fighting men, backed by 500,000 auxiliary workmen, doctors, bridge and railroad builders.

Filled the whole region with hidden guns, new British guns of largest caliber, many of them fifteen inch mortars and manned their guns with French artillery

PREPARED BY
ROBINSON-PETTET COMPANY,
INCORPORATED.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Installed all over the region a new telephone system, with concrete poles, augmented by a network of telegraph wires and stations and field hospitals.

Buried ammunition everywhere, together with medicines and food supplies, so that, no matter where the troops moved, in an emergency they would have shells and food without the ordinary modes of transportation.

Concealed from the Germans the massing of the allied troops back of the front.

Arranged the big guns in arcs in such a way as to provide concentric fire from many guns on a small area of the German trenches.

In the preliminary seven-day bombardment the British-French army fired a million shells over a ninety mile front and sent out every evening raiding parties to demoralize the enemy and take prisoners.

YELLOW-BELLIED SAPSUCKER (Sphyrapicus varius)

Length, about eight and one-half inches. Only woodpecker having top of head from base of bill red, combined with a black patch on breast.

Range: Breeds in northern half of the United States and southern half of Canada; winters in most of the states and south to Costa Rica.

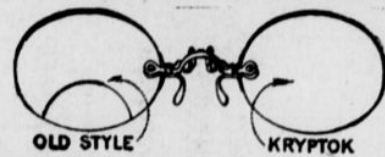

Habits and economic status: The yellow-bellied sapsucker is rather silent and suspicious and generally manages to have a tree between himself and the observer. Hence the bird is much better known by its work than its appearance. The regular girdles of holes made by this bird are common on a great variety of trees; in all about 250 kinds are known to be attacked. Occasionally young trees are killed outright, but more loss is caused by stains and other blemishes in the wood which result from sapsucker punctures. These blemishes, which are known as bird pecks, are especially numerous in hickory, oak, cypress, and yellow poplar. Defects due to sapsucker work cause an annual loss to the lumber industry estimated at $1,250,000. The food of the yellow-bellied sapsucker is about half animal and half vegetable. Its fondness for ants counts slightly in its favor. It eats also wasps, beetles (including, however, very few wood-boring species), bugs, and spiders. The two principal components of the vegetable food are wild fruits of no importance and cambium (the layer just beneath the bark of trees). In securing the cambium the bird does the damage above described. The yellow-bellied sapsucker, unlike other woodpeckers, thus does comparatively little good and much harm.

GERMAN LOSS NEAR 60,000 IN FRANCE

Teutons Fall In Terrific Drive Of

The Allies.—Russians Continue

Riot Of The Austrian

Forces

London, July 5th—The entire German second position south of the Somme river over a front of sixty miles has fallen into the hands of the French, who also captured the village of Hem, near the north extremity of their line and also completed the conquest of Estrees.

The British line has apparently failed to advance, slightly in certain sections, according to the British war office. None of the ground gained, however, has been lost. A further statement of the British is that fighting along the front is mostly in the nature of local struggles, for strong points, which indicate that both sides are paying particular attention in organizing positions.

The number of German prisoners reported by the French and British is above 16,000, while the German casualties are estimated at 60,000. The Germans report the capture of a considerable number of British.

Comparative quiet reigns around Verdun, while the Germans have opened a new attack near the Lorraine frontier. They entered the French trenches here, but were driven back by counter attacks.

Success of high importance is reported by the Russians, who claim they have cut the railroad running from Lemberg to Delatyn. This is the main line of communication for the armies facing other parts of the Russian front. Allied military experts have claimed if this was ever effected it would force the retirement of Teutonic armies over a wide front and possibly put Lemberg at peril.

The Russian war office in a late communication also reports the riot of the enemy on the right bank of the Dniester river.

Views expressed in Berlin reflect confidence that the German lines will hold against the French and British.

Roumania again comes into the limelight because of reports of the alliance of two strong opposing factions in Roumanian politics for the purpose of securing intervention on the behalf of the entente allies.

