Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 14.—The burial of the late Stephen F. Rives, father of Mrs. Post Wheeler, or better known perhaps, as Hallie Ermine Rives, the novelist, took place here at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Mr. Rives died at Amherst, Va., last January, but owing to Mr. Wheeler being in a hospital at the time Mrs. Wheeler the only survivor of her father, could not leave him. Very simple services were held at the cemetery and the pallbearers were confederate veterans, all of whom were close personal friends as well as brothers in arms of the deceased. Mrs. Wheeler will leave tomorrow to rejoin her husband.

Mr. Rives was born in Montgomery county in 1832 and lived there for many years. This was near Lafayette in this county and he married Miss Mary Ragsdale of that place. ## OUR COUNTRY'S SERVICE FIRST

An Oration Delivered at Main St. Presbyterian Church Sunday By Charles B. Hina.

God, in His all-wise Providence, has so fixed it that the things in this world that we get that are really worth while, that mean most to us, must need cost us something. The more valuable the thing we acquire, the greater the cost to some one.

It is true we may sometimes get things most valuable to us that cost us very little; but that something has cost some one very much.

Our very existence—our lives, it is true—doesn't seem to have cost us much, but back of that is the pain and anxiety of the parents and, many times, long and wakeful hours at night and tender care that we may live.

Salvation is free to us, but back of that is the anguish and suffering and death of the immaculate One, Jesus Christ our Lord and Savior. Yes, our salvation is precious to us, but it cost Jesus, Paul, Peter, John, Stephen and many others very much.

In a political way let me say that we live, thank God, in a country where freedom and liberty are the foundation stones of the government.

This freedom and liberty we love, we cherish. While this means much to us—means all in a political way—let us not forget that it cost much. It cost the brave men of '76 privation, hunger, exposure to the cold and heat. It cost them sleepless nights, weary feet. It cost them wounds, loss of limbs, loss of health and loss of life in many cases. Not only was the cost to the men, but the dear women and children came in for their part in hunger, trouble and anxiety, in the loss of their sons, husbands and fathers. But these of the brave men that were left came marching gallantly home from Bunker Hill, Valley Forge, Princeton, Trenton, Brandywine, Saratoga, Yorktown and other bloody fields.

Yes, gallantly and triumphantly did they come home and once proudly laid at the feet of those they loved—our forefathers—the liberty we have since enjoyed. For years—even generations—has this grand country of ours—the greatest on the globe—safely basked in the light of liberty. How we cherish it! How we can, with pride, boast that throughout its whole domain no edict of king, monarch or despot has ever been promulgated and that ours is truly "a land of the free and the home of the brave."

And now, dear friends, in this good year of 1918, we are called on again to put down this monster of despotism and to uphold our sacred principles of freedom. But this time we are not only to combat it and drive it away from our own dear country, but we are called on to cross the sea and give to the oppressed people of Europe the same blessings of Liberty—a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

To this end our boys are called on to shoulder arms and go forth as did the men of '76, to offer their service, and even their lives, to this great cause. And

I told you I would write you, but I have been running around since I left Kentucky and so could not get the chance sooner. We have bought a little place near Denison, Tex., just inside incorporation but can't get possession until January.

Nurse Gives Her Life.

One of West Kentucky's most efficient and best trained nurses, Miss Katherine P. Irwin, of Kuttawa, Ky., died in France recently from infection caused either by a bomb wound sustained in an enemy raid, or from nursing. Her sister, Miss Sarah Irwin, of Exeter, N. Y., received information to that effect.

The deceased nurse was forty or forty-five years old. She was a sister of Mr. Wood Irwin, a prominent resident of Princeton.

Our Country's Service Flag.

likewise the mothers and fathers of these brave boys, as well as the wives and sisters and friends, are called on to share in and contribute to the cost of this principle.

Yes, my friends, the cost is great, but the principle is greater. Let us, therefore, count ourselves lucky that we can have a part in this great cause. It is a struggle, a great struggle, but there is no question but that victory is at the end.

As I have said, my friends, our country is nobly doing her share in this great fight against imperialism, militarism, despotism and all other isms that are so detestable to an American, and to all men who stand for justice and decency.

While our country is doing her part, old Kentucky is not in the least ranks; and, as a part of Kentucky, old Crittenden county is abreast with her sister counties, and as a part of old Crittenden's contribution to liberty, this little church has given up TEN of her gallant sons. Yes, sons, indeed, and brothers, husbands and friends. Yes, TEN. Not so many, but a great deal more.

Mr. Superintendent, I hold in my hand a Service Flag. It is called a "Service Flag" because it represents the service that our loved ones are rendering to their country and ours, a service that it is to benefit you and me, our children and our children's children. Each star represents a boy, a precious soul, a son, who has gone from your home, gone to help make the world a decent place to live in not only for us, but for future generations.

May the Lord watch over these boys, and may no star here be changed to red, but may they all return victorious and triumphant, that we may personally thank and honor them.

I present this flag to your school in the name of Liberty. Take it, preserve it, cherish it for the sake and in the memory of the brave boys it represents, and may God help us to be willing to pay the cost of the great prize that is now in sight!

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT ASKS OF THE ### SOLDIER

That he give up all of life that he holds most dear; that he go to a foreign land and stand in the path of a foe whose God is just and whose Creed is Murder. That he "challenge" with his heart's blood the advance of the unspeakable Hun.

In return he may receive cold, hunger, hardship, weariness, suffering, death and a clear conscience.

COULD MORE BE ASKED OF HIM?

Mr. Farmer, do you realize that when your boy and your neighbors boy left on that morning train with a smile on his face, that he left, with calm confidence, the responsibility of his fate upon YOUR shoulders?

That he smiled because he felt sure that the folks at home would not fail him? Did the question of where his bread was coming from ever enter his mind? Why should he question it? Where should it come from? Who is he fighting for? What is he fighting for?

He is the only bar before your door. He is the only power under Heaven that can stop the blight of the Hun. He is the only obstacle under the shining sun that stands between German lust and the sanctity of your home. He is the only agency on the face of the earth that defies the will of the German army, the same army that raped Belgium, that laid in desolation the villages of France, that burns pillages, and despoils, and that now seeks the open road to America.

When this boy comes back can you look him in the eye and tell him that you have done all you could? Can you tell him that the bread he ate came to him as a result of the efforts of men like you? Or if he doesn't come back, can you lie down to rest with the conscience of a man who performed his duty?

WHEAT WILL WIN THE WAR, nothing can take its place. The United States alone can produce what is needed, and YOU alone are responsible for the part you play in it.

SOW MORE WHEAT than you ever did before, prepare your ground as you never dreamed of preparing wheat ground, and guard against every agency that will tend to reduce production, and then you will simply have performed your duty.

Written by W. G. Trace, County Agent, Scottsville, Allen Co., Ky.

FARMER

That he sow all the wheat he can. That he use every atom of energy in his being to produce a maximum yield. That he shall not determine his wheat acreage by what he thinks his profits will be.

In return he will receive, more clear profit on his wheat than he ever before received, the comforts of his own home and family, and a clear conscience.

COULD LESS BE ASKED OF HIM?

Mr. Farmer, do you realize that when your boy and your neighbors boy left on that morning train with a smile on his face, that he left, with calm confidence, the responsibility of his fate upon YOUR shoulders?

That he smiled because he felt sure that the folks at home would not fail him? Did the question of where his bread was coming from ever enter his mind? Why should he question it? Where should it come from? Who is he fighting for? What is he fighting for?

Letter From J. Perry Travis.

France, July 11, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:
How are you? How is everything at home?

I am all right, at least I am always hanging around at meal time and eat all I can get, so you can judge as to my health.

I haven't written for about two weeks. You remember I have not heard from you since I left the States and that has been over two months, and it was not at all convenient for me to write until now. Finances are low.

But when I am broke, why, I don't have any fear of losing my money. Money isn't of much use. Can't spend it, only at the M. C. and they soak you two or three times what anything is worth. The Red Cross gives everything, the Y. M. C. A. gives nothing but writing paper. The Y. M. C. A. here should be called the Old Men's Money Association.

We have a paper called Stars and Stripes, printed weekly, for and by the soldiers. It always has a lot of funny things in it, as well as news in general.

That reminds me, I want you to change my American Boy and have it sent to me. I can get 2d class mail here. Would appreciate a bunch of other papers, also the Press—sure would like to get it. Reading matter here is scarcer than hen's teeth. When we get a newspaper it is stale.

We sure had plenty of noise the night of the 4th. You see we celebrate the event. I said "we," however, I had nothing to do with the noise programme.

If you would tell Rank to write I would be glad, sure would love to get some letters. Guess sis will be home by the time you get this so I won't write her this time.

Your own, till I shove my feet under the table at home again.
Perry.

BIG SALARY

Seek business employment, and at every door you are "turned down." Why? Because you are not trained. Business men are looking for trained young men and women.

Your head, if trained, is worth from $5.00 to $10.00 a day; your hands are worth from $1.00 to $2.00 a day. Are you drawing a HEAD salary or a HAND salary? The Draughton Training, AT COLLEGE or BY MAIL, will educate your head—will give you the highest position, will put you into the $10.00-a-day class, and Draughton will find the position for you.

S. G. PARSONS, Cashier First National Bank, Jefferson, N. C., writes: "On completing a two-months' course at DRAUGHTON'S and without previous bookkeeping experience, I took up my duties as cashier of this bank, and, because of the THOROUGH and PRACTICAL training I received at DRAUGHTON'S, I have had no trouble in doing my work."

If you want to draw a head salary, attend Draughton's Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Catalogue FREE.

Miss Bernice Wimberly is the guest of Miss Linda Jenkins for a few days, enroute to her home in Louisville from Dawson Springs.

Hon. Edward D. Stone, Prof. F. Duke Stone and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lemon and their daughter Gracie, toured to Carlsville Friday to be the guests of Rev. V. L. Stone and family.

Avoid This. We often discard the wrong cards, and sometimes it happens that way with friendships.

Card Of Thanks

To The Citizens Of

Crittenden County

Marion, Ky., Aug. 20th, 1918.
The time to give our roads their last general working for the year is now at hand. Any grading that has to be done must be done between now and Sept. 15th, to get the best results. If done later the dirt will not have time to pack before the winter rains. There will be $2.00 per day allowed for all necessary teams on the roads until Sept. 15th. Overseers will then return all time for teams &c. between that date and Oct. 1st.

I am directing this appeal to the citizens of this county because road work is a county affair. Every citizen in the county is interested in the roads, no difference if he be of required road age or not. Since so many of our boys have gone to the war it is the duty of the older men, more now than ever to help to keep these roads in a passable condition. The older men can show their patriotism by helping to keep up the roads as much as any other way, or he can be a slacker by sitting back and see his younger neighbor do double service for his benefit. Let everybody, old and young, work some road within the next two or three weeks.

The county has no money with which to hire road work done. The people, by their vote for the past two years have chosen to work the roads instead of paying some one else to do the work. The biggest sinner in the world is the man who will profit by the oppression of his neighbor. Now, you older men who vote to force the younger man to work your roads for your benefit, rustle up your little spark of patriotism and help these boys put these roads in shape for the winter.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis,
County Engineer.

Marion Housewife Becomes New Woman

"All of our best doctors had given me up. I was unable to leave my bed 16 weeks and was yellow as a pumpkin. Besides the terrible stomach pains I suffered. Our druggist advised my husband to try May's Wonderful Remedy and it has saved my life. I am a new woman now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the extraneous mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will continue or money refunded.

An Interesting Letter From France.

American Expeditionary Force
July 22, 1918.

Dear Sister:
It is once more that I take the pleasure to write you. I can't understand why I haven't received a letter from you since I came overseas. I received a card from you and appreciated it very much. I hope you will write me soon.

I am glad to write you that I have been lucky so far. I have had good health and feeling fine and dandy this morning. We boys have a jolly time, we never have time to take the blues. I like to hear the rifle's ring when they are turned toward the Germans, but the best of all a barrage fire, to hear them big shells ring, and don't think I will forget the first one that got close to me. Oh well, I soon forget it and they don't sound so bad now only when they are firing &c. between that rate and Oct. 1st.

I am directing this appeal to the citizens of this county because road work is a county affair. Every citizen in the county is interested in the roads, no difference if he be of required road age or not. Since so many of our boys have gone to the war it is the duty of the older men, more now than ever to help to keep these roads in a passable condition. The older men can show their patriotism by helping to keep up the roads as much as any other way, or he can be a slacker by sitting back and see his younger neighbor do double service for his benefit. Let everybody, old and young, work some road within the next two or three weeks.

I think it would take us very long to give the Germans a good beating and then the boys will be a happy bunch but until we get the Kaiser and his bunch we can't take time to think very much about home and you all will have to excuse us as we hardly take time to write, so you see I will have plenty of time to tell you all about the things that passed in France when I come back to the U. S. if I happen to be so lucky. Give my love to one and all tell the children that I still love and think of them give my best regards to Mr. and Mrs. Stanton and also to Flora. Will say good bye.

As ever your brother,
Private Maxie L. Hamilton,
Hq. Co. C. U. S. Inf. Amer. Expeditionary Forces France.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If work is tiring, if your nerves are excitable, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion will prove a wonderful strengthening.

It possesses the very elements to invigorate the blood, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Every draught has Scott's. Try it.

Letter From Camp Logan, Ill.

Camp Logan, Ill., Aug. 15, 1918.
Dear Editor and Crittenden County friends:

As I have a few idle minutes will write you another letter to let you know that I am still enjoying the army.

I am now stationed at Camp Logan, Ill., the United States Navy Rifle Range. This camp is on the banks of Lake Michigan close to the border of Wisconsin.

Here is where the sailor gets his rifle practice and here he gets as good a make of rifle and machine guns.

This camp sounds a little like New Orleans for you can hear a constant knocking and roaring of machine guns and rifles. It is as though they are getting as ready for overseas duty.

I will be proud when the day comes for us to go across for I am anxious to go to get across and get in active service.

When we have sham battles they are fought just as real battles are fought, and the men can hardly wait for the command to charge when they are lined up ready for the battle.

When I get across I mean to do my bit to help win this great war that we are in.

I am now an expert rifleman and I think that when the time comes for me to charge on the Huns I will be able to get a few of them before they get me.

It is almost time for now so I will have to close for this time.

Your friend,
Clyde Farmer, Co. A 2nd Reg. U. S. N. Rifle Range Camp Logan, Ill.

SOLDIER

That he give up all of life that he holds most dear; that he go to a foreign land and stand in the path of a foe whose God is just and whose Creed is Murder. That he challenge with his heart's blood the advance of the unspeakable Hun.

In return he may receive cold, hunger, hardship, weariness, suffering, death and a clear conscience.

COULD MORE BE ASKED OF HIM?

Mr. Farmer, do you realize that when your boy and your neighbors boy left on that morning train with a smile on his face, that he left, with calm confidence, the responsibility of his fate upon YOUR shoulders?

That he smiled because he felt sure that the folks at home would not fail him? Did the question of where his bread was coming from ever enter his mind? Why should he question it? Where should it come from? Who is he fighting for? What is he fighting for?

He is the only bar before your door. He is the only power under Heaven that can stop the blight of the Hun. He is the only obstacle under the shining sun that stands between German lust and the sanctity of your home. He is the only agency on the face of the earth that defies the will of the German army, the same army that raped Belgium, that laid in desolation the villages of France, that burns pillages, and spoils, and that now seek, the open road to America.

When this boy comes back can you look him in the eye and tell him that you have done all you could? Can you tell him that the bread he ate came to him as a result of the efforts of men like you? Or if he doesn't come back, can you lie down to rest with the conscience of a man who performed his duty?

WHEAT WILL WIN THE WAR, nothing can take its place in the United States alone can produce what is needed, and YOU alone are responsible for the part you play in it.

SOW MORE WHEAT than you ever did before, prepare your grounds you never dreamed of preparing wheat ground, and guard against every agency that will tend to reduce production, and then you will simply have performed your duty.

Written by W. G. Trace, County Agent,
Scottsville, Allen Co., Ky.

FARMER

That he sow all the wheat he can. That he use every atom of energy in his being to produce a maximum yield.

That he shall not determine his wheat acreage by what he thinks his profit will be.

In return he will receive, more clear profit on his wheat than he ever before received, the comforts of his own home and fire-side, and a clear conscience.

COULD LESS BE ASKED OF HIM?

Letter From J. Perry Travis.

France, July 11, 1918.
Dear Father and Mother:
How are you? How is everything at home?
I am all right, at least I am always hanging around at meal time and eat all I can get, so you can judge as to my health.

I haven't written for about two weeks. You remember I have not heard from you since I left the States and that has been over two months, and it was not at all convenient for me to write until now. Finances are low. My pay roll is over three months behind.

But when I am broke, why, I don't have any fear of losing my money. Money isn't of much use. Can't spend it, only at the M. C. and they soak you two or three times what anything is worth. The Red Cross gives everything, the Y. M. C. A. gives nothing but writing paper. The Y. M. C. A. here should be called the Old Men's Money Association.

We have a paper called Stars and Stripes, printed weekly, for and by the soldiers. It always has a lot of funny things in it, as well as news in general.

That reminds me, I want you to change my American Boy and have it sent to me. I can get 2d class mail here. Would appreciate a bunch of other papers, also the Press—sure would like to get it. Reading matter here is scarcer than hens' teeth. When we get a newspaper it is stale.

We sure had plenty of noise the night of the 4th. You see we celebrate the event. I said "we," however, I had nothing to do with the noise programme.

