MRS. J. R. BIRD WOULD HELP

The Women of This County Organize Canning Clubs—Send Her Your Name if Interested

In this great crisis our Nation finds itself in it is the duty of every man woman and child to do their part. In the realization of this came the desire to use my mind and the little physical energy that I possess to the Greatest Possible Good. My individual efforts could amount to so little when I summed up the total of what I could do, but I knew that what I could do other women could also, and would want to, and if the whole county put their united efforts together the results would not be insignificant.

We have no Demonstrator in Home Economics, nor can we hope for one in the near future, but my plan is to organize the women and girls in each community, to encourage canning all that the family needs and a little surplus. Do not let any product of food go to waste when there are so many human beings starving. Our country needs every mouthful of food we have to spare in the cause of humanity. It is our Christian and Patriotic duty to preserve all food, and in such form as is easiest distributed. If every woman had only six surplus cans it would amount to a great deal.

This canning is best done co-operatively as in the Canning Club Work, having a community canner and setting aside certain days for it when the women can get together and put up their products and every woman have her number on her cans. In getting a number together it will simplify distribution and also by co-operatively buying of supplies will cut the cost of production. Then too we will have an opportunity to meet and know each other better. I am sure we can obtain all the instructions necessary from the Department of Agriculture in Washington. If every woman that is willing to assist me in this work would send me her name and address, and help in awakening interest among her neighbors, it will greatly facilitate the work.

Mrs. J. Robert Bird.

G. M. CRIDER IN- SURANCE INTEREST

Is Taken Over By Miss Nell Walker And Mr. Claude W. Lamb Both of This City

Crider & Woods insurance business will be continued under the name of Crider & Woods Co. H. K. Woods of Owensboro retains his interest and the G. M. Crider interest has been taken over by Miss Nell Walker and Claude W. Lamb.

Miss Nell has been in the office for several years as stenographer, bookkeeper and treasurer and has a thorough knowledge of all the details of the business. No person is better or more favorably known here. She is industrious and attentive to business and has by her fidelity to every trust won friends who will be loyal to her in her every undertaking.

Mr. Lamb has been with Taylor & Cannon for several years, is prominent in all church, Sunday School and Lodge work. He is secretary of the Masonic Lodge here and is quite popular as he is possessed of a pleasant manner and is a congenial and companionable fellow who will wield the business of Crider & Woods tightly to the new firm. Business men here, are with one accord, so far as we have heard them express themselves, of the opinion that the new firm is a clever combination and will fill the bill, as nearly as anyone could take the place of Geo. M. Crider.

Prof. W. S. Coleman Dead.

Prof. W. S. Coleman, for many years one of the leading educators of Western Kentucky, died at the home of his son in Elizabethtown last Sunday, according to word received here yesterday morning. The "Simple Faith" Given Last Sunday Evening Was Excellent.

The home talent play given in the basement of the Methodist church under the auspices of the League Sunday evening, April 15th at six thirty o'clock was an especially enjoyable and entertaining combination. The plot was laid in any country home which has a daughter away at school and was rendered in a creditable way. The moral was good.

Mr. Ellis Boaz and Iva Hickin as the old couple, were splendid and Miss Josie Paris as the daughter and Prof. Franklin as the up-to-date man who believes in Sunday amusements, were exceedingly amusing. A home talent play in Marion without Miss Lena Holt claw in it would not seem right. She was there as Mrs. Grubhouse in all her glory. Miss Louise Doss as Mrs. Jones, of Indiana, elicited much laughter. Misses Naomi Asher, Katie May, Nanie Miller, Daisy Smart and Leona Miller as the Missionary society being entertained was quite natural and much like it really happens oftentimes.

The receipts were good and the entertainment in every way a success.

What Do You Say.

Allow me to suggest that there could be no better time than now to work our suble roads, open up the ditches and drain the water from the mud holes as we all know that unless this is done we can not have a road worth traveling at any time of the year.

If our roads are put in good condition now they will remain so for a longer period than if worked at any other time of the year as they will become packed, hard and smooth. The roads need us and we need the roads so come on and let's get together and work our road all over the county before we get too busy with our farm work. I believe our county officials and road overseers will realize the great need of this important work and co-operative movement to put our roads in a much improved condition.

You never traveled over a good piece of road in your life but which it was a pleasure to you and one living in a section of the country that takes a pride in keeping up their road, commands worthy attention. My friends it is our duty and our satisfaction as these roads lead to our churches, school and to our towns where we go to market our farm products.

Road Worker.

Owing to my age and health, I have decided to quit business. On April 17th, I began selling out at cost except staples and feed which I will keep up my stock of to help close out the rest. Or I will sell my entire stock at a bargain and will sell or rent the store house. Lot 135 feet on Bellville and 252 feet on Rail Road, or will trade for a farm.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES

At Flag Raising Monday in School Yard.—Patriotism Shown By Marion People

In the school house yard Monday morning an interesting programme was carried out when Old Glory was run up on the 75 foot pole at 10 o'clock by the committee appointed for that purpose, composed of the following named gentlemen. R. F. Haynes, W. T. Black and Ira C. Pierce.

The exercises began with a patriotic medley by the school orchestra, followed by a song "America" in which all present joined with enthusiasm.

Rev. Short invoked divine guidance after which the vast throng present joined in singing the "Star spangled banner."

The address of John A. Moore followed and it was a fitting tribute to the flag and the Union and was delivered with much feeling. We have asked for a copy of this as well as others and will publish same next week so that all our readers can imbibe some of the enthusiasm now abroad in our community. A song "Uncle Sammy" was followed by an address by Judge C. S. Nunn, and the song "Flag of the Free" by an address by Rev. J. B. Trotter.

Hons Gates Dean and Charles Reed were last but not least by any means on this interesting program. The Rev. H. V. Escomb pronounced the benediction and all went home feeling more patriotic from having been there. On each clear day until peace is declared Old Glory will flutter in the breeze from the top of this pole in the grounds of the Marion Graded and High School.

Loving hands will tenderly take it down at the setting of the sun and will raise it again each morning soon after sunrise, that it may be seen and may fill the bosoms of the young and the old with enthusiasm and love of their country.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of expressing our heart-felt thanks to those who were so willing and ready to help us during the sickness and death of our dear sister. We pray that an equal amount of kindness may be shown each and every one of our friends in their last hours on earth.