Constantinople reports that Russians have been driven from Kermanshah, in western Persia while the Russians report the Turkish line has been broken in east Balkurt.

Vienna reports the capture of 23,000 Russians during June.

No one can either feel good nor look good while suffering from constipation. Get rid of that tired, draggy, lifeless feeling by a treatment of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Buy a box to-day, take one or two pills to-night. In the morning that stuffy, dull feeling is gone and you feel better at once. 25c. at your druggist.

PAPER TRUST TRIUMPHANT

The price of print paper has taken another jump, which is more toll that the paper trust is exacting from the county publisher. This is the greatest highway robbery that has ever been pulled off. The big daily papers are as mum as a lobster on this robbery, and we would stake our life on it that daily papers are buying their papers at the old price, and are thus paid to keep their mouths shut. Paper should be cheap because of the fact that seventy-five per cent of the newspapers of Europe have suspended and the trust is making us pay for that loss in business.

It is now costing us sixty per cent more to publish the Outlook than it did in February.—Falmouth Outlook.

NATIONAL GUARD OR MILITIA AN INTEGRAL PART OF ARMY

New Laws Have Increased Its Military Effectiveness and Prepared It For War.

THE terms 'Organized Militia' and 'National Guard,' says General William H. Carter in his book, "The American Army," have been adopted officially to designate those military organizations which participate in the appropriations by congress and to differentiate them from the untrained body of citizens between the ages of eighteen and forty-five available as militia in the mass. There is a wide variation in the strength, discipline and effectiveness of the state forces. Some states have practically no troops at all, while others have regularly organized brigades and divisions.

The state of New York appropriated the term National Guard in 1892 to describe the organized militia, and other states have followed suit, though some others use the term Organized or Volunteer Militia.

Regulars and Militia.

The militia of the various states has been the nucleus of the American army in all its wars. Singularly enough, the largest regular army America ever had was in the Revolution; 130,000 out of the 294,000 men engaged were Continental regulars. In the war of 1812 there were 55,000 regulars against 471,000 militiamen, while in the civil war, with its 2,500,000 enlisted men, there were only 30,000 regulars. The Spanish war was fought by 28,000 regulars and 223,000 volunteers.

Since the passage of the Dick bill in 1908 and the militia of the different states has come under federal control it has been unified and brought nearer to the regular army, so that there will be a great reserve force in fact as well as in name. Yet the militia in reality by the terms of the act is made to consist of every able-bodied name called, is made a national guard in fact as well as in name and constitutes the organized militia. Its organization, armament and discipline are to be the same as those for the regular army. In case of war the two forces will act together, and they should be armed, equipped and drilled alike.

A valuable feature is that which provides that officers of the national guard who have been nominated by the governors and appointed by the president for that purpose may attend and pursue a regular course of study at a military school or college in the United States, with the same travel allowance and quarters to which an officer of the regular army would be entitled under the same circumstances and subsistence at the rate of $1 per day.

When the troops of the national guard are encamped at any military station or post they are to be furnished with ammunition and receive instruction in target practice.

The pension laws of the United States are extended to cover the case of all officers and men disabled while in the service of the United States and to their widows and orphans.

States Pay Greater Shares.

While the United States government contributes to the expenses of the militia, by far the greater burden is borne by the state. Toward the expenses of the New York national guard, for instance, the government contributes $400,000 annually, but the expenses total $4,000,000 annually; consequently $3,600,000 is contributed annually by the state.

The only complete division in the whole army of the United States, including regulars and militia, is that of which the New York units are the component parts. The New York na-for theoretical and practical instruction, the details of which have to be varied to meet local conditions. Upon the completion of a prescribed course of theoretical instruction all study ceases, but a postgraduate course follows for both officers and men.

