OUR COUNTRY NEEDS MONEY

Mr. J. W. Blue Receives The Following Telegrams Concerning Liberty Bonds

Late yesterday evening I received the following telegrams. (Here copy.)

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.
J. W. Blue.

Marion, Ky.

No subscription Liberty Loan will be received by Federal Reserve Bank, St. Louis, after noon June 15.

Subscription received so far not over one third desired goal. Send yours tonight without fail. Every possible effort must be made in the next few days. Run up total. Every country must do its full share or Liberty Loan will be failure. This would mean direct taxation, it would encourage our enemies and discourage our government and soldiers. This is the hour of personal sacrifice. Suggest in all rural communities all autos be commandeered for whirlwind campaign entire county, situation desperate. Show this telegram to all banks in community. Many counties doing little or nothing. Awake everyone and fight to the finish.

Paducah, Ky.

To the people of Crittenden county.

The amount allotted to Crittenden county is $111,306 the first notice we had as to the amount allotted to us was late Saturday evening. Too late to make any organized effort. I also received a telegram from the chairman of the Liberty Loan organization, for this district, Saturday evening asking me to have announcement made from the pulpits as to the seriousness of the situation and I saw such of our ministers as I could find after receiving the telegram.

I regret that we have not been able to perfect an organization so as to bring the matter to the attention of our citizens generally as I know that our people are always willing to do their part to the extent of their ability and I am sure there would be no deficit in the subscription to our allotment if our people were advised as to the need.

Not having time since receiving these telegrams and notice of our allotment to organize the county systematically, I am taking this means of bringing the matter to the attention of our people. The young men of the country have been registered for draft and many of them will have to go to the front. They are entitled to be furnished with arms, food and clothing while sacrificing their lives for us who stay at home. No true American will hesitate to do all that he can for the defense of his home and country. The situation is more

THE MAN BEHIND THE PLOW

His Fight Is as Important and Necessary as the Man Behind The Gun

Never in the history of this country, or in the history of the world for that matter has it been so important for us to grow something to eat.

Mr. Hoover who is the greatest food expert in the world has given us some startling figures, of course figures are dry to the average man; but figures will not lie. We all know that liars will be sometimes; but when Mr. Hoover gives us figures we know that they are approximately correct.

He tells us that there is but one thing that can prevent a world famine. That one thing is for the U. S. A. to grow the largest crop of foods in her history. We will be going some if we beat some of our bumper crops, but we can do it if we are all wide awake and up and doing from early to late.

Let every body do their bit and we will succeed, it is no time for slackers on the farm, there is work for all, there is a part for all to play and no one can play your part. We must win this war with the plow share and the hoe if we win at all.

We must feed ourselves and our allies, we must produce more animals for food. We must not kill our calves and pigs but we must grow them to be hogs and so much waste. The same principle applies to fowls and every thing we grow. Grow them as large as possible and they will feed more people.

Every one must work, the man who has no visible means of support for himself and family will be declared a vagrant by our courts and made to go to work. The man who does not work is a parasite praying on society, he is sapping the very foundation of our national vitality, and should be put to work at once.

We must prepare for next winter's feed for both man and beast, so let us grow everything in the way of forage that can be grown in this country. Then we can winter our idle animals on this, and feed the grain to the animals that will make food.

We shall prepare our barns as never before to care for this forage crop, we should save it all so when winter comes we will have plenty and to spare. The American people are the most wasteful people on earth; but the time has come when we must save. So let us get the habit of saving and it will be easy.

Most every one of the papers report the landing of small contingents of the American army in France and England and we are proud that the first American flag to be unfurled in Europe was carried there by the army surgeon. These soldiers must be fed, they are absolutely dependent upon us for food, so let us do our duty, let us feed them.

serious than is generally realized everyone of us, who stays at home should subscribe for as many of the bonds as he can carry.

I am glad to report that many good citizens have subscriptions, through other institutions through out the County have been as liberal as with us we will not fall far short of making our allotment.

The bond is one of the best of investments and save you from all taxes. All the banks will receive subscriptions. Come in at once and make your subscription so it can be sent in by Friday 15th. You only have to pay two per cent of the cost of the bond when subscription is made and arrangements can be made for future payments later. Ask any bank for information. Let us keep the traditions of old Crittenden and every one do his part. If we have any shrinkers now is a good time to find it out.

BIG TRUCK NOW DOES HAULING

Seven Ton "Gasoline Wagon" to Handle Flour Spar From Franklin Mine.

Last Wednesday the Fairview Flour Spar, Lead and Mining Co., owners of the Franklin mine, received from the Bonsack Machinery Co., of St. Louis, Mo., distributors for this one of their "STERLING," automatic self dumping, seven ton trucks to use in hauling coal to the mine which is located six miles from Marion on the Wallace Ferry road, and to haul flour spar or any other minerals to the I. C. R. R. at this point, from the mines. The truck which was unloaded about noon, was in charge of Mr. J. A. Earhart the demonstrator for the firm from whom it was purchased and Mr. Ralph G. Culbertson salesman in charge of the truck department of the Bonsack Machinery Co., who offices are in St. Louis.

So simple is this great machine that it required very little time to get it adjusted, oiled up and in running order. The first run to the mines was made in 50 minutes which can and will be reduced when the roads get packed and smooth. Three loads were hauled Thursday the first of five tons, and the others six tons each. Friday six loads of seven tons each were brought in, enough to load a car, and this can be done every day.

The mining company has the arrangement for loading the flour spar at the mines perfected so as to load seven tons in a minute. The process of unloading here requires about the same or less time. As quickly as possible arrangements will be made to handle coal here with the same dispatch, and then a load of seven tons will be taken each way, coal as they go and flour spar on the return trip.

This truck which will revolutionize transportation in Crittenden County, weighs 11200 lbs., is wide tread and has a tire surface of 42 inches which will greatly benefit all the roads it goes over. It does not make a rut like a wagon, but on the contrary packs the dirt and being wider geared, fills up any ruts a wagon would make.

One of the wonderful performances of this giant was the way it climbed the Moore Hill, which is 1600 ft., long, with a 14 to 16 per cent grade, the truck not even slacking in the ascent with 7 tons of flour spar. On account of the weight of this truck when loaded, which is over 25000 lbs., all the culberts and bridges had to be strengthened with additional supports, flooring and braces, the Fairview mining company doing this at their own expense, but with the permission and under the direction of County Judge Asher. In addition to doing much work on this road the mining company will purchase a three section adjustable steel road drag which will be attached to the truck every day and dragged over the road going one way one day and return the next day. This will be of incalculable benefit to our roads as every rut will be filled and leveled every day, and all bumps dragged off smooth, and the road thrown up in the center thus making a drainage each way from the center.

When this is done and the road

OUR ROADS NEED WORKING BADLY

Our Highways are in an Awful Condition Considering The Time of The Year

Will we work the roads or not? or is it a matter of not having the time, has it been too dry or too wet? or perhaps really the roads haven't really needed working. I wish that you might tell me the reason WHY overseers are not giving their roads their accustomed attention.

You know there is need of every road in the county being ditched and put in proper condition, you know there has been repeated complaints among neighbors and to your county officials of the unusually bad roads, who have promised you all reasonable assistance and implored you to put your roads in good condition and now in the middle of summer who ever knew of the roads in a worse condition at this time of the year and as there is no seeming disposition to work them, they are bound to grow worse with the inevitable fact that it cost the county more each succeeding year to keep the routes blazed so the rural mail carriers will not lose their way, it is a blessing that they travel these roads every day. How much longer do you think Uncle Sam will listen to bad road complaints, we notice that some routes are being seriously considered for discontinuation for this very reason. Overseers are allowed at least six days in the year to work the county road and I dare say that there is not a road in the county but what needs at least six days or more, how many days on an average do you suppose they get when you fail to work the road, what is the result, wash outs, roads too narrow for a wagon to pass, then the county is asked to put up an additional expense for a new road or to ditch or widen the old one, bad business, many of us wanted to change back to the old system, well we got it now what are we going to do, set down and quit or go to town or to our neighbor and ask for a public subscription to repair a specially neglected spot in the road so that we may get by one more time. If every one will do his duty and give this matter a little or a good deal of attention I believe you will see the spirit of good feeling and a general improvement in every enterprise in the county.