$700.00 IN STATE FAIR PRIZES

For Best Agricultural Products of Any one County in Kentucky During Year 1917

The Kentucky State Fair, believing that the purpose and intent of its organization was to benefit, faster build up and advance the agricultural development and interest in this State, will offer this year prizes totaling Seven Hundred ($700.00) Dollars, for the best display of agricultural products, including grains, hay, feeds, (fresh, canned and preserved), honey, syrups, sugars, cured meats, poultry products, dairy products, and all other agricultural products, which may be produced in any county in Kentucky during the year 1917.

Prizes will be divided as follows: $250.00 to the county winning FIRST PRIZE.

$150.00 to the county winning SECOND PRIZE.

$100.00 to the county winning THIRD PRIZE.

The county winning first prize will also receive a sterling silver Championship Cup costing $100. While another $100.00 is set apart to be divided as follows: $50.00 to the first, $30.00 to the second, and $20.00 to the third, to be given to the representatives of the respective winning counties working up the exhibits.

The awards will be made by three (3) disinterested, competent judges, and the considerations governing the awards will be quality quantity of exhibits, and taste displayed in the arrangement of the exhibition of same.

All products for this exhibit must be started to the Kentucky State Fair, either in wagon or by train, not later than WEDNESDAY, September 5th, 1917, to be arranged and ready for judging at noon of Saturday, Sept. 8th. No exhibit, or any portion of an exhibit, not started to the Kentucky State Fair by WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5th, will be considered in the judging of same. This should enable all interior counties, or counties from a remote distance from the Kentucky State Fair grounds, to compete on the same terms, conditions and footing as those counties lying nearer the Kentucky State Fair grounds. If necessary, the Member in charge may require an affidavit setting forth the date of cutting removing or starting of any products exhibited in this class the Kentucky State Fair.

As a suggestion—I advise any one in any county, who contemplates his county being represented in this contest, to insist on several farmers in each section of the county to prepare and grow the same products for this special exhibition. In other word, say six farmers grow potatoes (both Irish and sweet), six farmers grow hay, six grow grains, and so on until arrangements have been made for the growing of all kinds of products for this wonder display.

Full particulars will appear in catalogue, which will be issued about July first, 1917, or upon application to Matt S. Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture, Frankfort, Kentucky.

GETTING A START

By Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

HE KNOWS ONE THING WELL.

Several years ago Tom began as a boy in a wholesale grocery house. He learned the business, and in course of time was sent out on the road. He returned crestfallen, without an order.

"Did you call on all the storekeepers in Blanktown?" asked the merchant.

"Yes, sir."

"And you received no orders?"

"No," replied the embryo salesman, "not one."

"That's strange," said the merchant. "Most of the storekeepers in that town are good customers of ours. What did you say to them?"

"Well," drawled the young man, "I told 'em who I was and where I came from."

"Did you display your samples or ask them to purchase?"

"Oh, no. If they'd wanted to buy anything, they'd have told me, wouldn't they?"

The merchant looked at the young man in silence for a few moments.

"Tom," he said, "I'm afraid you'll never make a salesman. I'll put you on the books."

So Tom became an assistant bookkeeper. He was proficient and received a fair salary.

The years rolled on. Tom became middle-aged, and no one thought much about him any way. One day he knocked on the door leading to the firm's office and was admitted.

"What can we do for you, Tom?" asked the merchant.

"Want a partnership," said the bookkeeper.

"What?"

"Want a partnership," repeated Tom. "Something in the man's face attracted the merchant's attention."

"Sit down. You say you want to become a partner. Have you any capital to invest?"

"Not enough to mention."

"Then how do you expect to get what you want?"

"Well," said the bookkeeper, quietly, "half of your business is molasses, and I know molasses. If you don't want me, Smith & Jones do."

"What?"

"Well," said Tom, calmly. "They made me an offer of a tenth interest."

The merchant investigated and found that his obscure bookkeeper knew more about molasses than any other man in the trade. Tom was admitted to the firm and died worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Tom knew one thing well. Quietly and persistently he had perfected himself, developed his natural talents, and had become an expert of experts.

I am aware that the average young man, try as he will, may not be able to perfect himself sufficiently in any one branch of trade to obtain a commanding position in it; but I believe that 90 per cent of those who are at the bottom, or holding subordinate positions, could rise from the ranks if they devoted their energies persistently and consistently to the perfecting of themselves in some one thing which is an important part of business. The trouble with most men is that they do not use what they have. They seem to be satisfied to float.

Young man, find out what you are best fitted to do, and, when you make this discovery, go to the very bottom of it and learn it so well that you will be an authority upon that subject. Then you will have in you a marketable commodity, which stands for a liberal salary or for something better.

Shaping of a Career.

In 1834, Lord Melbourne, then still home secretary in the reform cabinet, and Disraeli, a beaten candidate for parliament, were talking together after dinner, and the typical British peer, the friend of Victoria, was attracted by the cleverness of the Hebrew aspirant. "Lord Melbourne," Disraeli told the story, which is confirmed by Melbourne's biographer, "asked how he could advance me in life, and half proposed that I should be his private secretary, inquiring what my object in life might be. 'To be prime minister.' The condescending Whig tried gently to argue the young man out of what must have seemed to him pure infatuation; but he did not forget the remark. When, in 1848, as an old man, he learned of Disraeli's success in parliament, he was heard to exclaim: 'By God! the fellow will do it yet.'--Paul E. Moore, in the Atlantic.

Ways of the Hopper.

"Do you know," says the Mankato Advocate, "a fellow tried to make us believe the other day that a visitation of grasshoppers such as we had in 1874 wouldn't do much harm now, as there is so much vegetation they couldn't eat it all? When a man talks that way we know he never took the grasshopper degree. Why, if the corn had been 15 feet high on every acre in the county when those hungry rascals lit down they'd eaten it clean, licked the platter and kissed the look before noon the next day."--Kansas City Star.

