MRS. R. L. ORME PASSES AWAY

Had Been in Poor Health For Several Years But Death Was Not Expected.

The remains of Mrs. R. L. Orme of Evansville, Ind., who died at a sanitarium in Martinville, Ind., Wednesday morning Sept. 13th., at 11 o'clock, arrived here Friday morning and were taken to the home of her sister Mrs. John W. Blue from whence they were taken to the new cemetery for interment at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, the Rev. J. A. Chandler officiating assisted by Rev. H. V. Escott. At the residence a quartette of male voices sang, "Lead kindly light," and after the burial ritual of the church was read by Rev. Chandler and a prayer by Rev. Escott they sang "Jesus lover of my soul," after which the remains were taken to the new cemetery where a third song was sung by the male Quartette, it being "Abide with me." The three songs sung being favorites of the deceased. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers tied in bouquets and sheaths and in designs of every shape, nothing like it ever having been seen here before. The mound in "Wilson circle" where the body was laid to rest, being covered and hid in a bower of exquisite flowers from friends here and in Uniontown and Uniontown, for where ever she was known she was loved and this is as it should be. The deceased loved every thing that was bright and beautiful and was all of her life indulged in those things. In death she lay as if asleep and as beautiful as when she was the bride of Lee Orme in the same room some twenty years ago. Many were heard to say that the illness which she had suffered for so many years had not robbed her of any of her charms.

Anna Louise Wilson was born in this city in the house now occupied by J. H. Orme on Wilson Avenue and was the youngest daughter of the late W. F. Wilson and his wife, Maria Walker Wilson. She is survived by her husband and two sisters, Mesdames J. W. Blue of this city and H. K. Woods of Owensboro. She has many relatives here and in the county. For several years she had resided in Evansville where her husband owns a drug store, all of her married life having been spent there and at Uniontown where her husband was born and reared and where he was formerly in business. Her visits to Marion were not very frequent, but she was always welcomed by the friends of her childhood and will always remember her bright and winsome manner and who loved her because she had a pure heart and was always jolly and full of life and was of an exceedingly attractive personality.

Asked Papa To Whip Him

A young lady, her cheeks flushed with indignation and her eyes flashing fire, burst in upon her parents and demanded in no uncertain terms that papa immediately go and lick a certain smart young man in this town. "Why, papa, he flirted with me! He asked which way little one? and offered to follow me. I want him whipped. Oh, if I were only a man!"

Mamma naturally got dad's hat and told him where the six-shooter lay hidden away. But papa didn't take the hint, daughter, he said, calling the girl to his side, no one on this earth is more interested in you than your old dad. No one quicker to rise to your defense. But listen. This very interest has led me to study you, and this is what I have learned:

You go down the street very scantily dressed. You apparently deliberately expose as much of your person as is necessary to appeal to the carnal instinct of man. You lovely neck, a large portion of your well developed breast, your arms and by means of a short and transparent hose, a goodly share of your lower limbs are exposed to view.

That part of your body that is at all partly covered is clothed in a way that every curve and angle is out in bold relief. Then when you pass a man or group of men you giggle, toss your head and perhaps remark to your girl companion that this old town is the slowest town that you ever saw. And if some man challenges you you want him shot.

Moral Don't advertise unless you are willing to deliver the goods. Olivia Times.

Revival Closed.

The meeting held in the large frame barn near the Memphis mines, closed Thursday night, Sept. 14th, reporting thirty-one professions.

Eld. Rufus Robinson and Rev. Eli Eaton did most of the preaching; Bro. Trotter preached four sermons, which were greatly appreciated by the large crowds that attended throughout the thirteen days.

Will Gregory played the organ and led the song services. Bro. Gregory's work was no small part of the great revival.

Thirteen of the number joined Dunn Springs Baptist church and were baptized by the pastor, Bro. Robinson, Thursday evening in the presence of a large crowd. Most of the rest will join Freedom church.

The community is very grateful to all who assisted in the Lord's great work.

"TO THE MAN BEHIND."

There is no blue pencil mark on your paper to indicate that you are in arrears and to announce the fact to the public, and all who read are not behind but there are some who will read these lines who do owe us for The Crittenden Record-Press. Those who owe have been privately notified and even if you had received no communication from this office down deep in your inner self you would know that you really owe "for the paper" and you will have an inward reminder that you should pay for it.

We are waiting here, at this end of the line, with open arms to receive your subscription money and our strong right arm is ready to write receipts for all remittances. The advance price of paper and the high cost of living make it almost necessary that those who owe us pay up. And, speaking of paying your subscription we would utter one parting thought and clothe it in these words: "DO IT NOW."

Trigger Finger Missing.

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—Rejected for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps because the trigger and middle finger were missing from his right hand, Elbert Harlan, a raw-boned applicant from Oklahoma, went from the recruiting station in the Fullerton building, to a shooting gallery nearby, and made twenty five straight hits on a moving target with a small calibre rifle, while the sergeant who had rejected him looked on.

I can shoot better with my little finger than some men can with their trigger fingers, Harlan said after his performance at the gallery, and I cannot understand why you won't take me.

The Marine sergeant explained that a hand minus several fingers would look bad when encased in white gloves and that the loss of the fingers would seriously interfere with the proper handling of the rifle at drills.

But the Oklahoma recruit was unconvinced and went back home in the belief that the government doesn't know a good man when it sees one.

FRANK SUMMER- VILLE FALLS

Has Vertigo And Falls On Street —Is Brought To And Now Out Of Danger.

Considerable excitement was occasioned Saturday morning on Depot street near College when Frank Summerville fell in a faint and had to be given the attention of two physicians before he revived. He had just arrived in town from his home near Mattoon and had put his horse and buggy in the shed at the stable of his uncle, R. L. Moore and had started up town when he was seized with vertigo and fell as if dead. Several who saw him rushed to his aid and two physicians were called and he was carried into Dr. Moore's residence near by. At first he was believed to be dead and a great crowd congregated at the house.

After considerable work on the part of his physicians and others there he showed signs of life and soon began to revive, and was soon entirely over the attack and was able to go to his own home several miles in the country in the afternoon. He is still confined to his bed but his physician hopes by keeping him quiet and giving proper remedies he will soon be up and about as formerly.

CONFIDENT OF GREAT VICTORY

Montana National Committeeman Sees Bright Outlook For Wilson in The West.

"It is beginning to look like a clean sweep for President Wilson," said J. Bruce Kremer, Montana's member of the Democratic National Committee, who arrived in Louisville today for a conference with Kentucky party leaders.

Mr. Kremer, who is chairman of the Speakers Bureau in the Chicago headquarters of the Democratic National Committee, is a native of Louisville and lived here until sixteen years ago, when he went West.