In the four brigades of the infantry of the Pennsylvania national guard there are thirteen regiments. There are two companies in the engineer battalion, Company A, located at Scranton, and Company B, at Philadelphia. Field Company A of Pittsburgh comprises the entire signal corps. There are eight troops in the cavalry, as follows: First squadron—First, Second and A and G, Philadelphia. Second squadron—Governor's troop, Harrisburg; Sheridan, Tyrone; Troop F, New-castle, and Troop H, Pittsburgh.

It is now recruited to its full peace strength. Should orders come to bring it to a war strength it could be done in a short time, its officers declare, and the troops could be mobilized rapidly.

Ohio, Illinois and Massachusetts are pretty close together for the honor of third place in numerical strength as regards their militia forces. Ohio has on its peace footing 490 officers and 5,637 men, Illinois has 508 officers and 5,447 men, and Massachusetts has 424 officers and 5,229 men. In efficiency Ohio is accorded third place, after New York and Pennsylvania.

Full Division From New York.

According to a new mobilization plan approved by the war department New York state would be expected to provide a full division of troops to be mobilized at Staten Island.

The New York troops would be the Sixth division of the army and would be divided into nine regiments of infantry, one of cavalry, two regiments of field artillery, one battalion of engineers, 3,619 coast artillerymen and one battalion of signal troops, in addition to the quota of sanitary troops. Each infantry regiment would number about 1,800 men, while the cavalry regiment would number 1,252 men. The total of the division would be 25,251.

In a general way it is realized that the efficiency of the Sixth division is higher than any other of the militia divisions, but it may not be known to the public that New York state has completed the organization of all the units constituting a tactical division and that the division instruction and training have proceeded during recent years in such effective manner that this division is, in fact, a military machine, with the officers schooled and instructed not only in the technique of their own arm, but also in the duties and obligations of that arm to the infantry, which is the backbone and main strength of an army.

When the Sixth division comes to be mobilized every arm of the service will be shown in action; the activities of the ambulance companies in establishing dressing stations, bandaging various types of wounds and transporting the injured; the field hospitals will set up their field hospital, with its operating room, and also their hospitals for the reception, care and forwarding of the wounded; the field bakery of the division will give a demonstration of setting up its field bakery section and baking bread for the troops, while the division trains will illustrate facility of movement and driving ability.

A battery of light artillery will show the mobility of the modern field artillery material and the rapidity of fire of the new three inch rapid fire gun with which it is armed. All the batteries of the New York division are equipped with the latest model rapid fire, long recoil field artillery gun.

A pioneer company will lay and explode land mines for protecting the trenches from assault and prepare, throw and explode hand grenades loaded with the new and powerful explosive invented by Captain Woodward of the New York corps of engineers and known as "trofol." The signal battalion will illustrate the rapidity with which a wireless station may be set up and communication established with distant points. The use of reel carts, semaphore, flag signals and heliograph will be demonstrated.

The only other state which would be called upon to provide a complete division would be Pennsylvania, which would supply 21,632 men, to mobilize at Mount Gretna. The third largest number of men from a state would represent Illinois, which is scheduled for 14,254, while Ohio, the fourth state, would be called upon to mobilize 13,829 at Columbus.

The divisions are numbered from 5 to 16 and are so arranged that adjacent states are included in the same divisions. The first four divisions would in the event of trouble be organized with the regular army as the backbone and would represent all of the states of the Union.

who knows what can be gotten out of a chummy jimmy pipe or a makin's cigarette with Prince Albert for "packing"!

THE Prince Albert tin, and in fact, every Prince Albert package, has a real message to you on its reverse side. You'll read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907." That means that the United States Government has granted a patent on the process by which Prince Albert is made. And by which tongue bite and throat parch are cut out! Everywhere tobacco is sold you'll find Prince Albert awaiting you in tippy red bags, so tidy red tins, like handsome pound and half-pound tin humidor and in that clever crystal glass humidor, with sponge, motestones, too, that keeps the tobacco in such fine condition always!