If you would tell Rank to write I would be glad, sure would love to get some letters. Guess sis will be home by the time you get this so I won't write her this time.

Your own, till I shove my feet under the table at home again.
Perry.

BIG-SALARY

Seek business employment, and at every door you are "turned down." Why? Because you are not trained. Business men are looking for trained young men and women.

Your head, if trained, is worth from $5.00 to $10.00 a day; your hands are worth from $1.00 to $2.00 a day. Are you drawing a HEAD salary or a HAND salary? The Draughton Training, at COLLEGE or BY MAIL, will educate your head—will fit you for the highest position, will put you into the $10.00-a-day class, and Draughton will find the position for you.

S. G. PARSONS, Cashier First National Bank, Jefferson, N. C., writes: "On completing a two-months' course at DRAUGHTON'S and without previous bookkeeping experience, I took up my duties as cashier of this bank, and, because of the THOROUGH and PRACTICAL training I received at DRAUGHTON'S, I have had no trouble in doing my work."

If you want to draw a head salary, attend Draughton's Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn., Catalogue FREE.

Card Of Thanks

To every relative, friend and neighbor, who in any way showed kindness or sympathy to us in our dark hour of sorrow and bereavement we wish to express our heartfelt thanks.

To The Citizens Of Crittenden County

Marion, Ky., Aug. 20th, 1918.
The time to give our roads their last general working for the year is now at hand. Any grading that has to be done must be done between now and Sept. 15th, to get the best results. If done later the dirt will not have time to pack before the winter rains. There will be $2.00 per day allowed for all necessary teams on the roads until Sept. 15th. Overseers will then return all time for teams, &c. between that date and Oct. 1st.

I am directing this appeal to the citizens of the county because road work is a county affair. Every citizen in the county is interested in the roads, no difference if he be of required road age or not. Since so many of our boys have gone to the war it is the duty of the older men, more now than ever to help to keep these roads in a passable condition. The older men can show their patriotism by helping to keep up the roads as much as any other way, or he can be a slacker by sitting back and see his younger neighbor do double service for his benefit. Let everybody, old and young, work some road within the next two or three weeks.

The county has no money with which to hire road work done. The people, by their vote for the past two years have chosen to work the roads instead of paying some one else to do the work. The biggest sinner in the world is the man who will profit by the oppression of his neighbor. Now, you older men who vote to force the younger man to work your roads for your benefit rustle up your little spark of patriotism and help these boys put these roads in shape for the winter.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis,
County Engineer.

Marion Housewife Becomes New Woman

"All of our best doctors had given me up. I was unable to leave my bed 16 weeks and was yellow as a pumpkin, besides the terrible stomach pains I suffered. Our druggist advised my husband to try May's Wonderful Remedy and it has saved my life. I am a new woman now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

An Interesting Letter From France.

American Expeditionary Force
July 22, 1918.

Dear Sister:
It is once more that I take the pleasure to write you. I can't understand why I haven't received a letter from you since I came overseas. I received a card from you and appreciated it very much I hope you will write me soon.

I am glad to write you that I have been lucky so far, I have had good health and feeling fine and dandy this morning. We boys have a jolly time, we never have time to take the blues. I like to hear the rifles ring when they are turned toward the Germans, but the best of all a large fire, to hear them big shells ring, and don't think I will forget the first one that got close to me. Oh well I soon forget it all and they don't sound so bad now only when any one wants to sleep and I take it as a joke just turn over and start my nap anew.

I think it won't take us very long to give the Germans a good licking and then the boys will be a happy bunch but until we get the Kaiser and his bunch we can't take time to think very much about home and you all will have to excuse us as we hardly take time to write, so you see I will have plenty of time to tell you all about the things that passed in France when I come back to the U. S. if I happen to be so lucky. Give my love to one and all tell the children that I still love and think of them give my best regards to Mr. and Mrs. Slaton and also to Flora. Will say good bye.

As ever your brother,
Private Maxie L. Hamilton,
Hdq. Co. C. U. S. Inf. American Expeditionary Forces France.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If work is tiring, if your nerves are excitable, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion will prove a wonderful strengthener. It possesses the very elements to invigorate the blood, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Every druggist has Scott's. Try it.

A Letter From Camp Logan, Ill.

Camp Logan, Ill., Aug. 15 1918.
Dear Editor and Crittenden County friends:

As I have a few idle minutes will write you another letter to let you know that I am still enjoying the navy.

I am now stationed at Camp Logan, Ill., the United States Navy Rifle Range this camp is on the banks of Lake Michigan close to the border of Wisconsin.

Here is where the sailor gets his rifle practice and here he has as an aid about the make of rifles and machine guns.

This camp sounds a little like No Man's Land for you can hear a constant knocking and roaring of machine guns and rifles. It is as though they are getting us ready for overseas duties.

I was proud when the day comes for us to go across for I am anxious now to get across and get in active service.

When we have sham battles they are fought just as real battles are fought, and the men can hardly wait for the command to charge when they are lined up ready for the battle.

When I get across I mean to do my bit to help win this great war that we are in.

I am now an expert rifleman and I think that when the time comes for me to charge on the Huns I will be able to get a few of them before they get me.

It is almost time for now so I will have to close for this time. Your friend,
Clyde Farmer, Co. A 2nd Reg. U. S. N. Rifle Range Camp Logan, Ill.

Our Country's Service Flag.

likewise the mothers and fathers of these brave boys, as well as the wives and sisters and friends, are called on to share in and contribute to the cost of this principle.

Yes, my friends, the cost is great, but the principle is greater. Let us, therefore, count ourselves lucky that we can have a part in this great cause. It is a struggle, a great struggle, but there is no question but that victory is at the end.

As I have said, my friends, our country is nobly doing her share in this great fight against imperialism, militarism, despotism and all other isms, that are so detestable to an American, and to all men who stand for justice and decency.

While our country is doing her part, old Kentucky is not in the rear ranks; and, as a part of Kentucky, old Crittenden county is abreast with her sister counties; and, as a part of old Crittenden's contribution to liberty, this little church has given up TEN of her gallant sons. Yes, sons, indeed, and brothers, husbands and friends. Yes, TEN. Not so many, but a great deal to us.

Mr. Superintendent, I hold in my hand a Service Flag. It is called a "service flag" because it represents the service that our loved ones are tendering to their country and ours, a service that it is to benefit you and me, our children and our children's children. Each star represents a boy, a precious soul, a son, who has gone from your home, gone to help make the world a decent place to live in not only for us, but for future generations.

May the Lord watch over these boys, and may no star here be changed to red, but may they all return victorious and triumphant, that we may personally thank and honor them.

I present this flag to your school in the name of Liberty. Take it, preserve it, cherish it for the sake and in the memory of the brave boys it represents, and may God help us to be willing to pay the cost of the great prize that is now in sight!

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT ASKS OF THE

SOLDIER

That he give up all of life that he holds most dear; that he go to a foreign land and stand in the path of a foe whose God is just and whose Creed is Murder.

That he challenge with his heart's blood the advance of the unspeakable Hun.

In return he may receive cold, hunger, hardship, weariness, suffering, death and a clear conscience.

COULD MORE BE ASKED OF HIM?

Mr. Farmer, do you realize that when your boy and your neighbors boy left on that morning train with a smile on his face, that he left, with calm confidence, the responsibility of his fate upon YOUR shoulders?

That he smiled because he felt sure that the folks at home would not fail him? Did the question of where his bread was coming from ever enter his mind? Why should he question it? Where should it come from? Who is he fighting for? What is he fighting for?

He is the only bar before your door. He is the only power under Heaven that can stop the blight of the Hun. He is the only obstacle under the shining sun that stands between German lust and the sanctity of your home. He is the only agency on the face of the earth that defies the will of the German army, the same army that raped Belgium, that laid in desolation the villages of France, that burns pillages, and despoils, and that now seek, the open road to America.

When this boy comes back can you look him in the eye and tell him that you have done all you could? Can you tell him that the bread he ate came to him as a result of the efforts of men like you? Or if he doesn't come back, can you lie down to rest with the conscience of a man who performed his duty?

WHEAT WILL WIN THE WAR, nothing can take its place the United States alone can produce what is needed, and YOU alone are responsible for the part you play in it.

SOW MORE WHEAT than you ever did before, prepare your grounds you never dreamed of preparing wheat ground, and guard against every agency that will tend to reduce production, and then you will simply have performed your duty.

Scottsville, Allen Co., Ky.

That he sow all the wheat he can that he use every atom of energy in his being to produce a maximum yield.

Letter From J. Perry Travis.

France, July 11, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:
How are you? How is everything at home?

I am all right, at least I am always hanging around at meal time and eat all I can get, so you can judge as to my health.

I haven't written for about two weeks. You remember I have not heard from you since I left the States and that has been over two months, and it was not at all convenient for me to write until now. Finances are low. My pay roll is over three months behind.

But when I am broke, why, I don't have any fear of losing my money. Money isn't of much use. Can't spend it, only at the M. C. and they soak you two or three times what anything is worth. The Red Cross gives everything, the Y. M. C. A. gives nothing but writing paper. The Y. M. C. A. here should be called the Old Men's Money Association.

We have a paper called Stars and Stripes, printed weekly, for and by the soldiers. It always has a lot of funny things in it, as well as news in general.

That reminds me, I want you to change my American Boy and have it sent to me. I can get 2d class mail here. Would appreciate a bunch of other papers, also the Press—sure would like to get it. Reading matter here is scarcer than hens' teeth. When we get a newspaper it is stale.

We sure had plenty of noise the night of the 4th. You see we celebrate the event. I said "we," however, I had nothing to do with the noise programme.

If you would tell Rank to write I would be glad, sure would love to get some letters. Guess sis will be home by the time you get this so I won't write her this time.

Your own, till I shove my feet under the table at home again,
Perry.

BIG-SALARY

Seek business employment, and at every door you are "turned down." Why? Because you are not trained. Business men are looking for trained young men and women.

Your head, if trained, is worth from $5.00 to $10.00 a day; your hands are worth from $1.00 to $2.00 a day. Are you drawing a HEAD salary or a HAND salary? The Draughton Training, AT COLLEGE or BY MAIL, will educate your head—will fit you for the highest position, will put you into the $10.00-a-day class, and Draughton will find the position for you.

S. G. PARSONS, Cashier First National Bank, Jefferson, N. C., writes: "On completing a two-months' course at DRAUGHTON'S and without previous bookkeeping experience, I took up my duties as cashier of this bank, and, because of the THOROUGH and PRACTICAL training I received at DRAUGHTON'S, I have had no trouble in doing my work."

If you want to draw a head salary, attend Draughton's Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn., Catalogue FREE.

To The Citizens Of

Marion, Ky., Aug. 20th, 1918.

The time to give our roads their last general working for the year is now at hand. Any grading that has to be done must be done between now and Sept. 15th. to get the best results. If done later the dirt will not have time to pack before the winter rains. There will be $2.00 per day allowed for all necessary teams on the roads until Sept. 15th. Overseers will then return all time for teams, &c. between that date and Oct. 1st.

I am directing this appeal to the citizens of the county because road work is a county affair. Every citizen in the county is interested in the roads, no difference if he be of required road age or not. Since so many of our boys have gone to the war it is the duty of the older men, more now than ever to help to keep these roads in a passable condition. The older men can show their patriotism by helping to keep up the roads as much so as any other way, or he can be a slacker by sitting back and see his younger neighbor do double service for his benefit. Let's everybody, old and young, work some road within the next two or three weeks.

The county has no money with which to hire road work done. The people, by their vote for the past two years have chosen to work the roads instead of paying some one else to do the work. The biggest sinner in the world is the man who will profit by the oppression of his neighbor. Now, you older men who vote to force the younger man to work your roads for your benefit, rustle up your little spark of patriotism and help these boys put these roads in shape for the winter.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis,
County Engineer.

Marion Housewife Becomes New Woman

"All of our best doctors had given me up. I was unable to leave my bed 16 weeks and was yellow as a pumpkin, besides the terrible stomach pains I suffered. Our druggist advised my husband to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has saved my life. I am a new woman now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

An Interesting Letter From France.

American Expeditionary Force
July 22, 1918.

Dear Sister:
It is once more that I take pleasure to write you. I can't understand why I haven't received a letter from you since I came overseas. I received a card from you and appreciated it very much I hope you will write me soon.

I am glad to write you that I have been lucky so far. I have had good health and feeling fine and dandy this morning. We boys have a jolly time, we never have time to take the blues. I like to hear the rifles ring when they are turned toward the Germans, but the best of all a large fire, to hear them big shells ring, and don't think I will forget the first one that got close to me, Oh well I soon forget it all and they don't sound so bad now only when any one wants to sleep and I take it as a joke just turn over and start my nap anew.

I think it won't take us very long to give the Germans a good licking and then the boys will be a happy bunch but until we get the Kaiser and his bunch we can't take time to think very much about home and you all will have to excuse us as we hardly take time to write, so you see I will have plenty of time to tell you all about the things that passed in France when I come back to the U. S. if I happen to be so lucky. Give my love to one and all tell the children that I still love and think of them give my best regards to Mr. and Mrs. Slaton and also to Flora. Will say good bye.

As ever your brother,
Private Maxie L. Hamilton,
Hdq. Co., C. U. S. Inf. American Expeditionary Forces France.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If work is tiring, if your nerves are excited, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion will prove a wonderful strengthener.

Every druggist has Scott's Emulsion.

Camp Logan, Ill., Aug. 15 1918.
Dear Editor and Crittenden County friends:

As I have a few idle minutes will write you another letter to let you know that I am still enjoying the navy.

I am now stationed at Camp Logan, Ill., the United States Navy Rifle Range this camp is on the banks of Lake Michigan close to the border of Wisconsin.

Here is where the sailor gets his rifle practice and here he has as all about the make of rifles and machine guns.

This camp sounds a little like No Man's Land for you can hear a constant knocking and roaring of machine guns and rifles. It is as though they are getting us ready for overseas duties.

I will be proud when the day comes for us to go across for I am anxious now to get across and get in active service.

When we have sham battles they are fought just as real battles are fought, and the men can hardly wait for the command to charge when they are lined up ready for the battle.

When I get across I mean to do my bit to help win this great war that we are in.

I am now an expert rifleman and I think that when the time comes for me to charge on the Huns I will be able to get a few of them before they get me.

It is almost time for now so I will have to close for this time.

Your friend,
Chde Farmer, Co A 2nd Reg. U. S. N. Rifle Range Camp Logan, Ill.

Our Country's Service Flag.

likewise the mothers and fathers of these brave boys, as well as the wives and sisters and friends, are called on to share in and contribute to the cost of this principle.

Yes, my friends, the cost is great, but the principle is greater. Let us, therefore, count ourselves lucky that we can have a part in this great cause. It is a struggle, a great struggle, but there is no question but that victory is at the end.

As I have said, my friends,
our country is nobly doing her share in this great fight against imperialism, militarism, despotism and all other isms, that are so detestable to an American, and to all men who stand for justice and decency.

While our country is doing her part, old Kentucky is not in the rear ranks; and, as a part of Kentucky, old Crittenden county is abreast with her sister counties; and, as a part of old Crittenden's contribution to liberty, this little church has given up TEN of her gallant sons. Yes, sons, indeed, and brothers, husbands and friends. Yes, TEN.
Not so man, but a great deal to us.

Mr. Superintendent, I hold in my hand a Service Flag. It is called a "service flag" because it represents the service that our loved ones are tendering to their country and ours, a service that it is to benefit you and me, our children and our children's children. Each star represents a boy, a precious soul, a son, who has gone from your home, gone to help make the world a decent place to live in not only for us, but for future generations.

May the Lord watch over these boys, and may no star here be changed to red, but may they all return victorious and triumphant, that we may personally thank and honor them.

I present this flag to your school in the name of Liberty Take it, preserve it, cherish it for the sake and in the memory of the brave boys it represents, and may God help us to be willing to pay the cost of the great prize that is now in sight!

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT ASKS OF THE

SOLDIER

That he give up all of life that he holds most dear; that he go to a foreign land and stand in the path of a foe whose God is lost and whose Creed is Murder.
That he challenge with his heart's blood the advance of the unspeakable Hun.
In return he may receive cold,
hunger, hardship, weariness, suffering, death and a clear conscience.

COULD MORE BE ASKED OF HIM?

Mr. Farmer, do you realize that when your boy and your neigh-
he left, with calm confidence, the responsibility of his fate upon YOUR shoulders?

That he smiled because he felt sure that the folks at home would not fail him? Did the question of where his bread was coming from ever enter his mind? Why should he question it?
Where should it come from? Who is he fighting for? What is he fighting for?

He is the only bar before your door. He is the only power under Heaven that can stop the blight of the Hun. He is the only obstacle under the shining sun that stands between German lust and the sanctity of your home. He is the only agency on the face of the earth that defies the will of the German army, the same army that raped Belgium, that laid in desolation the villages of France, that burns pillages, and despoils, and that now seek the open road to America.

When this boy comes back can you look him in the eye and tell him that you have done all you could? Can you tell him that the bread he ate came to him as a result of the efforts of men like you? Or if he doesn't come back, can you lie down to rest with the conscience of a man who performed his duty?

WHEAT WILL WIN THE WAR, nothing can take its place the United States alone can produce what is needed, and YOU alone are responsible for the part you play in it.

SOW MORE WHEAT than you ever did before, prepare your ground as you never dreamed of preparing wheat ground, and guard against every agency that will tend to reduce production, and then you will simply have performed your duty.

