UP TO THE CITY COUNCIL

To Order Walks, Bridges and Viaducts in Order to Get to New High School Site

The county high school site has been agreed on. The board of alderman now has an important duty confronting it, in getting walks to the new high school building. Nothing but the best should be ordered in, and of proper width. The street should be rock and widened and put into condition to haul coal in any kind of weather. The section of the city on north main street and west of it should be provided with a bridge across the creek at some convenient point, probably Rochester street which runs from North main St. across to Morganfield street in front of City Marshall Boston's residence in the rear of R. F. Hayes residence. If the I. C. R. R. company could be interested in building a viaduct across the cut just north of the Marion Milling Co.'s plant to intersect Morganfield St. near Thomas Conyer's residence it would do away with the crossing danger to all pupils attending the High School who reside on board east of the railroad.

These important details should be looked after while the weather is good this spring and summer, so as to not hamper the faculty in conducting the school and not delay in anyway the opening.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE CHOSEN

Eighteen Acres Purchased in East Marion From Luther Miller And Wheeler Heirs

The county and town joint High School trustees at a meeting Saturday agreed on a site for the new building which is to be erected this year. The location chosen is on the left side of Morganfield street near the city limits and embraces ten acres of Luther Miller's meadow, and eight acres of the Wheeler land, generally known as the Rochester park. Miller's land was purchased at $125. per acre and the Wheeler land at $250 per acre making the tract cost $3250.

The trustees have wrestled long and hard with this location question and have looked after the interests of the patrons and taxpayers we verily believe and now all should unite in commending their efforts acquiescing in the site chosen and all pull together to get the building started in the near future so as to insure its completion in ample time to let the fact become generally known and in fact thoroughly advertised before the fall term date to begin.

The Kentucky Mountains.

By James F. Price,

I am now in the heart of the Kentucky mountains, holding a meeting at Travelers Rest in Owsley county. In coming here I passed through the oil fields of Estill county. Things are moving in this section. Car loads of pipes for the pipe lines along the tracks. Ravenna is a new town just been built in the last few months, not an old house in it.

At Heidelberg I left the main line and took a dinkey train up one of those mountain valleys to Ida May. Here the mountain became too steep the railroad ended and we had to take it horseback. We started up that mountain stream, crossed it about fifteen times and forded a good part of it end ways. For five miles we went up, making an ascent of some 2,000 feet, then passing the crest, we dropped down a few hundred feet to Travelers Rest. Strange to say, up on those high plateaus are some splendid farms.

The appearance of the farm homes are striking. I saw a number of nice two story farm homes. The cottages and all had been treated to a fresh coat of paint this year.

Travelers Rest has been a Post Office for more than one hundred years. Many good people are living in these mountains, yet it has been only at a recent date that they have awakened to the progress of civilization and are now making strides in that direction.

DO YOUR PRUNING THIS MONTH

The Article Below Was Furnished By Prof. Gumbert, Teacher of Agriculture Here

If you have not pruned your trees it should be done this month while the trees are yet dormant. If pruning is delayed until the sap starts, the growth of the tree is checked considerably and where the pruning is severe, may result in a low yield of fruit.

In order to secure satisfactory results it is necessary to know why pruning is practiced.

1. To remove dead or diseased wood.

2. To direct the formation of the top in young trees.

3. To open out the top of the tree so that sun and air may be admitted to help color the fruit.

5. To correct undesirable habits of growth. Some trees are found that are not properly balanced on all sides and certain varieties are too spreading while others are too upright.

5. To remove all int. placing branches and water sprouts.

6. To head back or shorten in the top of the tree. Heading back the tree makes pruning, spraying and harvesting more economical.

7. To regulate the amount of fruiting wood. Trees that are not pruned will have more fruit than the tree can properly mature resulting in a large yield of inferior fruit. Pruning will also encourage fruitfulness in trees inclined to a rank growth.

It is well to have in the minds eye the ideal that is desired. A desirable apple tree should be headed from fourteen inches to two feet from the ground, have three to five main branches properly balanced and some distance apart on the trunk, should have an open job, be fairly spreading and free from dead or diseased wood and interlacing branches.

The proper method of pruning is to first remove all dead or diseased wood next remove all interlacing branches and then open up and head back the top of the tree. The best tools are a narrow bladed saw, a large two handed pruning shear and a small pruning shear. If trees are properly pruned and trained while they are young they can be pruned much easier when they get older. All cuts should be made smooth, as close to the main branch as possible, and those more than an inch in diameter should be painted with a mixture of white lead and raw linseed oil.

In pruning peach trees it is important to head back the top, that is, keep the top spreading by cutting back to a lateral branch. Pears, pears and cherries are not pruned as severely as the apple and peach.

LOSES CLAIM ON MANN MINES

Man Dropped out of Deal; Lease Forfeited.—Court Passes on New Question.

Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 2.—The Livingston county zinc deposit, known as the "Mann mineral lease," which was adjudicated in the Federal court to Ed Langenbach of Canton, Ohio, and A. J. Morton, figured in the Court of Appeals to-day in a suit by Morton to recover a half interest in the output of the mine. He lost his suit, the court in an opinion by Judge Miller, reversing the Livingston Court in the case of the United Mining Company vs. A. J. Morton.

The court said that Morton left the State and Langenbach alone attended to the property, even paying Morton's expenses back during the litigation in the court at Paducah. He employed his brother, Wm. Langenbach to operate the mine in which he lost money. Then Wm. bought the Mann property and upon Ed's refusal to perform the lease, it was forfeited. Wm. Langenbach afterward interested other parties, but the enterprise was not profitable.