"We are not receiving a discouraging report in the Chicago headquarters," he said, "and our advices from the East are as favorable as those from the West. New York and Illinois, two States the Republicans had counted on as certainties, have disclosed as much Wilson sentiment as elsewhere."

"The shrewdest political leaders of Chicago predict that President Wilson will run away from Mr. Hughes in the Illinois metropolitan. I have been in Chicago long enough to know that his forecast is not an idle dream."

Four years ago Mr. Wilson carried Illinois but lost Chicago by a big margin to Roosevelt. This year he has a decided advantage in Chicago despite an active opposition press.

"Big Chicago Republican dailies who attack the President in their editorial columns and are not fair in their news columns are forced by public sentiment to print many letters from subscribers praising Mr. Wilson and his administration. These letters are reflective of what is in the public mind."—Louisville Times.

Huge Sum Required to Properly Defend Philippines

By REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAM A. JONES of Virginia

Many of those who favor the retention of the Philippines are among the most extreme advocates of what is called national preparedness. Do they realize what it would mean to the taxpayers of America to fortify and defend the Philippines on land and sea? Already more than ten million dollars have been expended in fortifying the entrance to the Bay of Manila. Who can say what it will cost to fortify all of the important ports of the entire archipelago? There are now only 12,000 American soldiers in the islands. Who believes that 200,000 will be sufficient to garrison the forts that must be constructed and to defend the islands in the event of attack by some powerful nation?

But it will require more than strong fortifications and large armies to successfully defend the Philippines against foreign invasion. To do so with any hope of success will necessitate the constant presence in the Orient of an American fleet at least equal in strength to that of any other naval power which may attempt to seize the islands; and yet, whatever may be the cost in blood and in treasure of defending them, we shall be bound by every consideration of justice, honor and national pride to undertake to do so, if it shall be determined to hold them permanently.

Use of Tobacco Entered as Debit Item in Ledger of Life

By DR. HENRY JACKSON WATERS President Kansas Agricultural College

If you were applying for a position of any kind, would you deem it wise to mention among your qualifications the fact that you use tobacco? Do you realize that if your prospective employer knew that you smoked, and particularly if he knew that you smoked cigarettes, he would employ you, if at all, in spite of the fact and not because of it?

It is my deliberate conviction, after using tobacco 25 years and then quitting it, that smoking is to be entered always as a debit item in the ledger of life. Let me urge those of you who have not yet formed this injurious and unnecessary habit to resist its temptation. Let me urge those of you who have begun the use of tobacco to show strength of character by quitting. Such an act will greatly increase your respect for yourself and will give you strength and courage to meet the greater crises of life.

If Country Is Worth Living In It Is Worth Defending

By WILLIAM M. CALDER of New York

The great world war, engaging more than half of the civilized world, has brought to us a realization of a condition of things in the country that we have never before fully appreciated. We have gone along for half a century without any conception of the possibility of conflict with any of the other nations of the world.

Preparing our nation for war in time of peace is a duty that we owe to ourselves. It is a duty that every country owes to itself—not that we seek war, but that we wish to prevent and guard against it.

Such preparedness is simply a form of insuring national integrity, with the additional merit of promoting a spirit of patriotism and love of country among the people of the nation. If our country is worth living in, it is worth defending and maintaining.

"A Little Farther" Many Times Is Key to Success

By REV. AUSTIN HUNTER Pastor Jackson Boulevard Christian Church, Chicago

"A little further" marks the difference between failure and success. Many stop just a little too soon. In their feverish haste to begin work, many young people fail to go as far as they should in their educational preparation. Of the ten thousand men in "Who's Who in America," 84 per cent are graduates of colleges and universities; 12 per cent only attend the common schools.

"A little further" marks the difference between ordinary and heroic living. The hero is nine-tenths like all other men.

"Incompatibility" in Most Cases Result of Imagination

By JOHN J. FRESCHI Former Judge Court of Domestic Relations, New York

The mere fact that two people are opposites in physical, mental or other qualities does not by any means suggest that extremes in everything are drawn together romantically by that queer law of the attraction of opposites, and though their adjustments may be a succession of lively skirmishes, yet when it is over and done with, their married life is very happy.

If young wives, beginning to fret about incompatibility, were to make stock of the things they do to irritate their husbands, instead of passing their time listing the offenses of the husband—then about three-fourths of the divorce courts would go out of business.

Provisions of the Bankruptcy Law Encourage Dishonesty

By KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS Judge of United States District Court, Chicago

There is one provision of the bankruptcy law that is dishonest and based on dishonesty. That provision is the one based on the proposition that a man can run into debt and then repudiate his debts. Any such law is bound to produce corruption and dishonesty.

ZEPPELINS BUILT TO CARRY MAIL

Two Monster Airships Expected To Make Voyage Here In Seventy-Two Hours.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Two double Zeppelins, unarmed and each with a carrying capacity of sixty tons, have been built in Germany to carry mail between Berlin and the United States, according to statements here by Morris Epstein, agent of the German-American Alliance, who returned from Europe yesterday. Epstein said the Zeppelins had been christened Amerika, and Deutschland. He was permitted to view them he declared. Their engines are powerfully equipped and they can make the aerial voyage between Berlin and New York in 72 hours.

They are so constructed said Epstein, that they can rise higher than any aeroplane and thus escape hostile aviators. They also can descend to the water and travel there under their own power.

BELIEF GROWING BREMEN WAS LOST

Germans Themselves Doubt If U Liner Ever Will Be Heard From.

London, Sept. 19.—"Travelers from Germany," says a Morning Post despatch from Copenhagen, "report the Germans themselves as doubting whether the submarine merchantman Bremen, supposed to be on the way to America, will ever be heard of again."

According to their statements, the general opinion in Hamburg is that the Bremen had already left Germany for America when the Deutschland arrived in the United States, as then stated by President Lehmann of the Ocean Steamship company, which owns the Deutschland and Bremen, and that his later statement, made on the occasion of the return of the Deutschland, that a second vessel was then starting on her voyage and was now in the open sea really related to a third submarine merchantman.

The Largest Cantilever Bridge In The World Collapses.

Quebec, Sept. 19.—The new central span of the largest cantilever suspension bridge in the world collapsed and fell into the St. Lawrence river while being hoisted into place here today. The dead end estimated at 25. The bridge being constructed cost $17,000,000. The span which fell weighed 5,000 tons and was 640 feet long, and was being raised into position from pontoons. Observers say one of the corners first gave way, then it broke in the center. Ninety men were on the structure, which had been hoisted fifteen feet when it fell.

HUGHES' MATE IS NOT CONSISTENT

Fairbanks "Dry" Advocate In Canada And "Wet" Candidate At Home.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Charles Warren Fairbanks, Republican nominee for Vice President, recently has proved himself a dry advocate in Canada and a wet candidate at home. J. Frank Hanley, the Prohibition presidential candidate, declared in an address here today shortly prior to the departure of the Prohibition campaign special on a month's Western tour.