Road Worker.

packed down with 42 inches of tires, carrying 25,000 lbs., weight over them a dozen trips a day it will make that road as good as a dirt road can be, we believe. The truck will be run 16 hours a day with two shifts of operators each working 8 hours. It is said that two other trucks will be purchased and put on in the near future.

The investment of over $5000.00 made by the Fairview Mining Co., is justified by the fact that the cost of transportation is only 30 per cent of what it is with wagons, the depreciation and interest on the investment being vastly overcome by the 70 per cent saved.

The late Mr. Eyssell, President of the Fairview Mining Co., and Mr. W. C. Bohn, superin-

FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

E. Jeffrey Travis Will Make Third Race For School Superintendent of Crittenden County

To the Voters of the County. Dear Friends:

After having thought long and seriously over the matter, I have decided to again enter the race for the nomination for County Superintendent, subject to the action of the Republican voters in the August primary.

This is the third time I have asked the people of my county for this same office. They have granted it twice, not, I hope, as a personal favor to me, individually, but because my work has warranted it. It is on this point that I have courage to ask for the place again, as I am aware of the fact that some people object to individuals holding office for a third term. The Crittenden County Board of Education pays $2.00 per month on the salary of any teacher who teaches for the third term in the same school. They believe in efficiency and not in favoritism. They are willing to pay more for the teacher who does the most good. This good is witnessed by the people whom he serves. I am not asking for more money, just here, but I am asking for re-endorsement if my work in the schools of the county for the past seven years will stand the test.

I come, demanding no favors, nor seeking obligations on your part, whatever. If you think there is another who will do more good for your children than I have done, or will be able to do choose that person with the least hesitation, and take not the least thought of me, because I have lived forty-eight years, principally by my own efforts, and expect to live out the remainder of my allotted time looking out for No. 1. You do not owe me a thing beyond what I earn. The thought I wish to emphasize is, look entirely to the schools in making your choice in this race. Politics, I know, is a fascinating game, and at intervals fills the participant with either glee, anxiety or remorse. Politics does not mix well in schools or churches. For this reason I believe the schools ought to be kept entirely free from its demands. But as it is not the case, and as I am asking for the third term, I will also, ask you to measure my ability as a school officer along with the others who are asking you to vote for them, and if I am at the head of the class please forget the "hand-around game" that politics usually demands and give me your vote. I have never made any promises to get votes, but if I am your choice again this time I will pledge myself to bring about things in the system that have never yet been done in the county. I have tried to preform the duties of the office honestly and fearlessly. My intention is to continue the same.

If I am your choice, vote for me, and I will do my best to return the favor by helping your children to have as good or a little better chance than any others in the State so far as we are able.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis.

The Great Creator and His Band Will Be Here On the Seventh Day of the Redpath Chautauqua

SINCE the days when we followed our first circus parade, to the pulse-stirring strains of the uniformed band sitting aloft in their gilded, palatial wagon drawn by prancing horses, we have never quite lost the magic thrill which always returns when we hear the rousing strains of a good band.

Creator is one of the greatest band leaders our country has ever known. When the well known Italian leader first came to this country he was a veritable sensation. Dramatic, picturesque in his directing, and cyclonic in his intensity and a revelation of musical energy, he was a marvel of emotional possibilities. He quickly became the rage. Creator's genius lay, not only in his singular ability to impart to his men the contagion of his vivid emotions, but also in his unusual mastery of instrumentation. From the shrill call of the cornet to the thunderous roar of the kettledrums every instrument is in perfect harmony. Some one has rightly styled the result as a "Sublime Festival of Harmony." Classic and popular music alike bring thrills of delight to every hearer. The program is sufficiently varied to please the diversified tastes of the great crowds which turn out to hear this celebrated leader. Before the climax the audience reaches a high pitch of enthusiasm.

"At the end of one of his concerts," says the Boston Globe, "the audience refused to disperse and, after Creator had been called out a half dozen times, he got his band together and repeated 'The Star Spangled Banner' with an accompaniment of musical fireworks that sent everybody home in an exalted state of mental elation." Creator's appearance at the Panama Exposition proved a similar sensation. Creator and his band come here on the seventh day of the big Redpath Chautauqua program. Creator will direct his band only at the evening performance. The concert of the afternoon will be led by the assistant director.

It Helps!

There can be no doubt as to the merit of Cardui, the woman's tonic, in the treatment of many troubles peculiar to women. The thousands of women who have been helped by Cardui in the past 40 years, is conclusive proof that it is a good medicine for women who suffer. It should help you, too.

GERMAN BANK WANTS BONDS

Community Speaks Little American But Will Stand By Uncle Sam.

Washington, June 6.—The Treasury Department made public a letter from the Beckmann State Bank at Ferdinand, Ind., to Rolla Wells, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis, applying for $11,050 of Liberty Loan Bonds.

This is a German bank, wrote the cashier, in a German community, composed of all Germans, no other nationality in this entire community. There is very little American spoken here. Nevertheless we are going to stand by Uncle Sam in this hour of need. We feel like we will be able to distribute these bonds amongst our people in a very short time and if our Government should call on us again we will be ready to co-operate with our fellow bankers.

Mr. Haly has been a much abused man by certain politicians and their friends throughout Kentucky for many years, and now, in spite of all this abuse, that he should be given an important appointment in the revenue service is rather remarkable.

In this appointment he had Senator James, Congressman Cantrill and a number of other big guns against him, yet in spite of all these influences he is now revenue collector at a salary of $4,500 in his home district. To our mind this was indeed complimentary of Mr. Haly and his life and character as a citizen and a politician. — Mayfield Messenger.

Secret Wireless Found.

Seattle, Wash., June 6.—A timber cruiser residing in Seattle has reported to United States authorities here that a secret wireless plant is in operation on Elk Creek in the Olympic forest reserve, about twenty four miles from the Pacific ocean. The cruiser reported that materials for the wireless plant were taken into the Queen's country in the summer of 1915. Three Germans bore the stuff on their backs over trails that horses could not have traveled, the cruiser said. About 800 pounds of materials were carried in.

CLINTON LOSS LARGE

Sixteen Dead and Property Loss $500,000

Clinton, May 28.—Sixteen dead and $500,000 damage to property is the toll of Sunday's tornado in and around the city of Clinton. Until 2 o'clock this afternoon, Clinton was cut off from the world, and her face was anxiously awaited. Telephone communication was established after dinner however and a full account of the awful destruction done there was obtainable.

The known dead at Clinton are:

Wheeler Brooks, wife and daughter, of Cypress, southeast of Clinton.

John Wooten,

Mrs. Bynum Bone and daughter.

Jim Anderson.

Bob Burgess and Mrs. Burgess, and daughter.

Six negroes.

The force of the tornado was spent on one street in Clinton's resident district. For one hour and a half, people of Clinton watched the gathering storm.

In the distance, to the south, the great black funnel came nearer and nearer. It traveled slowly, but as it neared the town it gathered momentum and struck it all its fury.

It hit a section of the town of Clinton known as Washington street east of the square. On this street there is a negro settlement of frame houses. This portion of the street was literally blown to atoms. There remains not a trace of it. Every house was uplifted from its foundation and hurled away. Six negroes are known to have lost their lives in this destruction. One body was picked up 500 yards away, unrecognizable.

The whole of Washington St. was demolished. There is not a whole house remaining, and many were blown completely away, foundation and all. Spacious two story dwellings went with the rest. The great black monster took them without regard to size or value, and filled the air with flying timber. The rest of Clinton was not damaged.

The Mikado Light Opera Company Which Is Coming Here on the Redpath Chautauqua Program

"The Mikado," a comic opera in two acts, text by W. S. Gilbert, music by Sir Arthur Sullivan, has been the greatest popular favorite of all comic operas since its original production in the eighteen-nineties. Gilbert & Sullivan's operas are pure English music.

The Savoy theater, in London, March 14, 1885. The first American production was in Chicago in July, 1895. Then in 1911 there was an all-star revival by Messrs. Herbert and William A. Rudy at the Casino theater, New York.

This charming travesty of Japan will be produced at the big Redpath Chautauqua program of thirty, including the orchestra, and scenic scenery by a company of thirty, including the orchestra.

These scenes will be used throughout the season. Mr. Aldridge is best known as the star of the Redpath Chautauqua program, and is undoubtedly the greatest interpreter of this role, having achieved tremendous success in the same connection with De Wolf Hopper in the recent revival of the opera in New York City. Mr. Aldridge is but one of an all-star cast which is to appear at the big Redpath Chautauqua program. The production will be under the same direction of Miss Mary Valente, a band and orchestra leader who is rapidly gaining wide recognition.