Written by W. G. Trace, County Agent,

That he sow all the wheat he can
That he use every atom of ener-

That he shall not determine his

Letter From J. Perry Travis.

France, July 11, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:
How are you? How is everything at home?
I am all right, at least I am always hanging around at meal time and eat all I can get, so you can judge as to my health.

I haven't written for about two weeks. You remember I have not heard from you since I left the States and that has been over two months, and it was not at all convenient for me to write until now. Finances are low.
My pay roll is over three months behind.

But when I am broke, why, I don't have any fear of losing my money. Money isn't of much use. Can't spend it, only at the Y. M. C. and they soak you two or three times what anything is worth. The Red Cross gives everything, the Y. M. C. A. gives nothing but writing paper.
The Y. M. C. A. here should be called the Old Men's Money Association.

We have a paper called Stars and Stripes, printed weekly, for and by the soldiers. It always has a lot of funny things in it, as well as news in general.

That reminds me, I want you to change my American Boy and have it sent to me. I can get 2d class mail here. Would appreciate a bunch of other papers, also the Press—sure would like to get it. Reading matter here is scarce than hens' teeth. When we get a newspaper it is stale.

We sure had plenty of noise the night of the 4th. You see we celebrate the event. I said
"we," however, I had nothing to do with the noise programme.

If you would tell Rank to write
I would be glad, sure would love to get some letters. Guess sis will be home by the time you get this so I won't write her this time.

Your own, till I shove my feet under the table at home again, Perry.

BIG-SALARY

Seek business employment, and at every door you are "turned down."
Why? Because you are not trained.
Business men are looking for trained young men and women.

Your head, if trained, is worth from $5.00 to $10.00 a day; your hands are worth from $1.00 to $2.00 a day. Are you drawing a HEAD salary or a HAND salary? The Draughton Training, AT COLLEGE or BY MAIL, will educate your head—will fit you for the highest position, will put you into the $10.00-a-day class, and Draughton will find the position for you.

S. G. PARSONS, Cashier First National Bank, Jefferson, N. C., writes:
"On completing a two-months' course at DRAUGHTON'S and without previous bookkeeping experience, I took up my duties as cashier of this bank, and,
because of the THOROUGH and PRACTICAL training I received at DRAUGHTON'S, I have had no trouble in doing my work."

If you want to draw a head salary, attend Draughton's Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn., Catalogue

Miss Bernice Wimberly is the guest of Miss Linda Jenkins for a few days, enroute to her home in Louisville from Dawson Springs.

Hon. Edward D. Stone, Prof.
F. Duke Stone and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lemon and their daughter Gracie, toured to Carrsville Friday to be the guests of Rev. V. L. Stone and family.

and sometimes it happens that way

Card Of Thanks

To every relative, friend and neighbor, who in any way showed kindness or sympathy to us in our dark hour of sorrow and bereavement we wish to express our heartfelt thanks.

Crittenden County

Marion, Ky., Aug. 20th, 1918.
The time to give our roads their last general working for the year is now at hand. Any grading that has to be done must be done between now and Sept. 15th, to get the best results. If done later the dirt will not have time to pack before the winter rains. There will be $2.00 per day allowed for all necessary teams on the roads until Sept. 15th. Overseers will then return all time for teams,
&c. between that date and Oct.
1st.

I am directing this appeal to the citizens of the county because road work is a county affair. Every citizen in the county is interested in the roads, no difference if he be of required road age or not. Since so many of our boys have gone to the war it is the duty of the older men, more now than ever to help to keep these roads in a passable condition. The older men can show their patriotism by helping to keep up the roads as much so as any other way, or he can be a slacker by sitting back and see his younger neighbor do double service for his benefit. Let's everybody, old and young, work some road within the next two or three weeks.

The county has no money with which to hire road work done.
The people, by their vote for the past two years have chosen to work the roads instead of paying some one else to do the work. The biggest sinner in the world is the man who will profit by the oppression of his neighbor. Now, you older men who vote to force the younger man to work your roads for your benefit rustle up your little spark of patriotism and help these boys put these roads in shape for the winter.

Yours very truly,
E. Jeffrey Travis,
County Engineer.

comes New Woman

"All of our best doctors had given me up. I was unable to leave my bed 16 weeks and was yellow as a pumpkin, besides the terrible stomach pains
I suffered. Our druggist advised my husband to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has saved my life. I am a new woman now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

An Interesting Letter From France.

American Expeditionary Force
July 22, 1918.

Dear Sister:

It is once more that I take the pleasure to write you. I can't understand why I haven't received a letter from you since I came overseas. I received a card from you and appreciated it very much I hope you will write me soon.

I am glad to write you that I have been lucky so far. I have had good health and feeling fine and dandy this morning. We boys have a jolly time, we never have time to take the blues. I like to hear the rifles ring when they are turned toward the Germans, but the best of all a lar-rage fire, to hear them big shells ring, and don't think I will forget the first one that got close to me. Oh well I soon forget it all and they don't sound so bad now only when any one wants to sleep and I take it as a joke just turn over and start my nap again.

I think it won't take us very long to give the Germans a good licking and then the boys will be a happy bunch but until we get the Kaiser and his bunch we can't take time to think very much about home and you all will have to excuse us as we hardly take time to write, so you see I will have plenty of time to tell you all about the things that passed in France when I come back to the U. S.
if I happen to be so lucky. Give my love to one and all tell the children that I still love and think of them give my best regards to Mr. and Mrs. Slaton and also to Flora. Will say good bye.

As ever your brother,
Private Maxie L. Hamilton,
Hdq. Co. C. U. S. Inf. American Expeditionary Forces France.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If work is tiring, if your nerves are excitable, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion will prove a wonderful strengthener.
It possesses the very elements to invigorate the blood, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Every druggist has Scott's. Try it!

A Letter From Camp Logan, Ill.

Camp Logan, Ill., Aug. 15 1918.
Dear Editor and Crittenden
County friends:

As I have a few idle minutes will write you another letter to let you know that I am still enjoying the navy.

I am now stationed at Camp
Logan, Ill., the United States Naval Rifle Range this camp is on the banks of Lake Michigan close to the border of Wisconsin.

Here is where the sailor gets his rifle practice and here he learns all about the make of rifles and machine guns.

This camp sounds a little like No Man's Land for you can hear a constant knocking and roaring of machine guns and rifles. It as though they are getting us ready for overseas duties.

I will be proud when the day comes for us to go across for I am anxious now to get across and get in active service.

When we have sham battles they are fought just as real battles are fought, and the men can hardly wait for the command to charge when they are lined up ready for the battle.

When I get across I mean to do my bit to help win this great war that we are in.

I am now an expert rifleman and I think that when the time comes for me to charge on the Huns I will be able to get a few of them before they get me.

It is almost time for now so I will have to close for this time.

Your friend,
Clyde Farmer, Co. A 2nd Reg.
U. S. N. Rifle Range Camp Logan, Ill.

Marion High School in Class A.

A list of schools accredited by the Kentucky Association of Colleges corrected to July 1 has been compiled by Prof. McHenry Rhoads, Supervisor of Secondary Education, since the meeting of the association in May when representatives attended the meeting from Georgetown College, Transylvania, Kentucky Wesleyan, Berea, Center, University of Louisville and University of Kentucky.

The growth of the accredited schools in Kentucky since 1910 has been remarkable. From 83 in 1910 the list has increased to 239. There were then 14 public schools and 29 private schools. There are now 187 public schools and 52 private schools. Of the public schools 79 are in Class A and 49 private schools are in the first class, while Class B has 108 public and 12 private schools.

Schools, whether public or private, may be accredited provided they meet the following requirements:

High schools and other schools doing preparatory work now on the accredited list and that may hereafter be placed on the list may be designated by two forms of classification. The first division, or Class A, may include all schools which meet the following requirements:

Requirements of Class A.

1. The school must offer a standard four-year course of study and require full fifteen entrance credits for graduation therefrom.
  2. Three qualified teachers must be employed who devote all their time to high school work.
  3. The pupil enrollment must not exceed thirty pupils per teacher.
  4. Two-thirds of the teachers employed must possess an academic scholarship equivalent to graduation from a standard college.
  5. A minimum period of forty minutes must be given each recitation.
  6. School must be in session not less than thirty-six weeks during the year.
  7. The equipment for teaching Science must not be less than $150 in value, and the library for reference purposes should not be less in value than $75, exclusive of public documents.
  8. Classes must not be too large to properly handle the subject matter of the recitation.
  9. The school sentiment both of the school and the community must be harmonious and progressive.
  10. The work in school must be approved as satisfactory.
- We are indeed glad that Marion High School is in Class A. It should be the fixed purpose of both the school management and the community to meet the standards set by this Association of Colleges in Kentucky. We should aspire also to accredited relations with the Southern Association of Colleges, and most likely our High School will be so accredited in the next few months.

These associations are doing valuable service in helping to standardize work secondary schools. Under such helpful guidance as these Associations have been giving accompanied by a general betterment in educational conditions the work of high schools has improved by leaps and bounds within the last few years.

School standards do not remain fixed, but are constantly becoming higher; and progressive school communities must be ever on the alert to keep up with the new standards and requirements. Marion is a wide-awake and progressive school community and will

SOW MORE WHEAT

PREVENT FOOD CRISIS

The World Looking to America
For Bread—Only One Way
To Meet Demand.

AN APPEAL FROM DR. FRAZER

The Wheat Campaign is now on. The pledge books are now in the hands of good men, who will push the campaign for all that is out.

Our government is asking us, as patriotic citizens, to sow all the wheat we can. A crisis in food production and conservation is at hand and we must rise up, as patriotic men, and meet this situation. We must do as our boys are doing "over there"—we must show the world the kind of men we are.

The world is looking to us for bread, and we must furnish it or women and children will die from starvation. The reserve supply of food is smaller than ever known. We have enough to tide us over until another harvest, but unless we redouble our diligence and make the largest yield next year in the history of our country, that reserve will be entirely wiped out and the world will be out of food.

We want every farmer in this county to produce at least a small crop of wheat next year. Now is the time to select and prepare your ground for this crop. Let nothing get in the way of a wheat crop.

When your prefect manager calls on you with the pledge book, be ready to tell how much you can sow, so that you will not take up his time unnecessarily. He gets no pay for this work, he is only doing his patriotic duty. So you likewise will be doing a duty you owe to your family and your government when you sow.

You will also be entitled to twice as much flour under the food regulations as the man who grows no wheat. Buy your seed wheat from your neighbor and get ready for your crop NOW!

T. ATCHISON FRAZER,
Chairman,
Crit. Co. Council of Defense.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. ### Marion High School in Class A.

A list of schools accredited by the Kentucky Association of Colleges corrected to July 1 has been compiled by Prof. McHenry Rhoads, Supervisor of Secondary Education, since the meeting of the association in May when representatives attended the meeting from Georgetown College, Transylvania, Kentucky Wesleyan, Berea, Center, University of Louisville and University of Kentucky.

The growth of the accredited schools in Kentucky since 1910 has been remarkable. From 83 in 1910 the list has increased to 239. There were then 54 public schools and 29 private schools. There are now 187 public schools and 52 private schools. Of the public schools 79 are in Class A and 40 private schools are in the first class, while Class B has 108 public and 12 private schools.

Schools, whether public or private, may be accredited provided they meet the following

requirements:

High schools and other schools doing preparatory work now on the accredited list and that may hereafter be placed thereon may be designated by two forms of classification. The first division, or Class A, may include all schools which meet the following requirements:

1. The school must offer a standard four-year course of study and require full fifteen entrance credits for graduation therefrom.
2. Three qualified teachers must be employed who devote all their time to high school work.
3. The pupil enrollment must not exceed thirty pupils per teacher.
4. Two-thirds of the teachers employed must possess an academic scholarship equivalent to graduation from a standard college.
5. A minimum period of forty minutes must be given each recitation.
6. School must be in session not less than thirty-six weeks during the year.
7. The equipment for teaching Science must not be less than $150 in value, and the library for reference purposes should not be less in value than $75, exclusive of public documents.
8. Classes must not be too large to properly handle the subject matter of the recitation.
9. The school sentiment both of the school and the community must be harmonious and progressive.
10. The work in school must be approved as satisfactory.

We are indeed glad that Marion High School is in Class A. It should be the fixed purpose of both the school management and the community to meet the standards set by this Association of Colleges in Kentucky. We should aspire also to accredited relations with the Southern Association of Colleges, and most likely our High School will be so accredited in the next few months.

These associations are doing valuable service in helping to standardize work secondary schools. Under such helpful guidance as these Associations have been giving accompanied by a general betterment in educational conditions the work of high schools has improved by leaps and bounds within the last few years.

School standards do not remain fixed, but are constantly becoming higher; and progressive school communities must be ever on the alert to keep up with the new standards and requirements. Marion is a wide-awake and progressive school community and will

SOW MORE WHEAT PREVENT FOOD CRISIS

The World Looking to America For Bread—Only One Way To Meet Demand.

AN APPEAL FROM DR. FRAZER

The Wheat Campaign is now on. The pledge books are now in the hands of good men, who will push the campaign for all that is out.

Our government is asking us, as patriotic citizens, to sow all the wheat we can. A crisis in food production and conservation is at hand and we must rise up, as patriotic men, and meet this situation. We must do as our boys are doing "over there"—we must show the world the kind of men we are.

The world is looking to us for bread, and we must furnish it or women and children will die from starvation. The reserve supply of food is smaller than ever known. We have enough to tide us over until another harvest, but unless we redouble our diligence and make the largest yield next year in the history of our country, that reserve will be entirely wiped out and the world will be out of food.

We want every farmer in this county to produce at least a small crop of wheat next year. Now is the time to select and prepare your ground for this crop. Let nothing get in the way of a wheat crop.

When your precinct manager calls on you with the pledge book, be ready to tell how much you can sow, so that you will not take up his time unnecessarily. He gets no pay for this work, he is only doing his patriotic duty. So you likewise will be doing a duty you owe to your family and your government when you sow.

You will also be entitled to twice as much flour under the food regulations as the man who grows no wheat. Buy your seed wheat from your neighbor and get ready for your crop NOW!

Marion High School in Class A.

A list of schools accredited by the Kentucky Association of Colleges corrected to July 1 has been compiled by Prof. McHenry Rhoads, Supervisor of Secondary Education, since the meeting of the association in May when representatives attended the meeting from Georgetown College, Transylvania, Kentucky Wesleyan, Berea, Center, University of Louisville and University of Kentucky.

The growth of the accredited schools in Kentucky since 1910 has been remarkable. From 83 in 1910 the list has increased to 239. There were then 54 public schools and 29 private schools. There are now 187 public schools and 52 private schools. Of the public schools 79 are in Class A and 40 private schools are in the first class, while Class B has 108 public and 12 private schools.

Schools, whether public or private, may be accredited provided they meet the following

requirements:

High schools and other schools doing preparatory work now on the accredited list and that may hereafter be placed thereon may be designated by two forms of classification. The first division, or Class A, may include all schools which meet the following requirements:

1. The school must offer a standard four-year course of study and require full fifteen entrance credits for graduation therefrom.
2. Three qualified teachers must be employed who devote all their time to high school work.
3. The pupil enrollment must not exceed thirty pupils per teacher.
4. Two-thirds of the teachers employed must possess an academic scholarship equivalent to graduation from a standard college.
5. A minimum period of forty minutes must be given each recitation.
6. School must be in session not less than thirty-six weeks during the year.
7. The equipment for teaching Science must not be less than $150 in value, and the library for reference purposes should not be less in value than $75, exclusive of public documents.
8. Classes must not be too large to properly handle the subject matter of the recitation.
9. The school sentiment both of the school and the community must be harmonious and progressive.
10. The work in school must be approved as satisfactory.

We are indeed glad that Marion High School is in Class A. It should be the fixed purpose of both the school management and the community to meet the standards set by this Association of Colleges in Kentucky. We should aspire also to accredited relations with the Southern Association of Colleges, and most likely our High School will be so accredited in the next few months.

These associations are doing valuable service in helping to standardize work secondary schools. Under such helpful guidance as these Associations have been giving accompanied by a general betterment in educational conditions the work of high schools has improved by leaps and bounds within the last few years.

School standards do not remain fixed, but are constantly becoming higher, and progressive school communities must be ever on the alert to keep up with the new standards and requirements. Marion is a wide-awake and progressive school community and will

The World Looking to America
For Bread—Only One Way
To Meet Demand.

AN APPEAL FROM DR. FRAZER

The Wheat Campaign is now on. The pledge books are now in the hands of good men, who will push the campaign for all that is out.

Our government is asking us, as patriotic citizens, to sow all the wheat we can. A crisis in food production and conservation is at hand and we must rise up, as patriotic men, and meet this situation. We must do as our boys are doing "over there"—we must show the world the kind of men we are.

The world is looking to us for bread, and we must furnish it or women and children will die from starvation. The reserve supply of food is smaller than ever known. We have enough to tide us over until another harvest, but unless we redouble our diligence and make the largest yield next year in the history of our country, that reserve will be entirely wiped out and the world will be out of food.

We want every farmer in this county to produce at least a small crop of wheat next year. Now is the time to select and prepare your ground for this crop. Let nothing get in the way of a wheat crop.

When your precinct manager calls on you with the pledge book, be ready to tell how much you can sow, so that you will not take up his time unnecessarily. He gets no pay for this work, he is only doing his patriotic duty. So you likewise will be doing a duty you owe to your family and your government when you sow.

