CRITTENDEN CO., INSTITUTE, 1916.

Full Account in This Issue.—Very Interesting and Profitable Week Ended Sat.

The Crittenden County Institute convened Monday morning, July 24th, with Instructor T. C. Cherry in the chair. In the absence of Rev. Chandler, opening exercises were conducted by Rev. Rufus Robertson. Then Supt. Travis took charge, asking for nominations for president, vice president and secretaries. Prof. V. L. Christian and Geo. W. Condit were chosen president and vice president respectively. Mrs. Fred Hillyard and Miss Iva Hicklin were elected secretaries.

After an opening address by Prof. Travis, the president took the chair, calling for an address by Instructor Cherry wherein he suggested that team work is the best work, and brings us together both mentally and spiritually, as well as physically. We all have a separate and distinct work to do, hence we cannot afford to be absent from even one session of this week's work. Impressions of us are obtained from our attitude toward our work, hence teachers should unite as one body thereby making themselves felt along educational lines. We as individuals have a great work to do since large ideas often start with just one person and through their influence great work is set in motion.

Prof. Cherry uses the child as his central theme, saying the last serif of civilization is the child and the efforts of the school, teacher, books, building, all look to the freedom of the child, a freedom from that benighted condition which will not allow the child to develop. The whole aim of life is freedom, yet the human race has for ages been enthralled in bondage of mind. Two forces are now at work toward the freedom of the child: One, the humanitarian who looks into the child and sees the good inside; the other, science, which looks down into the mind cells of the child and finds that most cell matter is alike both in animal and plant. The child is so organized that no part can be affected without affecting the whole being.

He is an organism so united as to form a complex whole, therefore must be studied from a scientific standpoint, hence the best teacher must be a student of biology.

The child stands between two vistas, the remote past and the pregnant future, heredity and environment. Now the business of the educator it to introduce the child into its big world, for the child becomes a part of all he meets, thus the period of plasticity is an index to all he will become.

The subject Civic Training and Patriotism was ably and eloquently handled by Mr. A. C. Moore, who thinks that civic training prepares one to meet every phase of life, teaching us to obey the Golden Rule, therefore regarding the rights of others as paramount to our own.

Observation shows that while education advances, crime decreases, hence the effect of civic training in our public schools serves to eradicate crime and do away with so many cases in court.

Patriotism is a love of country, but we sometimes have a mistake en idea of its meaning, often forgetting that fathers, mothers and teachers, in their labors for the children, providing them with sufficient food and clothing and instilling into their minds ideas of civil and religious training, are, indeed, no less a patriot than the soldier who fights on the field.

The afternoon session was called together by the singing of "America," then after a few remarks by President V. L. Christian, the topic, "The First Day of School," was splendidly discussed by Fred H. Hillyard, in which he thinks the first day of school to be the most important day, there being a great many things to be done, as well as a great many things to be left undone at that time. It being altogether unnecessary to take up the time in an opening speech, but to have the program planned beforehand. Go into the school room at once, show himself to be master of the situation and go to work.

G. H. Rappolee's Views of The Republican Platform

To the great and suffering American people, the G. O. P., in convention assembled: Your committee on resolutions have concluded, after much wise deliberation to submit the following set of resolutions for the benefit of the pie hunter:

Whereas, we view with great alarm the prosperity abroad in this country under a democratic administration, and that too, when we had predicted panics and empty dinner pails, and

Whereas, the country is at peace with all the world, while the whole of Europe is waging the greatest war the world has ever witnessed, and

Whereas, labor is better paid than ever before and the dinner pail is full to overflowing, and

Whereas, there is more money per capita than ever before, and

Whereas, the Democrats have put an end to even the possibility of a panic, and have passed many good and wholesome laws for all of the people, which we failed to do, yet we had promised to do so, and

Whereas, under this Democratic Administration it has demonstrated that the pen is mightier than the sword, and

Whereas, we fail to find any just and reasonable grounds upon which to condemn this Democratic administration, therefore, be it

Resolved: "You'll be damned if you do and you'll be damned if you don't."

Marion's Merchant Prince And Her Circuit Judge Honored.

Sam Gugenheim, the genial and big hearted merchant, and Judge Carl Henderson were appointed last week by the powers that be to be guards of honor to the President of the United States when he comes to Kentucky next month, to accept on the part of the National Government the Lincoln cabin home from the State of Kentucky.

Keep The Boy On The Farm.

The prevailing school of thinking on the rural problem, commonly expressed in recent books, magazines and newspapers, sounds the slogan, "Keep the boy on the farm." There goes with this cry the demand that the farm home shall be brighter, country schools shall be redirected toward the farm, business shall be co-operative, religion shall be social. Give the pupils something they can carry home and apply to their everyday work. Make the home pleasant for the boy and he will have no desire to leave the farm.