There is a federal law, now in force, making it unlawful for any person, corporation, partnership or association to sell or serve any intoxicating or spirituous penalty for violation of this law is a fine of not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or both.

This law affects every soldier, makes no difference whether he pays for it or not. Be warned.

Don't Neglect the Summer Cold

We "catch cold" in warm weather because colds are germ diseases and our vitality is too low to resist them.
To kill those cold germs, the antiseptic pine-tar of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is famously effective, besides helping to relieve the tight chest and invigorate the tissues. The honey and expectorant ingredients heat the throat and soothe the cough. Always have a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey in your home, 25c. at your druggist.

Notice to Chautauqua Guarantors

At a called meeting of the Chautauqua Association, held Tuesday evening it was decided by those present that Monday June 18 would be set aside for the final ticket selling campaign. In order that this may be entirely successful the co-operation of all those who signed the contract is requested. It was the unanimous opinion of all those present that committees should be formed for canvases, each being under the direction of a chairman. If each guarantor will phone or speak to Mr. Cochran about this he will give full information and will also make the work of the executive committee infinitely easier. A concerted effort is necessary to insure success. It was also requested that as many as can get tickets from Mr. T. H. Cochran and start in selling at once. Let's all get together and boost.

Respectfully Submitted,
The Chautauqua Committee,
W. B. Yandell,
T. H. Cochran,
R. F. Haynes,
J. H. Orme.

KENTUCKY IS BEHIND WITH ITS QUOTA OF MEN FOR THE ARMY

1. I am enclosing a report on recruiting for the regular army for the months of April and May, 1917, in the Louisville Recruiting District.
2. This report shows, the quota due from each county in the District April 1, 1917; the number of men each county furnished during April and May 1917; and the men due from each county June 1, 1917.
3. The War Department decided that by June 18, 1917, one month after the passage of the Army Bill, each recruiting district should furnish its quota.
4. The Louisville District furnished during April and May 1917, 769 accepted applicants. The quota from the district is 2448.
The district should furnish 1679 more applicants by June 28, 1917.
5. The Louisville Recruiting District does not make a good showing as compared with her neighbor, Indiana, which State has already furnished its quota.
6. It is requested that all prominence possible be given to this report and it would be appreciated if newspapers in the Louisville District would publish the report in full.

Paper From Storm wrecked House Travels About 45 Miles.
Three years ago Mrs. Della Copelen of Wingo, made a note for $300.00 to Horace Robertson merchant at Wingo. The note was paid off last year and was found this week on Marion, Ky., mail route 3, and was mailed to Mr. Robertson receiving it Friday. Since the note was paid on, it has been in the home of Clarence Puckett at Clinton, son-in-law of Mrs. Copelen, and last Sunday the home of Mr.

Puckett was wrecked and blown away by a cyclone and the contents scattered to the four winds.
The paper traveled about 145 miles and was in good condition and looked as if a drop of water had never been on it.—Mayfield

Obituary.

April 9th, 1917, just as the sun was rising, M. and Mrs. B. E. Sisco's home was darkened by the death summons calling their darling baby boy,
Jones Roy, who was born Dec. 4th, 1916, thus making his sweet stay only four short months.
Little Jones was the light of the home and the joy of their hearts. He was a tiny bud here on earth, but will bloom in the bright beyond.
His sufferings were great while here but God ended his sufferings when He called his little spirit higher, there to be with little brother, Lacy, who was called from this home fifteen years ago.

Oh, how he is missed and home is so lonely, with the little smiling face absent, but we would say to the bereaved parents, "Weep not, little Jones is sweetly sleeping and his little body rests from all afflictions. And what a consolation in the "sweet bye and bye," you shall meet on that bright morn, where Jones with little becoming hands is awaiting your coming.
Another little lamb has gone,
To dwell with Him who gave Another little baby boy,
He's sheltered in the grave.
God needed one more angel child
Amidst His shining band,
And so He bent with loving smile
And clasped little Jones' hand.

Constipation Causes Serious Ills tongue is coated it means sluggish bowels, and you invite not only the aches, indigestion but serious ill-health.

gar coated highly efficient, yet mild and easy in action, pleasant to take by young, old or delicate. Sold for years at your druggist, 25c.

Camp Leaders

Not a more splendid opportunity can be obtained than the one given at Kavanaugh Camp for coming in touch with prominent workers with the young people. Each night, except the nights of the "Welcome Reception" and of the Pageant, there will be addresses given. One right Miss Belle Bennett, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, will give a message full of heart throbbing interest. Miss Bessie Combs, a returned missionary, will give a talk about her work. Dr. Little, of Louisville, well known for his work among the negroes will give a stereopticon lecture. On Sunday some well known inspirational speaker will conduct both morning and evening services. Miss Mary Durham will again bring vividly to the young people the appealing message of Christianity at the Vesper services. Mr. J. M. Fuqua, of Fort Thomas will conduct Bible Study classes.

Mrs. J. H. Spillman, president of the Kentucky Conference Methodist Missionary Society, will speak every day at the morning inspirational hour.

BOLT STRUCK NEAR CHURCH

Horse Hitched In Front of Little River Church Instantly Killed Sunday.

Lightning killed a horse belonging to Clifton Harned while the animal was standing hitched in front of Little River Church on the Fairview Pike about six miles from the town. The bolt fell before the morning services had begun, and a number of people had already arrived and were in the building. The horse was tethered to the fence, only a few yards from the church but beyond the spinning of two spokes in the rear wheels, no further sign of damage could be found and no harm was done to the people in the church.

Who Made The Flag?

A flag was raised over the Jamestown worsted mills. From the owners of the mill itself I learn:

The flag was made of wool from American sheep—

To the boys of Crittenden Co., between the ages of 14 and 18.

Believing that this is the time when every young boy should have military training, the CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS has made special arrangements with one of the leading military schools of the United States to give a scholarship to the best qualified boy from Crittenden County.

The successful applicant will receive daily instruction and drill under the direction of a United States Army Officer, besides carrying on the regular high school work which he must pursue. This training will not only fit him to enter the Reserve Officers' Corps or the regular army, but graduation certificate admits him to practically all colleges and universities, and West Point, without examination. Honorary Second Lieutenants in the regular army.

Applicants must be between the ages of 14 and 18 and must have progressed through the seventh grade. Preference, however, will be given to boys who are in the first and second year high school. They should be physically fit, of the highest moral character and should be recommended by at least three prominent business men or business institutions.

This military academy is one of the most widely known and best equipped in the United States, having a national patronage. The scholarship was only made available to the CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS through vacancies caused by Junior Cadets entering Officers' Reserve Training Corps, and makes the cost of board and tuition very low.

Our nation's great need for military trained men in every walk of life makes this an unusual opportunity for some Crittenden County boy.

Application should be made direct to this office where catalogues of the school and full information may be had.

HOW SHALL WE PAY FOR THE WAR?

A Constructive Criticism on the House Revenue Bill.

LOANS BETTER THAN TAXES

Five Reasons Why Excessive Taxes at the Outset of War Are Disadvantageous—Great Britain Example Worthy of Emulation—How the Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

By EDWIN R. A. SELIGMAN, McVickar Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

On May 23, 1917, the House of Representatives passed an act "to provide revenue to defray war expenses and for other purposes." In the original bill as presented by the Committee of Ways and Means, the additional revenue to be derived was estimated at $1,810,420,000. The amendment to the income tax, which was tacked on to the bill during the discussion in the House, was expected to yield another $40,000,000 or $50,000,000.

In discussing the House bill, two problems arise:

I. How much should be raised by taxation?

II. In what manner should this sum be raised?

I. How Much Should Be Raised by Taxation?

How was the figure of $1,800,000,000 arrived at? The answer is simple. When the Secretary of the Treasury came to estimate the additional war expenses for the year 1917-18, he calculated that they would amount to some $6,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 was to be allotted to the allies, and $3,000,000,000 was to be utilized for the domestic purposes. Thinking that it would be a fair proposition to divide this latter sum between loans and taxes, he concluded that the amount to be raised by taxes was $1,800,000,000.

There are two extreme theories, each of which may be dismissed with scant courtesy. The one is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by loans, and the other is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by taxes. Each theory is untenable.

It is indeed true that the burdens of the war should be borne by the present rather than the future generation; but this does not mean that they should be borne by this year's taxation.