You will also be entitled to twice as much flour under the food regulations as the man who grows no wheat. Buy your seed wheat from your neighbor and get ready for your crop NOW!

Chairman,
Crit. Co. Council of Defense.

Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. ### J. Frank Loyd's Washington Letter

If this stupendous sum was distributed equally among humanity it would give $66.00 to every man, woman and child upon the earth; it would build 6,000 and five hundred national capitols like the one here at Washington; and if made in one dollar bills it would take 224 years to count by counting five bills per second, and working eight hours each day. It would be more than ninety dollars for every minute since Christ was born. In the past 125 years the six greatest wars only cost twenty-one billion dollars, and one of them lasted 21 years, the Civil War lasted four years, yet these six greatest wars only pays the expense of this war eight months. The United States is just getting started good, yet last congress appropriated $18,000,000,000, and this congress will be far more. It is costing the United States now $49,000,000 daily. Just to give you some idea what ammunition alone costs in some of the great battles the battle at Sions last year the French alone in the seven days battle expended one hundred million dollars of ammunition.

Up to Aug. 1 1917 the Allies had put up $67,000,000,000, the Central powers $31,000,000,000, Germany $20,000,000,000, France $18,000,000,000, Russia $15,000,000,000, and so on down to the smaller nations. The national wealth of the United States the first of Aug. 1917 was $225,000,000,000. The wealth of the Central Powers, J. E. Germany Austria Turkey and Bulgaria was $134,000,000,000.

The combined Central Powers has an area in square miles of 1,222,000. The United States has an area of 3,027,000 square miles, Russia 8,373,000 square miles.

The combined Allies powers has an area of 18,000,000 square miles. The population of the Central Powers was 147,000,000. The population of the Allies more than 400,000,000 the population of Russia alone was 170,000,000.

Now let us see about the fighting strength. The fighting strength of the combined Allied nations, ages, from 18 to 45 in 1914 was 99,920,000 in Oct. 1, 1917 91,700,000. Estimated enlisted strength October 1st, 1917 was 18,400,000 per cent of man power under arms 27 per cent.

The fighting strength of the Central Powers ages from 18 to 45 in 1914 31,000,000 same as Oct. 1 1917 25,050,000 estimated enlisted strength, Oct. 1, 1917, 11,090,000 per cent of power under arms, 43 per cent.

Now let's see something of the enormous loss of life, now we can only give the correct figures as near as we can get, up to Aug. 1 1917, and you who have watched the reports will agree with me when I say the loss of lives since then is enormous. The grand total was 14,893,000 killed, wounded and captured. The Central Powers loss was 5,884,000. The Allied loss was 8,919,000. Russia alone lost 4,466,000.

The nation that deserves more sympathy than any other nation in the world, is poor little Belgium, a mighty history could be written of this little spot on the map, in 1914 Belgium had a population of 7,600,000 souls, now, she is all but annihilated.

We must not fail to think of poor little Serbia, she has lost 1,000,000 of her men. Now let us see what Uncle Sam can do in case of emergency. France with man-power of 9,000,000 men, equipped and put in arms 6,400,000. Now Uncle Sam with his man power of 22,000,000, can put on the battlefield 15,000,000.

We will remember that in 1914 it was Belgium that checked the mighty hordes of Germans, until France equipped and rushed nearly seven million men to the front.

Belgium and France were forced to do nearly all the fighting the first year. Belgium stood like a stone wall until she was almost annihilated, then it was that England sent to France her regular army of 160,000 men, the German Emperor called it the little contemptible army. That army was annihilated, one division of 12,000 men and 400 officers, came out with 3,000 men and 50 officers.

Then it was that Great Britain with a man power of 12,000,000 between 18 and 45 years rushed her mighty army of five million to the front. The two greatest battles the world has ever known, is the battle of the Marne and at Verdun. I had the pleasure of speaking to Gen. Jeoffre twice while he was here in Washington, he is one of the greatest Generals the world has ever known, it was he who won the battle of the Marne, it was he who checked and drove back the mighty German columns and their marvelous fighting machines, perhaps the best disciplined and trained military organization of which the world has any knowledge, seemed to be invincible.

It was at Marne on one bright Sunday morning that three million men faced each other to murder and kill. It was that bright Sunday morning that Gen. Jeoffre commanded his army to stand and die on the spot rather than give, they stood but all did not get killed. Only one battle greater than the Marne, and that is the battle of Verdun, it was against the slopes of Verdun that was hurled the mightiest assaults in the history of man. It was here that civilization paused before that impact, then tottered and fell as the Prussian hosts swept onward; then rose again as the dauntless soldiers of France responded to that watchword of liberty, "They shall not pass."

It was upon this battlefield that 800,000 men 500,000 Germans and 300,000 French lay down their lives, the main battle ground of 31-2 acres of ground, it was said that five men were killed for every square foot or every 3 feet square, in other words they would be five men deep, thick of it.

Today with all its devastation and ruins, with all the sacrifice of life, with all the sorrow it represents, Verdun stands forth as the greatest monument to courage, bravery and determination of which the world knows.

Of these 800,000 killed only 25,000 were found, the rest were shot away by either blown back to the elements by that tremendous fall of artillery shell or else lost under the scored and pockmarked earth which has been churned and turned over and over again to a depth in many places of thirty feet.

We cannot read of these horrors without being brought to deep reflection. One cannot read and learn of the suffering endured by Belgium and France without being saddened for a lifetime nor ever expect to have that dreadful picture effaced from their memory. Our boys cannot go and see and come back the same. Those whom God permits to return to us will come to us saddened, deeply religious and sympathetic for human kind as never before. When one sees the horrors of it all they will cry out in anguish, why must it be? Is it worth all the sacrifice? But for the heroism of Belgium, but for the sacrifice of France, but for the will of the United States to take up the fight for democracy in its last stand, Prussia would now be ruler of Europe and by this very day be hurling her spears at the United States.

Some Rules For Success

George Reynolds, a well known Chicago banker, says in the August American Magazine:

"To sum up, therefore, these are the essential rules, as I see them:

"Choose your life work early. "Make your own rules of conduct early.

"Choose your friends carefully. "Do more than the routine work of your job.

"Decide quickly in all matters, and act promptly.

"If right, ignore criticism; if wrong, change without delay. "Practice economy. Be neither extravagant nor niggardly.

"Avoid depending upon your friends. Give as much as you receive from them.

"Practice diplomacy it smooths the rough spots and gives you the advantage on the next move.

"Cultivate cheerfulness, to enable you to carry the necessary and throw off the unnecessary burdens.

we are sure do everything necessary to keep its schools up to a high standard of efficiency. We confidently expect a hearty and liberal response from everyone when called upon to do something to help maintain this high standard. New equipment will be required for some of the new courses to be offered; a larger and better library is needed to teach effectively the courses we now offer. We expect you to help us get them, that the boys and girls of Marion and Crittenden county may have the best opportunities.

We are expecting a large number of pupils from the county to take advantage of the new courses in Agriculture we shall be able to offer because of the aid we shall receive under the South Hughes Act. We hope these young people who come to us earnestly seeking an education will not be discouraged by difficulties in finding places to room and board. Open your hearts and houses to them. If you can accommodate any of them call the Principal by telephone and he will refer pupils to you. Let us all work together for the best session in the history of our school.

OVER THE PHONE

BY O. T. PERKINS.

The Kaiser called the Devil up On the telephone one day, The girl at Central listened to All they had to say.

"Hello," she heard the Kaiser's voice "Is old man Satan home? Just tell him this is Kaiser Bill That wants him on the phone."

The Devil said "Hello" to Bill, And Bill said "How are you? I'm running here a hell on earth, So tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" the Devil said, "My dear old Kaiser Bill? If there's a thing that I can do To help you, I sure will."

The Kaiser said, "Now listen, And I will try to tell The way that I am running On earth a modern hell."

"I've saved for this for many years, I've started out to kill, That it will be a modern job You leave to Kaiser Bill."

"My army went through Belgium, Shooting women and children down. We tore up all her country, And blew up all her towns."

"My Zepps dropped bombs on cities, Killing both old and young, And those the Zeppelins didn't get, Were taken out and hung."

"I started out for Paris, With the aid of poisonous gas, The Belgians darn 'em, stopped us, And would not let us pass."

"My submarines are devils, Why, you should see them fight, They go sneaking through the sea, And sink a ship at sight."

"I was running things to suit me, Till a year or so ago, When a man called Woodrow Wilson, Wrote me to go more slow."

"He said to me, 'Dear William, We don't want to make you sore, So be sure to tell your U-boats To sink our ships no more."

"We have told you for the last time, So Bill, it's up to you, And if you do not stop it, You have got to fight us, too."

"I did not listen to him; And he's coming after me, With a million Yankee soldiers From their home across the sea."

"Now, that's why I called you, Satan For I want advice from you, I knew that you would tell me Just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William, There's not much for me to tell, For the Yanks will make it hotter Than I can for you in hell."

"I've been a mean old Devil, But not half as mean as you, And the minute I get you here, I will give my job to you."

"I'll be ready for your coming, And I'll keep the fires all bright, And I'll have your room all ready When the Yanks begin to fight."

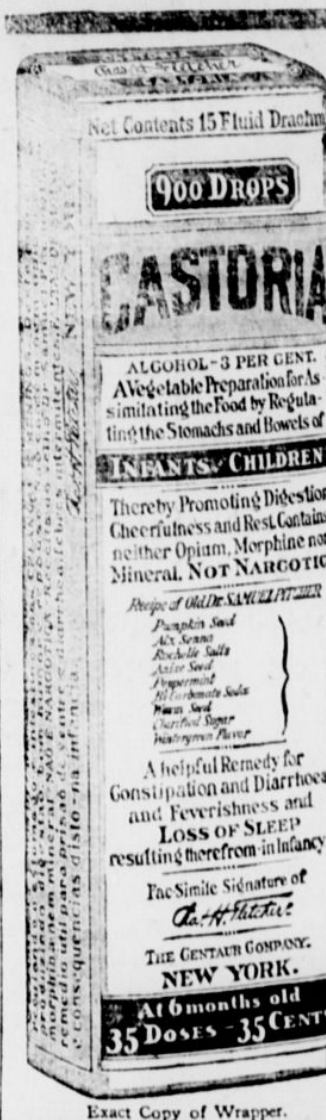

"For the boys in blue will get you, I have nothing more to tell; Hang up the phone and get your hat, And meet me here in hell."

WOMEN'S WOES

Marion Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ill. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. J. Gibbs, W. Belleville St., Marion, Ky. "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for many years with the best of results. Whenever my kidneys have acted irregularly, or my back has been weak, or ached, I have bought a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Orme's Drug Store and they have never failed to relieve the complaint."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gibbs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The combined Allies powers has an area of about 18,000,000 square miles.

The population of the Central Powers was 147,000,000. The population of the Allies more than 400,000,000 the population of Russia alone was 170,000, 000.

Now let us see about the fighting strength. The fighting strength of the combined Allied nations, ages, from 18 to 45 in 1914 was 99,920,000 in Oct. 1, 1917 91,700,000. Estimated enlisted strength October 1st, 1917 was 18 400, 000 per cent of man power under arms 27 per cent.

The fighting strength of the Central Powers ages from 18 to 45 in 1914 31, 000,000 same as Oct. 1 1917 25,050 000 estimated enlisted strength, Oct. 1, 1917, 11,000,000 per cent of power under arms, 43 per cent.

Now let us see something of the enormous loss of life, now we can only give the correct figures as near as we can get, up to Aug. 1 1917, and you who have watched the reports will agree with me when I say the loss of lives since then is enormous. The grand total was 14,803,000 killed, wounded and captured. The Central Powers loss was 5 884,000. The Allied loss was 8 919,000. Russia alone lost 4 400 000.

The nation that deserves more sympathy than any other nation in the world, is poor little Belgium, a mighty history could be written of this little spot on the map, in 1914 Belgium had a population of 7,600,000 souls, now, she is all but annihilated.

We must not fail to think of poor little Serbia, she has lost 1,500,000 of her men. Now let us see what Uncle Sam can do in case of emergency. France with man-power of 9,000,000 men, equipped and put in arms 6 400, 000. Now Uncle Sam with his man power of 22,000,000, can put on the battlefield 15 000 000.

We will remember that in 1914 it was Belgium that checked the mighty army of Germans, until France equipped and rushed nearly seven million men to the front.

Belgium and France were forced to do nearly all the fighting the first year. Belgium stood like a stone wall until she was almost annihilated, then it was that England sent to France her regular army of 160,000 men, the German Emperor called it the little contemptible army. That army was annihilated, one division of 12,000 men and 400 officers, came out with 3,600 men and 50 officers.

Then it was that Great Britain with a man power of 12,000,000 between 18 and 45 years rushed her mighty army of five million to the front. The two greatest battles the world has ever known, is the battle of the Marne and at Verdun. I had the pleasure of speaking to Gen. Jeoffre twice while he was here in Washington, he is one of the greatest Generals the world has ever known, it was he who won the battle of the Marne, it was he who checked and drove back the mighty German columns and their marvelous fighting machines, perhaps the best disciplined and trained military organization of which the world has any knowledge, seemed to be invincible.

It was at Marne on one bright Sunday morning that three million men faced each other to murder and kill. It was that bright Sunday morning that Gen. Jeoffre commanded his army to stand and die on the spot rather than give, they stood but all did not get killed. Only one battle greater than the Marne, and that is the battle of Verdun, it was against the slopes of Verdun that was hurled the mightiest assaults in the history of man. It was here that civilization paused before that impact, then tottered and fell as the Prussian hosts swept onward; then rose again as the dauntless soldiers of France responded to that watchword of liberty, "They shall not pass."

It was upon this battlefield that 800,000 men 500,000 Germans and 300,000 French lay down their lives, the main battle ground of 31-2 acres of ground, it was said that five men were killed for every 9 square feet or every 3 feet square, in other words they would be five men deep, thick of it.

Today with all its devastation and ruins, with all the sacrifice of life, with all the sorrow it represents, Verdun stands forth as the greatest monument to courage, bravery and determination of which the world knows.

Of these 800,000 killed only 25,000 were found, the rest were shot away either blown back to the elements by that tremendous fall of artillery shell or else lost under the scored and pockmarked earth which has been churned and turned over and over again to a depth in many places of thirty feet.

We cannot read of these horrors without being brought to deep reflection. One cannot read and learn of the suffering endured by Belgium and France without being saddened for a lifetime nor ever expect to have that dreadful picture effaced from their memory. Our boys cannot go and see and come back the same. Those whom God permits to return to us will come to us saddened, deeply religious and sympathetic for human kind as never before. When one sees the horrors of it all they will cry out in anguish, why must it be? Is it worth all the sacrifice? But for the heroism of Belgium, but for the sacrifice of France, but for the will of the United States to take up the fight for democracy in its last stand, Prussia would now be ruler of Europe and by this very day be hurling her spears at the United States.

Some Rules For Success

George Reynolds, a well known Chicago banker, says in the August American Magazine:

"To sum up, therefore, these are the essential rules, as I see them:

"Choose your life work early.
"Make your own rules of conduct early.

"Choose your friends carefully.
"Do more than the routine work of your job.

"Decide quickly in all matters, and act promptly.

"If right, ignore criticism; if wrong, change without delay.
"Practice economy. Be neither extravagant nor niggardly.

"Avoid depending upon your friends. Give as much as you receive from them.

"Practice diplomacy it smooths the rough spots and gives you the advantage on the next move.

"Cultivate cheerfulness, to enable you to carry the necessary and throw off the unnecessary burdens.

we are sure do everything necessary to keep its schools up to a high standard of efficiency. We confidently expect a hearty and liberal response from everyone when called upon to do something to help maintain this high standard. New equipment will be required for some of the new courses to be offered; a larger and better library is needed to teach effectively the courses we now offer. We expect you to help us get them, that the boys and girls of Marion and Crittenden county may have the best opportunities.

We are expecting a large number of pupils from the county to take advantage of the new courses in Agriculture we shall be able to offer because of the aid we shall receive under the South Hughes Act. We hope these young people who come to us earnestly seeking an education will not be discouraged by difficulties in finding places to room and board. Open your hearts and houses to them. If you can accommodate any of them call the Principal by telephone and he will refer pupils to you. Let us all work together for the best session in the history of our school.

additional colleges as training centers for soldiers in the students' army training corps brought to 257 the number of such institutions ready for organization and equipment. Details of the plans for the corps with relation to the new draft law will be made known soon by the war department.

OVER THE 'PHONE

BY O. T. PERKINS.

The Kaiser called the Devil up
On the telephone one day,
The girl at Central listened to
All they had to say.

"Hello," she heard the Kaiser's voice
"Is old mar. Satan home?
Just tell him this is Kaiser Bill
That wants him on the phone."

The Devil said "Hello" to Bill,
And Bill said "How are you?
I'm running here a hell on earth,
So tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" the Devil said,
"My dear old Kaiser Bill?
If there's a thing that I can do
To help you, I sure will."

The Kaiser said, "Now listen,
And I will try to tell
The way that I am running
On earth a modern hell."

"I've saved for this for many years,
I've started out to kill,
That it will be a modern job
You leave to Kaiser Bill."

"My army went through Belgium, Shooting women and children down.
We tore up all her country,
And blew up all her towns."

"My Zepps dropped bombs on cities, Killing both old and young.
And those the Zeppelins didn't get,
Were taken out and hung."