Another Outbreak Among Miners at Rosiclare, Illinois

Another fight occurred Monday night at Rosiclare, Ill., where the miners have been on a strike for several weeks, in which one man was killed and several others wounded. The trouble, it is reported, began in a restaurant when Rolly Shockley fired a pistol at "Big Jim" Moore, a guard, wounding him in the shoulder. Moore then turned and shot Shockley, killing him instantly. A general fight then followed between the strikers and guards led by Deputy Sheriff Basket. Tenney Taylor, a miner was arrested and is in a serious condition. Moore married a daughter of the late Will Tisdale and he and his family live here. His wife has gone to his bedside.

He was brought to the surface by some of his friends after he had lain under the water three hours.

He was the son of John Scott. The family and friends have our sympathy.

Youth's Electrocutation Used as a Warning to Boys.

Little Rock, Ark., July 22.—Kenneth McEwen, eleven years of age, was electrocuted thirty feet in the air on a lighting tower in view of the congregation of a church that was holding services on the church lawn on account of the heat.

The boy was knocking the wire that supplied current to the lights on the tower against the steel frame to see the sparks. Suddenly a flash of blue flame enveloped him and he plunged downward, fracturing his skull on the pavement below. He died a few minutes later.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. E. P. Aldredge, was preaching a special sermon to boys. He rushed over, aided in placing the dying boy in an ambulance and then resumed his sermon, using the accident as a warning to the boys.

Mace Studded With Nails Used By Germans in Hand-to-Hand Conflict

Paris, July 26.—The fighting in the fortified village of Pozieres between the British and Germans is described as follows by an officer who was wounded during the struggle:

"Early Sunday morning at the moment the signal for the attack was given, after a frightfully intense bombardment, the English infantry rushed forward to the entrance of the village, carried it brilliantly and occupied the first houses. At 11:30 o'clock the Germans counter attacked. Their onset was extraordinary, doubtless because their courage had been stimulated by ether, as one could tell from the odor."

"Here the rifle played no part the knife, bayonet, revolver and grenade were the only weapons used. The Germans employed a sort of long handled mace studded with nails such as an Apache might use, not a soldier. I saw a German officer using one of them on a wounded comrade, but as he was in the act of striking, a revolver shot laid him down beside the intended victim.

WAR MAY EXTEND TO SOUTH AMERICA

Brazil is Making Threats to Use Ships Interned in its Harbor.

Rio Janeiro, July 31.—The question of requisitioning German ships in Brazilian ports will shortly be taken up by the Brazilian congress. Deputy Concalves Naia is preparing a resolution authorizing such a requisition which he will present to the chamber.

There are 38 German ships and four Austrian in Brazilian ports. This shipping is estimated to be worth between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. The biggest ship of the fleet is the Hamburg-American liner Bleucher, which has a net tonnage of 7,592. There has been some ill-will against Germany in Brazil owing the fact that Germany seized Brazilian coffee worth $7,000,000 and refused payment for it. After Portugal had requisitioned German ships in her ports last February it was reported in New York and London that Brazil had taken similar action. Germany's declaration of war on Portugal was greeted by popular demonstrations in Rio Janeiro in favor of the allies.

TANLAC LEAPS TO GREAT FAME IN THE NATION

Nothing Yet Has Ever Approached The New Tonic in Merit or Popularity.

A little more than two years ago, the first bottle of Tanlac, the modern medicine, which has been building up countless thousands of run down men and women throughout the country, was sold in a drug store in Lexington, Ky.

From that sale grew a romance of the business world in which a million people now have a personal interest—an interest supreme, because it is based on health.

Today this remarkable preparation is being distributed by the carload. In the annals of proprietary medicines nothing has ever remotely approached Tanlac's instant and tremendous leap into popularity.

The original company which put Tanlac on the market was completely swamped with orders in six months and found itself unable to introduce Tanlac in sufficient quantity to meet the monster demand.

Overwhelmed with the colossal demand it became necessary for the original company to increase the capacity of its laboratories, but now, the thousands of people who have been waiting for Tanlac may share in the benefits of relief experienced through its influence in stomach, kidney, liver and catarrhal ailments and symptoms which arise from these disorders, such as nervousness, dyspepsia, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of flesh, waning strength, distress after eating, constipation, blotchy complexion and those offensive and annoying catarrhal effects like bad breath, dropping of mucus, watery eyes and constant colics. Tanlac now may be obtained in Marion at J. H. Orme's. Adv.

Paper Will Cost The Newspapers Double

One of the hardest problems newspapers, big and little are facing is that of scarcity of paper. It is not only a matter of price, but in many cases of securing a supply at any price. In a recent issue of the Paper Trade Journal correspondence from Watertown, N. Y., touches on this as follows:

"The price of paper next fall will be about double that paid a year ago, according to statement made by several prominent paper manufacturers in this city this week. They claim that this situation will be brought about through the high cost of materials entering paper, and also through an attending high cost in all mill equipment and repairs. It is claimed that the cost of paper advanced on a ratio with the cost of sulphite, and this has already doubled in price and is still advancing."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

New York, July 22.—The public service commissioners of New York, with Theodore P. Shonts and other officials of the railway company, recently rode under the Harlem river in automobiles through the new subway, which is now nearing completion. This is the first time anybody ever crossed under the river in autos.