In the meantime, Morton showed up and brought suit on the ground that it was a real estate partnership and Ed Langenbach had no authority to dispose of the lease. The court held that Morton had dropped out of the deal and Langenbach forfeited it in accordance with the provisions of the lease. It was directed that Morton's petition be dismissed.

H. C. Woolf Closes

Big Timber Deal.

H. C. Woolf of this city, manager for the Harbort Tie & Lumber Co., purchased this week from the heirs of the late T. S. Frith, at Broadhead, Ky., 2,000 acres of timber. This timber is in Rockcastle county, near Broadhead.

This is the largest tract of timber in that section of the country and is estimated to cut 60,000 cross ties, besides three million feet of lumber. Mr. Woolf has already employed twenty-five good tie makers to hew the ties and will put two mills on the tract to saw the timber as soon as they can be arranged for.—The Winchester Sun, March 1st.

H. B. Watson was in Salem on business Saturday.

Mrs. L. L. Price and daughters were guests Sunday at the home of J. H. Price and family.

Aunt Jane Settles has almost recovered from her recent illness of several days. We are glad to know she is improving.

Mrs. C. C. Behout has some new spring hats for sale.

Will Davidson, of Lola, passed through our town Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Mary Franklin has returned from an extended visit to her son, John, of Tolu.

Clem Moran and family, of near New Salem church, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burklow.

Miss Lemah Franklin is spending a few days with her cousin, Miss Mary McKinney, of near S. R. I. C.

Joe Davidson, of Salem, was in Levias Saturday.

Mrs. Antonia Price received a telephone message Thursday, telling her of the sad accident which happened to her sister, Mrs. Mary Bigham, as she was driving from her home near Chapin Hill to visit her sister, Nellie Paris. Her horse ran the buggy up on a bank, turning it over and throwing her out. She was near the home of Cal Adams; they heard her calling them and they rushed to her home. Dr. Cook, of Marion, was called immediately and discovered that one of her hips was broken. She was resting very well Sunday.

SEVEN SPRINGS

(delayed from last week.)
We noticed an article in last week's Record-Press calling for an election to vote on road bonds for the purpose of constructing roads and bridges in Crittenden county. We think our people in this county already have enough taxes to pay without endorsing a measure like this, that would lead to more, and besides, this would only be beneficial to some who probably would be benefited while others would have to bear their share of this burdensome debt, that would not even taste of the pie at all and the people in this community are opposed to it, and will vote against it at the coming election. We are in favor of sharing alike on any thing that would prove a success to all alike, who deserve it, and not to run the poor farmers to death who already have enough taxes to pay, and the high cost of every thing to buy—we do not wonder at hearing them say: "I want to go to another State or somewhere, that I may do better than here, and if this road bonds question passes, the 27th of March, it will certainly take hustling to keep in sight of the race horse."

Jim Patton and son, Price, of near Caldwell Springs, were visiting Mrs. Sarah Patton.

Miss Ethel McClure returned to her home in this vicinity, Friday after several days' visit to her brother, Matthew McClure, of Paducah.

School closed at Braz school house Thursday. Our teachers gave their pupils a nice treat. There were only two pupils who went to school every day during the seven months' term, and they were Collin and Carlton Patton.

Will Eaton and Ed Dalton were in Paducah Saturday.

Mrs. Polina Eason and sons, Johnnie and William Penn, were visiting Bud Penn and family near Salem Saturday and Sunday.

THE BEST TEST

Is The Test of Time.

Years ago this Marion resident told of good results from using Doan's Kidney Pills. Now J. E. Glass, lumberman of 412 S. Main St., confirms the former statement—says there has been no return of the trouble. Can Marion people ask for more convincing testimony?

Mr. Glass, says: "I suffered from backache which caused me a great many sleepless nights. I took doctors' medicines but nothing had the slightest effect. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at Haynes & Taylor's drug store. They gave me instant relief and in less than a week, the pains in my back had vanished as if by magic."

(Statement given February 4th, 1908.)
On October 17th, 1916, Mr. Glass said: "I have not had any trouble with my kidneys since I made a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills before. I consider the cure permanent."

Will It Come True?

"And what did the good fairy do for him?"
"She touched the gasoline dealers with her wand and they lowered the price."

Affront to Genius.
"Did you ever see a poet in a fine frenzy?"
"Only once."

"Was he composing at the time?"
"No. He had just been mistaken for a chauffeur."

Frenzied Finance.

"Is it from an ex-banker or an ex-burglar?" queried the chief.

Not Worth It.
"A penny for your thoughts, Miss Gadder."

"I was thinking of you, Mr. Dubson."

"Ah! Indeed?"
"Yes. And in that case I think a penny would be exorbitant."

Unusual.

Harry—Yes; that's why I'm laughing. It looks funny on straight.

Mr. Justwed—Well, if she can show you where there are eight afternoons in a week, give it to her.

"I'm too easy-going to quarrel, and he's too lazy."

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. The New German Propaganda.

The German propaganda in the United States has now taken the form of an organized demand that the American Government adopt the same measures in dealing with the British blockade of Germany that it adopts in dealing with German submarine warfare in the barred zone around Great Britain and along the French coast.

The demand, which is an organized attempt to shift the issue from German manslaughter, is stated with exceptional clearness by a well-known German publicist in a letter to The World, the Editor of The World:

"While we are about it, why not also send American ships bound for Germany or neutral ports? Surely, our commerce with those nations is large enough to make such a step worth while. It is our inalienable right of trade with 'civilized' and neutral (as I am firmly convinced it is) such American ships as are bound for the harbors of the Central Powers have as much claim to our protection as the ships which are bound for ports of the Allies. If our Government is willing to be fair and impartial in these matters, the submarine question will on be tried to the satisfaction of all concerned."