Meeting all war expenses by taxation makes the taxpayers in one or two years bear the burden of benefits that ought to be distributed at least over a decade within the same generation.

In the second place, when expenditures approach the gigantic sums of present-day warfare, the tax-only policy would require more than the total surplus of social income. Were this absolutely necessary, the ensuing havoc in the economic life of the community would have to be endured. But where the disasters are so great and at the same time so unnecessary, the tax-only policy may be declared impracticable.

Secretary McAdoo had the right instinct and highly commendable courage in deciding that a substantial portion, at least, of the revenues should be derived from taxation. But when he hit upon the plan of 50-50 per cent., that is, of raising one-half of all domestic war expenditures by taxes, the question arises whether he did not go too far.

The relative proportion of loans to taxes is after all a purely business proposition. Not to rely to a large extent on loans at the outset of a war is a mistake.

Disadvantages of Excessive Taxes.

The disadvantages of excessive taxes at the outset of the war are as follows:

1. Excessive taxes on consumption will cause popular resentment.

2. Excessive taxes on industry will disarrange business, damp enthusiasm and restrict the spirit of enterprise at the very time when the opposite is needed.

3. Excessive taxes on incomes will deplete the surplus available for investments and interfere with the placing of funds on loans which will be necessary in any event.

4. Excessive taxes on wealth will cause a serious diminution of the incomes which are at present largely drawn upon for the support of educational and philanthropic enterprises. Moreover, these sources of support would be dried up precisely at the time when the need would be greatest.

5. Excessive taxation at the outset of the war will reduce the elasticity available for the increasing demands that are soon to come.

Great Britain's Policy.

Take Great Britain as an example. During the first year of the war she increased taxes only slightly, in order to keep industries going at top notch. During the second year she raised by new taxes only 9 per cent. of her war expenditures. During the third year she levied by additional taxes (over and above the pre-war level) only slightly more than 17 per cent. of her war expenses.

If we should attempt to do as much in the first year of the war as Great Britain did in the third year it would suffice to raise by taxation $1,250,000,000. If, in order to be absolutely on the safe side, it seemed advisable to increase the sum to $1,500,000,000, this should, in our opinion, be the maximum.

In considering the apportionment of the extraordinary burden of taxes in war times certain scientific principles are definitely established:

How Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

(1) The burden of taxes must be spread as far as possible over the whole community so as to cause each individual to share in the sacrifices according to his ability to pay and according to his share in the Government.

(2) Taxes on consumption, which are necessarily borne by the community at large, should be imposed as far as possible on articles of quasi-luxury rather than on those of necessity.

(3) Excises should be imposed as far as possible upon commodities in the hands of the final consumer rather than upon the articles which serve primarily as raw material for further production.

(4) Taxes upon business should be imposed as far as possible upon net earnings rather than upon gross receipts or capital invested.

(5) Taxes upon income which will necessarily be severe should be both differentiated and graduated. That is, there should be a distinction between earned and unearned incomes and there should be a higher rate upon the larger incomes. It is essential, however, not to make the income rate so excessive as to lead to evasion, administrative difficulties, or to the more fundamental objections which have been urged above.

(6) The excess profits which are due to the war constitute the most obvious and reasonable source of revenue during war times. But the principle upon which these war-profit taxes are laid must be equitable in theory and easily calculable in practice.

The Proposed Income Tax.

The additional income tax as passed by the House runs up to a rate of 60 per cent. This is a sum unheard of in the history of civilized society. It must be remembered that it was only after the first year of the war that Great Britain increased her income tax to the maximum of 34 per cent., and that even now in the fourth year of the war the income tax does not exceed 42½ per cent.

It could easily be shown that a tax with rates on moderate incomes substantially less than in Great Britain, and on the larger incomes about as high, would yield only slightly less than the $532,000,000 originally estimated in the House bill.

It is to be hoped that the Senate will reduce the total rate on the highest incomes to 34 per cent., or at most to 40 per cent., and that at the same time it will reduce the rate on the smaller incomes derived from personal or professional earnings.

If the war continues we shall have to depend more and more upon the income tax. By imposing excessive rates now we are not only endangering the future, but are inviting all manner of difficulties which even Great Britain has been able to escape.

Conclusion.

The House bill contains other fundamental defects which may be summed up as follows:

(1) It pursues an erroneous principle in imposing retroactive taxes.

(2) It selects an unjust and unworkable criterion for the excess-profits tax.

(3) It proceeds to an unheard-of height in the income tax.

(4) It imposes unwarranted burdens upon the consumption of the community.

(5) It is calculated to throw business into confusion by levying taxes on gross receipts instead of upon commodities.

(6) It fails to make a proper use of stamp taxes.

(7) It follows an unscientific system in its flat rate on imports.

(8) It includes a multiplicity of petty and unproductive taxes, the vexatiousness of which is out of all proportion to the revenue they produce.

• • • • •

The fundamental lines on which the House bill should be modified are summed up herewith:

(1) The amount of new taxation should be limited to $1,250,000,000—or at the outset to $1,500,000,000. To do more than this would be as unwise as it is unnecessary. To do even this would be to do more than has ever been done by any civilized Government in time of stress.

(2) The excess-profits tax based upon a sound system ought to yield about $500,000,000.

(3) The income-tax schedule ought to be revised with a lowering of the rates on earned incomes below 10 per cent., and with an analogous lowering of the rates on the higher incomes, so as not to exceed 34 per cent. A careful calculation shows that an income tax of this kind would yield some $450,000,000 additional.

(4) The tax on whisky and tobacco ought to remain approximately as it is, with a yield of about $230,000,000.

These three taxes, together with the stamp tax at even the low rate of the House bill, and with an improved automobile tax, will yield over $1,250,000,000, which is the amount of money thought desirable.

The above program would be in harmony with an approved scientific system. It will do away with almost all of the complaints that are being urged against the present. It will refrain from taxing the consumption of the poor.

It will throw a far heavier burden upon the rich, but will not go to the extremes of confiscation. It will obviate interference with business and will keep unimpaired the social productivity of the community.

It will establish a just balance between loans and taxes and will not succumb to the danger of approaching either the tax-only policy or the loan-only policy. Above all, it will keep an undisturbed elastic margin, which must be more and more heavily drawn upon as the war proceeds.

DEATHS

A letter was received Tuesday from Miss Mary Dollar to her mother, giving particulars of the death of Fowler Mayes, 20 year old son of Richard T. Mayes of Robinson, Kan., who was drowned on his father's farm last Tuesday, June 5th, and was buried near Hiawatha, Kan., Saturday, June 9th. The funeral was preached at the residence at 1 o'clock.

He was the only child of his parents. His mother was Miss Annie Miles, of Fredonia.

Fowler Mayes professed faith in Christ two years ago, and was popular where known.

Over 300 people attended this funeral which was conducted in an auto hearse and 75 to 100 cars were in the procession.

The room where the remains lay was banked and piled with flowers of every kind and various designs.

One pathetic feature of his death, was the fact that he was engaged to be married in the near future to Miss Edith Carlson, a beautiful girl of Hiawatha. The cause of his death, was drowning in a creek which he undertook to cross with some stock. The water was up and his horse missed the crossing and in attempting to climb the bank, the supposition is that the horn of the saddle struck him in the breast and knocked him off in the water, a bruised place on his breast indicating as much. He had on a pair of long rubber boots which weighted him down. These he pulled off while under the water, as they were not on the body when found. He never rose after sinking the first time and when found his body was cramped up double.

Hiawatha is a beautiful little city of about 4000 inhabitants.

The people there were unusually kind to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayes have many relatives and old friends here who sympathize with them in their great loss. Their only son and only child was named for our townsman Wm. Fowler, president of the Farmers Bank.

Bessie McClure died at her home near Levas Monday morning June 11.

She had been a sufferer of that dread disease, tuberculosis for months but made a brave effort to live. She had been at home just one week, from Paducah where she spent ten days with Mrs. Tom Dunning hoping to be benefited.

Dr. Moreland of Marion was called to see her Sunday. She leaves a widowed mother, two brothers and one sister, also several half brothers and sisters.

THE GREAT CREATORE AND HIS BAND

World-Famous Leader to Present a Sublime Festival of Harmony—His Audiences Rise to a High Pitch of Enthusiasm. Coming on the Last Day of the Chautauqua.

