WHITING BIRDS IN CHICKS

Trouble Caused by Certain Salecine With Van-Drumming Effect

It has been determined that the cause of the hens' abnormal behavior is the salecine. It has been found that when the salecine is fed to the hens, their behavior changes, and they start clucking and drumming uncontrollably. This behavior can lead to decreased egg production and egg quality.

Just think this over a minute—How many friends have grown? Not the fellows who borrow from you—I mean the chaps who will fight for you! Follows who believe in you—who stick by you through thick and thin. You can count them on one hand, can't you? But listen to this—I have several million down South here.

And why? Because I've been on the level.

I've played fair. I've never lied to my friends, nor cheated them, nor double-crossed them, nor held out on them. They know me by my right name—Sovereign. A true gentleman of the South, born and bred of the real Southern stock, I mingle the blood of Virginia and Carolina—the best in the world—the choicest, most honest, red-blooded tobacco you ever smoked.

You Folks of the South KNOW Good blood!
You Folks of the South KNOW Good tobacco!

I have friends down South, and I keep them—because quality does tell. And it means a whole lot when I say:

I am guaranteed by

The American White gentleman—Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

CREATION OF FERTILE EGG

Grass from the rich clays of Kentucky and Tennessee, where the tobacco is grown, is used to feed the hens. The hens lay eggs that are not only fertile, but they hatch when placed in water. The young birds are then fed on a diet of corn and molasses, which is the best food for poultry. The result is a strong, healthy bird that will lay eggs for many years. The eggs are then collected and sent to the factory, where they are dried and packed for shipment.

BREEDING OF CHICKENS

The hens are kept in a clean, well-ventilated barn, where they are given plenty of water and food. They are fed on a special diet of corn and molasses, which is the best food for poultry. The result is a strong, healthy bird that will lay eggs for many years. The eggs are then collected and sent to the factory, where they are dried and packed for shipment.

SEVEN EIGHTS

When the eggs are collected, they are broken open and the fertile eggs are separated from the unfertile ones. The fertile eggs are then placed in water and allowed to sit for several hours. After this, the eggs are dried and packed for shipment.

OUR BEST CHICKEN GROWTH

The chicken grows rapidly on the natural foods of the South, and the birds produce a fine, rich, red-blooded tobacco. The birds are kept in clean, well-ventilated barns, where they are given plenty of water and food. They are fed on a special diet of corn and molasses, which is the best food for poultry. The result is a strong, healthy bird that will lay eggs for many years. The eggs are then collected and sent to the factory, where they are dried and packed for shipment.

OUR BEST SOWER GROWTH