BENEDICT PRIETH.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 19, 1917.

Americans have no "inalienable" right to trade with the belligerents in time of war. What they have is an inalienable right to due process of law, a right which is fully conceded by the Allies and flatly denied by the Germans.

Organ Puzzled Him.
When Russell was two years old he visited at his aunt's home, where he was allowed to drum on the piano. A few days later he went to visit his grandparents who had an organ which he at once began to drum. When he couldn't make it sound, he stepped back and looked at it in disgust a moment, then he rushed back and tried again, this time with much force, and shouted: "Piano, wake up."

BURGLAR'S SNOORING

AWAKES HIS VICTIM

Intruder Falls Asleep Under the Bed of Couple He Intended to Rob.

Birmingham, Ala.—Conviction of Walter Jones, a one-legged burglar, in the criminal court here, brought out an unusual incident of house-breaking.

The story of the burglary and capture, as told by the evidence, showed that Jones, in his effort to rob the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Vennom, in old couple of the suburbs, crawled under the bed and waited for them to return.

The burglar himself fell asleep, and his snoring aroused Mrs. Vennom, who undertook to light a lamp, which exploded. This awoke the burglar, who threatened Mrs. Vennom with death if she gave the alarm.

Just then Mr. Vennom awoke and grappled with the burglar, who leaped out of a window. The burglar had left his wooden leg under the bed.

By following single foot-prints the police pursued the peg-legged robber to his refuge. With the assistance of a pal, Jones made another wooden leg, with which he went to his shanty in the woods. Suddenly the police arrived and Jones dived through the rear window.

In the backyard the mud was deep, and the wooden leg sank so far in the mire it stuck firm. Jones hobbled on desperately without it, but was overtaken while hopping on one foot.

Both the original and second wooden legs were exhibited as evidence.

ESCAPES PRISON IN BARREL

But Convict Had to Have Fresh Air and Is Taken Back to Finish Sentence.

Baltimore, Md.—Just because he had to have the air to breathe, Elmer Johnson, a convict serving a ten-year sentence in the penitentiary for murder, spoiled a clever plan to escape.

Johnson is employed in the shipping department and one night took advantage of the absence of the regular guard to substitute himself for a hobo in a barrel that was to be shipped in the morning. The regular guard also examines barrels before they are sent out, but Johnson took the chance that the substitute would not, and he judged rightly.

The barrel, with Johnson inside, covered with excelsior, was wheeled out and put on the wagon. On the way Johnson felt the need of air and pushed up the lid to get it. A boy saw the arm go up out of the barrel and called to the driver. The latter took a look, clapped the lid on again, whipped up his horses and carried Johnson back to the penitentiary.

SKUNK SCENT CONVICTS THEM

Two Hunters Convicted of Violating Game Laws by Odor in Their Coats.

Carmel, Ind.—Scent of skunk on their hunting clothes convinced the police magistrate in Bedford of the guilt of William Schultz and his son, Heinrich, who protested their innocence and convicted them of violating the game laws.

E. L. Townsend, game warden, alleged the defendants killed a skunk out of season. This they denied. The complainant was unable to produce the skunk hides before Police Justice W. A. Adams. The warden said the hunting coats would tell so they were produced.

"These show you were on the right scent," mused the court.

Schultz and his son paid fines of $10 and $15. Arthur Thornton also paid $10 fine for illicit skunk hunting.

Stopped the Burglars.

Brazil, Ind.—Thomas Thompson, Rockville grocer, has evolved an effective method of stopping hold hands. He suspended a large sealed bottle of formaldehyde in his safe. When robbers blew the safe open, the fumes of the formaldehyde drove the burglars away before they obtained anything.

The Power of the Voter's Broom

IS IT PUBLIC-SPIRITED?

By Jane Addams.

From the beginning of tribal life, women have been held responsible for the health of the community, a function which is now represented by the health department. From the days of the cave dwellers, so far as the home was clean and wholesome, it was due to their efforts, which are now represented by the Bureau of Tenement House Inspection. From the period of the primitive village, the only public sweeping which was performed was what they undertook in their divers dooryards, that which is now represented by the Bureau of Street Cleaning. Most of the departments in a modern city can be traced to woman's traditional activity; but, in spite of this, so soon as these old affairs were turned over to the city they slipped from woman's hands, apparently because they then became matters for collective action and implied the use of the franchise. Be-

NOT ORIGINALLY INTENDED.

By Madeline McDowell Breckinridge.

It was not originally intended that women should teach in our public schools. It was not originally intended that women should vote in our school elections. But some way or somehow, the women have gotten in; they are upholding the school system from within and from without. A large majority of the public school teachers in the land are women. Mothers of school children are more and more "meddling" in school affairs. They are finding out whether school houses are proper, whether school trustees are fit persons. They are exercising the divine prerogative of mothers to meddle in the education of their own children. Even in the dozen and a half states where man-made laws still attempt to write women out of any share in the management of the public schools, the women have gotten in. In many of cause the franchise had in the first instance been given to the man who could fight, because in the beginning he alone could vote who could carry a weapon, it was considered an improper thing for a woman to possess it.