"Liquor traffic is a commerce which strikes at the very heart of all we hold dear; which debauches men and undermines the very foundations upon which the home rests, and imperils the social order and threatens the moral fiber of the community itself," Mr. Hanley quoted Mr. Fairbanks as saying in a speech at Toronto.

And yet the man who uttered that in absolute control of a great State convention, refused to permit it to say a word in condemnation of that thing, continued Mr. Hanley. And the national convention that nominated him for Vice President refused to say a word against it.

Mr. Fairbanks also sent as a delegate to the national convention to represent the city where he lives, a wholesale liquor dealer and selected him as chairman and master of ceremonies the day his party notified him of his nomination to the Vice Presidency, and within a month actually refused to sign a remonstrance against licensing the traffic in his own ward.

Gods pity a man who in his heart believes the liquor traffic to be such a thing as Mr. Fairbanks himself has described, and then permits himself to be counted for it in his own ward.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches And Pains of Marion People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and generally when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys.

No need to take the statement of someone living far away as evidence. Here is a case right in this locality.

Mrs. Ernest Arnold, 615 W. Broadway, Madisonville, Ky., says: "I had pains across the small of my back and in my sides. I read about the good Doan's Kidney Pills were doing, so I got a box. They quickly cured me and I have had no need of a kidney medicine since."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mrs. Arnold. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

POULTRY

PIGEONS SELECT OWN MATES

Breeders Should Be Selected With Definite Object—Inbreeding Is Not Desirable.

Pigeons usually mate in pairs and remain constant through life, although the mating may be changed if desired. Unmated pigeons, especially males in the loft, are a source of much trouble, and usually prevent profitable results. Pigeons are usually mated at from five to nine months of age. There are two methods of mating, natural and forced. Under natural mating the pigeons usually are allowed to select their own mates, which is indicated by the male billing and driving the female. Experienced breeders, however, are occasionally deceived by their actions in selecting sex. In forced mating, as in natural mating, the breeders should be selected with a definite object, using males strong in points in which the females are weak. It is sometimes advisable to break up the mating between old pigeons and young birds, although these pairs often give good results. Where matings produce undesirable qualities, it is necessary to remate or cull out the flock. Continued close inbreeding is not desirable and many try to avoid any inbreeding. Where pigeons are banded, the female on one foot and the male on the other, it is fairly easy to regulate inbreeding.

MOST POPULAR MARKET DUCK

Pekin Is Favored for Marketing While Indian Runner Takes Lead for Egg Production.

Duck raising is one of the most profitable branches of the poultry business.

For market purposes alone the Pekin duck is popular. For eggs the Indian Runner takes the lead.

Ducks are never troubled with lice, neither do they have cholera or roup.

Pekin Duck.

They lay a large egg. These eggs have a very fine flavor.

You will find the eggs not as fertile if you let the ducks grow thin.

Give the ducklings plenty of air and stuff them with feed. Sprinkle sand over their feed as this will be a sure way of them getting as much as they need.

Watch that the ducks have suitable attention and regular feed. A few well cared for pays better than too many that are slighted.

CHICKS RELISH GREEN FEED

Fresh Vegetables Should Be Supplied to Youngsters—Composition of Good Mash.

The little chicks must be supplied with a quantity of green feed or fresh vegetables after they are a few days old. A good rule would be to have one-third of the ration green feed, one-third cracked grains and one-third mash.

Ground oats, bran and middlings in equal parts, make a very good mash for chicks. There is nothing magic or medicinal about the prepared chick feeds.

Chicks that become injured, and especially if in a manner to become bloody, should be promptly removed from the brooder. Chicks are strongly cannibalistic if once started, and will quickly tear to pieces an injured chick if they once get a taste of the blood. Smear tar over any injured or bleeding spots.

Things are moving so fast nowadays that people who say it can't be done are interrupted by someone doing it. —Elbert Hubbard

We understand that there is a law to compel every boy and girl to attend school and this law should be enforced to the letter, for there is nothing more humiliating than to see boys and girls grow up in this good day of schools and churches and be ignorant. The man or woman without an education has hard sailing through this life.

A Lesson in War.

Crawl through the trenches of an unfinished sewer excavation in the slush and cutting wind of a sleet storm. Touch off a few sticks of dynamite from time to time to keep you unaware of the lack of regular meals, and have an obliging policeman empty his revolver occasionally in your general direction. A True Progressive gressive leaders, and candidate for governor of Missouri on the Progressive ticket in 1912, has announced his support of President Wilson and will take an active part in the campaign. He has resigned from the Missouri Appellate Court, to which he was elected for a twelve-year term as a Republican, so that he can consistently support the Democratic candidate.

Judge Nortoni says that Wilson has demonstrated real Progressive ideals, while Hughes is a typical New York lawyer wedded to the ideas of Big Business. He contrasts the federal reserve law, the rural credits law, the child labor law, the proposed scientific tariff commission and the shipping bill, all Wilson measures with Hughes' opposition as governor of New York to the income tax amendment and his veto of the two-cent fare rate bill, and the total lack, as evidenced by any real constructive program.

A Quaker View Of Mexico

The kind of army needed on the Mexican border is a force of educators, teachers, doctors and sanitary engineers, farmers and agricultural experts, who will volunteer for terms of two or three years in the spirit of service such as we rendered Cuba at her time of crisis. This statement appears in an open letter issued by the Peace Committee of the Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends, in urging the press of this country, not only to exert their power in supplying in larger measure trustworthy information about Mexico, but also to take their true place in guiding the thought of America and the world along constructive lines of international service and good will. The popular conception of the Mexican situation according to this committee, is based on misinformation and ignorance. Very recently through false ideas of the personality and aims of the Mexican leaders we might have forced a war with a people oppressed, impoverished, and exploited, who should have only patient sympathy, and wise and disinterested help from the Government and citizens of our country. The committee issues this statement of what it believes to be the fundamental facts of the situation:

Mexico suffers from the misgovernment of centuries. The land has been, and is, held in vast tracts by private owners, of whom many are foreigners. While there are exceptions, nearly all these landholders have for generations reduced their tenants to peonage, or practical serfdom and have forced them into ignorance and depraved conditions of life.

The vast natural resources of Mexico, in oil and minerals, have been turned over by concessions to English, German, French, Dutch, and American owners on such terms that the national wealth flows to other lands, and the native Mexican labor is exploited so that the workers continue in nearly all cases impoverished and unenlightened.

The dictatorial and autocratic power of earlier Presidents crushed out the democratic spirit and imposed throughout Mexico the rule of unscrupulous and all powerful local political agents, who manipulated elections, administered the laws to suit the interests in power, and ruled with ruthless military authority.