Several Of Pittsburg's Little German Band Are Killed.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 12.—Pittsburg's little German Band is no more. When the war broke out its eight members joined the German navy and seven have been killed in action. The sole survivor, Herman Koedel, a member of the German merchant submarine Deutschland's crew, has just written to his old friend Captain of Detectives Archibald Mackrell, here, telling of the deaths of his seven comrades. Koedel writes that after being disabled in the naval service he entered the merchant marine and is now attached to the Deutschland.

How to reduce the number of classes by means of alternation and correlation was discussed by Geo. W. Condit.
Alternation can be most successfully accomplished by means of grades, for instance, in the year 1916-17, teach 1st, 2nd and 3rd, 5th and 7th grades, thus reducing the number of daily recitations from 12 to 20.

Miss Sue Moore tells us that the first day of school depends upon a correct report made from a record which has been kept by the previous teacher, thus a correct record of pupils should be kept.

Mrs. Fred Hillyard addressed the Institute on the subject of "County Examinations and Graduation Exercises." The following reasons were given for holding examinations:

1st. To obtain a knowledge of the ability of children, also gives inspiration, obtains positions for them and admits to County High School. Graduation day makes the greatest period in the child's life. This shows an important step, gives encouragement, shows the boys and girls that we believe in them and their work, hence we should not dispense with graduation exercises.

Prof. Hollis C. Franklin thinks that the schools are failing in preparing the children for High School, not because of a lack of inspiration and enthusiasm.
The parents as well as the children must be made to see the need of a High School education.

Prof. Cherry suggests that the County High School shall be so organized as to meet the local demands of county pupils; make the school attractive and interesting and through the co-operation of both rural and high schools the problem of attendance will be solved.

TUESDAY

Institute was called to order by the president, V. L. Christian. After a song by the Institute, devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Scott.
Departing from the regular program the teachers were delightedly entertained by reading from little Miss Wilma Wright. Then Instructor Cherry gave a rapid review of Monday morning's talk and spoke to the Institute on the subject, "What the Child Is." He says that the two great forces at work in the child's life are the subjective and the objective; that circumstances make up its life and circumstances are parallel to its life; that consciousness begins with infancy; that the child learns many things through imitation; that he enjoys nursery and folk songs and myths. He urges the teacher to pay special attention to the child's first three years. We appreciate the energetic and untiring effort of our instructor. He is giving us much valuable information.

Mr. W. D. Cannan, on the subject of "Teaching for Efficiency in business," says, "teaching is causing to know; efficiency is the power to succeed; and business is the vocation or work of life.
He makes an earnest plea for more efficiency in business.

After recess the body was called to order by the president and announcements were made by Supt. E. J. Travis.
Mr. E. E. Phillips continued the morn-ing's program by speaking on the vital question of "Roads and the Road Problem." He says, "we need good roads in Crittenden county for the advantage and benefit of schools and farmers. A short discussion was given on this subject by Messrs. Jno. W. Blue and C. S.
Nunn who are strong advocates of the "road movement."

Mr. N. C. Hammack believes that the country school is the greatest agency in the solution of farm problems.
He says we grow like we live every day. The teacher must see the needs of the people in the community and in some way aid the people to build up their community. The teacher and people must think fundamental truths.
Fundamental truths are universal truths and universal truths are eternal truths.
Mr. Hammack tells us that agriculture is the study of the agents in nature; that there are three types of farmers and each are known by their farming methods. Mr. Hammack is an enthusiastic and optimistic speaker and always brings inspiration to his audience.

Mrs. Verlie Coffman-Koltinsky discussed "Rural School Survey." She says, "upon the farmer depends the future life of the government; and the condition of the farmers in the community can be obtained only by a rural school survey." By exhibiting a list of the articles surveyed a statistical and geographical chart of the little community in which she taught, and by the enthusiastic manner in which she spoke we know that Mrs. Koltinsky's desire to do something for Kentucky's people was the motive for her untiring work in this survey.

Mr. W. K. Powell says he has been talking consolidated school for several years; that there would be more interest manifested among the people and a better organized school system. He requested an open discussion. Supt.
Travis said on the subject: "The greatest handicap of Crittenden county is the small school district and consolidated school is the only remedy for our faulty school system in this county. Instructor Cherry and Mr. Hammack gave us some valuable suggestions on the preparation and supervision of consolidation.

We are hoping that Crittenden county will have this splendid school system in the near future.

Our instructor, Mr. Cherry, next discussed "The Country Teacher." He tells us that the general belief that great men are born, not made, is not wholly true; that the only difference between the boy at Oxford and the boy at the play is the material. He told us that some people have by nature a talent for teaching, but this talent must be trained and rounded out; other people have no talent but by training and preparation; a teacher can come to love her work. Prof. Cherry stated and discussed each point under the qualifications. He tells us that scholarship gives easier government and more confidence.

