GOOD ROADS
BONDS BEATEN

Crittenden's Bond Issue Is Beaten For
The First Time In 500 Majority

The election Tuesday was a rather disheartening experience to the advocates of good roads, the proposition being defeated by 200 votes.

The total vote was 1,000,000, and the vote was around 900,000. The majority was 200.

Our people are not easily beaten, and do not yet realize the importance of the question.

The editor is of the belief that the committee is working over the parties and not the proposition, and that the proposed bond issue is one that will be voted down.

C. W. Brown, a good teacher, was in attendance. Some of the farmers found that it had no meaning and was not understood.

The whole town of Vertebev, except for a few who were present, found that it had no meaning and was not understood.

The method of teaching will be much improved. As a result, the editors of the middle class must be more careful in their selection of reliable sources. The facts are not as clear as they have been presented.

Events are almost incomprehensible; they supply us with all the information we need; but it is not true if we are to be able to answer the question, "What is the meaning of 'now' in this context?"

Annual Meeting

The National Reptile Council annual meeting will be held in St. Louis this week.

The Council meeting is held every year in different cities across the country. This year, the meeting will be held in St. Louis, Missouri.

The meeting will be held at the St. Louis Union Station on April 15th.

The cost of the meeting is $50 per person, which includes all meals and accommodations.

The council will discuss various topics related to reptiles, such as conservation, education, and research.

In addition to the formal sessions, there will be a reception and a banquet, where members can network and socialize.

The meeting is open to the public, and anyone interested in reptiles is welcome to attend.

For more information, please visit the National Reptile Council website.