Education, marriage, and other social institutions have been church monopolies, and there have resulted ignorance and general neglect of what we consider common duties of decent living. Insurrection, revolution, and local anarchy have prevailed for a period of years.

From the chaos some order is gradually appearing. In the judgment of men competent to form an intelligent and fair opinion, the so-called First Chief and his assistants are endeavoring honestly and with a fair measure of success to restore government and redress the age-old wrongs of the Mexican people.

A large number of the States are at peace. As rapidly and justly as possible land is allotted to small holders on terms that guarantee continued cultivation of the soil and the independence of the workers. The local political autocrats of the earlier regime are being gradually supplanted by duly constituted civil officers, who represent the best elements in their community.

The church monopolies are abridged and education and other important matters are placed under civil authority. In a number of States traffic in alcoholic drinks has been abolished with immediate good results.

There has developed an intense rivalry among the different States to see which can organize the greatest number of schools. Already there are said to be twenty times as many schools as in the last epoch of President Diaz, and under the influence of Carranza five hundred teachers have been sent to the United States to study modern pedagogy and school administration.

Several of the States, chiefly in the north, near the United States border, are unsettled and in insurrection. Roving bands of outlaws are abroad and lawless leaders are making trouble.

For a time such men will make raids and commit depredations not only in Mexico, but occasionally over the border in the United States.

The boundary between the United States and Mexico is 1,756 miles long, as far as from New York to Denver. Most of this distance is wild mountain and desert country, without roads and with very little water. For hundreds of miles there is no railroad on the Mexican side, and troops of either country must be transported on the United States railroad. Such a border can not be patrolled so as to prevent occasional incursions by outlaw bands, and it is more criminal than foolish for the press to urge such chance acts of outlawry as a cause of war.

These in briefest form are some of the facts the people of the United States are entitled to know. If properly presented and supplemented, they will revolutionize public opinion.

Altho there is need of cooperation with Mexico for police and patrol duty, our country does not need a large force of young and inexperienced troops on the border. —Literary Digest.

100 Per Cent A Corporation Candidate.
Mr. Hughes has frankly joined the ranks of the railroad press-agents. His Maine speeches on the eight hour emergency measure are a rehash of the statements put out by the railroad press-agents during the controversy.

He insists that the Adamson act is "a wage measure; that it is a plain proposition for a change in the wage scale. How does he know? What evidence has he except the unsupported assertions of the railroad Presidents and their publicity men?"

Mr. Hughes pretends to favor investigation, but how much investigation had he done before he attacked this law which averted a general railroad strike and saved the country from a civil war? Did he cross-examine the railroad Presidents? Did he cross-examine the brotherhood leaders? Did he make any attempt to ascertain the facts before he began his attack upon the President? And if Mr. Hughes favors investigation, why is he opposed to the Adamson measure, which is essentially a measure of investigation?

Under the provisions of that act the President is to appoint a commission of inquiry. The eight hour day goes into effect Jan. 1, and the commission's investigation of its practical operation is to extend over a period of not less than six months or more than nine months. Then the commission will refer the facts to Congress, and Congress will have data upon which it can frame definite action. The eight hour day provision of the Adamson act expires thirty days after the commission reports to Congress.

Nobody knows or can know how the eight hour day will work out in railroad operation until it has been tried under the scrutiny of a competent commission. Nobody knows less about it than Mr. Hughes, who smugly declares that the Adamson act is a plain proposition for a change in the wage scales. We are curious to know if that is the manner in which Mr. Hughes as an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court reached his conclusions. If it is, we are confident that the bench sustained no irreparable loss when he ceased to be 100 per cent, a Judge and became 100 per cent a candidate.

It happens that seventy Republican members of the House of Representatives voted for the Adamson bill. These seventy Republicans were a majority of all the Republicans present and voting. Is Mr. Hughes prepared to attack them individually in the same manner that he is attacking the President and Congress? Will he venture to go into their districts and campaign against them on the ground that they yielded to the rule of force in order to spare the country the calamity of a general railroad strike?

Mr. Hughes is dealing with theories. Mr. Wilson is meeting this strike situation with dealing with conditions. It was necessary to decide, and decide quickly and he presented to Congress the most comprehensive program for dealing with labor difficulties in railroad operation that has ever been submitted to it. Be sure, Congress in the closing days of a long and arduous session was able to enact only two of the President's recommendations into law, but the remainder must inevitably come, and when Mr. Hughes denounces President Wilson's action in the railroad strike, he denounces the most enlightened code of strike legislation that any President ever framed to protect the American people against industrial civil war.

The Times pertinently asks Mr. Hughes what he would have done if he had been in President Wilson's place would he have signed the Adamson act? He plunged the country into the disasters of a general railroad strike. Mr. Hughes will not answer. Mr. Hughes has no policies of his own. He is not concerned with principles of statesmanship or the public welfare. His criticism of the Adamson act is on a par with his amazing assaults upon the Child Labor Act.

Mr. Hughes is not merely 100 per cent, a candidate. He is 100 per cent a corporation candidate. —New York World.

Known, But Not Understood

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.—Rom. 8:28.

There are things we know but do not understand. This is true in the natural as well as the spiritual world. We do not understand how we fall asleep nor how we wake up, but we know we do both. On the spiritual plane we do not understand how all the experiences we meet can work together for good, but we know they do. There would be no need of this text if things went always as we desired or if we always understood why they go as they do. But the text gives us a hint what the Christian has before him.

A Certain Prospect.

The prospect is that certain experiences which will be hard to bear will be met with on life's journey. There will be many things which will cut and hurt and which seem altogether unnecessary and as though it were impossible for them to work for good. Think of John the Baptist locked up in prison. He was a man accustomed from his youth to the great outdoors, the mountains and the plains—the rivers and brooks—the broad noonday sky and sparkling starry heavens were natural to him. He had given his life to God and thousands hung on his words. Suddenly he is thrown into prison for his faithfulness to the Lord. But the Lord was at hand. The Lord with power to speak a word and blind eyes saw and deaf ears heard. And even the bars and doors of the grave were broken and opened. Surely such a one with such power could open mere prison doors and set the prisoner free. But though he knew John was in prison because of faithfulness to himself, he gave no sign, nor went to the relief of the imprisoned one. John could not understand, but he could know that this awful experience would work together with all his other experiences for good. Think of Daniel—faithful, true, sincere, a man of prayer and godliness, yet because of the very fact that he was what he was, he must needs go to the lion's den. He, too, could not understand but he could know "that all things work together for good." So in the path of the Christian there are strange, mysterious experiences that seem to make the soul stagger and the spirit grow faint. There come occasions which looked at by sight seem to be anything but good but seem so evil that they cannot be made to work together for good. They call the Christian to implicit trust in God's purpose and absolute confidence in his ways. In all his experiences he is to walk by faith—not understanding perhaps but knowing that, spite of appearances, all things work together for good. But while the believer has this prospect, he also has

A Certain Promise.