Is it quite public spirited for women to say, "We will take care of these affairs so long as they stay in our own houses, but if they go outside and concern so many people that they cannot be carried on without the mechanism of the vote, we will drop them; it is true that these activities which women have always had are not at present being carried on very well by the men in most of the great American cities, but because we do not consider it 'lady-like' to vote, we will let them alone?"

ELEVEN WOMEN ELECTED TO STATE LEGISLATURES IN 1916.

The year 1917 finds eleven women at desks in the lower house of five different states. Washington has one, Mrs. Ina P. Williams, Republican; Montana has two, Mrs. Maggie Smith Hathaway, Democrat, and Mrs. Emma A. Ingalls, Republican; Arizona has three, Mrs. Rosa McKay, Democrat, Mrs. George B. Marsh, Democrat, and Mrs. Pauline O'Neill, Democrat; Utah has four, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Hayward, Democrat, Mrs. Grace Stratton-Alley, Democrat, Mrs. Daisy C. Allen, Democrat, Mrs. Alma Greenwood, Democrat; Oregon has one, Mrs. Alexander Thompson, Democrat. Nine of the eleven are Democrats, two Republicans. No senators were elected in any state.

these states through the School Improvement League, women have done a tremendous work for the material improvement of the school plant. In some of them, where over seventy-five per cent. of the teachers are also women, the anecdote of the small boy who was asked by the teacher who supported the world, comes applicable. "Atlas, ma'am," he answered. "But who," asked the teacher, "supports Atlas?" The boy thought a moment. "I don't know, ma'am," he said. "But I suppose it was his wife." The schools are usually being managed and taught by men; but actually they are being supported both from the inside and the outside by the mother sex.

The mothers of our land are coming to realize how necessary, in the carrying out of their natural and womanly tasks, as for instance in the education and training of children, is the direct power to enable them to carry out these tasks properly.

ISN'T IT TRUE?

Isn't it True

That a man's success in business depends not only on himself but on the men he helps elect to office?

Isn't it True

That housekeeping is woman's business and that her success depends not only on herself but on the way her town is governed?

Isn't it True

That the control of food, air, light, health, education, morals and all living conditions is today in the hands of the officials of the town?

Isn't it True

That it is only common justice and common sense to let the woman in the home share in electing the men on whom the comfort of the home depends?

To Encircle Paris

With Big Potato Crop.

Paris March 5.—A strip of territory 150 yards wide and eighteen miles long skirting the fortifications of Paris and now uncultivated, will probably be planted to potatoes next spring. The Mayors of the twenty arrondissements, or wards, of Paris have arranged to meet and settle the details.

This land still belongs to the nation, but the city of Paris will eventually come into possession of it when fortifications are demolished in pursuance of an arrangement with the Government. It will then be transformed in parks, boulevards, playgrounds and sites for public institutions. In the meantime the cultivation of it will no wise interfere with the plans for the future.

If the coming season is at all favorable to the crop, France will have a record yield of potatoes. The movement for the planting of all uncultivated land to either potatoes or Jerusalem artichokes has become general and official. A government commission is getting ready to furnish seed and fertilizers to all who want to help swell the crop.

Most Expensive Rail road in the World.

The most expensive railroad in the world, we are told in the March American Magazine, is the Garfield and Bingham Railroad that carries ore to the gigantic copper mines of D. C. Jackling at Bingham, Utah. It cost three hundred thousand dollars a mile and is all tunnels and trestles. It was built for the sole purpose of insuring an adequate supply of ore for the mill.

Debt a Matter of Habit Rather Than Income.

"Getting out of debt is a matter of caring enough—in most cases," says a writer in the March Woman's Home Companion, "to put in the qualifying clause—anybody. I know that there are families where ill-habit and dishonest relatives and business reverses have piled one upon another, where there is simply no way out. But in most cases, I suspect, debt is a habit just as saving money is a habit. I know twenty families whose experience has been the same as Paul's and mine, so far as the debt part is concerned. Most of them have been larger incomes than most of them are still in debt, and always will be. Simply because they have formed the habit of living to day on to-morrow's pay check. Simply because they don't care enough to get out."

There are thousands of children who are bright but frail—not sick but underdeveloped—they play with their food—they catch colds easily and do not thrive—they only need the pure, rich liquid-food in to start them growing and keep them going. Children relish SCOTT'S and it carries rare nutritive qualities to their blood streams and gives them flesh, food, bone-food and strength-food. Nothing harmful in SCOTT'S.

Power Craft Ready.

Washington, March 5, April 1: Approximately 2,600 power craft of various types are available for duty as scout patrols about American harbors, according to Navy Department figures. Of these 250 boats have been surveyed and formally enrolled in the new scout patrol service, 1,000 others are known to meet the full requirements of the service, and the remainder are designated as second rate but nearly all of them could perform some wartime duty.

West Virginia Would Create New State.

Charleston, W. Va., Mar. 6.—A resolution was introduced in the West Virginia House of Delegates today to create a new State from the counties of Ohio, Brooke, Hancock and Marshall with a view of thereby providing sufficient revenue to pay the Virginia debt judgment. The four counties have an area of 589 square miles.

The resolution provides that the four counties, known as the Panhandle counties, pay the $12,000,000 debt judgment by a bond issue in consideration for separate statehood.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

No Time For Politics.

Up to the end of January the old game went on at Washington in an especially dull and unpleasant manner. Having played the most narrow and purblind sort of party politics in the late presidential campaign and got nothing from it but defeat, the opposition developed here and there a quite febrile eagerness to win a trick. Even the President's address to the Senate on world peace, bringing forward the greatest question that American statesmanship has had to consider in many years, could not elevate some congressional minds above the dust of partisan squabbling.