HIGHEST POSSIBLE PRODUCTION OF FOODS URGED BY DR. FRED MUTCHLER AS BASIS UPON WHICH TO CONDUCT SUCCESSFUL WAR AGAINST GERMANY

This is not an ordinary gathering, gentlemen, it is a time when the economic laws of the past, which have been operative, become in-operative almost within a day. New conditions which have arisen demand a modification of some of our economic laws. Today I am going to do something which I have never done before, urge a maximum crop production; the biggest production that can be obtained. Heretofore, I have been urging intensive rather than extensive agriculture, and I am not changing my position except for the fact that this great crisis is approaching.

Last year the southern states paid 750 millions of dollars for food and feed from the north and west. This year the south will have the biggest cotton crop in the history of the world, unless the farmers change their minds, and the north and west will again furnish one and one quarter billions of dollars worth of food to the south.

Crops Below Normal 3 Years.

The food production of this country has been below normal for the last three years, and again we are confronted with a shortage. The utmost will not bring too large a crop production.

I want to discuss eight points with you this afternoon.

First--We must have an increased volume of foods and food crops. One crop should not be produced at the expense of another that is equally as valuable. It is not a time to take up new lines of work now. All lines of food production will be profitable this year. If we specialize on one single crop then we will have a shortage on others. The people all over the United States are being asked to do their best in the lines that they are used to.

The burden of the production will fall upon the truck farmer for the next six months. It will be several months until the wheat and other staples are harvested. You must stay with the crop you know how to raise.

There is no danger of an over production. We can't even bring the production up to normal, but we can get as near to it as possible. It is up to the farmers to get up an hour earlier, and to work an hour later. But if you are working all the hour's possible then it is up to you to use your judgment a bit more. The farmers must use practical science, and diversify their crops. They must not specialize on a few crops.

Need Instruction For City Gardeners.

You are not going to produce your crops for the same cost now as before, but then you will not sell at the same price. But what patriotic farmer is interested in the market now?

Every man in the city should cultivate a garden in the back yard. But he should have careful instruction on the work, otherwise there will be more failures than gardens. In closing on that point I would emphasize the necessity of staying with what you know about, but do it a little bit better.

Second--The general farmer should not plunge into truck gardening, but should stay with the production of staple food and feed. Corn, with soy beans as a balancing ration, will come pretty near being the stuff of life if the spring wheat is not good. Livestock, buckwheat, corn, wheat, oats, soy beans, coxpeas will all be important foods and they must be raised abundantly.

Urges Gardens on all Farms.

Third--A good home garden should be a part of every farm, not only now, but always. Study and practice on this. Produce enough for home use, for winter storage and for canning. Beside this the garden should produce a surplus for someone else. Make your farm self-supporting and then support a few other people. Do some work in your garden every day. We'll find a way to store everything that is produced. We'll lay off if necessary, during the winter months, and let our salaries go to the payment of demonstrators who can show the people how to can and store these garden foods and fruits.

Stress On Poultry's Importance.

Fourth--Pay special attention to the farm poultry yard. Kentucky is far behind in the production of eggs and poultry products. Let's have better housing conditions next winter so that 90 per cent of the hen's food won't have to go to keep her warm. Tear down that old hen house and build a wind proof one. Sixty hens ought to lay 40 eggs every day. Add a few more pullets this fall. They will pay their own way. Produce fertile eggs, and get some water glass (solution of glass) and preserve your eggs until next Christmas in a five gallon jar of cool water, set aside in some cool place. You city folks can profit by that, too.

Need a Substitute For Wheat.

Fifth--The winter wheat crop has been a short one. We're three or four bushels short per man in Kentucky. Conditions in Kansas and other states of the wheat belt are practically the same. It is for us to find a substitute. If you can raise a wheat crop that will break even' pay (cost of production) then harvest it. And when the harvesting time comes sweep up every grain of the wheat, too. Don't waste any. At the present price a smaller yield per acre will pay. If you can't raise a paying wheat crop then plant the ground in corn and soy beans.

Soy Beans Good As Meat.

Sixth--Soy beans are the best substitutes for meat. One pound of them equals a pound and a quarter of meat, and you can grow twenty bushels to the acre. A pound of soy beans contains more nutriment than two dozen eggs. They are 20 per cent fat.

Soy bean seeds are scarce, but we may trade off some seed corn for soy bean seeds. Buckwheat should be sown on the wheat field if the wheat is no good. Crimson clover should be planted with the buckwheat. And you should grow a few acres of soy beans for seed next year. They can be threshed with an ordinary threshing, or even with a stick.

Grow beans, not tobacco. And save some seed for next year.

Sell Only 200 Pound Hogs.

Seventh--Livestock, cattle, hogs and sheep are most important in this coming crisis. This is a great livestock state, but the supply in this and other states is far below normal. Texas is the only state in the union up to normal with its livestock production. Keep your breeding stock on the farm. Large numbers of hogs and cattle are sent to market because of the high prices, but they should be kept on the farm. Never send pigs to market. They are worth more on the farm. Young brood sows should not be sold. Let's adopt a slogan of selling only pigs which weigh 200 pounds or more. Don't sell a good brood sow. She will produce 200 pounds of pork in a season. Plant oats and rape, properly mixed, NOW, and it will make good hog pasture by May 15.

Grow Foods, Not Luxuries.

Eight--A normal crop of tobacco will pay well, but on the other hand all food and livestock will pay as well or better. Therefore it is the patriotic duty of our farmers to grow necessities. Tobacco should not be grown at the expense of foodstuffs. Will the money you get from your tobacco buy as much as it did last year? Tobacco is selling at 10 cents now, where it sold for 4 and 5 cents last year. But will 10 cents buy as much today as five cents did last year? It won't buy as much. Don't put your eggs in that basket in toto.

Labor? Of course I know it is necessary to give a farm hand so much tobacco land, for his money crop, if you get him to work for you, but grow the maximum food and feed crop.

"I hope I have summed up the agricultural situation. I would be glad if any of you would make suggestions."

"If you believe in these things then for the sake of your country put yourself in behind this program and spread it to your neighbors, so we will have the largest aggregate crop possible."

Inevitable Division

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D.D., Secretary of Correspondence Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT--So there was a division among the people because of him--John 7:43

The division referred to in the text was one caused by Jesus of Nazareth--there was a division of the people because of him. To this day, men divide on personality--one is for Roosevelt, another for Bryan, one for Wilson and another for Hughes, and probably more than ever before, men and women as voters in the passing years considering men rather than parties or party platforms.

