Yes, a New Music Store Here

Where Pianos and Player Pianos Manufactured by

The House of Baldwin

will be sold. This famous line of musical instruments is too well known for us to tell anything of their quality—but to those of you who have not heard the wonderful tone of a Baldwin we extend a cordial invitation to come in and hear it—to those who have come in and heard it again.

We have the very latest hit in both player rolls and phonograph records. Come in and hear the famous "Clothilde"—it's a beauty.

Read the Whole Paper

Just because we have part of this paper printed in another city does not mean that there is nothing of interest in these columns. Just because we have not enough space to print all the letters to the editor does not mean that there is not interest in them. Just because we have not room to give all the space to the editorial department does not mean that there is not interest in it. We are trying our best to give you the best newspaper possible. However, we cannot do it without your help. We are always looking for new ideas and suggestions. If you have any to offer, please let us know.

School News

We have just received a letter from Mr. G. W. Garver, principal of the Academy of Arts and Sciences in the City of Reading, Pennsylvania, informing us that he is looking for a teacher for the next term. He says that the school is in need of a teacher of mathematics, as the present teacher has been transferred to another district. If you are interested in this position, please send your resume to Mr. Garver immediately.

UNCLE DAVE WOODS DEAD

KILLED INSTANTLY BY L. C. PARISSENBURG TRAIN

"Uncle" Dave was one of the Country's Best Known Musicians.

"Jolidea" Dave was one of the most popular musicians in the country. He was killed instantly when the L. C. Parisenberg train struck his car. He was on his way to a concert in the city when the accident occurred. He was a beloved member of the community and will be greatly missed. Our condolences to his family and friends.

Tobacco Down

From the time the tobacco season opened until this year it has been mostly a bad one. Prices were low and the quality was poor. The farmers have lost a great deal of money. This year the price is much lower than last year, but it is still quite high. The farmers are hoping for a better year next year.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war—more production, current inflation—have added expenses to the cost of the manufacture of life, while freight charges have added only slight.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $25 before the war was carried 2,600 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 75 cents.

Now the freight charge is 12 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the ton has decreased 90%.

The bill for a hundred pairs of shoes is reduced to 8 cents.

The $120 pair of shoes that used to sell for $25 will go from the New England factory to the Florida docks for a freight charge of 50 cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Bolts per ton—200,000 of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

WOODEN SPOIL

By VICTOR ROSSBAU

Illustrations by

In a small town near the sea, where the air was thick with the smell of salt and the sound of waves crashing against the shore, lived a young man named Jack. He was a fisherman, but not just any fisherman. Jack had a special talent for catching wooden spoons, a thing that made him the talk of the town.

One day, Jack went out to sea to catch some fish. He rowed his boat out to the fishing grounds, where the men usually went. But instead of catching fish, Jack was tossing wooden spoons into the water. The townspeople watched in amazement as he threw his spoons, each one landing at least as well as a fisherman should.

"What are you doing, Jack?" asked one of the fishermen.

"I'm catching wooden spoons," replied Jack.

"But why would you want to do that?" asked another.

"Because, you see," said Jack, "I'm a fisherman, and I want to catch something. So, I'm catching wooden spoons instead of fish. It's a way of saying that I'm still fishing.

The townspeople were amazed by this, and they talked about it for weeks. But Jack didn't care. He continued to throw his wooden spoons into the water, just like a fisherman would.

One day, a great storm came to the town. The wind was fierce, and the waves were high. The men who were fishing at sea were in great danger. But Jack was not afraid. He threw his wooden spoons into the air, and they landed at least as well as the men who were fishing at sea.

"Jack," said one of the fishermen, "you're a great fisherman. You catch wooden spoons like a fisherman should.

"Yes," said Jack, "and I'm still fishing, no matter what."