At the shock of the rupture with Germany partisanship was laid aside, as sober men leave checkers when the fire bell rings—a good sign of capacity for sober and responsible action. But shock in the nature of the case, is a temporary state. There will be temptations to go back to the game.

The people have means of letting it be known that all such temptations must be resisted just so long as the international relations of the country are out of joint. They should overlook no opportunity of expressing a conviction that the man who attempts to shape any phase of this international situation to a partisan pattern will be disgraced and marked unfit for public trust as long as he lives.

The mere partisan game of jockeying for position and fencing for points is burdensome, but tolerable, in fair weather. It is intolerable when the barometer falls.—The Saturday Evening Post, of March 3rd, 1917.

The Difference.

The Allies have trespassed upon our neutral rights at sea. They have disregarded international law or made it over to suit themselves. They say what shall be contraband. They can see our mails. They take our ships to port and search them condemning them if the cargo is contraband. We continue friendly relations with them; so why not with Germany?

The two cases are fundamentally different. The difference between them is as great as that between dumping ashes in a neighbor's yard and turning him out of his house, with homicide. We do not decisively object to Germany's doing anything that we, in Allies do. Without decisive objection, we permit her to do more. England takes a ship to port and searches it at leisure. Germany, as in the recent case of the Housatonic, sinks the ship out right, only giving the crew time to take the open boats, far from land. But as she did give them opportunity to save their lives we did not object.

Her note implied that American ships, passenger and freight, would be sunk without warning, and with hardly a chance of saving the lives aboard. Two or three passenger boats might ply over a rigidly prescribed track in a rigidly prescribed manner, provided this Government guaranteed that they carried no contraband—the definition of contraband being fixed by Germany. Under the circumstances this involved nothing less than assent by the United States to Germany's laying an embargo on our export trade. It involved assent by the United States to the proposition that Germany could mark off any regions of the high seas she chose and forbid us to enter them—not merely putting annoyances upon our trade there, but forbidding us to trade altogether, except at the risk of our lives.

For less oppressive impositions of the American colonists revolted against their lawful sovereign.—The Saturday Evening Post, of March 3rd, 1917.

In Safe Hands.

Woodrow Wilson deserves the implicit confidence of the great majority of the people of the United States who earnestly desire peace. For two years, in the most trying circumstances, under great and repeated provocation, he showed an unwavering determination to keep the United States out of war if that could possibly be done without surrendering rights of such a fundamental nature that none but a contemptible nation would surrender them.

Last April—a year after the sinking of the Lusitania—he stated the terms upon which this country would continue friendly relations with Germany. The country unquestionably approved that statement. The only notable objections came from those who resented its moderation. After careful consideration, Germany chose to reject those terms. The choice lay with her. When she chose to reject her terms the United States had no choice but to terminate friendly relations.

The situation was thrust upon the President after he had done the utmost to avoid it that national self-respect would permit. On his record all those who sincerely wish peace, but would not purchase it by surrender of vital rights, must give him their complete confidence. His course throughout demonstrated that he was a trustworthy guardian of their interests. Whatever could reasonably be done to avoid war, he would do.

All attempts to discredit and harass him in the crisis were unworthy and should have no countenance. The fatuous and transparent agitation for a referendum previous to a declaration of war was only, in effect, an attempt to get a vote of lack of confidence in the President and to tie his hands; so that, no matter what indignities or outrages might come, the Government of the United States must stand idle for weeks with its hands in its pockets—a spectacle for the laughter and scorn of the nations—while an electioneering diversion was carried out.

Give no countenance to any attempt to discredit and harass the President. He has deserved your confidence. Let him know he has it.

My treatment consisted of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. At first I felt worse, but I was determined to give the medicines a fair trial, and was rewarded by seeing a vast improvement, and to-day I am in perfect health. In all I used eight bottles. Great Britain To Be Fed.

New York, Mar. 7.—A fleet of them glides yes even the world will shortly be assembled by the allied governments to carry supplies to England under the protection of a convoy of cruisers, according to a widely circulated report this morning circles here.

The "emergency fleet," as it is called, will be made up of the 45,000-ton Cunarder Aquitania, the 46,000-ton White Star liner Olympic, the liner France, 20,000 tons; the Stantonian (Belgenland), of 40,000 and 39,000 tons and a number of smaller vessels, according to the story. Such a move, it was pointed out, not only will relieve cargo congestion in New York and provide much needed supplies for the Allies, but also would greatly minimize the menace of German submarines.

The fleet, when assembled, will be capable of a speed of about 22 knots an hour, and could make the transatlantic trip in between six and seven days.

Two other ships which will be in the fleet, according to shipping circles, are the newly completed Paris, of the French line, 40,000 tons and Cunard liner Mauritania 35,000 tons.

Members of the crews of incoming vessels said the sending of the military fleet is generally known in British shipping circles.

Germany Steals A March.

According to the information, the big merchant submarine Deutschland, or other vessels of her type, have carried on the work, assisted by several smaller submarines. The cable is said to have been laid so it will be almost impossible to find it.

Half Of Army Catholics

Declares Goldstein.

Obedience to the pope of Rome does not conflict with the loyalty of Catholics to their countries, according to David Goldstein, who made an address last night at Evans hall under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. He is secretary of the Boston School of Political Economy and is making addresses throughout Indiana.

He said that Catholics are loyal to the pope and to their countries as well. Should the United States get into the war, he said, the cardinals, bishops, priests and laymen of the Catholic church would stand by the flag.