Law of Christ's Life.

As we study Jesus Christ in the brief three years of his active public life, we find the law of division prevailing. Now and then, there would be an outburst of almost universal favor, but immediately there would be an outburst of almost universal opposition. Quite literally, he seemed to have come to divide men, even members of the same family, father against son and mother against daughter.

At this point, we may inquire as to the purpose of his coming. The popular view of the angels' message that a Savior had come to bring peace to the earth, is to be modified by the Savior's own words that he came to bring a sword, and while the ultimate result of the Savior's coming will be universal peace, the road to that peace is one of conflict and human division. Jesus did not come to originate division or to instigate it, but to make clear the actual division that already existed between men, but which was obscured. Jesus Christ simply caused the elements in humanity, that were really antagonistic, and which were so mingled that the lines of division were not clear, to become more distinct. As a bringer of judgment then, we must not look on Jesus Christ as he has been caricatured as coming, "with overmastering rage, bent on revenge."

Division of Doctrine.

The text is very clear that the discussion was as to whether Jesus Christ was the prophet predicted in Deuteronomy 18:15, 18, or not. To put the matter broadly, was he the fulfillment of prophecy? That might be questioned by the Jews today, but with the Gentile world the question is rather, Is that historic Jesus who he claimed to be after he came to this earth? There is practically universal consent to the character of Jesus of Nazareth--the old-established and orthodox churches, and indeed, many of the modern religious fanatics proclaim the perfect character of Jesus Christ, but the bone of contention is not reached by these. The bone lies at the point where man asks, Is this Jesus of Nazareth, the Son of God, not mystically, not potentially, not morally, but essentially and really the Son of God possessing divine attributes and manifesting true deity? Ultimately, that is the question that must be decided, and it is the dividing line.

A man's inward conviction at this point settles his relationship to God. No man can say that Jesus is Lord, but by the Holy Ghost. This is the point at which there should be set up a marker indicating that all who stand for the latter view ought to be separated from those who deny the true deity.

Division Will Continue.

The New Testament contains many figures of speech that indicate two classes of men regarding Jesus Christ. There are the wheat and the tares, the sheep and the goats, the good and bad fishes, the company on the right hand and the company on the left, the just and the unjust, the clean and the filthy, the man who confesses and the man who denies, Dives and Lazarus, Abraham's bosom and hell. This abounding of contrasts is not without meaning and men should heed it. Many of these, of course, belong to the hereafter and indicate that the division will continue. Whether it is properly named or not, essential universalism is a popular doctrine of today. One or two little denominations profess the doctrine, but multitudes in the denominations whose creeds directly contradict it, really accept it, and should be styled universalists.

Division Need Not Continue.

Fortunately, if the man is not a believer in the deity and Saviorhood of Jesus Christ, he can accept that belief and go over to the other side. It is no difference what may be one's prejudice touching Jesus Christ. He must take sides, he must act as the people of Jerusalem acted in answer to Pilate's question, "This man or Barabbas?" It is, theoretically, a choice between two opinions, practically a choice between taking Jesus as brother or Satan as master--in short, it is a choice ultimately between life and death.

Standardization of Poultry in Kentucky.

During the past three months a splendid interest has been taken by the farmers and their families in the production of more pure bred poultry, and also in bringing about better marketing facilities has stimulated the breeding of better fowls of the egg and meat breeds. The possession of more standard stock and the higher prices of poultry products have stimulated better breeding, feeding and general management of poultry on Kentucky farms.

The present war will demand an increased production of staple food products and the modest hen, when she produces $750,000,000, (enough to build two Panama Canals every year) plays a most important part in our nation's food supply.

There are two important phases of Poultry Extension Work going on in Kentucky at the present time. One is the marketing of eggs by organizations, called "egg circles," largely composed of women. The other phase is the production of pure bred poultry, through a County Standardization plan, explained below.

Eighteen counties through the co-operation of their Poultry Improvement Associations and Farmers' Clubs, with the county agent and Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, have distributed to reliable farm people, ninety thousand egg from high grade utility and standard bred stock. Local banks have made this distribution possible, by furnishing money without interest to purchase these eggs. The following contract is used to safeguard the banks.

Ky. Sunday School Association

Greater and better Sunday Schools for a greater and better Kentucky. "Go to Sunday School Day," for all Kentucky is May 6, 1917. One million people will attend! Come, let us go to Sunday School! Kentucky Sunday School Association.

Dear Mr. Jenkins:

In a large measure the splendid success of the three Go To Sunday School Days in Kentucky and vicinity has had is due to your help in giving publicity to the movement. Interest in the day has increased each year and this year should be larger than ever before. Please help us make it a big day for all Kentucky by using the above notice as often as you can spare the space for it between now and May 6th.

Thanking you for your co-operation in this movement,

Very truly yours,

KENTUCKY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

These counties have offered sums from 100.00 up to $1000.00 each for this work. The usual amount is $150.00 which will buy 200 settings of eggs (fifteen in a setting) at $5.00 per hundred eggs and put out to farmers at a dollar per setting cash, or a contract is signed, the parties agreeing to bring back eggs, culled or mongrel market chickens, during the summer or fall, sufficient to satisfy the contract. The 25c difference in price of each setting, pays express, printing of contracts and other small costs of handling. Any surplus of funds will be used as prize money for the best poultry exhibits of the county standard variety at the fall fair.

Those parties taking eggs are urged to take several settings so that they can establish a flock of sufficient size to supply eggs for hatching on the same basis next season. No breeder or farmer who is interested in another breed, is asked to change or give up his favorite. The test results of the county standardization plan, will be getting people who have poor stock to exchange their mongrel chickens for a pure breed without any outlay of money.

Christian and Pulaski counties standardized last year and the farmers are now getting $5.00 per hundred for all the eggs they can produce. Christian county adopted White Wyandottes and five neighboring counties have taken up the same breed and variety. The Pulaski county section has selected Barrard Rocks and has a slogan, "Bar the County." The Berea section and Eastern Kentucky have adopted Rhode Island Reds and have a poultry war cry, "Paint the County Red." McCracken county is enthusiastic in White Plymouth Rocks.