"I started out for Paris,
With the aid of poisonous gas,
The Belgians darn 'em, stopped us,
And would not let us pass."

"My submarines are devils,
Why, you should see them fight.
They go sneaking through the sea,
And sink a ship at sight."

"I was running things to suit me,
Till a year or so ago,
When a man called Woodrow Wilson, Wrote me to go more slow."

"He said to me, 'Dear William,
We don't want to make you sore,
So be sure to tell your U-boats
To sink our ships no more."

"We have told you for the last time,
So Bill, it's up to you,
And if you do not stop it,
You have got to fight us, too."

"I did not listen to him,
And he's coming after me,
With a million Yankee soldiers
From their home across the sea."

"Now, that's why I called you, Satan
For I want advice from you,
I knew that you would tell me
Just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William,
There's not much for me to tell,
For the Yanks will make it hotter
Than I can for you in hell."

"I've been a mean old Devil,
But not half as mean as you,
And the minute I get you here,
I will give my job to you."

"I'll be ready for your coming,
And I'll keep the fires all bright,
And I'll have your room all ready
When the Yanks begin to fight."

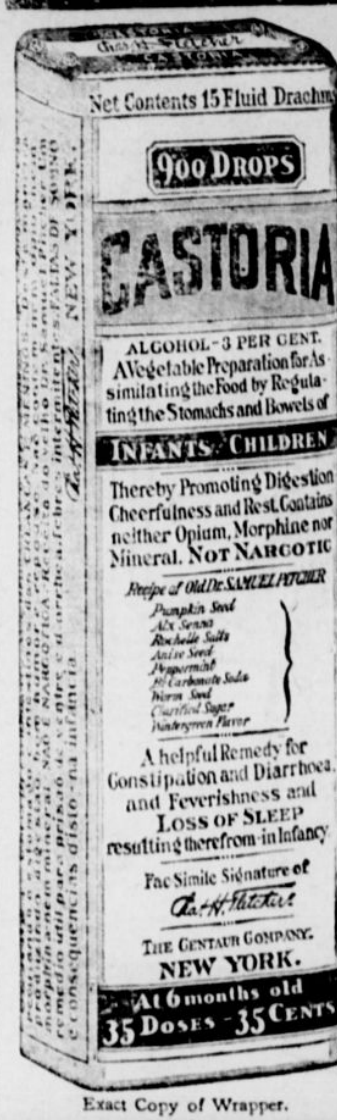

"For the boys in blue will get you,
I have nothing more to tell;
Hang up the phone and get your hat,

WOMEN'S WOES

Marion Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. J. Gibbs, W. Belleville St., Marion, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for many years with the best of results. Whenever my kidneys have acted irregularly, or my back has been weak, or ached, I have bought a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Orme's Drug Store and they have never failed to relieve the complaint."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gibbs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

And here's to the blue of the wind-swept north,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spirit of Grant be with you all,
As the sons of the north advance.

And here's to the gray of the sun-kissed south,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spirit of Lee be with you all,
As the sons of the south advance.

And here's to the blue and gray as one,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spirit of God be with us all,
As the sons of the earth advance.

—George Morrow.

The following verse has been added by the editor of the Record-Press, who has become poetically inclined:

And here's to the tri-color, of beauty and grace,
Held aloft by the old guard in France,
May the Stars and Stripes give it holy embrace,
As the heroes of freedom advance.

Dust obscured an approaching automobile driven by Carlisle Oldman, and the collision resulted. Both machines were wrecked.

FOOD OF SOLDIERS GIVEN GREAT CARE

NUTRITION OFFICERS WHO ARE EXPERTS BEING STATIONED IN THE ARMY CAMPS.

EDIBLE WASTE IS REDUCED

Navy Department Sends Uniformed Desk Men to Active Service—Ancient Armor Supplies Models for Modern American War Equipment.

Nutrition officers are to be stationed in every National army cantonment and in every National Guard camp, as well as in every camp where 10,000 or more soldiers are in training, the war department announces. These men are food specialists. Before they joined the army as members of the division of food and nutrition of the medical department they were connected with colleges and public bodies as physiologists, chemists, economists, food inspectors and experts in other specialized work relating to food.

Since last October these officers have gone from camp to camp, studied the food served, how it was inspected, stored and prepared, and made recommendations resulting in many advantageous changes. They gave instructions in the principles of nutrition, the proper selection of foods and the construction of diets to mess officers, medical officers and others interested. They told how to avoid waste, gave methods for judging and storing food, and emphasized the importance of keeping kitchens and mess halls clean and orderly.

At one camp seven companies were selected from various organizations totaling 1,135 men with which to try out an anti-waste plan. The average waste was found to be 1.12 pounds per man per day. The nutrition officer gave the mess sergeants and cooks instructions in food and mess economy with the result the average edible waste was reduced to 0.43 pounds per man per day, a saving of 0.69 pounds. This saving amounted to $61.75 per day for the seven messes, or $22,542 per year.

Sixty new officers are to be commissioned in the division of food and nutrition to handle the additional work. All will be food specialists similar to those already in the service. They will advise about the composition and nutritive values of all diets, make inspections for adulterations, spoilage and deterioration and co-operate with the mess officials.

Armor for the American soldiers, helmets, shields and breastplates, is being modeled in the workshops of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, the war department announces. The best of the types used by the soldiers of former days is being wrought into shapes for present warfare, some pieces on ancient anvils and by hammers that were actually used centuries ago.

In direct work in the workshop where the work is being done is a French artisan whose skill has been known to armor collectors the world over, and whose forgers for generations have kept alive the dying art of the armorer.

This war in Europe has brought back to use many discarded weapons and practices of medieval warfare. There has been the adoption of steel helmets by all the warring powers, breastplates, armored waistcoats and trench shields. This necessitated an overhauling and new study of ancient armor, with the result that experts declare that scarcely a technical idea has been brought forward which was not worked out in elaborate detail by the old-time armor makers.

The Metropolitan museum collection is among the seven great collections of ancient armor. It is an incident to this collection that there was established at the museum an armorer's workshop. So far as known it is unique. In it were cleaned, repaired and restored pieces that were defective. Daniel Tachaux, a French artist, was in charge. He is working now under the direction of Major Bashford Dean of the ordnance department.

Armor models are being turned out in accordance with the suggestions of General Pershing and the ordnance department. Twenty-five different types of armor defenses have been made in various factories in experimental lots, several in many thousands of pieces, which have won favor at army headquarters. The efficacy of armor protection for the soldiers is indicated by reports that more than 40 per cent of the hospital casualties suffered were leg wounds and about 33 per cent arm wounds, the legs and arms of the fighters being free from armor cover.

While Y. M. C. A. workers in a battle-torn region of France were carrying delicacies to American soldiers in the front line trenches they left their storehouse deserted. French soldiers entered the storehouse to guard the supplies. They found chewing gum, thought it food, stuffed whole packages into their mouths, masticated it for a time and then tried to swallow it. Some succeeded in getting it down. There were no casualties, but the French soldiers were inspired with a high regard for American digestive apparatus.

The navy department has released from office and shore duty the regulars of the navy and the reservists and has assigned them to active duty with the fleet. Their places as clerks will be taken by women wherever possible. Rear Admiral McGowan, paymaster general of the navy, issued the order in connection with this change in policy.

"Every man released from shore duty, whatever his rank or rating, adds just one more to the fighting force," says this order. "Every man of every rank and rating desires, of course, to get to the firing line as soon as his services ashore can be spared."

"No man in the navy is willing in war time to do anything that a woman can do as well; whereas no officer can be expected to be content in any part of the shore establishment unless engaged upon supervisory work so important in its nature that it cannot properly be delegated to any person of lesser rating."

"Wherefore it is requested and directed that the officer in charge of each division of the bureau of supplies and accounts make a careful and critical survey of his personnel, both commissioned and enlisted, to the end that the paymaster general may know how many and which men can be spared without seriously interfering with the work. These reports will include not alone reservists but regulars as well, and it is to be distinctly understood in this connection that applications from individuals for sea or overseas service will not be necessary—the one and only object being to carry on the work here and at the same time release the maximum number of men for duty at the front."

The Liberty motor, developed by the department of military aeronautics, is to have a special engine oil which is to be known as the "Liberty aero oil." It was developed by the lubrication branch while the latter was still a part of the signal corps. It is a mineral oil and will be used not only on the Liberty motor but on all stationary cylinder aircraft engines of the army and navy.

Its development is due to the energy and skill of a staff of men who worked exclusively on the problem for a year. Capt. O. J. May, who deserves greatest credit for its production, so exhausted himself by his labors that he could not recuperate from an illness and died.

When the aircraft program was announced in 1917 no one in authority had a definite idea as to the proper kind of lubrication required. There was no uniformity. For every engine there was a specific oil. Some engineers insisted on castor oil, others mineral oil, still others castor and mineral oils mixed. It was estimated that 5,000,000 gallons of castor oil, costing $3 per gallon, would be required and that quantity was not available.

Captain May and assistants set out to develop a suitable lubricant for the Liberty motor at an average cost of 75 cents a gallon, and also a system for reclaiming oil already used. In 25 days Captain May supervised the running of 37 engine tests in a laboratory where five engine tests a week would be a complete program. These engines were run with different kinds of oils and each oil was analyzed and measured before and after tests. The work required ceaseless vigil. Altitude tests were made in an airtight building capable of having the air within it partly exhausted.

From these tests the Liberty aero oil developed. It will cost about one-fourth the price of castor oil, saving the government perhaps $11,000,000 a year. A system of reclaiming used oil was developed and at least 50 per cent can be made fit to use again.

The national war labor board has decided against establishment at this time of a minimum wage to be applied generally throughout industry. It adopts an attitude firmly opposed both to unjust profits on the part of capital and unreasonable demands on the part of labor, stating that capital should have only such reasonable returns as will assure its use for the world's and the nation's cause, and that the physical well-being of labor and its physical and mental effectiveness, in a comfort reasonable in view of the exigencies of the war, likewise should be assured.

The board declares the war to be an interregnum in which the wheels of industry should turn only in the common cause and for common ends, and neither for unjust profits on the part of capital or unfairly inflated wages for labor, stressing maximum production as the paramount necessity and unselfish co-operation as the preliminary essentials to this accomplishment.

There is a reaffirmation by the board of the principle that the worker is entitled to a wage sufficient to sustain himself and his family in health and comfort, and a restatement by the board to apply this principle in each of the cases to come before it for decision.

American dietitians have made bread by substituting as high as 25 per cent of rice for wheat flour and have obtained a white yeast bread of excellent flavor.

The mid-West states are turning to a larger use of motortrucks in the delivery of hogs to the important interior markets. This relieves railroad transportation conditions to a considerable extent.

The motortruck business is becoming so important that commercial organizations of Omaha are taking active measures to utilize the trucks on return trips to country points for hauling various kinds of freights. Experience has shown that motortruck marketing is as feasible in winter as in other seasons.

AMERICAN TANKER IS SUNK BY U-BOAT

THE FREDERICK R. KELLOGG IS SENT DOWN OFF THE NEW YORK HARBOR.

35 MEMBERS CREW SAVED

Survivors Say Vessel Was Sunk Without Warning—No Submarine Was Sighted Before Torpedo Struck the Ship.

New York.—A German submarine, approaching the very gates of New York harbor, sunk the oil tanker Frederick R. Kellogg off the Ambrose channel. Thirty-five members of the crew brought here reported that five others are missing.

Torpedoed without warning at 6:10 p.m., the Kellogg sank in three minutes, said members of her crew. The force of the explosion was terrific, they declared, and the five missing men, who were in the engine room, are believed to have been killed. No submarine was seen, according to Capt. White.

The Frederick R. Kellogg was a new tankship of 7,127 tons gross register, valued at more than $1,500,000. Under command of Capt. C. H. White, she was on her way from Tampico, Mexico, to Boston with a cargo of approximately 70,000 barrels of crude oil. The ship was owned by the Petroleum Transport company, and was launched a year ago at Oakland, Cal.

FREIGHTER FIGHTS U-BOAT

Two-Hour Running Fight With German Submarine Forty-Five Miles Off
Atlantic Coast.

An Atlantic Port.—The story of their two-hour running fight with a submarine 45 miles off the coast was told here by members of the crew of a British freight steamship which reached port undamaged. During the engagement, fought in a fog, several hundred shells were fired. Two torpedoes were launched by the submarine, but the zigzag course and speed of the freighter enabled it to outdistance the U-boat. When the freighter sent out S. O. S. calls a ship which could not be identified appeared. At a time when the British gunfire was getting close to the submarine, then only two miles away, the unknown vessel maneuvered between the combatants and, according to the sailors, saved the enemy craft.

Fired At Trawler.
An Atlantic Port.—A German submarine, sighted off the tip of Cape Cod, fired a torpedo at the steam trawler Walrus, missed by a narrow margin. Capt. Clayton Morrisey of the fisherman, reported on arrival here.

U-BOAT SENDS GAS WAVE.

Six Men Overcome in North Carolina,
But Soon Recover.

Washington.—Gas from oil discharged on the water by the German submarine operating off the Middle Atlantic coast overcame six men in the coast guard station and lighthouse on Smith's Island, North Carolina, the Navy Department was advised by the commandant of the Sixth Naval District. If the gas attack were deliberate, as most officials believed, it constituted a new and ingenious form of "frightfulness."

The gas was said by the commandant of the coast guard station to have had much the same effect as the mustard gas used by the Germans on the western front. The men were laid out for more than half an hour, but apparently suffered no serious effects.

CASHIER THREE HUN GENERALS.

Soldiers Court-Martialed at St. Quentin For High Treason.

London.—Three German generals recently commanding near Montdidier have been cashiered for neglect of duty according to Belgian reports received in Amsterdam and transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph Company. A large number of soldiers were court-martialed at St. Quentin last week for high treason. The Germans in Belgium are showing signs of great uneasiness, it is also reported.

BOMBING PLANES REPLACE ARTILLERY

MADE BY ALLIED TROOPS IN RECENT DRIVE.

ALWAYS READY FOR SERVICE

Bombing Squadrons From Airdomes
Take To the Air the Instant a Call Is Given By the Signal Planes of Allied Forces.

With the French Army in France—During the battles of the last few days bombing airplanes have virtually replaced the heavy artillery which the allies were not able to bring up fast enough to keep pace with their advance. These airplanes immediately attacked enemy groups of infantry convoys and supply trains when they received signals from reconnoitering planes.

Bombardment squadrons are kept in readiness for instant service at airdomes so that they may take the air at the instant a call is received from signal planes, troops or convoys in villages or at road terminals.

This system was employed at Lasigny. An observing plane reported the town encumbered with troops and supply trains. Airplanes to the number of 121 flew to the spot and 21 tons of bombs were dropped. This attack caused a large fire, destroying motor lorries and blocked the streets of Lasigny, tying up the movement of the enemy for hours.

All cross-roads as well as railway junctions where important lines of communication meet are under continual attack from these bombing airplanes.

SCENE OF DEATH AND RUIN.

Spread Along Pasture Lands Southeast of Montdidier.

With the French Army in France.—A fearful spectacle of ruin is spread along the great sweep of rolling pasture lands behind Boulogne-La-Grasse and Rollot, southeast of Montdidier. There the enemy is continuing his desperate resistance. Heaps of the German dead lie on every side, and the fields torn up and strewn with debris. Great stocks of war material are being left as the Germans retire.

During the recent fighting a general commanding a French division, seeing a battalion hesitate to throw itself into a dangerous position under heavy machine gun fire, directed his automobile into the center of this position, and standing up, shouted to his men: "See, the boches are gone!" His men, thereupon sprang forward and within the next three hours advanced seven kilometers.

ATTACKS WITH RESERVES.

The Germans Are Repulsed by the British at Lihons.

London.—Strong German attacks delivered with fresh reserves against the British at Lihons and north and south of that village were repulsed and in the fighting the Germans suffered great losses, according to the British official communication, received from Field Marshal Haig.

FIRE LOSS IN MARIANNA.

Eleven Stores Burned, Causing Loss of
About $650,000.

Marianna, Ark.—Property valued at not less than $650,000 was destroyed by fire in Marianna, when 11 brick buildings in the heart of the business district were reduced to ashes. The fire originated in the third floor of the Griffith Newbern department store.

TWO TOWNS IN RUINS.

French Leaders Survey the Havoc Wrought in Battle.

Paris.—Premier Clemenceau and Minister of Finance Klotz during their visit to the battle front inspected at length the frightful destruction that was wrought by the battles raged for the possession of Montdidier and Moreuil. Both towns are places of desolation with their houses reduced to broken fragments of stone and there is not remaining a vestige of their former streets.

BRITISH UNITE WITH CZECHO-SLOVAKS

THE ALLIES ARE GIVEN AN EN-THUSIASTIC RECEPTION NEAR VLADIVOSTOK.

PROCEED TO USURI RIVER

Lenine and Trotsky Have Fled To Kronstadt, Near Petrograd—The Supreme Government Is Born in Russia.

London.—British troops which were landed at Vladivostok have proceeded to the Usuri river front, where they were given an enthusiastic reception by the Czech-Slovak forces with whom they are cooperating, according to an official statement issued here.

Premier Lenine and his chief assistant, Leon Trotsky, have fled to Kronstadt, the naval base near Petrograd, according to a dispatch sent out by the semi-official Wolff Bureau of Berlin and printed in Zurich newspapers, says a Havas report from Paris.