It will be welcome news to lovers of band music to know that the great Creatore and his band are coming here on the last day of the Redpath chautauqua program this season.

Since the days when we followed our first circus parade, to the pulse-stirring strains of the uniformed band sitting aloft in a gilded, palatial wagon drawn by prancing

leader first came to this country he was a veritable sensation. Dramatic, picturesque in his directing, and cyclonic in his intensity and a revelation of musical energy, he was a marvel of emotional possibilities. He quickly became the rage. Creatore's genius lay not only in his singular ability to impart to his men the contagion of his vivid emotions, but also in his unusual mastery of instrumentation.

From the shrill call of the cornet to the thunderous roar of the kettle-drums, every instrument is in perfect harmony. Some one has rightly styled the result as a "Sublime Festival of Harmony."

ence reaches a high pitch of enthusiasm.

"At the end of one of his concerts," says the Boston Globe, "the audience refused to disperse and, after Creatore had been called out a half dozen times, he got his band together and repeated 'The Star Spangled Banner' with an accompaniment of musical fireworks that sent everybody home in an exalted state of mental elation." Creatore's appearance at the Panama Exposition proved a similar sensation.

Creatore and his band come here on the seventh day of the big Chautauqua program.

He will have thirty picked men with him, all of whom have been with him for several years.

Creatore will direct his band only at the evening performance. The concert of the afternoon will be led by the assistant director.

Miss Ethel Harrington will appear as soloist. As a vocalist she has starred in the principal theaters of Europe. Also she has appeared in leading roles in opera in Rome, Naples, Milan, Athens and other leading cities on the continent.

Creatore's Band promises to be one of the biggest and most popular events of the Chautauqua this year.

ONE HUNDRED CHAUTAUQUAS LEFT CHICAGO ON APRIL 10

Season of 1917 Opened in Jacksonville, Fla., and Ends About Sept. 1 in Chicago

The Redpath Chautauqua special train of six cars, carrying over a hundred of the big Redpath family, left Chicago on Tuesday afternoon, April 10, for Jacksonville, Fla.

The arrival in Jacksonville was scheduled for Thursday, April 12th, the opening day of the Redpath Chautauqua circuit for 1917.

As in two former years a stop was made at Asheville, North Carolina, where the entire party was entertained at dinner, as the guests of Manager Seeley, at beautiful Grove Park Inn in the mountains.

Already the Chautauqua tents were up in the first few towns along the circuit when the special train reached the southland.

The circuit opened April 12 in Jacksonville and closes in Chicago about September 1.

In Chicago, three Redpath Chautauquas will be conducted simultaneously under the auspices of the Chicago Advertising Association—one of the biggest organizations in the city. One will be located on the North Shore, one on the West Side and one on the South Side.

INNOVATIONS IN 1917 CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

Entire Light Opera "The Mikado" Presented with Special Scenery and Gorgeous Costumes—Introduction of Community Singing in Charge of a Trained Director.

The Redpath Chautauqua program this season contains several important new features never given on the Redpath Chautauquas before, which are sure to prove popular. The announcement of the presentation of "The Mikado" has aroused a great deal of interest all over the circuit. Grand opera may be loved by the few, but light opera is universal in its appeal.

It is beginning to be recognized that the Gilbert and Sullivan operas Nanki-Poo is in love with Yum-Yum, who is betrothed to her guardian, Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner. Poo-Bah, "retailer of state secrets at a low figure," tells Nanki-Poo of his sweetheart's betrothal to another, but the young man secures an interview with Yum-Yum and confesses he is the Mikado's son.

are pure English classics, because they are natural, and possess those qualities which will cause them in the future to be valued equally with the comedies of Shakespeare. "The Mikado" is undoubtedly the greatest of these, and curiously enough it was this opera which first anticipated the rise of modern Japan, although the characters portrayed are by no means Japs, but ourselves—in a very thin disguise.

This charming travesty of Japan has been the greatest popular favorite of all comic operas since its orig-

Ko-Ko receives a message from the Mikado, telling him he must see that some one in Titipu is beheaded within the month or he will lose his position, which message interferes with the Lord High Executioner's matrimonial arrangements. Nanki-Poo agrees to sacrifice himself if he may marry Yum-Yum and have her with him during the intervening month. This is agreed to and the wedding plans are made.

At the opening of the second act Yum-Yum is preparing for the ceremony. While talking with Nanki-Pooh she is interrupted by Ko-Ko, who tells her that according to the law, when a married man is executed his wife is burned alive. This news cools Yum-Yum's ardor, but Nanki-Pooh, to save her, swears that he will that day perform the Happy Dispatch of hari-kari. As this would be dangerous for Ko-Ko, he promises in alarm to swear falsely to the execution of Nanki-Pooh.

Longfellow's artful story of "Minnehaha" with its wondrous colorings and its tale of love and sorrow, revealed much of the beauty of aboriginal life and character, but it has remained for this modern singer of the songs of her fathers to bring their message to this later generation. Her Indian chieftain father, true sought out the Penobscot tribesman to guide them thru the Northern wilds, and paddle their canoes thru the treacherous waters, while the women remaining in the tepees wove the gorgeous baskets and beaded and buckskin garments.

Watahwaso's father was then a recognized authority in Indian history and folk-lore and a speaker of distinct charm. Often accompanying him was his little princess charming and demure, who with remarkable skill sang the tribal songs and chants and gracefully danced the ceremonial Indian dances. Up to this time, her only tutors had been Sisters of Mercy in their Indian school.

A professor from Cambridge, inquiring among the Penobscots for information concerning an ancestor whom that tribe had taken prisoner in the French and Indian War, discovered that Watahwaso's ancestors had befriended his relative, the prisoner. In gratitude for this, and in appreciation of the remarkable talent displayed by the little princess, he arranged for her schooling at Cambridge, including study with masters in musical art.

Thus she has come to her own, an artist supreme in the portrayal of Indian lore and in the interpretation of Indian music and dances.

She has appeared several times recently in Chicago, before large and appreciative audiences, in her legends, songs and dances.

She will be accompanied in each of her programs on her Chautauqua tour by a pianist.

The Mikado now arrives and Ko-Ko tells him the execution has taken place, but the Mikado, on learning who the victim is, flies into a rage and says he has beheaded the heir to to racial traditions, established and kept his family intact at their tribal island home at Oldtown, near the coast of Maine. Far from resisting those influences which he knew would attract his people away from the old the throne, and must himself suffer torture for his act. However, Nanki-Pooh opportunely appears and Ko-Ko gains his pardon by marrying Katisha, while Yum-Yum and Nanki-Pooh are happily united.

Community singing, a new feature of the Redpath Chautauquas this year, is to be under the general supervision of W. L. Tomlins, originator of the Tomlins idea in community singing and one of the best known authorities on the subject in the country.

Each town will have its own director, who will be under the direct guidance of Mr. Tomlins himself. Each morning there will be a chorus at the Redpath tent, in which all citizens are invited to participate. At each evening program the chorus will sing. Reports indicate the movement to be one of the most popular the Redpath Bureau has ever undertaken.

Mr. Tomlins has been advocating the union of thousands in the common tie of appreciation of chorus work for more than a quarter century. His idea first gained a degree of publicity when he acted as director of the Columbian Chorus of 5,000 at the time of the World's Fair in Chicago. It is also a matter of record that he organized and drilled the Children's Chorus of 1,500 voices at that time.

Since then he has directed several of the larger choral organizations in the United States and Europe, the most recent event of magnitude being the leading of the great community song festival which took place in Chicago when the Municipal Pier was dedicated in 1916. Four gathered about one of the large band stands singing familiar hymns or national songs. Then," continued the speaker, a well-known musical critic, "would come the refrain, in which the band would join, and with it the voices of an assemblage of 10,000 visitors. As these glorious harmonies lapsed into silence, I would thousand men and women joined in that memorable ceremonial.

At a banquet tendered Mr. Tomlins in Chicago a few months ago, one of the speakers, in describing the work of Mr. Tomlins and its effect in uniting a heterogeneous crowd into a component whole, said:

"I have many times heard Mr. Tomlins direct a thousand or more hear floating over the waters in the distance choirs of singers, men and women of all nationalities; and as their voices rose and fell there came to us a great race harmony of song, prefiguring the great unhyphenated American life."

THE MOTHER GOOSE LADY IN STORY BOOK LAND

Conscious of the universal appeal of pageantry, the Redpath Chautauquas are to present this season a spectacular fantasy, a "Mother Goose Festival," in which local children will participate.