This great increase in production and interest in better poultry through a standardization of a county breed, began in a very small way, two years ago. We hope next year to operate in twelve as many counties and distribute three times as many eggs as this season. The plan is sound and safe. County agents who are doing the work are enthusiastic and have difficulty in securing enough eggs for their people.

"Don't try to figure out why a black hen lays a white egg. Get the egg."

Eggs are being bought for cold storage earlier than ever before and the price is likely to stay good. Watch for playcards to be sent throughout Kentucky, giving information as to the value of producing fertile eggs after the breeding season.

HANDICRAFT FOR GIRLS

By DOROTHY PERKINS

(Copyright, by A. Neely Hall.)

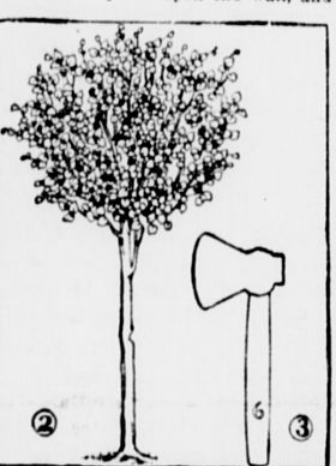

FOR A WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A Washington's birthday party may be given several days preceding or following February the twenty-second, according to the time most convenient. Crossing the Delaware is a good test of the steadiness of one's hand, and produces much merriment because seldom more than one, or two at most, can meet the requirements. The game consists in carrying a peanut upon the blade of a table knife while walking the length of a room. And, to make the test more difficult, obstructions must be placed in the path so the girls and boys must step over them while crossing. Fig 1 suggests how the obstructions may be formed with boards placed across books, and broomhandles placed across the rounds of chairs. Award a prize to the boy and another to the girl who crosses without dropping the peanut.

Pinning the hatchet in the notch of George Washington's cherry tree is an adaptation of the game of pinning the tail upon the donkey. Paste together several sheets of wrapping-paper. Then place this large sheet upon the floor, or pin it upon the wall, and with a crayon or soft pencil draw a tree five or six feet high, as in Fig 2. Draw the hatchets upon heavy cardboard (Fig. 3), making them in proportion to the tree; cut them out, and paint the blades red and the handles brown. Stick a pin through the blade. After giving out the hatchets, blindfold the players one at a time, turn them about several times, and start them in the direction of the tree. A prize should be awarded to the one pinning a hatchet nearest the notch in the tree.

George Washington shadowgraphs is a splendid guessing game. Hang a sheet in a doorway, and have all the boys go on one side, and the girls on the other side. Then beginning with the boys, have each in turn put on a cocked hat and pose between a strong light and the screen, so as to throw a profile view of himself upon the sheet, as shown in Fig. 3. Each boy must have a number (unknown to the girls) and while his portrait is upon the screen the girls on the other side of the screen must guess who it is and write his name upon paper provided, in this way: "No. 1—George Washington Jones," "No. 2—George Washington Thompson," etc., prefixing the boys' last names with that of George Washington.

Fig. 4 shows the cocked hat. Cut a circular piece of wrapping paper 20 inches in diameter for the hat brim (Fig. 5), and cut a center opening for the crown. Make a crown of a strip of cardboard bent into a band to fit your head, with a circular piece fitted to its top (Figs. 6 and 7).

Fig. 3 shows how to arrange a lamp for projecting the light

Take This Sermon to Yourself.

Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, appeared in Memphis, Tenn., last Saturday and made an address, in which he urged increased production and careful conservation of foodstuff by the South as a vital part of the nation-wide efforts to prepare to meet the emergencies which war with Germany is bound to create. "The South must feed herself," was the keynote of Mr. Vrooman's appeal. In part he said:

"The responsibility for adequate food production lies with the individual citizen. Any planter or farmer who, in this national crisis, fails to put a large percentage of his land in food crops is lacking both in patriotism and in common prudence. We can not win this war if we permit the boys at the front to supply all the self-sufficiency. To day the first duty of the south, and the nation is to get food. Every loyal man, woman child must share in this common burden of privilage."

"I am myself a landowner as well as a public official, and I want to say a personal word to the landowners of the south."

"All landowners in the south who live in the cities and rent their land to tenants owe a duty to their country in this time of war necessity for food stuffs. They should give their tenants every facility for growing not only the supplies needed on their farms, but also they should urge every tenant to grow a surplus of food crops. Local forces should be organized to furnish a market at reasonable prices for these food crops and thus insure a profit on the crops produced."

"Any land owner who by exorbitant rents or by pressure of any sort causes his tenants to plant on his lands a large crop of cotton at the expense of food production is not doing his part and has signally failed to measure up to the requirements of a good citizen. I have said before, and I say again, that the south can and must feed itself, and this can only be done when our city land owners and those who control lands actively support and use all their influence to secure the production of food."

"Contracts for rents and for methods of cropping may already be made, but no land owner, true to his country, will stand in the way of production of food stuffs because of selfish considerations. Even from the selfish financial point of view, to put all your land in cotton this year is poor business judgment. In all likelihood food crops will be more in demand in the south than even cotton. Much larger acreages must be devoted to corn, soy and velvetbeans, potatoes, orange, home gardens and this fall the grains, all of which is impossible if the land is in cotton.

"The responsibility in this crisis on the individual land owner, the individual banker, the individual merchant or the individual soldier in the trenches. If our nation is to exert her full might in her splendid crusade for democracy and liberty, the same invincible spirit of patriotism must animate alike all classes of our citizens. Land owners, the time has come for you to sign your pledges 'do your bit' for the south, for the nation and for the successful termination of this war."

The News-Democrat has quoted Mr. Vrooman at length because his argument is startlingly applicable to conditions in this section of Kentucky. Just cross out the word "cotton" wherever it occurs and put in "tobacco," and his words will seem to have been addressed direct to the people of Western Kentucky. Let the News-Democrat urge that the people of this section make this exchange and consider the argument as for them. Regard the above as an admonition to you to reduce your acreage of tobacco to a minimum and plant every inch of available space in food products. Regard it as an appeal to you to "do your bit" for the South, for the nation, and the successful termination of this war by producing very little tobacco and the greatest amount of foodstuffs.—Paducah News Democrat.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

It can only be prevented as it cannot reach the brain and become permanent. There is one way to prevent deafness, and that is by using the "Hear-It" system. It is a scientific method of treating the ear, and when it is used, the ear is kept in perfect health, and when it is not, the ear is diseased. Deafness is the result, and when the ear is diseased, the hearing is lost. The "Hear-It" system is the only method of preventing deafness, and it is the only method of curing deafness. Dr. J. D. Threlkeld Will Make Race For Representative

AND HAS MAILED THE FOLLOWING LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF THIS AND LIVINGSTONE COUNTIES.