Move in Russia Along Lines Suggested
Washington.—The birth of a new democracy in Northern Russia that is to be headed by representatives of the people elected by universal suffrage, was announced in official dispatches to the state department. The leaders of the movement are the last delegates elected to the constituent assembly, the restoration of which President Wilson has repeatedly urged.

The new political organization is called the supreme government, indicating the breadth to which it is expected ultimately to expand. Among the purposes announced are: "To defend the north with the friendly assistance to Russia of the peoples of England, America, France and others. It also counts on allied assistance against starvation and financial difficulties."

"It is convinced that Russia and the allies' interests in the struggle against the foreign enemy are one and the same. It knows that the allied troops come not to interfere with the internal affairs and their arrival is not against the wishes of the population. Therefore the supreme government greets the allied forces entering the north to wage contest against the common enemy and summons the entire population to greet them gladly and to assist by every possible means."

FIRST ARMY IS REORGANIZED

Gen. Pershing Placed in Command of American Forces.

With the American Army in France.—The First American Field Army has been organized. It is under the direct command of Gen. John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American forces. The corps commanders thus far announced are Maj. Gens. Liggett, Bullard, Bundy, Reed and Wright. The creation of the First Field Army is the first step toward the coordination of all American forces in France.

GERMANS ARE DIGGING IN.

They Are Also Stringing Barbed Wire
Along the Vesle River.

With the American Army on the Vesle.—Allied aviators have reported the Germans are digging in opposite the Franco-American line along the Vesle. The observers also have reported the enemy is stringing barbed wire along the hills northwest of Pims. Allied officers express the belief the Germans will not give ground here unless they are deliberately pushed off the plateau.

$225,000 FIRE AT DALLAS.

Conflagration of Unknown Origin Perturbs Officials.

Dallas.—The two-story building of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company was completely destroyed by fire here, entailing a loss of about $175,000. The Boatman Hardware Company in an adjoining building, suffered damage estimated at $50,000. Burning oils in the paint company building for a time threatened a serious spread of the flames. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Accommodate More American Troops.

Washington.—Elaborate plans of the French government for enlarging and improving port facilities to handle American troops arriving under the new war programme have been reported to the war department by Gen. Pershing.

Members of the senate military committee, at their weekly conference at the department, were told that improvements already are in progress and that the French have promised to construct additional piers.

Counter-Attacks Are Repulsed.

Paris.—French troops have captured the town of Gury, about 8½ miles south of Roze, according to the French official communication. Two counter attacks against the positions held by the French and Americans on the Vesle river near Pims have been repulsed.

British Beyond Hun 1915 Line.

London.—The British center in Picardy has advanced nearly a mile beyond the German 1915 line in the report from Field Marshal Haig.

AMERICAN TROOPS IN VLADIVOSTOK

WILL JOIN THE ALLIED FORCES IN AIDING THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS.

ALLIES LEAVE ARCHANGEL

Advanced 100 Miles South—News of German Defeat in France Has Secured Recruits For Czecho-Slovaks.

Washington.—The march of events in Russia, from news received, seems to be rapidly assuming the proportions of a rout of the Bolsheviks and of a nature to bring dismay to Germany.

With the allied troops rapidly moving south from Archangel, forces of British, French, Japanese and American troops at Vladivostok and operating to the westward, and a British force at Baku, the Czech-Slovaks have taken new heart in their heroic fight against the Germans and Austrians.

Late dispatches recorded the advance of the allied troops from Archangel to Pabersheskaka, 100 miles to the south, on the road to Volodga. The Bolsheviks are retreating and were reported committing every known atrocity upon the civilian population, which openly has espoused the cause of the allies. The Bolsheviks throughout Russia are reported not only fleeing the advancing allies, but the newly aroused Russians, who have learned that the allies are not beaten on the west front, as the Germans and Bolsheviks have been persistently preaching. As the real news reaches the great mass of the people the men are reported taking up the arms that they carried home with them when they disbanded after the debacle of Brest-Litovsk.

One official of the state department declared that, far from being tired of fighting and only wanting to get back to their homes, as the German propagandists have reported, the Russians are more anxious than ever to fight for their freedom, which they thought they had lost so soon after having gained it by revolution. One proof of this is found in the marching of armed bands of peasants upon Petrograd demanding food and charging that the red guard have robbed their farms and stores of all provisions.

CALL 12,000 DRAFTEES.

Thirty-four States to Furnish White Draft Registrants

Washington.—Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder called upon 34 states to furnish a total of 12,000 white draft registrants qualified for limited military service for entrainment Aug. 20 and 21. The men called will be sent to three camps, 3,000 to go to Camp Upton, Yaphank, N. Y.; 4,000 to Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Ia., and 5,000 to Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C. The quotas of the various states include: Arkansas, 100, Camp Dodge; Louisiana, 200, Camp Greene; Mississippi, 100, Camp Greene; Missouri, 450, Camp Dodge; Oklahoma, 250, Camp Dodge; Tennessee, 200, Camp Greene.

OPERATORS GET INCREASE.

All Employees of Western Union in New York Get Benefit.

New York.—Announcement of a general increase of 10 per cent in wages to all employees of the Western Union Telegraph Company belonging to the association recently organized by the company was made here. The increase, retroactive from July 1, applies to about 45,000 workers.

OFFICER LEAPS FROM AIRPLANE.

Lieutenant Drops 3,000 Feet in a Parachute At Tallafero Field.

Fort Worth.—Lieut. James H. Dale of St. Louis, an aviation officer, made a successful 3,000-foot leap with a parachute from an airplane at Tallafero Field. Lieut. Dale is the third person to accomplish the feat. The plane was piloted by Lieut. L. G. Neff of New York City. The feat was witnessed by 10,000 persons attending a gymkhana at the field.

Suspend Newspapers.

Rio Janeiro.—Newspapers published in the Polish language in the state of Parana, in South Brazil, have been suspended by the government. The suspension was because of pro-German tendencies of the publications in question.

Living Cost High.

Paris.—From the first quarter of 1911 to the second quarter of 1918 the cost of living rose progressively 132 per cent. This is based on 13 main commodities investigated by Minister of Labor Colliard.

Mrs. Levi Morton Dead.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Mrs. Levi P. Morton, wife of the former vice-president and former governor, died at Elberle, Rhinecliff, the Morton summer home.

Cut in Loan Rates.

Washington.—To aid further in financing crop movements, the war finance corporation has reduced from 6 to 5 per cent the annual interest rate on short term advances to banks to cover loans made to farmers or merchants for marketing their wheat.

HIGH-POWERED SEARCHLIGHTS FOR COAST DEFENSE

These are a few of the high-powered searchlights that Uncle Sam has scattered along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. With a marine at the head of each one of these searchlights, it will be practically impossible for anything foreign to pass our shores at night undetected. The crews of these batteries are put through a strenuous course of training and know the minute an alarm is sounded just what to do. The commanding officer and two government officials may be seen in the foreground.

YANKEES PARADING IN PARIS

American soldiers are constantly being honored by the French populace. They are shown parading through the Champs Elysees, Paris. Charming as they are, they are handing them roses.

SOME SHELLS THAT FRITZ WILL RECEIVE

Here is some food for Hun reflection, stacked in neat piles at one of England's largest munition factories, which is turning out thousands and thousands of the deadly missiles daily for Boche consumption.

NADJA BECOMES AMERICAN

Nadja Frolkova, sister of Mme. Botchkarova, commander of the Russian battalion of death, has adopted Washington as her home and declares "I American; Russian, no." That is about all the English she has acquired. She is living in a girls' camp on the Potomac near Washington, where the occupants receive military training. She is sixteen years old, too young to have been a member of the "battalion of death," but now she is training to be an American soldier.

Dream Was Valuable.

Warned by a dream a New York dentist increased his fire insurance the other day. The man dreamed that the building in which he had his office had been burned down, and that his office and apparatus had been destroyed. Early next morning he called his insurance agent and raised his policy from $500 to $1,000. His office was damaged slightly by fire a few nights later.

WHERE FLYING FIELDS OF U. S. AVIATION SERVICE ARE LOCATED

Twenty-Nine Tracts Scattered Over the Country Are Named, With Few Exceptions, for Airmen Who Lost Their Lives—Camp Borden, at Toronto, Canada, Is Also Used by United States.

The aviation section of the signal corps of the army now has twenty-nine flying fields. Most of them are regular service fields, where the graduates of the schools of military aeronautics, or "ground schools," receive their actual flying instruction, but some of them are reserved for advanced flying, experimental testing, and special training in bombing and artillery observation. Camp Borden, at Toronto, Canada, is also used by the United States in conjunction with the British air force.

With the exception of McCook Field, all the American fields have been named after American officers and men who lost their lives while on aeronautical duty, and three civilians who were pioneers in aeronautics—Langley, Chanute, and Wilbur Wright. Following is a list of the aviation fields with a brief statement of how they received their names:

Barron Field, Everman, Tex., named after Cadet R. J. Barron, who was drowned at Chandler Field, Essington, Pa., on August 22, 1917, when the machine he was flying fell into the water. Bolling Field, Anacostia, near Washington, D. C., named in memory of the late Col. Raynal C. Bolling, signal corps, who was killed in action in France in March, 1918.

Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., named after Cadet S. J. Brooks. On November 12, 1917, he was killed while flying at Kelly Field, Tex. Brooks was one of the first to volunteer at the call for men for the American Flying Corps; he was in training for a commission as a military aviator.

Call Field, Wichita Falls, Tex., named after First Lieutenant Loren H. Call, C. A. C., (appointed from civil life), who reported for aeronautical duty at College Park, Md., October 19, 1912. In the winter of 1912-1913, he and Lieut. E. L. Ellington were sent to Palm Beach, Fla., in charge of the Signal Corps Aviation station at that place. From Palm Beach Lieutenant Call was ordered to Texas City, Tex., and it was there that he was killed in an airplane accident, July 8, 1913. His home was in Washington, D. C.

Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Fla., named after Victor Carlstrom. Carlstrom was recommended for a commission in the S. O. R. C. aviation section, on January 10, 1917, and soon thereafter went to Newport News to assist in the training of army fliers, although not ordered to active duty. He was killed in an accident at Newport News on May 9, 1917.

Carruthers Field, Benbrook, Tex., named after Cadet W. K. Carruthers, who was killed at Hazelhurst Field, Mineola, L. I., when he was struck by a revolving propeller June 18, 1917. Chandler Field, Essington, Pa., named in honor of Second Lieutenant Rex Chandler, C. A. C., who reported for aeronautical duty at Signal Corps Aviation school, San Diego, Cal., March 15, 1913. On April 8, 1913, while making his first flight, the hydro-aeroplane in which he was a passenger fell into San Diego Bay and Lieutenant Chandler was caught under the machine and was drowned.

Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., named after Octave Chanute, one of the foremost pioneers in aeronautics in America. Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., named after Octave Chanute, one of the foremost pioneers in aeronautics in America.

Dorr Field, Arcadia, Fla., named after Cadet S. H. Dorr of the aviation section. Dorr enlisted in the summer of 1917, and was sent to Toronto, Canada, for training. He met his death there in a flying collision on August 17 of the same year.

Eberts Field, Lonoke, Ark., named after Lieut. Melchior McE. Eberts. This officer was a graduate of the United States Military Academy. On August 11, 1916, he was attached to the aviation section, and March 3, 1917, received the rating of junior military aviator. He was ordered from his station at San Diego, Cal., to Columbus, N. M., on May 3, 1917. Lieutenant Eberts was killed on the first flight he made after reaching Columbus.

Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., named in honor of Second Lieutenant E. L. Ellington, graduate of the United States Naval Academy, who transferred into the cavalry and was detailed to aeronautical duty, Signal Corps Aviation school, College Park, Md., November 14, 1912. In the winter of 1912-1913 he and Lieutenant Call were at Palm Beach, Fla., in charge of Signal Corps Aviation station, and in the spring of 1913 Lieutenant Ellington was ordered to Signal Corps Aviation school at San Diego, Cal., where he was killed in an airplane accident November 24 of the same year. His home was near Raleigh, N. C.

Gerstner Field, Lake Charles, La., named in honor of Second Lieutenant Frederick J. Gerstner, 10th cavalry, graduate of the United States Military Academy, reported for aeronautical duty at Signal Corps Aviation school, San Diego, September 28, 1914. He drowned in attempting to swim from a floating airplane while participating as passenger in the annual Mackay Trophy contest.

Hazelhurst Field, Mineola, L. I., named in honor of Second Lieutenant L. W. Hazelhurst, Jr., a native of Georgia, graduate of United States Military Academy, reported for aeronautical duty at Signal Corps Aviation school, Augusta, Ga., March 2, 1912. On June 11, 1912, while making a flight at College Park, Md., as passenger in an airplane undergoing acceptance tests, the machine crashed to the ground and the pilot and Lieutenant Hazelhurst were both killed.

Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., named in honor of Second Lieutenant G. E. M. Kelly, 30th infantry, who, after a course of training at the Curtiss Aviation Camp, San Diego, Cal., was ordered to San Antonio. While attempting to land, in order to avoid running into a tent and thereby possibly injuring several others, he fell to the ground and was killed May 10, 1911.

Langley Field, Hampton, Va., named after Samuel Pierpont Langley, late secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. His early aerodynamic experiments, begun in 1887, formed a basis for practical pioneer aviation.

Love Field, Dallas, Tex., named in honor of First Lieutenant Moss L. Love, 11th cavalry, a native of Fairfax Courthouse, Va., reported for aeronautical duty at Texas City, Tex., May 8, 1913; was killed at San Diego, Cal., May 9, 1912.

McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, named before the idea of naming these aviation fields after Americans prominent in aviation was considered.

Mather Field, Sacramento, Cal., named for Lieut. Carl S. Mather, S. R. C. A. S., who was killed at Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., on January 30, 1918. His death was caused by a collision in the air at 2,000 feet.

March Field, Riverside, Cal., named in honor of Lieut. Peyton C. March, Jr., S. R. C. A. S., son of Maj. Gen. Peyton C. March, acting chief of staff. Lieutenant March met his death at Tullahoma Field on February 13, 1918, as a result of a spinning nose dive.

Park Field, Memphis, (Millington), Tenn., named in honor of First Lieutenant Joseph D. Park, 14th cavalry; a native of New Hampshire; graduate of United States Military Academy; reported for aeronautical duty at College Park, Md., October 8, 1912, and was killed near San Diego, Cal., May 9, 1912.

Payne Field, West Point, Miss., named after Capt. Dewitt J. Payne, who died February 1, 1916, from injuries received in an airplane accident. Upon graduation from the School of

CALLED BACK TO SERVICE

More than 500 retired and resigned naval officers have been called to desert the fireside and business enterprises for the bridges of dreadnaughts. Rear Admiral William A. Marshall, who was retired in 1911, is now in active duty.

Military Aeronautics at the University of Illinois, he was commissioned a first lieutenant and was ordered to duty in Washington with the schools division. On October 23 he was promoted to captain, and on December 11 he was ordered to Tullahoma Field, Fort Worth, Tex., where he remained until his death.

Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla., named in honor of Second Lieutenant Henry B. Post, 25th infantry; reported for aeronautical duty at Signal Corps Aviation school, San Diego, Cal., May 26, 1913. On December 18, 1913, he made an altitude record for the army, attaining a height of 10,000 feet. On February 9, 1914, at San Diego, while attempting to make an American altitude record, he was killed, having flown up 12,140 feet.

Rich Field, Waco, Tex., named in honor of Second Lieutenant Perry C. Rich, Philadelphia Scouts; reported for aeronautical duty at Fort William McKinley, P. I., March, 1913, and was killed by a fall into Manila Bay, November 19, 1913.

SALESWOMAN "SHIPS" NORTH AS STEWARDESS

Boston.—Resourceful Mrs. Marie Cowan of Chicago is back in the United States and happy. She "makes" the big towns of South America for a Western corset manufacturing company. Passenger ships are few and far between on the South American run now. She waited around a Chilean port for 30 days and then, because her firm was yelling by wire, she shipped north as a "stewardess."

Molly Was Persistent.

This new type of gun mounted on the deck of an up-to-date Italian submarine is proving that it surpasses anything that German U-boats have thus far developed.

Helping the Meat and Milk Supply

ENCOURAGE USE OF FISH.

A Suburban Pool Capable of Putting Fish on the Table Many Times Oftener Than Usual.

EAT FRESH FISH AND SAVE MEATS

Sport of Fishing May Be Made to Serve Nation's Food Needs and Give Exercise.

MUCH GRAIN IS CONSERVED

Seas, Lakes, Rivers and Ponds Offer Practically Unlimited Quantities of Fish Living on Food of No Use to Man.

Every pound of beef, veal, mutton or pork that goes on the table represents a consumption of many pounds of corn or other valuable grain fed to the cattle, sheep or hogs from which the meat was taken. The more of these red meats you eat the more cereals you are taking out of the supply that is so greatly needed for the nation's war needs at this time. To a large extent, too, these statements apply to all kinds of poultry. The one kind of meat, the production of which does not require the consumption of other human foods, is fish. The seas, lakes, rivers and ponds of this country offer practically unlimited quantities of fish that live on food which is of no use to man. When you eat fish you save meat and save grain, both of which your government asks you to conserve.

Ordinarily it is possible to secure good, fresh fish at the meat market, but whether justly or not, fresh fish is always more or less under suspicion in the meat markets of cities and towns that are distant from the sea coast or the lakes. The suspicion in most cases is not justified, but even if it were it would not follow that people of inland towns and cities must necessarily refrain from eating fresh fish.

Fish for Family Use.

