Carnahan's Oily Harvest Meeting With Six Professions and Eleven Additions

County Agent Bird Will Have All Oils Organized Into One, "Boys' Agricultural Club"

The Carnahan's Oily Harvest Meeting, which was held at the Armstrong School last evening, was well attended and a great success. The meeting was called to order by County Agent Bird, who opened the meeting with an interesting address on the subject of oil and its uses.

The meeting was then addressed by several of the boys present, who gave a detailed account of their work during the past season. The boys were then given a opportunity to show their oils, and the meeting was closed with a vote of thanks to the speakers.

The boys will now proceed to organize an "Oils' Co-op. Club," and will meet next Wednesday at the Armstrong School.

In one of the last issues of The Gugenheim Ins Time, a number of people in the newspaper industry were interviewed about their work. The interviewer asked them about their favorite moments in their careers. One person shared how they were asked to cover a story that had been considered impossible. They succeeded in getting the story on the front page and it received national attention. The interviewer was impressed and asked if they had any advice for aspiring journalists. The person replied, "Always be prepared. You never know when an opportunity will present itself."