He pointed out that while Catholics form only 25 per cent of the population of the United States, 40 per cent of the men who answered the call to go to the border were Catholics and 50 per cent of the standing army are Catholics.

Many Protestants are not loyal to our greatest of all Presidents because of his advocacy of the eight hour law and the fact of their having some interest in some way with some of the great corporations effected by its provisions. —Courier.

MORGAN RAIDER TELLS A STORY

Capt. Lucas, Frankfort, Feels as Fit as in Old Days.

MORGAN'S 'OLD HORSE THIEF'

Morgan's Raiders, loved and honored by every man and woman in the South, and feared throughout the North in the days of '61, are still remembered by their daring raids into the very heart of the North. These fearless men led by John Morgan stopped at nothing, and time after time they slipped past the Union lines and back again bringing with them thousands of dollars worth of plunder. These men, often riding day and night for weeks at a time, sparing nothing to aid the cause of Dixie.

CAPT. MASON B. LUCAS.

earned for themselves the famous name of "Morgan's Raiders." They gave the flower of their youth and strength to the cause dear to the South, and those of them that are left are still remembered and loved in the South and honored in the North.

Captain Lucas Popular.

Among these is Captain Mason B. Lucas, who is known throughout Franklin County as "Uncle Mac." He is now finishing his second term as county jailer, and there is no more widely known or popular citizen in all Frankfort or Franklin County.

During the war, he was Morgan's right-hand man, and his friends love to call him "Morgan's Old Horse Thief" as he was always given command of foraging parties when they had got past the Union lines and were in Northern territory.

"Uncle Mac" is now 73 years old and not long ago he felt that he was getting into the class of old men, but he feels fine again now and says he believes he can straddle his horse from the ground and make as hard a ride as he could in the days of '61.

In telling the story of how he got back his health, he said: "Some time ago my stomach went back on me, and I felt heavy and egg after eating. I got so I couldn't sleep well at night and began to get a little nervous. My appetite wasn't what it used to be either. I didn't seem to ever get hungry. I got worried and decided to try Tanlac.

Sleeps Like a Baby.

"Well sir, after taking two bottles of Tanlac, my appetite is splendid. I sleep like a baby, and feel stronger than I have for years. In fact I feel so good that I don't believe anyone can outdistance me for the remainder in the coming Democratic primary.

"Tanic has done me so much good that I felt like I wanted to help some one else, and so I bought a bottle of Tanlac for an old war comrade of mine. Tanlac helped me and I am glad to tell others about it."

Tanic, the master medicine and reconstructive tonic, is sold exclusively by J. H. ORME, Marion. Other exclusive agents in nearby towns are as follows: BLACKFORD, A. T. Brown; FREDONIA, W. E. Cox; CRIDER, L. D. McElroy; EDDYVILLE, Withers Drug Co. Adv

The petition alleges that Goodman was not a regular licensed pharmacist and was not skilled in compounding medicines or filling prescriptions and that Mr. Cook placed him in charge of his drug business in his absence and that Goodman placed a deadly poison in a harmless prescription given for a trifling ailment and that Mr. Flack died an hour after taking a dose of the medicine, although every effort was made to counteract the effects. Which Zimmermann Signed.

Washington, Mar. 6.—The Associated Press is enabled to reveal that Germany, in planning unrestricted submarine warfare and counting its consequences, proposed an alliance with Mexico and Japan to make war on the United States, if this country should not remain neutral.

Japan, through Mexican mediation, was to be urged to abandon her allies and join in the attack on the United States.

Mexico, for her reward, was to receive general financial support from Germany, re-conquer Texas, New Mexico and Arizona lost, providing a third share in the victorious peace terms Germany contemplated.

But it was left to German Minister von Eckhardt in Mexico City, who by last actions signed by German Foreign Minister Zimmermann, at Berlin, Jan. 19, 1917, was directed to propose the alliance with Mexico to General Carranza and suggest that Mexico's job to bring Japan into the plot.

These instructions were transmitted to Von Eckhardt through Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador here, now on his way home to Germany under a safe conduct obtained from his enemies by the country against which he was plotting war.

SLEEPING PLACE FOR PET

Lined Cardboard or Wooden Box Should Be Provided to Insure Its Comfort.

A very comfortable resting place for a small dog or a cat may be made from a strong cardboard or wooden box as shown in our sketch.

An opening must be evenly cut in one end. The outside of our model is covered with good washable cretonne, which is fixed on with glue or some strong adhesive and turned over the edges; the inside should be lined evenly.

Bed for Pet Dog or Cat.

ly with plain linen. A bag of the same linen is next made to fit the bottom of box, and if this is filled with hay or chaff will make a very comfortable little bed.

PRETTY AND STYLISH BAG

Ornamented With Stripes Just Now So Much in Vogue, It Makes Neat Christmas Gift.

Are you hankering after one of those lovely crocheted bags of silk in Roman stripes? Does the price prevent you from buying one or do you lack the time to make one for yourself? Then listen to this description of a new kind of striped bag which will satisfy your craving for color and novelty and can be made in one evening at home. You may care to put it away for a Christmas gift, or to repeat it for several friends for the same seasonal purpose.

It has a foundation of silk, taffeta or grosgrain to match the suit coloring or in black. It is the same shape as the long knit bags which it aims to resemble, the silk being gathered into a covered button mold from which depends a tassel. The stripes, however, are made by sewing row after row of colored velvet ribbon as closely together as possible around the bag, the ribbon varying greatly in color and width so as to make the stripes in true Roman effect.