There are a large number of streams and ponds from which one may take the fish needed for family consumption, and there should be very many more such ponds. A fish pond does not necessarily take up much space and need not be confined to large places. Practically all country families, and very many suburban families, could have, without any great difficulty, a fish pond or pool in which enough fish could be grown at minimum expense to supply the table and to save large quantities of other meats and cereals.

There is a great deal of pleasure and recreation, too, in catching the fish. And there is a decided satisfaction in knowing that the fish you eat have been taken from your own pond or stream within a very short time before being prepared for the table. The United States department of agriculture has long urged a more general adoption of the family fish pond, and it points out the exceptional need for such practice at this time. It would be a genuine national service if several times more people than now indulge in fishing for sport or otherwise would, by devoting a little of their spare time to it, take enough fish from stream or pond to place this excellent food on the table several times oftener than is now the general practice.

The hour or two that every man should devote to some form of recreation, if intelligently applied to fishing, would afford the same rest and rejuvenation that is to be had from non-productive sports and would, at the same time, be not only a domestic but a public economy.

There is another source of meat supply native to ponds and streams of which much fewer people avail themselves than of fish. That is frogs. There is no more delicious meat than frog legs. Yet with the exception of a few hotels widely scattered along the lakes and a few of the streams, frog legs are rarely served. Around practically every pond of any considerable size there are enough frogs if properly utilized to furnish an occasional meal and to furnish a very fine sport in shooting or otherwise taking. More attention to fish and frogs would result in the saving of much food and would be of personal benefit to those who might become interested in it.

FISH FOR YOUR SECTION.

Probably every kind of fish has some peculiarly attractive qualities. The following species of fish are native to the sections indicated:

New England—Alewife, cod, cusk, flounder, goosefish, grayfish, haddock, hake, halibut, herring, mackerel, mullet, pollock, salmon, scup, sea trout, shad, smelt, squeteague, swordfish, tilefish, whiting.

Middle Atlantic—Alewife, bass, bluefish, carp, catfish, cod, flounder, goosefish, halibut, mackerel, perch, rockfish, salmon, shad, smelt, spot, tilefish, weakfish, whiting.

South Atlantic—Alewife, bass, bluefish, carp, catfish, drumfish, mullet, perch, shad, Spanish mackerel, spot, squeteague.

Pacific Coast—Barracuda, bass, flounder, grayfish, halibut, herring, pike, rockfish, sablefish, salmon, smelt, trout.

Mississippi Valley—Black bass, bowfin, buffalo, burbot, carp, catfish, crappie, drumfish, pike, red snapper, rock bass, sturgeon, sucker.

Great Lakes—Bass, bowfin, burbot, carp, catfish, drumfish, lake herring, lake trout, perch, pike, sturgeon.

More Sheep Needed.

That mutton and wool production in this country can be increased greatly admits of no doubt. This can be accomplished by developing sheep husbandry on farms, especially in the Eastern and Southern states. Steps should be taken in the East and South to do away with the sheep-killing dog menace by state or local action. Large results can be secured by improving methods of breeding and management on the range; by securing the restocking of improved farm lands with sheep; by the larger use of forage crops and pastures; by encouraging sheep and lamb clubs; by the elimination of parasites; by protection against losses from predatory animals; and by having lambs ready for market at from 70 to 80 pounds weight, thereby requiring a minimum of grain to finish them and making possible the maintenance of larger breeding flocks.

Feed for Next Winter.

Far-seeing farmers may advantageously plan to secure their winter supply of feed in September and October when danger of spoilage is past and avoid the uncertainty of deliveries during the winter when the demand for feed usually exceeds the output of the mills.

The velvet bean may be utilized by grazing in the field with various kinds of live stock, especially cattle.

Sugar Shortage

By BERTHA CURRIE PORTER

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I don't see what you said we'd give them tea for, when you know we haven't any sugar!"

"What difference does that make? Some of our best families don't have sugar nowadays."

"Well, I'll bet the Clarkson girls are rolling in sugar!"

"If they are, all we need to do is to shake them over the cups, and there you are!"

"You needn't joke about it, Anne. I have some pride if you haven't, and I'm not going to have those rich Clarksons coming here and thinking we're not as well able to have things as they are, even if they do carry fifteen dollar knitting bags, all covered over with pin-cushion fruit, and tassels."

"I don't know how you're going to get it. I've telephoned to every store I can think of and they all say the same thing—'no sugar.'"

"Telephoning and asking face to face are two different things. I'll run out and see what I can do."

"Josephine Bruce, not in this bad weather?"

But Josephine had vanished into the bedroom of the little flat.

It was the worst day of that "never-remembered-such-a" winter. There had been a heavy snow fall, a thaw and then a sudden freeze, with thick, black ice over everything. And in the night the weather had moderated and rain had fallen in torrents on the ice. This morning it was still raining, with a heavy wind. It was a day when sensible folk wore creepers over their rubbers, and other people lost their pride in the good old Biblical way.

Josephine appeared, clad in a very becoming brown raincoat and little tan hat. She wore brown boots and ridiculous low rubbers, and carried a brown umbrella.

Sister Anne stood at her tower window and watched Josephine slip down the hill, using her folded umbrella as a staff. Anne began to chop nutsmeats for sandwiches, wondering what her errand sister might be doing. The reality was this:

In the nearest store, Anne marched bravely up to the counter.

"Two pounds of sugar, please," she said, with her sweetest smile.

"No sugar in the store," growled the harassed clerk for the one hundred and thirty-seventh time that day.

"There's no sugar in the store," the next grocer told her, "and more than that, there's no sugar up to my own house, and I'm in the grocery business. What was yours, madam?" to a sleek-haired Italian woman in a red shawl.

Josephine went out on more ice.

For an hour she slipped and slid from one store to another, and heard the same story in fifty-seven varieties. Josephine paused on a corner to collect her forces and decide where to attack next. This particular corner was at the foot of a hill—this city was built on more than seven hills—and the sidewalk sloped at an unpleasant angle; also the building on that lot projected in such a way that pedestrians coming down the side street were completely hidden from those on the main thoroughfare. Josephine had seen so many people fall that day that she now mechanically watched them all. Perhaps that was why she noticed the gray raincoat behind the big market basket.

"New style coat," she thought, and looked again at the basket. She gasped! Not for months had she seen a sight like that. She looked again. It was absolutely true. In that basket, camouflaged by a flapping paper covering, but with tell-tale little yellow sharp corners sticking out, were six two-pound cartons of sugar! And the food commissioner had ruled that no dealer should sell more than ten pounds to any one person. And she, Josephine Bruce, had not one single grain!

She looked above the basket to see who this plutocrat might be, and met a pair of serious blue eyes staring straight into her brown ones. She had only time to realize that this law-breaker was young and very good-looking when his feet appeared where had been his face—he bounced up and down, landing on the woman who had slid down the side street, and legs and bodies that came faster and faster until they piled up in a slipping, slopping snarl of humanity. And high in the air, flying merrily toward the blue sky before descending to the soaking sidewalk, went the six packages of sugar.

Josephine dodged. She escaped the pedestrians because they all slid into the gutter, but a couple of pounds of sugar landed on her stylish little tan hat and bounced down into her yawning knitting bag. Josephine had no recollection of opening her bag, but she knew exactly when she closed it. And then, with the most outrageous politeness, she stooped and picked up two of the other packages. She handed them to the young man in the gray raincoat, crawling out from the chaos.

"Your sugar, sir," she said, smiling, and went on her way, entirely unrepentant.

Perhaps the precious ballast in her bag preserved her equilibrium. She hurried toward home, and after dinner Josephine and Anne awaited the Clarkson girls. In the little kitchenette a teapot waited, with a fat little jug of cream and a plate of nut and cheese sandwiches. And four cheerful little red Chinese cups and sauces. And a sugar bowl that didn't match, but whose glass sides displayed proudly its white and glistening contents.

"The walking isn't a bit better," observed Josephine, looking out the window. "I suppose they will come in the machine. I'll bet the chauffeur has a hard time getting up this hill."

But no struggling automobile preceded the ring at the bell. The Clarkson girls called up from the door. "Just a minute till we take off our creepers. We don't want to scar your stairs—take your's off, Jim—hurry."

There was a deep tone among the voices in the lower hall. Anne peeped over the railing.

"Jo," she whispered, "hurry out another cup. They've brought a man."

"May Jim come to the party, too?" said Norah Clarkson. "He held us up all the way over, and I know he is exhausted."

"Certainly," replied Anne, shaking hands with big, good-looking blue-eyed James Clarkson, "but I'm afraid it will be rather stupid for him, because we are going to knit."

"Perhaps I could learn—you might start me on a nine-inch square, isn't that what they call them?"

"Maybe Josephine will teach you. She's the instructor," said Anne, as Josephine came in from the dining-room. "My sister, Mr. Clarkson."

"How do you do?" bowed Mr. Clarkson, gravely unaware of Josephine's hesitant and.

"Brother is daffy over everything concerning the war," explained Gladys. "I suppose that makes you wonder why he isn't in uniform. He's doing all sorts of especially important government work. This morning he had to get after some grocers who weren't living up to the regulations of the food commissioner—sugar shortage, you know. Don't mind if I tell, do you, Jim?"

"No, you can't have too many warnings."

Josephine was frantically casting on stitches.

But it was really a very pleasant afternoon, Anne thought. Mr. Clarkson held four skeins of yarn for her to wind, and didn't mind at all when she began at the wrong end of one and got it all snarled up.

At last came tea—and the transparent sugar-bowl!

"Help yourself to sugar," urged Anne. "Jo got two pounds this morning. Wasn't it lucky?"

"Very," solemnly agreed the aide of the food commissioner. "Anyone who ventured out on this treacherous walking deserved to pick up some sugar. It is exceedingly hard to find just now."

Norah pulled Josephine aside while the others were saying good-by. "I hope you don't care because we brought Jim," she whispered. "He insisted on coming when he found out it was you. He's been asking about you ever since he brought those bundles to the Red Cross rooms. He's all right, Jim is, even if he is my brother!" And she gave Josephine a hurried little kiss.

Next day a package arrived for Miss Josephine Bruce. It bore the card of Mr. James Clarkson, and it was a five-pound box of perfectly good granulated sugar! Josephine was furious.

"I don't see anything to be cross about," remonstrated Anne. "That's a valuable present in these times."

"I won't have him buying me sugar," stormed Josephine.

But he did, just the same, and later he bought her flour and grapefruit and coal and summer and winter coats—for years and years and years—but not until a long time after the wedding did Anne learn the real reason why her brother-in-law's favorite name for his wife was—"Sweetness."

Snake's Reputation Undeserved.

The beginning of all religious ceremonial is magic. Thus Aaron with his rod. He turns it into a snake.

Most surprising, but not wholly novel. "Old stuff!" say the priests of Pharaoh. "Watch us!" They, in like manner, transform sticks into serpents. But Aaron's snake gobbles up the snakes of Pharaoh's clergy, and that settles the argument.

The snake is nearly, if not quite, the least intelligent of animals. To speak of the "wisdom of the serpent" is a joke. Yet, through all the ages this stupid and almost mindless reptile has been credited with a sagacity approaching the supernatural.

Canned Ostrich Eggs.

Signs reading "Newly canned ostrich eggs for sale" may soon meet the eyes of the housewife looking into the windows of grocery stores in London.

This statement is based on the fact that ostrich eggs are being packed experimentally in South America for shipment to England in liquid form.

One ostrich egg is equal to about two dozen hen's eggs. If the canning of these eggs proves successful, it will mean the salvation of the ostrich-growing industry, which has suffered considerably as a result of the war. It will take a large family to consume one breakfast egg—Popular Science Monthly.

Smith was taking his friend out for a drive. The car had the jumps. It balked and bucked and bounced along unsteadily, greatly to the friend's discomfort. They turned into a park boulevard and the friend noted a sign at the side of the road. "Smith, you better not drive on this road," said the friend. "Why?" asked Smith. "Well, that sign says 'Pleasure cars only.'"

WAR TIME BREAD MAKING.

One Kind of Bread That Should Not Be Made and Three Kinds That Should.

WHEATLESS LOAF SHOULD BE MADE

Satisfactory Yeast Breads With Cereals Other Than Wheat Are Being Baked.

SOME OF RESULTS OBTAINED

Problem Solved Both for Housekeeper and Professional Baker by Experimental Kitchen of Agricultural Department.

Housekeepers as well as professional bakers have been working on the problem of how to make satisfactory yeast breads with other cereals than wheat. Not all have solved the problem satisfactorily. The office of home economics of the United States department of agriculture has successfully worked out ways of combining the various substitutes in making a 50-per-cent-substitution bread, a 75-per-cent-substitution bread, and an entirely wheatless bread.

The first loaf pictured above has gone out of style in America; it is the all-wheat loaf that we were accustomed to using before the war. The other loaves are the kind that all Americans should use now. In the last three loaves a mixture of barley and rice flour has been used in place of wheat flour; the second loaf has only 50 per cent wheat flour; the third goes a step further and uses only 25 per cent wheat, while the last boasts of being entirely wheatless. These breads were worked out in the experimental kitchen of the department of agriculture, office of home economics and the United States food administration, home conservation section.

Increase Volume of Substitutes.

The food administration requires that all bread sold must contain 20 per cent wheat substitutes. But, if we can make satisfactory bread using a higher percentage of wheat substitutes so much the better. Here is the recipe for a 50-50 bread that is very good.

50-50 Bread.

1½ cups liquid. 1½ cups corn
1½ cups mashed potatoes. 2 cups
1½ cups wheat 1½ cups barley flour. flour.

1½ cups rice flour.

Make a sponge of all the ingredients except the rice and barley flour. The potatoes should be freshly mashed with no fat or milk added. The water in which they cooked can be used for the liquid. Let the sponge stand in a warm place until very light. If dry yeast is used, set the sponge the night before. Add the rice and barley flour when the sponge is light. Knead and let rise until doubled in bulk. Knead again, form into loaves, place in a loaf pan, and allow to rise until bulk is again doubled. Brush over top of loaf with melted fat before putting it to rise. Bake for one hour and a quarter in a hot oven.

Other satisfactory 50-50 breads make use of rolled oats (1½ cups), combined with rice flour (1½ cups), or corn flour (1½ cups), or tapioca flour (1½ cups), in place of the rice and barley flour in the recipe.

Loaves Are Less Elastic.

None of the loaves using a high percentage of substitutes equal the all-wheat loaf in lightness, wheat having a special substance known as gluten, which gives it elastic properties that make it specially valuable for bread-making. None of the other flours, except rye, contain this substance in any appreciable amount so that when we substitute for the wheat flour large quantities of flours that do not contain gluten, we cannot expect the same elasticity. The loaves are more compact and less porous. In the 75-per-cent and 100-per-cent-substitution loaves an egg is used as binding material and as an additional leavener.

A 75-Per-Cent-Substitute Loaf.

1½ cups liquid. 1 egg.
1½ cups mashed potatoes. 2 cups
1½ cups wheat 2½ cups rolled oats. flour.

1½ cups yeast. 1½ cups salt.
1½ cups corn 1½ cups rice flour.
1½ cups barley flour.

Make a sponge of the first six ingredients and a third of the mixture of rice and barley flour. Let stand in a warm place until light, at least two hours. When the sponge is light, work in the rest of the substitute flours and the egg slightly beaten. Shape the Housekeepers have been serving wheatless bread for months in the form of quick breads. Many housewives as well as many hotel-keepers pledged themselves to serve no wheat until next harvest. The need for a wheatless bread that could be kept in hand and be used for toast or for sandwiches was felt by all who took the pledge.

This 100-per-cent bread will help meet this need:

100-Per-Cent Bread.

1½ cups liquid. 2½ cups ground
1½ cups rolled oats. 2½ cups
1½ cups yeast. 2½ cups rice flour
2½ cups salt. or
1 egg. 2½ cups corn flour

3½ cups barley or
Make a sponge of first four ingredients and one-half of mixture of substitutes. Follow the directions for the 75-per-cent loaf.

These breads are real victory breads. Use them for the cause of liberty.

BREAD WITHOUT WHEAT.

It was long thought by most people that bread could not be made light with yeast unless a large proportion of wheat flour was used in it.

That has been found to be, in large measure, erroneous.

Breads made of cereal materials other than wheat flour can be made light with yeast.

The discovery is one of the necessary war-time achievements of science.

It is available to the housekeeper and to the professional baker.

No one who has to do with bread making can perform his full patriotic duty without applying it to as great an extent as possible.

Food Waste From Rats.

In all parts of the country there is a serious economic drain in the destruction by rats and mice of merchandise held for sale by dealers. Not only foodstuffs and forage, but textiles, clothing and leather goods are often ruined. This loss is due mainly to the faulty buildings in which the stores are kept. Often it would be a measure of economy to tear down the old structures and replace them by new ones. However, even the old buildings may often be repaired so as to make them practically rat-proof.

Foodstuffs, as flour, seeds, and meats, may always be protected in wire cages at slight expense. The public should be protected from unsanitary stores by a system of rigid inspection.

Similar care should be exercised in the home to protect household supplies from mice and rats. Little progress in ridding the premises of these animals can be made so long as they have access to supplies of food. Cellars, kitchens and pantries often furnish subsistence not only to rats but inhibit the dwelling, but to many that come from outside. Food supplies may always be kept from rats and mice if placed in inexpensive rat-proof containers covered with wire netting. Sometimes all that is needed to prevent serious waste is the application of concrete to holes in the basement wall or the slight repair of a defective part of the building.