Dear old Mother Goose! The mystic magic worker of childhood! The imagination tonic of maturity! The joy memory of age!

The days of preparation for the spectacle in each city instead of being irksome are gala times for the little folks under the direction of the playground worker.

Designers have produced an adequate number of costumes which are at once correct, colorful and fantastic, and a unique setting has also been constructed.

"With the Mother Goose Lady In Story Book Land" is a rhythmic, fanciful narrative, introducing the children's favorite Mother Goose stories, characters and legends.

The time—Childhood. The place—The Border of Dreamland.

The evening shades have fallen. The night has come. The children, scampering bedward, pause but a moment to bid all Good night! As eyelids droop the silvery caraval "Sleep" casts anchor, takes on its precious cargo and sails away to the "Land of Dreams."

Now comes the Queen of Night, with her troops of fairies frolicking, singing, skipping and playing, until a myriad of Brownies and Kewpies finally succeed in opening the big Mother Goose book. Presto! Out of its mystic leaves ambles the quaint, peak-hatted dame, followed by her scores of children, tripping gaily to the tuneful Mother Goose music.

In turn comes the Ride to Banbury Cross, the wonderful Blackbird Pie, Jack and Jill, Little Bo Peep, Old King Cole, Little Boy Blue, Cinderella, Jack Horner, Miss Muffet, Tom the Piper's Son, with many others, and through every colorful scene the scolding, laughing, quaint but kindly old witch holds high carnival with her rollicking brood.

The spectacle is offered in the hope of centering community interest, of fostering and encouraging supervised play, of making vivid to the children these imaginative but time tried and meritorious fictions and of diverting, for an hour at least, the minds of busy grownups from daily care to fanciful fields of beauty.

All children's work at the Chautauquas is in charge of trained playground workers and storytellers and is under the direction of the Redpath Educational Department. Miss Kathryn Lisle York, an expert in children's work has in charge of the children's work and will visit the different Chautauquas throughout the season. In addition to the child pageant, or Mother Goose Festival which comes on the sixth of the first six days of the week.

MEETING THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Timely Topic to Be Discussed by One Who Has Made a Close Study of Foods and Labor Conditions

Geo. L. McNutt, the "dinner pail man" who is to speak at the Chautauqua here on "Meeting the High Cost of Living," says that the tragedy of the city is that it separates the worker from the soil. Mr. McNutt has made numerous interesting experiments in gardening. The ac-done by constant interplanting, preserving a continuous growth of vigorous greens.

The aesthetics were secured by screening an ugly alley and some tumble down fences and barns, by three rows of sunflowers along two sides of the garden. As the picture sweet peas were planted near enough to use the cosmos to climb on making a very beautiful effect, peeping out through the mass of green of the cosmos.

Rev. George L. McNutt is unique among lecturers. Indeed, few men have in any degree come into contact with men in so varied circum-drew for his daily labor.

First, as a roustabout, he labored in steel mills, and then as laborer on construction gangs, as a "white wing" and as a mechanic, he worked thru Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, finally traveling northward through New England into Maine.

Mr. McNutt's Garden, 40x80 Feet in Dimension

The garden was one of the show spots of the city. Only 40 by 80 ft., it was made to produce over $50 worth of food stuffs and at the same time be a thing of beauty. This was stances as this experimenter in the laboratory of human nature. For seven years he toiled day in and day out, along with the common laborer, to see the world as the ordinary man viewed it.

He held charges in Chicago, Indianapolis, and New York. At the time he left the ministry he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Urbana, Illinois, the seat of the University of Illinois. Mr. McNutt did not go as an onlooker and a man of independent wealth, but lived with his family upon the wages he

Mr. McNutt has long been popular as a Chautauqua lecturer, in fact he appeared upon the first circuit Chautauqua program some ten years ago.

Out of the crucible of life, in the rough, Mr. McNutt has emerged with a story worth listening to, and with figures and facts not obtainable in the ordinary works on sociology and economic subjects. His statements are not those of the impractical theorist, but those of an intensely practical man who has lived the life he tells about.

AMERICA'S FIRST CONGRESSWOMAN

Jeannette Rankin to Lecture on Redpath Chautauqua Program as Soon as Congressional Duties Will Permit

Miss Jeannette Rankin America's first and only congresswoman is scheduled to appear on this program and speak on the subject "Let the People Know," the slogan which elected her. While Miss Rankin went to Montana when the state was almost a wilderness. Graduated from the University of Montana. Became an ardent champion of woman's suffrage while a mere girl.

Studied at school of Philanthropy in New York. Became worker for New York State Suffrage Party in its early days. Was chosen field secretary for the National American Woman's Suffrage Association. Conducted a suffrage campaign in Florida. Resigned National Suffrage secretaryship to center her activities in her home state. Did more than any other woman to bring about the success of woman's suffrage in Montana in 1914. A convincing and interesting speaker, she addressed crowds on the streets, in the country stores, and on railway platforms. In 1916 was elected America's first Congresswoman on the Republican ticket, while the same state gave President Wilson 81,000 votes to Hughes' 55,000. In Congress she will fight for the extension of the child labor laws, Aldridge as Nanki-Pooh. Ed. Andrews is conceded to be the greatest Ko-Ko of the generation. He has sung the part 1200 times. He possesses a thunderous bass voice and sings the part with zest and a delightful enthusiasm. Many famous comedians have played Ko-Ko, but few have been able to obtain an intelligent conception and interpret Gilbert's fine humor and brilliant satire as Ed. Andrews has.

Mr. Arthur Aldridge is, like Mr. Andrews, one of the great interpreters of his role—Nanki-Pooh. In the recent revival of the Gilbert & Sullivan Operas he scored a tremendous success with Dewolf Hopper. He has appeared recently in the mammoth New York Hippodrome productions and is now recognized as New York's leading light opera tenor. Indeed some critics have been so kind as to claim that he has few equals among the world famous grand opera tenors.

The leading feminine role in the company will be taken by Bertha James Gilbert.

Beautiful and unique effects have been secured in the scenery built especially for the Redpath Chautauquas by Sosman & Landis of Chicago.

The company will have its own orchestra directed by Miss May Valentine, one of the few successful woman directors in this country.

MARIE MAYER, MARY MAGDALENE OF THE PASSION PLAY

First Actual Participant in the Great Drama of Oberammergau to Appear Before an American Audience. Will speak on Fourth day of Chautauqua Program

Marie Mayer, the Mary Magdalene of the Passion Play of 1910, has come across the sea to tell the story of the world's greatest drama and of the quiet, peaceful village of Oberammergau. Thousands have journeyed to Oberammergau to witness the Passion Play. Books have been written about the Garden of Gethsemane; and then in 1910 she realized the greatest honor which can come to any girl of Oberammergau. She was given the part of Mary Magdalene, the most important woman's role in the Passion Play. Thirty years before, her own mother had dreamed of playing the same character but the coveted honor went to ins of Marie Mayer, and her brother Paul is often mentioned as the probable Christus of 1920.

Marie Mayer has a fine stage presence. She is tall and slender, with heavy, chestnut brown hair combed simply back from a broad white brow. Her eyes are a clear blue. Her voice is thrilling—magnetic in its holding quallaughter that greets her quaint touches of humor. Her English is excellent, marked only by the slightest and most delightful of accents.

The little village of Oberammergau nestles in a high hanging mountain valley in Bavaria. The mountain peaks rise on all sides, shutting out the world. Crowning one rocky spire is a cross looking down on the valley and the village. Upon the nearer hillsides the cattle graze and the farmers till the fields. In the trim village shops the Oberammergauers work at their benches carving wood, an art for which they are famous.

Life runs quietly in Oberammergau and there is time for meditation. The citizens of the village have preserved in their simple living a deep religious fervor. In the spring the villagers go out in a body singing and praying for a full harvest. In the fall they journey forth again, this time to chant hymns of thanksgiving for the season's bounty. And all the while the cross looking down upon the little valley is an ever present reminder of the dread year 1633, when the plague devastated the country. Because their village was spared, the citizens of Oberammergau made a vow to present every ten years the scenes of the Passion of Christ in gratitude for their deliverance. The vow has been kept to this day. Years are gladly spent in preparation for a part in it. To be worthy of consideration by the Burgomaster and the Committee, one must live worthily in all things. And because the inhabitants of Oberammergau do live in reality the simple, kindly life they aspire some day to portray in the great tableau, the calm peace of soul that seems peculiarly their inheritance glows in the tranquil serenity of their faces.