The bag is drawn together by a steel chain run through steel rings arranged around the outside of the bag. Ribbons could be supplied here, or cords but the chain idea is never.

VELVET AFTERNOON GOWN

This striking afternoon gown of taupe velvet shows the Russian tendency in what milady considers the very last thing in modern fashion. Fawn-colored embroidery and sash of purple grosgrain ribbon. The bottom of the dress is short in front and longer at the side and back, permitting the skunk fur to fall gracefully around the ankles.

Russian Turbans.

Russian effects are marked in military at present. The Cossack turban of velvet or fur is as smart as one could wish, and becoming to a large percentage of women. A Russian embroidered motif is set at the front of the hat, and the soft crown is sometimes slightly peaked or merely high and rounded.

HOMETOWN HELPS

ECONOMIC VALUE OF PARKS

Communities Throughout the Country Are Beginning to Realize the Importance of Breathing Spaces.

"The wrongs against society are committed by our people, not in their hours of work, but in their hours of leisure," writes Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania to President J. Horace McFarland of the American Civic association at Washington, in commendation of its movement for the extension and larger use of parks in American cities. That the economic value of parks and recreational areas is being recognized today to a greater extent than ever before is amply demonstrated by the reports that come to the association of municipal procedure for the acquisition of increased park lands, and at the same time changed methods of administration. The new attitude toward parks is that they shall be service parks—not merely ornamental adornments for the exclusive use of the few who ride, but for the millions who walk. The importance of the accessibility of parks to the masses of the population is illustrated by the growing habit, in the creation of park systems, of acquiring many small parks, harmoniously distributed and connected rather than the maintenance of one or more great parks on the outskirts. The large park will continue to be popular, but it will be supplemented by groups of small parks given over to recreation purposes. "Verboten" in respect to the use of the grass is a discarded injunction; now it is "Welcome" everywhere.

WHEN LAYING OUT GROUNDS

Remember You Owe It to Your Neighbors to Make the Best Possible Appearance.

The first thing to be taken into consideration in laying out grounds is to locate carefully all areas and all architectural features. If the drives and walks are not constructed they should be included in the first study, as they are generally worked out before anything else is attempted. If there is to be a formal garden, it should see a part of the house itself and should be so placed that it may be appreciated from the principal windows and porches. The dining and living rooms should have the best views, and the kitchen may open upon the laundry yard or service court.

Care should be exercised to keep the place from being broken up any more than necessary, and, with the areas located, the planting lines may be studied. Open spaces should never be obstructed by gaudy flower beds or inappropriate vases.

In most cases there should be some planting at the corner of the property to indicate the lot line and to draw in the place, making it seem more private and homelike. There are cases where the whole side should be planted, and this is best accomplished with well selected, dense shrubs. The shrubs with brightest colors should be placed so that they may be appreciated from the most important part of the house.

PASTIME WELL WORTH WHILE

If Contemplating Building, It Will Pay One to Study Historic Designs in Architecture.

A study of historic designs in architecture is a pastime which not only furnishes a pleasant form of recreation, but will, when one's own house is contemplated, prove exceedingly helpful.

To be able to recognize at a glance the lines and modifications of these historic styles, as expressed in the different houses with which you come in contact, will be most gratifying; and when you reach the plan stage of your own home, you need not go to your architect entirely void of ideas.

The Athenian Oath.

We of America love our cities as the ancient Athenians loved Athens. It would be well if we, too, would subscribe to the oath which he was glad to take regarding that center of culture and beauty:

"We will never bring disgrace to this our city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor never desert our comrades; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will reverence and obey the city's laws, and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to amul and set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty; that thus, in all these ways, we may transmit this city not only not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

If every citizen of every American town would live according to the spirit of the Athenian's oath, how much more desirable would residence in cities become. How much more worth while would life anywhere be. And it is not difficult to think of our city as so desirable a place that we would not wish to mar its loveliness by any act or thought.—Houston Post.

Fighting U. S. Kaiser's Plot.

Washington, Feb. 28.—German Foreign Minister Zimmermann's instructions to Bernstorff leading the plot against the United States are as follows: "Berlin, January 19, 1917.—On the first of February we intend to begin submarine warfare unrestricted. In spite of this, it is our intention to endeavor to keep neutral the United States of America.

If this attempt is not successful we propose an alliance on the following basis with Mexico: That we shall make war together and together make peace. We shall give general financial support and it is understood that Mexico is to reconquer the lost territory in New Mexico, Texas and Arizona. The details are left to you for settlement.

You are instructed to inform the President of Mexico of the above in the greatest confidence as soon as it is certain that there will be an outbreak of war with the United States, and suggest that the President of Mexico, on his own initiative, should communicate with Japan suggesting adherence to once to this plan, at the same time offer to mediate between Germany and Japan. These and other attention of the President of Mexico that the employment of not less than one war are now promises to compel Europe to make peace in a few months.

Barstow, Tex., Mar. 3 1917.
Dear Marshall:
You stated in your paper a few weeks ago I was seriously ill. That was true, but you were somewhat off when you stated I was about eighty years old. I will be eighty-four next October. First week of my illness was almost a blank—can remember but little of it. Everybody thought I was going to die. My doctor and nurse thought so, too, but I didn't die. When my nurse left she told my daughter, Nellie, it would be a year before I could get on my feet. Four days after she left I got on my feet, walked to a creek, sat down and baked my shins before a roaring good fire. Now I can walk anywhere I want to. I eat well, sleep well and feel well—never felt better in my life.

Yours truly,
T. L. DEAN.

Midway School Closed.