When Peter came to things he did not understand in the dealings of the Lord, he, naturally, wanted to understand. Instead of explaining, the Lord simply said: "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt understand hereafter." This promise each Christian may take to himself, knowing that some blessed day all questions will be answered and he will understand how as well as "know that all things work together for good." We cannot think of John the Baptist or Daniel or Stephen or any of the heroes of faith, who have met trying and bitter experiences which they could not understand, even now finding fault and saying to the Lord: "Thou shouldst have done it differently, O Lord." The Christian may not understand in the present time why the Lord permits the hurt but he knows that all things work together for good and some day he will understand the need for the hard things and how they have worked together for good. And while he faces this prospect and rests in this promise he has

A Certain Provision.

A provision the Lord has made to meet every experience. Irrespective of how deep the hurt he permits or how bitter the cup he presents he makes provision that will keep the heart in perfect peace. The command to the Christian reads: "Be anxious for nothing; but in everything (or worried) for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God and the peace of God which passeth understanding shall keep your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus." He cares for us and desires with longing that we should cast all our care upon him. He will comfort, he will sustain, he will uphold, so that in the midst of hard and bitter experiences which cannot be understood, the Christian looks forward to the day when he will understand, while he may enjoy in the meantime the peace that passeth all understanding.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CROWS AT THE BALL.

"The Fairies had one of their fine Balls the other evening—just two evenings ago," said Daddy. "You know they haven't had a real Ball for a long, long time, and they have been waiting for some time for this one."

"You see there has been so much going on lately in Fairyland. There have been swimming Parties, Flower Hunting Parties, Games, Frolics, and all sorts of good times—but not a Ball in a really long time."

"The Fairies said that as they hadn't had one in such a long time they were going to have this Ball one of the finest ever given. So they went to the greatest trouble and care to make it a big success. In the first place they had a great many Guests and they gave it in their biggest wood Ball Room."

"Among their Guests were the Brownies, Elves, Gnomes, many of the Birds, Butterflies, Humming Birds, Red Lizards, Grasshoppers and Crickets. The Crickets had arranged to sing for the dancing and the Humming Birds said they would hum the tunes all the time that the Crickets sang. The Robins sang some extra songs and, of course, the other Birds all joined in the chorus."

"Dancing and dancing—such dancing as you have never even dreamed of—went on in Fairyland the evening of this big Ball. The Fairies said their Ball was being given in the evening, though it really was the latter part of the afternoon—but they had invited so many Guests who never sit up really late in the evening—and yet the Fairies knew their feelings would be hurt if they called their Ball an afternoon dance."

"The Butterflies did some special dancing for all the Fairies and their Guests, and the Humming Birds and Honey Suckles played hide-and-go seek, for, of course, the Fairies had plenty of Honey Suckles and delicious Flowers around for the Humming Birds. They love Flower honey even better than boys and girls love ice cream!"

"And then came supper time. The table was made of Daisies and Moss, they said 'Promised to Wait on All the Guests.'

and all the delicacies on that table! Well, it would have made your mouth water!"

"What are delicacies, Daddy?" asked Nancy.

"They are goodies to eat," said Daddy, and then of course Nancy understood. "And they had the goodies that every Guest would enjoy most. Not a Guest was forgotten. There were even little Worms for the Birds—and the other Guests didn't mind at all, as they knew the Robins and Orioles and other Bird Guests loved little Worms. They were given to the Birds in special dishes made of grass."

"But just as all the Guests sat down to supper the Fairy Queen said: 'Come, all my Fine Waiters!' And as she said this she waved her wand high in the air."

"Then from far and near the blackest of black Crows flew down and alighted all around the table. They had promised the Fairy Queen to be just as good as good could be, and to wait on all the Guests before they had anything at all to eat. They were quite willing to do this, for they had never been invited to a Ball given by the Fairies before and they were highly flattered."

"They all had had their black suits polished and brushed with the greatest care and they wore very fine aprons and hats made of green leaves. Every time a Guest said 'Thank you' when anything was passed, a Crow would say, 'Caw-Caw,' which means 'You're welcome.'"

"The Crows always say 'Caw-Caw' to almost everything, but it is just the tone they use that makes the 'Caw-Caw' mean something quite different each time they want it to. At the end of the supper, after the Crows had had a feast, too, the Fairy Queen asked them if they wouldn't sing the old, old song about Blackbirds being baked in a pie."

"At first the Crows looked a bit sad, but then they said: 'Why, of course, we'll be happy to sing it. It's lots of fun to sing about such things after we have had a feast and know quite well that the Fairy Queen wouldn't bake us in a pie.'"

"How the Guests did laugh to hear the Crows singing about Blackbirds being baked in a pie—and stopping every minute to shout out 'Not us, though, oh, no!'—and the Fairy Queen was delighted."

Second Coming of Christ

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.
Dean of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.—1 Cor. 1:7.

There is unusual interest at this time in the second coming of Christ, and many are the inquiries as to what it means and when it may take place.

The importance of the subject from the divine point of view is seen in that it is alluded to over 300 times in the New Testament. Indeed perhaps there is no doctrine of Christianity dwelt upon to such an extent as this, unless it be the fundamental one of our redemption through the cross.

What Does It Mean?
The second coming of Christ means a personal, in the sense of a visitor reappearing of one Lord on this earth. Such seems to be the teaching of his own words when, in the presence of the high priest he said: "Hereafter shall ye see the son of man sitting on the right hand of power and coming in the clouds of heaven." This is recorded in the 26th of Matthew at the 64th verse. The angels taught the same truth to the disciples on the Mount of Olives when they said, "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye here gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." This is recorded in Acts 1:11. And finally in the last book of the Bible, we find John exclaiming, "Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: And all kindreds of the earth shall wall because of him. Even so, amen."

When Will It Take Place?
This doctrine has been brought into disrepute because many have assumed to fix dates for the coming of our Lord, notwithstanding that the Bible warns against it. Jesus himself said to his disciples: "Watch, therefore, for ye know not what hour our Lord doth come." There are some who think that a millennium of peace and prosperity will be experienced on the earth before the Lord comes.

There is also one other fact that seems to preclude the expectation of a millennium before Jesus comes; that is, what the New Testament teaches as to the moral and spiritual conditions in the world at the end of this age. We are all familiar with the teaching of Paul in his second epistle to Timothy at the third chapter, where he says that "in the last days perilous times shall come." He then goes on to define what he means by that, adding that "men shall be lovers of self, lovers of money, boastful, haughty, railers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholly, without natural affection, truce-breakers, slanderers, without self-control, fierce, no lovers of good, traitors, high-strung, high-minded, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God; having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof." All this does not look like a millennium, and yet how much it looks like the times in which we are now living! Can it be therefore that the coming of the Lord may be nearer than most of us expect?