Dear Sir:-

Having been solicited by many of my friends to make the race for Representative for this and Livingston counties, and having a desire to represent my party in the lower house of the next General Assembly, I have decided to make the race. I feel that I can depend upon you for your support. My record is an open book. My entire life has been spent in this and Livingston counties. I believe in the principles of Democracy, and especially in the policies of our President Woodrow Wilson, the greatest President this country has ever known. I believe in an equal chance for every man and hence the continuance of the policies of our President.

As to State affairs I believe I can be of some service to my constituency. I can at least act from an honest conviction, which I will do under all circumstances, looking to the interest of all the people.

Hoping you will give me your undivided support I am, most respectfully yours,

J. D. THRELKELD.

HERE'S A HAPPY "TANLAC FAMILY"

Sisters Join Their Mother In Declaring Tanlac Meant New Start In Life For Them.

MRS. JOHN LOWE.

MRS. S. C. BURNETT.

MISS FRANCES BURNETT.

"Someone suggested the other day that we tack a sign on our house saying, 'This Is a Tanlac Family.' That's because my two daughters and I talk so much about Tanlac. We all wear the Tanlac Smile, too," Mrs. S. C. Burnett, 1408 Walnut street, said.

"But why shouldn't we talk about it when we feel that it has done us a world of good. Everyone of us has been helped by Tanlac and I'll tell you we can't say too much for it."

"First my older daughter, Mrs. John Lowe, tried it. She had lost 30 pounds and was so run down and nervous that even the rumbling of a wagon or the slamming of a door would upset her for hours. We feared we would have to send her to a hospital."

"I honestly believe that Tanlac saved her from complete breakdown. Nothing else seemed to help her. But Tanlac put her on her feet again right quick. Today she is one of the happiest women in Cincinnati."

"Then Frances became run down—sort of half-sick. She had dizzy spells. We were going to take her out of school because she kept complaining of spots and webs before her eyes. Her complexion got pasty and she didn't look a bit well. Tanlac, however, proved to be just the thing she needed and now she is back in good health again."

Mother Was Half-Sick.

"As for myself, I felt almost the same as Mrs. Lowe. My stomach troubled me. My appetite was poor and I suffered after eating with bloating and belching of gas. But with the help of Tanlac I got rid of these troubles and now I feel simply splendid."

"But I started out at first to tell Tanlac, the most effective medicine and the most effective tonic, sold exclusively by J. H. ORME, Marion, Ohio, exclusive agent for nearby towns are as follows:

State. I have seen no snows, and only a little thin ice since I left Kentucky.

When I left Hickman, Ky., on the 20th of December last the weather was freezing cold, when I arrived at New Orleans the following day the temperature was about like May, in Kentucky. It is sure a luxury to spend a winter in the Sunny South. People who are born and reared here and lived here all their lives do not know what cold weather is. Well, it seems to me that we have had no winter. Just little cool spells like our Aprils and Octobers in Kentucky. Some children here among the poorer classes, go barefoot all winter. Killing frosts visit this country sometimes, and some of the older citizens remember seeing snow on the ground, but I have conversed with children nearly grown who have never seen any snow at all. The woods now are clothed in foliage like unto summer in States further north. Gardens grew, and flowers bloomed out of doors all the winter. Three crops of garden truck can be grown during the year here.

As you know this is the land of sugar cane, cotton and rice. Vegetables do well here I think especially potatoes.

Lake Charles, the most important city of the southwest Louisiana, is situated fifty miles north of gulf of Mexico, and the hot summers of this section are rendered more tolerable by cooling breezes from that body of water.

Easter here was cool. I attended services on that day at the Catholic church. I have been attending services at the Methodist Church South. Bro. Joiner, pastor. I like the preaching pretty well.

I mean to leave here for Oklahoma the last of this month. Expect to spend the summer there with my daughter, Mrs. Eva Duvall.

I am sorry that our country has become entangled in war, but I hope the conflict may soon be settled, and that peace may be restored. When I think of our young men going forth to foreign countries to endure hardships and perhaps be slaughtered like cattle it makes my heart ache! I did hope that our country would escape the awful fury and desolation of war that other countries are suffering, but we are entering the conflict and God alone knows what the results will be.

We have hitherto been one of the most highly favored nations on the face of the globe, and it may be that in the midst of such great prosperity that the people have forgotten to render unto God what is due. Woe be unto us, if while receiving such bountiful gifts, we have spurned the Giver and closed our hearts against Him.

It is awful to contemplate the clash of nations and the wreck and ruin of war, but how consoling to know that after all, God is ruling and the hand of His guiding providence is directing all things. Come what may, the true child of God has nothing to fear really. No, not even if nation should be hurled against nation, kingdoms totter on their thrones and tremendous events happen which will hasten the coming of the Son of God.

These are days of awful portent, and while our beloved taries awhile longer, the church of the living God should be in a waiting attitude clothed in spotless white, so that when through the crash and downfall of earthly powers we hear His voice announcing "Behold I come quickly." We may answer back with gladness, "Amen! Even so, come Lord Jesus come quickly."

EXCELLENT TIME FOR PROOF

Young Boy Gives Father Opportunity to Prove Assertion He Was Boss of the Ranch.

The children were to give a surprise party to a boy new to the neighborhood and Harry wanted much to go, so he sought his father's consent. The first question dad put to him on being approached was:

"Have you asked your mother?" "Yes, sir."

"What did she say?" "She said I couldn't go," was the frank response; "she doesn't like the new boy."

"Then," demanded the astonished and indignant father, "what do you mean by coming to me to ask to do a thing your mother has told you you could not do?"

"Well, dad," rejoined Harry, "I heard you say the other evening that you're the boss of this ranch, and I thought it was about time for you to prove it."

Rather a Nuisance.