After a few minutes intermission Institute was called to order by Pres. V.
L. Christian. Miss Hicklin addressed the Institute on the following subject:
"How to Make Better Citizens." We make better citizens by teaching higher ideals; educate the parents as well as the children; teach domestic science, agriculture; organize local clubs for the promotion of education, since through these agents a moral, mental and physical training is made possible, resulting in better organization and better citizenship.

Miss Mary Finley spoke on the subject: "Requisites for Good Discipline." She informs us that the teacher is the greatest factor in the children's behavior; that she is judged daily by her behavior; patience and courage are good requisites.

Mr. T. F. Newcom next discussed:
"The Means of Securing Good Order." Knowing what to do and how to do it, making clear, correct assignments are some things that aid in good discipline.
Mr. Robert Corley and Mr. J. C.
Hardin spoke on "Rod Correction." They say that correction by the rod is very unpleasant; that they do not admire it, but sometimes the rod must be used to obtain obedience. Instructor Cherry believes that rod correction never does any permanent good, but is often used as a last resort.

A very inspiring address was given by Instructor Cherry at the evening hour.

Tuesday, trustee's day, proved to be one of the most interesting of the week, there being present on that occasion fifty-seven of the sixty-two trustees of the county. Devotional exercises were conducted by P. M. Ward; a beautiful cornet solo was rendered by Miss Juliet Pope, then Instructor Cherry addressed the trustees on the subject of "The Country Life and the Country School," wherein he stated that the problem of the country is the maintaining of standard people, therefore we must not allow degeneracy and decay in our rural districts, but rather seek to make our country life attractive and thereby keep our talented boys and girls on the farm, teaching them that agriculture is the oldest and noblest of all occupations, and is the basis of all other occupations. Trustees are the most important factor in the district; he selects the teachers; is the organizer of the district. The teacher is the most important factor in the life of the community, hence teachers should enrich their lives with the most valuable information. Following Mr. Cherry's address came a round table discussion on the "Preservation of Public School Property." Brief, interesting talks were made by the following trustees: Mr.
Belt, J. M. Davis, S. Hunt, W. W.

Lamb, Geo. Travis and J. James.

Rev. J. F. Price, a man who stands for all progressive and uplifting measures, a man who lends inspiration and enthusiasm to any body that claims his presence, tells us that the community is the unit of social life; the factors, home, church and school should co-operate in every possible way, striving to make each community the best.

WEDNESDAY

After opening the exercises by singing "My Old Kentucky Home," devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. B. Trotter, in which he suggested that the moral life of children shall be directed by example, hence the teacher must necessarily be a living, spiritual example before these children and teach that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and thereby instill into their minds a reverence for the Bible.

The Institute was then favored with a rare treat in the rendering of a harp solo by Mrs. Marshall Jenkins, preliminary exercises being followed by an address by Instructor Cherry, wherein he suggests that teachers must use plans and devices for their work, but no real teacher will be an imitator; method should be the fundamental thought in the mind of the teacher in every recitation, for method is the mind itself, therefore the teaching force must come from within; teachers are born, not made; man is his own method modified by the age in which he lives. We must know the life's inspirations and aspirations of the child before we can understand them. Freedom is the aim of every life. The child is seeking to know; the aim of the child is found in the nature of the child and it is the business of the teacher to discover and develop this aim; we must adjust our methods to the nature of the child. Good teaching is the process of aiding others to produce; teaching is the process of involution rather than evolution; great souls have been creators, not imitators; teachers must be an organizing, harmonizing influence in the community.

The "Recitation, Significance and Vim" was splendidly discussed by Miss Francis Gray, followed by Miss Emma Terry, who enumerated the "Requisites for Good Recitations," saying that unless a proper amount of rest, heat, air, light, etc., are looked after in regard to the child, interest is lost, and furthermore drawing and cut-out pictures should be used in the making of booklets and from this source interest too, is aroused.

Miss Ruby Asher tells us that "Plays and Games" are indispensable in the life of the child, since by means of play comes that three-fold development, physical, mental and spiritual, which makes for the well rounded citizen. The Declaration of Independence provides for the play life of the child, and unless we make possible this element in the child's life we rob him of an inalienable right.

A demonstration of plays and games given by Miss Hard and a number of her first year pupils was greatly enjoyed by the Institute.

After Primary reading has been discussed by Miss Eva Hicklin, Miss Ethel Hard, by way of demonstration conducted a lesson in primary reading, having the children to read, dramatize and reproduce the story.

Wednesday's afternoon session was called together by roll call, after which a beautiful vocal solo was rendered by Miss Gladys Travis.

Miss Della Barnes opened the afternoon's discussion by an address on "Home Economics." Dr. Frazer then very earnestly urged that Crittenden County's children be taught the value of sanitation. Better methods of teaching English was discussed by Prof. H.