My Mother—A Prayer

(Out in the far West—in the city of Seattle—an editor, Tom Dillion, wrote and published one of the most beautiful of mother tributes.)

For the body you gave me, the bore and view, the heart and the brain that are yours, my mother, I thank you, for the light in my eyes, the blood in my veins, for my speech, for my life, for my being. All that I am is from you who bore me. For all the love that you gave me unmeasured from the beginning, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for the hand that led me the voice that directed me, the breast that nestled me, the arm that shielded me, the lap that rested me. All that I am is by you, who nursed me.

For your smile in the morning and your kiss at night, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for the tears you shed over me, the songs that you sung to me, the prayers that you said for me, for your vigils and ministrings. All that I am is by you, who reared me. For the faith you had in me, the hope you had for me, for your trust and your pride, my mother I thank you. I thank you for your praise and your chiding, for the justice you bred into me and the honor you made mine. All that I am you taught me.

For the sore travail that I caused you, for the visions and despairs, my mother forgive me. Forgive me the peril I brought to you, the sobs and the moans I wrung from you, and for the strength I took from you, mother, forgive me. For the fears I gave you, for the alarms and dreads, my mother forgive me the joys, I deprived, the toils made for you, for the hours the days and the years I claimed from you, my mother, forgive me. For the times that I hurt you, the times I had no smile for you, the caresses I did not give you, my mother, forgive me.

Forgive me for all angers and revolts, for my deceits and evasions, for all the gangs and sorrows I brought to you, mother forgive me. For the lessons I did not learn, for the wishes I did not heed, for the counsels I did not obey, my mother, forgive

HUSBAND RESCUED

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 30 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

LARGEST BUDGET IN U. S. HISTORY ESTIMATES SHOW

Congress Expects to appropriate
More Than $1,500,000,000
This Session

Washington, July 3.—Congress is preparing to complete its programme of financial preparedness with every indication that appropriations this session will aggregate considerably more than a billion and a half dollars, at least half a billion of which will be for national defense.

According to estimates based on figures compiled by Chairman Fitzgerald of the House Appropriations Committee and increases put into pending measures by Senate committees, the appropriation total may reach $1,650,000,000, exceeding by more than $500,000,000 the record of any previous Congress in the nation's history.

Last week Representative Fitzgerald submitted a statement to the House showing that the grand total for the present Congress, based on bills passed and pending, would reach nearly $1,500,000,000. Since then the Senate Naval Committee has added nearly $50,000,000 to the Naval Bill and the Military Committee has increased $182,000,000 army appropriation measure by approximately $100,000,000.

The principal appropriation measures awaiting Senate consideration are the Army and Navy Bills. As amended in committee they carry $282,000,000 and $315,826,843, respectively, and together with the fortification Bill which has passed both houses, would appropriate for national defense more than $622,000,000. There is every indication that the Senate will except at least the major part of the proposed army and navy increases, but conferences that are certain to be demanded probably will succeed in paring them down. Whatever happens however, leaders of both houses agree that the total of appropriations will break all records.

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas.—"After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's step-sister told me to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

MRS. C. E. WELDON WINNER OF THE $25 CASH PRIZE

Former Crittenden County Woman
Wins Contest in Paducah

The News Democrat's "Page of Presidents" proved a success in every way. The contest created a diversion and a great many replies were received not only from Paducah but all over Kentucky, towns and rural post-offices, and from Tennessee and Illinois. The contest editor and assistants, after reading each and every reply, and carefully checking out the mistakes, found that Mrs. C. E. Weldon, 1105 Monroe street, Paducah, Ky., with six mistakes, was entitled to the News Democrat's prize of $25.00.

Commencing at Washington, down to Taft and back to Wilson the intentional misspelled words were, viz: Attention was the word intended in the Majestic theatre ad. but the printer would spell it correctly. So there were no misspelled words in that ad. and no charge was to the contestants; recognised, promptness, opportunities, equipment, trial, patrons, stationery, promptly, courtesy, judging, received, keep, qualities, resale, gravelling, weak, fones, absorption, physicians, solicit.

