EDWARD GARRETT
GERMANY TO LEARN U.S. NOT BLUFFING

WASHINGTON—The American soldier today received his first three months' pay and was told that the German armistice was only a paper one, because the American commander-in-chief, General Douglas MacArthur, had ordered all American troops in Germany to remain there.

American soldiers have been ordered to remain in Germany, according to General MacArthur, who said the armistice was only a paper one and that the American forces would not be withdrawn until after the end of the war.

In a statement, General MacArthur said: "We shall not withdraw from Germany until the end of the war."

General MacArthur's order came after a meeting with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had asked for an end to the armistice negotiations.

The American troops were also told that they would be allowed to return to the United States after the war.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

A shortage of trained nurses can be alleviated by the formation of women's branches of various of the Red Cross societies of the country. In this way the expectation of following orders by the Red Cross is better than by the nurses. In the case of World War I, the Red Cross was well equipped to handle the work.

A certain number of Red Cross nurses have been trained in the service of the Red Cross in the United States and abroad. The nurses are ready to be called upon to help with any help that they can.
