"All That the Name Implies"
Social Struggles Are Signs of Healthy Unrest Which Means Progress.

By Miss Frances Perkins, M. Y. Chief Industrial Commissioner.

We must meet these social problems squarely and not be afraid of them. It is the unknown and not the evil that is feared as a part of the public health. The most serious problems of the world are all of a social and humanitarian character.

I believe the expression of these social struggles is legitimate and naturally making a greater part of the total income. In any event, the same processes are going on in the whole of society which are going on in the individual. A greater proportion of society is more healthy than it was before. Progress means a cure for disease, a cure for evil. It takes longer to run worse than no evil at all.

The world is changing. The world is becoming more just. The world is more humane. The world is more democratic. The world is more free. The world is more intelligent. The world is more scientific. The world is more scientific. The world is more intelligent. The world is more free. The world is more democratic. The world is more humane.

Roosevelt Forest Experimental Station Devoted to the Study of Wild Life.

By FRANKLIN K. BROOKS, Director.

The Roosevelt Forest Experimental Station at Ellicottvillle, N. Y., is an ideal headquarters for the study of wild life. The station is the result of a plan to study the effect of forest management on the life of the forest. The station is a part of the United States Forest Service and is operated by the Department of Agriculture.

The station is located in a region where the forests are in a state of transition. The forests are being cleared and replanted, and the station is studying the effect of this clearing and replanting on the life of the forest. The station is also studying the effect of the forest management on the life of the forest.

Why Not a World "Marriage Pool" That Civilization May Not Perish?

By PROF. PAUL CARUS, University of Iowa.

The last great figure of the 19th century was not a man, but an idea. The idea was the "Marriage Pool." The idea was a pooling of the resources of the world in order that the world might be saved from the perils of the future. The idea was a pooling of the resources of the world in order that the world might be saved from the perils of the future.