"Are there any Zouaves fighting in the European war?" "I presume so. Why do you ask?" "I was just thinking they must catch their baggy trousers dreadfully on those barbed wire entanglements."

MORE LIKE IT.

"No, I congratulated with her."

Wrong Tactics.

"I hear Mrs. Twaddle is thinking of adopting a political career."

"Something of the sort seems to be in her mind," replied Mr. Twaddle.

"Are you strengthening her in that determination?"

"I did for awhile."

"In what way?"

"By trying to stop her."

Fighting Autocracy in 1848

There are a great many Germans in this country whose ancestors warred against the prussian military and autocratic rule. They came here because autocracy triumphed over them. As the New York World says:

It is generally assumed that the war with the Prussian autocracy will be exceedingly painful to Americans of German birth or descent, the right and wrong of the matter being ignored. Yet two generations of Americans mostly of British lineage, add no belittling testimony against George III and his minions, and such expressions of grief as were then heard were confined to torn millinery.

With the United States forced to defend its highest interst against the autocracy, now known as of a ruthless nation which chance to have all Germany by the throat, we do not believe that many Americans of Teutonic origin will hesitate as to their duty. In particular, one large and very respectable element may confidently be expected to reveal its patriotic spirit at once. We refer of course, to the sons and grandsons of the men who, leaders or participants in the abortive revolution of 1848, fled to this country and found in the United States the liberty denied at home.

War with Germany invites these Americans to a renewal of the contest in which their fathers failed. We confront the same tyranny, the same disregard of human rights and the same enslavement to a military code which drove their ancestors to America and at this moment is drenching Europe in blood. The fathers of '48 were true in 1861. Their sons cannot prove unworthy today.

Even those who have come here of a later date remember well the Prussian policing of the Rhine countries. These officials were as arrogant, as cruel, as hated as the ruling Prussian military caste is today.

Many a man who came over here as a boy can remember his father's muttered curses at the Prussian official walking up and down outside his door, and they can remember also the mother's anxious restraint. She feared the ruthless penalty that would follow if the fathers' angry word should reach official ears.

A Suggestion For H. Levi.

Calexico, Cal., April 18.—A Main Street jeweler has adopted meats as a side line, and now both beef, pork, and mutton and jewelry are sold in the same store.

Choice steaks, diamonds, lamb chops, pearls, pork roast and rubies, all in glittering array, are offered to customers.

It is true that the pearls come before the swine, but in the rear of the jewelry store is as complete a meat market as any in the city.

The proprietor says that, with food mounting in price, his wares are now quite similar in quotations, and the selling combination appropriate.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Marion Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that ever should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Marion adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

A. C. Melton, brick layer, 633 E. Depot St., Marion, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for a weak or lame condition of my back. They have helped me and I think they are a good kidney medicine. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Orme's Drug Store, if suffering from a kidney trouble."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Melton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 68

Most Productive Relation of State to Labor Lies in Public Employment Office

By ROBERT C. VALENTINE

We have reached a critical epoch in the history of world organization. A leader who devotes himself to any task other than that of reconstruction is guilty of a social treason fundamentally greater than the treason of political life. We need to know the elemental forces which can place in the hands of the workers the means of their self-development.

The constructive relation of organized labor to the state is our main problem. How can we best discover its solution? I do not for one moment doubt that the most concretely productive relation of the state to labor at the present time lies in the potentialities of those public employment offices, those state and federal commissions of labor, of which the significance is beginning to be dimly apparent.

So far, let it be said quite frankly, labor has failed to grasp its duty of attaining organized relation to the state. Nor has the state been more creative in its attitude. Where it has not been persuaded by privileged interests to be blindly hostile, it has been too frequently either stupid or indifferent. We can find no better word to say of the employers. It is only within the last decade that they have begun to see industry in terms other than those of an absolute private ownership. It is not in that direction that social salvation will be found.

The causes of this joint failure are fairly simple. The one positive basis through which a just interpretation of relationships can be found has not as yet been more than vaguely and sporadically understood. That bedrock is a complete knowledge of the industrial processes in their fullest social implication.

Standardization of Schools Brings All Elements of Community Together

By MRS. MARY C. BRADFORD
State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Colorado

Standardization ties together every educational activity and every element in the community. It has done more to build up a community spirit than anything I ever saw.

The beauty of it is that it can be done in any state where the superintendent has constitutional authority to act without legislative enactment. For instance the Colorado constitution gives me "general supervision and control" of public instruction. I am answerable for my deeds, not to any official but to the people of Colorado.

Colorado has now 250 standard schools. We have a definite standard for the size, condition, equipment and beauty of the school buildings, condition and supervision of playgrounds, number of teachers, their salaries and efficiency, attendance and punctuality of pupils, courses of study, and work accomplished.

In this way we grade not only the pupils and teachers but the parents, school directors, taxpayers and voters as well. We feel that they are all inseparably bound together.

We have an official score card on which we grade the schools in every detail.

No schools can be rated as standardized if they do not provide instruction for adults who need it. This is our glory—one of the biggest things we have ever done.

Retention of Philippines by U. S. Best for the Filipinos Themselves

By REPRESENTATIVE NELSON E. MATTHEWS of Ohio

From the standpoint of what is best for the Filipino, we should retain possession of the islands for the following reasons:

First. We have secured for them a stable government which is better than they ever had before or ever will have again should we sever our connection with the Philippine islands.

Second. Under American rule of the Philippine islands the people have been more prosperous than at any time in their history.

Third. We are just beginning the development of the Philippine islands, and should we retain possession of them, unquestionably the beneficial result of such development would be very great, not only for the Philippines but for the United States.

Fourth. By retaining possession of the Philippine islands we keep them out of the clutches of some nation that will not be as unselfish as we have been in working out their salvation.

Fifth. The increase in trade of the Philippines with the United States has been very great. It will be much greater in proportion in the next 25 years if our relations continue as they now are.

Sixth. They furnish a base of operation for trade with China and Japan, which will be greatly beneficial not only to the United States but to the Philippine islands as well; and, lastly:

The Philippine islands now are a part of a great nation. Were they given independence, they would become, from a national standpoint, insignificant, with no voice in the affairs of the world, and subject to be trampled upon whenever they became necessary to the welfare of any other country.