A great many mistook the words cache, specialty, photograph, fother, divaricate, plaice, illapse, hey, clew, chaise, kneaded, lee, for some of the intentionally misspelled ones but they can be found in Webster's Dictionary with a definition.

A common mistake made by the contestants was in naming the state in which the president was born instead of the one from which he was elected. Several said Zachary Taylor was elected from Kentucky, when he was only buried in Kentucky. One or two said Lincoln was elected from Kentucky when he was only born in Kentucky. Several claim-d Grant was elected from the District of Columbia, when in fact no national official can be elected from the District of Columbia. Several said Roosevelt, Lincoln, McKinley, and Washington served two terms but they did not.

Some of the replies were written at random while many evidenced careful thought. There is one thing certain, however, the readers of the News-Democrat know more about the presidents of the United States than they bid before the advent of the "Page President's," which is simply a straw to show the direction of the wind, an idea of merit to furnish amusement, instruction and profit. It was proved conclusively to twenty-seven business firms participating that the News-Democrat adds are read. The News-Democrat congratulates the winner on her accuracy as well as the many contestants on the knowledge they have gained and the diversion caused by the contest. The advertisers recognized the unquestionable publicity they have received, and the News-Democrat congratulates itself on having put on a feature that accomplished a real purpose and pleased alike both readers and advertisers—Paducah News-Democrat.

LIGHTNING KILLED YOUNG FARMER

Bolt Jumped From Telephone Pole Striking Laborer Killing Him Instantly

Owensboro, Ky. July 7.—Louis Steinogle, age 28 years, living on the W. L. Carpenter farm 3 miles north of Livermore, was killed Monday evening just before supper as the result of lightning striking a nearby telephone wire. The lightning jumped from the wire, striking Steinogle.

Steinogle and his wife had been hoeing tobacco. It began to rain accompanied by vivid lightning. Mrs. Steinogle became frightened and urged her husband to come into the house. He told her to go on in and he would follow. She reached the house and turned in the door just in time to see her husband fall to the ground.

Dr. H. A. Baird was called and examined the body. He said the man was killed instantly. Steinogle leaves surviving a wife and 4 small children. He had lived in the neighborhood of Livermore and Livia for the past two years.

30. A table issued yesterday by Secretary McAdoo of payments of internal revenue districts, shows that New York alone paid $45,230,679 and that the greatest percentage of increase which raised the total from the $80,000,000 collected last year came from the four states headed by New York.

Pennsylvania was second with $14,102,434.

Illinois was third with a total of $10,745,741.

BROWN THRASHER (Toxostoma rufum)

Range: Breeds from the Gulf states to southern Canada and west to Colorado, Wyoming and Montana; winters in the southern half of the eastern United States.

Habits and economic status: The brown thrasher is more retiring than either the mocking bird or catbird, but like them is a splendid singer. Not infrequently, indeed, its song is taken for that of its more famed cousin, the mocking bird. It is partial to thickets and gets much of its food from the ground. Its search for this is usually accompanied by much scratching and scattering of leaves; whence its common name. Its call note is a sharp sound like the smacking of tips, which is useful in identifying this long-tailed, thick-throated bird, which does not much relish close scrutiny. The brown thrasher is not so fond of fruit as the catbird and mocker, but devours a much larger percentage of animal food. Beetles form one-half of the animal food, grasshoppers and crickets one-fifth, caterpillars, including cutworms, somewhat less than one-fifth, and bugs, spiders, and millipeds comprise most of the remainder. The brown thrasher feeds on such coleopterous pests as wireworms, May beetles, rice weevils, rose beetles, and firebeetles. By its destruction of these and other insects, which constitute more than 80 per cent of its food, the thrasher much more than compensates for that portion (about one-tenth) of its diet derived from cultivated crops.

Honolulu, T.