THE COMMUNITY SINGING MOVEMENT

Musical Leader Says It Is Sweeping the Land

This community singing movement that is sweeping the land is bringing in reports from all directions of immense gatherings. At Baltimore nearly 3,500 people attended the first community concert held in Mount Vernon place at the base of the Washington Monument, and entered into the spirit of the occasion with enthusiasm, and when the community songs were reached on the program, it is said they joined in the singing with the full strength of their voices. The municipal band, under the direction of O.P. Steinwald, whose concerts have proved such an enjoyable feature of the summer life in Baltimore, furnished the accompaniment for the singing of the crowd. "In Pittsburgh nothing short of 10,000 attended the first band concert at Schenley Park and sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner," making a truly patriotic demonstration with practically every man, woman and child joining in the singing.—Musical Leader.

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES

High Cost of Living Has Not Yet Affected Chautauqua Tickets

The high cost of living has not yet affected the price of Chautauqua tickets. Educational factors and institutions are usually the last to benefit from advancing prices. The average school teacher can testify to this fact from time immemorial.

Chautauqua Compared to a University Course

"There is no form of public service which is of greater value to a community than that rendered by conscientious and high grade chautauqua or lyceum bureaus," says Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago.

"The contact thus secured by the resident public with people of eminence in the world of scholarship, entertainment, or art, serves almost the purpose of a popular and widely distributed university course.

"Any community that is sensitive to its own best interests in these larger matters will be certain to avail itself of the opportunities offered for a chautauqua assembly or a lyceum course. This is the experience of an increasing multitude of people in all the states."

COMPANY FAMOUS AS ORATORIO ARTISTS

Reed Miller, Frederick Wheeler, Vera Van Der Veer and Myrtle Thornburgh Coming on Third Night's Program

After we have learned to know and admire great musical artists thru their Victor or Columbia records, we are always anxious to see them in person while they sing the airs and melodies which we have played over and over on the victrola. Four great oratorio artists who have all made records for the Victor or Columbia companies and who have a national reputation in concert and recital work, will appear on this year's Redpath Chautauqua program.

Mr. Reed Miller, tenor, is one of the best, if not the best concert tenors of the day. His voice is clear and fresh, of fine lyric tone. He is noted for the beauty of his diction and phrasing. Mr. Miller has studied music with untiring zeal from his boyhood days in Anderson county, South Carolina, till the present moment. The industry with which he applied himself, coupled with the great qualities of his voice, have gained for him his present high position. When he first came to New York twelve years ago, he was tours throughout the United States, the last one being with Mr. Victor Herbert and his orchestra. Mr. Wheeler's repertoire includes all of the standard and modern oratorios, a fine list of arias suitable for orchestral concerts, and choice recital programs.

Unlike many contraltos, the voice of Nevada Van Der Veer charms first of all, because the registers are so beautifully blended. It is a voice of rare, natural beauty, distinctive quality with cello-like opulence and warmth. It is a voice controlled by feeling and intelligence, and that accounts for the singer's unabated popularity as a concert and oratorio artist.

During her first sojourn in Europe, Madame Van Der Veer studied with Victor Beigel, in London, and Madame Marie Rose, in Paris. The young American singer with the rich voice and the delightful stage presence, attracted the notice of the critics and she was at once engaged to sing at public concerts and private musicales. She particularly distinguished herself in a series of historical concerts in London, appearing with Mark Hambourg, the sufficiently capable to secure a first engagement with the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Since then he has appeared on numerous occasions with Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony Orchestra. He has appeared with other leading musical organizations of the country, including the Apollo Club of Chicago and the Philharmonic Club of Minneapolis, as well as at many of the leading festivals. His performances have entitled him to be considered one of the leading oratorio and concert tenors of this country.

Mr. Frederick Wheeler, bass, has been prominently identified with the concert and oratorio work of this country for a number of years.

He has appeared successfully no less than five times with the New York Oratorio Society and the People's Choral Union of New York under direction of Dr. Frank Damrosch, and has made several concert appearances with the New York Symphony Orchestra. Madame Van Der Veer has sung for royalty, and at the residence of many distinguished personages, who entertain during the season in the British metropolis.

Madame Van Der Veer has made two tours with the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch, and one tour with the Theodore Thomas Orchestra of Chicago, under the direction of Frederick Stock.

Myrtle Thornburgh, soprano, is the possessor of a fresh, even, dramatic soprano voice of much charm and color. She has appeared with great success in the title role of "Madame Butterfly," and other operas. The New York Tribune says of her: "The singing of Myrtle Thornburgh is always delightful. She has a voice of great volume, yet at all times the tone is of very fine quality."

Mr. Frank Braun will be the accompanist. He has accompanied artists of the highest type both en tour and in New York at the Sunday night concerts of the Metropolitan Opera House.

ABOUT SEASON TICKETS

In inaugurating each Chautauqua this year, the local committee bought 1,000 $3.00 season tickets which will be sold by them while they last for $2.50 each. When these are exhausted, no season tickets thereafter can be had for less than $3.00. For single admissions to the respective entertainments see program on page 8 of this issue.

Season tickets are non-transferable except within the owner's family. The name of some member of the family must be written in ink upon each season ticket as a protection to the owner in case the ticket is lost.

Children's tickets admit children aged six to fourteen years, inclusive. All children of six or over must have tickets.

it. Lectures have been delivered by returned travelers. Even motion pictures have been made representing it, but Miss Mayer is the first actual participant in the Passion Play to appear before an American audience.

Marie Mayer has taken part in the Passion Play three times: First, as one of the children of Jerusalem in 1890; ten years later as the Angel in another. She married, and in 1910 enjoyed the supreme happiness of seeing her dream realized in her lovely daughter as Mary Magdalene.

There are six main characters in the Passion Play. They are Christus, His Mother, St. John, Mary Magdalene, Peter, and Judas. Anton Lang and Josef Mayer, famous for taking the part of Christus in the past, are cousins.

She combines a rare womanly beauty with a simple dignity that is powerful in its appeal. The essence of her message is reflected in the serene peace that marks her expression. She commands attention the instant she appears on the platform, and the hush that falls over the audience continues to the end of her simple and compelling message, save for the sympathetic

AMERICA AND THE WORLD OF TOMORROW

SUBJECT TO BE DISCUSSED BY DR. MARTIN D. HARDIN

Timely Lecture by One of Chicago's Best Known Pulpit Orators on the First Night of the Chautauqua

"I am not a 'peace at any price' man," declares Dr. Martin D. Hardin, whose peace lecture concerning the Titanic struggle in Europe was declared by William J. Bryan to be "the strongest speech delivered in America on the European situation."

Dr. Hardin will lecture at the Redpath Chautauqua on "America and the World of Tomorrow." Dr. Hardin heartily supports the President in his stand with Germany and believes that there is no hope of world peace until Germany is brought to her senses.

What part is America to play in the present world crisis? What policy is she to stand for after the war closes? Can there be a permanent world peace? Will America democratize Europe, or will Europe militarize America? What lessons has the world war to teach the Great Republic and what has America to offer the world? These are the pertinent questions of the hour discussed by Dr. Hardin. You will love America more and be a better patriot for having heard this address.

Not long ago when Dr. Hardin was introduced to an audience in Minnesota, a man sitting next to Ex-Congressman J. Adam Bede whispered to the former wit of the house: "That can't be a peace preacher. Why, that fellow has got enough punch to be a prize fighter."

Possessed of strong body, Dr. Hardin is a man's man to the core. He is an ardent sportsman, is a crack shot, and plays a good game of tennis. He delights in fishing and always spends some of his vacation time in the Wisconsin lake region. As a golfer, Dr. Hardin is an adept. Indeed, his record of eight better than bogie on the Minnetonka links is a record that a professional might be proud to claim. When in college, Dr. Hardin was an all-star football man.

While a college student, Dr. Hardin gave evidence of the fine oratorical powers which he possesses and which, developed with experience, have won him today the acknowledgment of being one of the masters of public speaking. While in college, in competition with the representatives of the entire South, Dr. Hardin won the Southern Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. Dr. Hardin is a son-in-law of the late Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson.

A Southerner by birth, Dr. Hardin is a man of Northern experience, until recently holding the pastorate of one of the largest of Presbyterian churches in Chicago, resigning to enter the lecture field.