C. Franklin.

Thursday afternoon's session was opened with an excellent address by Mr. N. C. Hammack, "Country Life and Rural Schools." He says that the best education we can give a child is to teach him to observe the things about him. Mr. John Moore followed with one of the most excellent addresses of the week, earnestly urging that the teacher strive to educate both the parent and pupil along lines of rural life, showing them the calamity of leaving the country and going to the city.

Mr. J. Robert Bird urges that we vote bonds, build better roads, thereby improving our farms, homes and schools.
Friday morning's session was called together by song service led by H. O.
Franklin. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. A. Chandler, who says that service should be the aim of every teacher.

Mr. J. F. Dodge opened the morning's discussion with a plea for "Conservation of Valuable Bird Life," showing that when we thoughtlessly and carelessly kill our birds we are destroying the agents that aid our crops to grow.

Instructor Cherry explained the course of study, saying that books are only the instruments by which children are led to see the real object, therefore teachers with tact and wisdom should study the child and adapt the course of study to meet its needs.

Institute for 1916 closed with Friday afternoon's session. After some important announcements had been made by Supt. Travis, H. C. Franklin, as representative of the teachers of Crittenden county, presented to Instructor Cherry a small token of appreciation and esteem, an assurance "that he would live in hearts he had left behind."

Prof. Cherry closed his discussion for the week with an address, "The Recitation," showing that the recitation is one of the most important phases of school life, since it is here that the teacher and pupil meet on a common ground and grow to understand each other better.

The following resolutions were offered, after which Institute adjourned to meet again in 1917:

RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, Mrs. Verlie Coffman-Kol-tinsky, at one time a resident of Crittenden county, but now of Indianapolis, Indiana, has honored our Institute with her attendance upon same and for the purpose of explaining her system of "Rural School Surveys," which has attracted so much attention among leading educators, and

WHEREAS, we feel that her exposition of the system has been of great benefit to each and every member of the Institute and given to us all a broader vision of the possibilities that lie before the teachers of Crittenden county, and, being desirous of expressing our appreciation for her and the work she has accomplished, it is therefore

RESOLVED, that we extend to her the sincere thanks of this Institute, and the individual members thereof, for her kindness in attending and explaining her system, and be it further

RESOLVED, that we congratulate her upon the great work she has accomplished, which we believe is a great step in the advancement of educational interests in rural communities. We are glad to honor her for the work she has done, as we feel honored in naming her as a former resident of Crittenden county.

RESOLVED further that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Institute, and a copy be given to her.

BERTHA PANKIN
DERON K. SON | Com

We, the committee on resolution of the Crittenden County Teachers' Institute, knowing well the value and importance of the work in which we have been engaged for the past week, and realizing that this good work could not have been accomplished without the aid and assistance of those teachers, officers and visitors, who have so willingly put forth every effort to make our Institute a success, do heartily recommend that the Institute pass the following resolutions in order to show its appreciation of the good work done

Resolved—

1. That for the all important work he has performed in this institute; for the valuable information he has imparted to us; and for the inspiration he has been to us, the Institute as a body and as individuals express its entire appreciation and thanks to him whom we are truly glad to think of as our friend and instructor, Prof. T. C. Cherry.
That we bid him "God Speed," in his great work and exhort our great hope and belief that in the years to come many people of our commonwealth, both great and small shall rise up and call him "blessed."

That, for his constant work for the education and physical, mental and moral uplifting of every child of school age in old Crittenden; and his unbounded interest in the welfare of every man, woman and child, also for his kindness in bringing to this Institute valuable, instructive and interesting talent from other counties of the state, for the best year's work in his administration, we, the teachers of Crittenden county desire to tender our heartiest thanks to the best County Superintendent, not only in western Kentucky but in the whole state, Mr. E. J. Travis.

3. That because Prof. Christian has been absolutely untiring in his work; because his "judgments have been true and righteous altogether;" because his executive ability has proven him second to none, and because his able supervision and all-watchful eye have so far shaped the destinies of our Institute as to make it the best in the history of our county, we express our sincere thanks to him.

Knowing that we have received much valuable information, instruction and inspiration from our kind co-worker, Mr. N. C. Hammack, we desire to tender to him our appreciation and best wishes for success in his chosen field of labor.

That the business men of Marion have shown their interest in the educational affairs of the county by liberally responding in both time and talent, whenever called upon, thus proving themselves both able and willing workers. We desire to express our thanks to each of them.

That, realizing that the School Trustees of Crittenden county are the very "foundation stones" upon which our whole educational institutions are built, and knowing well that in their hands rests the shaping of the destinies of thousands of the fairest and most promising boys and girls, we desire to thank them for what they have already Project for Tube Under English Channel Revived.

London, July 22.—The old project of building a tunnel under the English Channel to connect England with the Continent, has again been revived. Plans are on foot for a meeting of a large number of members of Parliament to consider how far the scheme can be furthered at present with a view to putting it into execution at the end of the war. The decision of the Allies' Trade Conference to establish rapid land and sea transport service at low cost is said to have a direct bearing on the revival of the matter.