College Education Does Not Come Entirely From Textbooks

By P. G. ROBINSON of Colorado Agricultural College

What constitutes a college education? Too often we consider only the knowledge of a mass of facts, or even the passing of a certain prescribed course of study. Webster says an education has for its aim "the increasing of the power of a man."

A man may acquire all the knowledge contained in an encyclopedia, and unless he can co-ordinate his knowledge with conditions as they exist in life, he has not acquired power; is not truly educated.

The idea which a student gets from coming in contact with his fellow students on the campus, on the football field, or in the classroom are as truly a part of his college education as the knowledge which he gains from books.

The Davis Memorial Met At Fairview Last Monday.

Actual construction of the 351-foot obelisk which is to be the crowning feature of the Jefferson Davis memorial park at Fairview, will be begun Monday. Engineer C. F. Crews of Louisville has arrived at Fairview with twenty men, to undertake the job and carry it through as quick as possible. They will occupy the large Woosley dwelling house now standing on the park property and most of the rock will be quarried in the vicinity. This removes all doubt as to building of the obelisk and will greatly stimulate public subscriptions.

The contract was let to a Louisville firm a few days ago.

It is hoped to have the work completed in the fall.—Kentuckian.

Take No Chances.

On the Great Lakes, during the summer months, there operates a big transportation company with a wonderful record.

Its fleet of vessels has been carrying passengers for 49 years and has never lost a life.

In the pilot houses of all the boats there appears in black the familiar slogan, "Safety First."

Beneath this is another sign in red letters five inches high.

"Take No Chances."

How many of us need that little text every day in our business lives?

From the man who cleans out the waste baskets, up to the pilot of the business itself, Take No Chances, is a mighty fine little rule. There would be far fewer wrecks recorded in the log books of commercial activities, if those three words were printed on every page and lived up to.

It's the foolish, headstrong, take a chance pilot who wrecks the boat.

Spring is with us once more and the farmers are busy making preparations for another crop. Never was the outlook brighter for agriculture than at the present time. All farm products are commanding an unusually high price during these days and the tillers of the soil are having no difficulty in disposing of their surplus grain or any other food stuff they may wish to sell. What is still more reassuring, indications seem to show that this condition will prevail for a number of years to come. It certainly does appear that an era of unprecedented prosperity is in store for the farmers in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

DEATHS

After several months of illness, Mrs. Mary Norfolk Moore, wife of the late E. B. Moore, departed this life at 4 o'clock Sunday morning April 7th, 1917, at the home of her son, R. H. Moore, of Salem, Ky.

Mrs. Moore, who was a native of Virginia, was born Sept. 17th, 1840. At the age of twelve years she was happily converted and joined the Methodist church and during all these years she has lived a consistent Christian, ready at all times to give testimony to her faith in Jesus.

In 1853 her father, Dr. Napoleon J. Smith, and her stepmother, moved to Kentucky and settled in Union county, near Caseyville, Ky.; he had an interest in the old Curlew mines.

In 1854 at the age of fourteen she entered school at Science Hill academy at Shelbyville, Ky., and graduated from that school in 1857.

She was employed as an assistant teacher by Rev. D. D. Moore in the Female academy at Morganfield in 1860.

In 1863 they opened a school at Princeton, and the following year they moved to Cincinnati, O., and taught a year. She was married to Elvis B. Moore, Feb. 13th, 1865.

There was born to this union nine children, four of whom died in infancy, two boys and two girls. The five who survive her are:—E. Bruce Moore, who lives near Lebanon, Ky.; M. Burnett Moore, of Tolu; R. Henry Moore, of Salem; Rev. E. S. Moore, pastor of the Smithland Methodist church; and Miss Margaret Moore, the constant and faithful companion of her mother during her last illness.

Mrs. Moore suffered intensely during these months, but was so patient with it, willing to share that much with her Lord if it was His will. She had made every preparation for her going and became anxious for the change. She rejoiced in the Lord many times and even when she could not talk whispered words of praise to the last. She had visions of loved ones gone before and called many of them by name, especially her husband, many times.

Mrs. Moore was a great lover of her Bible and read it daily for many many years, marking the passages she loved so well. She had great faith in prayer, and would go to God with all her troubles trusting in His promises. Her church was dear to her, and she kept in touch with all of its movements, she was a great lover of the Missionary cause at home and in the foreign fields.

She asked her children not to grieve after her as her transition would be that of a blessed immortality.

Her life was given to the service of her Lord and she has gone to live with Him. She has gone from us yet her life is with us and will be in the memory of her loved ones for many years to come.

Her remains were brought here Monday morning and taken to the home of her late husband's niece, Mrs. George H. Foster, and from there at one o'clock to the Methodist church, where the funeral was under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society assisted by Rev. Harry Short, after which the burial was beside her husband in the New Marion cemetery. The pall bearers were old friends and neighbors of the family and were the same with one or two exceptions that acted when her husband was buried, their names follow:

Mayor G. W. Stone, J. G. Rochester, T. C. Cochran, Dr. F. W. Nunn, J. N. Baston, H. F. Morris.

Mrs. Mary Latham, widow of the late Thomas J. Latham, of Memphis, Tenn., died at her palatial home in that city on Tuesday the tenth. She was a cousin of Mrs. Elizabeth Finley, who with her daughters Misses Anna and Mary, were her guests at the time of her death.

GOOD LADY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Cynthia Gilliland Dies At Hopkinsville At Advanced Age.

Mrs. G. C. Bowles was called to Hopkinsville Friday on account of the death of her mother. The Hopkinsville Kentuckian of Saturday said.

Mrs. Cynthia Gilliland died about noon Thursday at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. George P'Pool, on the Buttermilk road, three miles north of the city. She was about 85 years old and the widow of the late Esq. Alex. Gilliland. Some years ago she was stricken with paralysis and her health had since been gradually declining. Mrs. Gilliland was a member of the Baptist church and a lady held in the highest esteem by everyone who knew her. For several years she was a resident of this city and her many friends here will learn with sincere regret of her demise. Three children, Millard Gilliland, of Arizona; Mrs. G. Clark Bowles, of Marion, Ky., and Mrs. George P'Pool, of the county, survive. The interment took place in the family burying ground, near Larkin, yesterday.