The necessity of co-operation and organization in the work of rat destruction is of the utmost importance. To destroy all the animals on the premises of a single farmer in a community has little permanent value since they are soon replaced from nearby farms. If, however, the farmers of an entire township or county unite in efforts to get rid of rats, much more lasting results may be attained. If continued from year to year, such organized efforts are very effective.

Ink spots may be removed by saturating the spot with lemon juice and rubbing plentifully with table salt. Apply before washing, and in ordinary cases no trace of the spot will remain after the wash.

If you sprinkle a little salt on your coffee before pouring on the boiling water it will be wonderfully improved. Always warm the coffee pot before making coffee.

Paris Achieves Lovely Afternoon Gowns

Now that women feel it a duty to make afternoon gowns do service for evening wear, the ingenuity of costume designers is put to the test. From one of the great Paris designers comes the lovely gown pictured above and it is a triumph of French discernment and good taste; for it is quiet enough for daytime wear and distinguished enough for evening. It is of black satin with embroidery in silver thread. This combination appears also in French millinery from the most authoritative sources, but in hats black frame velvet is used instead of satin.

We may accept this gown as a criterion in hues and general make up of styles for the coming season. It has a narrow, plain underskirt of moderate length and a straight hanging overgarment vaguely confined to the figure by an easy girdle terminating in sash ends. The bodice is made of satin and that portion that encircles the waist is embroidered while the sash ends are plain. The skirt portion of the overdress is as long as the under skirt at the back and considerably shorter in front. This is a new development of the tunic skirt which is destined to reappear in winter gowns. The embroidered band on the back portion is not so wide as it is on the front.

The sleeves and collar are especially interesting because they are both new departures. Both are as plain as possible but each is original. The sleeves are cut full length and flaring but are trimmed away at the wrist until the upper portion extends only a few inches below the elbow. The upstanding collar is of black crepe georgette and is supported by a few very small, unnoticeable wires.

Satin in black and in dark colors, promises to be of all fabrics the most used for afternoon gowns. New draped skirts and new tunic skirts appear and silver tinsel in embroidered bands is sure to be followed by silver lace in conjunction with them.

Among the Blouses for Fall

There is really an endless assortment of blouses all ready for women who look to the blouse more than ever to provide them variety in their apparel. Since we may not have so many frocks, what with the scarcity of wool and labor and everything, we must turn to the blouses made of cottons or those of silk to add the spice of variety to skirts and suits that are serving overtime.

Blouses are of two characters—those that are moderate in price—anywhere from about three dollars to eight or ten—and those that employ lavish or difficult handwork that brings their value up to two or three times the outside price of those in the other class. It seems inconsistent to talk of war-time economy in the same breath with these extravagantly priced affairs, but it is not always so; some of them are remarkably durable. The blouses that most women will buy, however, are the moderately priced models that are new and smart in design. French voile, fine batiste and georgette crepe are the materials to select—no matter what the price—for it is not in the materials but in the lace and other decorative features that take much time to make, that the high value lies. Women who know how to do exquisite needlework have the advantage because they can do this exacting handwork for themselves. Fine organdie is another material that helps solve the problem of dainty blouses at moderate prices.

Georgette remains a great favorite and the two new models shown in the picture for this are of this delicate and beautiful material. They are among the considerable number that either slip on over the head or fasten along one shoulder. In the blouse at the left two colors are used—a panel at the front in color joined to the white of the blouse by beadwork. Hemstitching is used in voile or other cottons and in silks to introduce a becoming touch of color by joining it to white blouses. This blouse has the round neck finished with a fringe and the bands of ribbon laid over the cuffs, which are among new style features.

The blouse at the right is of georgette in a pale color, braided with soutache in the same shade. It fastens on the shoulder under a collar that is ornamented with two small silk covered balls.

When You Put Lace On.

We are not doing much in the way of fancy work nowadays. Knitting takes up all our spare time, and to it we devote our energy. But perhaps you will have occasion to sew some lace on a curving edge—like that of a centerpiece—and if you do, writes a correspondent, here is a little trick divulged by a woman who is experienced in such things. Roll the lace in a little roll and tie it with a thread so that it will not unroll. Then dip the straight edge in hot water. Just the edge, and about half the width of the lace, and about half the width of the lace. Wring the water out and dry the lace, still in the little roll. When it is dry the inside will be slightly shrunk so that it will measure less than the outside, and so you will have less difficulty in fitting it to the curved edge of the centerpiece.

WOULD LINK EAST AND WEST

Proposal to Make the American Expeditionary Force in China Practically a Student Army.

Under the agreement entered into between the powers and China following the Boxer uprising in 1900, the United States government was permitted to keep an expeditionary force of about 2,000 men in China, says Millard's Review. This force is stationed at Tientsin and Peking, about 1,500 men being stationed at the former place and the rest stationed as a legion guard in Peking. It has now been proposed to the American government at Washington that the regular army troops stationed at Tientsin be recalled to America for service in France and their places taken by a contingent of the same number of men who are now in training in America, at the various cantonments under the provisions of the selective draft. The idea originated with Maj. Arthur Bassett, judge advocate of the army contingent at Tientsin, and formerly United States district attorney of China. Under the plan suggested by Major Bassett the contingent of regular army troops now in China should be returned to America and sent to France, as the men desire, and in their place the United States government should send out 1,500 men specially selected from the standpoint of education and training, who would be available upon their retirement from service in China to engage in trade or other activities in China and the far East. Major Bassett would select the new men for service in China largely from the great group of college graduates and students who have been drafted for service in France. He would bring these men to China and, in addition to their regular army drill, he would have them instructed in the Chinese language and in the customs, history and traditions of the country; and at stated intervals he would have them make trips into all parts of China for study and investigation. In short, these 1,500 men would receive a three years' college course on China, so that upon their retirement from the service they would be at liberty to engage in trade, missionary, educational or any other activity they desired in the far East, or if they desired to return home they would possess information regarding China that would be of the highest value to the United States. The plan has been approved by the American chamber of commerce and other organizations in China and has been commended to the state and war departments at Washington. It is also certain that this plan of a citizens' student army in China would be welcomed by China, for it would be of the greatest possible assistance in bringing about a better understanding and mutual interest between East and West, something very necessary if the future peace of the world is to be maintained.

Appearances Deceptive.

The war has turned the habits of round-the-towners so topsy turvy that it has become a difficult problem to tell from a glance whether a man is a church member or a disciple of John Barleycorn these days. Two middle-aged men were riding on a Fifth avenue bus recently. Each had all the surface indications of being merry old souls, who tarried at the dinner table and looked upon the wine while it was fizzing. Both had red faces and pronouncedly "bay windows." And what do you suppose they were talking about? Naturally, one would say they were discussing the attitude of congress for trying to make the country bone-dry. But nothing of the kind. They were talking about Bibles, the number they had distributed to sailors and soldiers and the price of them. And both chuckled because the war had not affected the price of the good book, which could be bought as low as 15 cents. When you hear conversation of that nature in this town, it begins to look as if the hour had struck.—New York Sun.

Pays to Keep a Toad.

The toad is useful because of its diet. No less than eighty-three species of insects, mostly injurious, have been proved to enter into its dietary. In his "Civic Biology" George W. Hunter says: "A toad has been observed to snap up 123 flies in half an hour. Thus at a low estimate it could easily destroy a thousand insects during a day, and do an immense service to the garden during the summer. It has been estimated by Kirkland that a single toad may, on account of the cutworms which it kills, be worth $10.88 each season it lives, if the damage done by each cutworm be estimated at only one cent. Toads also feed upon slugs and other garden pests."—Popular Science Monthly.

War at Close Range.

Margaret Deland, the New England novelist, writes from Paris: "Over in America we thought we knew something about the war and the conditions in France, but when you get here the difference is as the difference between studying the laws of electricity and being struck by lightning. I have been struck by lightning. The only way in which I can keep sane and steady is to look very, very closely at my own immediate little trivial, foolish job—writing or working in the cartoon—for if I dare to lift my eyes to the black horizons, I lose my balance."

CITY MANAGERS MAKE GOOD

Newspaper Points Out Many Instances Where New System Has Proved of Great Value.

St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest city in the United States, is now operating under one of the most modern of charters. It's a city manager charter that forbids candidates for commissioner, personally, to solicit votes. Once elected, a commissioner is forbidden to dictate any appointment by the city manager. Already the new plan has meant a considerable saving of public money in St. Augustine.

In Niagara Falls, where, owing to failure of the New York legislature to pass adequate legislation, the city manager administration is still hampered by partisan elections, the tax levy has been reduced to 97 cents per $1,000 valuation.

In Sherman, Tex., the city manager installed a complaint system, by which each complaint is recorded, referred to the department concerned and followed up if necessary until cured for. The number of complaints in six months dropped 80 per cent. Public works improvement bonds amounting to $150,000 were voted by the people.

So obvious a step toward efficient government as depositing city funds in a responsible bank, willing to pay interest on daily averages, will save San Jose, Cal., $5,000 a year under the city manager plan.—Omaha News.

GET AFTER NEGLECTED LAND

Every Citizen Should Recognize a Duty in Seeing That It Is Kept Cleaned Up.

Look not only to your own back yard, but take a proprietary interest in any vacant yards or neglected patches of land that are in your neighborhood. You really ought to have had them cleaned up last autumn, but if you didn't then, in the cause of food conservation and with the hope of an increased crop from the home gardens this summer, have these patches cleaned up.

The department of agriculture sent a plan to the people of the land to clean up all plots that were used as war gardens last year in order that the insects that had been harbored in a dormant state in the underbrush and rubbish might be exterminated and not permitted to multiply and increase. Ideally, entomologists tell us, as soon as the crop has been harvested, the remnants should be promptly cleared away and burned with the insects which they harbor.

Many persons apparently believe that the action of winter snows and winds would be sufficient to destroy insect life, but such is not the case.

Elbert Hubbard's Work Goes On.

A reminder of Elbert Hubbard, victim of the Lusitania, is contained in this paragraph in a New York paper: "At East Aurora the Roycrofters continue to flourish. Their annual convention is as usual. But no invitation is necessary to attend it. Anyone who goes there is welcomed and the speakers include you if you want to speak. That's the Roycroft idea. The notables are scheduled, but in the grove the open-air theater is an open forum. Any subject goes. We hear that the work phase of the Roycrofters is the big thing now. Which as we recall it was Hubbard's hope. A place where everything that was made was first useful and then beautiful. He used to say, 'If it's useful it is beautiful, but many useful things can be made more beautiful. That's what we want to do.'"

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Cereals, even the leftovers from breakfast, may be used to make delicious and nourishing dishes as puddings and desserts.

Date Hominy Pudding.—Soak a cupful of hominy in four cupfuls of water with a teaspoonful of salt over night. Cook in a double boiler until the liquid is absorbed, then stir in a cupful of honey, a grating of nutmeg and the grated rind of a lemon. Grease a pudding mold and in the bottom place four dates. Cover with an inch of the cooked hominy and arrange a row of dates around the dish, pour in the remainder of the hominy, cover and steam two hours. When done, unmold and serve cold with cream and sugar or hot with a sweet sauce.

Soy Bean Loaf.—Wash and drain well one pound of soy beans, place them in a saucepan and cover with plenty of cold water; put in an onion stuck with a clove, a little salt, a bay leaf and a half teaspoonful of thyme, tied in a bit of muslin. Cover the saucepan and cook at a low temperature until the beans are tender, adding more water if needed. When cold put through a meat chopper, season with salt and pepper, stir in a half cupful of catsup, two canned pimientos and the whites of two hard-cooked eggs chopped fine; mix well, turn out on a floured board, brush over with the beaten yolk of egg and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Place in a greased pan and bake in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour. Garnish with parsley. Serve either hot or cold.

Chili Con Carne.—Cut two pounds of round steak into small square pieces. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter substitute in a saucepan and when hot add the steak, fry brown; then add one cupful of boiling water and four tablespoonfuls of rice. Cook until tender. Add three canned red peppers cut in pieces, one cupful of cooked beans, two parboiled onions cut in slices, one tablespoonful of flour, four cloves, one clove of garlic, chopped, a teaspoonful of salt and cook until the gravy is of the right consistency. Serve garnished with parsley.

String Beans With Pork.—Remove the strings from two quarts of green beans and slice them lengthwise into one-eighth-inch strips. Cut into dice one thin slice of salt pork, three inches square, and fry it in a granite stew pan. Put in the beans, with a cupful of boiling water, and let them cook half an hour; then add a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar, half a cupful of vinegar and simmer until the beans are tender. When nearly cooked thicken with a teaspoonful of flour, if desired.

There is no contentment without congenial and useful occupation. Happiness is the one who is skilled to do something very well.

FOOD HINTS.

When you fry cornmeal mush roll each slice in cornmeal with a pinch of sugar; the slices will brown quickly and evenly with less fat.

Rabbit en Casserole.—As rabbit is one of our meats we are asked to use to save beef, some of us will need to get over fussiness about eating rabbit which is most wholesome and good flavored meat.

Dress the rabbit and cut it up in serving sized pieces, brown in any sweet fat, then add two tablespoonfuls of corn flour and two cupfuls of hot water. Stir until smooth, pour over the rabbit, add a few slices of onion which have been browned in a little fat, a cupful of celery, a bit of bay leaf, salt and pepper and enough water to half cover. Cover and cook slowly for an hour and a half. If a thicker sauce or gravy is desired add more corn flour. Serve hot with a tart jelly.

Bombay Soup.—Put a tablespoonful of peanut butter into a saucepan, add one onion sliced and cook slowly without browning; then add one large sour apple sliced, but not peeled, a teaspoonful of thyme, juice of half a lemon, a teaspoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of rice, cooked. Cover and simmer gently for ten minutes with one quart of good soup stock.

Rice and Meat Loaf.—Butter a mold and line it three-quarters of an inch thick with hot, steamed rice. Prepare a mixture of two cupfuls of finely chopped meat, seasoned well with pepper, celery, salt, onion and lemon juice; add a quarter of a cupful of crumbs and enough rice water to make of the right consistency. Stock of any kind may be used if there is no rice water. Nearly fill the mold with this mixture then cover with a layer of the rice, put on the buttered lid and steam for forty-five minutes. Turn out on a hot platter and pour a rich tomato sauce around the loaf.

Rice with chicken, lamb, mutton or chopped tongue makes most tasty croquettes.

SAVE THE SUGAR DESSERTS.

Among the light desserts which are easy for the inexperienced housewife to prepare are the fruit combinations. Fruits are rich in mineral substances and acids which are needed in the blood. The following desserts, while saving sugar, are giving us a new and delicious flavor.

Chocolate Pears.—Steam unsteamed pears until tender, after peeling and coring carefully. To the juice of a lemon and half a cupful of water add corn or maple sirup until it is quite sweet; to each cupful of the juice add a heaping tablespoonful of chocolate and vanilla to flavor. Cook until smooth and pour over the pears.

Pineapple Bavarian Cream.—Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in a half cupful of cold water. Heat together one grated pineapple or one can of preserved pineapple, a half-cupful of corn sirup, a tablespoonful of lemon juice; add to the gelatin and stir until the gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Then chill the mixture in a pan of water, stirring constantly. When it begins to thicken fold in a cupful of cream, whipped. Place in a mold and set aside to chill.

Jellied Figs.—Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in half a cupful of water. Cook a pound of figs with two cupfuls of water slowly, until the skins are tender. The movement for conservation is not only helping in saving food for our army and allies but it is educating us away from rich pastry and puddings, which we are finding most important in keeping our nation's health up to standard.

A hearty welcome manifested in kindly and polite attentions, will make a very plain meal more enjoyable than a banquet.

WAYS WITH SWEETBREADS.

Sweetbreads, being perishable meat, are one of the best of summer meats which we may feel free to use. When the price is not prohibitive they should be frequently served.

Sweetbreads should be fresh, as they spoil quickly. Sweetbreads should be fresh, as they spoil quickly.

Remove all the skin, fibers and tubes without breaking the sweetbreads themselves. Soak in cold water for an hour, changing it often to extract all the blood. Drain and put to cook in simmering water for 20 minutes. Use the broth in which they were cooked as a basis for the sauce in which to serve them. Plunge the sweetbreads as soon as cooked into cold water to keep them firm and white. If to be baked, wrap each sweetbread in a cheesecloth and put in under a weight.

Braised Sweetbreads.—Place in a baking pan a layer of new pens and small carrots with new potatoes; on this bed of vegetables place the prepared sweetbreads with a few cubes of fat salt pork. Add enough of the stock in which the sweetbreads were cooked to cover the vegetables. Cover tight and cook about forty minutes. Season with salt and pepper during the cooking.

Sweetbreads in Gelatine.—Cut into small dice two cupfuls of cooked sweetbreads. Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in one-quarter of a cupful of the broth and dissolve it in half a cupful of hot broth. Add the sweetbreads, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. Stand the mixture in a pan of ice water, stir frequently and as it begins to stiffen fold in one cupful of whipped cream and two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley. Turn into molds and chill. Serve in slices laid on crisp lettuce leaves.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Sweetbreads.—Peel and scoop out the centers of medium-sized tomatoes, sprinkle with salt and invert to drain. Set on ice to chill. Cut sweetbreads previously cooked, into dice, add a few cooked asparagus tips, a spoonful of minced green pepper, season well with salt and paprika, add mayonnaise dressing to moisten, and fill the tomatoes. Garnish each with a stuffed olive.