Kent, Me., July 22.—A baby boy was born at sea on the six-masted schooner Ruth E. Merrill, of Portland, Me., commanded by Capt. J. H. Porter, which reached Baltimore laden with a cargo of manganese ore from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. A simple entry on the vessel's log reads as follows:

"June 14, at 1 p. m., in latitude 28.55 north, longitude 69.47 west, a twelve pound baby boy was born to Mrs. Mary Sevrina Barnes, wife of Sylvester W. Barnes, of Bath, Me.

Mr. Barnes is second mate on the vessel. Mr. Barnes and his wife were on the schooner Lucinda Sutton, which put into Rio de Janeiro in distress while bound from Buenos Aires, South America, laden with logwood for New York, and which is reported having been abandoned.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One.
How It Can Be Done
In Marion.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the joints are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Marion residents would do well to profit by the following example:

J. O. Tabor, farmer, Mexico, Ky., says: "I had kidney trouble for about six years. The pains in my back were severe at times and when I stopped or lifted, sharp twinges shot through my loins. My back always ached more intensely at night and in the morning I felt very lame. I tired easily, was languid and nervous and had headaches. The kidney secretions passed so frequently and caused me annoyance. One and a half boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of the trouble and I am now in good health." Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tabor had. Foster-McMurray Co., Props., Indianapolis, N. Y.

The Deutschland's Feat

The Germans have scored another big feat by sending the submarine Deutschland across the Atlantic. At both ends of the voyage it mocked the vigilance of British sea patriots. It was a clever performance, in keeping with the enterprise and ingenuity of the German navy.

The coming of this visitor had been so noisily heralded as to raise suspicions about the sincerity of the announcement. The final answer to all sceptics is the appearance of the undersea boat in American waters.

Within the last two years longer voyages have been made by submarines of the warring nations. The average run of the German U boats operating off the Irish coast, like that which sank the Lusitania, has probably reached two weeks. There are said to be records of boats that covered 12,000 miles and remained away from their bases for two months. At 4,000 miles from Keil to Hampton Roads, the Deutschland's trip above and under water was well within the cruising radius of modern submarines.

It is the nature of the Deutschland's errand, not the feat of crossing the Atlantic, that lends importance to its visit. If it came as a war vessel, its stay would be brief or it would be interned until the end of the war. If a ship of commerce, a submarine is free to come and go, at its own risk, beyond the three mile limit. Hundreds of British French and Italian merchantmen have entered and left our ports since the beginning of the war. The arrival of a German cargo in any German ship, most of all in a submarine is an event. It is only made possible by the skill of the Germans in outwitting their enemies.

Except under the stress of war no experiment such as the Deutschland so brilliantly carried out would be worth while. Little was it thought, as the submarine was developed, that it could be converted to the uses of commerce. But the Germans have demonstrated that it can be made to serve as a carrier of freight, in spite of hostile fleets.

From necessity they may extend this use of the submarine much further, until we become accustomed to the sight of under sea cargo carriers. But there will always be the sharp reminder that Germany was driven to this expedient by a blockade that closed the seas to her thousands of ships of commerce. The voyage was a splendid achievement, but it does not restore to Germany the freedom of the seas.—New York World.

The Deutschland Submerges Again

Baltimore, July 26.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland was given another submerging test at her dock today. When she arose to the surface ten minutes later her commander Capt. Paul Koenig, and conductor William Prusse expressed their satisfaction with the results.

It was learned that the submergence of the craft is necessary to trim her cargo properly.

Respecting a report that the Bremen, the Deutschland's sister ship, which is hourly expected in American waters, would go to Boston, it was said at the offices of the Deutschland's agents here today that the Bremen would "seek shelter at the nearest, safest and most convenient port on the Atlantic seaboard."

Interior Needs Strong Navy

Mississippi Valley Would Be Greatly Endangered by Lack of Protection With Powerful Fleets in Time of War.

By HENRY A. WISE WOOD
Chairman Conference Committee on National Preparedness

People living at some distance from the Atlantic or the Pacific, are prone to think of a navy as something far remote from their own wellbeing, whereas there is no village so far inland that is not now enjoying some measure of protection from our freedom of the seas. And there is today no home under the flag that does not now more than ever before need the protection that a strong navy gives. Let no man forget that the long peace, during which this country has developed into the very garden of the earth would not have been possible without a navy.

The United States was formerly thought to have but two coast lines, the Atlantic and the Pacific; but it is now realized that it has four, the Atlantic, the Pacific and both sides of the Mississippi river. The extent and importance of the two interior coast lines is thus concisely stated by the editor of Harper's Magazine:

"The basin of the Mississippi is the body of the nation. All the other parts are but members, important in themselves, yet more important in their relations to this. Exclusive of the lake basin and of 300,000 square miles in Texas and New Mexico, which in many aspects form a part of it, this basin contains about 1,250,000 square miles. . . . It would contain Austria four times, Germany or Spain five times, France six times, the British islands or Italy ten times. Conceptions formed from the river basins of western Europe are rudely shocked when we consider the extent of the valley of the Mississippi; nor are those formed from the sterile basins of the great rivers of Siberia, the lofty plateaus of central Asia, or the mighty sweep of the swampy Amazon more adequate. Latitude, elevation and rainfall all combine to render every part of the Mississippi valley capable of supporting a dense population. As a dwelling place for civilized man, it is by far the first upon our globe."