Because of his intensive study and extensive research, and through his visits to practically all of the warring countries, Dr. Hardin's advice has been much sought by others. He has been made chairman of the Peace Committee of the Federated Churches of Chicago.

For nine years he was in charge of the activities of the Third Presbyterian Church in Chicago, with more than 1,000 members. He organized the West Side Sunday Night Club, and so successfully was this carried on that an average of 1,400 people were present each Sunday evening. Prior to his coming to Chicago, he was pastor of the largest Presbyterian Church in the Southern Assembly, at Charlotte, N. C.

Educated in Edinburgh, Scotland, ripened by continental travel, Dr. Hardin brings to his subject the thoughtful efforts of a scholar's mind, the foundations of which are laid solidly on first-hand information. Dr. Hardin has made several trips to Europe.

Dr. Hardin last year lectured on the topic, "Civilization at the Crossroads," speaking to large audiences in 112 cities on one of the Western Redpath circuits.

INFLUENCE ON POPULAR OPINION

Exerted by Lyceum and Chautauqua Is Great, Says Hon. Champ Clark

"Having lectured a great deal on Lyceum courses and at Chautauquas, I have had a good opportunity to watch the development and the influence of both," writes Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives.

"Taken all in all," he continued, "the Lyceum and Chautauqua have done a great deal of good and have awakened thought on a great many important subjects. Undoubtedly they have exerted a large influence on popular opinion."

DISTINGUISHED SPANISH CELLIST

Antonio Sala Will Play On the Fourth Day of the Chautauqua Program

Before Antonio Sala, the distinguished cellist, arrived on American shores he already possessed a reputation which might well be envied by other famous masters of the cello. Senor Sala was royal court cellist to King Alfonso at Madrid, Spain, and established a wide fame as an artist among European musical circles even as a very young man. He is one of the few masters of this instrument.

With him on this Chautauqua tour will be Salvador Sala, recently arrived in America from Barcelona, Spain, where he too earned for himself a reputation as a violinist, being often compared to Kubelik and other artists of similar rank.

Arthus Fram will be the accompanist. He has assisted many of the leading concert artists and is already widely known for his ability.

"NOW AND THEN," A MUSICAL SKETCH BY THE BEULAH BUCK COMPANY

The Beulah Buck Quartet, which will appear in prelude and full program on the second day of this year's Redpath Chautauqua, is a type of company rarely found at the present time—a successful ladies' vocal quartet with eight years of

The Beulah Buck Quartet, at one of the concerts will present a sketch in Colonial costume entitled, "Now and Then." This company has met with great success in the presentation of this sketch and it is safe to say that it will be one of the features of the second day.

BOHEMIAN ORCHESTRA TO FURNISH OPENING NIGHT MUSIC

Never was Redpath Chautauqua week opened with more stirring and popular music than that which will be rendered this year by the Bohemian Orchestra.

EFFICIENCY DAY PLANNED

A DISCUSSION VITAL TO EVERY CITIZEN YOUNG AND OLD

"Gatling Gun" Fogleman, Expert from New York City, to Speak on Success and Failure

Two years ago, thru Dr. Charles Barker's lecture on "How to Live One Hundred Years," the Redpath Bureau gave to nearly three-quarters of a million people cardinal rules for physical efficiency and happiness. This year personal efficiency will be discussed in a striking lecture by H. L. Fogleman, the well known efficiency expert of New York City. His subject will be "An Analysis of Success and Failure."

Mr. Fogleman is expert on both salesmanship and efficiency. He has conducted classes in eight of the largest business institutions in the United States. To prove that he knows how to sell goods, he went out and sold locomotives for two years. His contracts ran $5,600 to $92,500. He has been called in as special advisor to the heads of the largest mercantile establishments of the country. He delivered a lecture before the salesmen of the Ingersoll Watch Factory. Afterwards Mr. Ingersoll, in a letter of thanks to Mr. Fogleman, told him that his ability to discover facts relative to their business was almost uncanny—that he had told them things about themselves of which they were not aware and had crystallized some vague ideas they had had in pertinent, concrete, working form.

NOW Mr. as "Gatling Gun" of his ability 300 words a tinctly.

"MOONSHINE"

B. F. McDONALD CHOOSES UNIQUE FOR LECTURE

A Study of Men and Human Nature Presented in a Most Interesting Way

"Moonshine" the subject of B. F. McDonald's address at the Red Chautauqua does not refer to product of the southern mount which has won fame in novels revenue officers' reports.

"I base my topic upon Webster's definition of moonshine and not the vernacular," declares Mr. McDonald. "Webster defines it as light of the moon, hence show without substance," and it is my particular aim to reveal the falsities and frailties of every phase of life which I have had to deal during lifetime of contact with men of every class.

In his long career as a practicing attorney, Mr. McDonald has had the opportunity of studying men and human nature and particularly has he delved deep into the subject of dual living. Sham is ruthlessly exposed in McDonald's lectures and fraud held up before the public in its true aspect.

There is "Moonshine" in government state, and town life. It is found in church life and school life. Mr. McDonald's lecture is not ranting, hysterical protest. Rather it is backed by sound logic and a broad humanitarian appeal.

The influence of the Chautauqua American life, at such a time as in our history, is very great ind. In the days of the Civil War, Redpath founders, including endell Phillips, Henry Ward echer and Charles Sumner, acmplished great things thru the medium of the public platform.

The following resolutions passed by the Redpath directors in Chicago, April 5, and published in the Chicago Tribune, are of wide interest at this time.

Resolutions Sent to the President

Hon. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

WHEREAS, the United States of America, through its representatives, the President and the Congress, is facing an unusual responsibility in its relations with the nations of the world.

It is probable that, within the next forty-eight hours, Congress will declare that a state of war exists with the government of Germany. This, then, is a time when, regardless of all other considerations, it is the duty of every American citizen, and should be his dearest wish, to do all in his power to support the Government of the United States and renew his loyalty and patriotism.

The Lyceum and Chautauqua represent and are a most democratic expression of American ideals.

The Redpath Lyceum Bureau was conceived during the dark days of the Civil War and found its beginning and first work in the days of our country's need—in the regeneration and rehabilitation of the United States in the years following the Civil War.

The Redpath Lyceum Bureau, through its spokesman, the patriotic platform giants of that day, used its influence in maintaining American ideals and inspiring the people to patriotic service.

Therefore, in conformity with our tradition, be it resolved by the Directors, Officers and Department Managers of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau in meeting assembled.

THAT we renew our own allegiance to America and our loyalty to the Flag and our Government;

THAT we use our utmost efforts in the coming Chautauqua and Lyceum season to promote the patriotic influences of our great country and to inspire the people to the greater heights of loyalty and, a greater consecration to the cause of Democracy—which is to say —to the cause of American ideals!

Chautauqua Part of the Essen- tial Machinery of Democracy

(Editorial From The Chicago Herald)

The Chautauqua movement is one of the effective means which the modern world has discovered for creating public opinion. What the 10-cent magazines were a decade ago, what the social centers may be after ten years' struggle, the Chautauqua movement is today. It is a part of the essential machinery of the democracy.

The first Chautauqua was akin to the first woman's club. It was an organization for easy culture. It was intended to be an American contradiction to Aristotle's overquoted remark to Alexander the Great that there is no royal road to learning.
During brief summer seasons the early Chautauqua leaders tried to administer education with the aid of an anaes-thetic. The patient was not to know what was happening.

But the movement grew and rapidly burst beyond the early "culture" stage.
Unacademic people took part in it.
Soon it was a vast and inclusive effort to satisfy the genuine desires of the average American, especially of the men and women who live in the small cities and in the country.

Entertainment was provided for their amusement. Those who craved learning were given the opportunity to meet real scholars. But withal the well-known public leaders, the men and women who stand for the representative things in national life, were called forth. The Chautauqua became a great imperial forum for the discussion of the deeper issues of the country. It was an immense avenue for the expression of liberal thought.

To an extent seldom realized the Chautauqua has aided in making the United States what it is. Men like Judge Ben. B. Lindsey were enabled through it to find tremendous audiences for their ideas. The Chautauqua has been a free institution. In it the heart of the American people has beaten vigorously. Today 6,000,000 people are numbered in the host touched by the movement.

Who can estimate the power which such an organization exerts in a land where persistent public opinion is the ultimate sovereign?