Results of His Coming.
In the light of the second coming there are three classes of men to be considered, which are defined in First Corinthians at the 10th chapter—as the Jew, the Gentile, and the church of God. To begin with the last-named, the coming of Christ will mean the translation of the church to meet him in the air, according to First Thessalonians 4:13-18. It would seem to be after this translation that Christ comes with his saints and his holy angels to the earth, as indicated in the Scriptures previously referred to. This coming is for judgment on the Gentile nations which "know not God and obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Bringing the Truth Home.
This hope of the second coming of Christ is the great motive for holy living. Where it really takes hold of the hearts of Christian believers it restrains them from known sin as nothing else does.

It is also the great comfort in disappointment and trial, for our Lord said that when he came again in the glory of his father he would bring the reward with him. Hence what stimulus to holy endeavor in the face of difficulties and discouragements, for—

No word he hath spoken
Was ever yet broken.

Finally, how the thought of his coming should move men to repentance and faith in his name! O, those solemn words which Paul spoke to the unbelievers and mockers in Athens: "God now commandeth all men everywhere to repent; because he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained, whereof he hath given assurance unto all men in that he hath raised him from the dead."

Presbyterians To Assemble.

Elaborate plans are being made by most of the Presbyterian denominations of the country for the celebration this fall of the two hundredth anniversary of the constitution of the first synod in America. The date of the first meeting was September 20, 1716. The General Assembly, meeting on this date in Philadelphia, Pa., established four presbyteries: Philadelphia, New Castle, Snow Hill and Long Island and then constituted itself a synod.

The celebration, which will begin with special programmes and services at the meetings this fall of the presbyteries and synods of the Presbyterian churches, will close next May, when at the next meeting of the Northern Presbyterian General Assembly, to be held in Dallas, Texas, May 21 to 30, 1917, one entire evening will be given to exercises in connection with the celebration. The celebrations, both in the lower bodies and in the General Assembly, will take place as a result of the report of the Committee on the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the General Synod of the Northern Church, held last May at Atlantic City, N. J.

The first presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in America was constituted in March, 1716, at Philadelphia, with seven ministers and a small number of ruling elders in attendance. Out of the small beginning have grown the twelve Presbyterian denominations of the country, with 16,500 church buildings, about 15,000 ministers and more than 2,000,000 communicants. — Courier Journal.

Battle at Verdun Now Described as in Final Stage.

With the French army at Verdun, Sept. 10.—The Germans are now entirely on the defensive at Verdun.

The great battle begun 201 days ago has entered its third and final stage. The French are steadily winning back their lost positions. The battle will gradually die out like an extinct volcano.

It has been learned definitely that the Germans were forced to remove huge quantities of artillery and men from Verdun to the Somme front three weeks ago, to meet the new Anglo-French offensive. This had an immediate effect upon morale of the remaining men. In February they had been told they were to capture Verdun. At the end of July they were told it would be sufficient simply to dominate the situation there. But when they had been reduced in numbers merely to a defensive garrison after nearly seven months' fighting, their morale was so shattered that groups of prisoners have been surrendering, some of them going through Verdun singing the "Marseillaise," French officers declare.

The seventh and last great German massed attack was made on both banks of the Meuse on July 10. The French checked this blow immediately and took the offensive. Ever since that time they have retained the initiative, capturing in their operations more than 10,000 prisoners, a score of cannon and 100 machine guns. Fighting on the west bank of the Meuse has practically ceased. Hill 304 and Dead Man's Hill are now numbered among the glories of the past.

East of the river the Germans are concentrating for a final desperate struggle. Even on this sector their resistance has been immeasurably weakened. This fact I was able to ascertain personally Thursday and Friday, when the German bombardment let loose a prelude to an attempt to recapture trenches captured by the French in the Vaux Chapire and Chenois woods on Wednesday. This cannonading was incomparable to the terrific fire from the German guns that marked the early fighting around Verdun.

FEARED SHE WOULD BE BURIED ALIVE

Strange Provision Made in Will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White, who died in Pittsburgh nearly a year ago, has been received by Public Administrator Bryson, in view of the distribution of the estate in Los Angeles county. The city of Los Angeles desires to purchase property belonging to the estate, at 3721 Downey avenue, now North Broadway, for school purposes.

Before the deal could be closed it was necessary to have the will, because a clause bequeathes the property to Mrs. Apollonia P. Melber for life. After Mrs. Melber's death the property is to go to Mrs. Katherine L. Hahn, a niece of Mrs. Melber, and daughter of Victor Hahn.

Because of her fear of a premature burial Mrs. White provided unusual means to determine that the spark of life had left her body before it was cremated. In her will she declared:

"Having been all my life subject to bondage through fear of premature burial I will my body be kept until evident signs of decomposition declare themselves—at least a week—that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it has been faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive therefor the sum of $20."

A trust provision prohibits distribution of the estate for ten years. Among the holdings are a Bakersfield ranch, lots in San Diego and lots at Sunset Beach and La Canada Park.

THIEF RETURNS BABY'S BANK

Robs House, Conscience Troubles Him and He Brings Back Child's Hoard.

Sierra Vista, Cal.—A thief with a conscience entered the home of Clark Rubido here the other day, and, after decamping with valuables amounting to $100, returned to the burglarized house and deposited a child's bank containing two dollars in pennies, which had been part of the loot, on the front porch.

The Rubido family visited friends in Los Angeles that day and about noon a neighbor, Mrs. Caroline Martin, saw a well-dressed young man carrying a suit case walk up to the front door of the Rubido home, fumble with the lock a moment and walk in.

Mrs. Martin thought the stranger was probably a friend of the Rubidos, and, when the young man reappeared some time after, still carrying the suit case, she told him that the Rubido family was passing the day in the city. The young man thanked her and hurried on.

Half an hour later Mrs. Martin saw the young man come back and deposit something on the front porch of the house.

When the Rubidos returned they found that the pleasant-faced young man had carried away all their silver, several articles of jewelry and $30. The baby's penny bank, which had been returned, was about the only movable valuable not taken.

MAN DIES THRICE IN DAY

Comes to Life in Hospital and Struggles With Shroud That Swathed Him.

Denver, Colo.—Death comes but once to the ordinary man, but to Charles Gallagher it came three times before it decided to remain. Three times in one day in the County hospital nurses and physicians pronounced Charles Gallagher dead—only to learn in two of the instances that the evidences of death had been false. Twice Gallagher came to life to struggle with the shroud which swathed him, and it was not until rigor mortis stiffened his body following the third death that the authorities felt safe in turning the body over to the coroner. Gallagher, a tann hand, weighing nearly 300 pounds, fell from a hay wagon and broke his back.