But great as it is, the Mississippi is not sufficient unto itself for it needs the world for a market. For its comfort and enrichment it exacts from people beyond the seas a constant stream of gold or the equivalent in merchandise. It is, therefore, self-evident that the prosperity of both the town on the river and of the farmer many miles back in the country whose products are eventually floated to market on this waterway are dependent upon keeping all the ports of this interior coastline of the United States open, and in free communication with all the rest of the world.

Any interruption of traffic on the river would be immediately felt by every man who has anything to sell. Prices would instantly drop, industries would stop and hundreds of thousands would be thrown out of employment. The river is the main artery of the nation and as such it is vital to the commercial life of all the valley states. Figures do not reveal or picture the magnitude of the commerce of the valley, for the passage of each ton of freight going up or down is a thread in the fabric of some individual or some home, the culmination of one man's effort, the beginning of another's enterprise, yet figures are the best vehicle at hand to briefly indicate the extent of its commerce.

For the years 1901 to 1913, inclusive, the combined exports and imports passing along the Mississippi via the Gulf of Mexico, to and from foreign ports, amounted to $1,387,469 tons.

Now what would become of this huge export and import trade if a cordon of steel ships were placed around the United States as now has been placed around Germany? Whose business would remain unchanged? Paralyzation and congestion would instantly follow, products of the fields and farms, and manufactured articles would pile up in the storehouses, and the railroad lines to the east or west would be wholly inadequate to carry the traffic even to such feeble remaining markets as might be discovered inland, or might be reached stealthily over seas. Every lumberman, every planter, every manufacturer, every workman or laborer would immediately be affected. Just as Germany is being choked by the steel collar of England's fleet so would the commercial life of the valley be strangled by a hostile fleet standing off the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The national government is charged with the duty of maintaining a navy not merely sufficient to keep the mouth of the river open to peaceful commerce but sufficient also to see every cargo of cotton, of rice, of sugar, of live stock or meat safely to its destination in any foreign port and to see safely home again the money or the merchandise that is due the people of the Mississippi valley for what they have exported. The American navy is a traffic policeman of the high seas whose duty it is to see that trade routes are kept open for American commerce.

The time when every father of a family kept a rifle over the fireplace for the defense of his home has passed away, but the need of vigilance and precaution never was greater than today. The Mississippi valley is a strategic importance now just as it was in the Civil war. Rich as it is in all that an army needs, does anyone suppose that an intelligent foe would not strive mightily to occupy it both for strategic reasons and for the sustenance of its armies?

We ask for no indifferent treatment to avert the danger of war than reasonable men ask for to safeguard bodily health. If a pestilence threatened, should we be content with half measures? Common sense would demand the raising of every barrier and the application of every precaution that those whose business it is to know could devise. And no laymen would assume the responsibility of saying what was sufficient. Is not war a disease? Years ago smallpox used to wipe out whole villages, but thanks to the adequate precautions of medical science it is now practically unknown. Cholera used to ravage our coast cities, but now we keep it out; we do not let it arrive first and prepare to drive it out afterward. The yellow-fever epidemics which once scourged the southern towns passed away with the introduction of scientific preparedness.

Now the conditions under which these diseases assailed the human race were developed silently, insiduously. Each was the result of some small sanitary neglect, of the lack of some precaution. Similarly the danger of attack comes silently and is, too, the result of the neglect of precautions covering perhaps a long period of time. Now that we know the disease of war still exists, and that its descent upon our own soil can be guarded against, with the abundant means at hand we can easily, if we will, take the precautions necessary to prevent its reaching us. It is in order that this may be done, that we may erect against war an invulnerable guard, that we of the national defense movement are striving.

HEAT FLASHES, DIZZY, NERVOUS

Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the change of life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness.

For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TEUTONS DEPORT FRENCH MAIDENS

Ten Thousand Out From Neighborhood of Lille No One Knows Where

New York, July 27.—That the Germans have deported from Lille, France, and vicinity, more than 10,000 young women and girls, nearly 6,000 being from the city of Lille itself, is the story told in letters received a few days ago by an official of the Belgian government. The letters were smuggled out of Lille, and the charges they contain have been sustained by investigation, it is said. The first letter is as follows:

"We are still suffering under the impression of the unnamable measures exercised in our neighborhood—the forcible expulsion of young women and young girls sent away to no one knows where, and under lamentable conditions, both from a physical and moral point of view. To perform this nice duty regiments of the Imperial Guard came from Cambrai. They surrounded a quarter of the city at 3 o'clock in the morning and visited all the houses.