Midway school closed Feb. 22nd, with quite a number of visitors and patrons present. The forenoon program consisted of tests in spelling and arithmetic. The afternoon program consisted of one hour and forty-five minutes Washington Day program, and a one hour and twenty minute miscellaneous program, which was splendidly delivered by the apt pupils, and greatly enjoyed by the proud patrons.

The all-day program was simple but everybody reported a much more enjoyable time than they had ever experienced at an exhibition.

This ends Miss Etta Boisture's second term here, and we are all very sorry to know that she has declined a third term, for some nearby school. But we are not discouraged, for we hope to have her with us again some time in the near future. She has done her full duty while with us and we wish to say once more that we are extremely sorry to know that we have to give her up. May God bless her wherever she goes, is the wish of we people of Midway district.

FORD'S FERRY

Herschel Franklin, a bright and energetic young man of this vicinity, is a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination of Assessor. Herschel has been living in this neighborhood for many years, and he has long been distinguished for his politeness, good manners and intelligence. Crooked Creek certainly bears a most fitting and proper appellation. This little stream, which empties into the river at Ford's Ferry, has long been an object of curiosity on account of the irregular and erratic direction in which it traverses its course through this county. It is extremely doubtful whether there is any creek in the state more crooked than the little stream which drains a considerable part of this neighborhood.

Harry Hamilton has recently returned home from Michigan, where he has been working in a manufacturing establishment at Jackson. Harry says the people of the north are greatly agitated over the war situation.

We notice that a number of Correspondents of the dear old Record-Press are "knocking" the schools and educational systems of the present day, and are striving to create the impression that the teachers are nothing like as good as they should be. We are willing to admit that there are a number of imperfections and shortcomings in both the city and country schools of the present time, but this condition has always existed and will never be entirely eliminated as long as the world stands. We do not concur in the opinion that the teachers of today are inferior to those of ten or twenty years ago. We visited a number of schools during the recent term in which the teachers seemed to be performing their duties in a most conscientious manner. The attendance was also fairly satisfactory and the pupils seemed to be manifesting a considerable amount of interest. It cannot be denied that there is room for improvement in some of our schools, but the situation is not so discouraging and unfavorable as some people would lead us to believe.

Chas. Lear President Of Empire Coal Company.

Those who have come into contact with Rev. C. D. Lear, pastor of the Guyandotte M. E. church, south, have had frequent occasion to recognize his versatility. He is a really successful pastor, an evangelist preacher of quite a little note and a strong leader of even wider repute. And now, besides all of these things, he is president and a large stock holder in a new coal company. In other words he is, or is about to become a coal operator.

The Empire Colliery company, of Montgomery, with chief works near Montgomery, was incorporated at Charleston yesterday, with an authorized capital stock of $25,000. The incorporators were C. D. Lear, O. C. Huffman and William Brown, of Huntington, and J. R. Stowers and Aaron Carver, of Montgomery.

Mr. Lear stated last night, when questioned, that the company had holdings of several hundred acres near Montgomery and that development would begin at once.

Mr. Lear is president, Mr. Huffman vice president, and Mr. Carver is secretary and general manager of the company.—Huntington West Va. News.

Miss Myrtle Morrill, one of Crittenden County most efficient teachers and Mr. Crawford Patmer a popular young man of Oak Grove neighborhood were quietly married Feb. 25th., at the bride's home on North Weldon Street. Rev. J. B. Trotter officiating.

The Shawneetown Ill. News-Gleaner of Mar. 2nd 1917 says, "L. G. Demers, of Sullivan, Ky., and Miss Gladys A. Travis, of Marion, Ky., were married in this city Wednesday by Esquire Smyth."

The Editor does not know the groom but we learn that he is an exemplary young man and a sterling farmer. The bride is eldest daughter of E. J. Travis and is an attractive girl. She belongs to the choir at the C. P. church and adds much to the music and singing there by her rich alto voice. She is of the strict brunette type and bids fair to make a beautiful young woman. The elopement of the couple to Shawneetown was because of the brides father's objections on account of her extreme youth, she being only seventeen, so we are informed.

Walter Wheeler, son of Squire Henry S. Wheeler, and Miss Margaret Walker were united in marriage at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the residence of Mrs. Ella Pierce on North Main street, Rev. J. B. Trotter officiating.

They left at once on the morning train for Evansville and other points on a bridal trip.

This is a fine young couple, and they start on life's journey with the best wishes of many friends.

The bride is an orphan and was raised by J. P. Pierce. The groom is connected with the Wheeler grocery, and is a fine business boy.

MILLIKAN-WHEELER.

Ciel Millikan, of Bromide, Okla., a gentleman with some Indian blood in his veins, being a direct descendant of Sacagawea, arrived here last week to visit his sweetheart, Miss Ella Wheeler, whom he had known in the west. Tuesday afternoon they took a horseback ride to Princeton and the groom contemplated returning home and Miss Wheeler was to return from Princeton alone, leading the groom's horse.

It seems from reports that she changed her mind and yielded to the persuasion of her lover and decided to be married and return west with him. Accordingly the knot was tied early Wednesday morning, and they left together on the fast train at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning for his home at Bromide, Okla.

The bride is a heiress, being a great grand daughter of the late W. C. Canabhan, and grand daughter of Mrs. Nancy Clark and also of L. F. Wheeler, of this city. Her mother, Mrs. John Brantley, resides here also her two brothers, Floyd and Bradburn Wheeler. The groom is interested in the Indian land allotment and is also engaged in the moving picture show business.

One order was filled for England for ten million pounds.