SLAYER PLANS OWN DEATH

Murder and Suicide in Town in New York Reveal Tragical Story.

Middletown, N. Y.—Harry Newkirk is believed to have killed Maud Blazington near Summitville because, after she had lived with him for a year as a common law wife, she refused to marry him and joined another man.

A year ago the couple announced their marriage and took furnished rooms in a Port Jervis boarding house. It is said that they were at first happy. A month ago Newkirk learned that another man was attentive to her. Then she left him and he could not induce her to return. She applied to Justice Bevans at Port Jervis for a warrant, charging Newkirk with white slavery.

The warrant was not issued. She consulted an attorney and he advised her to swear out a peace warrant. Miss Blazington came to Middletown, followed by Newkirk. Then she started for Summitville with Newkirk following. He killed her after they left the station.

Newkirk's death was not an accident, as at first supposed. He lay down on the railroad track with his head upon a rail.

The couple grew up together and when Newkirk became older he wanted to marry Miss Blazington. She would not agree, but finally went to live with him. She was known to her relatives and friends as Mrs. Newkirk.

LONDON LIKES POLICEWOMEN

Their Efficiency Overcomes Opposition That Was Violent—Win Way by Tact.

London.—Although at first violently opposed to policewomen, England, after six months' trial, is beginning to like them.

The first report of the policewomen's organization shows that, contrary to the popular expectation, it is just their tact which is earning the police-woman a good name.

How the policewomen intervene to stop street fights is told in the following typical report:

"A serious fight was taking place between two drunken soldiers who should have been in camp. The men had taken off their coats to fight. The policewomen cleared the crowd, separated the fighters, persuaded them to put on their coats and made them shake hands and return quietly to camp."

Family Reunion.

Sunday, Sept. 10th, 1916, was Home Coming day for Mrs. G. R. Brown, children, grandchildren and visitors.

Those present were Mrs. G. R. Brown, T. L. Waddell, Provie Waddell, Dr. Ray Waddell, Vera Waddell, Grady Waddell, Carl Waddell, A. E. Brown, Emanuel Beard, Jennie Beard, Imogene Beard, Grover White, Daisy White, Murry Hodge, Iler Hodge, Eugene Hodge, Alexander Hodge — Absent: F. E. Brown, wife and three children, E. R. Brown, wife and child and J. C. Brown. These are the husbands wives and children of G. R. Brown, (deceased.) and Mrs. E. C. Brown's family. The visitors were Mrs. Susan Roberts, Mrs. Veasey with L. L. Stallions and wife, Lula Stallion, who occupy the old homestead. These composed the crowd.

A beautiful reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Stallions, one long to be remembered by all who were present. Their generous hospitality was such that it made all feel that it was good to meet at this reunion.

The day was spent in talking of good old days when all were living at home, four boys and five girls. Since those days many changes have taken place, faces have grown older, while the father, G. R. Brown, and one daughter, Mattie Walker, have passed onto the great beyond.

The day was one of pleasure, mingled with sorrow. It's only a short time we are permitted to live on earth, let it be filled with joy or sorrow and usually they are mixed for such is man's lot. Dinner was a feast to all, each family bringing a nice box of grub, this with the excellent supply Mrs. Stallions contributed, filled a table large enough for all to eat at once, to overflowing. Chicken, ham, pies pickles, sausage, and cakes galore. When all had eaten to heart's content, there was yet a table loaded with good things untouched.

After dinner grandma and all the children were assembled for a photo by Dr. Waddell, and then a group of the crowd.

We all left for our respective places feeling that the gathering had been a grand success.

HOUSEMAIDS TO TAKE OFFENSIVE

Organize Union for Avowed Purpose of Bringing Mistresses to Terms.

TO TRAIN EMPLOYERS

Plan to Enforce Their Demands by Wearing on Nerves of Individual Mistresses—Lazy Girls Are Especially Desired.

Denver, Colo.—Twelve dollars a week and no work on Sundays, shorter hours and better treatment are some of the things the Housemaids' union of Denver demands for its members.

"We have the bulge on the rich women of Denver because they won't wash their own clothes. We can rule the women of Capitol Hill through this falling of theirs," the girls decided. Plans to whip their mistresses into line through their dislike of greasy dish water were made during the meeting.

The new union will call no general strike. Its members will wear on the nerves of the individual employer until she comes to terms.

Will Travel Light.
The women of Capitol Hill are to be trained in the way they should go. Maids who leave their jobs once a week, serve meals late, take no back talk and demand the privileges for which they have been asking in vain, are going to do the training.

In order to carry out this plan of campaign many maids for mistresses who are being "trained" will rent a house where they can live between jobs. The new cock or second girl will never arrive at her employer's home with her trunk after this. She will travel light, so she won't have to be constantly paying to have her baggage hauled around the city. And while she flits merrily from Capitol Hill to Aurora her trunk will remain safe and secure, locked in the baggage room of the union home. If she has a child it will be cared for at the home while she works.

Cross and undesirable mistresses are going to be blacklisted by the union. At the office to be opened downtown as soon as the place can be found, there will be a long list including the names of every employer of house servants in Denver. And opposite each name its owner's characteristics will be put down without mincing words. How many rooms

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Bundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

OPEN AIR WORK

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—Go ye . . . preach the Gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

With the coming of summer church audiences begin to dwindle, and streets and parks begin to swarm with people. Nature spreads her carpet of green, and the air is soft and balmy. The birds sing, the flowers bloom and everything seems to say: "Come out and enjoy life with us." Why should we try to resist this pleading and insist on holding all our religious services indoors simply because we always have done it?

Many a church would double its audience by holding an occasional service out of doors, under the trees or in some adjacent park. If chairs can be provided, so much the better. If not, let the people sit on the grass as they did when Jesus preached. If the church has no convenient place for outdoor meetings, hold an open air service on the porch before the evening meeting. Have plenty of good singing with two or three-minute addresses sandwiched between, and in a little while the children will gather, the passers will stop, the carriages will drive up and you will have a large company of people, many of whom would never think of entering a church. If you have never tried it, begin this season.

Every church ought to have a band of open air workers to hold meetings regularly all summer, at such points as may seem most strategic. Some churches gain from fifty to a hundred new members each year by their open-air work in the summer. And even if they did not add a single convert, they would be well repaid for the effort in the benefit obtained by the workers. Then too it affords an outlet for the zeal and faith and energy of the church.

Open-air workers should be carefully trained, for no work requires more tact, and wisdom, and holy boldness. The following suggestions are taken from a book written by a very dear friend of mine, Henry B. Gibb. The book is called, "Under the Blue Canopy of Heaven," and can be had for 50 cents of Mrs. H. B. Gibb, Springfield, Mass.