"Using a list of the houses, they called the roll and pointed out the persons who were to follow them. These persons were rounded up in an empty workshop near the station and were put pell-mell on the trains, as fast as there were trains available, made up of a few third-class cars and many cattle cars. Where were they sent and for how long? You can judge the extent of the blind terror and grief of the parents whose children were carried away under such conditions."

The second letter reads:

"They are at present trying to minimize the affair. Remember well the figures and the actions. They are exact. Five thousand seven hundred young girls in Lille alone, from 15 to 25 years of age. May the press of the world take note of it. It is a stain the Germans can never wash from their hand. If the neutrals do not act now they are cowards. Will they understand?"

The charges made in the above letter were submitted several weeks ago, it is said, to Ambassador Gerard in Berlin, who brought them to the attention of the German authorities. According to the information received here, the Germans first denied then admitted that the deportations had taken place, but insisted that the number as stated by the French had been exaggerated.

Victory For Cardui.

We are rejoiced at the great victory won by Z. C. Patten, Jr., and the Chattanooga Medicine Co., at Chicago.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the makers of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and held the American Medical Journal guilty of libel for publishing that Cardui is a nostrum without merit. In short, the United States Court has placed the seal of its approval upon the remedy Cardui after one of the most exhaustive trials in the history of the country.

All Chattanooga will rejoice, and the verdict will attract nation-wide attention.—Editorial in "Hamilton County Herald," Chattanooga, Tenn., June 23, 1916.

Teachers' Institute Proceedings.

done for us, and for the profits and pleasures we derived from the time they spent with us, and beg of them that they put forth every effort in helping us to solve the great problems that shall confront us from day to day; that by so doing we may produce better citizens, better homes, better schools and a better Crittenden county.

That, believing that on our own "Farm Demonstrator and County Agent," Mr. Robert Bird, depends the temporal prosperity and salvation of our country, to a great extent, we, in thanking him for past favors, also extend to him an invitation to visit our schools whenever possible, and promise him our assistance in any work he may undertake in our district.

That the Institute wishes to extend to Dr. Frazer thanks and an expression of appreciation for the efficient work which he has done for the childhood of Crittenden county, in the way of better health. His work has proven to be a preventive of many contagious diseases which might have caused many deaths in the county.

That we, as progressive teachers of Crittenden county, desire to express our sincere thanks to Mrs. Verlie Coffman-Koltinsky for her great kindness in giving her time and help to help our teachers and to help make our Institute this week a better and more helpful one than ever before; we have heard much of her good work for her home district in our neighboring county, and it is our wish that many of our county teachers will do this year for their respective districts the same that she has done for hers. And we hope that she may in her coming year's work be even more successful than formerly. And we wish her to feel that we have in our hearts for her the most cordial friendship.

That we express to the minister, Rev. Rufus Robinson, Rev. Escott, Rev. J. A. Chandler, and Rev. J. D. Trotter, our thanks to them for coming to us each morning with the message from God's word and to extend to them our co-operation in teaching the gospel in our county.

We thank Miss Della Barnes for her splendid talk on Home Economics and Mr. J. F. Dodge for his address and appeal for the protection and preservation of our wild birds and animals. And we as teachers resolve to do our part in teaching our boys and girls love and kindness for our little wild things. And to Mr. J. A. Moore, whose kindly and so ably talked to us on our county's needs, we also extend our thanks. That we wish to express our thanks and appreciation to Mr. A. C. Moore for his excellent address.

We thank Misses Lucile, Selma and Carrie Moore and Gladys Travis for entertaining us with pleasing recitations.

We also express our appreciation of the songs we have listened to and enjoyed and thank Misses Irene Moredock and Gladys Travis, Messrs. L. E. Guess, Robt. Lear, W. B. Yates and T. R. Yates.

Also we thank Miss Juliet Pope for the delightful cornet solo rendered.

Resolved, that we refund the salaries of the President, Vice President and Secretaries of this Institute as a small token of our appreciation of their efficient work.

Hoping that our year's school work will be as happy and prosperous as our institute has been entertaining and instructive, we now invoke God's blessing upon every member of this Institute, asking Him that He prosper us all in our respective fields of labor, and assemble us all at Crittenden County Teachers' Institute in 1917.

BELLMONT

Here we are again with a few words for the dear old paper.

The singing convention was held at Piney Fork the fifth Sunday with a large crowd and some "extra good" singing in favor of Cave Springs which won the prize of two dozen song books. There were quite a number of choirs present from several churches which sang some as sweet songs as can be sung to the glory of God, the old Piney shed being filled with people to hear them. Everybody reported a fine time.

Quite a number from here attended the fair at Providence.

School began at Piney Fork Monday with Miss Ruby Asher, of Marion, as teacher.

Everybody fixing for the camp meeting; repairing camps and cleaning off the camp ground, and hoping to have a successful meeting.