"Permit.—In towns and cities it is necessary to obtain a permit for street services. Have someone of influence apply for the permit. A politician is better for this work than a preacher.

"Place of meeting.—Go where the people are. It may be a noisy place, but you have the people. If you want quiet, go to the cemetery.

"Select a place where you have a building at your back. It will act as a sounding board, throwing out the voice. If possible arrange the meeting so that you may also have a building in front of you. It is very hard to speak in the open air, and a building in front of you to throw the voice back will make it much easier.

"Talk with the wind always and never against it.

"Select a place where the audience will be comfortable. Give them the shade even if you have to stand in the sun.

"Have bright, new, catchy songs. The audience as a rule do not join in the singing, so that there is less need of familiar hymns.

"Speakers.—Let them stand on a chair, or box or platform. Then your voice sounds out and over the crowd. All can see you, and you can see them. If any disturbance occurs, such as dog fight, always give out a hymn. The song will put a new thought into the dog's mind and often break up the fight.

"French the Word.—This old world is hungry for the plain Gospel made fresh and vivid by actual experience. Use plenty of illustrations but see that you have something to illustrate. Nothing grips an audience or holds attention like the simple Gospel story told out of a warm heart.

"We do not have the Bible in sight, nor generally read from it for the following reason: Catholics will be prejudiced at once, and will not come up. We quote from it and refer to it but do not keep it in sight.

"Call for decision at the close of the service, or invite into a church if no other service is to follow. Let each worker select someone for personal effort when the meeting closes."

By offering to give away Gospel cards or "Little Preachers" at the close of the service you can often hold the entire crowd to the very end. Show them the cards and read some of the verses, such as "The Workingman's Trust. Are you in it?" "The Three Queens of Jesus." "Four Things Which One Ought to Know." "The Unanswerable Question." "Coffin Nails." "Morbis Sabbaticus, or Sunday Sickness." "Get Right With God." "God Wants the Boys." "Only Three Steps Into the Christian Life."

"The death to me to be at enmity; I hate it, and desire all good men's love.—Shakespeare.

Daily Thought.

Oh, stay a little, stay!
Why do you hurry so?
Joy lies along the way
That you ne'er again may know:
The grave is at the end
Of the way that you are taking—
Oh, stay a little, friends,
And sooth some heart that's aching—
Why do you hurry so?

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—Heavy hogs made a new price in the Bourbon stock yards today, when they reached $11.16, the highest since the organization of the yards, nearly forty years ago. Receipts were twelve hundred.

Birthday Celebration.

On Saturday Sept. 16 1916 at the beautiful country home of Mr. John T. and Rosanna Lee Tucker of Shady Grove, Ky., it being the Birthday of Mrs. Tucker and the 36th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker.

Their children and grand children surprised them by going in with the best appetite could desire.

Such as boiled ham, chicken, pies, cakes, sweet meats, pickles and such other delicious foods as kind hands prepare. The table was decorated in white except two bouquets of tea roses and asters which were placed at each end of the table, a large white cake being in the center with a wreath of white roses and asters surrounding it. The cake was decorated with ornament of wave composition with a wreath of white artificial flowers and lilies of the valley with a little white dove perched in the center under arch, representing the wedding anniversary and birthday combined.

There were several present and it was a day of much joy and pleasure to all who were present.

The following children and grandchildren were present:

Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Tucker and son, Eugene, Mrs. Effie Guess and sons, Herbert and Herschel, Mrs. Winnie Drennan and little daughter, Dorothy Lee, of Charleston, Mo. Those who were not able to get there were Mr. and Mrs. Kenzie Tucker and family, of Providence, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther McConnell and family, of Clovis, New Mexico.

It was to be a family reunion also, but all could not get there. It had been six years since they had a reunion and celebrated the birthday; it being in 1910. They were all together and surprised them by presenting their father and mother with a valuable marble clock, which sits on the mantle in their room today calling away the hours for them as the days roll by. This time the children presented them with a handsome Morris reclining rocking chair in which they may rest comfortable in the cold winter days by the fire and think of loved ones miles away. It was indeed a surprise to the old folks, when they saw the children come driving up at the noon hour. As of course some of the neighbors understood, and came, but they were just thinking they had only called to spend the day and not thinking of the birthday until they saw the children began to arrive.

Their father and mother appreciated their present very much and seemed to enjoy the day with great pleasure, and as the sun began to sink in the western horizon, they began leaving for their homes, and wishing father and mother might live to see many more anniversaries and happy birthday days. They all parted with best wishes to each other.

Unprecedented And Enduring Prosperity.

The cry of our republican friends that, "This prosperity is only temporary," will not win for them the title of prophets. It will be remembered that they are the same people who said there would be no prosperity at all if Wilson was elected. Now they admit their first prophecy was false, therefore the second is not entitled to belief. Their present attitude shows their real animus—they had hoped for soup houses in every city and hordes of idle men tramping over the country—in other words they predicted the things they hoped would come to pass under a democratic administration. Disappointed in this we now hear them saying, "wait til this war is over, and then see the warring nations dump their accumulated wares on our shores at pauper prices—then where will our prosperity be?"

To allay their fears Congress has just passed an "anti-dumping" act, which gives to the President ample power to prevent the flood of importations they predict. In the next place, there will be no "dumping" because there is nothing to dump. Every man in Europe or England able to throw a bomb or shoot a rifle has been drafted into service, and rushed to the front. The women are tilling the soil in order to provide food for the army. When our stand-pat friends try to horrify the country at the imminent ruin of American industries by importation of goods piled up during the war, why don't they tell us who is piling up those goods, and how and why. Would those governments spare the men, fuel, and materials for manufactures, when every army is crying for more shells? Would any sane manufacturer in the warring countries pay the excessive cost for scarce labor and high priced materials merely to be able to sell them at some remote time at prices below the normal peace level? If the thing is at all probable or possible why are not England, France, Russia and Italy guilty now? No legal obstacles have interfered, and the seas are open to them.

In all candor, such talk coming from any class of people of this great country is enough to make us bow our heads in shame. We who have been contributing by the millions, for the relief of the starving and destitute of these war-stricken countries—we who are bravely seeking to sell our goods in the markets of the world, certainly we are not a people to be alarmed at competition with poor crippled and ruined Europe.

The reconstruction of Europe will require years; and the demand for our goods in times of peace will far exceed those during the past two years of war. It is estimated by conservative European authorities that the war destruction of property in Belgium and France amounts to $2,825,000,000, and in Russia to $600,000,000. Much of the machinery, metal, raw materials and capital with which to do this reconstruction work after the war, must of necessity come from the United States because we are the world's largest producer, and the only country with abundance of capital to sell them on a credit. They can buy in no other way. It is clear that the unprecedented prosperity we now have is but a small beginning of the prosperity yet in store for us during Wilson's second term.
